CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected. Parties arriving March 13th, 20th, and April 2nd Apply now, The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal, or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. 1md-55-4190

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—HOUSE, 709 PEARL AVE., also vacant lot adjoining. d-tf-18-39770

FOR SALE AT ONCE, BRICK HOUSE, conveniences, apply 59 Aylmer Street 12d-60-4230

FOR SALE — A NORTHEY STEAM PUMP—Size of connections ½ inch Apply to G. A. Gillespie, Simcoe street 4118wtf

FOR SALE CLARINET, ALSO VIOLIN complete with case and Music stand. Set of World's Greatest Literature, 61 vol., cost $7.00. Make offer. Also Canoe $5.00. Address Box 4249, Examiner. 3d-59-4249

FOR SALE — THE RESIDENCE OF THE late Dr. Grey, No. 286 Sherbrooke street. All improvements. Hot water heating, good barn. Apply W. C. Stabler, 286 Water street. 459

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE — A CASH Register, in good condition, registering from 5 cents to $1.00; or will exchange for one registering from 1 cent up. Can be seen at the Examiner Office. tf-60

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 194 Rubidge street. 6tf-119 60

Chanberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.

Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting, Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

Further Particulars From

J. H. VANCE
773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

NOTICE TO
Builders and Workmen

With a view to Meeting the Demands for Houses Suitable for the Average Mechanic

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Submit the following proposition to the Builders and Working Men of Peterboro. We will supply a Builder with a choice lot within 12 minutes walk of the C.G.E., the Shovel Works or the Cordage Factory at a maximum price of $150, lot to be paid for when a house constructed thereon has been sold. No interest or taxes for a period of one year provided house is not sold or rented within that time.

Any boy, girl, man or woman, can secure a choice lot in this section for $150 on terms of $10 cash and $5 per month.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter St. Phone 376

LAMEY & COSTELLO
Real Estate Brokers
431 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.
Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

WORKING PEOPLE
SHOULD OWN THEIR HOMES
With Garden and Fruit, Large or Small

It gives pleasant and profitable employment during spare time and saves many dollars for other necessities.

The rent, sober, honest and industrious people are paying will buy a home for you on my easy terms, as it has done for others now comfortably settled in homes of their own, of which they are pardonably proud and some can already show their deeds including a lone widow, while many more pretentious can only show rent receipts. Come in and let me explain my easy plan.

Large and small garden and fruit lots for sale or to rent.

T. HURLEY
282 Hunter St., Peterboro
1m.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation,
Limited
Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

DO YOU NEED A TYPEWRITER?

We are in a position to furnish you with Any Standard make of typewriter.

Machines bought, sold or exchanged.

Old machines taken on account.

Typewriters rented.

Peterborough Typewriter and Supply Co'y
159 SIMCOE PHONE 658

Model Dairy Co.

Corner King and George streets

Pure Milk in Sterilized Bottles	6c
Whipping Cream, quart	40c
Table Cream, quart	50c
Skim Milk, 3c qt. or 2 qts for	5c

Everything used in the dairy is thoroughly sterilized. Call and inspect the only plant in the city. Orders delivered any time to any part of the city. Milkmen supplied

TELEPHONE 831

Millinery Opening

March 17th and 18th

At our Millinery Opening next Friday and Saturday Miss Noble will show the New Hats in all their bewildering attractiveness. The latest Parisian, New York and Canadian Styles will be shown. There will be rows upon rows of hats but no two hats alike.

Miss Noble will exhibit the sensation of the season—the HAREM HAT. It certainly is a wild weird looking style and is very interesting to say the least of it. Watch for it Friday and Saturday.

Friday and Saturday will as usual, be devoted to the exhibition of the new styles, but Saturday evening will be more particularly set aside for those ladies whose engagements prevent them from coming out during the day.

Second Ready-to-wear Opening

March 17th and 18th

Mrs. Russell, our New York Ready-to-wear Specialist has had a very wide experience in the larger centres of the United States and in addition to her ready-to-wear experience, is a thoroughly qualified dressmaker and thoroughly understands fitting. She is now in charge of our ready-to-wear department and will be glad to meet all the ladies of Peterborough.

Her advice about what to wear is very valuable as she makes an expert study of fashions and individual figures. Come in and have a talk with her, she will help you to decide about your costume for the coming season. Our second Ready-to-wear Opening will be held on Friday and Saturday with the Millinery Opening.

Come in and have our pianist play over the New Irish Pieces. The New 17th of March Pieces now in stock

ELLIOT'S

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

(Continued from Saturday)

ent Europeans sojourning in Washington and New York. From his standpoint it was perfectly legitimate—a part of the game recognized by those who dealt the cards.

One thing was sure—Eleanor had not disappeared as part of a blackmailing scheme. It would be impossible for any human being to blackmail a man having Cuyler's iron will indomitable powers of mind and body and those piercing eyes. But as for feminine intrigue planned to cause estrangement of relatives and their loss of a great estate when Cuyler should come to die—well, that was another matter. That was entirely possible.

Of course it might very easily happen that Eleanor was in a hospital either as a result of accident on the street, or of illness due to the overpowering heat. Or she might, perhaps, have suffered that curious interuption of mental functions which causes a person in apparent health to suddenly lose his or her identity for weeks at a time. Such cases are not uncommon, as the detective well knew. And in order to look out for these three possibilities—accident, illness, loss of identity—Wotsirb drafted a long message, which he later sent to twenty Secret Service men in as many cities east of Chicago, with instructions to search for a young woman whom he described as of Eleanor's appearance, and whom—the message intimated—was the daughter of a prominent Senator.

Whatever scruples the President might have as to making use of the Government Secret Service in a private matter, Wotsirb had none. For the time being this man had but one object in life, and everything else must bend to it.

His business was to find the missing girl.

V.

When the Congressional Limited rumbled into the train-shed at Jersey City, and came to a stop, Cuyler and Wotsirb stepped from their car to find Johnson waiting on the platform and with him Sheldon Winthrop.

"Mrs. Hazard sent for me last evening," the latter explained, as he and the banker started toward the ferry entrance, followed by the others. She told me about your daughter, hoping I could be of some assistance. To-day I called at your office and Mr. Johnson said you would be here on this train."

"I am glad you came. The man with Johnson is in charge of the matter, and wants to see you about it. Tell him everything you can. He is to be trusted implicitly."

They parted in the ferry-house, Wotsirb and Winthrop crossing to Cortlandt street; Cuyler and Johnson going uptown on a Twenty-third Street boat.

During the sail up the river the banker's secretary told of inquiring at hospitals in three New Jersey cities without avail, and reported in detail how the stock market had closed—in a fever amounting almost to demoralization of securities, plentiful with the great house of Cuyler & Company.

"Mr. Bloodgood will be waiting for you at the Club," he concluded, "as will a dozen or so reporters and correspondents."

Half an hour later Mortimer Cuyler stepped from his cab, entered a white marble building in upper Fifth Ave., and gave a hearty welcome to the newspaper men who had gathered there in the reception-room.

"I'm sure I don't know what caused the market to go off," he said, in reply to questions. "I have been in Washington on a matter of purely personal interest, and, of course, called on the President to pay my respects. I guess things downtown will look better in a day or two. I can see absolutely no reason for the slump."

"How about your sunstroke?" asked one of the group.

"Do I look as if I'd had one?" Cuyler returned, throwing back his massive head and laughing heartily. "The fact is, gentlemen, I'm feeling pretty fit for such a hot night. And as I'm as hungry as a bear, I'll ask you to excuse me while I go to dinner."

"Isn't there anything of interest you could tell us?" begged one of the disappointed news-gatherers.

Cuyler paused a moment, and thought deeply.

"Nothing; nothing at all, unless you should think it worth while to mention in your Society column that my daughter has gone out of town for a time. That's all I can think of. Good-night, gentlemen—and thank you for your interest in coming to see me."

He nodded a kindly dismissal and turned away, while the reporters started toward the Club-house entrance.

Bloodgood was waiting for him in the main dining-room, and soon they were seated at a table, plunged deeply into discussion of the raid on Cuyler & Company's properties. Again, by effort of his unyielding will, Eleanor was put out of her father's half distracted mind, as was the impending strike of anthracite miners, and everything else but the vital matter under immediate consideration.

Meanwhile, Winthrop and the detective had gone directly uptown to the former's studio.

"It will be quiet there, won't it?" said Wotsirb. "And we can be free from interruption? Besides, I want to see that portrait you have painted of Miss Cuyler, and so fix her in my mind that I could instantly pick her out of a crowd anywhere."

They had barely arrived at their destination when a long-threatening thunder-storm broke, and with it came a sudden drop of temperature, bringing vitality, energy, strength into the whole city, which had been sweltering for days.

"Whew, but that's good!" Winthrop exclaimed, standing by an open window and drinking down great draughts of the cool, refreshing breeze. "An hour ago I was pretty [illegible] but now I am ready for anything! Forat of all, though, you wish to see the portrait."

He turned on the electric light, pulled forward an easel, and lifted back a cloth which hung lightly in front of is canvas. "There it is," he added.

"And in the very costume she wore when she disappeared!" Wotsirb commented with keen approval.

"Yes, she wanted it done in that dress," said Winthrop, "and it is all there, even to the little Hindu locket her aunt brought back from India a year or so ago. You can see it, and its delicate gold chain, half hidden in the lace collar."

The detective was more than pleased.

"Now that is worth while! I thought she might have posed in a ball-gown, or some fancy costume, and that would have made it more difficult. . . . I must have this photographed at once."

"Well, I don't know——" Winthrop hesitated, with all a young painter's pride in his work.

"It doesn't make any difference how much one's feelings are hurt," the other rejoined. "This is a very serious matter. Nothing must be left undone to find her, and your portrait here will be of great value to my assistants in the search. Surely you wouldn't refuse, Mr. Winthrop?"

"No, of course not—since you put it that way. But I would dislike very much to have the photograph come out in Sunday newspapers all over the country. It would shock Mr. Cuyler's family, and all of their friends."

"Newspapers! You don't think, do you, that newspapers or the police or anyone else will be allowed to see the picture? Why, Mr. Cuyler put me on the case so that not a word would leak out about it. And you, Mr. Winthrop, must use the greatest caution, lest a single thoughtless sentence should escape you, and get to the ears of the reporters."

Wotsirb spoke with an impressive earnestness and power that surprised the painter.

"I see, I see," he finally remarked. "I appreciate all you say. But will that prevent me from making an independent effort, on my own part, to find her?"

"No, not if you are cautious."

"We grew up together as children." The younger man spoke half dreamily. "Until a few years ago, when she went to college, we used to see each other daily. . . . . It would be very hard for me to sit still and fold my hands."

Wotsirb watched him keenly, with narrowing eyes.

"When I was a little boy," the painter continued, smiling, "I used to suppose she and I would be married when we grew up. I don't feel that, now, nor she. But I would like to act as best-man at her wedding."

He spoke simply, quietly, unreservedly.

The detective was satisfied. "It is getting late," he said, glancing at his watch. "I have work to do. I will come with a camera and take the photograph myself. Good night."

"Good night, Mr. Wotsirb," responded Winthrop, rising from his chair. "I'll be on hand."

He gazed at the canvas while the detective ran down stairs to the street entrance, then carefully replaced the protecting cloth and pushed the easel against the wall. As he leaned back in the window seat, lighting his old, blackened pipe, a thousand memories rushed over him, of a little girl and a little boy, playing in what seemed enchanted gardens; of games, and pony rides; of childish quarrels and forgiveness; of a myriad of tendrils that had enmeshed them year by year.

And now she was gone.

The certainty of death would almost be better than the possibility that at this moment she might be lying in some place injured, suffering and helpless, unable to communicate with those nearest and dearest to her; death would certainly be preferable to captivity under conditions the very thought of which made Winthrop shudder—yet they were possible in this great remorseless city.

But what to do—that was the question? Memories of childhood must be brushed aside. This was no time for dreams or fears. This was time for action!

The young man sprang from his seat and strode back and forth in his studio, thinking deeply, puffing huge clouds of smoke until the top of his pipe-bowl glowed like a furnace. Back and forth he paced with knitted brows, lithe as a cat, noiseless of step—and suddenly came to a dead stop in front of a silver loving-cup which had been presented to him a dozen years previous when he had easily outdistanced all competitors on his college green.

That loving-cup brought to Winthrop's surging mind not the field-day of which he was hero; but the night before he left the little fresh-water college for good and all to go out into the world; the long evening he and Bill Hambidge and Tom Barrett spent together in his rooms talking over the four years during which they had been together as more than brothers—as inseparable chums, depending on each other, never failing each other. Hambidge was a lawyer now, with a good and growing practice. Barrett was what he could not help being—the best of good fellows unspoiled by a fortune he had inherited. But that last night of their student life, Barrett was as poor as the others, and they faced the world on equal footing. They had talked of many things that evening, and jokingly likened their friendship to that of Dumas' Musketeers. In a spirit of banter Barrett had proposed that they cement their friendship permanently by an oath of eternal allegiance to one another. And Winthrop recalled how they had laughingly gripped hands as they swore to respond instantly should any one of them call for help, no matter when, where, or under what circumstances. And they had agreed then and there upon a code signal to be used in a crisis.

Need for using that code had never arisen, and Winthrop had not thought of it in a decade. But now, as he stood facing the loving-cup, the whole thing flashed over him.

Where was Tom Barrett to-night? In or near Boston, probably. Boston was his home; his people had lived there for two hundred years. He sometimes stepped over to London, and now and then ran out to Los Angeles, or down to Mexico; but never did he sojourn in New York. He had for Manhattan Island the true Bostonian's utter contempt.

Never mind, a message to his apartment, and another to his club would be sure to find him, especially if forwarding charges were guaranteed.

It was easier to reach Hambidge.

Winthrop snatched his hat from a table, turned off the lights, and hurried to the nearest telegraph office.

VI.

The message addressed to Barrett at his club in the Back Bay district was held there and placed in the box where he semi-occasionally received dainty notes written on faintly fragrant paper, and other unimportant mail matter.

The duplicate of this telegram, sent to his apartment, was forwarded to Bristol, Rhode Island, thence to Bar Harbour, finally to a little station beyond Portland, from which it was carried by messenger six miles across country to Bleak Rock, Van Studdiford's summer place, with its sheltered harbour and mile of coast-front, where Barrett was spending the week-end.

Barrett had spent several week-ends there already, that summer, largely because it was a most comfortable place for a man of his generous tastes, and secondly because he supposed it would be the proper thing to marry Mildred Van Studdiford, sometime, when he should get around to it. Just when that would be Tom hadn't decided; in fact he had only recently reached the definite decision to do his part in the marriage, since everybody in their set seemed to expect it as a matter of course. Chance, fate, or clever manoeuvring on the part of Mildred's mother—whatever you may choose to call it—had thrown them together a good deal during the previous winter and spring; first in Boston, then at Pinehurst, again at Atlantic City during Easter week; and at a house-party in the Berkshires early in May. Barrett hadn't particularly cared for Miss Van Studdiford, but she was good-looking, agreeable, possessed of the social gift, and he supposed it might as well be she as anyone else; especially in the view of the obvious fact that anyone else would disappoint the expectations of so many of their friends.

(To be continued)

Cold Upsets the Kidneys

And Uric Acid Poisons Bring Pains and Aches to Back and Limbs

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You feel pains in the back, find the urine heavy and unduly coloured, have indigestion and irregularity of the bowels and these may be the rheumatic twinges.

You wonder what has gone wrong until you recollect that you have been exposed to sudden changes of temperature, perhaps sitting in a draft or passing from a very warm room to be chilled by the outdoor air.

The kidneys are most susceptible to cold, and a sudden lowering of temperature throws an extra burden on them by closing the pores of the skin, which are ordinarily a great aid to the kidneys in removing poisons from the blood.

The danger lies in not understanding the meaning of the symtoms given in the first paragraph. Once you know that the kidneys need assistance you can help them promptly by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Every day you put off treatment you are taking the risk of developing Bright's disease, dropsy or rheumatism. Because of the inactivity of the failing kidneys your system is being loaded with poisonous impurities, and that means pains and suffering.

Get Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to-day. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

TO CURE A HEADACHE

The experience of Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont., is of interest to all who suffer from headaches. He writes: "For a long time I was troubled with headaches which came on about once a week with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did me no good. I then used six boxes of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food and have not been troubled with headache since. That was eight months ago."

PREACHED FINE SERMON ON LIFE OF ST. PATRICK

Rev. Father McGuire, of Douro, Dealt With the Characteristics of the Patron Saint of Ireland in a Splendid Address at the Church of the Sacred Heart.

In the course of an excellent address on "St Patrick," given by the Rev. Father McGuire of Douro, at the Sacred Heart church last night, the speaker presented some interesting facts concerning the chief characteristics of Saint Patrick.

The apostolic yoke of Saint Patrick did not fall on the shoulders of one man alone, but on the whole nation. When Saint Patrick was a boy of 16 he was held as a slave by a pagan chieftain, and while acting in the capacity of shepherd boy on the hillsides of the Highlands he had ample time to meditate on the truth of religion. This school of adversity proved to be one of the greatest blessings that fell to the lot of the patron saint, for during those nightly meditations out on the hillside, God spoke to him and directed him, said the speaker.

He was the apostle of a faithful people and father of a chosen race. He journeyed to Rome, the city of seven hills, the home of civiltsation, for the purpose of seeking permission from Pope Pontius to preach the gospel to the Irish race. Gifts were offered him, and friends appealed to him, to desist, but he heeded them not.

The children came to him and cried, "Oh, divine apostle deliver us from the darkness which surrounds us." Their prayers were answered. For he had come to proclaim Christian liberty. Ireland was no longer the land of the heathen, but the isle of the free and enlightened race, and the virgin home of that fire which came down from heaven. The sublimity of the Christian truth was now acknowledged by the Druids, some of whom became Catholic priests. The Celestial Virgins, shorn of their locks, sought the divine grace of God in the seclusions of the convent. Ireland was known as the land of saints and doctors, and when in later years she was persecuted by the sword of hatred and religion, she survived only to prosper still more. "Let us imitate the noble life of our patron saint," advised Rev. Father McGuire. "Praise the saints and martyrs for the deeds they have done. God has placed Saint Patrick to-day on a pinacle of glory, to be an example of shining light and direct our faltering footsteps."

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

"AH, HOW rare it is to find a soul still enough to hear God speak!"

Will I be considered sacrilegious if I use that incomparable sentence to introduce a somewhat similar thought?

"How rare it is to find a mind silent enough to listen to the wisdom of other minds."

A great statesman whose knowledge of many subjects and consequent breadth of mind was the wonder of all he met, was introduced to a sheep rancher one day and straightway began to question him about the raising of sheep.

The rancher was astonished at the fund of previous information the questions showed.

A Latin professor happened to be in the group. "He knows just as much about archeology," said this professor. "I think he dines off encyclopedias. Tell us, senator, how you find time to read and study up on so many subjects."

The senator laughed. "I don't find time to read much at all" he said, "and when I do I read mostly Congressional records and poetry."

"Well, how DO you do it then?" persisted the rancher.

"Well," said the senator, "I guess it's just this. All my life I've made it a rule to let the other fellow talk as much as possible. And to make him talk of something he knows about. Every man you meet has some specialties that he knows more about than you do. If istead of telling him what you know you get him to talking on one of these specialties, you stand to learn something. I've been doing that for forty years now and I find it works pretty well."

If all of us followed the senator's rule, of course there would be trouble, because everybody would be trying to listen and there would be nobody to talk.

But as long as human nature is what it is, I don't believe there is much danger of such a dire state of affairs.

"Let the other fellow talk and make him talk of something he knows a lot about," is a motto that most of us could follow more closely than we do, to our advantage.

Joseph Emerson, that prince of teachers once said, "He who is not willing to be taught by the youngest of his pupils is not fit to be a teacher."

Doubtless the reason Emerson was so great a teacher was that he realized that the youngest of his pupils COULD teach him something.

Wise though you may be, deep thinker and earnest student, every one you meet could teach you something, almost every one, a great deal.

Do you want a broad and splendid education "Without money and without price?"

Then keep silent and listen.

Ruth Cameron

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS OF THE COUNTY

At the annual meeting of the County of Peterborough Sunday School Association which was held in the parlour of the Y.M.C.A. on Friday, Rev. R. J. Glassford, Field Secretary of the Provincial Sunday School Association was present and explained to the members the plan of organization and the conditions necessary to constitute banner standing.

It was agreed that an effort should be made to get all the district organizations to make some contribution to the provincial work. For the past two years, Otonabee Association is the only one that has made any contribution, that association having given $50 annually for some years past. The following was considered a fair allocation of the amount that should be expected from each district and the officers of the various district organizations were urged to bring the matter to the attention of the individual schools and try to reach the standard set:

Asphodel	$20.00
Belmont	10.00
Dummer	7.00
North Smith and Harvey	5.00
Otonabee	50.00
Smith and Lakefield	35.00

Officers for the year were elected as follows:

President—William Borland, Indian River.

Vice-Pres.—J. A. Finley, Norwood.

Secretary—Richard Lees, Peterborough.

Treasurer—A. J. Johnston, Peterborough.

Superintendents.

Teacher Training — Rev. D. A. Thompson, Hastings.

Home Dept.—A. E. Kennedy, Lakefield.

Elementary Grades — Miss E. L. Waters, Norwood.

Adult Bible Class — Percy Udy, Bridgenorth.

What Hamilton Thought Of "The Three Twins"

The Hamilton Herald says: The Three Twins and their remarkably fine company played to another capacity house at the Grand Opera House last night and pleased the immense audience with dainty, witty dialogue, catchy, swinging music, pretty costumes and scenic effects and pretty faces. This show is one of the finest musical fantasies that has made the Canadian tour this season, and such enthusiasm was it greeted with here that it is doubtful if the house would have held all who wanted to see it in the event of an ordinary two-night engagement taking place of the four performances that were booked. Thursday night and last night there was no such thing as an empty seat in the house. So eager were some to see the show that they accepted separate seats when going in couples. Clifton Crawford, one of the triplets, got a wonderful reception last night and was compelled to stay on the stage and show just how versatile he is. After handling the comedy of his part with wonderful and natural style, he recited Robert W. Service's famous Yukon Gold poem and Kipling's Gunga Dhin. Crawford made as big a hit at that as in his comedy part.

SPECIAL

FRESH STRAWBERRIES — Just arrived at 15c a Box.

Bell Phones 18 and 19

376 George St. Walter J. Oke

THE WEAKNESS OF OLD AGE

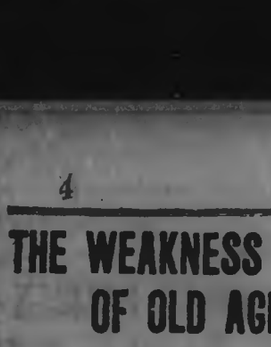
GREATLY RELIEVED BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

"Fruit-a-tives" is a god-send to those suffering from the Weakness and Nervousness of old age. "Fruit-a-tives" rejuvenates the whole system—strengthens the stomach—helps digestion—relieves the irritated bladder and kidneys—stops that pain in the back—regulates the bowels and purifies the blood.

The concentrated and intensified fruit juices in "Fruit-a-tives" act gently yet effectively, and speedily relieve the troubles which are the natural results of a long, useful life.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

SPRING Shoes



This is a Patent Corona Colt, button with black cloth top. One of this season's smartest styles.

We are showing many exclusive novelties. Splendid workmanship, fine materials, perfect fit assured—always.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 GEORGE STREET

A. Brown & Co.
408 GEORGE STREET
Headquarters for all kinds of
Real Estate

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,
d-tf On the Premises

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL
Oak Hall Drug Store
Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT CO., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts
Both Phones 2621
Yards 134 Robinson Street
East City
Both Phones 264

PEOPLE'S PULPIT.

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

More Dead Flies in the Precious Ointment

Pastor Russell Points Out More Deceptive Additions to Word of God.

March 12.—Not long ago I pointed out that the last twelve verses of St. Mark's Gospel in our Common Version are spurious—so recognized by all scholars, because these verses are not to be found in any of the oldest Greek MSS. and were evidently added to the Word of God in the seventh century or later. Moreover, we gave proofs of the untruthfulness of this addition. Is it true that whoever believes the Gospel of Christ may handle serpents with impunity and may drink deadly poison without harm? Surely not. It is nothing short of a sin for those who know better to acknowledge these verses and to use them to bolster up theories of Divine Healing. It is as much a crime to add to the Word of God as to take away from it.

To-day I invite attention to some other dead flies, some other additions to God's Word, which have had much to do with twisting the theology once delivered to the saints. Take, for instance, the closing words of the Lord's Prayer:

"Thine is the Kingdom and Power and Glory."

These words, if uttered by our Lord, should be found in the old Greek MSS. But they are not found therein. They are, therefore, to be rejected as additions made by people centuries after Matthew's Gospel was written. These words were introduced when the faith of the Church respecting the Kingdom of Messiah was changed or changing from what it was originally. All through the New Testament the Second Coming of Christ in power and glory to establish His Kingdom and to glorify the Church, His Bride, is set for the end of this Gospel Age. But as the time grew long a change of sentiment came into the Church. It became popular and rich. Its bishops were respected. Finally the theory prevailed that God did not intend to delay the establishment of the Kingdom until the Second Coming of Christ, but did intend to establish it in the hands of the Church during this Age and to use the Church for the conquering of the world and the fulfilling of all the promises of the past.

In line with this the most important bishop of the time was recognized as Divinely appointed to represent Christ in the world and to reign over the nations in His stead and to bring about the Millennium, etc. This was the Bishop of Rome, who subsequently was styled the Pope and who claimed and was accorded the honorable title, "Vice-gerent of the Son of God." It is said that the equivalent of this title to this day is worn by the Pope on his tiara or three-crowned hat—Vicarius Dei Filii.

Thus the change came in the general sentiment of the "Christian world." Messiah's Kingdom was no longer to be looked for as coming, but was to be recognized as here. The Pope, as Messiah's reigning representative, was to be acknowledged. All Kingdoms that were to honor and obey Messiah were commanded to honor and obey the Pope. The various prophecies which tell of Messiah's Kingdom glory were applied to the Pope, and are still so applied.

As Messiah was to ride forth conquering the world and "wound the heads over many peoples," so the Popes in succession sought to do, to fulfill these prophecies. As the inauguration of Messiah's Kingdom is promised to be in the midst of a time of great trouble, it was not thought improper that Papacy should cause great trouble in the world in its endeavor to establish itself as the Kingdom of Messiah. As whosoever would not receive Messiah was to be "destroyed from amongst the people," it was not considered wrong to destroy those who rejected and opposed the Papal Kingdom and to give them to the burning flame.

The Lord's prayer was already in the Scriptures, and was known to many. It could not be eliminated. But some zealous person, fully believing that God's Kingdom had come, felt justified in amending the prayer to correspond to what he supposed were the facts. Hence the prayer which begins, "Thy Kingdom come," is made to end by saying, "Thy Kingdom has come in its glory and power."

If Papacy is the Kingdom of Messiah, it is certainly not what the Jews expected. It is certainly not what we expected. It is certainly not what the masses of mankind had any reason to expect, although it is so accepted by the majority of Christendom.

Although our protesting forefathers broke away from the Pope and denounced him as Anti-Christ and declared that he falsely sat in the place of Christ without authority, they, nevertheless, were imbued with the same error. They did not think to go back to the message of the Scriptures and to look for the Son of God to set up His Kingdom at His Second Advent and then to bless Israel and the world through His glorified Church. Instead they held to the Papal theory that God's Kingdom was set up and was conquering the world, and that thus the Messianic reign mentioned in the prophecy is being fulfilled. They hold that Christ himself is the invisible King but that the Pope is not authorized to represent him. Hence this spurious addition to the Word of God is as acceptable to Protestants as to Catholics; indeed more so, if we may judge by the fact that the Catholic Bible omits the spurious words, while the Protestant Bible quotes them.

We here remark that according to Protestant theory Messiah's Kingdom is represented in the civilized nations of the world, especially of Europe. These all claim to reign "by the grace of God," in which case of course wars and battles between them are conflicts between the various parts of Messiah's Kingdom. And [illegible] military preparations on land and sea portend a most sanguinary conflict between these "kingdoms of this world," which think themselves and are called by Christendom "kingdoms of God."

How glad we are to see the Truth on this subject; that the Kingdom of God's dear Son has not yet been set up, in any sense of the word—that it is still future. It cannot be set up until this Gospel Age ends and the "elect" saintly few of every nation—Jew and Gentile—shall be changed from earthly to heavenly nature by the First Resurrection, which will qualify them to be "kings and priests unto God and unto Christ and to reign with Him a thousand years" (Revelation xx, 6).

It is well that all Bible students should mark this "fly" and extract it from the Precious Ointment, and notice how much sweeter and fresher the Lord's prayer is to them forever.

Thomas Paine was an enemy to the Bible and to the Christian religion, but largely so, we believe, on account of his poor understanding of it. And his misunderstanding of the Bible was largely due to the false doctrines handed down from the "Dark Ages" purporting to be biblical. Who cannot sympathize with the great infidel, Thomas Paine, who, when reading the last verse of St. John's Gospel, exclaimed, "O, what a whopper!" It reads, "And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which, if they should be written every one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written" (John xxi, 25).

Surely any one of reasoning mind should see the absurdity of such a statement. Surely all Christian ministers should have informed the Lord's sheep under their care respecting what is and what is not the Word of God, the Bible, as it was recognized by the Apostolic Church and written down in the original Greek manuscripts. Why any Christian minister should assail me because I endeavor to do for the people what he has neglected to do I cannot understand. I must leave it to the Lord to judge between us. I am informed that hundreds of ministers went to the Editors of the papers which publish my sermons weekly and endeavored to have them discontinue their publications.

But the Editors perceive that their readers are no longer under the bondage of the "Dark Ages," but have begun to think for themselves, and that many of them are hungering and thirsting for the Truth respecting the Bible—the Christian's spiritual food and drink. To the claim that many read my sermons instead of going to Church the answer is, that Pastor Russell is preaching to the non-church-going ten millions who are in the majority and that it behooves the ministers to provide for their people the spiritual food for which they are famishing, if they would not lose them all.

To the credit of such men as Luther, Calvin, Knox, Zwingli, Wesley and others living prior to our day we must explain that they had no opportunity for knowing of the spurious passages of the Scriptures. They, therefore, have no responsibility such as devolves upon ministers of our day who do, or should, know all about these matters. We cannot on this occasion make further investigation, take out more of these dead flies, but, the Lord willing, at some future time I. John v, 7, 8, will have our attention. It is worthy of it. It has caused the Ointment to stink and has confused the minds of many of God's dear saints by the way in which the error in this case has been interwoven with the Truth.

My hearers should bear distinctly in mind that what I am here presenting is not at all in line with the presentations of the Higher Critics. Their method is to read through the Scriptures and judge of them by their own keen intellectual powers, and thus to discriminate between which were written by the Prophets credited, and which were additions. Their Higher Criticism claims a keener sagent or mental discernment than ordinary mortals enjoy, by which they know these things whether others can see it so or not.

I resent Higher Criticism and accept the Word of God in full. I reject nothing because of my own or other men's surmises, but merely go by the facts. If the oldest Greek MSS. do not contain certain passages of Scripture, how could they get into later MSS. except as spurious additions?

Nor should I be considered as fault-finding with our Common Version of the Bible. While it is not without its faults, it has so many excellent qualities and beautiful translations that I prefer it to any other and generally use it. But I must not, I cannot, approve those portions of it which all orthodox scholars admit to be spurious. We must not handle the Word of God deceitfully. If we do we must expect darkness instead of light, confusion instead of harmony.

Just three centuries ago our English Common Version Bible was published. This year its Ter-Centenary is celebrated. It is a grand book. It has done a grand work. The fact that it is not perfect must not condemn a work possessed of so many glorious qualities. It was the result of seven years' labor on the part of forty-seven persons learned in the languages and appointed by King James of England for its preparation. They labored to some disadvantage by reason of the command given them to follow an earlier translation styled The Bishop's Bible, and to alter it as little as the original would allow. They were also instructed that if the Tyndale, Coverdale, Matthew, Cranmer or Whitchurch translations and the Geneva Edition agreed better with the [illegible] instead of the Bishop's. The translation was, perhaps, the best that could be made at the time.

Published by kingly authority, it is now venerated by English and American Protestants as though it had come direct from the finger of God. This is a mistake. We are to worship God and to reverence His Word and to search as carefully as possible to have the precious Ointment provided by the spirit of the Truth free from all dead flies—free from all human additions and mistranslations and superstitions of the "Dark Ages."

The basis for our Common Version was the Latin Vulgate, which was diligently revised and compared with the Greek MSS. of the time. But there were few Greek MSS. known at that time, whereas at the present time there are over 700. Three of these are quite ancient.

(1) The Sinaitic MS., found in a Convent on Mt. Sinai so recently as 1860. This is acknowledged to be the oldest Greek MS. known in the world. Its date is estimated to be about the year 331 A. D. This MS. is now in the possession of the Russian Government at St. Petersburg.

(2) The Vatican MS., 1209, is credited with being next in age. It was found amongst old MSS. in the Vatican Library and is still there and catalogued. The date of its writing is estimated to be about the year 350 A. D.

(3) The third of these oldest known Greek MSS. of the New Testament is styled the Alexandrine, because it was found in Alexandria in Egypt. It is now in the British Museum, where any visitor can behold it in a glass case. It is supposed to have been written about A. D. 450. The readings of all three of these Greek MSS. can be secured and the variations between their readings and our Common Version are so simply arranged as to leave no excuse for ignorance on the part of Bible students. Our Common Version with notations of these MSS. can be obtained through any bookseller.

Prof. Tischendorf, writing respecting these ancient Greek MSS. says:

"To treat such ancient authorities with neglect would be either unwarrantable arrogance or culpable negligence. Indeed, it would be a misunderstanding of Providence if, after all these documents had been preserved through all the dangers of fourteen or fifteen centuries and delivered safe into our hands, we were not ready to receive them with thankfulness as most valuable instrument for the elucidation of Truth."

The Lord speaks of some who receive not the Truth in the love of it and tells that they ultimately will be ensnared by the Adversary. Evidently heart-honesty is one of the most precious elements in the Divine sight. It is not sufficient that we should be Christians in name merely and with form and ceremony. It would not be sufficient in the Lord's sight that we should worship sect or party or even the Bible. It is the Divine Truth that we must reverence next to the Divine person.

It is not sufficient to have Bibles on our centre tables merely, nor sufficient to carry them under our arms. We must "eat" the Word of God—that is to say, we must, as spiritual children of God, feed upon His message. And this truly implies careful discrimination to discern between God's inspired Revelation and all human additions and admixtures. There is, therefore, a difference between reverencing and loving the Word of God and reverencing and loving a particular translation, errors and all.

Our Master's prayer for all of His true disciples, or footstep followers, was and still is, "Sanctify them through Thy Truth; Thy Word is Truth." Whoever would have the sanctifying influence of the Divine Word should so far as possible rid himself of every unsanctifying admixture of human tradition and interpolation. The true sanctification or setting apart of the heart to know and to do the Lord's will could not be content to accept with the sanctifying Truth defiling errors, chaff and nonsense.

If thousands are turning away from the Bible there is a reason. It is not the pure Truth that drives them away, but the foreign admixture and the slanderous misinterpretations handed down to us by our well-meaning but deluded ancestors of several centuries ago. It is high time for all to manifest to God their love of the Truth by spending some of their time in studying it—in learning its precious lessons and in telling forth its "good tidings of great joy to all people."

"'Tis one thing now to read the Bible through,
Another thing to read, to learn and do;
'Tis one thing now to read it with delight,
And quite another thing to read it right.
Some read to prove a pre-adopted creed,
Thus understand but little what they read;
And every passage in the Book they bend
To make it suit that all-important end.
Some people read, as I have often thought,
To teach the Book, instead of to be taught."

DON'T BE LATE

in your selection of a

Baby Carriage, Buggy or Runabout

A Big Shipment of the very latest Vehicles for Children just in.

THE PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE
Trebilcock Bros.
417 George St. - - Props.

EVANGELIST CROSSLEY'S SPEECH AT MILLBROOK

Special Series Was Concluded Last Night With Inspiring Message to the Many Converts.

HAS BEEN SUCCESS

Rev. Mr. Crossley, the well-known evangelist, conducted the services in the Methodist Church at Millbrook, yesterday, and concluded the evangelistic services, which he has been conducting at that town for the last two weeks. Last night the church was crowded from the altar to the door, and the gallery was also packed. Between 100 and 150 persons went to the front last night, and, during the last two services there has been between 200 and 300 persons won for Christ. Mr. Crossley stated that he was going to Toronto for a week and thence to Colbourne, where he will conduct evangelistic services for two weeks and a half. He spoke of the pleasant time he had spent in Millbrook, and said that he was going away with the belief that he was held in high esteem by the audience he was leaving behind; also that he would have nothing but pleasant remembrances of the time he had spent among them.

In his introductory remarks Mr. Crossley gave encouraging words in favour of the Boy Scout movement, and said that it was one of the things that tended to make a boy manly, and one of the many things that would teach him to obey, and later, to command. He also sang a number of beautiful, popular and appropriate hymns, which seemed to give the proceedings a more sacred aspect.

He chose his text from the 11th Chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, and the 26th verse: "And the Disciples were called Christians first at Antioch." Although he chose a text he put his sermon more in the form of a talk to those who were Christians; also the new converts. He told them not to think that they had lost their religion when he left, but to take a fresh start, and by all means to stand by their minister in the same manner that they (the ministers) had stood by them. Don't say to a new convert or a man who is trying to be a Christian, "Well I hope you stick to it," and say it in a tone that suggested that you doubted the fact, but let them see you have confidence in them. If they fail, do not say "Well, I knew it would be that way," help to confirm them. Mr. Crossley told them that when he left, he wanted the work to go right on, for he was fully confident that every one of the new converts would stand. He stated that there would be a reception in that church two weeks from yesterday, for the benefit of the converts, and he wanted them all to be present, in order that they might receive strength and encouragement.

Then addressing those, who, as he put it, "were doing better," he told them to make up their minds that they were going to be better. "Awake thou that sleepeth, and arise from thy bed." Take your stand for the right. He told them that he had great confidence at the last meeting of an evangelistic service, as it was at the last camp meeting of such services that he had been converted himself. He told them to either say there was no God, or else that there is a loving God, and for them to lay the question before themselves, and see which they would decide, and he assured them that they would decide at once that there was a true God. Be a trusty Christian, he said. Change the word "try" to "trust," because when you try, you half expect to fail, but when you trust you are sure to win, for the Lord is our Saviour and we can trust him. He spoke of Indian poetry, where they had a song made up of the two words "Go on." To be a true Christian, it is better to be a Christian at home, said the speaker. People often allow familiarity to breed contempt, and he wanted them to be aware of this, and to speak kindly to their children at home and have the home pleasant and Christ like. He told them that there were three rules to follow, and that any person who followed them would not go astray. 1st, to believe with the heart; 2nd, to confess with the mouth, and 3rd, not to be ashamed of it. Mr. Crossley went on to tell them that they did not become the Devil, because they made one little slip, or do a little thing that is wrong. He asked them the question "When you do wrong at home, do you run away from home and change your name?" No! He said that Christian life was just like home life, and that the Lord would always forgive them.

Mr. Crossley was exceedingly pleased with the success he had attained in winning converts at Millbrook, and stated that he sincerely hoped that they would continue in the good work. It is about twenty-three years since Mr. Crossley held services in Peterborough, and at that time he did good service here, as an evangelist.

Common Sense Sentiments Of Live Practical Farmer

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir.—In almost every paper I pick up I read a great deal about reciprocity. Now, I see that, according to some people, reciprocity means blug ruin, especially for the farmer. But who is predicting ruin for the farmer? Is it that horny-fisted son of the toil, himself, or is it a howling editor, or manufacturer. If it is a farmer he is justified in complaining if he considers it an injury to him; but what about those other people? Are they wasting time, energy, and ink for the farmer's benefit? Did they ever do it? and is it not hard to break an old dog on his trot? Now the farmer has got about enough from that class of people. Let them mind their own business and he will mind his. Some people always like to use others to pull their chestnuts out of the fire and make them believe they are helping themselves at the same time; and it is surprising how successful they sometimes are. People like to be hoodwinked; feel sore when the veil is cast off, and then like to be hoodwinked again. Any farmer believing the "tommy-rot" published by those with an axe to grind, aided and abetted by scheming politicians, is being hoodwinked.

Now, it is said the government will ruin the country; but is it possible to believe that the men who have guided Canada to her greatest prosperity would now destroy it? Is it possible that the sagacity and business acumen they have exhibited for the past fourteen years have suddenly deserted them, leaving a weaker intellect and a darker mind?

Now, about that disloyalty cry. If a Protestant deals with a Catholic does that mean he will become a Catholic? No thoroughly patriotic Canadian, a loyal subject of the British Crown, would accuse a fellow countryman of disloyalty. Why? Because instead of arousing petty and sectional disputes his aim would be to smother all such disputes so that in the day of stress the nation would be solid as one man. The man who treats his fellow countrymen as he would like to be treated himself, is a good citizen, and helps to make good citizens, consequently loyal citizens. The man who abuses others is a bad citizen and makes bad citizens; consequently disloyal citizens. I have no use for word-of-mouth loyalty. I would much prefer active loyalty. Hoping no one will take offence at this, and not caring if they do, I remain.

Yours, etc.,
A Know-Nothing Farmer.
Monabee, March 11, 1911.

Glorious Hair

Any Woman Can Have It

Many thousands of women reined and educated, have learned that it is not hard to have and to keep an abundance of lustrous hair, if Parisian Sage the hair grower is used daily.

Since its introduction in Canada, Parisian Sage has become a prime favorite with the women who desire luxuriant and radiant hair that will not fall out or turn gray. Used daily as a dressing it will keep the scalp immaculately clean; will stop itching and falling hair. Wm. Madill thinks so much of Parisian Sage that he guarantees it to do as advertised. Large bottles 50 cents.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

IN THE CONTRACT

Management of Grand Had Nothing to do With To-night's Prices.

The fact that the prices for to-night's production of the "Three Twins" at the Grand Opera House are higher than usual has caused some comment, and knowing this the Examiner to-day interviewed Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., in regard to the matter. Mr. Turner explained to the reporter that the management of the Grand had absolutely nothing to do with the setting of to-night's prices. "The contract of the company," remarked Mr. Turner, "stipulated that the scale of prices should run from 50c. to $2.00, and we had to take the attraction on those terms or not give the people a chance to see it at all."

BIRTH

LEWIS—At 579 Aylmer street, city, on March 13th, to Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] son, Allan Barton.

No Store Will Ever Equal Our Skirt Values

We have already proved that this is the best store in Peterborough at which to buy Skirts, and this spring's showing is new proof of the fact :: ::

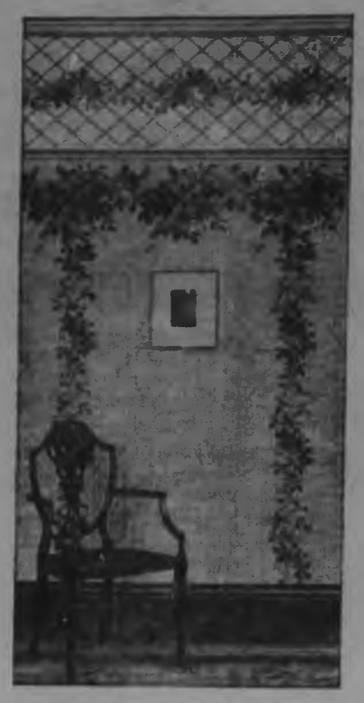
They are all skirts from manufacturers of the first class—concerns, who take pride in turning out apparel of the highest character, and which reflects credit upon its maker. So any skirt you select from our showing will be correct in every detail.

Designs that show good taste and good quality and which will be among the season's best sellers.

Materials that are this spring's choicest conceptions, and the sorts that will hold colors and give lasting service.

RICHARD HALL & SON

Try To Imagine That Bedroom of Yours Decorated in this Style



PRETTY PANEL EFFECT

DAINTY floral panel effect with one of our New Spring Papers—light striped fawn ground with floral trellis in shades of green, mauve and rose. This is only one of hundreds of the pretty effects we can suggest for the bedroom.

—CALL TO-NIGHT—

DEPARTMENT STORES Cressman's

"LEAVES FROM MY DIARY" SUBJECT OF FINE ADDRESS

Col. Gaskin Gave Splendid Address at the Salvation Army Temple Yesterday Afternoon.

ENTERTAINING SPEAKER

Despite the inclement weather, quite a large number of people availed themselves of the excellent opportunity to partake of the spiritual and intellectual treat which was provided at the Salvation Army Barracks yesterday afternoon.

Colonel Albert Gaskin, Field Secretary for Canada, Newfoundland and the Bermudas, delivered a lucid and instructive address, entitled "Leaves From My Diary."

Colonel Gaskin is a clear, forcible speaker, whose sharp, clean cut expressions carry with them force of conviction. These characteristic features are further supplemented by an extensive and varied experience, coupled with a strong, devotional interest in the cause which he so faithfully represents.

The meeting was in the form of a special platform meeting, in which a number of prominent local gentlemen participated, among them being His Honour Judge Huycke, Rev. W. C. Riddiford, Chief Howard, Mr. F. H. Dobbin, Ald. Morgan and others.

His Honour Judge Huycke acted as chairman of the meeting, which was opened by the singing of "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Next followed a selection by the Band and a vocal selection by the choir, or more appropriately known as the songsters.

During the course of a short address His Honour Judge Huycke paid a glowing tribute to General Booth and his splendid band of assistents and representatives on this continent.

Next followed an interesting and lucid description by Col. Gaskin of numerous characteristic cases of reclamation of fallen men and women, for instance two women living in Toronto undertook to make periodical visits to the Mercer reformatory for the purpose of conveying spiritual light and comfort to the inmates. With the result that they brought fifteen of them to God. A number of girls who were recently inmates of the same institution are now stached to numerous corps throughout the province.

Some people wonder why officers remain in the Salvation Army so long. The speaker cited a case of one man who did not cost the Army a thousand dollars a year, and who was recently offered a salary of five thousand dollers a year from a prominent business firm. In reply he said that there was not enough money in the firm to buy him from the work of oGd.

After the lecture Mr. F. H. Dobbin moved that a vote of thanks be tendered Colonel Gaskin, which was seconded by Chief Howard and carried unanimously by the audience.

Colonel Gaskin made a suitable reply, in which he expressed the hope that the meeting would be the means of inspiring the officers to still greater work.

Ensign J. H. Merrett took occasion on behalf of the audience to tender a vote of thanks to His Honour Judge Huycke who acted as chairman.

Why Hesitate?

An Offer That Involves No Risk For Those Who Accept It

We are so positive our remedy will completely relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish it free of all cost if it fails.

Constipation is caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestines or descending colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our guarantee. They are eaten like candy, and are particularly ideal for children. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They have a neutral action on the other organs or glands. They do not purge or cause any inconvenience whatever. They will positively overcome chronic or habitual constipation and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments. Try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Two sizes 10c. and 25c. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets.

THE FIRST ROBIN REPORTED

Mr. Frank Wise, superintendent of Little Lake cemetery, came very near reporting the first robin—the plumed symbol of new life, from the silent dwellings of the dead. But a Gilmour street lady, who, her neighbours say, has birds on the brain—feeds the sparrows and robins and shoos the cats the whole long summer through, was just a few minutes ahead of him. But the point of priority is nothing compared to the undisputable fact that two good authorities have furnished, as a bona fide robin, a pretty sure harbinger of spring. Thanks, both. We have had winter saddled upon us without a minute's respite, since the last week in November, and the crow and the robin and even the nesting sparrows are welcome as the flowers in May. When the robin's on the wing we may be sure that winter's on the wing. Welcome the coming; speed the parting guest.

Wait for the Biggest and Best — The Famous Bow-Wow Ministrels. Jolly Dogs all of them.
40 — PEOPLE — 40
Grand Opera House, matinee and evening, Saturday, March 18th. Popular Prices. 2d-59-4242

DOG KILLED

Mr. Robert Snelgrove lost his valuable thoroughbred collie dog "Togo" yesterday afternoon, the canine being struck by the special train carrying "The Three Twins" Company, and was cut to pieces. Mr. Snelgrove feels the loss keenly, as his dog was valued at $50 and was, in addition, a great pet.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 60c

Scene From "The Man of the Hour." Felix Haney and Bertha Fowler. "The Grand" next Thursday, Mar. 16. Seat Sale opens to-morrow morning.

At the Grand Opera House on Thursday night, March 16th, Wm. A. Brady's production of the "The Man of the Hour" will be seen for the first time in this city, and as local theatregoers have heard and read much about his play there is no doubt that standing room will be at a premium. This successful drama has scored one of the most legitimate hits of recent years. It is intensely human. Its story holds one firmly. A more ideal play could not be found in a season's search. It has won and will hold the favour of theatregoers because the play is sustained by its own real merit and does not depend upon any clap-trap of scenery to please an audience. So frequently do the bits of humour leak through the pathos and more serious parts of the play that it resembles an April day with the rays of sunshine intermittently breaking through the showers. Manager Wm. A. Brady is sending a special company for this engagement and has also provided a complete new scenic production. The seat sale opens to-morrow (Tuesday) morning.

THE SPECIAL SERVICES IN KNOX CHURCH ARE HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

The special services in Knox church will continue each night this week, conducted by Rev. Mr. Woodside. Song service will commence at 7.45.

A meeting for ladies will be held in the Church to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, to be addressed by Mr. Woodside. All ladies of the city are invited.

A prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Campbell, corner Wolfe and Stewart streets, on Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m., to be followed by a tea.

The services yesterday were largely attended and great interest was manifested in the evening service. The prospects are very bright for large congregations this week.

PRACTICAL CAMPAIGN IS BEING CONDUCTED

A practical campaign for the purpose of raising $500 for the building fund of the church was inaugurated yesterday at the Park street Baptist church.

The pastor explained that each and every member was expected to get one card at least, filled with ten names, representing some amount from one cent up and thus all would be able to help. 500 cards have been printed. These will be placed in the hands of the members, and during the next three weeks all will strive to get their cards filled.

There are ten spaces for names upon the cards and ten names at ten cents a piece means one dollar and five hundred cards at one dollar means $500. Already the pastor has several cards filled for that amount. The amount raised will be announced the first Sunday in April.

The Twilight Musicale Was A Great Success

The twilight musicale held in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Saturday afternoon, the second in the series under the auspices of the Women's Art Association was a most delightful success and was greatly enjoyed by the three hundred people present. The programme was provided by some of the staff and pupils of the Conservatory and was in every way a treat. The Conservatory orchestra in full strength and in rare form played brilliantly three selections, in a manner that called for hearty applause. Miss Pearl McKee's piano solo was a masterpiece of technique, and she had to respond to an encore. Mr. Wm. Wilson contributed a beautifully played violin solo, which demonstrated his complete mastery over his difficult instrument. Mr. Gordon M. Wright displayed his rich tenor voice to advantage in his solo "Pilgrim of Love." Mr. Rupert Gliddon added to the pleasure of the occasion by rendering a splendid cornet solo, Mr. Walter Hughes directing the orchestra during the number. Following was the programme:

War March of the Priests from Athalia ..... Mendelssohn
Conservatory Orchestra
Solo (Piano)—"Nachtstuck" ..... Schuman
Miss Pearl McKee
Solo (Violin)—"Allegro Brilliante" ..... Ten Have
Mr. Wm Wilson
Selection from IL Trovatore ..Verdi
Conservatory Orchestra
Tenor Solo—"Pilgrim of Love" ..Varley
Mr Gordon Wright
Cornet Solo—"Dream of Paradise" ..... Grey
Mr R. Gliddon
Selected—Transcription o fa Russian Hymn .....
Conservatory Orchestra

LENTEN AND EASTER MUSIC AT ST. JOHN'S

The following is the programme of Lenten and Easter music now being rehearsed by St. John's choir, and all members are asked to be in attendance at every practice up to Easter:

"Incline Thine Ear," Novello; "Lord, for Thy Mercies Sake," Farrant; "Sweet is Thy Mercy," Field; "Jesu, Word of God Incarnate," Bradley; "For as in Adam All Die," "Even so in Christ," Handel; "Since by Man Came Death," "By Man Came Also," Handel; "O, Death Where is Thy Sting," Spofforth; "As It Began to Dawn," Sir George Martin; "Hallelujah Chorus," Handel; "The Crucifixion" (Cantata) Sir John Stainer.

ATHLETIC WORLD

The best production of the Athletic World yet issued is undoubtedly the February number, its special articles on Canadian sport from coast to coast being particularly exhaustive and timely. The illustrations of current sport events are splendid features of this excellent national sports magazine. The editorial department treats a great number of home and foreign happenings in the world of pastimes. The Athletic World is filling in an able way a long felt want in the Canadian field of sports and recreations.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills
A reliable French regulator, never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at $5 a box, or three for $10. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

Our February Fur Sale

reduced our stock considerably, but we still have some First Class Fur Bargains in Jackets, Muffs, Stoles, etc.

W. E. LECH

Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter
366 GEORGE STREET, NEAR SIMCOE PHONE 726

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, TO-NIGHT

Prices:—Lower Floor $1.50 and $2.00. Balcony 75c, $1.00 and $1.50. Gallery 50c. Augmented Orchestra. Two Cars Scenery and Equipment. SEATS NOW ON SALE

Grand Opera House, Thursday, March 16
Wm. A. Brady's Production America's Greatest Play
"The Man Of The Hour"
By George Broadhurst with Fel'x Haney as Alderman Phelan. Now in its fourth year of phenomenal success. Given here with a special cast, and produced on the same scale of magnificence that marked its two year's run at the Savoy, New York City. Prices, 25c to $1.00; Box Seats $1.50. Seats Tuesday

DUTTON & COMPANY
Hot House Tomatoes Sweet Potatoes
Challenge Tea per pound 25c
Bananas Pea Nut Butter (Bulk)
FRED. WALKER, MANAGER

REV. FATHER O'LEARY'S PARTY IN ENGLAND

The following has been received from Rev. Father O'Leary's party, who are touring in Europe:

Rickmansworth, Feb. 22, 1911.

We landed in Liverpool at 9 p.m. on Feb. 15th, taking the 10 p.m. train for London, arriving there at 1.30 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 18th going 200 miles. Getting off at Euston station we booked at the Edward hotel, near the station, for the night. Saturday we visited the House of Commons, the Westminster Abbey, Parr's Bank and other places. On Sunday we heard mass at St. Aloysius church, in the evening hearing Vespers at the Westminster Cathedral, one of the greatest R. C. places of worship in the city. We also visited the Royal palace and St. James Park, saw Queen Victoria's monument, which is to be unveiled May 16th. Monday, Feb. 19th we visited some of the largest shops in the city on Oxford and Regent streets. We then journeyed out into the country, where we are at present viewing the beautiful scenery, and the trees and flowers being in full bloom, one can sit out all day and enjoy the fresh air. The play at the theatre this week Henry VIII, is well worth seeing, giving all details of the reign.

ROD AND GUN

As exploration goes, a little out of common forms the leading story in the March issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont. In this story Dr. Luther Hussey describes a trip to Moose Factory and the vast timber limits owned by the pulp and paper concerns of the Abitibi River. It is a story that will delight the heart of all good sportsmen. A paper on the Ancient and Honorable Brotherhood of Sportsmen holds up the highest ideals for the members of the Noble Brotherhood and describes some of the fine conduct necessary on the part of those who would join the exclusive ranks. Snow Trailing a White-Tail Buck is a gem of a story and it does not detract at all from its interest to know that the buck is still at large and will require all the hunter's mettle to overcome his instinct and cunning. In the Conservation of the Ducks, Mr. J. A. McKenzie raises a number of questions of the deepest possible interest to many sportsmen who indulge in a day with the ducks. There are many other good things in the number, including the decision of Judge Hewson on the settler's rights to big game, the conferences of the North American Fish and Game Protective Association, a review of the New Brunswick game season, the Manitoba Game Laws, the Destruction of Wolves, etcetera, affording sufficient reading matter to interest any and every sportsman concerned in the many game problems current throughout the Dominion.

THE CHINESE FAMINE FUND

Following are the latest contributions to the Chinese Famine Fund:

Previously acknowledged	$111 25
Grace St Epworth League	1.50
Friend	1.00
B. D.	2.00
Friend	5.00
Friend	1.50
F. Mollett	1.00
Knox Mission Band	2.00
Mrs. J.	1.00
Mrs. Rogers	5.00
Mrs. Erskine	2.00
C. J. E.	5.00
Mrs. G. W.	10.00
Friend	1.00
	$156 25

John Cessford, Treas.

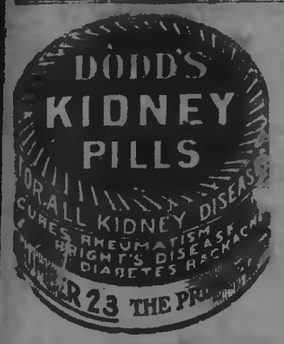
30 DAY REMOVAL SALE

About April 1st we are moving two doors north to 407 George St. (Adam Hall's old stand). During March we are giving prices that are worth watching.

Regular Cut Rite Prices

Machine Oil, regular 10c for	5c	Zam Buk, regular 50c for	40c
Tar Soap, regular 10c for	5c	Norway Pine Syrup, regular 25c for	20c
Blaud's Iron Pills, regular 25c for	9c	Fruitatives, regular 50c for	40c
Syrup of Figs, regular 25c for	13c	Sellow's Hypophosphites, regular 1.50 for	1.25
Perfumes regular 1.00 an oz. for an oz	75c	Hamilton's Pills, regular 25c for	20c
Perfumes, regular 75c an oz. for an oz	50c	Baby's Own Tablets, regular 25c for	20c
Perfumes, regular 50c an oz. for an oz	35c	Kendall's Spavin Cure, regular 1.00 for	85c
Sulphur, 8 lbs	25c	Castoria, regular 35c for	25c
Glauber's Salts, 8 lbs	25c	Burdock Blood Bitters, regular 1.00 for	65c

THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE
C. M. MONCUR, Phm. B., Prop.



MEDICAL.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 186 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialist in Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 619. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. E. V. FREDERICK, M.R.C.S. (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Surgery and Diseases of Women, 492 George Street. Hours 1.30-3.30—7-8.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 314 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 551, Mach. 226. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
91 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance Bell Phone 649 Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 1 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment Consultation free

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLHOMEN.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms 190 Hunter street, or at residence, 193 Hunter street Telephone No 86

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J W Bennet; E L Goodwill

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office Daniel O'Connell, George H. Gordon

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices - - 379 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C J. H Burnham, M.A
Telephone No. 64.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, B. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc Offices, corner Hunter and George streets, entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. E. Hall, B. T. Medd. W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first door west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty Office 373 Water street, Peterborough

Manual labor taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 9

THEY WANT ABRITRATION

Hotel Men Ask For A Year's Delay In Regard to Liquor Regulations —Wait on Premier.

MAKE A PROTEST

Toronto, March 13.—The substance of the hotelmen's interview with the local Cabinet was made known last evening in an interview with W. C. Martin, secretary of the Hotelmen's Association of Toronto, who was one of the spokesmen on that occasion.

"The press were denied access to the meeting," said Mr. Martin, "and this fact was called to the attention of the Cabinet Ministers in comparison with the manner in which the temperance delegations have been received when every significant utterance was emblazoned broadcast. The result is that the public, and our opponents are very much in the dark, except as to one side of the question. I can say this, however, that we were very courteously received and the Government evinced a very great interest in our arguments."

The hotelkeepers asked the Government to defer action for a year regarding the proposed bill to place a tax of 5 per cent. upon all bar receipts over $40 a day. In the meantime they asked that an arbitration board be appointed at the expense of the "trade" to go fully into the facts and position of the trade and arrive at "a fair basis of taxation on net profits instead of gross income." They also asked that any tax on cigars or soft drinks be not put in the bill, because other business men do not pay such a tax on soft drinks and cigars.

A vigorous protest that the licenseholders were being grossly discriminated against, was made.

"The Ministers desired data," said Mr. Martin "and we told them that the license returns to the Government show that in Hamilton and Ottawa the tax on $40 receipts at license fee of $700 is 5 2-3 per cent.; in Berlin license fee $500 it is 4 per cent.; Barrie license fee $450 tax 3 3-5 per cent.; towns of 2,000 to 5,000, 2.3-4 per cent., and villages 2 per cent.; townships 1 per cent., while in Toronto the tax rate on the first $40 of business is 13 per cent. The province outside of Toronto pays an average of between 3 and 4 per cent., and is the highest in Canada. The gross profits are the same all over the province, while the gross charge here is very much higher, as wages, rent, taxes and food are very much dearer than outside."

Mr. Hanna argued that the tax might be construed as an offset to "unearned increment"—the great advance in the prices reported to be paid upon every license that is sold or transferred.

Not In Any Sense Official.

Ottawa, March 13.—Some misapprehension has arisen with respect to a supposed invitation to members of Parliament to attend the coronation. No official invitation has been extended by the British Government to any members of the Canadian Parliament, as has been intimated on this side of the Atlantic. It is true, however, that a self-constituted committee of the British House of Commons sent messages proffering hospitality to eighteen members of the Canadian Parliament. This was not in any sense an official invitation. An informal selection of eighteen members of the Senate and House of Commons has been made without distinction to party, and their names have been forwarded to the gentlemen of the British House of Commons who sent the message.

There will be no official representation of the Canadian Parliament. The only official representatives of Canada will be the members of the Cabinet who have received official invitations.

Burned to Death.

New York, March 13.—An oil-fed fire sped 350 feet atop a long frame structure to a fleet of tugs and barges at the Standard Oil piers in Brooklyn Saturday night, caught the tug Protector in its sweep before the vessel could scurry away, and burned to death Edward Brown, the captain. His three companions leaped to fleeing craft nearby and escaped. Half a million gallons of oil were consumed by the flames, which also licked up a barge, the tug and a group of small frame buildings around the plant.

The blaze originated in the filling room of the Pratt Oil Co., a subsidiary of the Standard, and ripped its way through the building with a series of explosions as 100,000 five-gallon cans of oil went up. Four alarms were turned in; the firemen fought for three hours before bringing the fire under control. The estimated loss is $100,000.

SEAS SWEPT OVER HER.

S. S. Boston Has Hard Run From Jamaica to Halifax.

Halifax, March 13.—Eleven days out from Jamaica after battling with a fierce hurricane for over four days, the steamship Boston has put in port with her wheel house gone. Two of her boats badly damaged, doors smashed and part of her railing washed overboard.

The Boston, Captain Halstead, left Jamaica on Sunday, Feb. 26. She arrived at Turk's Island two days later and sailed for Halifax on Wednesday, Feb. 28. On entering the gulf stream she encountered a heavy northeast gale, which increased in velocity until it culminated in a fierce hurricane. The waves swept over the ship fore and aft, and she was compelled to lay to. For eighty-five hours the ship remained there unable to make any progress. Huge seas swept over her, sometimes covering her completely. The wheel house was carried away by a mountainous sea, one lifeboat and a jolly boat, were badly damaged, doors were smashed and part of the railing was carried away. So perilous was her plight and that of those on board that the man who steered had to be lashed to the wheel and the other men wore life belts. The storm became fiercer and fiercer, and the ship was like a toy fighting against great odds. The seas boarded her continuously with terrific force, sending her on her beam ends and carrying almost everything in their path. The cabin filled with water and some of the captain's effects with a quantity of stores were destroyed.

On Friday the storm abated. When the Boston arrived her coal bunkers were empty.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Charles Bland fell dead on Market street, Brantford.

Civil service examinations will be held throughout the Dominion on May 9.

It is rumored at Hamilton that the Grand Trunk is looking for a site for a new station.

A fierce riot took place at Galveston between U. S. troops and Mexicans and negroes.

Montreal citizens held a mass meeting to protest against the tramways bill now before the Quebec Legislature.

West Durham Liberals nominated Reeve Powers of Clarke Township for the Legislature, and were addressed by Hon. A. G. MacKay.

The Kingston & Pembroke Railway Co. has responded to the request of the engineers and firemen for an increase in wages. The increase will amount to about 10 per cent.

The Newfoundland sealing fleet, composed this year of nineteen steamers, seven of which are equipped with wireless, and 4,000 men sailed at daybreak to-day on the annual quest of seals.

The foot-and-mouth disease has again appeared in England. This time the outbreak is in Surrey. The movement of stock has been prohibited in a wide area around the seat of the disease.

At midnight Saturday the Saskatchewan Legislature concluded a 61-hour sitting, the longest ever held in the province. It was said if the present deadlock continues only two courses were open, dissolution or the amendment to the rules of the House.

James Petman, formerly bartender at the Grigg House, London, and hotelman at Candlebury, was struck by a street car at the corner of Douglas and Dundas streets late Saturday and night and died in the hospital yesterday from his injuries.

Two Drowned In Credit.

Toronto, March 13.—H. A. Brown, a mill owner, 49 years old, and Kenneth South, aged 20, a son of George South, farmer, were drowned at Meadowvale on Friday night while trying to clear a large mass of ice from a dam in the Credit River.

Their object had been to prevent the dam giving way under the crush of ice, but an avalanche created by their efforts swept them over the waterfall.

The two men left for the dam about 5 o'clock, and nothing was known of the accident until their horse came wandering home alone about 6.15.

Friends dragged for their bodies all Friday night, and on Saturday fully two hundred people joined the search party. Maitland Aykroyd, the well known body recoverer of this city, went up to Meadowvale Saturday morning to assist the searchers.

Brown was a married man, and leaves a widow and one child. South, who was unmarried, had been working for Brown for a couple of weeks.

A Brave Woman.

Montreal, March 13.—After she had been shot in the head by F. Manpeo, an Italian, Mrs. Antonio Francisco captured the man who made the attempt on her life and turned him over to Constable Lacombe last night.

Manpeo is said to have entered Mrs. Francisco's home with a boy about 9 years of age, thought to be his brother. When he got inside the door he drew a revolver from his coat pocket, and pointing it at Mrs. Francisco, pulled the trigger. The bullet cut a furrow in the left side of the woman's head and buried itself in the wall behind her.

When he opened the door to escape Mrs. Francisco pounced upon him and pinned him against the side of the door until the constable arrived.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health.

The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.

Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as sacredly confidential. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Great Family Doctor Book, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition—1000 pages, answers in Plain English hosts of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know about. Sent free, in plain wrapper to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only, or in cloth binding for 50 stamps.

A Richibucto School Teacher

Once a Dyspeptic—Now Well, Thanks to Father Morrisey's No. 11.

Richibucto, N. B., Nov. 17th 1909.
Father Morrisey Med. Co., Ltd.,

I have been teaching school for upwards of thirty years, during the last twenty-five of which I have suffered seriously with stomach trouble, indigestion and dyspepsia.

I have tried many remedies, and while I would get temporary relief from some of them, yet the old trouble would return, and with it the sufferings only known to the chronic dyspeptic.

Last year I had made up my mind to abandon my profession, feeling that in my condition I could neither do justice to myself or to the many pupils under my charge. A friend suggested to me that I try Father Morrisey's No. 11 Stomach Tablets; I did so, and have continued to use them with the result that my stomach trouble is cured—my indigestion and dyspepsia gone and I feel as well as I ever did.

I have, thanks to the Tablets, been able to continue in my profession, and feel that I am once more enjoying my work and am able to give justice to the fifty-four pupils under my care.

Yours Gratefully,
(Signed) Mary Chrystal.

Are you one of the many thousands who, like Miss Chrystal, are prevented from doing their best work, or really enjoying life, by stomach trouble?

If you are you cannot do better than she did—take Father Morrisey's No. 11 Tablets.

Each No. 11 Tablet, when dissolved in the stomach, will digest 1¼ pounds of food—a good, hearty meal—so that no matter how weak your stomach may be No. 11 Tablets will enable you to get the nourishment out of your food and build up your strength, while the stomach, thus relieved, recovers its vigor.

50c. a box at your dealer's or from the Father Morrisey Medicine Co., Ltd., Montreal, Que.

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

DISASTER IN MINE

Tracklayers Are Crushed Under A Land Slide at Virginia, Minn., and Twenty-six Are Dead.

ICE SLIDES DOWN

Virginia, Minn., March 13.—Death in the form of 500,000 tons of iron ore, rock, earth, ice and snow, on Saturday night slid down on thirty tracklayers working in the Norman Open Pit Mine. Only four escaped the avalanche, and three of these are in a hospital suffering from injuries that may prove fatal.

Ole Johnson, foreman of one of the three changes of men that were caught by the vast mass, is the only one whose injuries are not critical.

The place that was an open pit is now almost a plain rock, ore and earth, with here and there parts of a body in sight. A few crushed heads protrude from the mass.

Arms and legs could be seen at varying angles as the great lantern of the steam shovels swung over the half-filled pit.

An army of men with shovels worked desperately to recover the bodies. The work was tedious and difficult.

Women and children ran screaming to the pit, and some fell in while looking eagerly for lost friends.

It will be days before all can be recovered, and all parts of some may never be assembled. The mass of rock and earth ground many of them into shreds. The only four men near the outer edge had a chance to run as the landslide swept into the hole. So far as can be ascertained all the men caught in the slide were Finns and Austrians. Many left large families. Paul Paulson, whose wife died a month ago, left seven children orphans. The little ones formed a group at the edge of the pit on Saturday night.

The miners, who were taking up one of the two tracks in the pit to permit the steam shovel to work in another part of the mine, were for the most part bent over with bars and claws when he avalanche swept down. The great mass struck them to earth. Many were flattened to the bottom of the pit, while a few were carried to the surface by the earth as it rolled over in the pit, much as a furrow is turned by a plowshare.

The four who were thrown clear out of the pit had been working half-way up the side of the excavation. The mine is nearly a mile from the city limits. Women and children filled the road to the mine shortly after the accident occurred.

The catastrophe was novel in the history of the iron mining in this range. Behind and before the pit were thousands of tons of ore rock, earth, snow and ice, and the rapid warming of the atmosphere released the embankment.

The Norman mine employs about 1,000 when running to capacity.

Offers to Back Assertions.

Ottawa, March 13.—Means to prevent a recurrence of the present typhoid outbreak in Ottawa, with a determination to use every endeavor to have a most rigid enquiry into the causes were debated on Saturday afternoon by local gentlemen headed by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick. The committee at work includes Prof. Adam Shortt, Sir Louis Davies and Rev. Dr. Herridge and other men of standing, who are seriously alarmed at the inactivity of local authorities. They seek a commission appointed by the Ontario Government, which suggestion is now under consideration at Toronto.

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick has already stated that information has reached him that divers were told not to report holes in the intake pipe of the water supply, and offers to back up his assertion if called upon.

Meantime the city is having almost every drink analyzed and have given beer the "O.K." mark.

THE FUTURE OF MEXICO

Minister Limantour Discusses What Is Coming In the Republic— He Does Not Foresee A War.

AFTER DIAZ, WHAT?

New York, March 13.—After Diaz, what?

Senor Jose Yves Limantour, the Mexican Minister of Finance, addressed himself to the question with an indignation foreign to his usual poised and courtly temperance of diction. He had just been shown the report printed in some evening newspapers that American financial interests, with dominant boldness in Mexico, have on foot a plan to procure the resignation of President Diaz and set up Senor Limantour himself in the executive chair.

"How stupid," was the first words. "I should be the last person to be suspected of lending myself to such a design," he added, "even if by any stretch of imagination one could suppose me to accept the Presidency at the expiration of his term. I have always refused because the duties which I now fulfil are those most congenial to me, and because I believe I can be of most service to my country by continuing with them. There is no truth in the report."

With regard to the suppression of certain constitutional rights, the Minister said:

"What it means is not martial law, even in a mild form, but an abbreviation of civil procedure. Prisoners will still be tried before a civil court, but the court procedure will be curtailed.

"To return to President Diaz for a moment, I wish to make myself plain. Much has been printed of the effect that his death would have on Mexico. President Diaz is truly a great man, and his death would be an inestimable loss to Mexico, but even a national bereavement does not mean that civil government would disappear from the face of the land.

"Now, as to this matter of intervention. When an armed force crosses the border of a neighboring power without either invitation or permission, what does that mean? It means invasion, occupation. And what do invasion and occupation mean but war?

Wants Damages From Township.

Eganville, Ont., March 12.—The Township of Sherwood is threatened with an action for close on $200 damages by the father of a young lady who, it is alleged, contracted smallpox while stopping at a house in that township. The young lady, whose home is in Raglan Township, and who was on her way to Calgary, where she held a good position, had a meal at the house in question, and it is claimed that smallpox of a mild type, existed in the house at the time. She proceeded to Calgary and nine days later became ill with the disease. As a consequence of her illness she lost her position.

It is claimed that the house was not quarantined, and Dr. McCullough, chief health officer for the province, has reported over his own signature the fact that an inspector from his department visited Sherwood Township some time ago and found the district "thickly saturated with the disease, and mostly hidden."

Burglars at Burk's Falls.

Burk's Falls, March 13.—Burglars invaded the offices of the tannery company here on Saturday night and got away with $1,000, mostly in Bank of Toronto bills. The side of the safe had been broken open. The provincial police have been communicated with, and it is understood that to Detective Reburn has been given the task of hunting down the robbers.

Petition For Release.

Kingston, March 13.—An effort is being made to secure the release from the penitentiary of Robert Cughan who was given three years for irregularities while manager of the Farmers' Bank at Athens. His father, Abel Cughan, when here on Saturday to see his son, stated that the petition asking for his release had been largely signed.

Suffered for Years From Constipation and Sick Headache.

Headache seems habitual with many people; indeed, some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief. The most frequent of all are bilious or sick headaches, and are caused by some derangement of the stomach or bowels, or both.

Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the digestive and biliary organs, removes acidity of the stomach, improves digestion, regulates the constipated bowels, and promotes a perfect circulation of pure blood to all portions of the body.

Mrs. C. Meadows, Clarksburg, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with sick headache and dizziness, and was also constipated. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I only took three bottles of the medicine, and now feel like a new person as I am completely cured. I can truthfully testify that B.B.B. is the best medicine I have ever used."

Burdock Blood Bitters, has, during the last 35 years, built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for all troubles arising from a constipated condition of the bowels.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Afraid to Eat?

Does the fear of indigestion spoil the enjoyment of your meals? It needn't. Just take

NA-DRU-CO DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

and you won't know you have a stomach. They will see to it that your food is properly digested. They are among the best of the NA-DRU-CO preparations, compounded by expert chemists and guaranteed by the largest wholesale druggists in Canada. 50c. a box. If your druggist has not stocked them yet, send us 50c. and we will mail you a box. 36

National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada Limited. Montreal.

O'K

A Royal Brew!

A good many men say that "Gold Label" is the finest Ale that we have ever brewed.

It's all a matter of taste. If you prefer a rich, old, creamy ale—that proves its quality by its delightful flavor—just try "Gold Label."

Every bottle sealed with an easily opened "Crown" stopper.

O'Keefe's "Gold Label" Ale

"The Beer that is always O.K."

FOR SALE

Two Houses, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER

INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies

Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

High Grade Sewing Machines

The quality of the White and Raymond Sewing Machines is measured by the Satisfaction they give those who use them.

WHITE } The Two Standard
RAYMOND } Machines for the Home

SOLD ON EAST TERMS

Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

Get the "EXAMINER" in Your Home

PETERBORO' PENNANTS 50c
J. J. TURNER & SONS
Corner George, King and Water Streets.
Both Phones Peterborough

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.
See our line of new and re-built wheels
Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

Plumbing, Hot Water Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing
We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.
Phone 88
Estimates given on all contract work.
ADAM HALL

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y
Paid Up Capita $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00
SAVINGS DEPARTMENT
3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.
Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.
Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.
Security Afforded to Depositors
Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,355,504.10
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,596,026.60
Surplus $1,759 477.71
MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.
Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'
W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Our Coal Sells Itself
The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::
7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited
182 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261
Tel. Machine 270.
184 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

Mytaleff
This is the time to look over your Spring Wardrobe and have them put in shape. We do all kinds of cleaning, repairing and pressing, on ladies' or gent's garments. You will be surprised at the improvement.
2 STORES:
206 Charlotte Street, Bell 8?1 Mark. 387
137 Simcoe Street Phone 665

China Painting
Mrs. Langley McCarthy
Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc, mounted artistically and permanently.
Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.
692 Harvey St.
Peterborough Ontario

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

SKIP TAYLOR'S RINK CAPTURED THE BONSPIEL

Local Competition Was Brought to a Close on Saturday ---Skip Medd Was the Runner-up and the Deciding Game Was a Very Close One.

The final game in the primary series of the local bonspiel of the Peterborough Curling Club, took place on Saturday night between Skip W. H. Taylor and Skip S. T. Medd. At the end of a most closely contested game, Skip Taylor's rink won out by 3 points,, the score being 12 to 9.

The ice was somewhat heavy, but some very excellent playing was in evidence throughout the evening, and each end was watched by an interested crowd of spectators. Skip Medd played a very strong game himself and it was really no fault of his that his rink went down to defeat.

Skip Taylor and his men are being warmly congratulated upon the showing they made during the bonspiel. This is Mr. Taylor's first year in the capacity of skip, but with a well balanced rink he fought his way to the top and landed the championship. The rinks were as follows:

H. Stanley	A. Webb
E. S. Clarry	H. B. Collier
W. T. Hall	G. C Wainwright
W H Taylor	S T. Medd
Skip 12	Skip 9

Majority for Taylor 3.

The Consolation series is not yet finished, but the curlers are hoping that a few more cool nights may arrive to enable this series to be completed.

BOXING IS NO LONGER BRUTAL SAYS Mc.INTOSH

In speaking as to how the objectionable elements of pugilism have gradually disappeared, Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, when asked by a London interviewer to speak on this matter, made the following remarks:

"Boxing no longer is a brutal pastime. In the old days of the prize ring the case was very much different, I am ready to admit The men had a hard syste mof training. They pickled their hands and faces so as to be fit to endure injuries and to inflict severe punishment as well. A round terminated with a knockdown or a fall, after which there was a minute's rest.

"Nowadays a round is of two, three or four minutes' duration. If a man is knocked down and cannot arise at the expiration of ten seconds his opponent wins. Under the old rules boxing and wrestling combined made it a rough and tumble fight and it was little wonder that the men were marked.

"But what do we find with our present day boxers? The only mark in the face carried by Tommy Burns is a scar caused by a blow received when playing lacrosse. Jack Johnson has been boxing fourteen years and is left unmarked.

"Corbett shows no traces of his many contests. Neither does Fitzsimmons. Then there is Jimmy Britt, who has met men like Joe Gans and Battling Nelson. He has not a mark upon his face or ears to show that he has done any boxing at all."

SHOOTING PRIZES

The shooting contest, held at the Peterborough Cigar and Billiard Parlours last week was a great success. In the professional contest C. Gutterson captured the honours with a score of 56, winning in the shoot-off from H. Mackey. The scores were as follows:

Professional.

C. Gutterson	58
H. Mackey	58
A. C. Miller	58
L. C. Mills	57
F. Andrews	57
F. D. Cole	57
James Wilson	57
G. Bidgood	56
Percy Hambly	56
Silas Robinson	56
Carl Edgar	56
H. Blade	55
C. Callaghan	55
W. Chapman	55

Amateur.

In the amateur contest J. Reynolds took first place with a score of 58, and can get his prize by calling at the gallery. Second place finished with a two hand tie of 57, L. Gilgour winning the shoot-off. The following are the scores:

J. Reynolds	58
L. Gilgour	57
P. Robinson	57
L. McNally	56
G. Russell	56
J. Rose	55
W. Curtain	55
J. Gillespie	55
A. Chapman	54
J. Thompson	54
D. Sleader	54
F. Roy	54
O. Hargrove	54
L. Emoe	54
D. O'Hearne	54
M. Murty	53
M. Schlueter	53
W Foley	53
H. Cressman	53

There will be two prizes for the amateurs next week and one for the professional, and well worth trying for.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing
SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured
HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.
ACHE
Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.
Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

CURLING

Two consolation games and the finals for the primary, were played Saturday night. The contending skips for the Consolation and the resulting scores were as follows: Messrs. Wightman and Merritt, score 14-11; Neil and Morrow, score 19-7.

There are about four more games to be played before the bonspiel will be completed ,which one of our local curlers inferred would be on the 1st of July on the bowling green. It is over three months since the rink opened, and there has not been one day in that length of time (Sundays excepted) that there has not been a game played. This, we believe, constitutes a record as far as Ontario is concerned.

TOBOGGAN OWNER'S NOTICE

Those wishing to remove their toboggans from the Street Railway Rink, will have an opportunity to do so any evening during the week of March 13th. Fifty cents for storage will be charged on toboggans left over the summer season. 2d-59-4238

BOWLING

Mr. Mill won the bowling contest last week with a score of 213. The prize for this was a box of cigars. In the shooting contest C. Gutterson won the gold locket, with a score of 28.

The prizes for this week's contests will be For bowling a fountain pen, and for shooting in the professional class a fountain pen, and a gold stick pin will be given to the winner in the amateur class.

Valuable Gift for Art Institute.

Chicago, March 13.—Announcement was made on Saturday of the presentation to the Chicago Art Institute of eighteen of the best paintings of George Inness, N.A., the American landscape artist. The presentation was made by Edward B Butler, a Chicago merchant, and himself a painter of some local reputation. The cost of the collection was a trifle above $150,000.

Passing of Leading Methodist Scholar.

Montreal, March 13.—Rev. Wm. I. Shaw, D.D., principal of the Wesleyan Theological College, and for many years chairman of the board of Protestant school commissioners, from which he retired a few weeks ago, on account of ill-health, died at noon yesterday He was born in Kingston, Ont., on April 6, 1841. Studying first for the legal profession, he abandoned that design and entered the ministry in 1864 and was ordained four years later. In 1894 he was called to succeed Principal Douglas in the Montreal institution.

Landside From Vesuvius.

Naples, March 13.—A severe earthquake accompanied by strong detonations from Mount Vesuvius, occurred last evening. Investigations showed that a great landslide had dropped from the upper part of the crater. It is estimated that it measured 1,000 by 250 feet, and when it fell it causes enormous clouds of smoke. The funicular railway was badly damaged. A party of tourists were about to ascend by the railway when the shock occurred.

PLUCKY BANK CLERK.

Masked Men Overpower C. R. Weaver of Wyoming, Ont.

Wyoming, Ont., March 13.—When C. R. Weaver, teller of the Bank of Toronto here, stepped into his room over the bank at an early hour yesterday morning, on his return from an evening party, he was called upon to throw up his hands.

Weaver jumped at the man, wrenching his revolver from him, and after a vigorous wrestling bout, he succeeded in throwing him on his head.

A companion of the hold-up man then sprang to the assistance of his companion and they were able to overpower the teller. After vainly endeavoring to secure from Weaver the number of the combination to the bank vault, the robbers proceeded to bind and gag him. They then descended to the bank below.

After several minutes of struggling Weaver succeeded in getting himself free, and securing his revolver he at once opened fire through an opening in the floor of his room, which is directing above the front of the safe. After firing a shot in return, which narrowly missed Weaver, the would-be robbers fled.

Weaver fired three shots in all, and is almost certain that one took effect and wounded one of his assailants.

A small office safe was found open, but nothing was taken.

Separate Crowning as Emperor.

London, March 13.—King George is now seen daily in Rotten Row cantering with equerries. He needs the bracing air, for he is overwhelmed with the details of various ceremonials of what must be the busiest year of his reign. The precedents of the last coronation are followed closely, except the minor points, like the substitution of girls for boys as the Queen's train bearers, but a series of new questions have been raised for the Delhi ceremonial and the investiture of the Prince of Wales at Carnarvon, since tradition and recent practice do not cover them. Lord Curzon and other viceroys have been consulted respecting the Delhi function, and the decision has been reached that it must not be treated as a recrowning of the King, already consecrated at Westminster Abbey, but as a separate crowning as Emperor of India.

A thousand novel details connected with regalia and costume and oriental pageantry need to be determined. The prince's investiture is almost equally as difficult, owing to Welsh sensitiveness.

The Duke of Connaught, who is the King's closest adviser, has decided never to accept another military command. He may become Viceroy of India after serving a short term at Ottawa.

Count Tolstoi Arrives.

New York, March 13.—The international floating hotel Mauretania brought many interesting passengers to her pier Saturday morning. Nearly all assembled in the brilliant illuminated lounge Thursday evening and listened to an address by Count Leo Tolstoi, third son of the late Russian philosopher.

The count is forty-two years old, of medium height, with brown beard, long face, mild eyes, and teeth that gleam. He is a sculptor. He is deeply interested in social subjects and reform in educational methods. In Paris he has been two years studying with Rodin, the sculptor.

The speaker produced two busts of his father which he had fashioned, one in plaster and the other in bronze. The audience noted the likeness of the busts to the young count. He said he had been his father's intimate and co-worker in writing, editing and teaching, and enjoyed his father's entire confidence.

The son attributed his father's erratic conduct during the last days to the influence of Lord Radstock, an English evangelist, under whose spell the elder count had fallen.

Trial of Camorrists.

Viterbo, March 13.—Formal proceedings began on Saturday in the trial of thirty-six members of the Neapolitan Camorra, including the alleged head of the organization, Enrico Alfano, also known as "Erricone," for the murder of Gennarro Cuccole, "the beautiful Sorrentina."

For the first time in Italy two presidents of the court were appointed to direct the trial, so that if one should unavoidably be absent the other might take his place. Most of the day was given over to the selection of a jury, but notwithstanding the threats of the presiding judge to apply the severest fines against citizens offering pretexts for not serving on the jury, almost unsurmountable difficulties arose at the last moment, and the trial was postponed until Tuesday.

Issues New Publication.

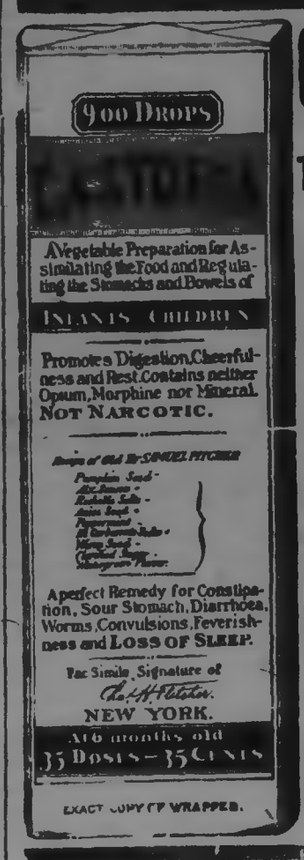
Ottawa, March 13.—A new publication of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is a monthly bulletin called The Publications of the International Agricultural Institute. It undertakes to re-publish or summarize the most important articles which appear in the three monthly publications of the institute, viz., the bulletin of agriculture statistics, the bulletin of the bureau of economics and social intelligence (agricultural, organization, co-operation, etc.), and the bulletin of agricultural intelligence and plant diseases.

Big Express Strike On.

New York, March 13.—The strike of express company employes, which has been threatened for several days past, materialized yesterday with the failure of practically all the drivers and helpers in the employ of the Adams Express Co. in the city to report for work.

Fatal Slide In Panama Canal.

Colon, March 13.—There was a big slide of earth at the north end of the Culun Lock of the Panama Canal on Friday night The mass buried a steam shovel and caught a gang of workmen, killing two Spaniards and an Italian, and injuring several others.



CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Lower, Chicago Higher--Live Stock --Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, March 11.—Wheat, firm at start and values ½d higher. Support was induced by unexpected firmness in America and the closing steadiness in Buenos Ayres and shorts were induced to cover some. The steadiness in Paris and continued fair demand from continent caused further tightening of prices. Later and just before close, market turned lower with decline of ½d from opening on inferior sed pressure of both Australian and Indian offers at decline and talk of large world's shipments this week, with liberal contribution from Russia. There was quiet demand for spot with all cargoes offered at a decline. At the close the market was easier, unchanged to ½d higher than yesterday.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Nervousness regarding possible alarming discoveries by crop experts who had been hurried out from here to investigate rumors of Hessian fly infection in Illinois and Indiana wheat fields turned prices suddenly upward to-day. Closing figures were firm at a net advance of ⅝c to ¼c. Corn finished ⅛c to ¼c higher than last night. Oats unchanged to ⅛c off and provisions down 2½c to 5c to 20c to 22½c.

Winnipeg Options

	Close.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	92⅞	92⅝	93⅝	92⅛	92⅞
July	93⅝	93⅝	94⅛	93⅛	94⅛
Oats—
May	32⅝	32⅛	32⅝	32⅛	32⅛
July	33⅝	33⅛	33⅝	33⅛	33⅛

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	$0 90	to $0 91
Wheat, goose, bushel	0 78	....
Rye, bushel	0 66	0 68
Barley, bushel	0 46	....
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	0 50
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80
Oats, bushel	0 37	0 38

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, store lots	0 17	0 19
Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 22	0 24
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 22	0 23
Eggs, new-laid	0 28	0 30
Eggs, cold storage	0 17	....
Cheese, lb.	0 14	0 15½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 50	....
Honey, extracted, lb.	0 10	0 11

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, March 11.—Closing: Wheat spot, dull; 2 red western winter, no stock, futures dull. March 6s 9 5-8d; May 6s 8 7-8d; July 6s 9d. Flour winter patents, easy, 27s 6d. Hops in London (Pacific coast), firm 4 6s, £5 5s. Beef extra India mess, easy, 117s 6d. Pork, prime mess western, easy, 85s 9d. Hams, short cut, 14 to 16 lbs., steady, 55s. Bacon, Cumberland cut, 26 to 30 lbs., steady, 53s; short ribs, 18 to 24 lbs., firm, 62s; clear bellies, 14 to 16 lbs., quiet, 56s; long clear middles, light, 28 to 34 lbs., easy, 60s 6d; long clear middles, heavy 35 to 40 lbs., weak, 59s 6d; short clear backs, 16 to 20 lbs., steady, 54s; shoulders, square, 11 to 13 lbs., easy, 48s. Lard, prime western, in tierces, easy, 46s 6d; American refined, in pails, steady, 43s 6d. Cheese, Canadian finest white, new, firm, 60s; Canadian finest, colored, new, firm, 61s 6d. Turpentine spirits, strong, 45s 9d. Tallow, Australian, in London, weak, 34s 7 1-2d. Rosin, common, strong, 17s 6d. Petroleum, refined, steady, 6 1-2d. Linseed oil, steady, 50s; cottonseed oil, Hull refined, spot, firm, 33s 1 1-2d.

London Produce.

LONDON, March 11.—To-day's boat from Denmark landed 345 bales. Canadian bacon is 58s to 67s; hams, Canadian long cut, 60s to 68s; Canadian cheese is firmer with improved demand; white is 59s to 62s; colored 60s to 63s.

CATTLE MARKETS.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 11.—Cattle, receipts 100. Market light. Prime steers $6.40 to $6 65; butchers grades, $5.50 to $6.25.

Calves—Receipts 175 head. Market slow, 50c lower. Cull to choice, $5.75 to $10.50.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 2800 head. Market active, lambs 15c lower; sheep steady. Choice lambs, $6.75 to $6 85; cull to fair, $5.25 to $6.65; yearlings, $5.25 to $5.85; sheep $3 to $5.

Hogs—Receipts 2850. Market active, steady. Yorkers, $7.60 to $7.65; stags, $5.10 to $5.25; pigs, $7.70; mixed, $7.60 to $7.75; heavy, $7.40 to $7.50; roughs, $6.25 to $6.60.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Beeves—Receipts 750. Nothing doing. Feeling weak.

Calves—Receipts, 250; feeling, weak.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2200; sheep, firm; lambs, strong to higher; sheep, ewes, $5.75 to $6.75; choice wethers, $6.10; lambs $8 to $8; culls, $5.50.

Hogs—Receipts 1250; nominally firm.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Cattle receipts estimated at 400; market steady;

beeves, $5.20 to $6.90; Texas steers, $4.40 to $5.70; western steers, $4.70 to $5.80; stockers and feeders, $4.00 to $5.55; cows and heifers, $2.65 to $5.90; calves, $7.00 to $9.00.

Hogs: Receipts estimated at 10,000; market 5 cents higher than yesterday's average; light, $7.05 to $7.35; mixed, $6.95 to $7.25; heavy, $6.80 to $7.15; rough, $6.80 to $6.90; good to choice heavy, $6.80 to $7.15; pigs, $6.70 to $7.25; bulk of sales, $7.05 to $7.20.

Sheep: Receipts estimated at 2000; market steady; native, $3.00 to $4.90; western, $3.15 to $4.90; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.85; lambs, native, $5.00 to $8.40; western, $5.25 to $8.45.

British Cattle Markets.

LIVERPOOL, March 11.—John Rogers & Co., Liverpool, cable to-day that the number of cattle in the Birkenhead market was very small, and with supplies generally being less everything was readily sold and both States and Canadian steers made from 12 3-4c to 13 1-4c per pound.

Don't Like the Cut.

Winnipeg, March 13.—That members of the Manitoba Elevator Commission would not be pleased with the sweeping reduction in their salaries proposed in the Legislature, and accepted by the Government, was only to be anticipated. Report has it that Mr. Maclenan, whose salary was cut from $8,000 to $4,000 has resigned. D. W. McCuaig, the chairman and former president of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, is also said to be disgruntled.

Will Company Sell Out?

Winnipeg, March 13.—Considerable speculation exists over a prolonged conference Sir William Mackenzie had with Premier Roblin on Saturday, presumably in connection with the dispute between the Winnipeg Electric Co. and the city. In one quarter it is stated that Sir William is about ready, on behalf of the company, to offer to sell out, lock, stock and barrel, to the city.

Will Cost Two Millions.

Halifax, March 13.—The Railway Commission was here Saturday to meet the Halifax Board of Trade and discuss plans for a new terminal. Mr. Kennedy, engineer of Montreal harbor, was present with the plans he has prepared.

Mr. Campbell, chairman of the Railway Board, told the Canadian press that the board would recommend to Parliament that the terminals as per Mr. Kennedy's plans, perhaps slightly modified to meet Halifax requirements be built. He estimates that the total cost would be from one million and a half to two million dollars.

Had Severe Pains In His Back.

Could Hardly Work.

Mr. Alfred E. Davis, Gorrie, Ont. writes:—"For some years I suffered from severe pains in my back and could hardly work at all, and when I stooped down to pick up anything felt as if my back must break. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking two boxes I was entirely cured, and feel that I cannot speak too highly in their favor.

"This was nearly four years ago and I still remain cured."

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

Weak, lame or aching back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages.

Price 50c per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst	1.00 a.m.	8.35 a.m
North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	9.30 p.m.	6.35 p.m
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m
	5.35 p.m.	7.05 p.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	5.35 p.m.	6.05 p.m
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m
	10.15 p.m.	6.15 p.m
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	6.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal East.	8.15 a.m.	8.30 a.m
	and 5.55 p.m.	1.40 p.m
Lakefield.	10.00 a.m.	8.30 a.m
	8.15 p.m.	12.35 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.35 a.m
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m
	1.01 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	6.05 a.m
	6.01 a.m
Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Orrie, Toronto.	7.40 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago.	4.30 p.m
Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.30 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC
$42.60
PACIFIC COAST
ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS
MAR. 10 TO APRIL 10
THE ONLY THROUGH LINE
TOURIST AND COLONIST SLEEPING CARS ON ALL TRAINS
Ask any C.P.R. Agent for Particulars

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Reduced Rates for One-Way Tickets
March 10 to April 10
Inclusive
42.60 Vancouver, B. C. / Spokane, Wash. / Seattle, Wash. / Portland, Ore.
45.20 San Francisco, Cal. / Los Angeles, Cal. / Mexico City
Above rates are one-way second class applying from Peterborough. Proportionate rates to certain other points.
Full particulars and tickets from—
City Ticket Office: 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE, City Ticket Agent
P. SANDY, Depot Agent

COAL! COAL!
The Standard Anthracite D. L. & W. for
SCRANTON COAL
$7.50 Per Ton
Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc
Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.
R. HICKS & Co
YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 48

COAL
That Is Coal
is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 Per Ton
HARDWOOD
First Class—Best in City—at
$6.00 Per Cord
4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at
J. E. A. Fitzgerald's
Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
328 George 328 George
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at
328 George St. NO KEY HAMILTON
Ice Cream Soft Drinks

AT THE WARNE SHOE STORE

Special This Week:

A Ladies' Patent Blucher Bal. $2.50

A light Dongola Bal., good for house boot..... 1.00

Boys' Box Kip Blucher, good school boot, 1 to 5..... $1.25

Youths' ditto..... $1.00

If you want the right shoe at the right price, just try—

WARNE'S SHOE STORE

Evaporated FRUITS

The home prepared supply which is running low, can be nicely supplemented by our newly arrived evaporated fruits.

Apples, Apricots Peaches, Prunes

A nice change that is cheap this season is sliced

Oranges or Grap Fruit

Thinking of pie meterials reminds us of our

LADIES' FAVORITE FLOUR

If not the flour you use, try it

We sell ROSE BRAND LARD

Porter S. White

336 George St. · Phone 208

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough befo e.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of

LAMB MUTTON PORK

Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices

Alex Gordon

Butcher Market Arcade

East City

Coal and Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $4.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $3.50 cord, First class Tamarac. Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

AGENTS WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

Special Sale

Another Special Sale for This Week

A few only of Paisley Silk Waists, all colors and different designs, regular $6 for $2.98

3 pieces of Scotch Plaid Silkoline for children's dresses and ladies' waists, will wash and wear well, regular 20c per yd. or per yard 11c

2 pieces only of double fold striped Dress Lustre for ladies' wash dresses, regular 50c for 25c

Ladies' and Misses' White Lawn Corset Covers trimmed with fine Valenciennes lace and insertion, reg. 40c for each 19c

Some boxes of dainty neck frillings, Lace Chiffon, etc. in pretty shades, the best quality, reg. 35c for yard 15c

A few lines in Men's and Boys' Caps of all kinds in all sizes, these are to be cleared at each 25c

See our New Spring Goods, Ladies' and Gent's Ready-to wears, Boots and Shoes, all housefurnishings.

432 GEORGE ST. PHONE 567

The Elite Clothing Store

Lent Specialties — at — Coleman Bros.

Caterers and Confectioners

426 George Street

OYSTER PATTIES

Fresh Every Day.

Coleman's Special

LENT CAKES

MUFFINS & CRUMPETS

CREAM PUFFS

SALLY LUNNS

CHOCOLATE ECLAIR

MACAROONS

FANCY BISCUITS

All Kinds of Pies

Anything you want in Pies or Baking made to Order.

Afternoon Tea served in our Nice Bright Room Upstairs.

Vienna Bon Bons and Chocolates

FRESH DAILY

Oyster Patties

Charlotte Russe

Plum Cakes

Lemon Cakes

Fancy Biscuits

Macaroons

ICE CREAM

in Bricks or Bulk

T. H. HOOPER

327-414-601 George Street

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address—

762 Water Street

PHONE 1140

The Spring Suit

Before deciding on the Spring Suit, be sure to investigate all round. With a chance to show you our high class goods, expert workmanship, and we are willing than to leave the decision to you. No better goods anywhere nor work quite so select, and prices very reasonable.

Latest New York Styles

Come early for prompt delivery.

Good Girls Wanted

J GOLDBERG

Ladies' Tailor

Phone 1267. : 452 George St.

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 623

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. It also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

For Sale.

Nearly new Piano and Sewing Machine for sale; apply quickly, to 544 George street.

"In Memoriam" Class.

Judge Huycke will meet with his "In Memoriam" class this evening at the Y.W.C.A.

Boy Scouts.

The Boy Scouts will meet in the armouries to-morrow night at 7.30 o'clock. A full attendance is expected.

Potatoes.

I have very fine, dry, mealy potatoes to dispose of. Call at Jas. R. Ball, Grocer, Hunter street, East and West.

Probabilities.

Moderate, variable winds, fine, much the same temperature. Tuesday, southerly and south-westerly winds, fair and mild.

Flowering Plants.

Our usual supply of flowering plants in pots for to-morrow, from West End Greenhouses. Also cut flowers, carnations, daffodils and stocks. PORTER S. WHITE.

Important to the Ladies of Peterborough.

—We are glad to announce that we are opening a nice line of millinery this season; very latest and up-to-late styles—shapes, trimmed and untrimmed. Come now and inspect our line. You are quite welcome whether you buy or not.—Knickerbocker Co., 422 George St.; 'Phone 711.

At S. A. Oke's, successor to H. P. Kennedy.

FISH—Fresh fish, Halibut, Salmon, Herrings, Seal Shipt Oysters VEGETABLES — Carrots, parsnips, beets, cabbage, celery, fresh lettuce parsley and green onions daily; guaranteed new laid eggs. Meats, Prime beef, lamb and pork, always in stock —S. A. OKE, 349 George street. Phon e275.

Fruit Bargains.

—Seedless Oranges—50c line, 40c., 40c. line, 30c.; 30c. line, 25c.; 25c line 20c.; 20c. line, 15c. per dozen. If you are thinking of making Marmalade now is a good time to buy. Fish of all kinds and vegetables always in stock.—J. Longo, 206 Charlotte street, next My Valet.

The Season for Grape Fruit.

A delicious fruit for breakfast and luncheons—of great medicinal value, and thanks to modern methods of production, is now as cheap as oranges. Directions for serving: Cut the fruit in two crossways, remove seeds and centre pith ;add sugar and eat with spoon. A cherry and a few drops of sherry might be added if desired Walter J. Oke, both phones 18.

Vacuum Cleaning.

A pure, dustless atmosphere cannot be obtained except by Vacuum cleaning. Vacuum cleaning has been perfected to the point where every home can enjoy its benefits for less than the cost of cleaning with broom or beating. Our powerful machines do the work quickly and well. Ask us to explain the system. The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Company, 396 Water St. (near cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

What We Manufacture.

The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc Furniture made to order and repaired Dealers in British late glass and mirrors Telephone No. 1153 W. Theobald, manager.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. E. Flood, of New York, is at the Oriental.

Mrs. H. A. Yenney will not receive again this season.

Mr. H. B. Whealy, of Toronto, is a guest aat the Oriental.

Mr. H. Donnelly, of Orillia, is a guest at the Snowden House.

Mr. H. B. Peters, of Hastings, is registered aat the Munro House.

Mr. H. Rutherford ,of Otonabee, is registered at the Munro House.

Mrs. R. F. Downey, 298 Boswell ave., will not receive tomorrow (Tuesday).

Mrs. John Wharton and Mrs. T. J. Smart, of Toronto, spent a week in the city.

Messrs. Harry and Fred Cressman are on a buying trip to New York this week.

Mr. H. B. Cowan, of the Farm and Dairy, returned from a business trip to Toronto on Saturday.

Miss Florence Lynch is spending a few weeks with her uncle, Mr. B. Lynch, of Yale, Michigan.

Mrs. C. E. Sisson, 545 Gilmour street, will receive to-morrow (Tuesday) and not again this season.

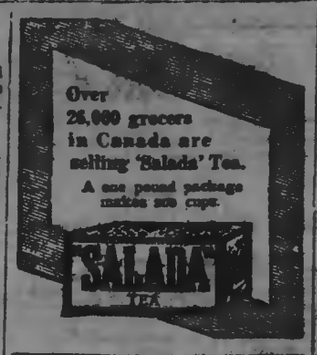
Mrs. L. Nichol, of Roseneath, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. I. Harper, Dalhousie street, for a few days last week.

Mr. F. J. Macdonnell, Div. Supt. of the I. C. S of Belleville, and wife, are in the city this week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Sanderson.

Miss Ella Grady has left for Rochester, N.Y., after spending six weeks with her parents in this city, since the death of her brother, the late Jas. Grady.

Mr. T. A. Kelly, of Cavan, the popular and energetic warden of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, was in the city on Saturday on business.

The numerous friends of Mr. Joseph Glass, 487 Parnell street, who is an old and highly respected citizen, will regret to hear of his illness and the members of the family have the sincere sympathy of all who know them.



CHURCH NOTICES

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH NOTICES.

Announcements for the week are as follows:

The Young People's Guild will meet this evening at 8 o'clock.

The Managers will hold their regular monthlymeeting in the Dominion Bank Chambers on Tuesday evening at 7.45.

The regular monthly meeting of the Fraser Mission Band will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Midweek service on Wednesday at 8 p.m.; teachers' meeting at the close.

Boys' Brotherhood on Friday at 7.15 p.m.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTICES.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Girls' Auxiliary will be held to-night in the rectory at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present, and to bring their missionary collection boxes. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

At the Wednesday Lenten service Rev. Canon Allen of Millbrook, will preach.

The Women's Auxiliary will meet on Thursday at 2.30 o'clock.

The Mission Band will meet on Friday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock.

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES.

Monday—Boys' Notation Class, 5.15 Evening service; 7.30, annual meeting Girls' Auxiliary; 8 p.m., debate. A.Y.P.A.

Tuesday—3 p.m., annual meeting W. A.; 5.15, Evening service.

Wednesday—8 p.m., Special Lenten service.

Thursday, 5.15, evening service; 8 p.m., choir practice; boys at 7.30 p.m.

Friday, 4 p.m., annual meeting of Junior Auxiliary; 5.15, evening service; 8 p.m., Confirmation Class.

Saturday, 9 a.m., boys' practice; 5.15, evening service.

The sermon on Wednesday night will be preached by the Rev. Mr. Bracken, of Toronto.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM LEGGETT.

An old, familiar figure in railroad circles passed away Saturday night, in the person of William Leggett, of Lindsay. The remains passed through to-day at noon en route to Port Hope, where interment will take place.

MISS MARY HILTON.

Miss Mary Hilton, a highly respected resident of this city, passed away on Saturday evening at the advanced age of 96 years. Deceased came to Peterborough in 1832 and has been a resident of the city ever since.

Funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the residence of her nephew, Mr. Robt Reid, of 560 Water street, at 3 o'clock to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

MRS. CATHARINE GRAHAM.

The death occurred yesterday morning of Mrs. Catharine Meehan, relict of the late Christopher Graham, aged 82 years. The late Mrs. Graham was widely known in the city, and vicinity, where she had lived for many years, and had made a large circle of friends, by her kindly nature and pleasing disposition. She leaves to mourn her loss four sons and two daughters. The sons are George, James, Frank and Christopher of this city. The daughters are Mrs. Gallon and Mrs. McCarnie.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon, from the residence of her son, Mr. G. N. Graham, of the Oriental Hotel, at 2.30, and proceed to the Little Lake cemtery for interment.

WILLIAM EVERETT.

The death occurred on Friday of William Everett, Lot 38, Con. 7., Anstruther. Deceased, who was 75 years of age, had been a life-long resident of Peterborough, up till the time of the death of his wife, which took place in September last. There are left to mourn his loss three sons and one daughter. The sons are, Harry, and Russel of Anstruther, and Bert. of Lakefild, and Miss Lizzie, of Toronto. Mr. Bert Everett, of the Bell Telephone Co., of this city, is a nephew of the deceased.

The funeral took place this afternoon from Belleghem's undertaking rooms at 2.30, to the Little Lake cemetery.

WEDDING BELLS

DEWART—NELSON.

Avery pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. Andrew S. Nelson, of Dummer on Wednesday, March 8th, when his eldest daughter Phoebe was united in marriage to Mr. James H. Dewart of Douro.

The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreens by the Rev. H. Brown, of Warsaw, in the presence of about seventy guests.

The bride who was given away by her father, was becomingly attired in a gown of white silk net, trimmed with lace insertion and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous repast, after which the evening was spent in a very social manner.

The presents, which were many and costly, testified to the esteem in which the bride was held by her many friends.

The groom's gift to the bride was a set of mink furs. The young couple left for their home in Douro, followed by the best wishes of their many friends and acquaintances.

YOU CA NSEE IT WORK

The beauty of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment as a healer of the skin in eczema, salt rheum, itching skin disease and old sores is that you can see from day to day exactly what it is doing. There is no guess work, no experimenting. It simply heals the skin and makes it soft, smooth and natural. It heals as if by magic. Prove this to your own satisfaction by trying it.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of St. John's Women's Auxiliary Tomorrow.

The annual meeting of St. John's branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held in the Guild room at 3 o'clock (three o'clock) on Tuesday, March 14th. All members are asked to be present and come prepared to pay their fees, also to contribute to the 25th anniversary Thank offering, as a collection will be taken, up to be presented at the annual meeting in Toronto. A large offering is hoped for. It will be devoted to a Mission in the Northwest (Canada.)

WERE FINED FOR BEING DRUNK

Two local men were fined $5.00 and costs each in the Police Court this morning for being drunk in a public place yesterday. The costs were $3.75, making a total of $8.75 each. The men were disorderly and had to be arrested, the result being as stated. Both were given 10 days in which to pay the fine.

A PRESENTATION

An interesting event took place at the Armouries on Saturday evening, when the members of the Garrison Sergeants' Mess presented Sergt. Wilf Metheral, the chief caretaker, of the Armouries, with a handsome pipe as a mark of gratitude for the manner in which he has looked after their quarters. The presentation was made on behalf of the members of the Mess by Sergt. Major Edwards who in a neat speech, expressed the feelings of the Non-Coms. Sergt. Metheral was taken entirely by surprise, but made an appropriate reply.

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Say there was great interest manifested yesterday morning at George Street Methodist church, when the pastor, Rev. Mr. Couch, discoursed upon the subject "How to Study the Old Testament." He spoke for an hour and a quarter to a spellbound congregation. Mr. Couch is a man of ripe scholarship, and the audience was thrilled with delight as he opened up the Word and made the dark places lighted. He made effective use of two oil paintings to show how the Bible ought to be studied, and what scholarship was doing in illuminating the Word. He is being asked to repeat the address, and if he does, the church will not hold the people.

Yours truly,
LAYMAN.

TO GIVE CONCERT

For a considerable time the members of the 52th Band have been rehearsing three nights a week, in preparation for a grand concert, which will be held in the near future. An entirely new programme will be given, the band having devoted itself to the study of a new repertoire of both popular and standard music. Music lovers will be glad to learn of the intention of the band to hold a concert.

WANTS EXPLANATION

An explanation is desired by a citizen from Dr. McPherson, as to why the house in which the school teacher who was stricken down with scarlet fever was not placarded, it being understood that the lady in question has been removed to the hospital.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar (positively no return.) Established Toronto, Hamilton & Guelph. Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail. References. Write for particulars.

MISS A. G. MACAFEE
Box 260, Brampton, Ont.

AN OLD RESIDENT DROPPED DEAD TO-DAY

Death's call came with startling suddenness this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock to Mr. John Stothart, one of the best known residents of the township of Smith. The deceased had not been feeling in the best of health for the past week or ten days, and to-day he decided to come to Peterborough to consult his physician, Dr. Marshall. He had dressed himself, ready to leave for the city, and returned to the house to get something before taking his departure. As he was passing through the kitchen he collapsed, and fell to the floor, dying instantly. Heart failure was pronounced the cause of death by Dr Marshall, who was summoned at once.

The late Mr. Stothart had been a life-long resident of Smith. He was born in that township and was a son of the late Thomas Stothart, who emigrated from England in 1816, and was one of the pioneer residents of Smith. He was a Presbyterian in religion. The County had no better known or more highly respected resident than Mr. Stothart, who was a most progressive farmer, and whose farm was a model in neatness and equipment.

Announcements as to the date of the funeral will be made later.

Preferred Death to Mutilation.

Chicago, March 13.—Thrown from one train and struck by another, which severed his left leg and arm, Edward Wolf, 17 years old, Saturday night made the instant choice of death as the alternative to life as a hopeless cripple. Fighting off the faintness induced by his injuries he managed to reach into his pocket with his remaining hand, draw a revolver, and put a bullet through his brain.

The bullet, which made a suicide of Wolf, almost claimed a second life, for it passed completely through the head of the self-slain boy, and hit his traveling companion, William Haines, 18 years old. Haines was struck in the neck and physicians who removed the bullet later found that it had just grazed the jugular vein. Wolf and Haines ran away from home in New York City a month or more ago. They were consumed with an ambition to see the west and traveled on freight and passenger trains as far as Denver. Then they became homesick and turned back.

No Tariff Views.

Ottawa, March 13.—Premier Hazen of New Brunswick is in the city to argue a case before the Supreme Court to-day. When asked for an expression of opinion on reciprocity, Mr. Hazen said he had none to express. He further intimated that his Government would not submit to the Provincial Legislature, now in session, any resolution with reference to the subject, though, he added, the Opposition was talking of bringing forward the matter.

"If it does," he said, "we will deal with it, but I would regard such a resolution on their part as bad tactics."

No Montreal Exhibition.

Montreal, March 13.—That there will be no exhibition is the opinion of the aldermen who were present at the meeting on Saturday afternoon of the directors of the Industrial Exhibition Commission held in the City Council chamber.

No site so far proposed for an exhibition seems to be good enough on which to hold an exhibition in Montreal, according to the aldermen.

A final decision in the matter was reached on Saturday. Votes was taken on different sites in question, with the result that all were voted down and lost.

Rich In This World's Goods.

Concord, N.H., March 13.—A valuation of $2,512,146 is placed on the estate in New Hampshire of the late Mrs. Mary Baker Glover Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, by the appraisers, whose report was filed in the Merrimack County, probate court yesterday by Gen. Henry M. Baker of Bow, executor of the estate. While the property left by Mrs. Eddy in Massachusetts has not been formally appraised, Gen. Baker estimates it at about $250,000. The total value of Mrs. Eddy's estate, therefore, is approximately $2,760,000

Lovely Woman.

I scowl at hats, I growl at rats,
I'm grouchy as a bear;
At shoes I sneer, at skirts I jeer,
I criticise her air,
And yet, you know, for all my blow,
My fuming and my flame,
Despite her hats, her beats, her rats,
I love her just the same.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Word From Brer Williams.

"Dance whilst you kin. I'm in favor of ever'body dancin' who likes de exercise of it, but befo' you start feel in yo' pocket an' see ef you got money nuff ter pay de fiddler, kase he is also ter pass his hat fer pay w'en de dance is done."—Atlanta Constitution.

Anyhow—

"Any little girl is a nice little girl"—
That's a good little song, after all,
And it's better to have loved a short little girl
Than never to have loved a tall.
—Cleveland Leader.

A Born Politician.

First New Woman—It is very important to get all cooks interested in the suffrage movement.

Second New Woman—Why so?

First New Woman—Because every cook controls two votes—her own and that of her mistress.—Life.

The Seaman Ashore.

The sailor swimming in the sea,
With sharks on every hand,
Is in grave danger, you may bet,
But graver dangers wait him yet
From sharks upon the land.
—Boston Herald.

Tourists Were Few.

Eve—There aren't many people around here.

Adam—No; I don't believe we could make any money running "seeing Eden" trips.—New York Press.

As Compared.

Behold the hustling hoofhack
At work with all his power!
He, like the busy little bee,
Improves each shining hour.
—Chicago News.

Cheap Communication.

"Do you believe in telepathy?"

"Certainly not," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "Even if the scheme were practical there is no money in it."—Washington Star.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

Is rich in food value and easy to digest. It is just Cocoa, pure Cocoa, ground from the choicest Cocoa beans.

Nurses and Doctors recommend its use in sickness or in health. 171

Our Photos

Always please because the likeness is true, the finish perfect, the subject is naturally and effectively posed, and the work is mounted and put up in the very latest style.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

Hair and Fancy Goods

Whatever is new and good in Hair Coiffures, or that is required in dressing the hair in the very latest style we have it Perfect match guaranteed. Our line of Smallwares and Fancy Goods is very complete and offers a choice selection.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE

424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.

Bell Phone · · 765 George Street

LASTING PHOTOS

An evidence of the superior quality of our work is the fadeless quality we produce. We would like to show you photographs that have been exposed to sunlight for long periods without the slightest effect.

The Lendrum Studio

170 Charlotte Street

CREDIT

Makes a Hard Road EASY

WE SELL what we advertise without extra charge for CREDIT. Credit will serve you well HERE.

ECONOMY

says buy NOW and BUY HERE.

Open An Account Now

Get high grade Ladies' and Gents Clothing ready-to-wear for the spring. Special Ladies' Suits, most up to date, all reduced prices for early buyers.

Ladies' Suits, reg. 35.00 for $27.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 25.00 for 19.98
Ladies' Suits, reg. 18.00 for 12.50

All good tailored and all colours

New Line of Millinery

New line of Millinery will open for Spring. Come and pick out your Hat HERE.

All kinds of House Furnishings. Linoleums, Oilcloths, Squares, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains in best quality.

CASH OR CREDIT

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

The Best Credit Clothiers in City

183 CHARLOTTE STREET

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept them gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL L No. 61 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY MARCH 14 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL
BIG MINSTREL SHOW
M. Glans Presents
Reese Brothers
Africanders with Band and Orchestra
Good { Singers Dancers Comedians
The Show Everybody Likes
Reese Bros. Minstrel Troop consists of fourteen high class coloured performers, four ladies and ten gentlemen who put on a show in two parts lasting one hour well worth 25c and 50c admission but the Royal will charge but 10c afternoon or evening for those three days of week. Show will include three reels of Motion Pictures of the latest and best subjects.
Change of motion pictures to-day, and to-morrow the Minstrel troop will change completely their performance, new songs, new dances for to-morrow night, the last night, together with another complete change of pictures.
ADMISSION :
Afternoon, Adults 10c, Children 5c
Evening 10c to everyone.

Princess Peterborough's only Real Picture & Song Theatre
Special Big Cowboy Picture To-day
A Tough Tenderfoot
Don't fail to see this thrilling Western Drama
Last night to see
THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST
A splendid picture woven around the Beasts of the world. See the thrilling rescue of a girl from being torn to pieces
Last night to see
Fisher Folk
The Greatest Biograph Drama ever shown in America. Don't miss this Magnificent Picture
Mr. Loftus Will Sing "NIGHT AND DAY"
This is our best show of pictures yet and we would like all our patrons to see these three magnificent films.

A Few Facts About This Season's Furnishings
— at —
FASHION-CRAFT
You will be more favourably impressed than ever with the values and styles of this season's productions.
We have beaten all our past efforts in every way in our line of Men's Furnishings which have always been acknowledged the most creditable line in town.
The Best Ever
— at —
Fashion - Craft Shop
A. M. LAIDLAW

Remember
Every child photographed by us previous to Dec. 1st, will be in the large group photograph of Peterborough children to be reproduced in the special 1911 Christmas Examiner
The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

Have you tried the "Want" Columns of The Examiner yet. Small ads., small coin.

THE RACE FOR DREADNOUGHTS MEANS REVOLUTION SAYS SIR EDWARD GREY

England's Foreign Secretary is Hopeful of an Agreement on the Question of Armaments With Germany.

IS NEGOTIATING

London, March 14.—Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, leading the House of Commons last night, in Premier Asquith's absence, made an important pronouncement on the Government's naval policy. Reginald McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty, in defence of his estimates against attacks from certain quarters, explained that in 1914 Great Britain would have 30 and Germany 21 Dreadnoughts—not, he said, an unreasonable margin. The size of the British navy, he added, practically was governed by that of Germany, and unless some change occurred in the German naval law this year would be the high water mark in British estimates.

Secretary Grey, affirming Mr. McKenna's statements, emphasized the cordiality of Great Britain's foreign relations and his earnest desire that nothing should disturb these friendships. He then dealt with the difficulties to be encountered in the disarmament question, and pointed out that it was the most civilized nations that spent the most on armaments, asserting that unless the michief was brought home to men's feelings as well as to their minds, the growth of armaments must in the long run break civilization down.

Some thought, the Secretary continued, that it would end in war. He thought more likely it would end in international revolution. Any way, the rivalary would not be stopped by any single nation dropping out of the race. Although Great Britain had a strong navy, her army was small, and an agreement with Germany needed careful handling. He was hopeful, however, that something might be done.

When he referred to the possibility of the adoption of President Taft's proposal he was listened to in tense silence. If, he said, two of the greatest nations should thus make it clear that in no circumstances were they going to war again, the effect of their example on the world must have beneficial effects.

Nations entering such an agreement, continued the Secretary, might be exposed to attack by a third nation. This would probably lead to their making another agreement to join each other in case of quarrel with a third power in which arbitration was refused.

"In entering an agreement of this kind," said Sir Edward, "there would be risks, and you must be prepared for some sacrifice of national pride. I know that to produce such changes public opinion must reach very high ideals—higher than some think possible, but men's minds are working in this direction, and history affords instances of reaching such an ideal point. It was so in the case of slavery, when the United States rose up, not counting the cost in blood or money, or the risk of national existence."

In conclusion the Secretary said: "The general adoption of such a system might leave some armies and navies still in existence, but they would remain, not in rivalry, but as the world's police."

Utopian as his hopes might seem to some, he believed that he would live long enough to see some progress towards their realization.

Want Hydro Power.

Clarkson, March 14.—Farmers of this vicinity are likely to very shortly avail themselves of the opportunity afforded to those rural residents who want electricity installed in their houses. Quite a number of fruit-growers hereabout are anxious toto get the benefit of hydro juice for lighting and power purposes, and it is probable that an application will be made from the neighborhood to have a line run in here from the nearest transformer station, which is at Port Credit.

Hotel Burned.

Sussex, N.B., March 14.—Fire early yesterday destroyed the Depot House, a hotel conducted here by A. D. Pugsley, cousin of Hon. Wm. Pugsley.

Some 25 people staying in the hotel were trapped, but all got out safely, some down ladders, some by jumping into blankets.

B. J. Sharpe's drug store and the C.P.R. ticket agency were also burned out. The total loss is placed at about $50,000, with insurance of about [illegible]

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

Write for our list of
INVESTMENT BONDS
MUNICIPAL PUBLIC UTILITY
INDUSTRIAL
To yield from 4% to 6
WARREN, CZOWSKI & CO.
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
TRADERS' BANK BUILDING
TORONTO, and
25 BROAD STREET, New York

SUPPLEMENTARY FIGURES TABLED IN THE LEGISLATURE

Roads are a Large Item in the Added Estimates—Hon. A. G. Mackay Inquires About New Stock Tax.

TAX ON RACE MEETS

Toronto, March 14.—Bookmakers and pari-mutual machines for horse race speculation all look alike to the Ontario Goyernment.

"We don't recognize that feature of racing in any way whatever," was Hon. Col. Matheson's statement in the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon when A. C. Pratt, South Norfolk, recommended that running race tracks where bookmakers officiate should be penalized by a license fee much in excess of the $200 a day provided in the new Supplementary Revenue Act.

The Provincial Treasurer said the only additional charge with respect to the license fees on horse race meetings was to provide that, if two running races a day are held at trotting race meetings, the full $200 a day will be imposed.

The act had been changed with respect to the 2 per cent. tax on stock transfers. Instead of the tax falling in the transferee (the buyer) as at first proposed, it had been decided to levy it on the seller.

Hon. A. G. MacKay asked if the constitutionality of the tax had been fully considered, as it appeared possible that it infringed on the matters of trade and commerce, in which case it would belong to the Dominion jurisdiction.

Hon. Col. Matheson declared that the constitutionality of the tax had been fully defined.

Col. Hugh Clark, Centre Bruce, gave notice that he would ask the Government for a return showing what progress has been made with prison farm at Guelph, and what work is contemplated this year.

Hon. James Duff presented a bill to permit county councils to acquire lands for reforestration purposes, and to issue debentures, not exceeding $25,000 in any one year for this purpose.

J. W. Johnson, West Hastings, asked that his bill asking for a board of examiners to license opticians and elevate their standard of proficiency, be read a second time, and referred to committee. He said that if the public could be guaranteed that such men had skill, there would be an increased confidence and many more defective eyes would be bettered. He did not wish to form a close corporation, but would point out that Manitoba had such a law.

Hon. I. B. Lucas, Centre Grey, drew attention to the fact that according to the way the bill was drawn up the man selling glasses could give no aid or advice to the customer in the selection of glasses, or he would be liable to a fine. This, in itself, was likely to create a close corporation. Nor was there in the bill any provision for the instruction of optical candidates. He, therefore, urged the withdrawal of the bill.

Mr. Johnson acquiesced, with a grateful remark at having the deficiencies of his bill pointed out to him.

Hon. Dr. Reaume's bill to amend the Ontario Game and Fisheries Act passed its third reading without amendment, although R. R. Gamey endeavored to have a clause inserted that would limit the bag of partridge to 50 birds in a season.

Dr. Reaume answered that he would closely observe the partridge question during the next year, but thought the Government's policy of shortening the season whenever birds were becoming scarce, or closing it entirely, was better than limiting the bag.

The Toronto Interurban Railway Co. bill was given its third reading.

Hon. A. G. MacKay asked for information as to whether any machinery or equipment in the transformer station of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission at Niagara Falls has been destroyed; if so, who the contractors were that supplied it; what occasioned the injury, and upon whom would the loss fall in each case.

Hon. Col. Hendrie replied that in the event of any possible litigation, it would be very unwise to make public any of the details respecting these questions.

Valentine Stock asked what was the area of Rondeau Park, how many acres were wooded, what portion contained merchantable timber, and had the Government made any sales of timber?

Hon. Frank Cochrane replied that 5,600 acres was the area, of which 2,500 acres were wooded, except for 500 acres, formerly owned by the Government, from which merchantable timber had been cut. The contract for this had been let on Nov. 4 last to the highest bidder.

Hon. W. J. Hanna has a bill before the House to vest in Dr. McCullough, chief medical officer, the full authority of the Ontario board between meetings of that body.

The additional supplementary estimates total $704,512.

Consolidated road grants aggregate $367,214.

Among the votes for public institutions is $1,000 for the Toronto Normal School.

In response to the appeals from the members for the new districts, and the needs as indicated by the inspectors' reports to the Department, Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, has received additional educational appropriations totaling $35,210.05. Of this $20,000 is to promote education in the new districts. Half is to aid in the establishment of new schools, and the other $10,000 to supplement the present grants to the urban schools already existing.

The South African Monument at London gets a grant of $1,000. Another patriotic grant is an allowance of $350 to the daughters of the late Col. C. J. Baldwin in recognition of their father raising and equipping a regiment during the rebellion of 1837.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The Manitoba bill respecting company registration will not be passed at this session.

Over one hundred cattle were destroyed in the Montreal stockyards yesterday by fire.

Russia has presented another ultimatum to China, and troops are said to be marching on Kuldja.

A syndicate headed by David Fasken of Toronto has purchased the Niplising Central Railway.

President Diaz is suffering from a tubercular affection of the arteries that may terminate fatally at any moment.

Miss Cummings, a Hamilton girl, [illegible] a hat pin on a highwayman with good effect that he took to his [illegible]

A proposal to create a new department to deal with dominions' affairs will be discussed at the Imperial Conference.

W. E. Webber, a Hamilton traveler, met with an accident in Cleveland, and made the railway journey home, but cannot remember anything of it.

At a meeting of the temperance people of London, resolution was passed asking the Government to pass a measure allowing the municipalities to take a plebiscite limiting the hours of bars.

Democratic success in Maine was continued at the city elections held yesterday, candidates of that party winning the majority contests in four of the five cities which voted. The only upset was at Bangor.

The London Chronicle's Melbourne correspondent cables that Admiral Henderson's scheme for the Australian navy provides a fleet of 52 vessels, costing $117,500,000, spread over 22 years. The scheme pledges the Commonwealth to an annual naval expenditure of nearly five millions after 1933.

Burned In Her Kitchen.

Toronto, March 14.—Mrs. Elizabeth MacArthur, 29 years old, was burned to death last night at her home, 122 Kenilworth avenue. Her husband was called by her nine-year-old son, who ran down to his father's hardware store at the corner of Kenilworth avenue and Queen street, in his night-clothes.

Mrs. MacArthur was preparing the evening meal, when the fatality occurred. She had just started the fire in the kitchen range, which, however, did not seem to burn. Thinking that the wood was damp, she sprinkled it with coal oil, holding the tin of oil at some distance above the stove. Suddenly the flames burst forth and an explosion followed. A portion of the tin struck her in the face and she fell alongside the range. Her clothing, which was saturated with oil, speedily caught fire, and in an instant she was a mass of flames. Mr. MacArthur had his hands and arms badly burned while trying to extinguish the flames.

Investigating Failure.

New York, March 14.—The grand jury began yesterday an investigation into the affairs of the Carnegie Trust Co., which was closed by the superintendent of banks on Feb. 1. Three witnesses, including the vice-president of the suspended institution, were examined. At the conclusion of the sitting, District Attorney Whitman announced that directors of two other trust companies with which the Carnegie Trust Co. had business dealings, would testify to-day. The investigation, it is said, may result in the indictment of two and possibly three directors on charges of forgery.

Details of a transaction involving $200,000, in which two other companies are alleged to have been involved, are said to have engaged the attention of the grand jury. Joseph G. Robin, the convicted president of the Washington Savings Bank, is said to have furnished Mr. Whitman with information concerning the Carnegie Trust Co.

Boy Is Missing.

Stratford, March 14.—Dennis O'Brien, the thirteen-year-old son of W. O'Brien, Stratford, is in the hospital with his left ear and the whole left side of his face missing. He went out Saturday to shoot muskrats and while getting through a fence the gun exploded, the stock being blown to pieces, and young O'Brien's face torn off on the left side in a horrible manner. He staggered about a mile to a farm house, where help was summoned, and he was removed to the hospital. If he recovers he will be a [illegible] for life.

THE UNSETTLED PORTION OF PROVINCE TO BE COLONIZED

Hon. Frank Oliver Discusses the Settlement of the Clay Belt Hon. Sidney Fisher Will Bring in the Amendments to the Seed Control Act in House To-day.

Ottawa, March 14.—When the immigration estimates were under consideration in the House of Commons last evening, James Arthurs (Parry Sound) asked the Minister of the Interior if any effort had been made by the Dominion Government to bring people in for the unsettled portion of Ontario, such as along the line of the National Transcontinental and T. & N. O. Railways.

"So far the Government has not taken up the question of colonization in Northern Ontario," replied Mr. Oliver. "We have an interest in colonization in what might be called the western part of Ontario. We have an agent at Port Arthur, who deals with the Thunder Bay and Rainy River Districts.

"We have not taken up this question for the reason that until the National Transcontinental is built and in operation, the clay belt is hardly accessible for settlement." Mr. Oliver admitted there was land along the T. & N. O. between North Bay and Cochrane, but he did not know whether it was sufficiently desirable to warrant the Government in making any special effort.

"But," he added, "as soon as the clay belt is made available by the construction of the National Transcontinental, there is no doubt the Government will be quite willing to take up the question in assisting to direct colonization to that part of the country."

Under an amendment to the motion to go into committe of supply, ostensibly for the purpose of considering the transportation aspect of the reciprocity proposals, F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier) precipitated discussion of the Georgian Bay Canal scheme, which was fair on the way to dividing the House, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier discovered that a private member could not propose a resolution that involved an expenditure of money. Several members had spoken before the point of order was raised, and the matter was suddenly dropped. It showed, however, the tendency of Eastern Ontario and Quebec members to favor that scheme over the enlargement of Welland Canal.

Mr. Monk said he was influenced to bring the transportation matter forward by the influence of J. J. Hill in favor of reciprocity owing to his railway connections in the west.

Mr. Monk urged upon the Government the necessity of the immediate construction of the Georgian Bay Canal. His amendment to the motion was that the House, in view of a possible diversion of the country's carrying trade from Canadian channels, and in order to insure the most favorable conditions of transportation between western points and the Canadian Atlantic seaboard, records its opinion and determination that the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal should be commenced forthwith, so as to preserve and further facilitate interprovincial traffic and the carrying of freight in unbroken bulk from the Great Lakes to the sea.

Mr. Fisher will introduce a bill this session to amend the Seed Control Act, and has given notice that on Wednesday next he will move a resolution on which the legislation is to be founded.

It is expedient, says the resolution, to amend the Seed Control Act by providing, "That the Governor-in-council may make regulations determining the species of farm weeds, which shall be included within the meaning of the term 'noxious weeds.'

"That no person shall sell, or have in possession for sale for the purpose of seeding and seeds of cereals, flax, grasses, clovers, or forage plants, except timothy, alsike or red clover and alfalfa, unless they are free from any seeds of noxious weeds, and unless the receptacle is marked with the name and address of the seller, the name of the kind of seed, the seeds of which are present in the seed offered.

"That no person shall sell, offer, expose or have in possession for sale, for the purpose of seeding any of the said seeds, if the seeds of noxious weeds or other useless or harmful plants are present in greater proportion in the seed sold, than the maximum number of such seeds that may be permitted of the grade designated therefor."

TENSION ALONG BORDER IS NOT SO GREAT

Situation Said to be Clearly Co-operative Between the Two Governments.

PERFECT UNDERSTANDING

New York, March 14.—The Mexican ambassador here and the Mexican Minister of Finance received assurances from Washington last night which convinced them that there is sincere co-operation between the administration of President Taft and that of President Diaz. It is not professed that all tension has been slackened, and while the American troops remain in force on the Mexican border, it is admitted that some tension will continue, but the edge of apprehension was appreciably blunted by the day's developments.

A long telegram to Ambassador de la Barra, stated to have reached him at Washington, announced that the United States warships to patrol duty on the Pacific and Gulf coasts of Mexico had been ordered to call at Mexican ports only for coal and then to withdraw promptly.

This action is deeply reassuring to Senor Limantour. In a recent interview he said that he could only consider the presence of American men-of-war in Mexican waters, as far distant from their base at Galveston, as part of an unnecessary effort to impress on Mexico the power of the United States. His personal protest was promptly followed by official representations, and last night he expressed himself as "very much gratified that the request of his Government had been so promptly granted."

Ambassador de la Barra added that the action of the United States Government was highly satisfactory to his Government and that perfect understanding exists between the two Governments in the matter.

Two Hours In Water.

Toronto, March 14.—John Gardner, 40 years, 651 Dupont street, spent two hours in the icy waters of the bay last night before a number of willing workers from the Queen City Yacht Club could rescue him.

Gardner is said to have been missing from the island despite the warning issued by Property Commissioner Harris that the ice is unsafe.

Threaten to Strike.

Kingston, March 14.—Painters and masons helpers are out with a request for an increase of 25 cents a day. Helpers receive $2 for eight hours, and painters $2.25 for nine hours. A strike is talked of if the increase is not forthcoming by April first.

A Distinguished Politician Dead.

Berne, Switzerland, March 14.—E. Brenner, Swiss Minister of Justice and Police, died yesterday at Birne. The late Minister was one of Switzerland's foremost politicians. He was born in Basle in 1856, studied law, but entered politics soon after, becoming national councilior, and, eventually, one of the seven distinguished members of the Bundesrath. Mr. Brenner was a great parliamentarian, a debater of convincing force.

Election Riot at Fredericton, N.B.

Fredericton, N.B., March 14.—As a climax to a lively civic election a free fight ensued during the speeches of the candidates after the polls closed. The police took a hand and made two arrest. The crowd turned on them and took their prisoners away, handling the bluecoats roughly. There is great excitement in the city and the opponents to the enforcement of the Canada temperance act elected their whole ticket yesterday.

Two In the Running.

Chippawa, March 14.—Geo. Brown and Edward Whiteman were yesterday afternoon nominated for councillor to succeed William Hogg, who resigned rather than have proceedings to disqualify him instituted. The election takes place on March 20.

Good Roads Campaign.

Kingston, March 14.—The Kingston Automobile Club has decided to inaugurate a vigorous campaign for good roads in the county. They will also seek for enforcement of the rules and regulations governing traffic on roads.

U. S. Foreign Trade.

Washington, March 14.—Breaking all records for February, last month's exports were valued at $175,896,467, while the imports, larger than in any other February except in 1910 and 1907, were valued at $121,766,284. These figures, announced yesterday in a report of the bureau of statistics on the country's foreign commerce, embrace $62,457,938 of imports entered free of duty.

LAME BACK
To have a lame back or painful stitches, mean disordered kidneys, and the sooner you have the Kidneys and Bladder in a perfectly healthy condition, the sooner you will enjoy life. As far as we know there is only one remedy that is guaranteed to cure you, and that is FIG PILLS. If they don't make you a strong, healthy person in two weeks, your money will be refunded. 25c a box, at all the leading drug stores.

Optical Institute Getting Ahead
Progress is our prescription, always adding to our facilities, new Optical instruments, new Optical methods, and doing our work with increasing interest and finer finish. Many who have become acquainted with our methods have found that our idea is better service than they had been accustomed to expect in quality, attention and satisfaction. They find us just as interested in supplying the most suitable glasses as they are in getting them.
We know how much that means for us in good will and good optical practice for the future.
The Optical Institute
In the Market Building, Peterboro.
332 George Street
Phones: Bell 1211 Machine 7
J. W. Brewett, Dr. of Optics of Philadelphia, G. O. C. P., Ref. D. M. A.O, Optometrist

Winnipeg Railway Deal.

Winnipeg, March 14.—Particulars of proposals made by Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Winnipeg Electric Railway Co., to the mayor and other representatives of the city regarding settlement of the troubles in connection with the traction and commercial lighting matters, were published yesterday. Two alternatives were presented to the city.

(1) The company will sell its street railway, gas power and electric light outfit to the city as a going concern, or

(2) The company will purchase from the city 15,000 horse-power as soon as the city is in a position to deliver it, at a price which will pay interest on the city's entire investment in a municipal plant at Point Dubois, on condition that the company shall be permitted the exclusive right to engage in commercial lighting.

Mr. Mackenzie said the company would sell out on a basis of $250 a share, now worth $190. On this basis the company's full price would be in excess of $15,000,000.

Meningitis on Steamers.

New York, March 14.—For the second time within 36 hours a transatlantic steamer was held up at quarantine last night because of several cases of spinal meningitis, some of which had proved fatal. The ship detained last night is the Austrian steamer Martha Washington, which arrived from Trieste, Patras, Palermo and Algiers late yesterday, with one of her steerage passengers dead and four others seriously ill of meningitis. Four others are dangerously ill with pneumonia.

The Greek steamer Patris, which was held up on Sunday because of the death of six and the illness of five others from meningitis, was released late yesterday, after the bodies had been removed and the sick transferred to the Quarantine Hospital.

Child Burned.

Hamilton, March 14. As the result of the upsetting of a lamp, Gordon Milne, 2 1-2 years of age, was probably fatally burned. Mrs. Georgina Hay was less seriously burned, and her home partially destroyed by fire last night. It occurred at 611 West King street, and at a late hour last night little hope was held out for the recovery of the child. She left it alone in the living room while she went into the basement. The youngster pulled the lamp off the table and was badly burned before Mrs. Hay carried it to the street. The fire department extinguished the blaze.

RHEUMATINE

The Fowler Finger EYEGLASS MOUNT

GIVES WHAT OTHERS CANNOT
Eyeglass Comfort, Convenience and Lens Efficiency
Most inconspicious of Eyeglass Mounts. On to stay on when properly adjusted.
These Mounts have more talking points yet require less talk to sell than any Eyeglass Mount we have ever sold because they are a Distinctively Distinct Eyeglass Mount.
You are the one who must suffer expense, annoyance and discomfort if you wear inferior Eyeglasses.
$2.75 without Lenses. We carry a gross of these Mounts constantly in stock and guarantee to fit properly anyone who can wear Eyeglasses.
A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me.

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. Janetzki, 2068 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE BEST GIFTS

are those which last. For this reason gifts of silver are always appreciated. To distinguish the best, look for the trade mark

1847 ROGERS BROS.

Handsome presents may be selected in spoons, knives, forks, or fancy serving pieces. "Silver Plate that Wears" Best tea sets, dishes, waiters, etc., are stamped

MERIDEN BRITA CO.

Relieves CATARRH of the BLADDER and all Discharges in 24 HOURS

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY

Each capsule bears the name Midy. Beware of counterfeits. Sold by all druggists.

An Abiding Debt

We owe our best in life and death to the dearest objects in life, namely the wife and children. We cannot pay the debt without insuring our lives; because we run the risk of depriving them of the money value of our lives. Duty is a debt until it is done. A policy in the is the best plan.

Manufacturers Life Insurance Co.

THOMAS MARK
GENERAL AGENT
The Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough Ontario

Plumbing, Hot Water Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc., mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.

Peterborough Ontario

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

(Continued from Monday)

He had come down to Bleak Rock on Friday, and concluded that if weather conditions were propitious, say on Sunday, he and she would sail to Sentinel Island far across the bay, and go ashore toenjoy the sunset; when he would say the usual thing to be said under like circumstances, and thus ring down the curtain on Act I., in the conventional way.

He wanted to be sure of a soft breeze and good water, in addition to a sunset, because atmosphere plays such an agreeable part in a romance. Therefore, it was long past three o'clock that Sunday afternoon, when he suggested a sail, and it was quite four o'clock when he and she stepped aboard the waiting craft. He was just about to tell the man on the dock to cast off when he heard his name called, and looking up saw a house-servant racing toward them down the slope, waving a yellow envelope high in the air.

They waited until he arrived, and Barrett hastily glanced at the message. Again he read it:

New York, July 21.

Thomas H. Barrett,
Algonquin Apartments,
Boston.

Seven black cats.

Sheldon Winthrop.
Studio Building,
West Fifty-fifth Street.

"What the devil!" Barrett exclaimed to himself, frowning and poring over the yellow paper. "Has Winthrop gone crazy? What does he mean?"

Then he suddenly leaned against the mast of the car-boat, and gurgled and choked, and finally roared with laughter, as the meaning of the message burst upon him, and the remembrance of that final night at college, a dozen years previous, when three rattle-brained youngsters had gaily resolved themselves into three modern Musketeers, and agreed upon a signal of distress.

"So Winthrop wants me, and wants me to come at once." Barrett reflected, his active brain rapidly conning the situation. "Wonder what in thunder he's up to? . . . I'll bet a dollar he's going to be married on short notice and wants me to act as best man!"

Meanwhile Miss Van Studdiford had been waiting. Now the toe of one diminutive shoe tapped the deck impatiently. Miss Van Studdiford was evidently annoyed.

Barrett glanced at her—and had a sudden inspiration. She was an agreeable little thing; but by George! he wasn't ready quite yet to tie himself down. Didn't Winthrop's telegram furnish a sufficient excuse for him to make to the lady—who was growing more impatient moment by moment?

"Yes, sir!" he mentally declared, putting the message in his pocket. "I'll keep my part of that college compact. I'll give Sheldon Winthrop a run for his money this time!"

Then he turned to the girl, still standing in the boat.

"I'm sorry," he said, speaking rapidly and glancing at his watch, "but we'll have to postpone the sail. I must leave at once for New York. . . . Joseph! Run to the stable and get the fastest horse harnessed to take me to the station!"

"Is it bad news?" Mildred asked. She had known intuitively that her future would be settled that afternoon, and Barrett felt her hand tremble as he helped her ashore.

"No, not for me, that is. An old friend has sent for me to come to him and I must go."

They hurried up the long incline, and across the lawn, reaching the house as a light runabout drawn by a young blooded-mare, arrived at the door. Barrett vaulted to the seat before the wheels stopped.

"Good-bye!" he called. "Explain things to your father and mother—I'll write soon!"

Then to the driver by his side: "Get me to the station in thirty minutes, and you will earn a ten-dollar bill!"

The whip sang as it cut the air, the beautiful, high-bred mare gave one splendid bound upward and forward, and the runabout started on a mad, wild dash toward the railway. Over the roads it whirled, up hills, down steep grades, across level stretches, in a cloud of blinding dust, the driver leaning forward with grim set face; Barrett, beside him, hanging to his seat with one hand, holding his open watch in the other. They heard a whistle in the distance as they came to the last mile, and again the whip sang—once, twice, thrice; and the terrified, foam-spattered chestnut broke into frenzied gallop. Through a patch of woods and around a long curve on two wheels—the driver bare-headed now, his reins taut as wire; ten great leaps forward—nine—six—three—one! And they were at the station.

The mare threw her head high in air, her eyes white with dumb terror, her nostrils blood-red; a great shiver passed over her from ears to ankles; and her head sank forward.

"The train to Portland!" Barrett shouted, as he burst into the ticket office. "Has it gone yet?"

The agent gazed in amazement at the dust-clad, excited figure.

"No, she hain't left yet—that's her comin' here now," he said leisurely.

It was a miserable, slow-going way train that took him to Portland; one which jogged leisurely along for a mile or two, then pulled up at a station, often a mere hamlet, a flag-man's box with one or two farm-houses in sight; sometimes even at a cross-roads. Passengers boarded the train or left it, taking their time, carrying bundles and babies, stopping to chat and exchange neighbourhood gossip while they entered or left the cars. Ten stops in thirty miles, and Barrett in the smoking-car puffed away at his cigar, vainly trying to obtain information from the conductor as to the first train he could take out of Boston for New York.

"Well, I dunno," the conductor said to a thrice-repeated inquiry. "I only go as far's Portlan', which I told ye before. Ham't ben to Bost'n sence I was twelve years old. But ye kan get a sight of trains there. Sundays and all."

Portland was reached finally—at five-forty. The express from the East bound for Boston, would arrive in ten minutes, and lay over until six o'clock. Barrett had twenty minutes for action. He utilized them. A long line of possengers was waiting at the window of the ticket-office, so he demanded an interview with the station master, the division superintendent—anybody who was in authority. And then he learned that, barring accident, the express would arrive in Boston at nine-five. The first train he could take for New York left Boston at eleven o'clock and was due in the Grand Central Station at six-forty the next morning—a run of nearly eight hours.

"I can't afford that time!" he exclaimed. "Why, the Bay State Limited makes the run in five hours, day after day!"

"Yes," said the official imperturbably, "she does."

Barrett paced to and fro thinking hard. The zest of the chase was on him. The spirit of the thing, which at first amused him, now had taken possession of his being. He was convinced that something serious had happened to Winthrop, who, perhaps, was in a dangerous situation, waiting minute by minute for his friend to appear and rescue.

Reckless of consequence, Barrett seized a telegraph blank.

"I want to order a special train from Boston to New York. Who shall I telegraph to?"

The official told him.

"A special," Tom reflected as his pen travelled across the yellow paper, "ought to make the run in four-and-a-half hours. If it leaves by ten o'clock I can reach Winthrop's studio shortly after two-thirty to-morrow morning."

He signed the message and handed it to the operator, with an extra dollar-bill to make sure that it was immediately put on the wires; then went out to the waiting express.

It was fifteen minutes before three o'clock Monday morning when Barrett's special stopped in the Grand Central Station, and its one passenger hurried out to the carriage stand.

"Fifty-fourth Street and Seventh Avenue," he commanded as he swung into a cab and slammed the door. "Let me off at the corner—as fast as the police will permit!"

By this time the cab was turning around in Forty-second street. Up Madison Avenue it dashed in the cool sweet-smelling darkness and then westward through Fifty-fourth. Once a policeman stepped from the sidewalk and held up a warning hand, but stepped back again as the driver called:

"Doctor inside there! It's a life-and-death case!"

The driver knew his business. He could spot out a patron who was generous with tips as far as the next one.

When the cab stopped at Seventh Avenue to let him get out, Barrett tossed a bill to the man on the box, and started on foot for Fifty-fifth street. He had planned the whole thing carefully. What had happened to his college mate he knew not, of course, but something serious, surely. That was enough. If Winthrop were lying desperately ill, and alone, it would never do to have a cab tear up the street and stop in front of the building; hence he had left it a short block distant. There might be other emergencies of which Sheldon was the victim. He must proceed cautiously as well as rapidly.

The entrance to the building was unlocked, and the halls were dimly lighted. Up the stairs Barrett went, three steps at a time, and by the aid of matches examined the visiting cards of tenants which were tacked on one studio door after another. Finally on the third floor, front, he came upon his friend's name.

For a moment he paused, listening intently. Yes, there could be no doubt about it—someone was in the studio, breathing heavily.

He knocked lightly. There was no response.

Again he knocked, and called: "Wake up, Winthrop! It's me—Barrett!"

He pressed his ear to the door and distinctly heard a man groan, evidently trying to speak, but unable—gagged and bound, perhaps!

Barrett sprang back across the hall, gathered his huge frame together, and launched himself, shoulder first, into the air. The door cracked and shivered, but resisted the onslaught—held fast. Without waiting an instant he hurled his mighty bulk against it a second time, and a third, when it crashed inward—the lock burst, the hinges torn out—and fell with a bang on the floor. Barrett fell with it, but bounded to his feet like a rubber ball, squared off, took in the whole scene with a single sweeping glance, and in one jump reached the broad window-seat, where he dimly saw the figure of a man trying to arise.

"Winthrop!" he roared in tones that could be heard a block away. "It's all right, old man! I'm here—Barrett—what's the row?"

"Easy, easy, Tom—you'll shake my collar-bone loose . . . There, that's better. Let me turn on the light, so."

Barrett stepped back as the other pressed a button close at hand, and saw before him Hambidge, heavy-eyed, clad in pyjamas; yawning, but grinning nevertheless.

"Hullo Bill!" he cried after a moment of suspense. "Might have known you'd get here ahead of me—but where's Winthrop, and what's the trouble?"

"Oh, he's down at Manhattan Beach for the night. I got here late Sunday afternoon and found him so used up that I sent him away to take a dip in the ocean and get some sleep. He'll be back for breakfast by eight or nine at latest."

"But the trouble, man—speak up!"

Barrett approached Hambidge again, impetuously stretching out a mighty arm.

"Hold on, Tom! Sit down there—now I can tell you."

And he repeated all that Winthrop had told him: how Eleanor and Mrs. Hazard had been at the studio the previous Monday, how they had walked together to Seventh Avenue, where the girl had boarded a car, waved good-bye to her aunt—and had not been seen or heard of since.

"The devil you say!" Barrett roared, as the other concluded. "What does her father think? What has he been doing? What have you and Winthrop been about? Good Heavens, man! Here's a whole week passed, and no trace of her—"

"Easy, easy, there! It's a peculiar case, and we must go forward cautiously."

"Caution be hanged! That's where your miserable, petti-fogging legal training comes in, Hambidge. Law and orderliness, I mean. No offence to you, old fellow, but this is a case for tearing the town wide open—going through it with a fine-tooth comb—setting a thousand men at work—retaining the entire force of every detective agency in the country—calling on the newspapers for help. Why, man, think what it means! It's bad enough to have Miss Cuyler disappear, kidnapped, held for ransom maybe, or murdered in cold blood—the girl our chum is in love with—but unless she is found and restored unharmed to her family, no other woman will be safe going about this barbaric city alone, day or night!"

(To be continued)

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Package Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Price 25 Cents. Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

QUALITY

It is not the quantity but the inherent quality of

SCOTT'S EMULSION

that enables it to perform its mission. It is the one remedy universally known and used because of its ability to quickly restore lost strength, increase weight, and vitalize the nerve centers.

There is vitality in every drop of

Scott's Emulsion

ALL DRUGGISTS

CHANGING LEVELS

Disappearance of Low-Lying Object Formerly Visible

Observations of changes in the field of view, the appearance of objects that were formerly below the horizon, and the disappearance of low-lying objects that were formerly visible, have been made in many parts of the world. Such changes occur with comparative frequency in the district around Jena, in Thuringia. Another remarkable alteration of level has been observed during the last half century in the foothills of the Jura. In 1861 only the tip of a church steeple at Altenkundstadt could be seen from the first story of the castle of Stroessendorf, on the opposite bank of the river Main. More and more of the steeple became visible each year, and now half of it can be seen from the first storey of the castle. Another church steeple, situated a few miles northward, first peeped above the horizon of the castle about the year 1885, and has since been steadily rising.

ART OF HAIRDRESSING

According to an authority, "there is for each type of face one style of hairdressing, and one only, that is capable of revealing all its attractions."

BEST CLUB IN LONDON

The position of the House of Commons as "the best club in London" is to be challenged by the 6,000 members of the Royal Automobile Club, who enter into possession of their $1,500,000 palace on the site of the old War Office in Pall Mall, at the end of next month.

WHAT X-RAYS CAN DO

Digestion Can be Watched and the Heart Movement Watched

Dr. Hall Edwards, the heroic doctor, who has suffered so severely in trying to find methods of protecting the operator from the wonderful X-Rays, has just been calling attention to the fact that their use is almost exclusively confined to medicine and surgery.

But within recent months even more wonderful uses of the mysterious rays have been discovered.

The presence of consumption can now be ascertained by the X-rays, as those parts of the lungs which have been attacked by the deadly disease do not allow them to pass as easily as the healthy tissue.

Digestion can be watched, the movement of the heart noted, and the presence of tumors ascertained. Besides being of benefit in certain skin diseases, the rays also stimulate the white corpuscles of the blood, and thus help the patient to throw off disease.

It was recently announced that a foreign doctor was busily engaged on an apparatus by means of which the microscope could act in conjunction with the X-rays, and he is hoping that when it is perfected doctors will be able to examine the brain cells.

Oysters have every reason to be pleased with the discovery of the X-rays, as now they are used to see whether pearls have formed. Instead of opening the shell to see, as was formerly done, the rays are directed on the oyster, and if no pearl is revealed the bivalve is returned to the bed of the ocean until he has grown one. Thus the life of the bysier is prolonged and fewer are wasted.

The customs officers of many countries also use the rays to examine packets and parcels which are supposed to contain contraband. Foreign bodies in metal casings can also be ascertained by their use.

MILLIONS FOR BRIDGES

Fantastic Notions of Some Freak Minds of the Past

Twenty-one years ago it was suggested that England could pacify Ireland and banish many grievances of the Emerald Isle by bridging the Irish Sea from Dublin to Holyhead, and St. George's Channel from Carnsore Point, the most south-eastern point of Ireland, to St. David's Head, Pembrokeshire. And the man who first conceived this "grand idea" still has faith in it, although he candidly confesses that the two bridges would cost a matter of $250,000,000 each.

While the scheme may be possible, it can scarcely be said to be a practical one, and reminds one somewhat of other fantastic building schemes which have cost millions of money, and have proved of no value or use to anyone. There is, for instance, the sham castle on Bathwick Hill, high above Bath, which is nothing but a battlemented wall, and which was built by a Ralph Allen for no other object than to improve the view from his town house near the North Parade.

Scattered through the country are quite a number of towers built for no object beyond that of enabling the owner to get a better view of the surrounding country than his neighbors. One of the most elaborate is Beckford's Tower, on Lansdown, Bath. Rising to a height of 157 feet, it was built by the eccentric author of "Vathek," partly as a place of retreat and partly that he might see his Wiltshire mansion, Fonthill Abbey, twenty-six miles away. Then there is a tower near Ammerdown Park, in Somerset, rising 150 feet.

GREAT SALT EATERS

Some Will Eat Salt by the Spoonful When Given a Chance

Idiosyncrasy often takes the form of a special craving for, instead of an objection to, certain foods. Many people possess an extraordinary relish for common salt, and will eat it by the teaspoonful when opportunity admits. This sometimes leads to obesity and dropsy, but it has also the peculiar effect of increasing the weight. One young lady who devoured immense quantities of salt on every possible occasion, and emptied all the salt cellars on the table at each meal, would increase as much as 10 pounds in weight in twenty-four hours, and was frequently unable to wear a dress which was quite loose for her on the previous day.

"Pneumonia"

Pneumonia is nothing more or less than "Lung Fever," or as it used to be called, "Inflammation of the Lungs" and the results come entirely from a local source, such as taking a violent cold.

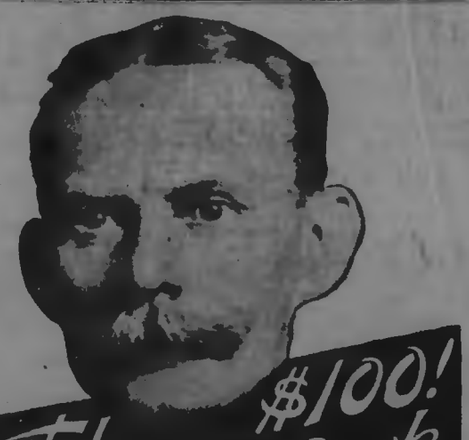
There is more or less difficulty in breathing; a cough, at first dry, but soon accompanied by raising a thick, sticky, rusty-colored matter, composed of a mixture of phlegm and blood.

There is only one way to prevent Pneumonia, and that is to cure the cold just as soon as it appears. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will do this quickly and effectively.

Mrs. G. W. Bowman, Pattulo, Ont., writes: "Three years ago I caught a cold which ended in a severe attack of Pneumonia. Since that time, at the beginning of each winter, I seem to catch cold very easily. I have been so hoarse that I was unable to speak loud enough to be heard across the room. Last winter, however, a friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, saying it had helped her. I bought a bottle and before it was half used I was completely cured. I also find it a good medicine for the children when they have colds."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; the price 25 cents.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.



I wasted $100! then Zam-Buk Cured me for $1.

If you are suffering from any form of skin disease or injury, read this!

Mr. Arthur Fairbank, of 547 Lansdowne Ave., Toronto, is the speaker, and he says: "A bad eruption on my forehead quickly spread until it covered my scalp with foul and painful sores. I went to a doctor who treated me for it. Still the sores spread until almost the whole of my head was affected. As the doctor's treatment did me very little good, I left it off and tried various home remedies.

"Then I tried blood mixtures, but not one of them did me any good. I was by that time in a shocking condition, and as a last resource I went to a skin specialist. He treated me for a period and it cost me over $50, but the sores got no better. They would itch and burn at times until I was nearly mad. I must have spent over $100 on useless remedies, when one day a friend asked me why I had not tried Zam-Buk, and gave me a little. That little bit of Zam-Buk did me more good than all the long treatment I had had from doctors and specialists. I immediately sent for a supply of the balm. Very soon I began to see and feel a great difference in the sores, and finally Zam-Buk cured me at a trifling cost. If I had got it at first it would have saved me dollars, and hours and hours of pain."

For all forms of skin diseases, ulcers, abscesses, eczema, ring-worm, blood-poisoning, etc., Zam-Buk is a sure cure. It also heals old wounds, cuts, burns, bruises, cold sores, chaps, and cures piles. All druggists and stores at 50c. box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse substitutes and imitations.

FREE BOX

Send this coupon and 1c. stamp and name of this paper to ZAM-BUK CO., Toronto, and we will mail free trial box.

Zam-Buk

EVERY HOME NEEDS IT

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA.

INCORPORATED, 1832.

Information for Depositors.

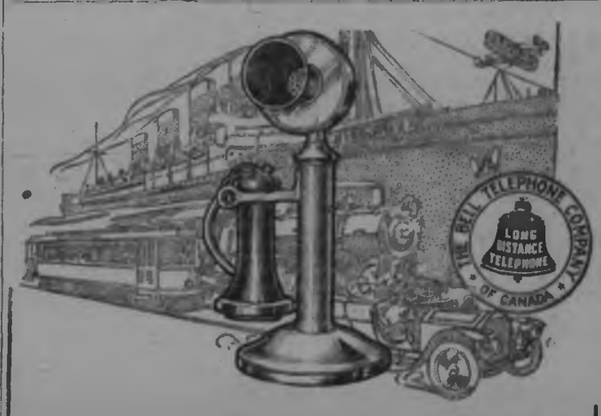
The following certificate is attached to the 79th Annual Statement, published January 16th, 1911:

We have examined the books and accounts of the Bank of Nova Scotia at its Head Office, Halifax, at the General Manager's Office, Toronto, and at seven of the principal branches, and we have been duly furnished with certified returns from the remaining branches and with all information and explanations required by us. The Bank's investments and the other securities and cash on hand at the branches visited have been verified by us and they are in accordance with the books; and we certify that we have examined the foregoing general statement and that in our opinion it is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the Bank's affairs as at 31st December, 1910.

PRICE, WATERHOUSE & CO.
Chartered Accountants.

Toronto, January 12th, 1911.

The Books and Annual Statements of the Bank have been submitted to independent audit annually, beginning 1906.



SOME MODERN TIME-SAVERS

Among modern agents for saving time and annihilating space, the telephone stands easily first.

When you instal a telephone, you want the service by which you can reach the greater number, not only in your own community, but in the surrounding country.

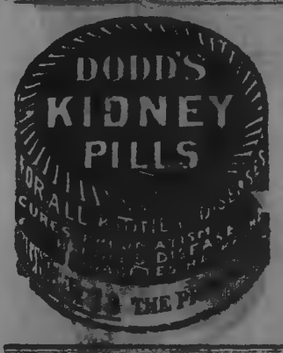
In Peterborough and the country round, the vast majority of telephone users have Bell service.

HAVE YOU A TELEPHONE?

Consult our Local Manager

The Bell Telephone Co. of Canada

Get the "EXAMINER" in Your Home



MEDICAL.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 359 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S. Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 512. 149 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. F. V. FREDERICK, M.R.C.S. (Eng. L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Surgery and Diseases of Women, 482 George Street. Hours 1.30-3.30—7-8.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 254 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 551, Mach. 230. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
dtf 91 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment Consultation free

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms 190 Hunter street, or at residence, 249 Hunter street. Telephone No. 95.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices 379 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A
Telephone No. 54.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 41 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, E. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 426 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc Offices, corner Hunter and George streets, entrance next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. H. Hall, S. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first door west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. R. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses, buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 379 Water street, Peterborough.

Manual labor taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 9

KNOWING OLD MAN

Wanted to Know of Groom if There was Insanity in his Family

"Your article the other day about how men ask the consent of fathers to marry daughters," writes a correspondent, "reminds me of my own case. When I was a young man, I had been reading that a fellow should never marry into family where there was a taint of insanity. So, for the sake of future generations, I decided that whatever my heart urged me to do my mind should be on guard. When the lady of my choice said 'yes,' I dutifully, sought the father. Maybe I was too precipitate. At any rate, this is what I said:—

"'Your daughter has promised to marry me. May I ask if there is any insanity in your family?'

"The old man looked at me keenly. 'There must be,' was his emphatic answer."

FRANCE'S STRONG MAN

Briand is a Strong Orator and Strenuous Worker

A few years ago M. Briand, who narrowly escaped assassination recently, was quite unknown outside the ranks of a few fellow-lawyers and the working men and Socialist organizations to which he allied himself. Today he is universally regarded as one of the strongest men in France. He entered the Chamber of Deputies in 1902, only seven years before becoming Premier, and it was really the part that he played in the acute religious-political struggle in France that brought him to the height of his fame. He is a stirring orator and a strenuous worker. "Let's have done with talk; it's time for work," is one of his favorite phrases. He is one of the simplest of men, and finds his chief recreation in fishing. His one trouble is that the caricaturists refuse to put him in the papers. "Till they do so," he says, "I am not really popular."

AVOID DECEPTION

Use Newbro's Herpicide Instead

Wearing artificial hair is a harmless deceit of which many ladies are guilty. These women are all objects for sympathy rather than criticism.

Early neglect in the care of the scalp has caused the loss of so much hair that their personal appearance is sadly marred. To correct this defect they resort to artificial hair.

Most ladies would resent any imputation of personal carelessness and neglect. And yet very many women permit their natural hair to become so dull, brittle and lusterless that it looks no better than the artificial.

All this is as unfortunate as it is unnecessary. Hair that is unsightly or thin may usually be attributed to the malevolent activity of the dandruff germ. This vicious germ burrows down into the hair follicle, shortly destroying its life. The hair becomes dead, loose and finally drops out.

There is a remedy sold by all druggists, the intelligent use of which will kill the dandruff germ. It also cleanses the scalp of all accumulations and makes the hair shine with the luster of life and beauty.

That remedy is Newbro's Herpicide, the Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer. This preparation in one dollar size bottles is sold and guaranteed everywhere.

Applications may be obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlours.

The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich., will send a nice sample and booklet to any address upon receipt of 10c. in postage or silver.

McDermid and Jury, special agents.

WHEN THE KING MOTORS

His Majesty Runs No Risks and Loses No Time

It may not be generally known that the drivers of the motor-cars of the King, the Prince of Wales, and the Duke of Connaught are all policemen. The late King's instructions were, "Run no risks, but lose no time." The latter clause used to be obeyed so implicitly that Lord Derby once when returning from Newmarket a "horse's length" behind the King, on whom he was in attendance, was stopped in his motor by the police at Barnet—a happy illustration of the principle that the King can do no wrong. The royal drivers do not rely on a motor horn alone. Alongside them on the box there sits a footman, who plays a key-bugle to announce the approach of the car.

Palpitation of the Heart.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beats fast for a time, then go slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, through this unnatural action of the heart.

To all such sufferers Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills can give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. John Thompson, Mill Cove, N.B., writes:—"Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I have been troubled with weakness and palpitation of the heart; would have severe choking spells, and could scarcely lie down at all. I tried many remedies but got none to answer my case like your pills did. I can recommend them highly to all suffering with heart and nerve trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Chronic Bronchitis—Nervous Debility

The sincere words of praise of Miss Sarah G. Bates, who was cured after she had given up all hopes of recovery, are certainly encouraging to all sufferers.

In her letter she says: "I had been sick several years with chronic bronchitis, liver disease and general nervous debility, but could not get any relief until I commenced taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Now I am much better and know your valuable medicine is what has caused it. I can recommend it to all sufferers from chronic diseases."—Sarah G. Bates, Arctic, R. I.

When you feel weak and run down and all out of sorts, you need a pure tonic stimulant that will build you up, enrich your blood, quicken your heart action and restore your strength in a healthy manner.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

the world's greatest medicine, has been doing all this for the past fifty years. It is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic. It overcomes all weakening, wasting and run-down conditions of the body, brain and muscle, giving the system power to throw off and resist coughs, colds, grip, catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung troubles; it is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, malaria, low fevers and all weakening and wasting conditions if taken as directed.

All liquor dealers, or direct, $1.25 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. Send for medical booklet and doctor's advice, both sent free.

The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

F. R. J. Mitchell, George St., Agent.

WITH MASTER MINDS

Wealth is a good servant, a very bad mistress.

* * *

I cherish hope, yet vain is hope where hope must fail.

* * *

Why should we anticipate our sorrows?

* * *

Inopportune consolations increase a deep sorrow.

* * *

It is the test of faith to know how to fail without disappointment.

* * *

An idle man is like stagnant water; he corrupts himself.

* * *

Love makes mutes of those who habitually speak most fluently.

* * *

Dreams are the hushing of the bodily senses, that the eyes of the spirit may open.

* * *

If there be no enemy, no fight; if no fight, no victory; if no victory, no crown.

* * *

Glory, ambition, armies, fleets, thrones, crowns: playthings for grown children.

* * *

Look how thou walkest, take good heed thy soles do not tread on the heels of thy poor brethren.

* * *

In matters of conscience first thoughts are best. In matters of prudence last thoughts are best.

* * *

No man ever made an ill figure who understood his own talents, nor a good one who mistook them.

* * *

Everybody in the world ought to be sorry for everybody else. We all have our little private hell.

* * *

Simplicity is what the world loves after all, and simplicity, brain, and charm are attractions that never lose their hold.

* * *

Instruction is to the protetary what liberty is to the slave—the latter emancipates the body, the former emancipates the intelligence.

HONOR AMONG THIEVES

Remarkable Story of a Watch Lost at a Race Meeting

An extraordinary story as to the recovery of a watch lost at a race meeting is being told by a Birmingham commercial traveller. This gentleman attended the Wolverhampton race meeting on Boxing Day, and at the end of an otherwise successful outing found that his gold presentation watch was missing. For reasons which may best be imagined he did not proclaim his loss from the housetops. The same gentleman went down to Newbury and had another good day without any loss to mar it. Returning from town at night he had one companion in his compartment—a complete stranger. Midway on the journey a conversation on lay subjects was started, and in the course of it the stranger said: "Do you know, the first time they come for tickets I shall be arrested. I'm clean broke; been down to Newbury, and lost the last stiver. Pal divided his last five bob with me, or I shouldn't have got to London." The man made no appeal for help—bore himself like a Spartan. The traveller, however, rose to the occasion. "Take a loan against a better day?" he asked of his entertaining companion. "Trust me!" queried the other laconically. "I'm a tout." The traveller did trust him, and paid his fare. Moreover, he asked the racing man to take dinner with him in the dining saloon. In the course of the conversation the loss of the gold watch was mentioned, and the traveller declared he would give $25 to get it back again. The racing man said nothing, but when they arrived at New Street asked for the traveller's name and address, that he might return the loan when fortune smiled upon him once again. The address was given. A day or two later a small parcel awaited the traveller on his breakfast table. It contained his watch, a postal order, and a note, undated and unsigned, which directed that no inquiries should be made, and the $25 be paid over to any charity the owner thought fit. Across the bottom of the note was written: "There is sometimes honor among thieves. Many thanks for that excellent dinner."

SUMPTUOUS PRISONS

Comforts of a Good Hotel with Unlimited Freedom

Whatever may be the case at home, it is clear from recent revelations that "strong bars do not" invariably "a prison make" on the Continent and across the Atlantic, says Tit-Bits.

The prison of Thorberg, near Wassen, for example, seems to combine the comforts of a good hotel with unlimited freedom and excellent company. The prisoners, we are told, fare sumptuously, liqueurs being among their many luxuries; and when they wish for a change of environment, they are allowed to visit one of the cafes and places of amusement in the town.

Here is a typical day of the Thorberg jail-bird: 7 a.m, rise, receive hot water from a warder, clean cells; 8 a.m., breakfast—coffee, milk, hot rolls, and a liqueur; 9 to 12 a.m., singsong, games of bowls, and other recreations; noon, dinner—soup, roast with vegetables, sweets, coffee with liqueur, wine; afternoon, walk in town, cafes, excursion into the mountains; 6 p.m., supper, followed by a smoke and cards; 9 p.m., retire.

In the French prison of Fresnes the larder is as sumptuously equipped as in any first-class hotel. Among the many delicacies to tempt the prisoners' appetite are detailed 1½ tons of apple and pear marmalade, 2 cwt. of caramels and other sweets, dried fruits ,Guyere cheese, 45,000 litres of red wine, and forty tons of the best joints of beef and mutton.

In the United States the criminal is almost as tenderly cared for as an invalid millionaire. In the famous New York State prison, sing Sing, the inmates, we are assured, are as well fed and cared for as in any fashionable hotel. Breakfast consists of such fare as this: grilled pork and beans, jam, hot cakes of various seductive sorts, and coffee; and the rest of the tariff is equally inviting. Lady visitors bring the prisoners presents daily — usually cigars — and every weekly paper published in the States is taken for their enjoyment.

At the Massachusette Reformatory, at Concord, each day brings its entertaining lectures, classes (from music and mathematics to drawing), concerts, and theatrical performances. The reformatory has its own paper, printed on the spot, its debating society, and scientific, literary, and athletic clubs.

In Buffalo Prison, a visitor informs us, "the men were lolling in their beds, playing cards or chequers, warm and well fed. Our taxes keep these good-for-nothing men in laziness"; while in Pennsylvania Penitentiary, many of the inmates which are wealthy bankers, brokers, and councillors, life is one long round of pleasure and luxury, brightened by operatic performances, in which the prisoners give screaming representations of the crimes which secured them so agreeable a home at the expense of the State Exchequer.

THE ADVICE OF A FRIEND

Given to Those Who Need It

San Francisco, Cal.—"To anyone who is run-down or who needs a good blood purifier, I want to recommend Vinol the great cod liver and iron tonic. I was run-down, feeling badly and only weighed about 140 pounds. I took a course of Vinol—it purified my blood, gave me a fine appetite, and built me right up. Now I am well and strong, weigh 175 pounds, and, in fact, never felt better in my life." John S. Charles, 3264 17th St., San Francisco, Cal. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

Vinol is a delicious combination of the health-giving properties of the cod's liver, with the grease eliminated, and tonic iron added, blended in a mild medicinal wine.

If your blood is poor or sluggish, your appetite poor, your digestion weak or your vitality not up to the standard, or if you are suffering from chronic coughs, colds or bronchial troubles, try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. It could not do what all these people claim it did for them if it was not honest. McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

"How do you like your alarm clock?"
"First rate."
"You didn't seem pleased with it at first."
"No: but it's broken now."

Cheerfulness

pays and cheerfulness replaces grouch when stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are helped naturally to do their duty by

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 25c.

The best Coffee costs but little more than the poor grades. You get the best that money can buy at moderate price when you use

Seal Brand Coffee

Packed in 1 and 2 pound cans only. 124

THE BANK OF OTTAWA

ESTABLISHED 1874.

Paid Up Capital and Rest • • $7,400,000

A JOINT ACCOUNT
may be opened in the
SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT
in the names of two persons either of whom can deposit or withdraw money.

Peterboro Branch, George St., G. C. Wainright, Manager

St. Lawrence "Crystal Diamonds"

may cost a few cents more on the hundred pounds than other lump sugar. Good things always cost more than inferior quality.

However, ST. LAWRENCE "CRYSTAL DIAMONDS" are really the most economical Sugar, because they go further on account of their matchless sweetness due to perfect purity.

To appreciate the superiority of St. Lawrence Sugar, compare it with any other sugar.

St. Lawrence Sugar

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co. Limited
MONTREAL. 31

FOR SALE

Two Houses, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER
INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies
Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Muskoka, Gravenhurst North Bay, Sturgeon Falls and Toronto	1.40 a.m.	8.05 a.m.
	9.20 p.m.	8.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.05 a.m.	11.00 a.m.
	5.35 p.m.	7.05 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.05 a.m.	11.00 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	5.35 p.m.	8.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.
	10.15 p.m.	4.30 p.m.
Lindsay Local	9.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, King ston, Montreal and East.	8.15 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
	4.45 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
	10.00 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
Lakefield.	5.15 p.m.	12.00 noon.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.55 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m.
	1.32 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	8.56 a.m.
	8.51 a.m.
Burketown, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Toronto.	7.42 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.38 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$42.60 PACIFIC COAST

ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS
MAR. 10 TO APRIL 10

THE ONLY THROUGH LINE

TOURIST AND COLONIST SLEEPING CARS ON ALL TRAINS

Ask any C.P.R. Agent for Particulars

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Reduced Rates for One-Way Tickets March 10 to April 10 inclusive

42.60 { Vancouver, B. C. / Spokane, Wash. / Seattle, Wash. / Portland, Ore.

45.20 { San Francisco, Cal. / Los Angeles, Cal. / Mexico City

Above rates are one-way second class applying from Peterborough. Proportionate rates to certain other points.

Full particulars and tickets from—
City Ticket Office: 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE, City Ticket Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

COAL! COAL!

The Standard Anthracite D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 68

COAL

That Is Coal
is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at
$6.00 Per Cord
4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's
Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at
358 George St. HARRY HAMILTON
Ice Cream Soft Drinks

The ADVENT of the PERFECT CRIMINAL

How Dismay and Perplexity Have Been Spread Among the Police Here and Abroad by a New Deadly Type—The Lett

William B. Watts.

Thomas Landregan

Wasili Ivankowski.

Andrew Absen.

Scene in Lynn, Where Thomas Landregan and Patrolman Carroll Were Killed.

"Kelfert" and "Jacob," the Tottenham Road Lett Bandits, Killed by London Police in 1909

Bessie Baker, Who Refused to Surrender Her Horse to the Desperate Bandit Ivankowski, Though He Threatened Her with His Pistol.

Exquisitely Proportioned Magazine Pistols and Clips of Bullets Nine Shots Can Be Inserted Instantly by a Single Movement.

The Famous "Gypsy Moth Gang." Gutman, the Leader, Who Later Killed Himself, Wears Derby Hat at Right End of Top Row. Peter Plaude Stands at Other End of Top Row. He Was Never Captured and May Be "Peter the Painter" Killed by London Police. Other Members of this Gang Suspected but Never Rounded Up.

Kerniosy and Rosa, the Woburn Bandits.

(Copyright, 1911, by the New York Herald Co. All rights reserved.)

A NEW type of criminal has appeared, a type unfamiliar to criminologists, which has suddenly sprung to view in two countries, spreading dismay and bewilderment among those whose specialty is to know crime and its perpetrators, a sinister, strange and deadly type—the Lett.

He is a man who knows no fear, no care for life, no compunction, no mercy. He defies classification in any known group. He is more desperate, more reckless, more deliberately evil than the worst "gun man" of wild days in the west. He is more violent, more destructive, more appallingly cruel than the blackest of "Black Hand" bomb throwers. He is bolder, more threatening, more of a menace, than the most brutal of "Hunchakists." Bandits, bank robbers, house breakers and train wreckers the American authorities have learned to understand and to meet. But the Lett is a new problem in his methods, his nature, his impulses and his thought processes.

If there be such a thing, the Lett, meaning those examples of the race that have recently come to the attention of the police, is the perfect criminal.

He comes of a race that for centuries has been oppressed, maltreated and brutalized. His people, once proud and virile, have been stamped into the soil, their liberties crushed and their aspirations blighted. He has come out of that past with the moral sense of a beast; with a dull, small cunning brain; with complete disregard of any life least of all his own; with a burning thirst for violence and a need, at any cost, of wresting from the world payment for his wrongs.

This is the man who now takes India's stimulate revenge, and, having been hosed from his own land, turns upon the nations that give him shelter and feeds all within his reach. This is the man who takes what he needs where he can get it and will kill all, men, women, little children who stand in his way with never a qualm, with no emotion but a fierce exultation and a lust to slay.

His most startling characteristic, the one that marks him apart, is his absolute determination never to submit to capture and to spare no act that will keep him from the hands of the law. Going to any extreme in his attack upon the community, he is always careful to keep the last shot in his weapon for himself, counting death a slight matter if he can send others before him.

Armed with the most deadly of magazine pistols, the most dangerous small arm that has yet been produced, this man is the threat of the hour in the world of crime.

The Boston police are certain that "Peter the Painter," one of the anarchists besieged and burned to death in Houndsditch, London, was Peter Plaude, one of the notorious "Gypsy Moth" band of Massachusetts.

The London atrocity was something entirely different than any other previous criminal event in the great city, and for a few days England was nonplussed, but to the police of Massachusetts the method of committing the crime and the type of criminal made it immediately apparent that the Letts were abroad, and the information collected in America has been forwarded to England.

The Lettish criminal appeared in America in February, 1908, and in three murderous raids at widely separated points in Massachusetts at irregular periods he left a trail of death and misery. London should know him, because he showed himself at Tottenham road in January, 1909. His methods were identical with those he used in America.

On the cold, clear night of February 0, 1908, in the quiet city of Woburn, a short distance from Boston, a pistol shot was followed immediately by the crash of broken glass as a spent bullet hurtled through the window of a dwelling house. It was the first shot fired in the tragic war between the daring, merciless Lettish bandit and the American representatives of militant protection. That shot was instantly followed by the hoarse cry of a policeman for help and a volley of bullets from the desperate men fleeing from capture and dogged policemen. They got away that night, having been detected in the act of breaking and entering, leaving two men and a boy seriously wounded. The countryside was awakened, but the three desperate men had disappeared in the direction of Arlington. There had been a brave attempt to get them, but the escape had apparently been successful.

The Murders in Arlington.

Two foreigners were riding in an electric car in the town of Arlington early that morning when Policeman Daniel Hooley jumped through the door at them with drawn revolver, followed closely by Arthur Burgess, conductor, and Fred Collins, motorman, armed with heavy brass controller and brake rod. The passengers reached for their dreadful pistols, but before they began to spit leaden death the three brave men were sprawling on top of them and the strangers were soon shackled. At Woburn the search of the desperados resulted in the finding of two magazine pistols, one American and the other a small arm used in the Russian army.

"Huh! We don't care if we die," said one of the men, after giving his name as Peter Rosa. "Everybody got die some time, and I kill cop if he try to kill me. The Letts not afraid to die. Chris Zeltin he get away. That is good, for he will be heard of by the policeman who get us. Yes. Remember."

The other captured was Bristow Kerneiosy. Both were Letts, the first of the type brought to the attention of the American police, and skilled officers rushed from Boston to study them. They found that Rosa had reached the credo of the Lettish criminal that he would rob and kill; that he would murder without giving a chance to the victim to fight for life.

Chief Watts, of Boston, his homicide expert, Captain Dugan, and Gustaf Gustafson, head of the Battilon bureau, began the study of this surprising criminal type. That the desperate man came from the Baltic provinces was ascertained, and after an ineffectual search for Zeltin the police determined that the men who committed the raid were but individual bad men who had deserted from the Russian army.

It was just five minutes before the hour for closing, at eleven o'clock, Tuesday, July 21, 1908, when three or four masked and armed men rushed into the saloon of Winterson & McManus, in the Jamaica Plain district of Boston, and ordered all in the room to "Throw up hands!" Winterson hurled a heavy "schooner" at the head of the nearest holdup man. The glass shivered in fragments against the adjoining wall as Winterson dropped to the floor badly wounded from a magazine pistol bullet and his bartender, Frank J. Drake, fell dead. The robbers turned to flee as they heard cries in the streets. They rushed, crouching low, in the direction of Forest Hills Cemetery. A citizen had the temerity to shout at them and he dropped, his arm pierced by a bullet. A woman was in the way of one of the men as he rushed pell mell and a bullet whizzed through her hat. A little boy was shot in the leg, but by this time policemen were rushing to the district with drawn revolvers and the alarm had been sounded throughout sixteen well manned and disciplined divisions.

In an hour nine hundred policemen had surrounded the lonesome Forest Hills Cemetery and answered doggedly, shot for shot, the spat, spat, spat of shots from the men at bay, fifty yards away. It was a dreary, dark night. The next day the battle was resumed and an advance made upon a little clump of bushes from which a spiteful fire was persistently coming. Hundreds of shots were fired into that clump of bushes and finally, after the return fire had ceased for a long period, the spot was rushed and the body of a single man was found. There was a bullet wound through his heart. It was the occasion for considerable sardonic newspaper comment and general ridicule of the police when the medical examiner reported that the bullet wound which caused death had been self inflicted.

The stranger was identified as Edmundo Gutman, the sub-foreman of workers employed by the Massachusetts Gypsy Moth Commission. A group picture found in a pamphlet report of the commission's work turned out to be one of the most treasured photographs ever placed in the hands of a police department. It was not difficult to compare the photograph of the respectable looking leader with the face of the dead bandit and arrive at the identity.

"Then we must get Peter Plaude, the chap in the top row on the end, opposite Gutman," said Chief Watts of Boston, "and Chris Zeltin, late of Woburn, was one of the others. Round up the gypsy moth band anyway."

But it was a difficult task. Men at headquarters were unanimous in declaring that the dreaded Lett had broken loose again and there was fear in New England. Homes in the suburbs were darkened early and the children went to roost before dusk, while belated adults steered close to the lighted spots and avoided the shadows as they sped to the doorknob.

Even the special detectives assigned to the strange case had been called off, having reasoned that the desperate men had by some means slipped out of the country when the atrocious Methuen affair happened.

It has been told before how McDermott and Emerson, types of the daredevil, efficient policemen so often found in small communities, went out on that beautiful summer evening, August 8, to hide in the "peat meadow" in their town of Methuen and nab the midnight prowlers who had been stealing Tom Delaney's potatoes. The policemen had not returned at noon, and the aged chief, Jones, drove out alone to find "what in thunder was keepin' 'em." He stumbled over McDermott's body. There was a bullet wound in his head. Emerson was dead near by from a bullet wound. Clutched in McDermott's big hand was a piece of cloth torn from the clothing of one of the mysterious assassins. Shells from automatic pistols were found scattered about.

They do not know at this writing who killed McDermott and Emerson. They do know that in the city of Lawrence, two miles from the peat meadow, there was a very small community of Letts, and police investigation later showed that a strange woman had left this silent, reserved, hot headed little household every day carrying provisions in the direction of the lonely neighborhood. Here it was, then, that the terrifying remnant of the Forest Hills band had retreated to prepare in this silent morass for the next sally into some peaceful community.

The Lynn Tragedy.

Thomas A. Landregan, a wealthy shoe manufacturer, and Patrolman James H. Carroll were trudging along through one of Lynn's busiest streets last June, carrying $4,500 in cash, the pay of the shoe workers. Landregan was in sight of his factory office when he turned suddenly, attracted by a hoarse whisper behind him. Instantly he dropped dead, a bullet through his brain. Carroll crumpled up an instant later. Three holdup men had sneaked up behind. The alarm was given.

One hundred policemen were chasing and shooting within twenty minutes. The bandits were surrounded, one was killed, another was shot through the front of the skull, but lived to go to trial, and the other had one of his fingers shot off, and surrendered. They were rounded up in less than an hour.

They were Letts. The dead man is known only as "Joe," thirty years old, and the leading spirit in the desperate holdup. The two badly wounded bandits were saved from a vengeful mob and guarded every moment during their hospital confinement and a New England jury a few weeks ago declared that they must die. The judge declared that Andrew Absen, nineteen, and Wasili Ivankowski, twenty-two, must die in March in the electric chair, and they now await the hour of death at the Charlestown State prison.

The Lynn group were Letts and Ivankowski, through an interpreter, told something of their past. They had met in New York city as tramps and coming from the same Baltic provinces were drawn together. They had stolen ride upon freight cars through Canada and the Eastern States, robbing and committing all sorts of lawless acts. The week before the murders they had witnessed Landregan's method of carrying his pay bag from the bank to the mill and determined to get it.

"Yes. We are Latvis (Letts) if you want it so," he said, "Joe is dead. No, I am not sorry. I saw him drop. He was in the bushes with me. We would kill anybody who would stop us. I would have got away, though, if I had not hesitated a moment too long and did not kill a woman. Her horse was out side her house ready for her ride. I ran when the police closed on those of us and was just grabbing the horse, when the girl ran out and snatched the horse away from me. I told her I would kill, but she dragged horse away and when I pulled trigger she was too far for good aim and I missed. I don't know other fellow very well. Not his names. Just Andy and Joe. They come from same country. Yes, I have mother and sister in Russia. Do not tell them that I must die. I don't care, but they feel it much."

The mysterious Lettish assassins left America soon after the Methuen murders, in August, 1908, so when despatches appeared from London telling of a dramatic holdup, pursuit and killing by robbers in the Tottenham district in January, 1909, American police officials cabled to England, "They were Letts." Two men, after a pretence of applying for work, jumped into a motor car in a Tottenham factory yard, shot the chauffeur in the neck and grabbed a bag containing the weekly wages of the factory hands.

They rushed away, madly pursued by factory workers and other citizens, and the chauffeur, though badly wounded, started his car and, picking up a couple of policemen, sped in pursuit. The robbers fired from automatic pistols and disabled the car, but the crowd pressed close and they fired into it again and again, leaving a trail of wounded, including a child, struck in the mouth by a bullet, and several policemen. They finally swung onto a tram car, and, holding a pistol at the head of the driver, compelled him to speed ahead and meantime one of the bandits shot into the crowded car, wounding many.

The police followed in another car, and the robbers finally plunged to the street and ran. The constabulary were close, and one of the pursued, running under a railway arch, found himself in a cul de sac, and, seeing that he was at bay, fired a shot into his head. The other was surrounded in a house and so badly wounded that he died. One of them was known as "Jacob," the other as "Kelfert," and both were Letts, as ascertained by writing and printed matter in their pockets.

An international study by police of this latest factor in criminal pursuit has been baffling. Of the people little can be learned, and, although the Letts in Courland and Livonia, two of the Baltic provinces, are peaceful and law abiding, the emigrants to America from the district have been to a great extent desperate criminals, who left their own country under a cloud and burning for revenge upon any official.

The police in this country are satisfied that the marauders who have terrorized Massachusetts and London are deserters from the Russian army, because they have in many cases carried the Russian army automatic pistol and have shown remarkable proficiency in its use. Pistols they have purchased in this country have been of the automatic type, firing ten bullets as fast as the tip of the index finger can quiver.

The Letts, as a whole, are hard working people, a mixture of the old Prussians and the Lithuanians, and their name, "Latvis," means "land of Lithuania." A remote, isolated people, their language, of all European tongues, is the nearest to Sanskrit. Living in widely separated farmsteads, harassed by dread of enforced army life and forever seeking means to evade it, they have sent out sinister representatives to the English speaking countries.

The criminals captured are poorly educated. In their country, where pagan idols were worshipped as recently as 1835, and where the names of the old divinities are even now used in their sombre folk-songs, education is but secondary. Within a century marriage by abduction was quite common and marriage of brother and sister was frequent in order to prevent family separation.

Songs of the Letts.

Their simple quatrains—they have no grand epics—still breathe the spirit of a warlike and even victorious epoch—when they "burst the stronghold of the Russians," "challenged the Polack to enter their island" or "met the foe on the deep." Their relations with the Russians and Germans are, as a whole, described with hatred or despair. One characteristically doleful wail reads:—"O Riga, Riga, thou art fair, very fair. But who made thee fair? The bondage of the Livonians." And another:—"Oh, had I all that money sleeping beneath the waves I would buy the castle of Riga, Germans and all, and treat them as they treated me. I would make them dance on hot stones." Despondency prevails, as evidenced by this national cry:—"Oh, my God, whither shall I flee? The woods are full of wolves and bears, the fields are full of despots. Oh, my God, punish my father and mother, who brought me up in this land of bondage!"

A London policeman, after a study of the Letts in connection with the recent London tragedies, says:—"They come to London and are quickly hidden away and absorbed in the great population and are ready to do any desperate job for money. Murder is nothing to them; and burglary, rather than political machinations, is their real aim. They are, of course, chiefly anarchistic, and they follow respectable callings, if at all, only as a cover of their lawlessness. They gravitate to certain districts, chiefly in the east end of London and in the Essex suburbs. Robbery and not revolution would account for such preparations as we found in investigating them in connection with the Houndsditch affair."

Deputy Superintendent William B. Watts, of the Boston Police Department, whose department has worked on all of the New England murders and raids in which the Letts were engaged believes that close co-operation with the Russian government and the adoption of the finger print system is the only effective way to prevent their coming here in the future.

"European countries as a whole," he said, "have a much more careful system of individual espionage than we have here, and as the criminals who have come to this country in many cases are fugitives from military service, undoubtedly there are careful records of them. If we could arrange by treaty an interchanging system whereby each person leaving the country would be compelled to have his finger prints recorded, show he was free from military service, free from debts and not a criminal, then we could prevent the acquisition of these undesirable aliens. This is true not only of the Letts, but of criminals from Southern Europe, and until there is some such arrangement the work of the police will be doubly hard."

Your kitchen needs this superb flavoring

SEND to the groceryman to-day for a bottle of the most delighting flavoring money can buy—and that is

Shirriff's
TRUE VANILLA

Made from the choicest Mexican Vanilla Beans in a way that gives you more value for your money—and a finer flavoring—than you ever got before. You'll never buy another kind of vanilla once you use Shirriff's.

Caution:—A smaller quantity required than of any other extract.

Other delicious Shirriff flavorings are: Lemon, Almond, Rose, Pineapple, Strawberry, Ratafia and ninety more. 10

Alex Gordon's
Meat Market
is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of
LAMB
MUTTON
PORK
Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon
Butcher Market Arcade

East City
Coal and Wood Yard
MAIN OFFICE 111 Hunter St., East
Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac. Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.
Bell Phone . . 764 George Street

W. & A. KINGDON
Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address
762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE
390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 623

STRANGE FACTS

A suit of clothes made of stone is the latest innovation on exhibition in a New York clothes-dealer's window. The material is soft and pliable, and when soiled has only to be placed in a fire to be made absolutely clean.

A German workman named Gauschy has just been released from the jail at Mulhausen after serving forty-five years' imprisonment for murder. This constitutes a record as regards a continuous term of incarceration in modern times.

Something new in aeroplanes has been invented by a Japanese noble man named Baron Iga. The inventor has taken the dragon-fly as his model, and has constructed two sets of wings which can be made to flap at the will of the operator. It is claimed that this arrangement will enable the aeroplane to maintain its position in the air without moving.

When a charge of meat stealing was about to be heard at the Swansea Quarter Sessions, the man charged with the offence was found to be missing. He was discovered among the grand jury, helping to decide whether there was a bill against himself or not. He explained that he thought the jurymen were all prisoners. He was found not guilty and discharged.

The Romford Urban Council, says an English paper, have appointed a special committee to obtain a proper valuation of the old oak panelling which has been found in a farmhouse standing on land used for the disposal of sewage. The matter was first brought to the notice of the council by an anonymous offer of $1,500 for the panelling. It was then found that a dealer had estimated its value at $4,000, and also that it was being damaged by damp, the rooms being used for the storage of onions and the roofs being leaky.

NO DYSPEPSIA OR UNDIGESTED FOOD

Heartburn, Gas, Headache and All Stomach Distress Vanishes

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to Stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapepsin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourest, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, Nauseous odours from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on each 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures Indigestion and removes such symptoms as Heartburn, a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, Belching of Gas and Eructations of undigested food, water brash, Nausea, Headache, Biliousness and many other bad symptoms; and, to keep your stomach liver and intestines clean, you will not need laxatives to times clean and fresh.

If your Stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case from your druggist and make life worth living? Absolute relief from Stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and, besides, one case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Diapepsin which will always, either at daytime or during night, relieve your stomach misery and digest your meals, is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

THE CZAR'S WATCH

Made by a Polish Mechanic Named Jules Curran

There is in the possession of the Czar a very remarkable watch. It was made by a Polish mechanic named Jules Curron. The Czar had heard some wonderful tales about the inventive ability of this man, and, wishing personally to test his skill, he sent him a parcel containing a few copper nails, some wood chippings, a piece of broken glass, an old cracked china cup, some wire, and a few crib bage-board pegs. Accompanying this was a command to make them into a timepiece. Within a remarkable short time the Czar received them back in the shape of a watch. The case was made of china, and the works of the other odds and ends. So pleased and astonished was the Czar that he sent for the man and conferred several distinctions upon him.

NEARLY DIED OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

GIN PILLS SAVED HIM

513 JAMES ST., HAMILTON, ONT.

"Five years ago, I was taken down with what the doctors called Inflammation of The Bladder—intense pains in back and loins, and difficulty in urinating, and the attacks, which became more frequent, amounted to unbearable agony. I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor.

My wife read in the papers about GIN PILLS and sent for a box. From the very first, I felt that GIN PILLS were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once and the attacks were less frequent.

In six weeks, the Stone in the Bladder came away. When I recall how I suffered and how now I am healthy and able to work, I cannot express myself strongly enough when I speak of what GIN PILLS have done for me." JOHN HERMAN. 48

GIN PILLS are sold at 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your dealer does not handle them. Sample box free if you write us, mentioning this paper. Money back, if GIN PILLS do not give full satisfaction. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. B., Toronto.

ITEMS OF NEWS FROM BRITAIN

First Labor Mayor Knighted—Irony of a Bishop Who Had Been Robbed

The rector of St. Clement Danes, Strand, distributed gifts of clothing and groceries among 500 poor women of his parish.

Missing Boys Found in Spain

Two boys, missing from Cadoxton for several weeks, were found as stowaways on a steamer which arrived at Spain.

New Thames Fire Float

A new fire float called the Gamma, which can pump water at the rate of 1,000 gallons a minute and travel at the rate of nine knots, has just arrived in the Thames for the London Fire Brigade.

A Curious Cat Disease

A virulent internal disease, described as a sort of distemper, is killing cats in great numbers in various parts of Northamptonshire, and at Towcester more than fifty cats died within a few days.

Parliament on Strike

The Manx House of Keys is on strike, owing to a dispute with the Legislative Council, and until the Manx constitutional question is settled there will be no more laws in the Isle of Man.

Touching Memory

Two wreaths of evergreens laid on the grave of Colonel Eustace Balfour, Haddingtonshire, bore the inscription: "On behalf of two little street boys whom he once held on his shoulder that they might see a London procession."

Scarcity of Empty Houses

A scarcity of houses at Great Harwood has led residents to offer substantial rewards for the notification of empty dwellings. The district council adopted a scheme for erecting municipal houses to relieve the situation.

New Canada Mail Service

It was announced in Bristol that the Canadian Northern Steamship Line had entered into a contract with the Postmaster-General for a regular fortnightly mail service to Canada. This will entail the advancing of the sailings from Bristol by a day.

Feline Sagacity

No sooner does the bantam belonging to a Ditchling tradesman lay an egg than the household cat takes the egg between her teeth, carries it to the back, places it on the step, and rattles the door handle with her paws until her mistress arrives to take the egg.

Robbed Victim's Irony

The following appears in the window of a cycle maker's premises in High Street North, Manor Park:—"Will the gentleman who kindly smashed our windows this morning and took our cycle covers please call for the inner tubes, as otherwise the sets are incomplete?"

Old French Chapel Closed

Owing to lack of funds, the French chapel of St. Louis de France, London, Little George Street, Portman Square, has been closed. The chapel was established in March, 1793, and many famous French emigres worshipped there, including Louis XVIII. and most of his family.

Man of 170,000 Years Ago

Lecturing at the Royal College of Surgeons, Professor Keith gave an age of 170,000 years to the human skeleton which was found in the bed of the Thames Valley at Galley Hill, near Northfleet, by the late Mr. R. Elliott. He calculated by the work done by the Thames since the level was ninety to a hundred feet higher than to-day.

16th Century Industry Revived

Success is attending the revival at Cullompton, Devon, of the hand-loom weaving industry, for which the town was noted in the fifteenth century. Fifteen men, women, and children, all with some physical defect, are making carpets, rugs, stockings, serges, towellings, silk-finished linens, and dainty neck-chains with Coronation mottoes artistically woven in tiny beads.

"PAPA" DOESN'T COUNT

The Wife and Mother is Boss on Nunivak Island

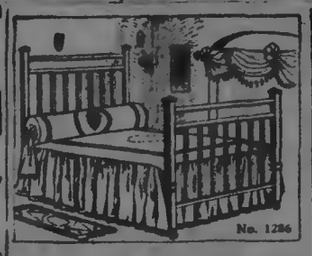
The paradise of the mother-in-law has been discovered. Nunivak Island, a low, marshy bit of land lying in Behring Sea just off the Alaskan coast, between the mouths of the Yukon and Kuskokwim rivers, is its location, and suffragettes who are looking for campaign material will do well to ask a few anthropologists for further information regarding this little fragment of the great territory of Alaska.

The wife and mother is boss on Nunivak Island. It would be understating the case to say that she wears the trousers, for skirts are a garment known only by hearsay to the women of all the uncivilized Northern Alaska tribes. The Nunivagmute wife not only wears trousers, but lives up to them.

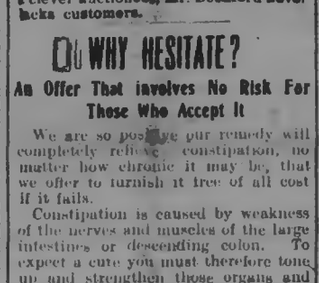
For instance, when a young Nunivagmute brave begins to think of marriage and pops the question to a buxom belle with a complexion like rich Jersey cream and a roly-poly figure clad in a muskrat parka he does not receive the time-honored answer, "Go see papa." He is referred to mamma, and what mamma says goes.

The mothers of the young people conduct all the negotiations. After that papa and the girl have nothing to say about the matter, and instead of promising his bride-to-be a sealskin for a wedding present the prospective groom is compelled to pay over to the mother-in-law a number of sealskins varying with the age and physical attractions of the bride.

Nor can he borrow the sealskins from the village Shylock. He must have killed a stated number of walrus and seal with his own hand before he is regarded as an eligible suitor, and be able to convince the girl's mother that he can make good as a provider of food and clothing before he can have the daughter.



One does not buy a bedstead. For buying means to incur expense; and a bedstead is an investment—a lifelong one. So the bed good enough for your home should be all a bed can be. It is, when this trademark is on its footrail.



Look for that trademark. You may need to pay a trifle more to have it on the bed you buy. But it is worth that little more when it is "Ideal" quality.

Worth more, because the snow-white enamel remains white (does not turn dingy gray, or yellowish.) Worth more, because that "Ideal" trademark guarantees the buyer a metal bed that will not rattle; nor become wobbly; nor ever look cheap. Worth far more than the little extra price—perhaps forty cents—for forty technical reasons.

We who make and guarantee "Ideal" Metal Beds believe many people think betterness is valuable when it affects sleep.

For those people we have printed a little booklet called "The Philosophy of Sleep." Your copy is to be sent quite free for your name and the name of your dealer if you ask for Booklet No. 126. 6

IDEAL BEDDING Co.
MONTREAL — TORONTO — WINNIPEG

PAINTING 100 PICTURES A DAY

There has lately arrived in Fleet Street an American artist, Mr. Beckford, who reckons to turn out 100 genuine oil paintings a day, and, what is more, sell them all. He can paint you a masterpiece on any subject you choose in ten minutes, and copy a Old Master in five. He memorizes his subjects down to the last detail, and has one or two little devices which make for speed. Thus, for putting in sky and trees and water he has a brush holding three colors—dark for the deep shadows, then a half tone, and then a high light—so that he can do three processes with one flick of the brush. "Artists who have watched me," says Mr. Beckford, "admit that it is very tricky and neat." Assisted by a clever auctioneer, Mr. Beckford never lacks customers.

DO WHY HESITATE?

An Offer That involves No Risk For Those Who Accept It

We are so positive our remedy will completely relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish it free of all cost if it fails.

Constipation is caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestines or descending colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our guarantee. They are eaten like candy, and are particularly ideal for children. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They have a neutral action on the other organs or glands. They do not purge or cause any inconvenience whatever. They will positively overcome chronic or habitual constipation and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments. Try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Two sizes, 10c. and 25c. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

HARNESSING A SPIDER

Hunting for a Substitute for the Silk Worm's Product

Because of the slow and laborious hard labor necessary to unwind a thousand yards of fine thread from the cocoons of the silkworm, and its being unprofitable to carry on this industry except in countries where wages are very low, innumerable scientists and inventors are trying to devise some substitute for the silkworm's product, or to find some other insect that will produce something similar at less cost.

One of the most recent attempts of this sort was caused by the British Association of Silk Manufacturers offering a reward of $5,000 to anyone who would invent a way to utilize the spider as a silk producer. The idea is an old one (for Cleopatra's famous robe was of spider silk), but the problem has always been how to get enough of the spider thread and how to wind it without breaking it or getting it hopelessly entangled.

A Frenchman named Cachot received a reward a little while ago. He harnessed the spider to a machine that he invented containing diminutive bobbins, which revolved constantly. He wound the thread as the spider spun it, not after it had been made. The end of the web, which was attached to the body of the spider, was caught and fastened to a bobbin; then the machine was gently put in motion. The spider finding its web reeling away, apparently of its own volition, naturally pulled in the opposite direction to get away. To the delight of the scientist, it was found that the spider did not pull with sufficient force to break the thread, but actually seemed to enjoy the process, and kept just enough tension so that the web continued moving.

Many spiders were tried in this way, and at last enough of their product was obtained to be woven into a fabric, which, in tenuity, elasticity and tenacity, was found to be superior to natural silk fibre. Dresses of spider web, however, are still beyond the reach of any except the wives of multi-millionaires.

RUDYARD KIPLING AS A REPORTER

One of the Great and Wonderful Stories in the English Language Was Not Appreciated

"One day, less than twenty years ago, when I got down to the city room of the 'Chronicle' office in San Francisco—I was a reporter on the paper—I noticed sitting over in a corner, with his hands thrust a bit gloomily into the pockets of his somewhat shabby sack coat, a little, bristly-haired man, with a pair of large but weak-looking eyes masked by the lenses of an enormous pair of spectacles," says a journalistic friend of Kipling's. "He looked just about as unhappy as a new reporter usually looks when he is sitting around a city room waiting for his first assignment.

"The 'Chronicle' had a pretty big city staff then, as it always has had, and the city editor called the reporters up in turn and handed out the work. He had a growl for each of them about the stuff they had in the paper that morning. The stuff was inadequate, idiotic, incomplete, or something.

"The little new man with the large spectacles took it all in with mouth agape. His turn came when all of the other men had been provided for. With his customary glare from his horribly heaped-up desk, the old man glanced over it at the new man.

"'Kippering—er—Kappering—Kipling—oh, yes, Kiplin—Kipling's right, isn't it? Know anything about crooked financial stuff?' the city editor asked the new man. 'A bit,' briefly replied the new man.

"'Huh!' commented the city editor. 'Well, see here, Kippering—I mean Kipling—there's a fake mining concern doing business down at this address. Trot down there and have a talk with the manager of the fake concern. Feel him out. See what he has to say. We're going to uncover him. Not yet, maybe, but when we've got him cinched. Sike him up. Get his idea. Look him over. Then report back to me.'

"Well, that was Kipling's first assignment on the 'Chronicle,' and he managed it fairly well.

"Kipling was on the 'Chronicle' for about five weeks. All this time Kipling had in his pocket a letter to the managing editor, which he presented one day. The managing editor was a brusque, busy man. 'Want to write stories for the Sunday, eh? What kind of stories?' 'Well,' replied Kipling, 'I know a lot about the army life in India, and——' The managing editor laughed. 'Now, what d'ye suppose the people of California care about the army in India?' he inquired still chuckling. 'Still, I'll look at your stuff. Get any of the stories with you?'

"Kipling had one of the stories with him, and he left it. Now, don't laugh. But d'ye know what story that was that Kipling left with the managing editor of the 'Chronicle' that time? Why, it was the story—you've read it in 'Soldiers Three' about a thousand times. I presume—about the lonesomeness of Private Ortheris, and how Private Mulvaney comforted Ortheris out of his lonesomeness; one of the great and wonderful stories in the English language, that's all.

"A day or so later the editor called Kipling into his room and handed him back this story with a smile, and told him that there wasn't anything essentially interesting about it, and that India was a long distance from Market Street; and that, moreover, the story wasn't quite up to the paper's standard for stuff of that sort.

"Kipling left San Francisco a few days later."

THE KING'S HABITS

His Majesty Will be Kept Hard at Work Until the Coronation is Over

King George is at the moment one of the busiest men in his kingdom. His Majesty is kept hard at it early and late. This is a condition of things that will continue until the Coronation is over. Like the late King Edward, his Majesty is an early riser—a very early riser for London and Mayfair—and after a brief walk in the grounds of Buckingham Palace, sets to work upon the business of the day, so that by the time his private secretaries arrive he has many matters ready for their attention. The King has chosen as his work-room a large and airy apartment on the garden fronting the Palace, where he can gain charming views of the extensive grounds. His Majesty has now engagements of one description or another for every day until well on into July, and it will be a matter of the greatest difficulty to crowd any further appointments in. Indeed, several of minor importance have had to be cut out just lately. According to the usual custom, his Majesty's State portrait should have been hung in the Royal Academy this year, but the King is finding it a matter of great difficulty to give the necessary sittings to the artist, and it is now a matter of some doubt whether the picture can be completed in time.

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy

Costs Little. But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16 oz. bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep-seated cough in side of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guiaicol and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada, that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equalled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

NA-DRU-CO LAXATIVES

taken occasionally tone up the liver, move the bowels freely, cleanse the system and clear the brain. 25c. a box at all druggists'.

National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited

BAD PLACES IN ROADS

"See here," exclaimed the stranger, as he stumbled into his twentieth puddle, "I thought you said you knew where all the bad places were on this road?"

"Well," replied the native, who had volunteered to guide him through the dark, "we're a-findin' them, ain't we?"

Nerves Are Exhausted

And Nervous Prostration or Paralysis Are Creeping Steadily Upon You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

You hear of people suddenly falling victims of nervous prostration or some forms of paralysis. But when you get all the facts of the case you find that they have had months or years of warning.

They haven't slept well. There has been frequent attacks of nervous headache. Digestion has failed. They have been irritable, easily worried and excited and have found memory and concentration failing.

Had they but known that these symptoms tell of exhausted nerves or had they realized their danger they would have restored the feeble, wasted nerve by use of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great restorative treatment cures by forming new, rich blood and by rebuilding the wasted nerve cells. No medicine is more certain to prove beneficial, for each dose adds to the system a certain amount of rich, red blood.

Nervous diseases come on slowly and can only be overcome by patient and persistent treatment. Prevention is always better than cure, and for this reason you should endeavour to keep the system at high water mark by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food at the first sign of trouble. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Hair and Fancy Goods

Whatever is new and good in Hair Coiffures, or that is required in dressing the hair in the very latest style we have it. Perfect match guaranteed. Our line of Smallwares and Fancy Goods is very complete and offers a choice selection.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

LAND REGULATIONS.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts, a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

W. W. CORY
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital - $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910	$3,355,804.40
Total Liabilities to the Public	$1,998,080.69
Surplus	$1,780 477.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'
W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited
162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-281
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

My Valet

This is the time to look over your Spring Wardrobe and have them put in shape. We do all kinds of cleaning, repairing and pressing, on ladies' or gent's garments. You will be surprised at the improvement.

2 STORES:
106 Charlotte Street, Bell 877 Mach. 287
137 Simcoe Street Phone 669

China Painting
Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils

PETERBORO' PENNANTS, 50c
J. J. TURNER & SONS
Corner George, King and Water Streets.
Both Phones Peterborough

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

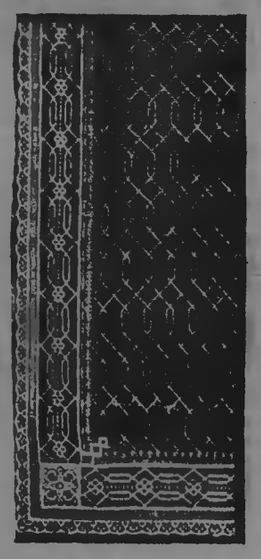
PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Eggs for sale in any quantities.
Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited
Office corner George and Hunter Sts
Both Phones 2621
Yards 124 Robinson Street
East City.
Both Phones 264

Ten Days of the Greatest Home Furnishing Values we have ever attempted

TURNBULL'S
THE HOUSE THAT VALUE BUILT

Home Furnishings at Prices never before quoted in Peterborough



INTRODUCTORY SALE
of our New and Enlarged Home Furnishings Depts.
MARCH 15th to 25th

This unusual attraction has no comparison in all the years of Home Furnishing Sales. This year we have gone the limit in rearranging and building additions to our already immense floor space in order to put before the public the finest stock of Home Furnishings ever shown in Peterborough, both for exclusiveness and inexhaustible variety, and at prices that has brought our motto ever to the fore—"The House That Value Built," and which has made it "Peterborough's Greatest Store."

These elaborate preparations which have been made should interest everyone, as special new Spring lines of goods have been priced, which in some cases is below half. Our aim has been to choose such lines as each house will require some of. We would advise early buying for first choice.

Curtain Goods and Art Covering Section

$1.25 Furniture Coverings 79c
Heavy English Tapestry Covering 50 ins. wide, patterns include floral, conventional and small chintz effects in green, crimson, brown, blue and rose combinations; splendid qualities for upholstering parlor and sitting room furniture. H. F. Sale 79c

15c White Curtain Poles 8c
Neat white curtain poles ¾ ins. x 4 ft. long, finished with best enamel and complete with white silver ends and brass bracket. H.F. Sale each 5c

20c and 25c Art Sateens 12½c
Good qualities in English art sateens in twill or plain weave, silky finish in new conventional and floral patterns, color combinations are blue, green, rose, cream, brown and mauve. H.F. Sale.... 12½c

10c and 12½c Art Cretonnes 7c
Heavy Cretonnes 28 and 30 ins. wide in a large assortment of patterns and colour combinations including self colors of blue and green, can be used for light covering for boxes and furniture. H.F. Sale 7c

Madras and Casement Muslins 15c
36 and 45 inch madras and casement curtain muslin wove plain or with double borders in artistic color combinations suitable for bedroom, hall or sitting room curtains. Every piece is special value, regular worth up to 50c yard, H. F. Sale 15c

Brass Extension Rods—bright finish, extending from 21 to 45 inches complete with brass brackets. H.F Sale 4c

35c to 50c Imported Cretonnes 19c—New imported cretonnes 30 to 36 ins wide in a large assortment in the shadow and small chintz patterns in colors of green, rose, pink, yellow, brown and blue. H.F. Sale 19c

Linoleum and Oilcloth Section

18 inch Stair Oilcloth 11½c
Stair Oilcloth with strong canvas back, made with pliable surface that will fit on steps without breaking. Patterns come in pleasing colours of greens, fawns and brown. H. F. Sale 11½c

50c 2-yd. wide Linoleums 33c
Heavy quality linoleum, 2 yards wide, in an unusually good range of patterns, in block, tile, parquet, oak plank and floral. Quantity is large, still we advise early buying. H. F. Sale 33c

Best quality Oilcloth Mats 69c
Oilcloth Mats, 1¼ yds. square, solid oiled canvas back, with heavy enamel face, finished with neat borders. H.F. Sale.... 69c

25c Stair Linen 15c
Best quality in heavy and close woven stair linen, 18 and 20 inches wide, finished with border each side in good reversible patterns. H. F. Sale..... 15c

65c 4-yd. Linoleum 48c
Heaviest quality imported Scotch linoleums, 4 yards wide, in tile or carpet patterns in rich shades of green, brown, rose, gold and fawn. H. F. Sale 48c

85c Inlaid Linoleums 67½c
The best wearing linoleum, patterns are inlaid through to the back and retain their appearance till thickness is worn through. Good patterns of tile, blocks, oak plank and floral. H. F. Sale 67½c

The Bed Section

Bed Pillows
100 pairs medium size bed pillows, good feather filling free from quills and covered with strong stripe ticking, regular $1.50 per pair. H. F. Sale 69c

2.50 Art Ticking Pillows 1.47 Pair
Bed Pillows with covering of best Oxford twill art ticking in colours of blue, mauve, rose and brown, guaranteed fast, and filling of all feathers free from quills. H. F. Sale $1.47

All Wool Felt Mattress $4.87
All wool felt filled mattress with strong twilled feather tick covering, evenly tufted and well sewn sides. These are a most comfortable and soft mattress of great durability, which will not get lumpy. H. F. Sale..... $4.87

25.00 to $29.00 Brass Beds 16.95
3 only sample brass beds, heavy construction with two inch brass posts in bright finish and lacquered to prevent tarnishing, close brass spindle filling. H. F. Sale $16.95

$9 Bed, Mattress, Pillows and Springs 5.95
Complete bed outfit including 1 pair pillows, 1 strong re-inforced woven wire spring, 1 white enamel bed with brass trimmings and 1 mattress made of seagrass and wool. Can be had in sizes 4 ft. or 4 ft. 6 in. H. F. Sale..... $5.95

$6.50 Brass and Iron Bed $3.59
This is one of our better class beds, finished in snow white enamel, and with generous brass trimming, having brass rail across head and foot, brass spindles, knobs and caps. Sizes 4 ft. or 4 ft. 6 in. Sale $3.59

Curtain and Window Shade Section

Marvelous good fortune attended our buyer when he secured these magnificent lots at a price that enables us to pass them on to you at less than manufacturing cost.

$1.00 White Lace Curtains 59c pair
White Nottingham Lace Curtains 3 and 3½ yards long, and full width, with best finished corded edges and perfect in weaves. Four new spring patterns from which you may choose. H. F. Sale 59c

$1.35, 1.50 Nottinghan Curtains 89c
These give most excellent values, they are 3 and 3½ yards long and from 50 to 60 inches wide. They are made of excellent quality of cotton in splendid new patterns, and most of them have the new finished top. Homefurnishing Sale 89c

$2.50 Fish Net and Fine Lace Curtains $1.57—Every pair artistic and new. This range of patterns show the new allover effects in the heavy fish net weaves also many dainty fine lacey designs in plain and point-de-sprite centres with neat borders to match. Regular $2.50 per pair H.F. Sale..... 1.57

$10 Silk Finished Arch Curtains $5.89 pair—Extra heavy Tapestry Arch Curtains, rich silk finish with heavy deep knotted fringed top and bottom, inverted patterns in deep rich shades of brown, wine, nile, emerald and bronze. These colors make it possible to blend with the furnishing of any room. H.F. Sale, pair 5.89

Lace or Insertion Trimmed Window Shades 89c—40 dozen Window Shades in colours of cream, green or white, size 37 x 70 ins. long, trimmed with good quality laces or insertions 3 to 5 ins. deep and mounted on spring rollers. These are a manufacturer's seconds and slightly imperfect 29c

Large Window Shades at a Saving of 25%—For our Introductory Homefurnishing Sale you can make a substantial saving of 25% on all wide or extra long shades. We manufacturer these in our own work rooms and can deliver them same day as ordered in any colour either plain or trimmed with lace and insertions. Only Best Shade Rollers used which are guaranteed.

Carpet Section

Tapestry Rugs Cheaper Than Ever—A splendid new shipment in medium grade and as rich colours as some of the most expensive. The prices are cheaper than the cheapest. 1¼x3 yards 3.69. 2½x3 yards 3.60. 2½x3 yards 5.12. 3x3 yards 5.69. 3x3½ yards 6.63. 3x4 yards 7.56. 3½x4 yards 8.99. Other sizes up to 4x5 yards.

Seamless Axminsters at Sweeping Reductions—We lay particular stress on these Axminster Rugs. Remember they are seamless and wove with rich deep wool pile that will stand endless wear. We have priced them so low for the 10 days' gigantic selling that they little more than cover the cost of production. 3x3—15.44. 3x3½—17.98. 3x4—20.62. 3½x4—25.08 3½x4½—27.10.

69c Wool Carpets 42c—2 ply wool carpet, 36 inches wide, in new reversible patterns and combinations of brown, green and crimson. Good wearing carpet for sitting room and bedrooms; easily swept. H. F. Sale 43c

36 in. Union Carpet 19c—Yard wide Union Carpet of crimson, fawn, brown and green reversible patterns, strong selvedge edges. H. F. Sale 19c

Special Prices on Season's Newest Wash Goods

Dress Mulls at 15c
Dressy self coloured mercerized Mulls for one-piece dresses, with a neat silky double stripe running through them, in sky, tan, rose and black. Also a range of white ground muslins in floral designs. Regular 25c. Ten Days, choice, a yard.... 15c

12½c Victoria Lawn 8½c
White Victoria Lawn, 40 inches wide, in a fine close weave suitable for undergarments, children's wear or aprons. 12½c values, a yard 8½c

New Wash Suitings 25c
We have gathered together a handsome range of wash suitings at this price. New two tone linen suitings, dressy reppa, mattings and diagonals, suitable for coat & skirt, separate coats or one piece dresses, in new tans, coronation blues and other popular shades. A yard 25c

54 inch Embroideries $1.48 yard
Swiss Flouncings, 54 inches wide, in beautiful eyelet effects on fine muslin material, the daintiest of fabrics for dressy lingerie dresses. These have been purchased direct from the Swiss manufacturer and because of this you may buy $2 qualities for, a yard..... $1.48

8c to 10c Embroideries 5½c
Embroidery Edgings and Insertions on fine cambric material, in widths from two to five inches. Eyelet or blind effects. Part of a manufacturer's clearing lot and worth up to 10c yard. Ten Days, a yard 5½c

Rug Section

$2.00 2x3 yard Jap Rugs 99c—Japanese Rugs 2x3 yards, made of fine quality matting finished with neat borders and centres to match. Patterns come in floral and block in bright Oriental colours. H. F. Sale 99c

Imported Brussels Rugs at About Half—This is a large shipment just to hand from a Scotch manufacturer, all new bright perfect goods nicely made and in rich colors. The saving is nearly half.

2½x2½	$6.75	2½x3	8.06	2½x3½	9.30
2½x4	10.72	3 x3	10.72	3 x3½	12.51
3 x4	14.30	3 x4½	16.19	3½x4	17.87
3½x4½	20.11	3½x5	22.67

17.50 Seamless Balmoral Rugs $12.87—Best quality balmoral rugs size 3x4 yds, in same quality as carpet which sells at $1 per yd. Woove all in one piece (no seams) in beautiful medallion patterns in almost any color combination. Regular $17.50. H.F.Sale..... $12.87

35.00 Plain Axminster Rugs $22.48—Rich deep pile Axminster rugs in solid plain colors or with plain centres and conventional or stencil patterned borders, all this season's newest in blue, browns, greens, tans and rose. Regular $35.00, H.F.Sale..... $22.48

Hall Rugs, Runners and Stair Carpets to match

Price Surprises for the Economical Woman

What exceptional prices the Turnbull store can offer is illustrated in these unusual price quotations.

35c Corset Covers 25c—Women's Corset Covers of fine white cotton, in full front style. Neck is finished with deep torchon lace & armlets with narrow lace to match. Sizes 34 to 42. Ten Days, each 25c

Princess Slips at 98c—Fine White Lonsdale Princess Slips, seams well finished. Neck and armlets have a fine val. edging. Skirt finished with 10 inch tucked lawn flounce. All sizes. A $1.25 value. Ten Days.... 98c

75c Coloured Aprons 48c—Large overall aprons made of fast washing Print in small designs on navy, butchers' blue or grey grounds. Five inch frill around bottom and shoulders trimmed with neat frills of self. Reg. 75c. Ten Days..... 48c

40c Drawers 29c—Women's white Cotton Drawers, umbrella style, with tucked lawn frills. Sizes 25 and 27. Cotton is in a fine, soft finished quality. Regular 40c. Ten Days..... 29c

$1.75 Night Dress $1.29—Night Dresses of a nice quality Lonsdale. Button front style with a yoke of blind allover embroidery. Neck and ¾ sleeves finished with finishing braid and val. edging. All lengths. Ten Days, each $1.29

$2.00 Parasols $1.48—Women's Parasols with a splendid silk and wool top, bulb runner, 23 inch frame and a good range of the season's newest handles. Worth $2.00. Ten Days, only $1.48

Cottons at Economy Prices

Every housewife with a cotton need will appreciate the savings mentioned here:

Pillows Cottons at 19c
Pillow Cottons at 19c—Circular Pillow Cottons in 42 and 44 inch widths, woven closely from heavy firm threads, good value at 25c as cottons are now. 10 Days, a yard 19c

18c Longcloth 13½c
18c Longcloth 13½c—White Longcloth in a fine even weave, for serviceable undergarments, a soft finished cloth 36 inches wide. 10 Days, a yard 13½c

75c Bath Towels 49c
75c Bath Towels 49c—Bath Towels in a heavy well napped quality in cream with red or in linen colour with white stripes. Sizes 23 x 45 inches. Regular 75c. 10 Days, a pair 49c

A Pair of Sheets for 98c
A Pair of Sheets for 98c—White Cotton Sheets made from fine white cotton and 2 yards wide by 2 1-2 long. Hemmed ends. Regular price 75c each. Ten Days, a pair 98c

12 1-2c Flannelette 9 1-2c
12½c Flannelette 9½c—1200 yards of coloured Flannelettes in blue and white, pink and white and grey and white stripes, soft fleecy quality 34 inches wide. 12 1-2c value. Ten Days, a yard..... 9½c

30c Sheetings 22 1-2c
30c Sheeting 22½c—Plain Unbleached Sheetings two yards wide in a fine closely woven quality free from specks, worth 30c. Ten Days, a yard 22½c

Millinery and Ready-to-Wear Garment Opening, Friday, March 17th, and Following Days

SUITS AND COATS

Never before have we shown such a large display as early in the season and to stimulate early buying we have arranged a series of special offerings.

Our Special French Serge Suit $15.00
A most becoming model made by men tailors, is this special Suit. Coat is in the new short length, skirt has panel front and back with 12 inch fashion band on bottom made of fine French Serge in all desirable shades. Only $15

5.00 Panama Skirts $3.98—Latest New York models in fine Panama cloths in black or navy, perfectly cut and well made, best 5.00 lines, all sizes, only $3.98

$1.50 Lingerie Waists 98c—Dozens of designs to choose from in lingerie and tailored styles, high and low neck and long, ¾ or half sleeves, button front or back, all sizes. Big buying enables us to offer $1.50 lines during this sale 98c

Gingham House Dresses $2.98—House dresses made of good quality fast washing ginghams in black and white, brown and white or blue and white checks with panel front & Gibson shoulder, allover embroidery yoke --all sizes, ten days $2.98

$10.00 Smart Ready-to-Wear Millinery $6.95
For Saturday, March 18th, we will show 25 smartly trimmed Ready-to-Wear Hats in styles suitable for wear with a tailored suit or a shirt waist dress. Prominent in this assortment of new shades and shapes are the new close fitting Draped Toques in contrasting straws, and Milan turbans finished with jaunty quill. Regularly these hats would sell from $8 to $10, but to open the season we will offer them for one day, Saturday, only (See Window) $6.95

$5.00 and $6.00 Black Ostrich Feathers $3.98
Just to open our Millinery season with a rush we will offer a limited quantity of Ostrich Feathers, 18 inch length tied in beautiful rich black. Regular $5.00 to $6.00 One day only .. $3.98

One Piece Mull Dresses $6.75—Made of best quality washable silk mull with Dutch neck and kimona sleeve trimmed with Irish insertion and lace 2 ins. wide in white linen, mauve, pink and sky. Fit girls and small women, special $6.75

New Spring Coats $10.95—Separate coats made of fine quality Panama in navys, black, grey or tan, semi-fitting and 54 inches long, lapels trimmed with satin and silk soutache braid, patch pockets and turn back cuff finished with buttons, each $10.95

Girls' Sailor Suits $11.95—Best quality navy serge with sailor collar, cuffs and belt of black and white shepherd's plaid edged with red soutache braid, skirt kilted with 2 inch bias band of black and white check, each $11.95

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 12

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY MARCH 14 1911

Ten Days of the Greatest Home Furnishing Values Turnbull's Ever Attempted. Introductory Sale Mar. 15th to 25th
For Full Particulars of This Wonderful Money-Saving Sale See the Big Advertisement on Page Six of This Issue

FIREMEN LEAVING

Capt. Sam Thomas, of the Local Brigade, Goes West at Over Twice His Present Salary—Another Member Going.

OFFERED GOOD WAGES

A couple of months ago a number of gentlemen from Calgary, Fort William and Regina (some of them aldermen in the western cities) paid a visit to this section of the country, and incidentally to buy horses. The party stopped over at Peterborough for the purpose of seeing the hydraulic lift lock and while in this city inspected the fire station. In consequence of that inspection two members of the local fire department leave for the west on Thursday where they have secured similar positions at nearly double the salary, with prospects of rapid promotion.

Yesterday Captain Thomas, who is at present in receipt of a princely salary of $41.66, received a letter from W. A. White, chief fire department, Regina, offering him a position as captain of the Regina Fire Dept. with a salary of $85 per month. It is only a few months since Deputy Chief Grange was offered a position as chief of the Brockville Fire Department. These, along with a few other instances of this nature, is an example of what the head of the department has to contend with every spring. In fact it is an annual occurrence and will continue to be, until our city officials see their way clear to grant the men a standard, or at least a living wage. If it is not practical to do that, why then we would move that the suggestion of a prominent citizen might be adopted to the effect that the present brigade be discharged, and a bunch of Asiatics be employed, who would no doubt be willing to work for the glory that there is in it.

INCREASES ARE MADE

Special to The Examiner.

MONCTON, N. B., MARCH 14.—Increases of from ten to twenty per cent. for employees of the Intercolonial, have been arranged after a conference with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Three Killed In Elevator

Examiner Special:

ST. PAUL, MINN., MARCH 14 — Two women and one man were killed and several others were injured when an elevator in a wholesale house, full of employees, dropped several stories.

AFRAID TO ACT

Special to The Examiner.

VITERBO, ITALY, MARCH 14 — Despite the fines and imprisonment of jurors who refused to try the much feared Camorra, thirty-six accused murderers there still remain four places to be filled, and the court had to adjourn this morning to secure another panel.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Caused A Riot

Examiner Special.

NEW YORK, MARCH 14.—Brickflew, and several people were hurt this morning, when the Adams Express Company attempted to operate its service with the strike-breakers as drivers.

INCREDIBLE? RIDICULOUS?

Possibly, to Pitmanic or Gregg acquaintances, but "seeing is still believing," so any who doubt the idea of a college being able to fully equip strictly first-class, high-grade stenographers with only twenty-five to thirty-five days' study are urged to apply at 282-288 Yonge street, Toronto, (Moon College), and ask for good, sound, sensible, reasonable and convincing, and satisfying evidence. They say: "Come, see and believe."

IS FEAR OF UNITED STATES OF ALLIANCE BETWEEN MEXICO AND JAPAN RESPONSIBLE FOR MANOEUVRES?

English Paper This Morning Caused a Sensation by Claiming That This Was the Cause of the Mobilization of the American Forces Along the Border of Texas---100,000 Japanese Are Residents of Mexico.

WOULD BE READY TO INVADE THE STATES

Special Wire to The Examiner.

LONDON, ENG., MARCH 14.—The Standard, considered one of the most reliable metropolitan journals, is out to-day with a special cable and an editorial supporting it, to the effect that the real reason for the United States manoeuvres along the borders of Mexico is to make an ultimatum to Japan that it will brook no alliance with Mexico. The Standard intimates on the highest authority that the United States government has heard of such alliance and is acting accordingly.

The Standard's correspondent backs up the assertion by pointing out that there are already a hundred thousand Japs in little Mexico, where Mikado's subjects are gladly received. The suggestion is that these Japs should war between the States and Japan break out, would immediately flock to the colours and be on the ground to make an advance into the Southern States. 'Tis a well known fact that the Jap is ever loyal to his native land no matter where he emigrates. The Standard says the situation is most serious, and the question is, where would Britain stand in the event of such a conflict. It is estimated that on the death of President Diaz, a strong government will assume power, a government that would be friendly to Japan. This, explains the Standard, is the real reason of the United States' activities.

The publication of these statements this morning has caused a profound sensation throughout Britain.

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE AT JUNIPER ISLAND

Mr. S. H. Henderson of Toronto, has been spending the week end with his brother, Dr. Caldwell. Mr. Henderson is one of the most active of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, and while in Peterborough, with the assistance of others, was arranging for the subscription of additional stock, so that the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association might be able to complete the extensions to be made to the pavilions, and make other improvements that would tend to the comfort and convenience of those spending the summer at Stony Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson and daughter expect to leave for the continent during the present month, and intend making a three months' tour. Mr. Henderson proposes enjoying the thirtieth anniversary of his marriage in this way.

RAILWAY COMMITTEE DEALS WITH EXPRESS COMPANIES

Examiner Special:

OTTAWA, MARCH 14—The Railway committee commenced work this morning by considering the bill of Sharpe, member of North Ontario, to compel the express companies to make an annual return to the treasury showing the amount of money unclaimed in the form of money orders, travellers' checks, postal remittances and the return to be made under oath. In six years the companies are to pay this unclaimed money to the treasury to be returned to the proper person if possible. The companies opposed this and much argument ensued. By a vote it was finally decided that the clauses calling for the payment of money to the government be cancelled. Companies are simply compelled to make return, not under oath. The penalty for false returns is a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or imprisonment not exceeding 2 years.

THE SPECIAL SERVICES AT KNOX CHURCH

The special services in Knox church maintain their interest and helpfulness. Last night the audience was somewhat thinner than usual, as is customary on Monday nights. The singing is still a most pleasing feature. The sweet, sympathetic voice of Mr. McBretney continues to delight all. Mr. Woodside spoke on "The world's greatest need—a Saviour." Christ came to save entire manhood. He entered life through its only gateway and thus associated Himself with childhood. He departs by life's great exit—death. By so doing he touches all life from the cradle to the grave. In His temptation He met the problems of man and showed Himself the Saviour of the market, the legislative hall and the finance world.

He furnishes us with the elements of life. As God gathered the elements of the physical and incarnated them in a grain of wheat, so did He incarnate the elements of the spiritual life in Christ.

Having done this Christ shows us the principles by which life must now be governed. Faith in God is essential. Christ never hesitated in His allegiance toward God. This faith will manifest itself in gratitude and love of most winsome character. The speaker emphasized that with this we must possess faith in ourselves, no matter how insignificant our effort seemed. Humanly speaking, Christ's birth was one of the most insignificant events, yet to-day of greatest possible magnitude. Nobody will doubt His efficiency as a Saviour to whom He is the ever living advocate at the Father's right hand. If you are His client He will be your advocate and plead your cause successfully.

To-night Mr. Woodside speaks on "The Tragedy of a Life Without God. At the close of the service he hopes to meet all who signed decision cards for a special message.

FRANK HEFFERNAN IS ON THE ALL STAR LINEUP

Frank Heffernan, the sturdy cover-point of the Grillers has been selected to play cover-point on the All-Star junior team which will play the Kingston Frontenacs in Kingston to-morrow night. "Heff" will replace Freeman of Oshawa. McBurney, of the West Toronto Victorias, moves back to point. The local boy is in good shape and should heighten the favourable impression the Kingston fans have of his playing. With Heffernan and Crane on the line-up, Peterborough is pretty well represented.

$300,000 FIRE LOSS

Thousand Head of Horses, Sheep and Hogs Burned to Death in a Big Stock Yard Conflagration

FOUR MEN INJURED

Special Wire to the Examiner.

FT. WORTH, TEXAS, MARCH 14.—A thousand head of horses, sheep and hogs were roasted to death in a stock shed fire which swept two acres of sheds and seriously burned four men. There will be a loss of three hundred thousand dollars.

Fire Drove Them Out

Examiner Special.

TORONTO, MARCH 14. — Thirty-six people including many children were driven out of their homes on King street west, some of them in their night clothes, when a fire gutted their houses at three o'clock this morning.

DIED IN AGONY

Special to The Examiner:

HAMILTON, MARCH 14.—Gordon Milne, aged 2, burned last night by the upsetting of a lamp, died in the hospital to-day in terrible agony.

Paid Their Last Respects

The funeral of the late Mrs. Osway Carver took place Saturday afternoon from her residence, North Monaghan and was largely attended by friends and neighbours of the deceased. The Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Charlotte street Methodist church and Rev. Mr. Riddiford of Park street Baptist church, conducted the services at the house. The floral tributes were numerous and very beautiful. The relatives from a distance were: Mrs. E. W. Evans, Mr. Geo. W. Evans of Little Lake, N.Y., Mrs. C. Munro, St. Thomas, Mrs John Davis and Mrs. Geo. Saunders, Toronto, Mr. H. M. Carver, Caledonia, Miss Annie Hutchinson, Centreville, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hutchinson, South Monaghan, Robert Hutchinson, Millbrook, Miles Hutchinson, Fraserville.

Transformer Burned Out

A huge transformer, which was being subjected to a severe test in the Test Department of the C. G. E. yesterday, burnt out, filling the room with blue flames. It is estimated that the wire which was destroyed on the transformer, was worth in the neighbourhood of $500.

BIG CONTRACT

The E. R. J. MacPherson Co., contractors for electrical work and plumbing, have secured a large contract at North Bay for the installation of the heating and plumbing of the new convent which is being built. Mr. Wm. Jamieson, foreman for the Company, will shortly leave for the new field of operations. It is expected that about two months will be required for the completion of the work.

THE EXCLUSIVE BICYCLE TIRE.

The Doughty Patent Process for making Bicycle Tires is probably the greatest step forward in the tire industry in recent years. Dunlop Detachable Bicycle Tires are made by the Doughty Process. This accounts for Dunlop exclusiveness when it comes to durability, resiliency and uniformity.

Steps To Check The Spread Of Tuberculosis Taken By Local Citizens

Matter Was Discussed at a Meeting in the Council Chamber Last Night---Speakers Point Out Some of the Aims and Objects of the Proposed Organization.

A very important meeting of citizens was held in the Council chamber last night, to consider the question of the best means of dealing with the conditions arising from the existence and prevalence of tuberculosis, and to consider the duty of Peterborough in relation to the subject. The matter was discussed by physicians and laymen. The result of the meeting was the appointment of a committee to take the first steps towards organized action. His Worship Mayor Morrow occupied the chair.

Dr. Cameron was the first speaker, and imparted considerable valuable information. The following in his own words, is the substance of his address: "Up to the present time in Peterborough, little has been done to stop this disease. Some time ago there was an organization formed to take up the question, but I do not think that they succeeded in accomplishing much. The work in Canada is being given a great deal of attention at present. The first step in this direction in Canada, was the organizing of the National Sanitarium. This organization has done a great amount of good, particularly in Ontario. Another organization which has worked a great change in this line, is the Anti-Tubercular Association. An organization could be formed in a city like Peterborough, for instance, and could be operated with or without connection with the central organization, although it is probably better to have connection with the main organization. In St. Catherines, they formed such an organization four or five years ago: it at once took up the question of the local situation. They bought land outside the city, and by aid of local subscriptions got enough to build an institution for patients infected with this disease. The building cost about $14,000.00, and had about twenty-five patients. Hamilton took up the question, in a like manner, and the work was carried on by some half dozen citizens, and they succeeded in building a sanitarium and establishing a nursery. Now they have a second sanitarium. One is used for the patients in the first stages of the disease, and the other is used for the far advanced cases. The results in all these cases are very remarkable. London, Ont., is another city which has taken a very active part in the question. They have followed a plan similar to that of Hamilton. The Government of the Province of Ontario would supply $1,000 towards a building worth $20,000. The upkeep of such an institution is the difficulty. It is a very expensive proposition—it costs about $8.00 per week, and in some cases it costs $11.00 and $12.00 per patient. For such an institution, the Province gives a grant of $3.00 per week to assist patients."

"So far as an institution is concerned for Peterborough, I am not here to advocate that one be built at once. The plan that has been suggested, is, that until such time as the municipality feels itself in a position to build, the work can be carried on by means of an organization. That method is extremely simple. At the present time there may be 150 patients infected with this disease in Peterborough and some not in a financial position to make their condition as desirable as should be. The plan proposed is, to have a physician visit them and give instructions what to do regarding the care they should take of themselves, also the care they should exercise in preventing others from taking the disease. If a great deal of education was given them, it would render the danger less. 'The District Nurse,' that has been proposed, could tell them what they should eat, and give them instructions along that line.

Through the aid of the organization we suggest, those affected might be cared for by the District Nurse, and would be helped in such a condition, that their own comfort would be greatly increased, as well as the public danger decreased. It would cost money to do all this, but they have done it in other cities and towns and we should be able to do it here."

Mr. Bennet's Opinion.

"This subject is an extremely important one, and there are very few people who have not felt the ravages of this dread disease in one way or another. Then what is to be done? Dr. Cameron has gone over the ground fully. And I was connected with the association he referred to. It was a branch of the National Sanitarium Association. It was maintained by Peterborough and other cities. It did not have a lengthy existence. The people thought that it was not proper as far as Peterborough was concerned. I doubted, myself, if its benefits were what they should be. Dr. Cameron's suggestion of a nurse seems to be of more benefit to us at present, than a sanitarium would be. The District Nurse appealed to me for several reasons: One good reason is, that the patients may remain at home, and have all the comforts of the home, while the nurses would have the opportunity of giving them the proper diet, and all that the nurse can do. It does not require medical men. The nurse can do all that is necessary. The patient might not need eggs and milk and all those delicacies to get better. Encouragement and plenty of ventilation, are essentials. In order to put the matter into operation, it is necessary to get an association, and we want a 'Help Association,' rather than a 'Tuberculosis Association.' It would be more proper to have that name, as the latter name has rather a threatening sound to those who are afraid of taking it. If we had so far progressed, we could go ahead, and carry on our work according to our means supplied for the purpose."

Dr. Halliday said that it was not necessary for him to make any lengthy remarks, as the former speakers had covered the work pretty fully.

He, however, was fully in sympathy with the scheme, and encored the movement. He also thought that they should proceed to business at once. He stated that people knew how serious the disease was, but that there were very few, who were aware of how to treat it.

'Knowledge' and 'confidence.' Know-

Dr. McNulty thought that there were just two things necessary, ledge, to know what they wanted, and confidence, to carry out what they planned after they did know what they wanted. He stated that science has pointed out, how the disease can be eradicated. He thought that a great deal could be done along educational lines. A central organization, alone, can accomplish but little, but if working with the local organization, can do a lot. Education is a matter of prevention. The teaching of the children in school is an essential in helping matters in life. He also thought that the distributing of leaflets giving instructions, would also be a good thing. Little talks in fraternal societies would also tend to better matters. Dr. McNulty thought that a little item in the press would also help, as it would acquaint the people with the circumstances. He thought that later on a place could be erected where persons could end their days in comparative comfort.

Mr. D. W. Dumble and Dr. McPherson also expressed their views on the subject. Dr. McPherson thought that the idea of the nurse was about as good an idea as he had heard of, and he also was of the opinion that it would be better to have a sanitarium as soon as the city could afford one. He said that the general public realized the danger, and that any person would contract the disease—old or young or middle-aged.

Dr. Cameron and Mr. W. H. Moore were of the opinion that a Committee should be appointed at once to begin the work, and that they look after the rest of the arrangements.

Mr. J. W. Bennet moved, seconded by Mr. F. Adams, that the following be the committee: Dr. Halliday, Mr. Moore, Mayor Morrow, Dr. Cameron, Dr. McPherson, Mr. J. W. Bennet, Convenor; Dr. McNulty, and Rev. Canon Davidson.

And that this committee talk the matter over and suggest officers for the association, and arrange for a meeting for a week from last night—Monday, March 20th.—Carried.

GOING AHEAD

It is generally believed that the Charlotte Street congregation have accepted the contribution from the Hon. Senator Cox, of the building site known as the old Aaron Cox property at the head of Simcoe street, and that during the present summer work will be commenced upon a new church, Sunday school and parsonage. It is expected that the present building upon the property will be removed. The plans and specifications are being gotten in readiness to proceed with the work.

VERY ILL FROM GAS

Mr. and Mrs. Leask, of Chatham, and Their Son, Found in Critical Condition This Morning —Fumes From Stove

ALMOST TRIPLE TRAGEDY

Special wire to The Examiner:

CHATHAM, MARCH 14.—Following quickly the Hutchinson asphyxiation tragedy Mr. and Mrs. Leask and son Orville were found this morning in a critical condition as the result of gas fumes escaping from a stove.

A PRESENTATION

SELWYN, MARCH 13. — A very pleasant time was spent on the evening of March 9th, when the members and congregation of the Baptist church, met at the home of Mr. Jonathan Branch. One of the most pleasing features of the evening was a presentation, after the reading of the following address:

To the Misses Branch—

Dear Young Friends, — We, the members and congregation of the Baptist church, Selwyn, have met here to-night to ask your acceptance of these two chairs, as a slight token of our appreciation of your efforts in training the children so thoroughly on various occasions and thereby contributing so largely to the success of such entertainment and also the children's Sunday. Wishing you both much joy and happiness in the Master's service, we remain yours in Christ. Pastor and congregation of the Baptist church, Selwyn.

Rev. Mr. Bonner presented the chairs, both ladies making a very suitable reply.

The remainder of the evening was spent with song, instrumental and social amusements. Supper was then served, followed by the singing of Auld Lange Syne, after which the company dispersed.

EXPENSE AVOIDED

A deputation of the County Council of Peterborough was appointed at the recent session to wait upon the Government at Ottawa with regard to certain matters in which the county is interested. It is more than probable that the expense to the County will be avoided, as it is understood that Mr. Stratton, the member for West Peterborough, has the matters effecting the county all arranged, the County thus being avoided the expense of the deputation.

WATCHED FOR 25 YEARS

Mr. D. M. Waters, the popular druggist, Belleville, Ont., sold his first box of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills a quarter of a century ago and since then has noted many remarkable cures, as this medicine grew in popularity. The latest cure coming to his attention is that of Mrs. Mark Ottrey, Bay Side, Ont., who was cured of wrinkles disappear, and the glow of health returns to the cheeks.

SPECIAL

FRESH STRAWBERRIES — Just arrived at 15c a Box.

Bell Phones 18 and 19

376 George St. Walter J. Oke

OBITUARY

MRS. ALEXANDER GREIVE.

Mrs. Alexander Greive passed away last night after an illness of short duration. Deceased was 75 years of age and was born in Smith township, and has been a resident of the city for a number of years. The late Mrs. Greive was a devoted member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church and her many estimable qualities won of her the respect and esteem of those with whom she associated, and she will be missed by hosts of friends and acquaintances in Peterborough and the surrounding district.

She is survived by six sisters and two brothers, and a sorrowing husband. The sisters are: Mrs. Andrew Young, of Smith, Mrs. Thomas Young Mrs. Wm. Simpson, Mrs. Bellegham, of this city, Mrs. Geo. Scott of Brandon, and Mrs. Barrie of Newcastle, and the brothers are James and Robert of Smith and a niece, Miss Sadie Welton of this city.

The funeral will take place to-morrow from the family residence, Berrie at the hours at 3 o'clock. Funeral will leave the house at 3.30 and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment. Rev. Robert Pogue will officiate.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending Jan. 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 419 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 1911

THE TUBERCULOSIS MEETING.

One of the most important meetings held in Peterborough in many a day was that held in the City Council chambers last night. It was of supreme importance, because its object was to discuss and deal with conditions arising from, and existing in connection with, our most dreadful, most dreaded, and most decimating disease — tuberculosis — a disease whose terrible character is admitted, but not sufficiently recognised, but, yet, one subject to beneficent preventive and curative treatment.

It is not necessary to insist upon the malignant prevalence of the "white plague." Its presence and ravages are universal; there is hardly a home in Canada that, either in direct or remote membership, has not suffered from it, that does not owe a vacant chair to its deadly work. Medical science, while it has had to confess its failure to combat the disease by medication alone, has, by its researches, developed two important facts; one, the terribly contagious character of the disease, and the other the possibility of curative treatment, in which the physician, be he never so skilled, has a very small direct share.

With all the new light that medical science has thrown upon the disease, its origin, progress, and treatment, the first need still seems to be education. The public have to be informed of—to be impressed with—the cruelly contagious character of tuberculosis. On this page is printed an article, showing how persistent and immanent the germs of the disease are. A knowledge, and, better, a recognition of, the deadly character of tuberculosis contagion, is the first step to the most important phase of treatment—prevention. With preventive measures effectively applied, the practical extinction of the disease becomes possible. As to curative measures, mere drug medication has proven to be useless, unless supplemented by proper hygenic and nutritive measures. Tuberculosis is no respecter of persons; the young, the old, the rich and poor, are all subject to its destructive influence, and the poor are especially marked out for its fatal attention. Lack of means, means to a certain degree, insanitary homes, lack of the protection that comes from sufficient and suitable clothing. The necessity of earning a livelihood means exposure to weather conditions, favourable to germ development. Even when there is an accepted knowledge of the curative and ameliorating qualities of pure, fresh air, in sleeping chambers, there are obstacles in the constructive arrangement and size of the dwelling that will not permit the application of this sovereign essential in the treatment of tuberculosis. Lack of means may not permit of the special nourishment also strongly indicated. Crowded quarters do not admit of the segregation necessary to the comfort and proper care of an afflicted person, and supremely necessary to the prevention of the spread of the disease to others. The rich can have the best conditions provided in their own homes, but the poor or those of moderate means, make claim upon the altruistic. It becomes necessary, therefore, for public-spirited citizens to combine, to co-operate, in helping those, who, from the nature of their circumstances, cannot help themselves.

As remarked, no more important meeting than that of last night could be held; and it is hoped that the movement it points to will not end in talk, but that something practical, definite and beneficent will result.

It may be remarked that such a gathering, while it aims at providing preventive, ameliorating and curative treatment, has another important duty confronting it, and those who think with it. The campaign of education should be vigorously pushed. The more the public are enlightened as to the contagious character—in pratice, the real etiological condition—of tuberculosis, and its amenability to properly applied hygienic measures, the more the popular support will contribute to the success of organized effort. And the place to begin the educative campaign is with the provincial authorities, which seem to be dead to the responsibility attaching to them in regard to dealing with tuberculosis. Nothing so universally affects the people, nothing so blights the integrity and usefulness of our citizenship as tuberculosis; a circumstance that suggests the active co-operation of the state, which, in the public interest, the interest of the state, might very warrantably spend a hundred times more than is now done in protecting and promoting the health of the people in relation to tuberculosis.

IN SOUTH PERTH.

(London Advertiser)

The Conservative meeting at St. Marys last night was a disappointment to the big-drum brigade. The local candidate, Dr. Steele, unfeelingly spiked the heavy guns from Ottawa by deprecating any talk of annexation in relation to reciprocity. Mr. Meighen, M.P., and Mr. Cowan, M.P., were compelled to shift their ground at a minute's notice, and endeavour to discuss the commercial side of the agreement. They were not entirely equal to the sudden requirements of the situation. Mr. Meighen, with a cheerful disregard of market quotations, was not sure that the wheat growers would benfit by reciprocity. He was quite certain that it would injure the milling industry, but he is a miller himself, and likely to be sensitive about a tariff item that touches his pocket-nerve. The duty on flour has been reduced from 60 cents to 50 cents a barrel. Mr. Meighen sees disaster in shaving the tariff a trifle on his own product, but an equal reduction of the duty on agricultural implements counts for nothing at all in his estimation. He would cut the other man's protection still lower, but he insists that no hand be laid on his own.

Mr. Cowan, M.P., of Vancouver, had to omit the flag-waving rhodomontade, which has been the staple of his speeches elsewhere, but he showed little improvement in his discussion of the practical aspect of the trade compact. To contend that the American market is of no value to the Canadian live stock interests is to insult the intelligence of every breeder who knows his business.

Which horn of the dilemma do opponents of reciprocity like Messrs. Meighen and Cowan take? The annexation cry assumes that the American market will be so powerful a magnet that it will draw Canada into the orbit of the republic. And the very men who raise this cry to make it appear that reciprocity has no commercial value! The absurdity of the performance is matched by its insincerity.

Electric Restorer for Men

Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension; restores vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will make you a new man. Price $3 a box, or two for $5. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

Prince Edward Island.

On Prince Edward Island about 25,000 muskrats, 500 minks, 1,000 red foxes and a few weasels are killed each year. The black fox is bred there by people who keep their methods secret.

Pliny on Serpents.

Pliny, the writer of the first century after Christ, says: "Serpents, no odds how poisonous the variety, can hurt but once; either kill they many together. When they have bitten or stung a man they die for very grief and sorrow that they have done such a mischief, as if they had some remorse or conscience afterward."

Brittle Bones.

There is more lime in the bones of the aged than in those of the young, therefore the bones of the old are more brittle.

Largest Chain Bridge.

The largest and oldest chain bridge in the world is said to be at Kingtong, in China, where it forms a perfect road half a mile in length, from the top of one mountain to the top of another.

Drum Messages.

Indians of the upper Amazon have developed "wireless telegraphy" by means of drums made of hollow logs tuned to varying pitches.

Burning Papers.

Burning old papers in a grate is likely to cause the chimney to catch fire. To prevent this accident, make the papers into bundles and put some wire round them. They may then be safely burned, for they will burn slowly in the grate, almost like a log of wood. The same wire may be used again and again.

Salt in Africa.

In some parts of Africa children will eat salt in preference to sugar. On the Gold Coast a handful of salt will purchase two slaves.

India.

India is divided into nine provinces, Bombay, Madras, Bengal, Eastern Bengal, United Provinces, the Punjab, Central Provinces, Northwest Frontier Province and Burma.

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of Itching, Bleeding and Protruding Piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c. at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

It is somewhat startling in this scientific age to find an article upon "Haunted Houses," not in one of Mr. Stead's publications, but in "The Technical Word Magazine." Yet the writer of the article, F. C. Walsh, M.D., tells of terrible doings by a very grim and very real spectre indeed. Dr. Walsh's "modern ghost" is the tuberculosis germ, and, as he says, "it's habitat, the haunted house, is too often your own home, Mr. Average Citizen." Dr. Walsh remembers how some twenty years ago, in a certain mid-western town, three members of a family living in a sufficiently picturesque cottage were stricken iwth consumption in rapid succession and died. It might be said that theer was nothing unusual about that, but the goblin had not finished his work. There was a sequel. The remnant of the family moved out, while another family, containing five children, moved in, and within six months three members of the second family "went into a decline," as the mother stated, and ultimately died. Some of the neighbours, struck by the coincidence, attributed the deaths to "dampness," the more superstitious openly hinted that the house was 'haunted.' The house was sold. The purchaser and his family took up residence in the "haunted house" and in less than a year its history began grimly to repeat itself. One girl died of consumption. Two other members of the family were advised to change climate, and went to Colorado with what result is not known. The remainder of the family moved out and for some time the house remained vacant. Although offered for a mere song, no one cared to risk paying life-toll to the horrible and m[illegible] its presence which lurked, invisible, within its walls.

After a while a young physician, new to the town, was making a professional call in the neighbourhood. Before he left his patient, a rather garrulous old Irishman told him the tale of the haunted house, with elaboration sufficint to make an interesting magazine story in itself. The doctor listened eagerly, and then mad careful investigation for himself. H found no sign of dampness; found nothing, in fact to explain the sequence of deaths. He then traced back for twlve years the different families who had occupied the house during that period. Finally, he got bac kto the original owner and occupant—an old bachelor, who had died of lung trouble! Tracing down the various deaths from this beginning, our medical Sherlock Holmes found no less than twenty-five deaths from "lung trouble" — tuberculosis—occurring in the successive families who had occupied the house up to the time of his investigation. The young doctor, like the hero of many an old legend, believed that he possessed a charm sufficiently strong to exercise the malignant spirit: "The house was a House of Death, and he knew it; but he knew also that his science could break the evil spell; and turn it into a House of Life. That abode of evil required just one thing to make it perfectly sanitary and safely habitable—disinfection. And so it was fumigated and disinfected as never house was before. That was a number of years ago, when the neighbours marvelled at the doctor's madness. To-day they wonder at his wisdom, and the healthfulness of his happy family, who still occupy the house."

Dr. Walsh agains warns Mr. Average-Citizen that he may be living in a similar "haunted house." His article is illustrated with pictures of several. According to statistics, the chances are one in seven that some one with tuberculosis occupied the house before the present resident. Or in moving, no matter how clean may be the house or flat which he is about to occupy, the chances are one in seven that he is about to run the risk of contracting that greatest plague of modern times—tuberculosis! The campaigns in the United States against the disease have as yet according to Dr. Walsh, done little to check its ravages. He finds one cause in the semi-annual moving, whic his continually bringing fresh families nto plague-haunted houses. Germs, invisible to the naked eye, literally cover many walls and floors, particularly the latter. Roomers, too, run the same risk. The room may have been rented a dozen times to as many consumptives during the past twelve months. The dusty carpet on the stors; the conventional rugs in the rooms, faintly reeking with malignant germ life; clean sheets, maybe; but blankets on the beds that may have been coughed into for a decade by an innocent victim of the disease, who innocently passes it on in turn to another helpless victim."

Dr. Walsh puts before his readers the case of a child playing round the floors of such houses. When it takes the disease, people babble about heredity, whereas no child was ever born with tuber ulosis. The disease is always developed after birth, and is always due to exposure to a tuberculosis-laden atmosphere, and that atmosphere, too often, in the victim's own home. He believes that sunshine, living in the open air, sleeping with open windows, all are good. But sunshine, fresh air, anti-spitting ordinances, individual drinking cups, campaigns and funds for tuberculosis hospitals, will make fo nothing except one vital thing is done. Mr. Average-Citizen says: "I see what you are coming to. You would have every room and house that has ever been tenanted by a consumptive fumigated." Dr. Walsh says: Yes, this is half the remedy. The other half is 'to fumigate and disinfect every habitation ever occupied by anybody, as soon as vacated, whether the occupant was consumptive or not." He would have every nation, state, city and village pass statutes and ordinances causing every landlord to have and to show a clean bill of health for every room in his house, whether there has been illness therein or not. This would mean an additional public expense, but it would save millions of dollars, as well as lives, for the Haunted House is a costly institution.

In These Days.

"Pa, what's in that little thing the artists always put on Cupid's back?"

"It used to be supposed that he had arrows there, but in these days he usually carries a divorce decree in his quiver."—Chicago Record-Herald.

It Sometimes Happens.

A wit once wrote a parody
Upon a famous rime.
The parody was parodied
With humor time on time,

Until the meaning of the rime
Was lost beyond recall.
Its solemn words were thought to be
The best burlesque of all.

—Puck.

Political Delicacy.

"I can't support you. Don't you know the office should seek the man?"

"Of course I do. But I'd like to give the office a hunch as to where I am."—Philadelphia Ledger.

His Musical Ear.

She sings in her flat,
The cheerful young thing.
But I wouldn't mind that
If she'd just sing in her flat,
The cheerful young thing,
And not flat in her sing.

—Browning's Magazine.

Suspicious.

We don't believe in being oversuspicious, but we don't see how any man can open a soft boiled egg with any confidence nowadays.—Detroit Free Press.

Theatrical News.

Mary has a little calf.
"With that," you say, "don't bore us."
All right, but that's the reason Ma-
Ry can't get in the chorus.

—Lippincott's.

Easy to Explain.

Beers—Why is DeSwimeler still wearing his last year's overcoat?

Tittsworth—It's because he's still paying on his 1910 auto.—Chicago News.

As the Saying Goes.

If we believe naught that we hear
And only half we see
We might as well be deaf, I fear,
And blind, too, seems to me.

—Boston Herald.

Domestic Amenities.

Father—I think the baby looks like you.

Mother—Yes; it shuts its eyes to as awful lot.—New York Sun.

A. Brown & Co.
406 GEORGE STREET
Headquarters for all kinds of
Real Estate

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the Postmaster General, will be received at Ottawa until Noon, on Friday, the 21st, April, 1911, for the conveyance of His Majesty's Mails, on a proposed Contract for four years as required between PETERBOROUGH POST OFFICE and RAILWAY STATIONS from the Postmaster General's pleasure.

Printed notices containing further information as to conditions of proposed Contract may be seen and blank forms of Tender may be obtained at the Post Office of Peterborough.

G. C. ANDERSON,
Superintendent.
Post Office Department, Mail Service Branch, Ottawa, 2nd March, 1911.
3dT-56-4191.

Lots For Sale
— AND —
Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. J. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank Corner of George and Simcoe Streets

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,
d-tf On the Premises

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a ne by mail and we will attend to a' once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

MR. T. WOODWORTH

the well known English Elocutionist, is open for engagements at Concerts, Socials, At Homes, Civic Functions, &c., to give

RECITALS—Wise and Witty! Grave and Gay

An actor-elocutionist of the highest order.
—Peterborough Examiner

The audience was captured from start to finish
Peterborough Review

An exceedingly talented elocutionist—irresistably humourous.—Peterboro Morning Times

For terms apply—222 Wolfe St., Peterboro
1m-38

Money to Loan

Mortgage loans on City and Farm property at lowest current rates.

Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr
418 Water St., Peterborough

The Dennistoun Property

We have received exclusive sale of the R. M. Dennistoun property, with frontage on George and Water streets. This is an opportunity for intending builders to secure good lots in fine locations at very Moderate Prices. Also double house on Aylmer street bringing in a rental of about $40.00 per month. This will go cheap. Four Lots on the west side of the city at quick sale prices.

As Mr. Dennistoun is now permanently located in Winnipeg all of the above property will be sold at prices that should insure quick sale.

CALL AT OUR OFFICE, we will be glad to give all information regarding the above property.

Easy Terms can be Arranged on Any of the Above Property

A. BROWN & CO.
PHONE 126 406 GEORGE ST.

LOST

LOST—GOLD RIMMED AGATE Brooch Monday. Finder will be rewarded at Examiner office. 2d-61-4272

LOST—AN IVORY SCALE ON TUESday, near G.T.R. Station. Finder please return to S.L.Clement, Strowden House 1d61-4276

LOST — DARK BLUE PURSE CONtaining money and keys, between Simcoe and Sherbrooke Sts. on George St. Reward by returning same to Examiner Office. 3d61-4267

SITUATIONS VACANT

LIVE MAN OR WOMAN WANTED FOR work at home, paying $2.00 to $3.00 per day with opportunity to advance. Spare time can be used. Work not difficult and requires no experience. Winston Limited, Spadina Avenue, Toronto. 12d-57-3918

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1739, Lockport, N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Heacock, B. 1638, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 139

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.
208 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

The Electric Installation Co., Limited
293 George St. Phone No. 798

Electric Light, Heat & Power, Electric Bell & Annunciator.

Installations at Reasonable Rates

Let us quote on your motor installed ready to operate. Expert advice free

J. A. ASH
142 George Street South
MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
House Phone No. 799
1 yr.-54-4162

The Anvil Chorus Is Pretty—But It Doesn't Get You Anything

Hollinger at $3.50

was like buying the whole north country. Almost everybody poohooed Swastika at 25 cents.

I am prepared to execute buying orders on Preston East Dome and advise its purchase at the market.

J. M. WALLACE
Broker, Toronto
PHONES MAIN—1944-5
6d-56-4207

HOUSE For Sale

¶ An up-to-date BRICK HOUSE with all conveniences, water, gas, electric light & furnace, situated in the west end of the city. Lot, fifty foot frontage with lane at rear. A very fine property. Particulars at Examiner Office :: ::
1md57-4220

AGENTS WANTED

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR THE BEST PREMIUM proposition in Canada, one that appeals to everyone, apply to Sellery Advertising Dept., 228 Albert St., Ottawa. d6mon20-3694

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED, APPLY Examiner.

WANTED — EXPERIENCED TINSMITH, also plumber and steamfitter, capable of making estimates. Apply, with reference and salary expected, to Box 4255, "Examiner." 4d-59-4255

WANTED—YOUNG MAN TO MAKE himself generally useful and look after pool room, out of town. Apply at Darcy's pool room, Charlotte street, between 7 and 7.30 p.m., March 14th, or 10 and 10.30 a.m., March 15th. 1d61-4275

EDUCATIONAL

STATION AGENTS COURSE OUTLINed and illustrated in New Booklet. Write for it. Central Telegraph and Railroad School, Yonge and Gerrard Streets, Toronto. William Shaw, President. d-t.t.s.-Mar. 31

WORK WANTED

EXPERIENCED YOUNG LADY DEsires position in store or office, part or whole time. Box 4239, Examiner. 2d-60-4239

SITUATION WANTED—POSITION AS nurse to invalid, or housework in country. Apply Examiner. 3d61-4263

JAS. DELIGN, 497 CROSS ST., IS PREPARed to do plastering, also paper hanging. Paper supplied. 'Phone 713. 3d-60-4257

DRESSMAKING—BY THE DAY OR AT home by experienced dressmaker. Apply 595 Harvey Street. 6d-57-4229

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER ST[illegible] Apply Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. dtf-24

TO RENT, MODERN HOUSE 127 RUBIDGE Street. Also Market Garden. Apply 161 Hunter Street or Phone 1281. dtf-55-4195

TO RENT—House No. 344 Rubidge St. Hot Water heating and all modern improvements. Possesson 15th March. Apply 437 George Street. d-tf-46.

TO RENT—SMALL HOUSE FITTED WITH electric light. The house is centrally located and has a good garden for vegetables. For particulars apply 183 Antrim Street. d-tf-57-4221

TO RENT—Store and Upper Floor in Grand Opera House Block. Would make first-class Music Store or any other suitable business. Also a good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator. Cor. McDonald & Aylmer Sts. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Awning & Tent Manufacturers, George Street, Peterborough. d-tf-46-4063

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—DINING ROOM GIRL. APPLY National Hotel. 3d-60-4266

WANTED — FIRST CLASS MANTLE maker. Apply 394 Water St. 3d61-4276

WANTED—A GOOD KITCHEN GIRL apply to Munro House. 3d61-4277

WANTED—AT ONCE GIRL FOR LIGHT Housework. 590 George St. 2d-60-4260

WANTED—GIRL EXPERIENCED IN DRY Goods as saleslady. Apply 166 Simcoe St. d-tf-59-4239

WANTED—A GOOD KITCHEN WOman. Apply National Hotel. 3d-60-4235

WANTED—AT ONCE, EXPERIENCED general servant. Highest wages. Apply 459 Hunter Street. d-tf-59-4245

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected. Parties arriving March 15th, 20th, and April 2nd. Apply now. The Guild 71 Drummond St., Montreal, or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. 2md 55-4190

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—HOUSE, 200 PEARL AVE., also vacant lot adjoining. dtf-18-3570

FOR SALE—AT ONCE, BRICK HOUSE, conveniences, apply 59 Aylmer Street 12d-60-4256

FOR SALE — A NORTHEY STEAM PUMP—Size of connections ½ inch. Apply to G. A. Gillespie, Simcoe street d118wtf

FOR SALE — A HULL FOR MOTOR boat, 24 feet by 5 feet wide made of Cypress, new. May be seen at 211 George Street. 3d61-4226

FOR SALE CLARINET, ALSO VIOLIN complete with case and music stand. Set of World's Greatest Literature 61 vol., cost $48.00. Make offer. Address Box 4249, Examiner. 3d58-4249

FOR SALE — THE RESIDENCE OF THE late Dr. Grey, No. 205 Sherbrooke street All improvements Hot water heating, good barn. Apply W. C. Stabler, 350 Water street. d69

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE — A CASH Register, in good condition, registering from 5 cents to $3.00; or will exchange for one registering from 1 cent up. Can be seen at the Examiner Office. tf-68

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 134 Rubidge Street. dtf-113-68

Chanberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.

Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting, Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

Further Particulars From

J. H. VANCE
773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

NOTICE TO
Builders and Workmen

With a view to Meeting the Demands for Houses Suitable for the Average Mechanic

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Submit the following proposition to the Builders and Working Men of Peterboro. We will supply a Builder with a choice lot within 12 minutes walk of the C.G.E., the Shovel Works or the Cordage Factory at a maximum price of $150, lot to be paid for when a house constructed thereon has been sold No interest or taxes for a period of one year provided house is not sold or rented within that time.

Any boy, girl, man or woman, can secure a choice lot in this section for $150 on terms of $10 cash and $5 per month.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter St. Phone 376

LAMEY & COSTELLO
Real Estate Brokers
631 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.
Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

WORKING PEOPLE
SHOULD OWN THEIR HOMES
With Garden and Fruit, Large or Small

It gives pleasant and profitable employment during spare time and saves many dollars for other necessities

The rent, sober, honest and industrious people are paying will buy a home for you on my easy terms, as it has done for others now comfortably settled in homes of their own, of which they are particularly proud and some can already show their deeds including a lone widow, while many more pretentious can only show rent receipts. Come in and let me explain my easy plan

Large and small garden and fruit lots for sale or to rent,

T. HURLEY
282 Hunter St., Peterboro
2m.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 25 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited
Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

DO YOU NEED A TYPEWRITER?

We are in a position to furnish you with Any Standard make of typewriter.

Machines bought, sold or exchanged.

Old machines taken on account.

Typewriters rented.

Peterborough Typewriter and Supply Co'y
159 SIMCOE PHONE 685

Model Dairy Co.
Corner King and George streets

Pure Milk in Sterilized Bottles 6c
Whipping Cream, quart..... 40c
Table Cream, quart..... ... 30c
Skim Milk, 3c qt. or 2 qts for 5c

Everything used on the dairy is thoroughly sterilized. Call and inspect the only plant in the city. Orders delivered any time to any part of the city. Milkmen supplied

TELEPHONE 831

Millinery Opening

March 17th and 18th

At our Millinery Opening next Friday and Saturday Miss Noble will show the New Hats in all their bewildering attractiveness. The latest Parisian, New York and Canadian Styles will be shown. There will be rows upon rows of hats but no two hats alike.

Miss Noble will exhibit the sensation of the season—the HAREM HAT. It certainly is a wild weird looking style and is very interesting to say the least of it. Watch for it Friday and Saturday.

Friday and Saturday will as usual, be devoted to the exhibition of the new styles, but Saturday evening will be more particularly set aside for those ladies whose engagements prevent them from coming out during the day.

Second Ready-to-wear Opening

March 17th and 18th

Mrs. Russell, our New York Ready-to-wear Specialist has had a very wide experience in the larger centres of the United States and in addition to her ready-to-wear experience, is a thoroughly qualified dressmaker and thoroughly understands fitting. She is now in charge of our ready-to-wear department and will be glad to meet all the ladies o l eterborough.

Her advice about what to wear is very valuable as she makes an expert study of fashions and individual figures. Come in and have a talk with her, she will help you to decide about your costume for the coming season. Our second Ready-to-wear Opening will be held on Friday and Saturday with the Millinery Opening.

Come in and have our pianist play over the New Irish Pieces. The New 17th of March Pieces now in stock

ELLIOT'S

MILITARISM AND WAR

The British Labor Party will Consider a Strong Resolution on the Subject

At the annual conference of the British Labor party next month in Leicester the following resolution will be submitted: "That this Conference, believing that militarism and war are subversive to civilization and national well-being, protests strongly against the heavy and growing burden of armaments, which arrests social reform, and endangers international solidarity, good-will, and peace.

"It further affirms that militarism, while profitable to certain financial interests, to the activities of which not a little of our scaremongering can be traced, imposes a needless tax on the lives and the wages of the workers, and threatens to inflict on Great Britain the evils of compulsory military service.

"The Conference, therefore, declares that disputes between nations should be settled, not by brute force, but by reason and arbitration, and urges the workers of this country to take organised action with their fellows in Germany and other lands in counteracting the influence of scares and in bringing about an understanding between all nations to secure international peace and to advance social justice."

WILL BE A HOSTESS

Mrs. David Beatty is Having a Fine Old Mansion Re-Decorated and Adorned

Mrs. David Beatty, the only daughter of the late Marshall Field, of Chicago, will be one of the principal hostesses in London during the Coronation year. Her residence near Regent's Park is a fine old mansion, standing in its own spacious grounds, with all the quiet and charm of the country, and yet within ten minutes by automobile of the heart of fashionable Mayfair.

The house is being remodelled, redecorated, and brought up to date. The gardens are beautifully laid out. In the reception room has been hung a rare collection of paintings by old masters, which her husband inherited.

At a recent dinner party they had among their guests, Mrs. Ava Astor, the Duchess of Marlborough; the Duchess' aunt, Mrs. Tiffany, who is about to return to her home in Paris; Mrs. Clarkson Potter, Lady Ripon, and Mrs. Winston Churchill.

CATCHY CONUNDRUMS

What chemical salt is like a foolish girl?—Silicate.

What do you see people drink broth with?—Your eyes.

When does a ship beat the wind?—When it sails before it.

What is the best saddle for cavalry?—Saddle of mutton.

What is the easiest thing for a negro to do?—To keep dark.

Why is a prudent man a deformity?—Because he is beforehand.

What vegetables most resemble a lady's tongue?—A scarlet runner.

When is a rifle like a news receiver?—When it has a fresh bullet in it.

Why are cars unlike earthenware?—Because their brakes leave no pieces.

What is the strongest day in the week?—Sunday, because all the rest are week days.

Why is it wrong to pay for poetry by the line?—Because it is a per-verse reckoning.

Why may blacksmiths be considered dishonest?—Because they are given to forging.

Tea Time Talks

1300 Varieties of Tea

Of the 1300 kinds of tea, some must be better than others. Among these better teas "Salada" Ceylon Tea towers high as the sunny mountain slopes on which it is grown.

The plantations of "Salada" have the best advantages of soil and climate. The tea plants are the choicest, and only the tender leaves and buds are used. "Salada" comes to you in sealed air-tight packages preserving its delicacy and excluding all outside taint of dust and dirt.

Yearly Sales Over 20,000,000 Packages

Ask your grocer for "Salada" Tea or send for a free trial package which makes 50 cups of delicious tea. We will mail it to you without charge. Say whether you use Black, Mixed or Green Tea and the price you pay per pound.

The "Salada" Tea Co.
33 Yonge Street Toronto

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

"THERE was a young lady from Kent
Who always said just what she meant.
Said her friends, 'She's a dear, So unique, so sincere'—
And they shunned her by common consent."

Why is it, I wonder that people who pride themselves on saying just what they mean, somehow seem to me an disagreeable things most of the time?

Why is it that people who pride themselves on seeing clearly seem to see flaws so much oftener than good points?

A little neighbour of mine put on her new gown for our inspection the other day, and awaited our admiration with all the excitement and enthusiasm of a young person who doesn't have pretty gowns often enough to conceal her pride and delight.

A blood relation of the lady from Kent, a person who prides herself on her sincerity and goes about rebuking the rest of the world for their lack of it, happened to be present.

"Yes, it's pretty, but there is something wrong with the sleeves," was her immediate comment.

My little neighbour's pretty radiance gave place to a look of disappointment and anxiety as suddenly as if a cloud had hidden the sun.

And I had all I could do not to suggest to the lady that she consult an oculist for those abnormally flaw-seeing eyes of hers.

You say that if there was anything the matter with the gown it was well for its possessor to know about it that she might have the fault corrected.

Quite so.

But why need that have been the only thing the lady saw and the first thing she said?

Why might she not have noticed and remarked that the lines of the skirt were excellent, that the colour was becoming and that the whole effect was thoroughly attractive, and then later have made the suggestion about the sleeves?

She would have done just as much good and caused less unhappiness.

One may see clearly and yet see kindly; one may say just what one means without being a kill-joy, if one will go about it in the proper spirit.

For I think one can be sincere and yet remember and live by Heine's definition of the purpose of the tongue:

"God has given us our tongues wherewith we may say pleasant things to our neighbours."

Ruth Cameron

WORKINGMAN'S OPINIONS UPON RECIPROCITY AND OTHER THINGS

Peterborough, March 13th, 1911.

Dear sir,—After reading the statement by Hon. Mr. Fielding that the Liberal party in this reciprocity agreement were looking after the interests of the masses rather than that of the estimable sirs and others who are at the head of our large commercial and industrial establishments, as an artisan and, therefore, one of the toiling masses, I got busy trying to find out by studying both sides of the question how much foundation there was for this claim.

In the first place, what percentage of the benefits derived from protection and high tariff on natural products does the workingman receive? I have come to the conclusion that they are small and insignificant compared with that of others. Take the Fruit Growers' Associations. Was not the protection given to them detrimental (with possibly a few exceptions) to the interests of the toiling masses; I do not consider that the Boards of Trade represent the opinion of those connected with trade. They may control a number of the toiling masses both body and mind, (the Trades and Labour Council for instance.) Some of us have still got opinions of our own, but I cannot say how long before somebody will succeed in cornering that commodity.

In going over the changes made in the agreement, with the manufactured articles, I cannot see why it should affect the interests of the masses to cut down the high duties of a few articles, when we take into consideration what we get in return. I have yet to see any particular industry specify how they are adversely affected. If the government will advocate measures that will enable the toiling masses to enjoy the prosperity of this growing country to a greater extent in the future, than we have in the past, I believe they should be encouraged.

We must not give too much attention to those blue ruin and annexation cues. When the British Preferential tariff and other changes were made, we were warned by this blue ruin crowd, and when the G. T. P. was the chief plank in the Laurier platform what pictures of blue ruin were not brought before us, and the cry was circulated that our interests were sold to the United States. What is the result? The same crowd are telling us what a grand and prosperous country we have at present in spite of their forecasts and also we ought to leave well enough alone. When any government should adopt this doctrine it is certainly time for a change.

The Manufacturers' Associations's executive is objecting, is it on account of any injustice? They do not claim that. They object on general principles. Could we expect them to make any sacrifice for the benefit of the toiling masses? They would rather give the wealth secured by protection to foreign missions and donate it to colleges and institutions of like nature in order to gain fame. Are the toiling masses never called upon to make sacrifices for the manufacturers' interests? Who shouldered the burden of the last financial crisis for the large manufacturers in order to allow them to do as well then as in other years.

I have figured this change in the tariff on natural products in this way. While raising the price in some localities, it will equalize the general price and lower it in many others. In this way we shall be able to procure many lines of food stuffs at all seasons of the year at reasonable prices and not be at the mercy of the combines.

In regard to "Simple Simon" I had taken him at his own valuation. If he had given the same consideration to my nom de plume that was given to his, he and "Labour" would never have disagreed. "It is much easier," said Beaconsfield, "to be critical than correct." He should also remember that those that live in ice-houses should not throw hot water.

WORKINGMAN.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"THREE TWINS."

An entertainment of rare delight in every way with a clever plot, swinging music, bright lines and a company capable of getting the most out of the book and the music, "Three Twins" at the Grand last night was one of the most enjoyable presentations of the season and thoroughly pleased a large audience. Nothing funnier than the frequent cases of mistaken identity that arise throughout the action has been seen here in a long time and the humorous situations kept the audience in a perpetual gale of laughter. The plot is not startlingly original, but it is cleverly worked out and is responsible for an abnormally large amount of fun.

Scenically, and from a girl standpoint "Three Twins" leaves nothing to be desired. The chorus, pretty and handsomely gowned and still more important, can sing, while the principals from the remarkably clever Clifton Crawford down are artists. Mr. Crawford was a host in himself. His comedy methods were quiet and refined ,he sang nicely and to cap his other good work, his speciality "At a Reception," was as clever a piece of work as has ever been seen here. He gave further proof of his versatility by brilliantly reciting Rudyard Kipling's "Gunga Dhin" and in response to the enthusiastic applause added to his laurels by his magnificent rendition of Robert W. Service's appealing poem of the north land, "The Spell of the Yukon." Miss Mayme Gehrue Bessie McCoy's successor in the soubrette role, made a tremendous hit with the assistance of the famous Yama-Yama girls in "The Yama, Yama Man," and the number was called back so often that the girls were almost exhausted.

"Cuddle Up a Little Closer" with its tableaux illustrating the seven ages of cuddling was the song hit although "The Girl Up There" with Myrtle Tyson posing in the faceograph was warmly received. A pretty scene effect was the electric swing. Miss Daisy Leon sang charmingly and Jos. Allen gave a realistic portrayal of the part of a martyr to dyspepsia.

THE FATAL BANQUET

The food which the rodent is so eagerly devouring, is COMMON SENSE Rat Exterminator. This paste not only clears a building of rats and mice but by drying up the carcasses absolutely prevents the unpleasant results attending the use of inferior preparations. 15c, 25c, 50c and $1, at all dealers.

Free Booklet | 1. Common Sense Rat Killer. | 12. Bedbugs and Roaches. 10

Common Sense Mfg. Co. 141 Queen St. West, Toronto, Ont.

NONE TOO SLIGHT NONE TOO SEVERE

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure all Cases of Kidney Disease

Scores will tell you as Philip Vibert does, "I feel a lot better since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills"—The best spring medicine.

Moscou Light House, Gloucester Co., N. B., March 13—(Special.)—So many remarkable cures of serious diseases by Dodd's Kidney Pills are recorded in the newspapers that one sometimes wonders if they are equally good for those slight Kidney troubles, which take the joy of living out of the lives of so many plain, every day people. And investigation in this neighbourhood shows that no case of Kidney Disease is too slight or too severe for Dodd's Kidney Pills to cure. Take one example. Mr. Philip Vibert says:

"I am pleased to tell you I am feeling a lot better since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. I recommend them to all who suffer from Kidney Trouble."

Scores of others tell you the same thing. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a splendid tonic because they strain all impurities out of the blood and help circulation. For the same reason they are the very best spring medicine.

THE INDIAN AS A STUDENT

Average Attendance is Higher in Unorganized Northwest

In the report which has just been issued by the Department of Indian Affairs, the statistics of attendance at Indian schools show that enrolled Indian pupils in the Western provinces attend school more steadily than do enrolled Indian pupils in the Eastern provinces. Ontario has 2,965 pupils enrolled, British Columbia 1,985, and Manitoba, Northwest provinces, etc., have 4,149. Ontario, it will be noted, has an average attendance of enrolled Indian pupils of 53.57 per cent., while British Columbia has 68.37 per cent. But Saskatchewan maintains an average attendance of 80.81 per cent. of her enrolment of 1,251, and Manitoba's average is 59.41 per cent. of 1,759 enrolled pupils. The unorganized notchers in this respect, for with an enrolment of 162 Indian pupils in five schools—three of which are boarding schools—the average attendance is 86.42 per cent. Probably the boarding and industrial schools are responsible for the better average, for in Ontario there are nine of these schools and 78 day schools. Alberta maintains a high average attendance of 76.97 per cent., with 938 pupils enrolled. In New Brunswick there are nine day schools, and the average attendance of 222 Indian pupils was 60.81 per cent. Prince Edward Island has a solitary day school with 43 pupils enrolled, and average attendance was 18, or 42.86 per cent. The total enrolment in Indian schools for the year was 10,625, and the percentage of average attendance 62.36 per cent. for all Canada.

5,000 MILLION IS POST OFFICE RECORD

The Number of Postal Packets Dealt With in Great Britain Last Year—Interesting Figures

The report of the Postmaster-General of Great Britain for the year ending with March last has just been published. Over 5,000 millions of postal packets were dealt with during the year, including about 3,000 millions of letters, 974 millions of halfpenny packets, 366 millions of postcards nearly 200 millions of newspapers, and 118 millions of parcels. The number of letters per head of the population of the United Kingdom has increased since 1900 from 57 to 65. Undelivered packets were estimated at over 21 millions, and the amount of money found in addressed and unaddressed packets recorded in returned letter offices was nearly £650,000. Over 35 millions of old-age pension orders were paid, representing nearly £8,500,000. The number of telegrams passing over Post Office wires was nearly 87 millions.

THE BIGGEST FREEHOLD FARMERS IN THE WORLD

Our readers will be interested to learn that the Oxo Company are by far the biggest freehold farmers in the world whose lands are devoted to a preparation of concentrated foods. This concern has owned cattle farms since 1865, and its holding now amounts to over 4,500,000 acres situated in the River Plate and in South Africa. Recently they have carried out an enormous deal with the British South Africa Company by which they have acquired the freehold of 1,200,000 acres on the highlands of Rhodesia.

The breed of cattle they favour is the well known Hereford breed. They have on their farms splendid specimens of pedigree animals from His Majesty the Kings Farms at Windsor Castle, and many other well known British Breeders.

The amount of grass which the cattle consume in a year has been estimated by experts to exceed the enormous weight of three million tons, and the water drunk by the cattle is estimated at over nine million quarts per day.

The Oxo ranches are all situated in mild climates, the calves are born in the open air, and are practically never placed in sheds, and this renders them particularly healthy and disease

The amount of grass which the cattle disease, is practically unknown among the Oxo herds. The pastures are luxuriant and constant, and artificial feeding consequently is not called for.

This enormous cattle supply is the great secret of the success in the Oxo products. They are able to prepare their concentrated foods from exclusively high grade and home fed beef thus securing a richness otherwise unobtainable.

If you are interested in Oxo send a post card to the Company's Agents. Messrs. Corneille David & Co., Toronto, or Montreal, asking for a handsomely coloured Oxo Cattle Farm Card which your children can cut out and set up.

ONLY PELISSIER'S FUN

How He Teased a Pressman Who Called For a Picture

It is not an easy task to interview Mr. Pelissier, the chief of the "Follies." Here is an example of the manner in which he teases the harrassed Pressman. "I see, you want a picture of the house I was not born in and photographs of my aunts, and that sort of thing. I can read you an appreciation of myself by myself, if that will help you any. At an astonishingly early age I showed unmistakeable signs of humor and created shrieks of mirth among my brothers and sisters by tripping up old blind ladies in the street, kicking the crutches from the grasp of a passing cripple, and a thousand other innocent drolleries. At the age of nine a family council was held to see whether I should be educated or sent to Eton. After a time I went abroad, and on my return from the voyage I was cheered by an enormous crowd, with both of whom I gratefully shook hands." So he continues till the bewildered interviewer takes his leave, not knowing a bit more about Mr. Pelissier than when he came.

GERMANY MAKES A MONKEY OF THE TURK

FLYING FREAKS

Amazing Ideas for Aeroplanes Described by Fred T. Jane

It is perhaps a matter for congratulation that many of the aeroplanes invented evince a reluctance to leave Mother Earth for aerial regions; otherwise the list of aviation tragedies might be considerably augmented. For, judging by some of the freaks described by Mr. Fred T. Jane in "All the World's Airships," they certainly seem more fanciful than practical.

For instance, Rev. P. Cayley, who in 1900 designed an airship, taking his idea for the design from the first and tenth chapters of the Book of Ezekiel ,which describes how, in the middle of the whirlwind, there was the likeness of four living creatures with wings which "ran and returned as the appearance of a flash of lightning. . . And when they went I heard the noise of their wings like the noise of great waters. . . ."

As a specification, this did not probably satisfy the Patent Office in its original form; but the machine was built, and its successor, Ezekiel II., is now in course of construction.

Another freak described by Mr. Jane is the French flapper "Columb," which has lattice wings, with slats that open and close as the wings rock; but there is no record of its having flown. Germany has, among its freaks, the Geisler ornithoplane, which has flexible planes running over and under rollers to produce what is described as a "wave motion"; and this bears the footnote, "No record of any success." Another German machine, the Schulke flapper, has a cigar-shaped body, containing the "works," and paddles that feather on the upstroke, giving it the appearance of a dissipated moth.

There is the Hurlburt monoplane, for instance, for which it is claimed that the three supporting tubes close telescopically. The tail folds over on to the back of the machine. The wings are easily and quickly detached. The entire machine can be made to occupy less space than an automobile in less than five minutes' actual time, and is quickly remounted.

The United States has an Irvine helicopter, which looks like a miniature topsy-turvy railway; the Rickman machine, that has a tandem tricycle for its body, and something resembling a revolving parasol above; and the Twining flapper, with a bicycle frame and wings worked by "man power only." Another strange machine is the Lake "direct lift" aeroplane, with hollow, curved planes, against which "heated elastic fluid" is to be discharged to give lifting power.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. . . . 25 cents.

LASTING PHOTOS

An evidence of the superior quality of our work is the fadeless quality we produce. We would like to show you photographs that have been exposed to sunlight for long periods without the slightest effect.

The Londrum Studio
190 Charlotte Street

Grand Opera House
16 Thursday March 16
The Great American Drama
"The Man Of The Hour"
FELIX HANEY in
First time at these prices :— $1.00-75c-50c. Gallery 25c
Same special cast and produced on same scale of magnificence that marked its two year's run at the Savoy Theatre, New York

SPRING Shoes

This is a Patent Corona Colt, button with black cloth top. One of this season's smartest styles.

We are showing many exclusive novelties. Splendid workmanship, fine materials, perfect fit assured—always.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 GEORGE STREET

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL
Oak Hall Drug Store
Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

Burn "Oooo" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH DISCUSSES GARBAGE AND OTHER QUESTIONS

Medical Health Officer Presented Result of His Inquiries in Other Places in Regard to the Disposal of Garbage---Charges at the Isolation Hospital.

The Board of Health met this morning, with the following members present: Dr. McNulty, chairman; Dr. McPherson, Robert Neill, Dr. Young and Mayor Morrow.

A great deal of discussion took place over the Isolation Hospital and the rules for the admittance of its patients.

Dr. McNulty thought that some regulation should be made regarding the admittance of charity patients. "If they cannot pay, they cannot pay," said the Doctor. They should get an order from the Medical Health Officer to the effect that they are unable to pay.

Dr. McPherson did not see how he was going to be able to tell whether they could pay or not. The Isolation Hospital is for rich and poor alike, but patients cannot be compelled to go there, unless they are a menace to the public.

Dr. McPherson thought that if the patients were a menace or a danger to the community, the community has a right to help to support them, as the patient should be removed irrespective of this financial position.

Mr. Neill was of the opinion that it should be the duty of all Doctors to send all their patients up to that hospital, but Dr. McPherson thought that if a family was in a financial position to keep the patient at home and under perfect sanitary conditions, and able to give them the necessary care and attendance, that they should not have to go up there.

At this stage the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, and a number of minor accounts were read and moved to be paid.

Dr. McPherson was authorized at the last meeting to communicate with St. Catharines and some other places regarding the garbage and milk question. He read his report as follows:

To the Chairman and members of the Board of Health.

Gentlemen,—At the last meeting of the Board of Health you requested me to report on the Garbage and Milk questions with a view of making a recommendation to the Council.

With regard to the former I may say I wrote to several cities and received a copy of a By-law from Guelph, St. Catharines and Brantford. These are presented with my report. The main points are these: A portion of the city should be marked off in which the garbage should be collected; an estimate of the number of premises should be made, and these classified into private houses, stores, fruit stores, hotels, etc.; the amount of money required to finance the undertaking should then be estimated, and the levy made in proportion to the benefit derived, i.e., the amount will vary according to the classes formed. This amount will be collected with the taxes in the usual way. Further details can be worked out by the committee appointed for this purpose.

The supply of pure milk of a proper quality is of much graver importance to the health of the citizens than the removal of garbage. To obtain this it requires the rousing of the people to see the danger of contaminated milk, to recognize the ease with which infectious diseases may be spread and to realize the danger that results from milk canning, from unhealthy cows, or from milk that has not been properly cared for from the time it is taken from the cans until it is delivered to the consumer. The customers, the retailers and the supply men must be educated. I would suggest that a by-law be recommended along the lines adopted in other cities like Ottawa, Brantford, Guelph and many others. All the dairymen and vendors should be compelled to take out a license. Before the license is granted conditions should be subscribed to by them. These conditions should refer to the cleanliness of the cans, premises, milkers, utensils, etc., the reporting of all infections among the cattle or persons living on the premises, and to the inspecting of the premises by the local health authorities.

I have brought with me a report of the Milk Commission, and shall read to you the recommendations of this body.

Respectfully yours,
A. W. McPHERSON.
Medical Health Officer.

A number of by-laws of other cities were also read, and it was moved that these be referred to the Chairman, the Medical Health Officer and the City Solicitor, and that they send a recommendation to the Council.—Carried.

Dr. McPherson also read the rules and regulations of other cities regarding the milk question, and compared them to those in Peterborough. The Mayor said that the difficulty here was that the milk vendors got their milk from other people in the country, and that it was difficult to inspect the places in the country. He, however, thought that as the matter was under the inspection of the Police Department for the present year, that they could send an officer out to these places, or take whatever proceedings they thought fit.

A special meeting of the Board will be called shortly, to consider the different reports on these matters that have been received.

Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir

Those who had the pleasure of hearing the Welsh Ladies' choir on their visit to Peterborough, will not be surprised that they are having a most successful tour, managed by a lady well known in Peterborough, Miss Maude C. Bradley, who has booked this season seventy concerts including the one in Massey Hall on March 18th. Concerning Miss Bradley as a concert directoress, Musical Canada says:

"Miss Maude C. Bradley, the well known concert directress of Brockville, is managing the Canadian tour of the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir, and is meeting with much success in booking the choir for forthcoming appearances. Miss Bradley has done a lot of advance work for old country attractions, as well as Canadian and American artists of repute. Miss Bradley is first and last a business woman and seems to think of nothing but making a success of whatever talent she has charge of. The Welsh Choir are to be congratulated upon having placed their second Canadian venture in the hands of so capable a tour dictress."

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary was held last night at the rectory. After opening exercises, reports were read and general business transacted. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. E. A. Langfeldt.
Pres.—Mrs. Wm. Lang.
1st Vice Pres.—Miss L. Stewart.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Miss Clara Mitchell.
Corres.-Sec.—Miss May Moore.
Record.-Sec.—Miss Isabel Hay.
Treasurer—Miss Lucy Baxter.
Dorcas Sec.—Miss Pearl Mitchell.
P.M.C. Convener—Mrs. Beauclerc.
Organist—Miss N. Rogers.
Delegates to Annual — Mrs. Wm. Lang, Miss Pearl Mitchell.
Substitutes — Miss Maud Stewart, Miss Elsie Dawson.
Executive—Miss Elsie Dawson, Miss Ethel Clarke.

After the meeting refreshments were served.

A FINE CHURCH

It is understood that it is the intention of the Building Committee of the Baptist Church to proceed during the coming summer with the erection of the new church and Sunday school on Murray street. The estimated cost of the structures is $50,000. The structures will be built of stone, and it is said that they will be among the finest in the city, and that the buildings will be of the most modern and approved architecture.

POST CARD COLUMN

Editor Post Card Column.

Dear Sir,—I beg to differ from "Layman" in reference to the service in George Street church on Sunday morning. I regarded his statements as misleading and false. Let me take one case out of many. He said God did not appear to Adam in the Garden of Eden, and thus pronounced the Scripture to be false. In proof of his statement he quoted John 1-18, where Christ said: "No man hath seen God at any time." Now, let any man read the whole verse, and he will see that Christ was speaking of His superior knowledge of God to the disciples. See commentaries — Barnes, Burgess, Laing, Benson, Matthew Henry, Dr. Clarke. These were men of learning, men who had searched the Scriptures—men of God. They will tell you that it had reference to man's limited vision compared to Christ's.

A man might live in Canada fifty or one hundred years, and yet not see Canada, or a quarter of it. So, in relation to our seeing God. It was a song of the higher critics from beginning to end, and those who believe in such teaching had a feast I suppose, but to us who regard it as false doctrine it was not bread, but a stone. "Layman" need not fear of the church being crowded should it be repeated, for quite a few I know will give up their pews and go elsewhere for their intellectual and spiritual entertainment.

"One Who Was There."

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I noticed in the post card column of last evening's Examiner a letter signed Layman, in which he stated that the congregation of the George street Methodist church were spellbound and delighted with the discourse delivered by the Rev. Mr. Couch on Sunday morning last. I think it is hardly fair for the writer to speak for the whole congregation. It may have suited him, but not all. Mr. Couch is a true type of Rev. Geo. Jackson, of Toronto. Those who believe in Mr. Jackson's teaching will no doubt appreciate Mr. Couch's preaching, but I rather think that class will be in the minority. I may say that it is not hard to recognize the writer of the letter referred to.

Yours truly,
A Believer in the Good Old Bible.

March 14th, 1911.

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I notice there is little or no attention paid to our street crossings. A few hours for one man with a broad hoe would make a wonderful change. Why don't the men responsible see to these little things which help to make a city what it ought to be.

Your for better thoroughfared,
JAS. R. BELL.

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I live on George street and am prety well used to the street cars running by my house, but there is one car that I think should be put on the pension list, or on one of the new lines that will be built as soon as the frost is out of the ground, or possibly a siding might be built so that it could rest (and some one else as well) but if it cannot be spared from the George street line, I would suggest that no dividends be paid to the stock holders this year, and that a new set of wheels be bought with the money or in some other way we on George street be relieved from what appears to me to be a public nuisance. Thanking you for this space, I remain,

Yours truly,
A SUFFERER.

Grows Hair Abundantly

This is an age of new discoveries. To grow hair after it has fallen out to-day is a reality.

SALVIA, the Great Hair Tonic and Dressing, will positively create a new growth of hair.

If you want to have a beautiful head of hair, free from Dandruff, use SALVIA once a day and watch the results.

SALVIA is guaranteed to stop falling hair and restore the hair to its natural colour. The greatest Hair Vigor known, at McDermid and Jury's.

SPRING GOODS

We are glad to announce that all our Spring goods in
READY-TO-WEARS
for Ladies and Gentlemen are ready for your inspection, and we will be delighted to show our lines.

High grade Men's Suits, Spring Coats, Ladies' Suits, Skirts, Separate Coats, Dresses, Blouses, etc.

We assure all our customers that we will give them most up-to-date styles and good values, better than ever.

See our Big Leader in LADIES' SUITS for $11.00. Best ever offered in City

HOUSE FURNISHINGS all complete for Spring now—Oilcloths, Linoleums, Lace Curtains, Tapestry Curtains, Carpets, Rugs of various sorts and sizes.

For Cash or Credit at

Knickerbocker Co
CREDIT CLOTHIERS
TELEPHONE 711 422 GEORGE STREET

IS RETURNING

Mr. Harry Long will return to his farm, about 100 miles east of Edmonton, leaving Peterborough on Monday next. Mr. Long has many friends in Peterborough, who will regret his departure even though it be only during the summer season. His familiar face in the old confectionary stand, is missed, and there are many regrets on his own account that he disposed of his business. It is hoped that he may yet return to Peterborough to reside permanently.

GRAND ST. PATRICK'S DAY CONCERT—Opera House

—Friday, March 17th under the auspices of St. Peter's T. A. S. The programme is under the direction of the Sisters of Mount St. Joseph and will be an excellent one. 1d

SPRING SHOWING OF
WALL PAPERS
in Prodigious Quantities
AT ROUTLEY'S

Never before in the history of the C. B. Routley establishment has there been so much wall paper put into stock. We have wall paper from the lowest to the highest grade produced.

We can give you enough ground paper to do any ordinary bed room From 3c to 85c Per Roll. HALL PAPER per roll from 4c to $1.00. DRAWING ROOM PAPERS from 10c to $3.00.

We have also Japanese Leathers, Grass Cloths, German Silk Flocks, Oatmeals, Burlaps, &c.

Room moulding is a line we give our attention to. Last year's mouldings and wall papers we are clearing at half price, not but that they are just as nice as this year's but we make it a rule not to show the same paper two seasons if price inducement will clear them out.

We can let you have paint to match any wall paper, paint that will dry hard and wear well, in short it is the best mixed paint in the market. We guarantee every can of it. For a few days we will sell it at PER QUART 49c.

Do not forget that we are the largest wall paper dealers in Canada. Our people here imagine because we live in Peterboro that the above assertion is not possible, yet it is acknowledged in large centres.

Come and try us and test our ability to serve you.

Toronto 262-4 Queen W. ROUTLEY'S Peterborough 379 George St.

Wednesday Mid-Week Bargains
For March 15th

CORSETS $1.50
The famous Kabo make. This corset is a beauty, long straight lines, up to date, stylish and comfortable, suits the average figure, made of batiste, lace trimmed, 13 inch front clasp, two pair of hose supporters; sizes 18 to 28. Wednesday only pair $1.50

BELTS
Heavy quality black elastic belts, finished with pretty black buckles; all sizes. Wednesday only, each, 25c and 50c

CHILDREN'S HANDKERCHIEFS
Lawn Handkerchiefs, with fancy open work border. Wednesday only 10 for 25c

MEN'S HANDKERCHIEFS
Made from a fine quality of cambric with ¼ inch hem. Wednesday only 3 for 20c

LACES
Splendid assortment of very fine quality Valenciennes and Torchon Laces and insertions, in a variety of pretty patterns and different widths. Regular up to 12½ yd. Wednesday, only, yd 4c

KID GLOVES
Perrin's guaranteed kid gloves in all the new spring shades, assorted tans, assorted greys, black and white, wrist length, with two domes. Wednesday only, pair $1.00

SILK HOSIERY
Very fine quality Pure Silk Hose in delicate shades of Pink, Sky, White and Black, with double top. All sizes. Wednesday only, pair $1.00

COTTON HOSE
The specialty of the "New Sanitary Black" cotton hose, is perfectly fast in color and clean in wear, being absolutely free from all loose dye. All sizes, 8½, 9, 9½, 10. Wednesday only, pair 25c

LINEN TOWELS
10 dozen only linen towels, neat damask patterns, grass bleached, hemmed; size 18 inches by 36 inches. Wednesday only each 11c

SCOTCH CHAMBRAYS AND GINGHAMS
A splendid assortment of this season's ginghams and chambrays including stripes, checks and plain colors—an excellent washing cloth. Wednesday only yard 15c

GLASS TOWELLING
Checked glass Towelling, close even weave, good drying quality, red and blue check, 17 inches wide. Wednesday only yard 7c

WHITE MUSLINS
Nice sheer quality of white muslin, suitable for ladies' or children's wear, in checks and cross bars; will wear well. Wednesday only, yard 15c

BLACK SILK WAISTS
Made of good quality China Silk, in tailored style, tucked out to shoulder and tucked back. Wednesday only each $2.50

SHORT KIMONAS
Made of Serpentine Crepe, trimmed with wide satin border, V-shaped neck with ribbon bow, butterfly sleeves, colors of helio, red, sky and rose, in floral designs. Wednesday only each $2.25

White Silk Waists
Made of good quality China Silk, yoke formed of Valenciennes lace insertion and cluster tucks down front and back, lace collar and cuffs. Wednesday only each $2.29

BLACK MOREEN PETTICOATS
Made with deep accordian pleating and tucked flounce. Wednesday only each $3.00

BLACK AND NAVY BLUE BOATING SERGE
Just arrived from Britain, the popular cloth for girls' dresses. All pure wool, equal to any 50c fabric. Wednesday only yard 39c

BLACK PAILLETTE-DE-CHENE
All pure silk, for a rich waist or dress, will not cut. Worth 75c yard. Wednesday only, yard 50c

STRIPE VOILE
With rich silk stripe, in colors of cream, pale green, tan, biscuit and pale blue, only a few dresses left. Worth $1 yard; 40 inches wide. Wednesday only yard 79c

DOOR PANELS
Lace door panels with medallion centres, size 27 inches by 36 inches. Wednesday only each 19c

WINDOW SHADES
Opaque window shades, mounted on Hartshorn Rollers and trimmed with pretty insertion, in white only, size 37 inches by 72 inches. Wednesday only each 75c

WOOL RUGS
Heavy all wool Rugs with plain centres and fancy borders; one of the best wearing qualities made. Wednesday only size:
2½ x 3 yards $10.50
3 x 4 yards 16.50
3 x 3½ yards 14.50

TAPESTRY RUGS
2 only odd Tapestry Rugs. Size 12 feet x 12 feet. Wednesday Bargain, each $9.88

BRUSSELS RUGS
3 only made Brussels Rugs. Wednesday only, size:
10 feet 6 in. x 13 feet 6 in. $27.00
11 ft. 6 in. x 11 ft. 25.00
8 ft. 4 in. x 8 ft. 3 in. 14.00

LAINETTE DRAPERY
Fancy Lainette Drapery Casement for bed rooms and sitting room window draperies, 36 inches wide. Wednesday only, yard 8c

SILK 47c
Stripes and Checks
All new goods and our own importing in the new much wanted colors of black and white, navy and white, brown and white, for a new dress or waist. Wednesday only, yard 47c

See the King Edward Vacuum Cleaner Demonstration 2nd floor

RICHARD HALL & SON
GEORGE STREET

March Sale of New Dress Goods is Now at its Height

278th Bargain Annex Event — Wednesday, March 15th, 1911

Bargain Annex
Registered

FOUR OF THE LEADING ITEMS FROM The BIG ANNEX DODGER

English Moreen Underskirts

FOR A BIG WEDNESDAY ANNEX LEADER ONLY 79c EACH

One of those Sensational Underskirt Leaders for Wednesday—19 dozen English Moreen Skirts just passed into stock, in shades of brown, green, grey and navy, also black, extra well made, with 15 inch flounce, lengths, 38 to 42. A skirt you could not buy the material for at anywhere near the price, without even considering the making. This means a rush in the Annex Wednesday (see window) at the price. Can't promise to fill mail or phone orders .. 79c

NEW 15c and 12½c WHITE SWISS DRESS MUSLINS 9½c

About 350 yards of new White Swiss Dress Muslins, imported direct; for a special Annex leader; patterns are single and double stripes and plain and fancy plaid cross bars, very dainty material for warm weather white gowns, regular 15c and 12½c values. A big leader for Wednesday at per yd. See window 9½C

GIRL'S WRAPPERETTES DRESSES to CLEAR only 49c

47 only, Girl's Navy Blue Wrapperette Dresses in polka dot patterns and trimmed with white and colored finished braids, sizes for girls from 8 to 12 years of age, a dress easily worth $1.00, to be cleared quickly in the Annex Wednesday at 49c

White Curtain Muslins at Two O'clock at 3½c

A startling two o'clock leader for Wednesday. Over 300 yards of fancy White Curtain Muslins, mostly stripe patterns, for hall or bedroom curtains or door panels. On sale sharp at two o'clock in the Annex Wednesday at, per yard.. 3½C (Positively not more than 10 yards to any one customer.

No C. O. D. or Mail Orders filled.)

Watch for the Spring Millinery Opening announcement this week.
Millinery Parlor Second Floor

Department Stores Cressman's

New Wall Papers are now ready for your inspection
Third Floor

ST. JOHN'S A. Y. P. A. HELD A MOST INTERESTING DEBATE

Discussed the Subject "Resolved that the Sword Has Done More for the Cause of Civilization Than the Missionary."

SOME SPLENDID SPEECHES

The St. John's Young People's Association met last night and participated in an interesting and enjoyable debate. The subject of the discussion was, "Resolved, that the sword has done more for the cause of liberty than the missionary." The debate was most ably led by Mr. W. H. Cluxton, who pointed out that the sword was the great protector of peoples, and without it there could not be the great periods of peace which were requisite for the development of civilization. In support of his contention he referred to the history of the Greeks and Romans and then passed on to a historical survey of modern times.

He was ably supported by Mr. Wm. Miles, who proved that the sword alone was able to put down troubles quickly and without authority.

The opposition was led by Mr. W. G. Common, who gave an interesting paper in defence of the Missionary. The early Christians, when scattered over the world, gave enrichment to the then existing conditions of life, and had done more by moral suasion than force could effect. In the present time the struggle for larger armaments was a curse and more in keeping with savage methods. Modern civilization was almost entirely due to the effect of Christian teaching and was doing much for the furtherance of civilization.

Mr. G. H. Hamon ably seconded the opposition, and contended that armies and navies hindered the work of the missionary as being directly opposed to the gospel of peace. Edward the Peacemaker, accomplished more by his tact than did his armies, and the modern peace conferences and missionary agencies were exercising a beneficent influence upon the world.

A good discussion followed, after which Mr. Cluxton summed up the arguments and made his final appeal carrying with him the majority of those present.

All present voted the evening a great success, and it was decided to have another debate in the near future.

THE BOW-WOW MINSTRELS COMING TO THE GRAND

The Bow-Wow Minstrels coming to the Grand Opera House for two performances on Saturday, March 18th, at popular prices, is one of the finest organizations of its kind seen here for many a day. The company consists of about forty in number, comprising many well-known singers and comedians, with a female impersonator that is yet to be equalled.

The curtain goes up on an old-time minstrel first part, commencing with their opening overture and a selection by the six end men on their tambos and bones. Immediately following this is a rapid fire of jokes that would make a sphinx laugh each and every endman being a whole show in himself. Then come the comic songs, funny imitations and harmonized choruses. Ballads and old-time lullabys are then rendered by the soloists with plantation songs by the quartette. The Bow-Wow belle is then introduced, who sings "How Would You Like to Spoon with Me," in her own inimitable style. Several new and original features are now offered which it would be unfair to give away by describing them. More jokes follow with songs, and dancing and then the closing ensemble, showing the old-time barn dance by the six endmen, bringing a pleasing 75-minutes to a close.

The olio is equally as good as the first part containing such artists as R. C. Lukey, the novelty Whistler; G. B. Hunt, in selections comique—a treat surely; W. J. Charlebois, the well-known habitant impersonator; the two Kellys will give a double ventriloquial act that will please both young and old alike. Bill Bailey will give one of his original monologues and pianologues and R. J. Ormerod, the eccentric fiddler.

Matt. Greig, the celebrated English entertainer, having just finished his tour of the States, will present an act that is a rare treat.

Scully, Rolls and Wood will offer a scene down on the Ohio, "Plantation Pastimes," featuring buck and wing dancing, soft shoe dancing and banjo playing.

Just Arrived

Full Stock of the Famous

Buckley Stiff Hats

(All Hats Guaranteed)

Still some nice Fur Setts & Jackets to be cleared out

W. E. LECH

Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

Grand Opera House, Thursday, March 16

Wm. A. Brady's Production—America's Greatest Play

"The Man Of The Hour"

By George Broadhurst with Felix Haney as Alderman Phelan. Now in its fourth year of phenomenal success. Given here with a special cast, and produced on the same scale of magnificence that marked its two year's run at the Savoy, New York City. Prices, 25c to $1.00; Box Seats $1.50. Seats Tuesday

Grand Opera House, Saturday, Mar. 18 Matinee & Night,

"The Bow-Wow Minstrels"

20—Company—40. First part 75 minutes. Melange of Mirth, Melody and Music, introducing many new and original features. 6 End Men—10 Soloists. Female Impersonator. OLIO—Lukey, Novelty Whistler; Bill Bailey, Pianologist; The Kellys Ventriloquists; Ormerod, One String Fiddler; Charlebois, Habitant Impersonator; G B Hunt, Comicalities; Matt Greig, English Entertainer; Scully, Rolls & Woods, Singers, Dancers and Banjoists. Popular Prices—Evenings, any seat 50c, Gallery 25c. Matinee, any seat 25c, Children 15c. Seats on sale Thursday

DUTTON & COMPANY

Hot House Tomatoes Sweet Potatoes

Challenge Tea per pound 25c

Bananas Pea Nut Butter (Bulk)

FRED. WALKER, MANAGER

How The "Little" Champs Lost To The All Stars From Kingston Viewpoint

The Kingston Frontenacs know considerable about hockey, but they have failed to learn one important thing and that is the faculty of taking a defeat manfully and gracefully. They were beaten in Toronto Saturday night by a picked seven by 5 to 4, a most creditable showing against a hand-picked seven, but the Kingston papers contain nothing but a column or two of excuses, blaming the rink, the soft ice, the referee, bad luck, poor lighting and everything else but the merit of the opposing team, for their defeat. Listen to this wail from the Kingston Whig:

Out-fluked, but by no means outplayed, on a miserably lighted rink that was positively a joke, on an ice surface that was as suitable for hockey as a bath tub of dirty water, hemmed in a "a box-stall style," without a chance in the world of working in their great stick-handling and combination work, and in a game that might better have been termed "water polo," before a crowd of "bleacher seat rooters" of the meanest and most rabid description, the gallant little Frontenacs met defeat by the narrow margin of 5 goals to 4, at the hands of an all-star aggregation, picked from the best teams in Toronto and the west, as well as Oshawa and Orillia.

Ottawa Beat Galt In Season's Poorest Game

OTTAWA, MARCH 13.—The Ottawa team easily disposed of Galt, champions of the Ontario Professional League, in the Stanley Cup match at the Arena to-night. At the finish the score was 7 to 4 for Ottawa. Notching two goals while Galt had a man on the fence in the first period Ottawa held the visitors without a tally and opened the second session by making it four to nothing. Berlanquette bagged two for Galt, one while Darragh was off and another while Walsh was with the timers.

Ottawa led by four to two when the last period began. Walsh made it 5-2 on Darragh's pass, and Doherty in ten seconds slammed one in for Galt. Ridpath dodged from end to end and made it six to three and from beginning to end, the Galt team adding a little spice by their roughness. They checked like "bush-whackers" and earned no fewer than 27 minutes in penalties.

It was impossible to play good hockey, and occasionally the Ottawa forwards shinned the puck from one to another. Less than 2,500 attended the game, and after the Galt team and the rink company have shared in the profits there will be very little left to split among the Ottawa players. Darragh received a poke in the left eye from Baird early in the game and played for the balance of the match with the optic completely closed. Bowie and Duncan Campbell officiated, and their rulings found much disfavour with the Galt supporters, about 50 of whom were present. Hague and Berlanquette were the best of the visitors. The teams:

Ottawa—Lesueur, goal; Lake, point; Shore, cover; Darragh, rover; Walsh, centre; Ridpath, right wing; Kerr, left wing.

Galt—Hague, goal; Baird, point; Murphy, cover; Mallen, rover; Smith centre; Berlanquette, right wing; Doherty, left wing.

Referee—Russell Bowie. Judge of play, Duncan Campbell.

Kerr was responsible for the tenth, the eleventh going to Smith, the Galt captain, on a luck shot. Toward the finish the crowd shouted for Ottawa to double the score, but Hague's good work and the indifferent shooting of the home team prevented further tallying.

It was the poorest exhibition of the season and the crowd was small. The ice was covered with water in some places, and the conditions were adverse to the style of Ottawa play. It is doubtful if Galt will ever again try for the cup, for they at times seemed in their element, whereas the fast Ottawa team was never able to loosen up. The Ottawa players seemed content with their safe lead, and only at intervals did they extend themselves. It was slap-dash hockey

ONTARIO BANK LOTS

On George St. South, opposite King Edward Park, 30x100 ft. to lane. From now until April 1st, I will sell the remaining 4 Lots at a discount, $50 down, then $5.00 per month. Interest 5%. First come, first served.

Lots on Cambridge St $8.00 per foot.

THE DUMBLE HOMESTEAD

Parties desiring to purchase Building Lots on this fine property may see the plan and learn the particulars at my office.

D. W. DUMBLE

m-2awts37

SHE IS YOUNG AT FIFTY

This is said of the woman whose blood is rich and red and whose complexion has the natural healthful glow. You can restore the healthful colour of the skin by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, because it actually forms new, red blood. The form is rounded out by firm, healthy flesh, serious and torturing kidney and bladder trouble by the use of this great medicine.

Closing Address

Given By Rev. Canon Davidson in Toronto Mission

The Toronto News says:

The closing service at St. Cyprian's in connection with the Anglican Mission was a stirring one and warm enthusiasm was manifested throughout by a congregation which packed both ground floor and galleries. Stirring hymns and interjected extempore prayers were caught up by the congregation and joined in with fervour. A splendid choir and orchestra led the singing, but were drowned in the volume of sound and the missioner had sometimes to call for soft repetitions of the choruses. Canon Davidson's subject was "Enthusiastic Devotion," as typified by the breaking of the precious box of ointment by Mary, whose heart had been developed by previous personal contact with the Christ. We have been concentrating education in this country on our heads while the heart was left not only to be undeveloped but to be dwarfed and shrivelled up by the restrictions of society conventionality.

"If some people could get a look inside they would discover hearts reduced to the size of peanuts," said the missioner, amidst smiles. "Wasn't it time to give the heart a chance and to cultivate heart-power, which could carry everything and everybody before it as well as enriching and illuminating life? Mary achieved her triumph by giving her love free and splendid expression, bursting conventionalities like she broke her precious box, the glad sacrifice of a glowing heart."

At the end of the service the choir sang softly "God be With You," and while part of the congregation surrounded the missioner others joined in an enthusiastic workers' meeting. It was altogether a great demonstration. Rev. C. A. Seager announced that he wasn't going to let this magnificent movement drop, but backed by an aroused people he would carry it forward and bring it to bear on the whole district.

The Schools Will Reopen

The Central School will be re-opened to-morrow. It has undergone a thorough fumigation, and is now considered by the Board of Health to be free from all danger. The majority of the scarlet fever cases at present in the city are chiefly confined to infants and adults. There are very few cases where Public School children have been affected.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs ... 25 cents

SAD DEATH

KINGSTON, MARCH 14. — Mrs Frederick Ransom, a daughter of Venerable Archdeacon McMorine died this morning in child birth. Her husband is a mining engineer and she intended going to him in May with her four children.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontark Coal Co., Limited

BIRTH

ADAMSON—In Peterborough, March 9, 1911, the wife of Mr. Price Adamson, 202 King street, of a daughter.

"THREE SWALLOWS"

Sir John Power and Son's "Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey—

Famous for over a century.

Of highest standard of purity.

Distillers to His Majesty the King.

FUNERAL NOTICES

The funeral of the late Mrs. Zimmerman was held yesterday afternoon from the residence of her mother Mrs. B. McCannon, 480 Donegal St to the Little Lake cemetery and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Keith conducted the services. Mr. Zimmerman's father and mother of Hamilton also attended the funeral.

The funeral of the late John Stothart, a life long and highly respected resident of Smith, will take place to morrow afternoon. Service will be held at the house at 1 o'clock. Funeral will leave at 1:30 and proceed to Little Lake cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. G. N. Graham, which took place this afternoon, at 3 o'clock, was largely attended, there being a large number of friends from outside points. Deceased was widely known in the city and vicinity, where she had lived for a number of years. Her kindly disposition won for her the respect and esteem of a wide circle of friends.

New Building for Queen's.

Kingston, March 14.—Work on the Nicol metallurgy building will be commenced at once. Contracts have been let to the extent of $ 7,000. When the building is completed and equipped it will have cost $55,000. Queen's graduates sub-cribed $10,000 to add to Prof. Nicol's gift of $40,000.

The First Deserter.

Montreal, March 14.—Chief Campeau was advised by wire that Ernest Joseph Grise, a volunteer on board s Niobe, of the Canadian navy, deserted the ship March 3.

Sunday night detectives arrested Grise in a hotel, pending orders from the naval authorities.

This Sale Helps You to Cut Down the High Cost of Living

It is a simple matter of dollars and cents to you, this clothes question. What you want is the Best Clothes for the Least Money. By all means, don't fail to attend this sale, the greatest ever held in Peterboro. The values are big enough to make them go fast, so step lively if you want to save money. At the extremely low prices that we quote below the good things won't last long. Don't Delay. Be among the first to come.

$10.00 to $13.00 Young Men's Serge Suits	$6.90
$7.50 " $9.00 " " Tweed "	5.90
$6.00 " $14.00 " " Worsted "	7.90
$6.00 Men's All Wool Tweed Suits	3.60
Special for Men wearing sizes 36 & 35 $17.00 to $13.00
Fancy Worsted Suits	7 90

H. LeBRUN & CO.

George and Hunter Sts. : Peterborough

This Sale is to Convert the Stock into Cash so the Estate of the late Mr. LeBrun can be Settled Up

High Grade Sewing Machines

The quality of the White and Raymond Sewing Machines is measured by the Satisfaction they give those who use them.

WHITE / RAYMOND — The Two Standard Machines for the Home

SOLD ON EASY TERMS

Peterborough Music Co.

404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

Chase's Pills Regular 25 for 15	SHILOH'S Cough Cure Regular 25 for 20	Peruna Regular $1.00 for 85c	Pinkham's Comp. Regular $1 for 85	Carter's Pills Regular 25 for 15
Electric Oil Regular 25c for 15c	Your Money Back If not satisfied with any of the Rexall Prescriptions: Wine of Cod Liver Oil, Face Cream, Liver Pills, Kidney Pills, etc.	Eastman's Kodaks and a full line of Supplies always on hand. Sole Agents for Huyler's Chocolates		Pink Pills Regular 50 for 30c
Dodd's Pills Regular 50 for 38c				Chase's Syrup Regular 25 for 15c

CHEMIST E. L. PAYNE DRUGGIST
(ORMOND & WALSH OLD STAND)

Cookson's Antimony

Immediate Delivery

The CANADA METAL CO., Limited

31 William St. - - Toronto, Ont.

PROBS—Moderate variable winds, fine with much the same temperature. Wednesday—Southerly and south-westerly winds, fair and mild.

ROBERT FAIR & CO., LIMITED

Wonderful Spring News

More Suits More Dress Goods
More Wash Goods More Coats
More Silks More Neckwear
More Blouses More Trimmings
More Linens

We make a specialty of Fashionable Styles in

TAILOR-MADE SUITS

We display in profusion a wonderful stock of Suits, perhaps the most remarkable ever assembled on the cloak floor at moderate prices; the scale of prices being from $10.00 up to $40.00. The materials in suits are serges, mixtures, men's wear worsteds in checks and stripes and bird's eye effects, while the colors are navy, kings blue, slate, pearl, grey, black and brown.

The spring season will see the

SEPARATE COATS

Wonderfully Popular

Tight or semi-fitting models that are wonderfully pretty, made so by the neatness in designing and rich shades and patterns. Serges in plain shades, rough face fabrics in mixtures, some with collars and cuffs, contrast shades and patterns lending to their beauty.

DRESSES

See What Pretty Styles

The prices are reasonable and the materials are the very newest in colors and designs. Come and see them; take the elevator to the second floor.

WAISTS

Very special value in beautifully designed high class New Spring Blouses for dressy wear. You will realize how great the values are when you inspect the Waist.

SKIRTS

Our Skirts are all fashioned on this season's smartest lines, made from the newest materials and beautifully tailored, the fitting qualities are all that can be desired.

There's something superior and distinctively different about garments bought at this store

Robt. Fair & Co.

383 George Street :: :: Limited

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads Look at page 2 and read.

Plan Opens To-morrow.

The plan for the St. Patrick's Day concert will open to-morrow morning.

For Sale.

Nearly new Piano and Sewing Machine for sale; apply quickly, to 544 George street.

Piano Bargain.

$35.00 cash buys a square Piano, in good condition, needs tuning Apply H. Ed. Browne, Examiner office.

Probabilities.

Southerly and south-westerly winds, fine and mild, local showers to-night. Wednesday, north-westerly winds and turning colder.

Sugar! Sugar!

Received two carloads of sugar. While I am unloading will sell cheaper. Come at once and save money. JAMES R. BELL, Hunter street, east and west.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. Osway Carver and family wish to express their thanks for the tributes and sympathy and kindness from their many friends in their sad bereavement.

Important to the Ladies of Peterborough.

—We are glad to announce that we are opening a nice line of millinery this season; very latest and up-to-date styles—shapes, trimmed and untrimmed. Come now and inspect our line. You are quite welcome whether you buy or not.—Knickerbocker Co., 422 George St.; 'Phone 711.

At S. A. Oke's, successor to H. P. Kennedy.

FISH—Fresh fish, Halibut, Salmon, Sea Herrings, Seal Shipt Oysters. VEGETABLES — Carrots, parsnips, beets, cabbage, celery, fresh lettuce parsley and green onions daily; guaranteed new laid eggs. Meats, Prime beef, lamb and pork, always in stock —S. A. OKE, 340 George street. 'Phon e275.

Fruit Bargains.

—Seedless Oranges—50c line, 40c.. 40c. line, 30c.; 30c. line, 25c.; 25c line 20c.; 20c. line, 15c. per dozen. If you are thinking of making Marmalade now is a good time to buy. Fish of all kinds and vegetables always in stock.—J. Longo, 206 Charlotte street, next My Valet.

The Season for Grape Fruit.

A delicious fruit for breakfast and luncheons—of great medicinal value, and thanks to modern methods of production, is now as cheap as oranges. Directions for serving: Cut the fruit in two crossways, remove seeds and centre pith ;add sugar and eat with spoon. A cherry and a few drops of sherry might be added if desired Walter J. Oke, both phones 18.

Vacuum Cleaning.

A pure, dustless atmosphere cannot be obtained except by Vacuum cleaning. Vacuum cleaning has been perfected to the point where every home can enjoy its benefits for less than the cost of cleaning with broom or beating. Our powerful machines do the work quickly and well. Ask us to explain the system. The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Company, 395 Water St. (near cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

SPRING MILLINERY OPENING

NEW YORK and PARISIAN MILLINERY

March 17th and 18th

MISS ALLAN

372 George Street Telephone 35

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. T. R. Darcey of Lakefield, is at the Munro House.

Mr. J. Clark, of Toronto, is staying at the Munro House.

Mr. W. Scollard of Young's Point, is a visitor in the city.

Mr. J. Friedenburg of Toronto, is a guest at the White House.

Miss M. C. Robertson of Toronto, is a guest at the Munro House.

Mr. Wm. Buchanan of Goderich, is a guest at the Snowden House.

Mr. G. B. Gainsworth of Lakefield is registered at the Munro House.

Mr. and Mrs. Quinn and family of this city, left to-day for Vancouver, B.C.

Mrs. W. H. Denham will receive to-morrow afternoon (Wednesday) and not again this season.

Mr. Wilbert Spencely, 317 Smith street, who has spent the winter in Winnipeg, returned home to-day.

Miss Alberta Gooding is visiting with her school friend, Miss Ione Heintzman, in Toronto, this week.

Rev. J. C. Davidson and Mrs. Davidson returned home last evening from Toronto, where they have been for the past few days.

Mrs. John Crane, who has been confined to her room for some months through illness, was yesterday removed to Grace Hospital, Toronto, for treatment.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Heavy selling carried down the price of wheat to-day after experts investigating had declared the damage from Hessian fly to be inconsequential. Closing figures showed a decline of ⅞c to 1⅛c. Other chief cereals finished also with a loss; corn off ½c to ⅝c; oats, ⅛c to ¼c. Provisions at the end of the day were the same as Saturday, nigh to 7½c below.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅝d to ¾d higher than Saturday on wheat, and ½d higher on corn. Antwerp closed unchanged on wheat, Berlin ⅛c lower than Saturday, Budapest ⅝c lower.

Winnipeg Options.

	Close.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	92¾	93¼	93⅝	93¼	93⅜
July.	94¼	94¼	94⅝	93⅝	93⅝
Oats—
May	33¼	33¼	33½	33¼	33⅜
July	33¼	33⅜	33⅝	33⅜	33⅝

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	0 99	to 0 99
Wheat, geese, bushel	0 78	....
Rye, bushel	0 66	0 68
Barley, bushel	0 66	....
Oats, bushel	0 37	0 38
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	0 49
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, store lots	0 17	0 19
Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 22	0 24
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 23	0 25
Eggs, new-laid	0 23	0 24
Eggs, cold storage	0 17	....
Cheese, lb.	0 13	0 13½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 50	....
Honey, extracted, lb.	0 10	0 12

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, March 13.—There was some demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat, but, as bids were 1½c to 2½c per bushel below cost, no business was done. Oats were easier, and prices declined ½c per bushel. Export and local trade in flour quiet. Bran and shorts scarce.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 38c to 38¼c, car lots, ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 37½c to 37⅝c; No. 3 C.W., 37c to 37¼c, No. 2 local white, 37c; No. 3 local white, 36c; No. 4 local white, 35c.

Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, $5.80; seconds, $5.10; winter wheat patents, $4.50 to $4.75; strong bakers', $4.90; straight rollers, $4.25 to $4.35; in bags, $1.98 to $2.

Rolled oats—Per barrel, $4.90; bag of 90 lbs., $1.95.

Corn—American, No. 3 yellow, 65½c to 66c.

Millfeed—Bran, Ontario, $22 to $23; Manitoba, $21 to $23, middlings, Ontario, $24 to $25; shorts, Manitoba, $23 to $25; moullie, $28 to $30.

Eggs—Selected, 23c; fresh, 25c; No. 1 stock, 20c; No. 2, 18c.

Cheese—Westerns, 11¾c to 12c; easterns, 11¼c to 11½c.

Butter—Choicest, 26c to 27c; seconds, 24c to 25½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, March 13.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 74 carloads, consisting of 1343 cattle, 174 hogs, 1198 sheep and lambs, 27 calves and 63 horses.

Exporters.

Geo. B. Campbell bought 314 export cattle for Morris & Co., as follows: 54 steers for London, 1277 lbs. each, at $6.75; 57 steers for Liverpool, 1150 lbs. each, at $6.65; also 203 steers for Liverpool, 1225 lbs. each, at $6.85.

Butchers.

Prime picked butchers sold at $6.80 to $6.85; loads of good, $6.50 to $6.75; medium, $6.20 to $6.45; common, $4.90 to $6.15; cows, $3.50 to $6.10; bulls, $4.50 to $6.

Milkers.

None reported on sale.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves sold at $3.50 to $8.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Prices for sheep and lambs were a little firmer. Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.50 to $5; rams, $3.50 to $4.25; lambs, $6.50 to $7 per cwt.

Hogs.

Prices unchanged, at $7.05 for selects, fed and watered, and $6.75, f.o.b. cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 13.—At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the receipts of live stock for the week ending March 11 were 3000 cattle, 1235 sheep and lambs, 3000 hogs and 1200 calves. The supply offered this morning consisted of 700 cattle, 150 sheep and lambs, 1100 hogs and 350 calves.

Owing to an increased supply of cattle, a weaker feeling developed in the market, and prices, as compared with those of a week ago, show a decline of ½c per pound, and in consequence of which the drovers complain very much, as they claim that they were not realizing as much as the cattle cost them laid down here.

The quality of the cattle coming forward was never better at this season of the year, it being well finished, consequently butchers had no difficulty in making their choice. At the above re-

Habit

YOU have probably been intending to try Red Rose Tea for some time but from "force of habit" have just kept on using another tea.

Break the Habit

and buy Red Rose next time.

RED ROSE TEA is good tea

NEVER SOLD IN BULK

Your Grocer Will Recommend It 83

duction sorteer in prices the demand was fairly good, and, in addition to those bought for local consumption, several carloads were taken for shipment to Quebec.

Several carloads of choice steers were sold at $6.85, and good stock at $6.65 per 100 pounds, and a few extra choice steers brought as high as 6¾c to 6¾c, but these prices were very exceptional, as the bulk of the trading was done at: Choice, at 6¼c; good at 5¾c to 6c; fairly good at 5½c to 5¾c; fair at 4¾c to 5c, and the lower grades at 4¼c to 4¾c per pound. There were a number of heavy bulls on the market, which sold at 4c to 5½c per pound.

The tone of the market for hogs was weaker, and prices declined 15c to 20c per 100 pounds, which was attributed to the increased supplies and the accumulation of stock on spot, and the indications are that values will go still lower in the near future. The demand from packers was fair, and sales of selected lots were made at $7.25 to $7.30 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars.

On account of the very limited supplies of yearling lambs coming forward, a stronger feeling prevailed in the market, and prices advanced 15c to 25c per 100 pounds, with sales at $6.50 to $6.65 per 100 pounds, and spring lambs sold at $8 each. Sheep were steady under a fair demand at 5c per pound. A few very choice calves brought as high as $12 to $15 each, and the lower grades sold at from that down to $4 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 13.—Cattle—Receipts, 3700; market active and steady; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.60; butcher grades, $5.25 to $6.50; cows, $3 to $5.75.

Calves—Receipts, 1800; market slow, 25c lower; cull to choice, $5 to $10.25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 21,000; market active; choice lambs, $6.75 to $6.85; cull to fair, $5.25 to $6.50; yearlings, $5.50 to $6; sheep, $2 to $5.15.

Hogs—Receipts, 14,450; market active, 15c to 20c lower; yorkers, $7.40 to $7.50; stags, $5 to $5.25; pigs, $7.50; mixed, $7.40; heavy, $7.30 to $7.35; roughs, $6.25 to $6.40.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Beeves—Receipts, 4209; steers, slow to lower; bulls and cows, dull to 25c lower; steers, $5.25 to $6.60; bulls, $4 to $5.50; cows, $2.25 to $4.50.

Calves—Receipts, 3500. Veals, opened 50c to 75c off; veals, $7 to $10.50; culls, $5 to $6.50; buttermilks, $5 to $5.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 13,500; sheep, nominal; lambs, about steady; nearly all sold; ewes, $3.75 to $4.75; lambs, $6 to $7; yearlings, $5.25 to $5.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 9800; market, lower at $7.30 to $7.75.

To Expel Mormon Missionaries.

London, March 14.—A bill to drive Mormon missionaries out of England is being prepared by the Government, and will be passed without any opposition. Investigation by Home Secretary Winston Churchill has shown that 500 young girls have recently left England for the Mormon colony in Utah without the consent of their parents.

Blaze at Wingham.

Wingham, March 14.—The Chisholm Block, consisting of half a dozen stores and the I.O.O.F. Hall, was destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, nothing but bare walls remaining. The building was one of the best here and the property of Mr Chisholm, M.P., who is in the west at present.

Our Coronation Contingent.

Kingston, March 14.—Sergt. C. M. Crawford has been chosen to represent the district signalling section M.D. No. 3, on the coronation contingent. He is a final year medical student at Queen's.

Charles Lamb.

Charles Lamb always dressed in black. "I take it," he says, "to be the costume of an author." When this was once objected to at a wedding he pleaded the raven's apology in the fable that "he had no other." His clothes were entirely black, and he wore long black gaiters up to the knees.

The Tallest Trees.

In the state of Victoria, commonwealth of Australia, specimens of Eucalyptus amygdalina 400 feet tall are frequent, and a tree 471 feet tall has been measured.

The Grain We Grew.

It would require a bin a mile square and 170 feet deep to hold the grain produced in the United States in an average year.

Ammonia.

Ammonia should not be used in the evening or near a fire, nor should the bottle be allowed to remain uncorked. It is inflammable and its fumes are not specially healthful.

An Early Medical Fake.

One of the earliest medical fakes was issued nearly 300 years ago. It was a secret remedy for falling hair. When the price was paid the victim found that he or she was advised to use the fat of a rat as hair restorer. It is said that the Chinese really used the remedy.

Sporting Notes.

The breaking of a shoulder blade in a $1,200 guaranteed boat with Johnny Kilbane at Cleveland recently will cost Abe Attell at least $12,000.

At Yale university's new boathouse one of the innovations is the placing of large mirrors beside the rowing machines to enable the novice oarsmen to observe better rowing form.

The legitimate expenses of a major league baseball club are $100,000 a year. This doesn't include the "war fund" set aside in case the obstreperous big minors kick over the traces.

Captain Roy Mercer, University of Pennsylvania football captain for 1911 and also All American fullback, is great in football and track athletics and is also said to excel in tennis, baseball and all around gymnastics. He is about twenty-one years of age.

Wireless Whispers.

The Panama congress has passed a bill authorizing the construction of a wireless telegraph station at Colon.

So favorable is the atmosphere of Argentina to wireless telegraphy that the postmaster general proposes to substitute it for the present telegraph system.

Amazing results have been achieved at the ultra powerful Marconi wireless telegraph station near Pisa. Communication was established with stations in Ireland and Canada and Massaua in the East African Italian colony of Eritrea.

Tales of Cities.

At the present rate of increase Barcelona will have a population of a million in a few years.

New York city's indebtedness is seven times that of any other city in the country. The debt is about $142 for each inhabitant.

The city of Milwaukee has adopted the thumb print system of paying off its employees in order to protect the city against fraud by forgery or impersonation.

CREDIT

Makes a Hard Road EASY

WE SELL what we advertise without extra charge for CREDIT. Credit will serve you well HERE.

ECONOMY

says buy NOW and BUY HERE.

Open An Account Now

Get high grade Ladies' and Gents Clothing ready-to-wear for the Spring. Special Ladies' Suits, most up to-date, all reduced prices for early buyers.

Ladies' Suits, reg. 35.00 for..... $27.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 25.00 for..... 19.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 18.00 for..... 12.50
All good tailored and all colours

New Line of Millinery

New line of Millinery will open for Spring. Come and pick out your Hat HERE.

All kinds of House Furnishings, Linoleums, Oilcloths, Squares, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains in best quality.

CASH OR CREDIT

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

The Best Credit Clothiers in City

183 CHARLOTTE STREET

The Spring Suit

Before deciding on the Spring Suit, better investigate all round. With a chance to show you our high class goods, expert workmanship, and we are willing then to leave the decision to you. No better goods anywhere, no work quite so select, and prices very reasonable.

Latest New York Styles

Come early for prompt delivery.

Good Girls Wanted

I. GOLDBERG

Ladies' Tailor

Phone 1267. : 452 George St

AT THE WARNE SHOE STORE

Special This Week:

A Ladies' Patent Blucher Bal. $2.50
A light Dongola Bal., good for house boot..... 1.00
Boys' Box Kip Blucher, good school boot, 1 to 5..... $1.25
Youths' ditto..... $1.00

If you want the right shoe at the right price, just try—

WARNE'S SHOE STORE

Special Sale

Another Special Sale for This Week

A few only of Paisley Silk Waists, all colors and different designs, regular $5 for..... $2.98

3 pieces of Scotch Plaid Silkoline for children's dresses and ladies' waists, will wash and wear well, regular 20c per yard for per yard..... 11c

2 pieces only of double fold striped Dress Lustre for ladies' wash dresses, regular 50c for..... 25c

Ladies' and Misses' White Lawn Corset Covers trimmed with fine Valenciennes lace and insertion, reg. 50c for each 19c

Some boxes of dainty neck frillings, Lace, Chiffon, etc., in pretty shades, the best quality, reg. 35c for yard 15c

A few lines in Men's and Boy's Caps of all kinds in all sizes, these are to be cleared at each 25c

See our New Spring Goods, Ladies' and Gent's Ready-to-wears, Boots and Shoes, all housefurnishings.

432 GEORGE ST. PHONE 567

The Elite Clothing Store

Our Photos

Always please because the likeness is true, the finish perfect, the subject is naturally and effectively posed, and the work is mounted and put up in the very latest style.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

FRESH DAILY

Oyster Patties
Charlotte Russe
Plum Cakes
Lemon Cakes
Fancy Biscuits
Macaroons

ICE CREAM

in Bricks or Bulk

T. H. HOOPER

327-414-601 George Street

Evaporated FRUITS

The home prepared supply which is running low, can be nicely supplemented by our newly arrived evaporated fruits.

Apples, Apricots Peaches, Prunes

A nice change that is cheap this season is sliced

Oranges or Grape Fruit

Thinking of pie materials reminds us of our

LADIES' FAVORITE FLOUR

If not the flour you use, try it

We sell ROSE BRAND LARD

Porter S. White

336 George St. - Phone 208

Lent Specialties

— at —

Coleman Bros.

Caterers and Confectioners
426 George Street

OYSTER PATTIES

Fresh Every Day.

Coleman's Special LENT CAKES

MUFFINS & CRUMPETS
CREAM PUFFS
SALLY LUNNS
CHOCOLATE ECLAIR
MACAROONS
FANCY BISCUITS

All Kinds of Pies

Anything you want in Pies or Baking made to Order.

Afternoon Teas served in our Nice Bright Room Upstairs. Vienna Bon Bons and Chocolates

30 DAY REMOVAL SALE

About April 1st we are moving two doors north to 407 George St. (Adam Hall's old stand). During March we are giving prices that are worth watching.

Regular Cut Rite Prices

Machine Oil, regular 10c for	5c	Zam Buk, regular 50c for	40c
Tar Soap, regular 10c for	5c	Norway Pine Syrup, regular 25c for	20c
Blaud's Iron Pills, regular 25c for	9c	Fruitatives, regular 50c for	40c
Syrup of Figs, regular 25c for	13c	Sellow's Hypophosphites, regular 1.50 for	1.25
Perfumes regular 1.00 an oz. for an oz	75c	Hamilton's Pills, regular 25c for	20c
Perfumes, regular 75c an oz. for an oz	50c	Baby's Own Tablets, regular 25c for	20c
Perfumes, regular 50c an oz. for an oz	35c	Kendall's Spavin Cure, regular 1.00 for	85c
Sulphur, 8 lbs	25c	Castoria, regular 35c for	25c
Glauber's Salts, 8 lbs	25c	Burdock Blood Bitters, regular 1.00 for	65c

THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE

C. M. MONCUR, Phm. B., Prop.

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept them gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL L No. 62 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY MARCH 15 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL

Big Change of Programme To-night

Reese Bros. Minstrels

WILL PRESENT

A Complete Change of Performance

NEW SONGS, NEW DANCES, NEW COMEDY, EVERYTHING DIFFERENT.

A Show to please everyone.

Reese Bros. will appear to-night for the last time in a complete new performance even better than the past two days. Don't miss seeing the Big Minstrel Show to-night.

Complete change of Pictures to-night, some of the best seen at the Royal.

TO-MORROW—Complete change of Vaudeville by new performers—Two Special Double Acts, when the prices will again be 5c in afternoon and 10c at night.

Indian & Cowboy Day at the PRINCESS
BIGGEST EVER

The Seminole's Sacrifice
A thrilling Indian Drama

Society And The Man
A splendid Drama, produced by the famous Vitagraph Co.

Last night to see
The Great Cowboy Comedy
A Tough Tenderfoot
A laugh from start to finish

Come to-night and see the World's Greatest Show.

A Few Facts About This Season's Furnishings — at FASHION-CRAFT

You will be more favourably impressed than ever with the values and styles of this season's productions.

We have beaten all our past efforts in every way in our line of Men's Furnishings which have always been acknowledged the most creditable line in town.

The Best Ever at — Fashion - Craft Shop
A. M. LAIDLAW

Remember

Every child photographed by us previous to Dec. 1st, will be in the large group photograph of Peterborough children to be reproduced in the special 1911 Christmas Examiner

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

Have you tried the "Want" Columns of The Examiner yet. Small ads., small prices.

Experts Claim That Mrs. Melber Is Insane

"I'VE GOT EVEN WITH YOU AT LAST"—BEATTIE

Bahama Votes For Annexation With Canada

CONSERVATIVE MEMBER FOR LONDON SAYS SOME HARD THINGS OF MacLEAN

Says South York Representative is an Enemy of Everything Good —The Lanctot Case.

YESTERDAY IN HOUSE

Ottawa, March 15.—The hearing of the charge laid against Adelard Lanctot, M.P., by P. E. Blondin, M.P., was continued before the Commons privileges and elections committee yesterday morning and afternoon The effect of the charge is that Mr Lanctot got paint and other material from the Marine Department stores at Sorel, and that with these his house was painted inside and out by Government workmen during Government time.

The proceedings yesterday were not of a very exciting character. The only situation which developed any great interest was the fact that Mr. Lanctot himself was the first witness called by counsel for Mr. Blondin. There were repeated objections by Mr. Laflamme, Mr. Lanctot's counsel, and particularly by Mr. Victor Geoffrion, to questions asked the defendant by Mr. McDougall, Mr. Blondin's counsel. A deadlock was reached when Mr. McDougall asked the witness if he had got work done by Government employes in the fall of 1908 and had not paid for the work. Several objected, notably Mr. Geoffrion, who stated that this did not come within the charge. Mr. McDougall retorted by reading one of the affidavits, which swore than Mr. Lanctot had got work done that year and that he had not paid for it.

Mr. Geoffrion declared that Mr. Lanctot should not have been put in the witness box at all, but the accuser. He moved that Mr. Lanctot's testimony should be suspended until the other witnesses had been heard.

Mr. Barker said he had never heard of such a thing as an accuser being stopped in his examination and ordered to take some other method of proving his case. He protested against a mere majority of the committee obstructing the proceedings; it was a monstrous proposition.

Mr. Monk quoted precedents to show that this was the regular procedure and said that it was in the interest of Mr. Lanctot that he should be heard first.

The chairman put the motion and it was carried.

Mr. Barker immediately moved that the matter be referred to the House for decision. Mr. Lanctot retired, and George Carter, a contracting painter at Sorel, was called. He said he had asked Mr. Lanctot for the job in November, 1909. Mr. Lanctot refused, adding that he "would give it to anybody else without seeing him." He was in a position to do the work, and valued it at $930. He admitted complaining that the Government was taking away the work from painters in Sorel.

The effort of W. F. Maclean (South York) to have the control of the capitalization of railways placed in the hands of the Railway Commission, came to an ignominious failure in the House last night shortly after dinner hour. Only two members stood up with him to have the yeas and nays taken on his amendment. They were Dr. Sproule (East Grey) and Joseph Russell (East Toronto). But more than that, Major Beattie, the Conservative member for London, denounced Mr Maclean as an enemy of the C.P.R. and said that if the C.P.R. had bought him with a small amount, he would never have made the motion, that he was the enemy of everything good, that the member for South York had opposed him (Major Beattie) in London in one of his elections and had said that he was an enemy of public ownership.

Major Beattie said a lot of other things. He was repeatedly called to order by the Speaker. But the gallant major continued to hurl his opinions of the member for South York, and when the member for London resumed his seat, he called down, "I've got even with you at last, Billy Maclean."

Hon. George P. Graham said that the interesting remarks made by Mr. Maclean applied with equal force to all corporations. He observed that railway rates and the tariff frequently bore a relation to one another. In Germany, for instance, the railway was used as an adjunct to the tariff, and German manufacturers were given low rates to assist them in competing with foreign manufacturers. Somewhat similar conditions probably prevailed in Canada to a certain extent, and the fear had been expressed that an international railway board might interfere with certain privileges which exist on either side of the line.

Mr. Graham pointed out that while the C.P.R. occupied an enviable position, new companies who had to lay down new ways and lay themselves it was desirable that nothing should be done to shake the confidence of the people who held the purse-strings of the world. In conclusion, he said that Mr. Maclean's proposal merited consideration, he was at liberty to say that he had discussed the matter with the chairman of the Railway Board and with railway men, but had not been able to reach the conclusion that the time had arrived when it would be desirable to make a change.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

War preparations are going on in the Far East.

The Legislature of the Bahama Islands has voted in favor of annexation to Canada.

The proposal of President Taft for an Anglo-American arbitration treaty has been received with great enthusiasm in Britain.

Intercolonial Railway employes and motormen and conductors on the Winnipeg Street Railway have been granted increases in pay.

Provincial Secretary Fleming delivered the budget in the New Brunswick Legislature yesterday. The surplus for the past fiscal year was $6,563.63.

The Senate discussed the question of withdrawing the restrictions on the immigration of the wives of Chinamen settled in Canada, in the interests of morality.

Milton T. Culbert, manager of the O'Brien mine, Cobalt, Ont., died at at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, last night, following an operation for appendicitis.

George Sharpe Lindsay, who lost an arm in an accident by working with the Sylvester Auto Thresher near Regina last summer, was yesterday allowed $2,000 in the spring assizes.

A Montreal man served with legal notices in French, which he could not read, ignored them, and judgment was given against him by default. He applied for redress, but was refused.

The ice bridge at Niagara Falls went out yesterday. The structure that has just passed into history, remained in position over three months, establishing a record for the past decade.

A body was brought to the surface in Ostend, Belgium, harbor yesterday which is thought to be that of Cecil Grace, the aviator, who was lost last December while attempting a return aeroplane flight from Calais to Dover.

Embargo on British Cattle.

Ottawa, March 15.—Great Britain has for many years maintained in absolute embargo against Canadian cattle, ostensibly on the ground of danger of infection to British herds, but in reality because of a desire to protect the British cattle-raiser from outside competition. Canada has repeatedly protested that Canadian herds are practically free of infectious diseases, and the British embargo could not be justified on the ground that the importation of Canadian cattle into Britain would lead to the outbreak of cattle disease there.

An illuminative commentary on the situation is now given by the passing of an order by the Department of Agriculture placing an embargo on the importation into Canada of all English live stock except horses. The Department has been advised by cable that an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease has appeared among cattle near Bobham, Surrey. Pending its eradication all permits to bring in cattle, sheep and swine from England are cancelled. There is at present no foot-and-mouth disease on this continent, and the above stringent precautions are taken to insure the continued immunity of Canadian herds.

Experts Say She's Insane.

Albany, N.Y., March 15.—The defence in the Melber murder trial introduced Dr. H. E. Defrest, of Troy, a former coroner, yesterday afternoon, who testified that he had made fourteen examinations of Mrs. Melber recently, and declared her to be insane.

Dr. Defrest defined her disorder as "Imbecile insanity," and said she had been so afflicted from birth. He expressed the opinion that all professionally immoral women are insane.

Dr. Jessie M. Scott, of Schenectady, who was connected for eight years with the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, was no less positive.

"Doctor, in all your conferences with Edith Melber, did you ever see her cry?" District Attorney Sanford enquired.

"Yes, just once," the witness replied.

"Was it over her dead boy?"

"No, it was over her hard life."

"How long was she crying?"

"I should say a minute—no, I should say part of a minute."

Our Indians.

There are about 300,000 Indians in the United States, according to the latest reckoning, most of them in the west and northwest.

HYDRO TO HAVE FULL CONTROL

W. K. McNaught is to Bring in a New Bill in the Legislature—All Companies Under Jurisdiction

EXPLAINED TO-DAY

Toronto, March 15.—W. K. McNaught's bill placing electric power companies competing with municipal enterprises under the control of the Hydro Commission, power which was shelved a few days ago, will be formally withdrawn.

It will be replaced by a new bill, of which Mr. McNaught gave notice yesterday, and will probably be fully explained to the Ontario Legislature this afternoon.

This bill is more comprehensive than the former bill. It will have the status of a Government bill and will be carried through the House with the full strength of Sir James Whitney's influence and that of his colleagues in the Cabinet behind it.

The new bill is made provincial in scope.

While the original bill applied only to companies entering into competition with municipal power systems, the new measure gives the Hydro-Electric Power Commission power over all electrical power companies.

In case disputes over questions of damages, the jurisdiction is placed under the Municipal Arbitration Act.

The new bill gives the commission absolute control over all power and electric companies in the province. The commission will have supervision over the plant, equipment, operation, erection of poles, stringing of wires and laying of conduits.

Disputes arising between municipal and private electric light companies, other than claims for damages, will in future be settled by the commission, and all business carried on by any electric company will be done under the direction and supervision of the commission.

The reciprocity debate was resumed by W. Proudfoot (Lib.) Centre Huron, who declared the Liberal party to be equally as loyal and patriotic Canadians as the Conservatives. He believed the opposition of the farmers of the United States to the agreement indicated that it would open a profitable market to the Canadian farmers. His experience in talking with Americans during numerous visits to the United States was that they believed Canada would be benefitted by becoming a part of the United States, but no desire to annex Canada was ever expressed. It had been stated that if the Canadian farmers made more money through reciprocity they would become disloyal.

J. W. Johnson, Conservative, West Hastings, compared the reciprocity offers of the United States to the alluring and enchanting music of the Sirens eaters in Grecoan mythology, which, if one allowed himself to be attracted by, he could never break away from. Again, it was like the legend of the spider and the fly, and Mr. Johnson quoted the Mosaic law, "Thou shalt not covet," etc.

A. H. Musgrove (Con.) North Huron, said the anti-reciprocity resolution was introduced solely as an expression of the opinion of the majority of the people of the province.

T. R. Mayberry (Lib.) South Oxford, said he had too much faith in the loyalty of the people of Canada to the British Empire to believe that the reciprocity agreement would, in degree, promote a sentiment in favor of annexation. The annexation cry was simply raised to frighten the people.

T. S. J. Smelt (Con.) Fort William, said that the towns of Fort William and Port Arthur were dependent upon the transportation business. Their prosperity was threatened by the diversion of traffic through the reciprocity pact.

Dr. McKay (Lib.) North Oxford, moved the adjournment of the debate.

Lynching Negro Stokers.

Somerset, Ky., March 15. Charles Swartz, a St. Louis detective, guarding non-union firemen on a passenger train of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railroad, was brought here yesterday, suffering from a gunshot wound in the mouth, received near Swartz, Ky., thirty miles south of here.

Swartz had attempted to hold back a crowd which tried to reach a negro fireman.

It is reported that the fireman was killed, and that several other negro firemen were lynched near the Tennessee line. This, however, could not be verified.

INTERVENTION BY THE UNITED STATES WOULD END THE REVOLUTION

GERTRUDE FOWLER,
Who appears with Felix Haney in the greatest of American dramas, "The Man of the Hour," Grand Opera House to-morrow (Thursday) night.

Senor de la Barra Claims That This Would be the Result—He Urges All Friends of Mexico to Join Uprising.

MAKE COMMON CAUSE

New York, March 15.—Before Senor de la Barra left for Washington yesterday, he gave out here the proofs of an article which will appear in The Independent, on "the situation in Mexico," urging all his countrymen, regardless of "all divisions of party, all differences between men," to recall the "sacred interests of our country," and "to work together for the progress of true democracy and of the best development of the motherland."

Insurrecto leaders to whom the paragraph was shown last night, said they considered it an invitation to come into camp, and its issuance makes more noticeable a trend of events that has been discoverable for the past three days.

After the first shock of surprise in the United States and of alarm and distrust in Mexico, caused by the despatch of 20,000 American troops to the frontier, there began on the one side a series of formal diplomatic exchanges between the two powers and on the other a series of carefully weighed interviews and authorized publications in the daily press. Underneath this current ran a deeper tide of sympathy "between countrymen who might be at odds, but were still countrymen. "Intervention means war," said Senor Limantour in so many words. "Intervention!" echoed Dr. F. Vasquez Gomez, the insurrecto agent at Washington, who has been here for the last three days: "The moment there is intervention, there will cease to be an insurrection. Both sides will make common cause against a common enemy."

In his morning statement, Senor Limantour warned Americans that if they took part in the insurrection and fell captives, they might expect the same justice meted out to other prisoners. In view of the suspension of constitutional guarantees recently announced, this means death, and the answer made is deliberate, for it is known to have followed diplomatic representations made to Mexico City that captured Americans be treated leniently.

Ask Release of Americans.

Washingtonu, March 15. An investigation having convinced the American Government that Edwin Blatt of Pittsburg, Pa., and Lawrence Converse of Los Angeles, Cal., held as prisoners at Jaurez, Mex., had been captured on American soil, the State Department yesterday asked the Mexican Government to release them. The request was delivered to the Mexican embassy at Washington.

Bahama Votes to Join.

Montreal, March 15. Mr. T. B. MacAulay of the Sun Life Assurance Co., received a cable yesterday from the Bahama Islands stating that the Legislature had voted to be annexed to Canada. The vote stood twenty-three to six in favor of union with Canada.

At an immense meeting of the citizens of Nassau held Feb 20, which was addressed by a number of Canadians then visiting the Island, a resolution favoring the admission of the Islands to the Canadian Confederation as a province was carried by a standing vote with great enthusiasm, there being but two dissenting votes.

The governor is to invite the Government of Canada to a conference to consider whether annexation to the Dominion is feasible and desirable, and, if so, on what terms it would probably be carried out.

The Bahamas, a chain of islands in the West Indies, contained in 1909, 61,277 people, most of them descendants of liberated Africans. Nassau is the capital, situated on the Island of New Providence. The chief industry is sponge gathering. Bananas, cocoanuts, fruit and vegetables are also largely exported, principally to the United States. The hemp fibre industry is also fairly well established.

Statute of King Edward.

Ottawa, March 15.—A magnificent equestrian statue of the late King Edward VII. is to adorn the centre of the proposed Plaza Laurier at Ottawa. This is understood to be the wish of the majority of the Dominion Cabinet, who have just approved of the plans for the merging of Dufferin and Sappers bridges into the plaza.

Died at His Desk.

New York, March 15.—William P. Hoss, 52 years old, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil Co. of New York, died suddenly at his desk yesterday afternoon. He had been connected with the company for thirty years.

LECTURES MISLEADING.

H. G. Robinson Says He Misrepresented For Munroe.

New York, March 15.—Horace Greeley Robinson proved on cross-examination to be anything but a favorable witness for the defence of George R. Munroe, the former Montreal haberdasher, who is on trial for using the United States mails to defraud.

When the sale of Marconi stocks by Robinson was brought up, Assistant District Attorney Dorr connected the name of Frank L. Crocker, one of Munroe's counsel, with a plan to sell this stock without delivery. The plan, according to Robinson, was thought out by Crocker, to deliver, from the small amount of stock in the English company, which had cost Munroe about $2.50, the first sales to customers and then get money from them for larger amounts of stock at $10 or $15 a share. The plan did not succeed, however, according to Robinson.

Robinson also testified that he had gone to Australia to sell shares for Munroe. He did sell many shares of Marconi stock, but so far as he knew none had been delivered. When he was threatened by some of those who had bought stock from him, he told Munroe he would no longer cheat people, but Munroe cried and said that if more stock was not sold they would both have to go to jail.

Robinson said he delivered lectures all over the United States, Canada and Australia and that the lectures were a tissue of misrepresentations inspired by Munroe.

Scotch Trawler In Fix at New York.

New York, March 15.—Capt. Wm. Craig of the little British steam trawler Coquette from Aberdeen, Scotland, was refused permission by the customs office yesterday to clear for the "high seas." When she came tripping into port last Saturday her crew related that a storm had driven the vessel so far off the Nova Scotian coast that it was decided to run into New York with her big catch of 10,000 pounds of fish. The success of the sale of the fish at high prices in New York prompted Craig to ask for permission to set out again for the high seas, with the evident intention of securing another catch and returning to this market. Collector Loeb refused, because the law forbid, a foreign vessel to leave New York on an irresolute course. She must clear for a definite foreign port.

Had No Excuse.

Montreal, March 15. Legal documents served on Mr. Hamilton Andrews by E. L. Vaugh were ignored by the former because they were written in French. In fact, it seems that he was unaware that he was being sued. Now Mr Justice Tellier has given judgment declaring that this was no excuse and that he will have to suffer the consequences.

Three Fishermen Drowned.

Gloucester, Mass., March 15. Three fishermen lost their lives yesterday, when the fishing schooner Hattie A. Heckman and the power fishing vessel Hope came in collision near the outer range of Gloucester harbor. The Hope sank immediately. She came from Michigan.

Verdict of Manslaughter.

Montreal, March 15. Rosario Cavanant was found guilty of manslaughter in the Court of King's Bench, on the charge of killing Ernest Bigras on Dec. 23, by hitting him with a stone. They had quarrelled over a girl.

Drug and Patent Medicine Prices

Our Prices are as low as the lowest or lower:

Burdock Blood Bitters regular $1.00 for	65c
Pink Pills regular 50c for	30c
Carter's Pills regular 25c for	15c
Chase's Ointment reg. 60c for	40c
Steedman's Soothing Powders regular 35c for	25c
Thomas' Electric Oil reg. 25c for	15c
Chase's Linseed and Turpentine regular 25c for	15c
Lyd. Pinkham's Compound regular $1.00 for	85c
Fruitative regular 50c for	40c
Miller's Worm Powders regular 25c for	20c
Minard's Liniment regular 25c for	20c
Pain Killer regular 25c for	20c
Egyptian Liniment reg. 25c for	20c
Peruna regular $1.00 for	85c
Zam-Buk regular 50c for	40c
Scott's Emulsion reg. 50c for	40c
Nerviline regular 25c for	20c
Norway Pine Syrup reg. 25c for	20c

McDermid & Jury's
The Safe Satisfactory Drug Store
Corner George and Charlotte Streets

Begin Mosquito War.

Bayonne, N.J., March 15.—State entomologists have started on the work of draining the Hackensack Meadows so that the many thousands of embryo mosquitoes may be destroyed before they get on the wing. They expect that Hudson County will have a mosquitoless summer. In Bayonne the Board of Health will start this week to soak with oil furnished free by the Standard Oil Co. the nesting places for mosquitoes.

Bishop Becomes Father at 78.

Connellsville, Pa., March 15.—David Keim, a Mennonite bishop known throughout the mountain country, has became the father of a boy at the age of seventy-eight.

Bishop Keim, probably the oldest father in the United States, has grown children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, all by a former marriage. Mrs. Keim was a widow of thirty when married to Keim eight years ago, and this is their first child.

Investments Were Unlucky.

Hamilton, March 15. The will of John H. Tilden shows that deceased in recent years paid out $222,210 for stock that yesterday has market value of only $5,100. The amount was spread pretty well over Canada, the largest item being $152,000 for stock in the Tilden-Jackson Typewriter Co., which proved a failure. Mr. Tilden's estate is valued at $17,400 and is left to his widow. At one time he was very wealthy.

South African Corn Trade.

Washington, March 15.—South Africa is desirous of entering the markets of the world with its surplus corn, and to that end Sir Thomas H. Price, commissioner of railways and harbors of the South African Government, called upon Secretary of Agriculture Wilson yesterday to obtain information as to the methods employed by the United States in the handling of that grain for the export trade.

Found Bones and Skulls.

Toronto, March 15. While digging around the old Duchess street mission yesterday workmen made many gruesome discoveries. First was unearthed a large tablet, and quickly followed the discovery of human bones and skulls, along with several coffin plates. All the coffins had rotted away, but the bones and other findings have kept remarkable, considering the lapse of 76 years.

The Fowler Finger EYEGLASS MOUNT

GIVES WHAT OTHERS CANNOT
Eyeglass Comfort, Convenience and Lens Efficiency

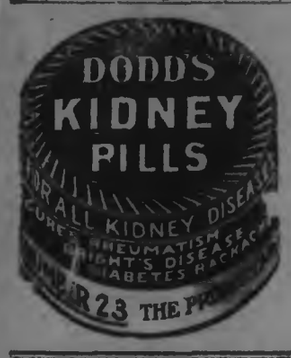
Most inconspicious of Eyeglass Mounts. On to stay on when properly adjusted.

These Mounts have more talking points yet require less talk to sell than any Eyeglass Mount we have ever sold because they are a Distinctively Distinct Eyeglass Mount.

You are the one who must suffer expense, annoyance and discomfort if you wear inferior Eyeglasses.

$2.75 without Lenses We carry a gross of these Mounts constantly in stock and guarantee to fit properly anyone who can wear Eyeglasses.

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.



MEDICAL.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 362 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 519. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. E. V. FREDERICK, M.R.C.S. (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Surgery and Diseas of Women, 482 George Street. Hours 1, 2-3:30—7-8.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L. R.C.P. (Lond.) Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 354 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 551, Mach., 225. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
dtf 91 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 190 Hunter street, or at residence, 188 Hunter street. Telephone No. 85.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices 370 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A
Telephone No. 64.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. F. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets, entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest. E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. E. Hall, S. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson

W. H. MOORE, Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan

E. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 372 Water street, Peterborough.

Manual labor taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by
The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
Ashburnham. 'Phone 9

Home Course In Tree Preservation

By JOHN DAVEY.
Father of Tree Surgery.

I.—Keeping Trees Healthy.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

IN Scripture we read of "the trees of the Lord," and, lo, one of them is here before you, caught by the camera. (See illustration No. 1.) What an embodiment of innocence! How majestic! How "fearfully and wonderfully made!" What a friend of man! How it has stood and wrestled with the storms! There it stands a living tree—aye, a noble creature! Behold those plume-like branches! No two branches alike, no two twigs the same and no two leaves of exactly the same pattern. Lift the graceful branchlet reverently; thoughtfully pluck a leaf; study that wonderful organ; examine its petiole (the leaf stock).

NO. 1.—"BEHOLD THOSE PLUME-LIKE BRANCHES."

Under the microscope the protoplasmic cells are seen to be constructed with just as much inherent intelligence as in the hand or any part of the human body. The petiole, for example, instead of being made of overlapping cells, is made up of spiral cells much like the wire coil spring that pulls the screen door shut. Then trace out the veins, veinlets and veinulets and see how wonderful it is all filled in with the parenchana, and then with the microscope look upon that strange but beautiful arrangement for breathing, the stomata.

The tree that we talk about—that is, the part that we see, consisting of trunk, branches and leaves—is in reality not the important part. This is the visible portion, of course, and is beautiful or otherwise according to the condition of the invisible parts, the roots.

There are just three places where we find healthy trees—first, in the natural woodlands; second, in the open, cultivated field. That is where this beautiful rock maple is situated. Note the furrows, as the recent plowing has been done, and, third, in the graveyard, or cemetery, where the roots feed on the human bodies. In the natural woodland there is root protection from the mulching given by the decaying leaves. Through this mulching the air and water both penetrate and feed the roots and keep them active. In the cultivated field the same takes place by means of the farmer's constant plowing, cultivating and stirring the soil, and in the cemetery the digging of graves and burial of bodies stirs the soil and furnishes the food supply from the bodies that are interred.

NO. 2.—DESTROYED BY HEAVY SOD OVER ROOTS.

To me this is a pleasant thought, that this body shall "rise again" and live as a shelter for the dear birds. From these three lessons and a few others incidentally we have one of the most important lessons in tree growing—namely, the top of your tree, or the visible portions, can be no better than the invisible parts, the roots.

This fact is presented to you wherever you go and is exemplified by illustration No. 2. This is from a photograph taken July 3. No. 1 was taken the 4th of the same month.

The cause of the destruction of those in No. 2 was the formation of a heavy sod over their roots. Unpleasant as it is, we must recognize the fact that we cannot have a good tree and a good sod at the same time. There are artificial ways of compromising at times, but the simplest way is to throw a rope around the tree and draw a circle, destroy all sod inside the line and keep cultivating and give plenty of water during the hot months of July and August. The circle may be a foot from the trunk for small trees out to as far as six feet in large ones.

You Can Cure Chest Colds

And Bronchitis by Using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine If You Get the Genuine

The most mention of pneumonia and consumption causes a person to shudder, but a cold is such a common thing that it is too often left alone until these other ailments develop from it.

You can speedily cure throat and chest colds, croup and bronchitis, by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. This medicine is both thorough and far-reaching in its influence on the system. For this reason its merits are well-known and its sales enormous.

But there are many imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. And imitations are dangerous. Both cheaper and otherwise. Every bottle of the genuine bears the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author. Sold by dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DISFIGURED FOR LIFE!

Mothers Should Realize What Neglect of Skin-Troubles May Mean to Children.

A lifetime of disfigurement and suffering often results from the neglect, in infancy or childhood, of minor affections of the skin and scalp. A mother overlooks a little rash or attempts some simple treatment and in a day, perhaps, the little one is covered with severe eczema or a similar distressing eruption. Then the struggle for a cure begins.

A multitude of remedies are tried, doctor after doctor consulted and hospitals visited, but too often the suffering extends, without substantial relief, from days to weeks, weeks to months and months to years. Added to this is the ever-present fear that the itching, burning and disfiguration will become chronic, marring future welfare and making life miserable.

In the prevention of the simple skin troubles from which all this suffering so often arises and in establishing a condition of skin health that makes eruptions impossible, mothers are assured that nothing is purer, sweeter or more effective than Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. And greater still, if possible, is the success of these simple household remedies in the treatment of the severer skin affections themselves. With the first warm bath with Cuticura Soap and gentle application of Cuticura Ointment, the itching and burning of eczema cease, the child falls into a refreshing sleep, the mother rests and for the first time, possibly, in many weeks peace falls on a distracted household. Frequently a single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are sufficient.

Positive as is this statement, it is justified by more than thirty years of pronounced success. To quote but a single instance, Robert Mann, of Proctor, Minnesota, says:

"Our boy was born in Toronto on Oct. 12, 1908, and when three months old a slight rash appeared on his cheek. What appeared to be a water blister would form. When it broke, matter would run out, starting new blisters until his entire face, head and shoulders were a mass of scabs and you could not see a particle of clear skin. We tried about every advertised remedy without avail, indeed some of them only added to his suffering and one in particular, the ——— Remedy, almost put the infant into convulsions. The family doctor prescribed for him and told us to bathe the baby in buttermilk. This did not do any good, so we took him to a hospital. He was treated as an out-patient twice a week and he got worse, if anything. We decided that it could not be cured and must run its course and so we just kept his arms bandaged to his side to prevent his tearing his flesh. We left Toronto and shortly after our arrival in Duluth, the Cuticura Remedies were recommended. We started using them in May, 1909, and soon the cure was complete. You would not think he was the same child for Cuticura made his skin perfectly clear and he is entirely free from the skin disease. There has been no return. We still use only Cuticura Soap for baby's bath."

Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Pills are sold by druggists everywhere. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Mass., for a free copy of their latest 32-page Cuticura Book on treatment of skin diseases.

A Query.

I wonder if
Those kings and queens
Have ever tasted
Pork and beans.
If they have not
It seems to me
They pay a price
For royalty.

And then I wonder,
Too, if they
Get pumpkin pie.
If not, I say
Their jobs do not
Look good to me.
A king or queen
I would not be.
—Detroit Free Press.

Staggered, but Not Floored.

"Thomas," said the head of the establishment, "you are more than an hour late this morning."

"Yes, sir," answered the office boy. "I had to clean 'bout a foot o' snow off'm the sidewalks 'fore I left home."

"A foot of snow, Thomas? The snow isn't more than two inches deep at the outside."

"I know it ain't more'n that here, Mr. Spotcash, but in the part o' town wher' I live the climate's differ'nt."—Chicago Tribune.

Amiable Arthur.

"When gude Kyng Arthurs ruled this land
He was a goodlie king"—
Perhaps because he never heard
Our next door neighbor sing.
—F. P. A.

Another explanation of
His sempiternal cheer—
He didn't have to drop his work
To hook up Guineveres.
—R. L. Z.

And then this reason we'd suggest
Why peace possessed his soul:
He didn't have to go below
And carry up the coal.
—Yonkers Statesman.

A Suggestive Title.

He—I wonder what the meaning of that picture is. The youth and maiden are in a tender attitude.

She—Oh, don't you see? He has just asked her to marry him, and she is accepting him. How sweet! What does the artist call the picture?

He (looking about)—Oh, I see! It's written on a card at the bottom—"Sold."—Lippincott's.

Home Course In Tree Preservation

By JOHN DAVEY.
Father of Tree Surgery.

III.—The Crime of Tree Butchery.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

IT is utterly impossible for the human mind to form even an opinion of the destruction of property by the "tree butcher." In many places the real estate values are 50 per cent less than what they might have been with good trees. As a result of the hacking and slashing the trees are not living a fifth of their natural life. An elm or maple should stand intact for 300 years. Barring the violence of tornadoes and such agencies, apple trees should be in a good state of bearing at 200 years, the pear at 300 and the oak at 1,000. But while the tree butcher is at large this same premature death will be continued.

NO. 5.—APPLE TREE DYING FROM CUTTING OFF BRANCHES.

For ten years I have been before the public as a writer and lecturer, and though the press is doing a noble work yet I see but one hope and that is to get the children to comprehend "tree life." I will send some reading matter free to parents who wish to have their children informed. But here is a phase which the parent can begin with. If you have not a little pocket microscope get one. Take different sticks and cut off with a sharp knife, then let the child look through the "scope," and the eye will be delighted to see the little cells opened up and appearing much like a honeycomb. These little cells communicate with one another, and when the water falls on them they are prepared to receive the spores of the various fungi. The fungi are a vegetable growth, and their mycelium or what answers to roots, penetrate the cell tissues, break them down and produce what we call "rot" or "decay." Millions of trees in forms and stages of disease can be found rapidly approaching death, as seen in No. 5. This is an apple tree, only about forty years old.

Or look at illustration No. 6, an apple tree about the same age. In both these cases the trouble arose from some one cutting off branches and leaving the wood exposed. Just as soon as the tissues are broken down by the parasite—the fungi—then the condition exists for the grubs, larvae and ants and all kinds of "crawling critters" to make their home in such a place. And can we blame them? No; we would do the same if we were ants or bugs. It is we who are to blame for wounding our friends, the trees, and opening up their noble bodies to decay and disease. See how the branch to the right in illustration No. 6 has been eaten away by insects. This is one of a whole orchard of apple trees in Sandusky, O., that went to pieces in a sleet storm about fifteen months ago—an orchard of fine varieties of apples. There is an element of sadness about this, but the part that appeals to most people is the "dollar side." From a business standpoint, what a folly to allow ignorant men to reduce real estate values of property because they know enough to run a saw or wield an ax!

NO. 6.—APPLE TREE RUINED BY TOO MUCH PRUNING.

This is not, as a rule, maliciously done. It is often accomplished by good meaning people. Fifteen years ago I knew a good, honest Dutchman who "trimmed" an apple orchard for the "firewood." A year ago it cost $2,000 to repair the damage, and certainly the trees are vastly inferior to what they would have been had they not had their noble holes and branches hollowed by disease.

I call special attention to this phase of the subject and urge all parents to get the children interested in structural botany.

Moss on the Shingles.

Moss may be removed from a shingle roof by scattering unslaked lime above it so that rain will dissolve the lime and carry it down into the moss.

AN ADAMLESS EDEN.

Girls Camp at Moodna Creek.

AMATEUR DAIRYMAIDS.

There are a score or so of ethical culture clubs in New York city whose members are all girls. During the summer and early fall these girls spend their holidays at Moodna creek, in Orange county, New York state, using long neglected street cars for camp dwellings. In this simple fashion these vacationists enjoy a healthy holiday amid beautiful scenery for a few dollars a week.

To Reduce Household Toil.

Each season sees several new labor saving inventions for woman's work in the household, and this year is no exception to the rule. A new and very simple bread mixer is one of the labor saving devices. It is in only two parts and therefore easily kept clean; besides, it mixes the dough thoroughly and scientifically in a few minutes.

CLEVER NEW INVENTIONS.

For the farmer's wife the latest butter churn is a blessing, for it makes the butter "come" in a minute.

A small rest of perforated aluminium fitted with a clip is another fine thing. A clip is attached to a kettle or sauce pan to be used for holding the spoon when the contents require frequent stirrings, saving both time and trouble. Ten cents will purchase this little convenience.

Where polished floors abound the new felt castor is something the housewife should have. It saves her floors from being scratched and herself the labor of removing the ravishes of the careless moving about of furniture.

A new kind of broom to be used for a hardwood kitchen floor is called the dry cord broom. It is shaped like the ordinary hair floor broom, but cord are used instead of bristles.

Dickens' Characters.

There are 1,425 characters in the works of Charles Dickens.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieves all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

YOU PAY WHEN CURED
Drs. K. & K. TAKE ALL RISKS

Cured by the New Method Treatment

NO NAMES OR PHOTOS USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT

NERVOUS DEBILITY

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through Early Indiscretions, Excesses and Blood Diseases. If you have any of the following symptoms consult us before it is too late. Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes, with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, dreams and losses, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, restless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, weak manhood, premature decay, lame joints, hair loose, sore throat, etc.

YOU WILL BE A WRECK

Our New Method Treatment can cure you and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified, so that all pimples, blotches and sores disappear, the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency vanish, the eye becomes bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to body and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated, all drains cease, no more vital waste from the system. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars. We will cure you or no pay.

EVERYTHING PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

READER: No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. Books Free "The Golden Monitor" illustrated on Secret Diseases of Men.

QUESTION LIST FOR HOME TREATMENT SENT ON REQUEST

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY
Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

NOTICE All letters from Canada must be addressed to our Canadian Correspondence Department in Windsor, Ont. If you desire to see us personally call at our Medical Institute in Detroit as we see and treat no patients in our Windsor offices which are for Correspondence and Laboratory for Canadian business only. Address all letters as follows:
DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont.
Write for our private address.

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER
INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies
Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
328 George 328 George
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at
358 George St. HENRY HAMILTON
Ice Cream Soft Drinks

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto the Queen City of Canada is the important business and tourist centre of the Dominion, its many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens, are the admiration of many thousands of visitors throughout the year.

One of the best hotels in Canada is located here, the old established "Queen's", a hostelry that is especially popular with all discriminating people, standing in its own beautiful and extensive grounds, it has an air of quiet and refinement that appeals strongly to the home-lover, its fame is far reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. 2

The "Queen's" is operated on the American and European Plan, the rates being: Rooms without Bath (American Plan) $2.00 per day up. Rooms with Bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up. Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

Cowan's seems to hit the right spot. It is a great food for husky young athletes: satisfies the appetite: easy to digest: and delicious

DO YOU USE COWAN'S COCOA?

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of

LAMB
MUTTON
PORK

Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon Butcher Market Arcade

The Valet

This is the time to look over your Spring Wardrobe and have them put in shape. We do all kinds of cleaning, repairing and pressing, on ladies' or gent's garments. You will be surprised at the improvement.

2 STORES:

304 Charlotte Street, Bell 847 Mach. 582
137 Simcoe Street Phone 665

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils

East City

Coal and Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.
Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts
Both Phones 262
Yards 121 Robinson Street
East City
Both Phones 264

NOTABLE SENTENCES

Passages From Recent Speeches in the Old Land

It is only ignorance that is abusive.

A number of people in this world live on illusions.

There is need for more courage among clerks.

A sudden revolution has always more of promise than performance.

The recognition of social obligations is deleterious to poetry and romance.

The translators of the Bible were poets, although they wrote in prose.

There ought to be a National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to the Dull.

One of the greatest moral dangers of the present day is the tyranny of commercialism.

Women's dress will never be satisfactory till women realize that they have no waists.

What is really wanted in life is consistency of purpose, integrity of character, and stability of mind.

The beneficence and charity of the rich cannot be compared with the beneficence and charity of the poor.

True genius will survive; but the half-genius ceases to be remembered when his paradox is forgotten.

In England the conscience of the people is much more sensitive to suffering and poverty than it used to be.

If we put money in the best investment of a country, the brains of the people, we shall stay at the head of the world.

If we can once get the lesson of facing uncongenial tasks instilled into boys' minds we have taught them a great part of genius.

The nation is suffering through its reluctance to accept better business methods which other nations have found advantageous.

There never has been a time when a high standard of public duty and of real attachment to political principles were more needed than now.

HARDY STEEPLEJACK

A hardy steeplejack engaged in repairing a 260 feet chimney near Lisburn, Antrim, fell about 240 feet, but was only off work during the following meal-hour. Then he resumed work as if nothing had happened!

Guest—They told me this room had two kinds of running water.

Bell Boy—Sure. It runs in de room an' den out.

ANOTHER SEASIDE STORY

The lodging-house lady had a cat. Most lodging-house ladies do have cats. And the average lodging-house cat appears to be a remarkably voracious animal, with an immense appetite for anything, from cold potatoes to small change. This was no exception.

The lodging-house lady also had a lodger, and the lodger was a most unreasonable and suspicious person. He counted his small change, weighed the cold potatoes, and numbered his lumps of sugar with a pencil.

One day the landlady had a brilliant idea to get even with him. She told him that the cat was dead.

But the lodger knew a method of counter-attack. Next day there were sausages for dinner. The lodger held his handkerchief to his eyes and wept.

"What's the matter, sir?" asked the landlady.

"It's these sausages," said the lodger. "They do remind me so of poor old Thomas!"

Now the landlady hasn't got a lodger.

Lady—I can't give you anything. Charity begins at home.

Tramp—I'm willin' to go home wi' yer.

PIGEON'S LONG ABSENCE

One of Several Thousand Released in June, 1909

A carrier pigeon belonging to Capt. Butler, of Southampton, has returned to its loft after an absence of over fourteen months. The bird was one of several thousands which were liberated at Jersey in June 1909. Thousands never reached home. It is thought that the bird, being unable to find its course, settled exhausted on some passing vessel and was taken care of by someone, who, on returning to England, gave it its liberty. Some time ago the bird flew the whole of the west coast with messages from Capt. Butler to his wife.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

The official Government tests show Royal Baking Powder to be an absolutely pure and healthful grape cream of tartar baking powder, and care should be taken to prevent the substitution of any other brand in its place.

With no other agent can biscuit, cake and hot-breads be made so pure, healthful and delicious.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price per pound, and is cheaper and better at its price than any other baking powder in the world. It makes pure, clean, healthful food.

Royal Cook Book—800 Receipts—Free. Send Name and Address.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

FAMILY PRIDE

Girl:—"My farver once broke in a shop and pinched a diamond brooch!" Policeman's Son:—"That ain't nuffin'. My farver pinched 'im!"—Punch.

KING TO REVIEW BOY SCOUTS

His Majesty Will Visit the Boys at Windsor Park on July the 4th

It is announced that the King will hold a review of the Boy Scouts at Windsor on July 4. It will be remembered that His Majesty last year became president of the Boy Scouts. The late King honored the movement as long ago as September, 1909, when he sent a message of congratulation to 11,000 of the boys gathered at the Crystal Palace. The review at Windsor Park will take the place of the one which King Edward intended to have held last June, and the arrangements provisionally made for this assembly will probably hold good. One of the features was to have been a "Scouts' rally." Thousands of boys were to have rushed, cheering, from various parts of the parade ground until they joined in a deep circle round the inspecting officer. Then they were to have sung their song, 'Hail to the Chief." As the last lines died away it was arranged the scouts should sit on the ground in silence to hear the officer's address. The late King also proposed to make a speech to the boys. A "rally" of this kind will probably take place during the coming review, which will be the most important gathering of scouts held since the movement in its practical form began, some four years ago, in the experimental camp formed at Brownsea Island, Bournemouth.

THE GERMAN EMPEROR

His Majesty Will Arrive in England on May 15

Aside from politics it is the coming visit of the Kaiser and the Kaiserin which interests all London just now, a visit which will practically mark the beginning of the great Coronation festival. The Imperial couple will arrive in London on May 15, just after the ending of the long season of mourning, and their arrival will be the signal for an uninterrupted flow of entertainments such as London has seldom seen.

THE KING'S ROBES

At the Coronation George V. Will Wear the Mantle Worn by George IV.

The King has decided, says the "Times," to wear at his Coronation the Imperial mantle or pall worn by King George IV., instead of that worn by King Edward VII., which it was his Majesty's original intention to wear. After the coronation of King George IV. the robe became the property of the Lord Great Chamberlain, and thus passed into private hands. It has been offered, as an act of homage, by its owner, to the King, who has signified his acceptance of the gift. The robe is in a perfect state of preservation, having apparently been laid in a cedar box, from which it has recently been taken. It is of the finest cloth of gold, and as fresh in appearance as if it had but just left the loom. It is an admirable example of the hand-loom industry of the Spitalfields weavers, and has woven into its surface the badges of the three kingdoms of England, Scotland and Ireland, in this respect it presents, in the opinion of some good judges, a more striking and harmonious appearance than the robe woven for King Edward, on which the badges were embroidered by hand. The robe is surrounded by a deep fringe of pure gold threads.

THE DELHI DURBAR

Although no definite decision has yet been taken on the subject, it is probable that Lord Crewe, if he recovers from his recent accident, will accompany the King to India on the occasion of the Delhi Durbar. It is also expected that other officials of the India Office may visit India on this occasion.

Rush for Flats

Nearly 4,000 applications have been received for the dwellings that have been erected at the corner of Old Street and City Road, E.C., at a total cost of about $825,000, by the trustees of the late Mr. W. R. Sutton, the carrier, who left nearly $10,000,000 for model dwellings in London. Only 284 families can be accommodated, at rentals of 75c. to $2.25 a week.

There is Only One

"Bromo Quinine"

That is

Laxative Bromo Quinine

USED THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c. E. W. Grove

A GENEROUS SOUL IS MR. JOHN BULL

The British Public Has Given Millions for the Relief of Those in Distress

On the appeal of the Mayor of Bolton for funds in the recent Pretoria Mine disaster no less than $350,000 was subscribed in a week! That alone is enough to show that John Bull is a generous soul.

The first time that he publicly helped the miners was in 1878, when nearly $150,000 was raised on behalf of the sufferers from a mine explosion in Wales. Since then every colliery disaster has found the British public to aid the widows and children left behind.

Mansion House Funds

The Britisher is as generous to his fellow-beings abroad as he is to those at home. When the Seine rose and caused such widespread damage a year ago the British public, through the medium of a Mansion House Fund, sent over nearly $350,000 for the help of their Continental neighbors.

Strange to say, the first Mansion House Fund was inaugurated to relieve Paris. This was for the relief of the sufferers in the siege by the Germans in 1871. Over $630,000 was collected and sent to Paris, partly in money and partly in clothing, food and other necessaries. The Parisians did not want money so much as food, for money was fairly plentiful, and John Bull responded to the appeals of the starving by sending over sixty-eight tons a day or two after the siege was raised. Since that first fund the Mansion House alone has received nearly $30,000,000 out of the pockets of the generous Anglo Saxon.

When the terrible earthquake at Messina startled the world with its dramatic suddenness and its consequent misery Great Britain was the foreign country that contributed most to the relief of the refugees. Over $600,000 was rapidly collected and dispatched to Italy. Germany coming next with $400,000, and France with $300,000. Newspapers all over the country opened their columns for the receipt of money from their readers, and the appeal thus made was not in vain.

Famous Famine Records

In 1878 the Mansion House opened a fund for the great Indian Famine. In response to the appeal of the Lord Mayor, the huge sum of $3,450,000 was extracted from the pockets of the nation. In 1897 another fund was organised to aid the Hindus, over two and a half million being sent to India. Altogether England has sent $10,000,000 in one way and another to relieve our fellow-subjects in India. Such figures are a splendid tribute to the generosity of the British Public.

During the Boer War, however, Britain really rose to the occasion and showed what she was capable of in emergencies. The Mansion House left all its glorious records far behind when it raised $5,659,300 for the Transvaal War Fund. In addition to this, $850,000 was given to the fund for the Transvaal refugees and $585,000 for the C.I.V.'s. That was the Mansion House alone, and when it is recalled that there were three other funds of a similar kind in existence at that time one is astonished at the capacity of John Bull's pockets. Altogether nearly $20,000,000 was subscribed during the days of the war. Britain paid generously for the magnificent help that her soldiers and sailors gave her.

An Unpopular Appeal

The greatest individual sum ever given to a fund, apart from the permanent charitable organizations, was the $125,000 given by Sir Thomas Lipton to the Poorest of the Poor London Jubilee Dinner Fund in 1897.

Practically only once has the British public refused to give, and give handsomely. On April 13th, 1882, the Lord Mayor of London announced that he wished to receive funds to help the unemployed to emigrate. In twelve days only a few paltry pounds were collected, and, as a result, the Lord Mayor was compelled to close the fund and to return the few amounts that had been sent.

The British Public are, as a rule, however, only too willing to subscribe, and the names of a few funds will show how wide are their sympathies: Princess Alice disaster, Hungarian floods of 1879, Relief of Persecuted Russian Jews, Iceland Famine, Egypt Cholera, Gordon Memorial, Ottawa Fire of 1901, and the St. Vincent volcanic eruption of 1902.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

Who will come to Canada in September as Governor-General, succeeding Earl Grey.

CHARGERS FOR THE ARMY

English Veterinaries Are Making Purchases in Austria

Two English veterinary surgeons, of the highest standard, are now on their way to Austria with $50,000 to spend on the purchase of 210 chargers for the Army and Naval tournament, which is to tour the British Isles this spring and summer. In the case of horses for the officers over $300 will be given per animal. It has been decided to purchase horses of Hungarian breed, because they are docile, very intelligent, and can stand sea voyages better than do English or Irish animals. The Hungarian breed is three parts Arab, and the Austrian cavalry has proved what superb chargers they are. The uniforms for the tournament, which have just been delivered, are exact counterparts of those used by the British Army save for the buttons and badges.

DANCING AND LONGEVITY

The Paris correspondent of the "Standard," discussing the question of dancing and longevity, points out that the celebrated Vestris died at the age of 80, and his son is now 102, with a cousin 90 years old. Petitpa lived to the ripe age of 80, and his brother reached 95 before dying at St. Petersburg in 1898, and the brother of Mariante, an old favorite of the Paris Opera, recently expired at Rouen at the age of 102.

FIVE CENTENARIANS

A Wonderful Old Lady Who Had 170 Living Descendants—Remarkable Longevity

At Leicester Workhouse Infirmary the death has occurred of Mrs. Elizabeth Jarrom, in her 101st year. When the old lady celebrated her 100th birthday, on March 13th last, there were great rejoicings in the workhouse—a birthday party—and a big birthday cake, which Mrs. Jarrom took great interest in cutting. She had a family of eleven children, of whom six survive, the eldest being a son of 72 years and the youngest 62. Her descendants include 48 grandchildren, 108 great-grandchildren, and eight great-great-grandchildren, making a total of 170. Mrs. Jarrom smoked a clay pipe regularly, and was the proud possessor of a handsome silver tobacco-box, presented to her by Dr. Ellis on the occasion of her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Kate Sykes Waters, who lived at Milton, Sittingbourne, with a son aged 82 and his wife aged 80, is dead at the age of 101. She could see to read and thread a needle without the aid of glasses.

Mrs. Clementine Edwards, Queensborough, passed away in her 101st year. She was the mother of eleven children, of whom only a daughter, who is in receipt of an old-age pension, survives. Except for being rather deaf, Mrs. Edwards retained the full possession of her faculties.

Few would dread the approach of old age if it came to all as gently and lightly as it has done to Mrs. Bacon, of Burghclere, Hampshire, whose hundredth birthday was marked by a letter of congratulation from the King. This wonderful old lady leads a life that many a man or woman thirty years her junior might envy. Each morning she comes down to breakfast at 8.30, and fills her day reading the newspapers and writing to and receiving her many friends and relations. When it is fine she goes driving in a donkey-chaise. "I am not a very good walker now," she said, as she stepped out of the low carriage and went briskly to the house. At luncheon and dinner she sits at the head of her table and carves or helps the various dishes and in the evening, when tired of reading she wears no spectacles—she plays bezique or some other game till ten o'clock, when she goes to bed.

Mrs. Ann Speed, who celebrated her 101st birthday at the village of Heighington, near Lincoln, received letters of congratulation from all quarters of the globe. Almost every Friday morning Mrs. Speed carries her basket of eggs to market at Lincoln. She attends to her poultry herself, and still bakes her own bread.

Quick Returns

Honest Assortment
Correct Market Prices Paid for all kinds of
RAW FURS and SKINS
Send your collections to
REVILLON FRERES
ESTABLISHED 1723
The Leader in the world's Fur Trade.
124 et 126 McGill Street, Montreal.
Our PRICE LIST FREE for the asking.
WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst	1.40 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
North Bay, Sturgeon Falls and Toronto	9.00 p.m.	5.30 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.35 a.m. 5.35 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 9.05 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.35 a.m.	11.45 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and east.	5.35 p.m.	9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m. 10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m. 6.24 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east.	8.15 a.m. 5.35 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Wakefield.	12.30 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	9.35 a.m. 12.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m. 1.01 p.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	4.35 a.m. 4.01 a.m.
Clarkstown, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Toronto.	7.40 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points	4.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$42.60 PACIFIC COAST

ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS
MAR. 10 TO APRIL 10

THE ONLY THROUGH LINE

TOURIST AND COLONIST SLEEPING CARS ON ALL TRAINS

Ask any C.P.R. Agent for Particulars

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Reduced Rates for One-Way Tickets
March 10 to April 10
inclusive

42.60 { Vancouver, B. C. / Spokane, Wash. / Seattle, Wash. / Portland, Ore.

45.20 { San Francisco, Cal. / Los Angeles, Cal. / Mexico City

Above rates are one way second class applying from Peterborough. Proportionate rates to certain other points.

Full particulars and tickets from—
City Ticket Office: 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE, City Ticket Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

COAL! COAL!

The Standard Anthracite D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord Cutting and Splitting extra

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 48

COAL

That Is Coal

is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class Best in City at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

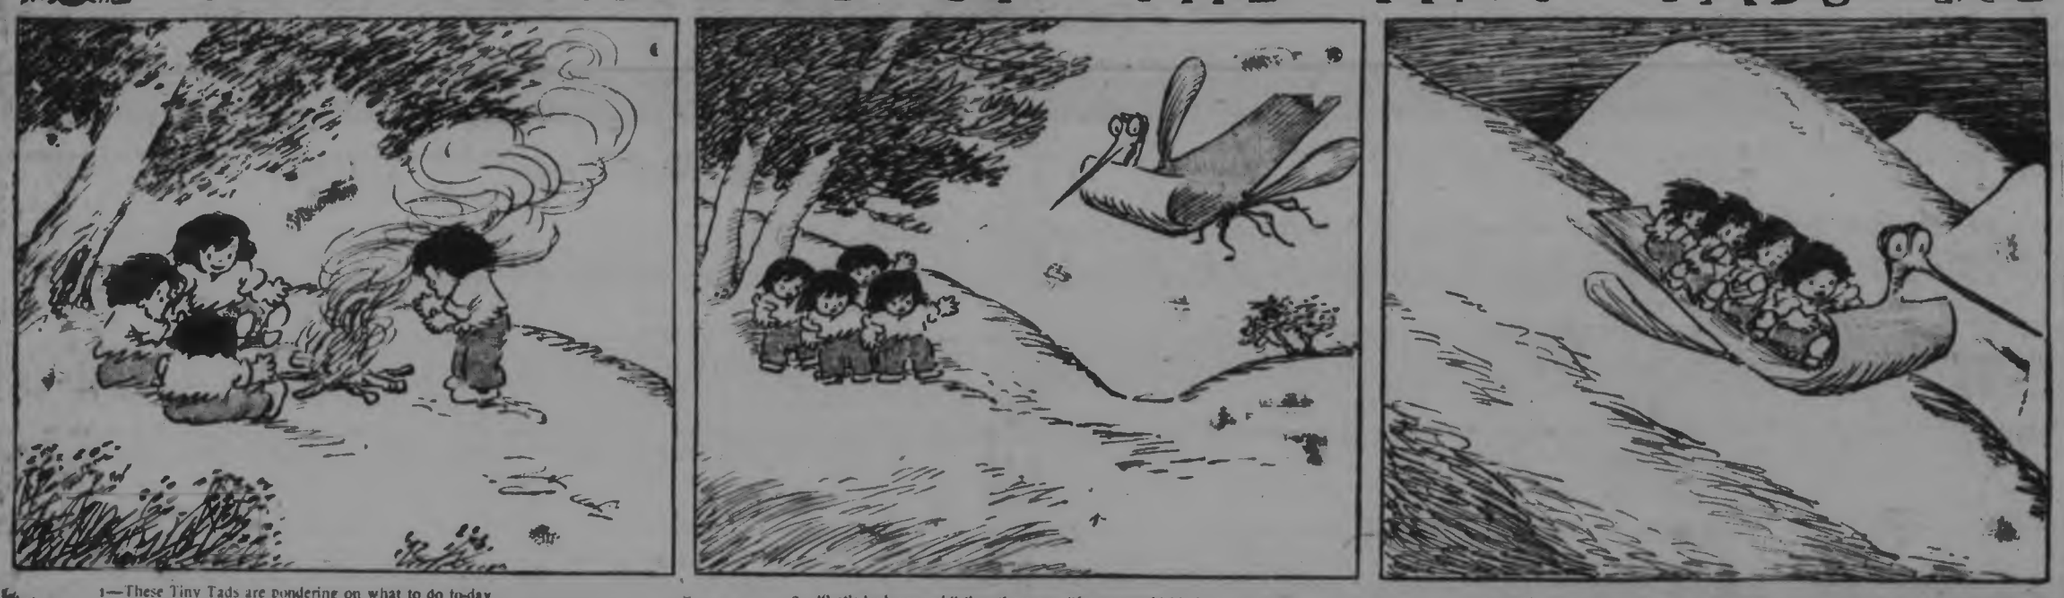
New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 628

THE RAG TAGS AND BOB TAIL

THE TERRORS OF THE TINY TADS



1—These Tiny Tads are pondering on what to do to-day.
"I wish we'd brought our sleds along," you hear one of them say.

2—"Let's look around," the others cry, "for some old kind of sled.
Oh, here's a Mosquitoboggan! Perhaps he'll do instead."

3—"Oh, please come down to us," they beg, "and please give us a ride!"
"All right," replies the insect thing; then down the hill they slide.

4—But all at once they hit a stump! The Tinies tumble out!
In vain they try to stop themselves, in vain they yell and shout.

5—A Pumattress is passing by beneath the precipice.
"Oh, goody!" cry the Tiny Tads. "We shan't get hurt on this."

6—"You should have heard him spit and growl!" declares a Tiny Tad.
"I was rude of him!" replies a mate. "His pumanners are bad!"

"I COULD NOT LIVE"

WITHOUT "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Writes The Treasurer Of Caledonia Township

FENAGHVALE, ONT., Jan. 29th, 1910.

For thirty-five years (and I am now a man over seventy) I have been a terrible sufferer from Constipation.

No matter what remedy or physician I employed, the result was always the same—impossible to get a cure.

About two years ago, I read the testimonial of Hon. John Costigan regarding "Fruit-a-tives" and I decided to give this fruit medicine a trial. I have used "Fruit-a-tives" ever since. They are the first and only medicine that suited my case. If it were not for "Fruit-a-tives", I am satisfied that I could not live." JAMES PROUDFOOT.

The liver controls the bowels by giving up enough bile to make the bowels move. The only possible way to cure constipation is to make the liver active and healthy and thus store up sufficient bile to move the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" acts directly on the liver—ensures an abundance of bile—and causes the bowels to move regularly and naturally. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. trial size, 25c. At dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Helps FOR THE Afflicted

For 50 years we have been making and fitting each individual case with the correct appliances suitable to the conditions, giving ease, comfort and satisfaction. :: ::

Trusses, Artificial Limbs
—AND—
Deformity Appliances

AUTHORS & COX
136 CHURCH STREET, TORONTO

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,253,504.10
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,506,026.80
Surplus $1,780 477.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'
W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited
162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

PETERBORO' PENNANTS 50c
J. J. TURNER & SONS
Corner George, King and Water Streets.
Both Phones Peterborough

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels
Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

THE PRIME MINISTERS AT THE CORONATION

After the Imperial Conference They Will be the Guests of the King

It has been announced officially that the Prime Ministers of the overseas dominions who come to London for the Imperial Conference at the end of May will, at the conclusion of the Conference, become the guests of the King, and will remain in England for the Coronation ceremony. The conference opens on May 22nd, and the Prime Ministers and the Ministers who will accompany them are expected to arrive during the previous week. The Colonial Office has acquired rooms at the Hotel Cecil for all the Prime Ministers and Ministers during the time that the Imperial Conference is sitting. When the conference comes to an end the Prime Ministers will become the King's guests. They will, however, continue to stay at the Hotel Cecil. The other Ministers will not officially be the guests of the King, but it is understood that they will retain their rooms at the hotel until the conclusion of the Coronation celebrations.

MRS. MAURICE BRETT

Formerly Zena Dare, the charming English comedienne, whose husband, Capt. Maurice Brett, has been dropped from the Coldstream Guards for violating their unwritten law that no member of the organization shall marry an actress.

TEACHING BOYS TO WORK LAND

The Education Committee of Surrey, England, Have Faced the Question of "Back to the Land"

The back-to-the-farm problem is being worked out in many ways with varying degrees of success. In Surrey the Education Committee have faced the question. Instruction in the A B C of farming has gone far beyond the experimental stage, for the school at Ripley is only one of the 140 in the country where the boys are turned out twice a week for some practical work of the soil. Some twenty of these scholars, who had exchanged pen and exercise book for spade and hoe, were at work on a half acre plot adjoining the school. Some of them had to be content with ordinary digging, others were carefully preparing the soil, and the more advanced, with an obvious sense of weighty responsibility, were sowing the seed that will provide the rest of the term's work. The boys are taught all the processes of the cultivation of growing plants and how to ascertain the value, by actual demonstration, of nitrates, phosphates, potash and farmyard manure. "The fathers of these lads can teach them the rough work of gardening," the schoolmaster pointed out, "but few of them can explain the why and the wherefore of things. Many of these boys already know more about the theory of farming than their parents. Although one aim of the school garden is to keep the boys on the land, that is not the primary aim. We find it to be an excellent method of correlating all the other subjects of elementary education. For instance, the boys are taught the practice of measuring, the estimation of values, observation drawing, the elements of chemistry so far as it applies to farming, nature study, arithmetic, and the rewards of industry." This year there will be 2,600 boys receiving garden instruction in the county in addition to 180 at evening continuation school gardens. "To a boy properly trained," added the schoolmaster, "there is more money and a better life in farming and gardening than in the town work into which he would probably drift."

MME. JEANNE QUEHU

The pretty little Paris shop-girl who has been chosen Queen of the Carnival, and will preside over the historical pageant of Mi-Careme, the main feature of the annual Mid-Lenten celebration.

Jimmy—"What do you suppose they mean by 'a mathematical impossibility'?"

Tommy—"I s'pose it must be a sum that teacher can't do."

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.
is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto

GIRLS OF GERMANY WANT CANADIANS

They Do Not Think English Women Should Have the Monopoly of Canadian Bachelors

German girls are preparing to compete with their English cousins for Canadian husbands, according to an amusing letter from one prospective bride in the Tageblatt. The letter is signed "Helene," and the editor of the Tageblatt is assured that it is in every respect genuine. The writer, who appears to be a Suffragette, with keen insight into the political discontent now rife in Germany, says: "I see by the newspapers that Canada is looking for 5,000 brides, and that there are 50,000 eligible bachelors there without suitable feminine acquaintances. Will you please, Mr. Editor, give us the fullest possible information about conditions in Canada, because we intend going there to find husbands. We do not see why young English women should snatch the best catches from under the very nose of us German girls. Since the German government pays no attention whatever to the colossal surplus of German girls, and as the high price of meat is making it increasingly difficult for respectable girls to get married, ...e girls of our circle have unanimously decided to become British subjects and to emigrate to Canada in order that the aspirations of the Canadian bachelors may be gratified. The Prussian government will then realize that through its obsolete franchise system the young women to whom the vote is refused have been driven into the arms of England."

WESTMINSTER ABBEY

It Will be Closed to the Public Until Three Weeks After the Coronation

The Dean and Chapter of Westminster have decided definitely to close Westminster Abbey until further notice for the purpose of making preparations for the Coronation. It will not be re-opened to the general public until several weeks after the Coronation ceremonies, beyond possibly certain days on which the completed arrangements for the Coronation may be viewed. The Mall approach will be completed in time for the Coronation procession. The Westminster City Council has decided to serve notice at once on the owners of property required to make the approach seventy-five feet wide. This action was taken under what is known as Michael Angelo Taylor's Act, which empowers a borough or city council to serve notices for the acquisition of property needed for small improvements without the necessity of going to Parliament. The amount of compensation to be paid will be referred to arbitration.

To the old maid hope cries "Cheer up! The first is yet to come."

Platonic friendship is the interval between the introduction and the first kiss.

VENERABLE FORGER SENTENCED

Henri Torgenberger, eighty-seven years of age, has just been condemned to three months' imprisonment at Zurich for forging and selling Swiss stamps. He made reproductions of several old Swiss stamps, which he sold to an expert as genuine for the sum of 15s.

NOTABLE SENTENCES

Selections from Some of the Great Speeches of Recent Date in Britain

Sabbatarianism is dying, if not dead.—Mr. George Henson.

Conscious sacrifice is the very law of love.—Mr. A. Haworth.

Wisdom and integrity are the poles of industrial life.—M. W. W. Blight.

Our school children are talked to death, and given no time to think.—Mr. A. Sharp.

Life has more in it than has ever yet been revealed, or realized.—Canon Scott-Holland.

Some of the best singing is to be found in the very worst neighborhoods.—Dr. Borland.

No leader ever existed worthy of the name but was a sublime optimist.—Dr. Walter R. Hadwen.

Every Englishman, every man, who takes an interest in his country ought to be a politician.—Dr. Chevasse.

If the present laws of libel were not in existence many biographies would make very good reading.—Mr. Edmund Goss.

Co-partnership is quietly though slowly building up a type of character which will make a new era.—Mr. Henry Vivian.

In industrial life men are working up to such a high standard that the slightest failure must spell disaster.—Canon Wright.

There is no man so sure of himself that he can afford to say he could never learn anything from his neighbors.—Lord Derby.

There never was a time in history when ingenuity and capacity in boys and girls were so marked as to-day.—Mr. Will Crooks, M.P.

Men who are so afraid of doing foolish things that they lack the courage to attempt wise ones will never do much.—Lord Mayor of Norwich.

Society is divided into two classes—the men who do all the work of life, and those who find fault with it when it is done.—Sir Benjamin Johnson.

To so many people their holiday is not only not the best part of their lives, but it is not even so good as the rest of their lives.—Sir Edward Russell.

There is always room for the man who does not get tired, who does not watch the clock, who has imagination and ambition.—Mr. H. Gordon Selfridge.

It may be doubted whether any century has seen so extraordinary an advance in the comfort and well-being of the community as the last.—Bishop of Manchester.

We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that great changes seem to be coming over every department of our national life—religious, social, and political.—Prebendary Moor.

LOVED HER, HOME AND ALL

Ethel—I love you, Harry, and I would consent to be yours, only I have promised mamma and papa never to leave them as long as they live.

Harry—Well, isn't there some way in which they can furnish a room for me?

SPEEDING THE PARTING GUEST

She—You went to the station with your guests? But it's a long way off. How fond you must be of them!

He—Oh, no. It was merely to make sure that they did go.

FREE PSYCHINE FOR THE SICK

Let us buy a 50c. bottle from your Druggist and give it to you to try. Here are our reasons:

For nearly the third of a century we have known what Psychine will do. We have known it to cure hundreds of thousands in that time, of some of the most desperate cases of disease known to medical science.

We have received thousands of unsolicited testimonials, which we will gladly let you look over should you desire.

Think of it, a third of a century's experience with one preparation, a third of a century's intimate knowledge of what extraordinary cures it has made—almost a lifetime!

Do you wonder then with that perfect knowledge of Psychine, that we are anxious to bring it to the notice of everyone in Canada suffering from disease?

Do you wonder that we want those to know who are using wrong methods of cure, who are not getting well, and who we know will be benefited by Psychine.

Do you wonder that we can buy hundreds of thousands of 50-cent bottles of Psychine from the druggists of Canada to give to those who wish to try it?

* * *

Psychine builds vitality.

It strengthens and increases the white corpuscles of the blood—the phagocytes, the policemen or scavengers of the blood

These white corpuscles of the blood, when strong enough, destroy every disease germ that gets into the body, keeps the body healthy.

If these white corpuscles are not in sufficient numbers or are not sufficiently strong, then these disease germs destroy them and disease holds the body. That's the cause of nearly every disease that afflicts the human race. For years, centuries, in fact, it has been recognized that herbs are the most effective treatment for disease.

It is only within recent times that we have been able to tell just why they were so effective.

Because certain of them increased and strengthened the white corpuscles or phagocytes.

These herbs are employed in compounding Psychine.

We go all over this world to obtain these herbs. Arabia, South America, China and Japan all contribute.

And the result is a preparation that will restore health and build vitality as no other preparation will.

That has proven itself in nearly the third of a century's use as no other preparation has proven itself.

That is a most effective treatment for:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice
Sore Throat	Spring Weakness
Anaemia	Early Decline
Female Weakness	Catarrhal Affections
Indigestion	Catarrh of Stomach
Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and Nervous Troubles	Laryngitis and Dyspepsia
After effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La Grippe.

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our 30 years' experience with this splendid preparation, with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

COUPON No. 82

To the Dr. T. A. SLOCUM, Ltd.
193-195 Spadina Ave., Toronto

I accept your offer to try a 50c. bottle of Psychine (pronounced Si-Keen) at your expense. I have not had a 50c. bottle of Psychine under this plan. Kindly advise my druggist to deliver this bottle to me.

My Name.....

Town.....

Street and Number.....

My Druggist's Name.....

Street and Number.....

This coupon is not good for a 50c. bottle of Psychine if presented to the druggist—it must be sent us—we will then buy the 50c. bottle of Psychine from your druggist and direct him to deliver it to you. This offer may be withdrawn at any time without notice. Send coupon to-day.

Made in Canada, at London, Ont.

10c per pkg.

From the Heart of the Corn Comes This Perfect Food

Of all the kinds of cereals to be had to-day Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes alone combines deliciousness, healthfulness and digestibility.

It is just a good, common-sense food that contains as much nutritive value as meat or eggs, at much less cost.

It gives strength and vitality to children—is ideal for invalids. 19

Kellogg's TOASTED CORN FLAKES

LONDON GIRLS WERE PRETTIEST

Sir Francis Galton, the last of the great Victorian scientists, who died recently, had a curious bent of mind at times. For instance, he made an instrument for carrying in the pocket by which he could tick off, as he passed in the street, the number of girls who were "good," "medium," or "bad" in regard to looks. "I found," he said, "London to rank highest for beauty and Aberdeen lowest." On another occasion, when he had his portrait painted, he beguiled the tedium of sitting by counting the strokes of the brush that went to make his picture, and the total, to his great surprise, amounted to 20,000.

Your Danger From Kidney Troubles

BEGINS WHEN YOUR BACK ACHES.

Backache is the first and the sure sign of kidney disease.

When the back aches or becomes weak it is a warning that the kidneys are affected in some way.

Next to the heart, the kidneys are, perhaps the most important organs in the body. It is no wonder then that if the kidneys are affected the whole system must be.

On the first sign of backache Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They go right to the seat of the trouble, heal the delicate membranes of the kidneys and make their action regular and natural."

Mr. E. J. Saulnier, Lake Annis, N.S., writes:—"I take a great deal of pleasure in telling you the benefit I have received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with my kidneys for several years; my back was weak, I had terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night. I commenced using Doan's Kidney Pills and in a very short time I was right and fit again."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

FOR SALE

Two Houses, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

Cookson's Antimony

Immediate Delivery

The CANADA METAL CO., Limited
31 William St. - - Toronto, Ont.

PERHAPS NOT YET—
BUT EVENTUALLY

McCORMICK'S JERSEY CREAM SODAS

Will have a permanent place on your daily menu. Quality will win. Serve at breakfast with bowl of hot milk and sugar—lunch with glass of milk and cheese—dinner with soup or in place of bread.

Evaporated FRUITS

The home prepared supply which is running low, can be nicely supplemented by our newly arrived evaporated fruits.

Apples, Apricots Peaches, Prunes

A nice change that is cheap this season is sliced

Oranges or Grapa Fruit

Thinking of pie materials reminds us of our

LADIES' FAVORITE FLOUR

If not the flour you use, try it

We sell ROSE BRAND LARD

Porter S. White

336 Georde St. - Phone 208

Special Sale

Another Special Sale for This Week

A few only of Paisley Silk Waists, all colors and different designs, regular $5 for..... $3.98

3 pieces of Scotch Plaid Silkoline for children's dresses and ladies' waists, will wash and wear well, regular 20c per yard for per yard..... 11c

2 pieces only of double fold striped Dress Lustre for ladies' wash dresses, regular 50c for 25c

Ladies' and Misses' White Lawn Corset Covers trimmed with fine Valenciennes lace and insertion, reg. 50c for each. 19c

Some boxes of dainty neck frillings, Lace Chiffon, etc. in pretty shades, the best quality, reg. 35c for yard..... 15c

A few lines in Men's and Boy's Caps of all kinds in all sizes, these are to be cleared at each 25c

See our New Spring Goods, Ladies' and Gent's Ready-to-wears, Boots and Shoes, all housefurnishings.

432 GEORGE ST. PHONE 567

The Elite Clothing Store

Our Photos

Always please because the likeness is true, the finish perfect the subject is naturally and effectively posed, and the work is mounted and put up in the very latest style

Louis Mendelssohn

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

Coleman Bros

—For—

The BEST Baking Catering Ice Cream and Candies

426 George St.

The Spring Suit

Before deciding on the Spring Suit, better investigate all round. With a chance to show you our high class goods, expert workmanship, and we are willing then to leave the decision to you. No better goods anywhere, no work quite so select, and prices very reasonable.

Latest New York Styles

Come early for prompt delivery.

Good Girls Wanted

I. GOLDBERG

Ladies' Tailor

Phone 1467 : 452 George St.

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

(Continued from Tuesday)

"Tommy," remarked Hambidge in his most judicial manner, "you're feverish, that's what you are. And unless you cool down I'll ask Winthrop to have you withdraw from the case. You'll only frustrate our efforts unless you'll behave sensibly, like a real grown-up man."

"Sensibly!" snorted Barrett; but he ceased tramping around the studio and threw himself into a chair.

"Go on," he growled.

"I will, so as to save time. In the first place Winthrop isn't in love with the girl—"

"Tell that to the Marines!"

"And furthermore," Hambidge, continued calmly, "Mr. Cuyler has pledged him to secrecy—absolute secrecy. For many good reasons he would not have the police get hold of this, or the newspapers, except as the last final resore. Neither would he call on a private detective agency, for fear of a leak, I mean. But he has done something better, far more important, far more effective."

"What?" Barrett commanded with ill-concealed disgust.

Hambidge's voice sank. "He has invoked the personal aid of the President, who has placed at his disposal the Chief Consulting Agent of the Federal Secret Service."

"Bully for Cuyler!" cried the other man, springing from his chair. "Here Bill, give me something to smoke—where does Winthrop keep his cigars? . . . . Go on, son. What next?"

"This agent, a yellow-haired beggar, called Wotsirb—though I don't believe that's his real name—came here this morning, I mean yesterday morning, Sunday—with a camera and photographed Miss Cuyler's portrait, which Winthrop had just about finished."

"Her protrait! Where is that it?"

Hambidge nodded, and Barrett, stepping ot the easel, threw back the cloth hanging before it.

For a full minute he stood motionless before a masterly painting of a young girl in simple, unaffected costume, looking straight at him with deep, wide-open eyes—an inspired portrait if ever there was one. He could almost see her full, young bosom rise and fall; he could almost hear her speak with those half-parted lips.

Instantly, quietly, his hat came off, and he stood motionless, his head inclined as if in her living presence. Then he took one deep, long breath and turned to his friend who now stood beside him.

"Is that Eleanor Cuyler?" he asked in a reverent whisper.

Hambidge nodded.

"Are you sure that—that Winthrop—our chum—that Winthrop really does not love her?"

Again Hambidge nodded.

"Absolutely sure," he said in matter-of-fact tones.

And Barrett, in wonder, silently returned to his chair.

VII.

Nine o'clock found them breakfasting with Winthrop, at his club.

"Haste is waste, not promptness," said Hambidge, "so let's take our time and have a satisfactory meal. We've got a lot of things to talk over and we might as well do it here as at the studio."

"All right, all right," Barrett assented, "but it won't take me long to eat. . . . Just order peaches and cream for me, Sheldon, and a couple of poached eggs and rolls, and a brace of English chops. Coffee, of course, but only two or three cups."

"What!" the painter exclaimed in well-feigned surprise, "no cereal?"

"Well," Barrett hesitated, "perhaps you had better add some oatmeal."

"And a porterhouse?" added Hambidge, inquiringly.

"No," thundered the other, perceiving that they were chaffing him. "Just what I have told you. That's all . . . . . If I weighed a measly hundred-and-fifty, like you bantams, I could get along on a few crumbs. But when a man's full grown and tips the scales at two-hundred and twenty, stripped, he needs a meal, not an excuse for one."

"Look here," Hambidge broke in, taking a newspaper from his pocket, and pointing to a "personal" on the front page.

They looked and read the following:

"Reward of fifty and no questions asked, for return in good condition of parcel in white and brown covering, missing from Seventh Avenue car near Forty-fourth Street, at about noon, Monday, July 10. M. C."

"Ah!" exclaimed the painter, that's Wotsirb. If anyone has abducted Eleanor they'll be sure to watch the Personal column for an offer of ransom, and they'll recognise Mortimer Cuyler's initials at once. It means fifty thousand, probably, as a starting figure to work up from."

"I don't know this Secrect Service man," Barrett remarked, attacking a roll; "but if he's doing that sort of thing he's on the wrong track. Let him alone though, and well get out and find the girl while he's pulling wires and trying to trap the kidnappers."

"What's your idea?" asked the lawyer, with interest.

"The obvious thing to do is to get hold of the last person who saw Miss Cuyler. That person is the conductor of the Seventh Avenue car."

"As she probably got off at Twenty-third Street," Hambidge rejoined, "with a dozen other women, it isn't likely the Conductor would remember anything about her—especially since a whole week has gone by—even if you could locate the conductor."

"Just the same, it's the first logical step to take," Barrett remarked with dogged persistence.

Winthrop said nothing.

"It's certainly worth considering, Tom—your plan, I mean," Hambidge admitted, "but we'd better wait until we get back to the studio before deciding on it. Meanwhile, we can be thinking of possible objections."

When they returned to Fifty-Fifth street, an hour later, and gathered around a table, Barrett, as was his wont, took charge of the situation.

"Gentlemen," said he, without preliminary, "this is a council of war. We must proceed carefully, but above all, expeditiously. In the first place, it is of the utmost importance for us to keep in touch with each other, and with Mr. Cuyler, and this detective person. In other words, one of us must stay here in the studio which we will regard as headquarters."

"Winthrop is the man for that job" Hambidge suggested.

"I agree with you," replied Barrett, "especially because he knows the Cuylers personally and is known to the Secret Service man."

"You and I will act as the field-force, then?"

"As scouts, perhaps," returned the Bostonian. "But first there is one little preliminary to be arranged. We need sinews for this campaign as for any other war. Now, don't interrupt until I'm through!" he continued hastily. "Boys, there's no use acting like a parcel of fools. In the old days at college when two of us were strapped—as was generally the case—the third man put all he had and divided equally, and nobody ever thought of having an accounting."

"Well, I'm not strapped exactly," the lawyer rejoined.

"And I have nearly five thousand available in bonds," Winthrop added, reddening a little.

"Glad to hear it," Barrett went on without the quiver of an eyelash. "Keep it there, my son. You've worked hard and long to get that much together—oh, I know something about painter-chaps!" he exclaimed jovially, clapping his friend on the knee with a force that was felt for three days. "Now, I've got that much and more, coming to me every thiray days, without lifting a finger even to beckon to it."

He pushed back his chair and gazed into the faces of the other two.

"I put up the capital for this game," he concluded, "or I don't play."

"Not for a minute," cried Winthrop.

"Well, I guess not!" Hambidge chimed in. "Where are you going?" he added as Barrett suddenly arose, kicking his chair half way across the room as he did so, and reaching for his hat.

"I'm going back home," he growled in tones of disgust, starting for the door.

Hambidge also stood up.

"Come back here, Tom," he commanded. "Don't be an ass. You can do as you like, and we can settle later."

"Now you're talking sense," observed the New Englander, tossing his hat on the table. "But what's the first thing to do?"

"Start down town and—" Mr. Cuyler," said Winthrop.

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURES ALL Skin Diseases.

All diseases of the skin are, more or less, directly occasioned by a bad state of the blood, and it is absolutely impossible to eradicate them from the system unless you put your blood into good shape.

The following skin diseases are curable by Burdock Blood Bitters through its wonderful cleansing, purifying powers on the blood, and its renovating action on the system, viz., Salt Rheum, Tetter, Shingles, Scurf, Erysipelas, Itching and Burning Rashes, Ulcers, Sores, etc.

Miss Stella Eichel, Maitland Forks, N.S., writes: "I have been bothered with salt rheum, on my hands, for three years, and it itched so I did not know what to do. I tried everything but nothing seemed to be any good. I heard of Burdock Blood Bitters and bought two bottles of it, and now I am perfectly cured and have no salt rheum on my hands any more.

"I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters."

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited Toronto, Ont.

CREDIT

Makes a Hard Road EASY

WE SELL what we advertise without extra charge for CREDIT. Credit will serve you well HERE.

ECONOMY

says buy NOW and BUY HERE.

Open An Account Now

Get high grade Ladies' and Gents Clothing ready-to-wear for the Spring. Special Ladies' Suits, most up to-date, all reduced prices for early buyers.

Ladies' Suits, reg. 35.00 for..... $27.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 25.00 for..... 19.05
Ladies' Suits, reg. 18.00 for..... 12.80
All good tailored and all colours

New Line of Millinery

New line of Millinery will open for Spring. Come and pick out your Hat HERE.

All kinds of House Furnishings, Linoleums, Oilcloths, squares, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains in best quality.

CASH OR CREDIT

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

The Best Credit Clothiers in City

183 CHARLOTTE STREET

When shopping don't say "A pound of tea", you will get better tea-value if you ask for

SALADA TEA

"I'll go along and wait until you find out whether he's heard anything over Sunday," Barrett remarked. "Then I'll make it my business to get next to the conductor of that car, Bill," he added, "it's up to you to stay here and keep house. I don't know just when we'll get back, but we must all meet again sometime today or to-night. Come on, Sheldon."

The two men went out to the corner and walked toward the nearest elevated railroad station, engrossed in their plans for the immediate future. They were mounting the steps, when Barrett paused.

"How do you know Mr. Cuyler's in his office? Let's find out before we travel away down to Wall street."

"That's so—suppose I step over to the hotel there and telephone him? Then if he can see me, we will take the elevated for down-town."

Johnson responded to the telephone call. Mr. Cuyler was in; he had reached his office at eight that morning, and would be very glad to see Mr. Winthrop.

"I'll be down immediately," said the other, ringing off.

The financier's secretary was on the lookout and met them near the main entrance to the banking house, but before he could greet them a gigantic Irishman stepped forward to ask the newcomers whom they wished to see. "Big Mike's" business was to be sure that no crank or newly-arrived unarchist came over the threshold of Cuyler & Company's quarters. He kept track of professional crooks as a matter of general interest, but not because any of them would try to gain admittance to his employer's offices. The under-world did not invade the financial district. Superintendent Byrnes had already established the "dead-line" at Fulton street; and any crook known to the police who attempted to cross it was supposed to be arrested on sight, no matter what his errand—"for the good of society."

"Come right in, Mr. Winthrop," said Johnson ,welcoming the painter and his friend, and leading them along the corridor to one of several small waiting-rooms.

As they passed him "Big Mike" photographed their faces and general appearance on the unfading film of his remarkable memory. They might not come within his ken again for ten years, or twenty—but whenever, or wherever, they should reappear, alone or together, he would recognize them instantly, unerringly. That was why he drew five thousand dollars a year salary for standing by that front door seven hours a day, apparently doing nothing.

Barrett remained in a waiting-room while Johnson took Winthrop into the private office where Cuyler sat alone at a large, old-fashioned mahogany desk.

The banker greeted his visitor with a quiet cordiality, but his expression was tense, and there were lines of anxiety about his eyes.

"Have a chair, Sheldon," he said; then added to his secretary, "Don't let me be disturbed by anyone excepting Wotsirb—he must have immediate access at any moment."

Johnson closed the door after him and sat near it, where he could intercept anyone approaching the private office.

"First of all," the banker continued, turning to his visitor, "have you heard or found ont anything?"

"Practically nothing. You saw that personal in the morning papers, of course?"

The older man nodded.

Winthrop wanted to ask whether he had news of his missing daughter, but restrained the impulse; for Cuyler turned away toward the window and looked down at the human ants scurrying this way and that, through Wall street. Here and there little knots of men gathered, talked absorbingly, then hastily parted. One or two in every group showed the others something in an early edition of the afternoon papers.

There was excitement in the air, and it was growing. Newsboys were running hither and thither, selling extras. Their shrill sharp voices came to the private office indistinctly. Winthrop could not make out the words they shouted.

Finally the banker spoke again.

"Sheldon," he said, "I know how desirous you are to help find my girl, and I will put nothing in your way. Personally, however, I shall make no independent move—certainly not until Wotsirb's efforts prove fruitless. He is in complete charge of the case, and my counsel advises me to do exactly as he says, and to keep hands off."

"But you give me permission to go ahead on my own initiative?"

(To be continued.)

SIRES AND SONS.

Francis E. Cockrell of Missouri served thirty years as United States senator and five years as an interstate commerce commissioner.

Sir Robert Ball, the famous astronomer, is to give up lecturing and will in future devote himself entirely to astronomical research at the Cambridge observatory.

J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., has purchased Aldenham Abbey, in Hertfordshire, from Dugald Stuart. Mr. Morgan will rechristen the place Wall Hall, which was its original name.

Umpire Bob Emslie lives in Guelph, Ont. He was a pitcher from 1882 to 1887. He began umpiring in 1888. Since 1891 he has been a member of the National league staff of umpires.

Charles H. Johnson, the new Democratic United States senator from Maine, is fifty-two years of age, and the length of his active service in the party is indicated by the fact that he was its candidate for governor twenty years ago.

Representative Gilbert M. Hitchcock, who has been elected Democratic senator from Nebraska, will have the unique distinction of wearing a senatorial toga that once rested on the shoulders of his late father, though his father's bore the Republican label.

Edwin Ginn, the Boston publisher, who has announced his intention of giving $50,000 annually to the maintenance of the International School of Peace and of making a permanent endowment for the institution, has long been known for his philanthropies. Mr. Ginn was born in Maine in 1838.

The Royal Box.

When the king of Saxony's castle at Dresden took fire recently the king personally directed the operations of the fire brigade, which worked for three hours before subduing the flames.

Crown Princess Sophia of Greece, wife of Crown Prince Konstantinos, is the commander of one of the finest regiments of the army of Greece. She is the sister of the emperor of Germany and ranks there as Princess of Prussia. She is the mother of five children.

The new king of Montenegro when he assumed his title decreed that every one addressing him as "prince" must pay a fine of a dollar for the benefit of the poor. Since then he has been obliged to pay the fine himself 302 times since he persists in referring to himself or his wife as prince or princess.

Flour in Prussia.

The first steam flour mill in Prussia was built in 1822. Up to that time grain had been ground on the share, but the new system made flour a commodity of trade, and by 1848 the bakers were buying flour alone.

Seventh Sons in Belgium.

In the early days of the reign of the late King Leopold of Belgium a seventh son was born to a Brussels woman, and when the king heard of it and was told that the boy was the seventh successive one and that no girl had come to the family he asked to be the baby's godfather. Ever since then every seventh son born in Brussels has had the same honor, and the mothers have received gifts in keeping with their station in life.

Devil's Copper.

When nickel was discovered in Germany in 1751 it was named devil's copper by the superstitious miners because it looked like copper, yet no copper could be smelted from it.

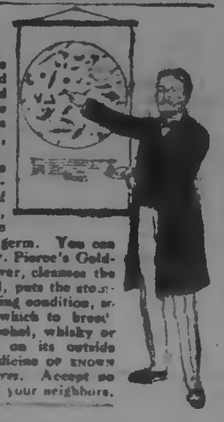
Roosevelt the "Feminine."

It has just been discovered by Dudfield Osborne that Mr. Roosevelt "is a typical embodiment of the feminine in man." Mr. Osborne announces the discovery in the Forum and ingeniously upholds it. A woman's horizon, we are told, is not less distant than a man's, but when she gazes at it she "holds up her hands like blinders and sees only the small segment that is straight ahead instead of allowing her eyes to sweep around the circumference." It has been supposed that Mr Roosevelt in the course of his seven years in the White House surveyed nearly all the known subjects surveyable by the human mind, but Mr. Osborne nevertheless finds that "his is pre-eminently a mind that sees one thing at a time, or, in other words works by intuition pure and simple." Therefore is he a feminine type.

Photographing Fish.

Living fish that are too lively for the average camera may be photographed by rendering them sluggish with chloroform, after which they may be revived unharmed.

Afraid of Ghosts



Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

Rev. Father Morrisey

Rheumatism for Several Years—Now as well as Ever

647 Main St., St. John, N. B., Nov. 27, 1908.

Father Morrisey Medicine Co., Ltd.

I am writing to tell you I have been a victim to Rheumatism for several years, and have been treated by seven doctors without finding any permanent relief until I got Father Morrisey's medicine. It has cured me so I am able to do my work and find I am as well as ever in my life.

Yours truly,
JOHN CRAWFORD.

Rheumatism cannot exist when the kidneys are in perfect working order for then they take out of the blood all the Uric Acid, which alone causes the Rheumatism.

Father Morrisey's "No. 7" Tablets

act directly on the kidneys, toning them up and helping them to clear the blood of the Uric Acid. If the Rheumatism is of long standing it may take some time to clear out all the poison, but almost from the first "No. 7" Tablets relieve the pain, and if used faithfully they rarely fail to cure.

Even if other remedies have done you no good, do not give up till you have tried Father Morrisey's "No. 7" Tablets.

50c. at your dealer's. 27

Father Morrisey Medicine Co., Ltd. Montreal, Que.

Sold and Guaranteed in Peterboro' by McDermid & Jury

DUTTON & COMPANY

Finnan Haddie White Fish Salmon Trout
Sea Herrings Burnhams Clam Chowder
Fine Nidals for Soups Oysters

FRED. WALKER, MANAGER

High Grade Sewing Machines

The quality of the White and Raymond Sewing Machines is measured by the Satisfaction they give those who use them.

WHITE } The Two Standard
RAYMOND } Machines for the Home

SOLD ON EASY TERMS

Peterborough Music Co.

404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

—the healthful drink
—the wholesome drink
—the cooling drink
—the delicious drink
—the satisfying drink is

O'Keefe's Pilsener Lager

"The Light Beer in the Light Bottle" 113

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address—
762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

FRESH DAILY

Oyster Patties
Charlotte Russe
Plum Cakes
Lemon Cakes
Fancy Biscuits
Macaroons

ICE CREAM
In Bricks or Bulk

T. H. HOOPER

327-414-601 George Street

Hair and Fancy Goods

Whatever is new and good in Hair Coiffures, or that is required in dressing the hair in the very latest style we have it. Perfect match guaranteed. Our line of Smallwares and Fancy Goods is very complete and offers a choice selection.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE

424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

LAND REGULATIONS.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts, a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

W. W. CORY.
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst.-Secy.

Bell Phone 785 George Street

Plumbing, Hot Water Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 12

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY MARCH 15 1911

PETERBORO' PRESBYTERY IS OPPOSED TO UNION

Question Was Discussed at the Annual Meeting of the Presbytery in St. Paul's Church, Port Hope, Yesterday The Vote Stood 16 to 10 Against Union.

The regular meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough was held in St. Paul's church, Port Hope, yesterday. There was a large attendance of members and much interest was taken in the proceedings. As this is the annual meeting for a review of the business of the year, a good deal of time was taken up with the reports of the various committees and other routine business.

Reports were presented on Sabbath Schools, Home Mission Augmentation, Young People's Societies, Systematic Giving, Foreign Missions, Social and Moral Reform.

In connection with the last there was considerable discussion and recommendations were made urging the adoption of temperance measures and commending the Local Option Law to the attention of communities where it has not been tried. A strong resolution was passed commending the work being done by Mr. Beal among boys and young men, and overturing the Synod to take up the matter and urge upon the educational authorities the importance of this work, with a view to having it taken under the auspices of the Department of Education, with Mr. Beal in charge.

Commissioners were appointed to the next General Assembly, which meets in Ottawa on June 7th. Those chosen were Messrs. Pogue and Keith of Peterborough; McLeod of Brighton, and Abraham of Port Hope, ministers, with Messrs. Spear, of Cobourg, D. Fife of Hastings, J. M. Drummond of Keene, and J. H. Finlay, of Norwood, elders.

Rev. Dr. R. P. McKay was nominated as Moderator of the General Assembly.

A call from Mill Street congregation of Port Hope, came up for consideration. Owing to the fact that it was understood that the call was not likely to be accepted, it was not sustained. A committee was appointed to confer with the officials and try to devise a satisfactory basis of union between the two congregations at Port Hope, and in the meantime Dr. Marsh was continued as interim moderator of Mill Street congregation.

The question of greatest interest was the discussion and determination of what should be done with the union proposals. This question had been discussed by the Presbytery on two former occasions, and the debate adjourned. It was agreed that it should be taken up at 8 o'clock last night and brought to a vote. A considerable number of people from the town were present to listen to the discussion. As a large number of members wished to speak, it was agreed that speeches should be limited to five minutes, except in the case of the leaders on each side, who were allowed 12 minutes. Rev. D. A. Thomson, Hastings, led off against the basis of union, and Rev. Wm. Beattie, Cobourg, ably advocated the cause of union. A number of others, including Messrs. Clark, Spear, McDonald, Ross, Brown, Rollins, McKenzie, Johnston, Marsh and Lees took part. The vote stood 10 for union and 16 opposed.

The ladies of St. Paul's church entertained the members of the Presbytery at supper serving a dainty and well prepared repast in the basement of their handsome and well-equipped church.

The next regular meeting will be held in St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, on Tuesday, July 11th.

PETERBOROUGH MAN IS ELECTED GRAND MASTER

Examiner Special:

SMITH'S FALLS, ONT., MARCH 15.—Sir Knight W. H. Sproule, of Ottawa, was this morning elected senior deputy grand master of Royal Black Chapter of Ontario east, which means that he will probably be Grand Master for 1912-13.

The Black Knights wound up their convention by electing the following officers for 1911: Grand Master, Sir Knight Joseph Batten, Peterborough; Deputy Grand Masters, W. H. Sproule, Ottawa and W. McMechan, Madoc; Grand Chaplain, Rev. W. F. Fitzgerald, M. A., Kingston; Honourary Grand Registrar, James Kelley, of Lindsay; Deputy Grand Registrar, N. A. Howard Moore, Peterborough; Grand Treasurer, T. C. McConnell, Springbrooke; Deputy Grand Treasurer, S. H. Thompson, Madoc.

Grand Lecturers, C. J. Smith, of Madoc and E. A. Morrow, of Sterling. Grand Censors, E. A. Denby, of Lyndhurst and J. A. Sanderson, of Kemptville. Standard Bearers, J. Tompkins, of Kemptville and W. E. Tumman, of Cookston. Grand Pursuivant, J. W. Elliott, of Dunford.

The officers were installed by Brother Thomas Gilday, of Montreal, the Grand Master of Royal Black Chapter of British North America.

TELEGRAPHED PREMIER SHE WAS BEING KILLED

Special Wire to The Examiner.

ORANGEVILLE, ONT., MARCH 15.—Mrs. Charlotte Halliday, a middle-aged woman yesterday telegraphed Sir Jas. Whitney she was being murdered and to-day was arrested, charged with insanity. She is accused of writing letters to the parliament buildings making preposterous charges against prominent citizens. Experts will examine her.

OBJECTION TO THE NAME OF BANK OF CANADA

Special to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, MARCH 15. — In the Banking and Commerce committee this morning, Hon Mr. Fielding made a vigorous objection to allowing the name of the Bank of Canada, which Rudolphe Forget, M.P. and other financiers is organizing to secure capital from Europe to the amount of millions. The Minister of Finance said that the name might lead the people to suppose it was a government institution. The supporters of the bill mentioned as precedents the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Dominion Bank and so on. The majority of the committee favoured the name, and it went through, though Fielding will have more to say in the Commons.

OTONABEE GRANGE HAS A SUCCESSFUL MEETING

The second meeting of the recently organized Grange at Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, which was held last night was very successful, and this farmers' organization at Stewart's has now gotten off to a good start. Thirteen new members were added to the roll last evening, which, with the 14 who joined the Grange when it was organized a week ago Friday night, will all be Charter members.

Mr. Sandy Matchett, Worthy Master of the Stewart's Hall Grange, took the chair. The meeting proved interesting and profitable. Several of the local men took part in the discussion of the practical subjects, which were before the meeting.

It was decided to hold meetings of the Grange weekly for a while at least, the meetings to be called at 8 o'clock each Tuesday evening. A committee was appointed to assist the lecturer, Mr. W. Sisson, in arranging for the programme for the next meeting.

BABY'S SKIN TROUBLES

"My baby boy while nursing broke out with running, watery sores all over his head and behind his ears," writes Mrs. Oscar Vascott, St. Antoine, Sask. "Many salves were prescribed to no effect. The child's head became a mass of scabs and he suffered untold agony from the dreadful itching. Dr. Chase's Ointment soon made a lasting cure, and also cured an older son of eczema."

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

HIS WIFE ELOPED WITH ONE OF BOARDERS

And Refused to Return to Her Home Until the Boarder Came Back Too—Caught at the Station

STRANGE SITUATION

Suppose you came home to find that your wife had departed in company with one of your boarders; suppose that when you discovered them at the station ready to leave the city, that your wife refused to return to you unless the boarder came back, too! That was the position a Peterborough man found himself in a few days ago. He is employed at the Canadian General Electric Company. The man in the case had been boarding with him for some time and a couple of days ago took his departure, taking with him the other man's wife and daughter. Mr. Husband got wind of the elopement in some way and succeeded in catching the party at the station before they had time to leave the city. He urged his wife to return, but she refused steadfastly unless the boarder came back. The daughter also declined to return unless her mother did and at last the husband consented and the whole party went back to their home.

AERIAL WARFARE WAS DISCUSSED

Examiner Special.

LONDON, MARCH 15. — The Commons was in a belligerent mood last night and aerial warfare was seriously discussed. It was agreed that Britain is making quiet but substantial progress in aerial equipment, but it was recommended that Lord Kitchener be appointed the head of a special commission to see that the Empire is advancing as rapidly as other nations in this regard.

BIG BOOM FALLS ON TWO MEN

Wm. Clapper and His Son, of Hastings, Have a Narrow Escape From Serious Injury

BADLY BRUISED

Special to The Examiner:

HASTINGS, MARCH 14.—An accident which might have proved more serious occurred on Saturday last to Mr. Wm. Clapper and son Lew, when the boom on the derrick broke and fell on the shoulders of the elder; also striking the younger man and severely bruising his limbs. Both are doing as well as could be expected and are grateful that they escaped with their lives.

ENDORSED THE PACT

Canadians in New York Enthusiastically Favour It

Special Wire to the Examiner.

NEW YORK, MARCH 15. — At a meeting last night of the Canadian Club at which many prominent ex-Canadians were present, the trade pact was enthusiastically endorsed. It was generally conceded that there was no tendency in reciprocity to lead to annexation.

FEDERALS BESIEGED

Special to The Examiner:

MEXICO, MARCH 15. — Advices have reached President Diaz that the Federal garrison of Olginadaz is besieged by an Insurrection force under Sanchaz. There is very little food and ammunition in town, but the inhabitants and a few soldiers are bravely awaiting assistance. Sanchaz has lots of food and guns and is prepared to fight till death. There are no troops here to go to the assistance of the besieged Federals.

THIS ONE IS ON US

But as usual, we blame the man who sets the type. The item was made to read "$1.50 to $2.50," whereas it should have read "A Saving of $150 to $250" on every course in stenography is effected by the 30-day Sol-la-bic Shorthand method, copyrighted by the Moon College, 282-286 Yonge street, Toronto. This error would have been quite apparent, had he, for a moment, stopped to realize that not only are the fees reduced by one-half, but the length of study is reduced by from four to five months, and the student thereby earns a salary just this much earlier than under any other system.

LANCTOT CASE

Examiner Special:

OTTAWA, MARCH 15.—Continuing the investigation into the charges against Lanctot, M.P., a painter named Proix told how he was sent to Lanctot's house to do work worth nine hundred dollars and told to go by a roundabout way to avoid being seen. He left the service later, but on Epiphany day was told by aLnctot he could have his job back if he made declaration in terms specified.

WEDDING BELLS

BUCHANAN—TELFORD.

A quiet wedding was solemnized yesterday at 7.30 p.m., when Rev. H. J. Keith united William James Buchanan and Louisa Telford in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony took place at the manse. Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan left on the 7.40 train for points east. On their return they will leave for Saskatchewan, where they will reside in future.

36 WORKMEN ARE BURIED

Special to The Examiner:

NASHVILLE, TENN., MARCH 15.—While engaged in raising the walls of a gutted building, thirty-six workmen were caught under a suddenly-collapsing structure, and it is feared most of them are dead. The police force and firemen are now at work clearing away the ruins to get at the bodies.

BLOWN THROUGH THE ROOF

Special to The Examiner:

HAMILTON, MARCH 15.—When John Neville's, a shoe repairer, struck a match to light his pipe this morning he was blown clear through the walls of his shack, the roof being lifted off. Gas had escaped from a disconnected meter during the night. He will recover.

New Farmers From England

Special to The Examiner:

HALIFAX, MARCH 15.—Thirty of the 285 farmers who arrived yesterday on the Royal Line from England, proceeded by special cars last evening for Ontario, where they are to settle. A representative of the Ontario Government is conducting the party.

TRIED TO END LIFE

Old Resident of Peterborough Cuts His Throat

Richard Purser, an old resident of Peterborough, who is well known in this city, attempted to put an end to his existence in Toronto on Monday, by cutting his throat and is in a critical condition, although the doctors entertain some hope for his recovery. Mr. Purser was at one time employed by the Peterborough Street Railway Company and will be remembered by many citizens.

GROWTH OF PRINCE RUPERT

The growth of Prince Rupert, the Pacific Coast terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific, is illustrated by the fact that last year over 300 ocean vessels with a tonnage of about 325,000 tons and crews numbering upwards of 21,000 men, called at that port, and, in addition, 1,200 coastwise vessels, with aggregate tonnage of 450,000 tons and crews numbering 26,000 men.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

It may interest Peterborough playgoers to learn that Mayme Gehrue, the soubrette of the "Three Twins" Company, who scored such a hit in the "Yama Yama Man" number here, is the wife of Johnny Ford, the eccentric dancer who was one of the star artists supporting Miss Vesta Victoria in her Peterborough engagement last week.

PRICE OF SUGAR IS UP AGAIN

If the price of sugar continues to aviate as it has been doing recently Canadian citizens, unless they are millionaires, will have to drink their tea and coffee without any sweetening. Yesterday, the wholesale grocers here were notified that the price had risen another 10c per hundred weight. This is the third rise since Feb. 15th, sugar being 30c per hundred weight more than it was the middle of last month.

BLOWN 100 FEET AND NOT KILLED

Two Workmen Have Miraculous Escape in a Dynamite Explosion at Sherbrooke

ONE JUST BRUISED.

Special Wire to the Examiner.

SHERBROOKE, QUE., MARCH 15.—To be blown a hundred feet together with half a ton of flying rock and not fatally hurt was the experience of Charles Russell and James Jacques at the mines here today when dynamite prematurely exploded. Russell may lose his eyesight. Jacques was just bruised.

REMARKABLE EGG

Examiner Special.

TORONTO, MARCH 15.—One of the greatest freaks ever produced was brought into a newspaper office here to-day in the shape of an egg with the marks of stitches in it just like as if sewn up by a qualified surgeon. It was laid by a hen which had its gullet opened to relieve congestion of corn in it, and the opening was carefully sewn up by the owner of the bird.

The Romance Of The Reaper

To be Shown in Moving Picture Form at the Crystal

The story of the wonderful development of the "Reaper," from the original reaping hook to the modern binder, bringing with it in its rapid progress the many interesting events that led to each step of evolution, is well shown in a most interesting set of films for moving pictures, entitled, the "Romance of the Reaper," which will be given at the Crystal theatorium on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, March 18th. Only those who have made a special study of this great advance in modern labour saving methods of harvesting grain, could have any conception of all it has meant to the world. By quicker handling of the crop, more could be grown, less men were required on the farm, more freight carrying was created, the extra men spread out, new lands were opened up, great factories sprung into existence and enough more things to make this lecture entertainment an eye-opener to the public will be fully illustrated and explained. It is safe to say that the entertainment at the Crystal on Saturday next will be highly instructive and well worth seeing.

SOCIAL GATHERING

Under Auspices of Helping Hand Bible Class Was Great Success

A very pleasant evening was spent under the auspices of the Helping Hand Bible class of the Park street Baptist church, it being their annual social gathering. There were a large number present, Rev. Mr. Ruddiford occupying the chair. The following programme was provided:

Opening exercises and chairman's address.
Selection—Orchestra.
Instrumental—Harold Foster.
Song—Mr. Sims.
Song—Mr. Theobald.
Duet—Messrs. Bridge and Wood.
Recitation—Mr. Sims.
Selection—Orchestra.

The men then gave an exhibition of carpet ball for the benefit of the ladies present, after which a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of the national anthem.

Miller's Grip Powders Cure. Wm. Medill.

MANY IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE IN PETERBORO'

New Arrivals Came Over on the "Canada" and "Lake Champlain" and Were Quickly Accommodated With Places Among the Farmers of the District.

Mr. Geo. H. Howson, the local government immigration agent had a few busy hours this morning in disposing of a number of immigrants who arrived in the city last night from England, coming over on the steamships "Lake Champlain" and "Canada." The local immigration office this morning was besieged with immigrants and with farmers looking for men, and the natural result of the meeting of the two was that nearly all the men who arrived last night had found good places before noon to-day. In fact, Mr. Howson had places ready for some of them before they arrived and had nothing to do but direct them to their location.

Nearly all among the latest arrivals have had experience in farm work and all are well set up and healthy looking and evidently anxious to find employment and to work.

"We have been told," remarked one of the group to an Examiner reporter who happened in, "that some men have come over here from England with the idea that the streets were paved with gold and all they had to do was to pick up the money. We have not go that idea and we want to work."

One man showed the reporter a most flattering recommendation from the Duke of Grafton on whose estate he had worked for a long time. This man has already secured a position with Mr. McKibbon, of Smith and left for his new home at noon.

The party which arrived last night will be scattered pretty well over the county. A couple go down to Fraserville, a third to Lakefield, and a fourth to Otonabee. All are anxious to get to work at once in order to make it possible to bring their wives and families over.

TO DISCUSS FARMERS' BANK IN THE COMMONS

Special to the Examiner.

OTTAWA, MARCH 15.—Reciprocity will get another delay in the Commons this afternoon when David Henderson of Halton, will present an amendment motion to go into Committee, asking for the appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate all the circumstances connecting the organization, operation, and failure of the Farmers' Bank and the Keeley Mine. This debate will probably last till midnight.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION BANQUET ON FRIDAY

The banquet to be held under the auspices of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition on Friday night of this week, March 17th, in the Hotel National, promises to be a most enjoyable and successful affair with a large attendance from both city and county. Addresses will be given by Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, Superintendent of Fairs Association and other prominent outside and local speakers. The proposition of securing permanent grounds for the fair will be discussed and the meeting is one of supreme importance.

Mr. E. C. Drury Opens Fire Upon Col. Sam. Hughes, M.P

The following is a copy of a letter, which explains itself, addressed to Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., by Mr. E. C. Drury, ex-Grand Master of the Dominion Grange and secretary of the National Council of Agriculture:

Col. Sam. Hughes, M.P.,
Ottawa, Ont.

Dear Sir,—My attention is drawn to a report in a Peterborough paper of a meeting held at Norwood on March 4th. If this report is correct, you are credited with stating that the Grange is a semi-political association, allied with the Liberal party. This is not true. The Grange is absolutely free from political influence. We have as many Conservatives as Liberals among our members, and, by our constitution, we are absolutely forbidden to meddle with any man's political leanings. I trust you will accept my explanation on this point.

You also say that "It will do no harm to take what Drury had to say with a grain of salt." This I take as an implication that I did not speak the truth at the meetings I recently held in Peterborough County. I have always made it a rule to make no statement that I cannot substantiate, and I did not vary from this rule during my visit in Peterborough. If you accept my statement you will, of course, as a gentleman, apologize for casting a doubt on my veracity. If you do not, I shall be most pleased to meet you on any platform in Peterborough County, repeat my statements, and give you a chance to show wherein I am wrong, provided only, that both shall have a fair hearing.

Yours sincerely,
E. C. DRURY.

Crown Hill, Ont., March 10, 1911.

Enjoyable Programme At St. James' Church

A most successful and enjoyable entertainment and pie social was held under the auspices of the Cheerful Workers' Organized Young Ladies' Bible Class of St. James' Methodist church. About three hundred were present and thoroughly enjoyed the programme. The motto of the class, "Our Work is for The King," was prominently displayed on a banner at the front of the room. Mr. J. J. Goodwin, the teacher of the class, made a very acceptable chairman. The selections were especially good, the number entitled "The Wise and Foolish Virgins" being exceptionally well received. The programme was as follows:

Opening Chorus by the Class.
Prayer—Rev. J. C. Brown, pastor.
Chairman's address.
Recitation, "Reverie in Church"—Miss Frost.
Solo "Outcast Parents"—Mrs. Sanderson.
Recitation, "The Last Hymn,"—Miss Weaver.
Choral presentation "The Wise and Foolish Virgins".
Violin solo—Miss Hall, accompanied by Miss Leader.
Solo—"The Dear Home Songs" Miss Shakespeare.
Recitation—Miss Bacon.
Solo—"God Will Take Care of You" Miss Leader.
Rainbow drill—Members of the class.
Duet, "At Even Time"—Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin.
Recitation, "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight"—Miss Jewel.

Miss Leader made a most efficient accompanist. The piano for the occasion was very kindly furnished by the J. M. Greene Music Company.

At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served in the basement of the church.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association held their regular monthly meeting the President, Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., being in the chair, the following directors were present, Messrs. McFarlane, Sisson, Connal, Soden, Hartley, Bennett, Kerr, Gilchrist.

The reports of the different committees were read as follows: Membership R. J. Soden, Physical, J. H. Connal, Religious, Mr Hartley; Property, A. McFarlane; Boys' Department reported through General Secretary. The General Secretary's report was received and showed the work to be in a most encouraging condition. The reports of the different chairmen showed that the committees were looking after the work with an earnestness that speaks well for the future of the work of the Association among the men and boys of Peterborough.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 60c

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending Jan. 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 410 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1911

EXTEND THE PROTECTION.

Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, the eminent counsel, in an address to a jury "urged that the public be protected from reporters and strongly attacked the methods of the press". While Mr. Johnson was talking as a lawyer, anxious to win his case in the interests of a client, who had suffered from a little too much publicity, his strictures have some point. There are reporters and reporters: newspapers and newspapers. Some of the journals of Toronto are guilty of decided yellow journalism. They especially if it suits their political purposes, try, condemn and execute sentences upon persons charged with offences, without waiting for the slow process of the courts of justice. The reporters attached to such newspapers may need a little disciplining; but they do not represent the great body of honest and honestly instructed reporters, of honest newspapers. While Mr. Johnson is throwing bricks at newspaper reporters, he has an opportunity of dodging a few bricks that can be, and are, hurled at the head of the profession he so worthily represents. The public urge and have long urged that "the public be protected from the lawyers." No profession so abuses its privileges as the bar. Is there a man who has attended our courts, whose blood has not boiled with indignation at the bulldozing and abuse that examining counsel visit upon witnesses in the witness box? With an apparent set purpose a lawyer attempts to trap, trip and confuse a witness into committing perjury, and in default of success or in the attempted process, treats the witness to abusive language and gross insult, which, if used by one blackguard to another in the street, would lead to broken heads. Protect the public by all means from the reporter of the yellow newspaper, but, at the same time, protect the public from the verbal villainy of the yellow lawyer. All lawyers are not included in this class, but there are too many in relation to the matter dealt with.

WHAT THE GRAIN GROWERS THINK.

The Manitoba grain growers appear to have decided opinions upon the subject of reciprocal trade. The following resolution was unanimously passed at a meeting of the executive officers of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association held on the evening of March 2, and signed by R. C. Henders, president, on behalf of the executive:

"Whereas the Hon. Clifford Sifton, from his place in the House of Commons on February 28, claiming to speak for the west, declared that reciprocity with the United States was not in the interest of the western people;

"And whereas the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, the Winnipeg Board of Trade, and the Manitoba Legislature, by resolution, have also, in the name of the west, declared against reciprocity;

"Therefore be it resolved that we, the executive officers of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, emphatically assert that the above mentioned gentleman and public bodies, by their utterances and resolutions upon the question of reciprocity have absolutely misrepresented popular opinion in Manitoba.

"And we further declare and reaffirm that the tariff resolution placed before the government by the Canadian Council of Agriculture on December 16, 1910, is a correct representation of the opinions of the people of Manitoba to-day.

"And we further declare that the people of Manitoba will not be satisfied with anything short of the following action by the Canadian parliament during the present session:

1 The ratification of the reciprocity agreement now before parliament.

2 The complete abolition of duties upon agricultural machinery and implements.

3 An increase in the British preference to fifty per cent of the general tariff."

It is to be noted that this is the Grain Growers' Association—not the wheat speculators—but the active tillers of the soil who produce the "No. 1 Manitoba Hard" noted the world over as the best wheat grown under the canopy of heaven. They speak for themselves, the men who till the soil and grow the wheat. It therefore does not appear that Hon. Clifford Sifton in combatting the reciprocal trade agreement, accurately voiced the sentiments of his constituents. Mr. Sifton spoke for himself with abstract orscularity. He hasn't been near his constituency—Brandon—for years, and in the interval, has, in the fields of finance watered by golden showers, come into new interests, which are very evidently, contrary to the interests of the farmers of the west, who are the real west. Though their demands, as cited in the closing paragraphs, of the above circular, may not be endorsed by the whole of Canada, it is plain that they think that the reciprocity agreement would be to their advantage. And it is plain that there is no disloyalty to the Empire in their minds and hearts. With freer trade in agricultural products, they make the rather large demand that the British Preference be not only retained but increased to fifty per cent. of the general tariff. The Grain Growers' Association of Manitoba may be a little generous in their demands, but there is one thing evident, they want reciprocal trade with thei nearest neighbours.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The president of the Oliver Chilled Steel Plow Company, now erecting a two million dollar plant in Hamilton, declares, says the Ottawa Citizen (Conservative) that the work will go on notwithstanding the reciprocity agreement. Cold, almost, frigid, disregard for political exigencies, this.

NO MANDATE FOR THESE.

(Kingston Whig.)

The British preference was adopted in 1897 without a mandate from the people, and no complaint was made on that score. Important changes were made in the tariff by Sir Charles Tupper in 1887 and by Mr. Foster in 1894, without a mandate from the people. The national policy was an issue in the general election of 1878, but that was simply because the parliament had lived out its life, not because there was a demand for a reference of the tariff question to the people. The advocates of protection had moved resolutions calling for tariff changes in 1876, 1877, and 1878, and no suggestion was made that the matter ought to be referred to the people.

It is argued, says the Toronto Star, that reciprocity ought not to be adopted without a reference to the people, because it would mean a reversal of the policy of aiding transcontinental railways. Not one of these transcontinental schemes was submitted to the people. The Canadian Pacific railway was launched without any such mandate, so was the National Transcontinental; and there was no reference to the people, no popular mandate, for any of the subsidies and guarantees which form the basis of the Mackenzie and Mann system of railways.

No mandate was obtained for the monopoly granted to the Canadian Pacific railway, for its huge land grant, for its exemption from taxation.

If no mandate is required for monopoly, why should a mandate be required for freedom? If no mandate is required to place burdens upon the people, why should there be a mandate for removing burdens and restrictions?

Curing Catarrh

Accept Our Advice and Try This Remedy at Our Risk

Catarrh is a disease of the mucous membrane. The mucous membrane is, one may say, the interior lining of the body. Catarrh therefore may exist in any part of the system.

When the catarrhal poison attacks the mucous membrane, inflammation and congestion are produced and nature fails to throw off the accumulated poisons. The organ which has been afflicted ceases to perform its proper function as nature intended it should. The result is, complication upon complication, which may lead to other even more serious afflictions.

We honestly believe Rexall Mucu-Tone will do wonders toward overcoming catarrh. It is made from the prescription of an eminent physician who made a long study of catarrh, and his great success with this remedy was an enviable one.

We want you if you are a sufferer from catarrh in any form, to give Rexall Mucu-Tone a thorough trial. Use it with regularity and persistency for a reasonable time, then if you are not satisfied, come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every cent you paid us. This is certainly the fairest offer that any one could make and should attest our sincerity of purpose. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets.

Household Hints.

When wiping silver take care to use a towel free from lint. Silver, like glassware, shows every particle of lint that touches it.

The most effectual remedy for slimy and greasy drainpipes is copperas dissolved and left to work gradually through the pipes

When the knobs of kettle lids are too hot to handle, cover them with a rubber nipple or with several thicknesses of adhesive paper and the heat will not be felt.

DOME GROUP You cannot get any shares in the Dome Mines. The next best and cheapest stock in the market to-day is the Dome Extension, with 200 acres and a low capitalization. We have only a small quantity for sale. Hold your Preston East Dome shares.

A. T. COLE COLE & SMITH W. E. SMITH

Members Dominion Stock Exchange 402 LUMSDEN BLDG., TORONTO

Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

(VIPOND)

We advised the purchase of this stock at 25c. We still advise its purchase at present market price. Work is proving this a MINE, not a prospect. :: :: :: :: ::

GORMALY TILT & CO.

MEMBERS STANDARD STOCK EXCHANGE

Long Distance Phone, Main 7565 32-34 Adelaide St. East, TORONTO

HISTORICAL RELATION OF THE TWO GREAT PARTIES TO RECIPROCITY

(Winnipeg Free Press.)

The reciprocity discussion to date has cleared up, pretty effectually, some points in dispute, and it seems proper to note them here, so that further reference to them will not be required.

It is established, for instance, that the Conservative party, under the leadership of Sir John A. Macdonald, was a believer in a policy of reciprocity in natural products with the United States, and would therefore have welcomed an arrangement such as has now been made. The declarations of Sir John A. Macdonald during the campaign of 1878, the reciprocity provision in the tariff of 1879, and the Conservative appeals in the general election of 1891 make this clear beyond question.

When, then, did the Conservative party abandon the policy of restricted reciprocity with the United States and adopt its present attitude of commercial non-intercourse, so far as this is possible? Mr. Foster, in his speech in Parliament, put the date as early as 1891—the year of Sir John's death. In support of this it has been pointed out that the Customs tariff of 1894, as drafted by Mr. Foster, did not contain the standing offer of reciprocity which is to be found in the tariff of 1879.

This contention is not in keeping with the facts. The evidence is indisputable that the Conservatives, at least as late as 1894, were friendly to the idea that enlarged trade relations with the United States would be advantageous to Canada. The tariff of 1894, it is true, did not continue the reciprocity clause which was a part of the previous tariff, but it contained much the same offer, in different form. Clauses 7, 8, 10, 11 and 12 contain offers of free trade with the United States in fish, eggs, shingles, lumber, apples, vegetables of all kinds, buckwheat, peas, barley, potatoes, etc. The Government was given power by Order in Council to remove the duties on these articles from the United States, upon these Canadian products being admitted free to the United States.

There was, on April 17, 1894, a discussion on reciprocity in the House of Commons at Ottawa, which makes interesting reading in view of some of the things which are now being said. Mr. Charlton attacked the Government for not having taken advantage of the accession to power in the United States of the Democratic party, to make overtures for a reciprocity treaty. Sir John Thompson replied that indirect inquiries had been made (presumably in 1893) and that an official had been sent, privately, to Washington, to report the result had been that Government did not think the time opportune to make advances. This statement by the Prime Minister brought on a full-dress debate, in which the leaders on both sides took part. The Liberals who spoke, including Cartwright, Davies, Mills and Laurier, attacked the bona fides of the Government representing them as lukewarm in their advocacy of reciprocity.

It is enlightening to read Mr. Foster's vigorous defence, in which he protests the devotion of himself and his colleagues to the schemes of reciprocity. He even went so far as to say that the Government was prepared to agree to reciprocity in a limited number of manufactures, in order to secure an interchange of natural products; and declared that the occasion of the failure of the negotiations in 1891 was not, as charged by the Liberals, the disinclination of the Canadian Government to open Canadian markets to United States manufactures, but its refusal to admit their manufactures upon preferential terms as against Great Britain. The whole speech is most conclusive that there had been no change of Conservative policy on reciprocity up to 1894.

There is no dispute as to the historic attitude of the Liberals on this question. They were always prepared to go further than the Conservatives. The treaty negotiated by George Brown during the Macekzie regime which was done to death by the United States senate, included a very extensive list of manufactures. In 1891 the Liberals fought a general election on the issue of "unrestricted reciprocity." The term was never strictly defined, but it undoubtedly implied a wide measure of free trade in manufactured goods. The resolution of the Liberal convention in 1893 declared for a "fair and liberal reciprocity treaty." The speeches made in the convention in support of the resolution all expressly recognized that reciprocity should include manufactures.

There is thus no dispute as to the position of the two parties, up to 1896—both in favour of reciprocity, but the Liberals prepared to go much further than their rivals. What of the intervening fifteen years? The view has been very strongly urged that after the Liberal Government took office it definitely abandoned its reciprocity leanings and developed an alternative policy, looking towards the fostering of trade within the Empire. There are no records of any such formal repudiation of the old policy; but it is urged that the tariff legislation of the Liberal Government, and its known attitude on fiscal questions, justified the presumption that it had definitely abandoned all intention of encouraging trade with the United States. To Sir Wilfrid Laurier must be conceded, however, the right to speak authoritatively upon these points, and in Parliament, this week, he declared that the Liberal leaders had never withdrawn from their position on reciprocity. This is in keeping with the declaration which he made repeatedly durng his trip through the West, last summer.

From 1898, when the International High Commission failed in its labours until 1910, reciprocity dropped out of public sight. Three general elections were fought, and the word was hardly mentioned once on the platform. The Canadian Government lived strictly up to its announced determination to make no further overtures to Washington. Meanwhile the United States reposing contentedly under the iron sway of the Dingley Tariff, appeared to be committed indefinitely to high protection. There was nothing to indicate that this condition of international aloofness would not outlast this generation of Canadians. Then came the revolt in the United States against high protection followed in due time by a definite overture to Canada from Washington for a reconsideration of the matter of the commercial relations between the two countries. The moment President Taft made these advances the spell of silence was broken; reciprocity, from being the least considered of public questions, swallowed up all other issues; and a new page in the political history of Canada was opened.

With the reopening of the question the parties did not re-occupy their old positions. The intervening years had broken the continuity of their policy and each party felt free to take its own course, without regard to its past record. The Liberals have, in substance, taken the position which the Conservatives held in 1891. They favour reciprocity in natural products; are against agreeing to an interchange of manufactured goods; and are pledged, in all cases, to reserve the right to grant preferential treatment to British goods. The Conservatives have taken new ground entirely. They no longer want freer commercial relations of any sort with the United States; and regard trade with our neighbours as inimical to our interests, and therefore to be kept in the narrowest possible limits.

This is the history of the relations of the two historic parties to this great question. The political consequences of the revival of the issue and the regrouping of the parties that will result will be of the first moment. It has made the tariff once more the supreme political issue; and has given the Liberal party its old battlegrounds.

ECZEMA CURE A BEAUTY WASH

Although D. D. D. Prescription has been recognized for years as the one remedy for Eczema, Psoriasis, and all other forms of skin diseases, it is now known that there is no other wash, even those used by the beauty specialists, that can compare with this mild liquid for cleansing the skin of pimples, blackheads, rash, and all similar skin affections.

For this reason alone, a bottle of D. D. D. should be kept on hand in every household. A free trial bottle will show you the merits of this great remedy as a complexion wash.

D. D. D. seems to remove the cause, whatever the trouble may be, cleansing the skin, and leaving it as soft as smooth and clear as that of a healthy child.

Write the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. P.E., 49 Colborne St., Toronto, and prove its wonderful effectiveness.

McDermid and Jury, druggists; also Payne's drug store.

Burton's Melancholy.

Burton, the vivacious author of "The Anatomy of Melancholy," who had the reputation of being able to raise laughter in any company, however "mute and mopish," was in reality constitutionally depressed, and it is believed that he was at last so overcome by his malady that he ended his life in a fit of melancholy.

The Dennistoun Property

We have received exclusive sale of the R. M. Dennistoun property, with frontage on George and Water streets. This is an opportunity for intending builders to secure good lots in fine locations at very Moderate Prices. Also double house on Aylmer street bringing in a rental of about $40.00 per month. This will go cheap. Four Lots on the west side of the city at quick sale prices.

As Mr. Dennistoun is now permanently located in Winnipeg all of the above property will be sold at prices that should insure quick sale.

CALL AT OUR OFFICE, we will be glad to give all information regarding the above property.

Easy Terms can be Arranged on Any of the Above Property

A. BROWN & CO.

PHONE 126 406 GEORGE ST.

LOST

LOST—GOLD RIMMED AGATE Brooch Monday. Finder will be rewarded at Examiner office. 2d-61-4272

LOST—A WEEK AGO, A YELLOW COLLIE pup about 10 months old. Will finder please leave at Munro House, Peterborough or Examiner Office. 3d-62-4295

LOST—ON SATURDAY NIGHT A SMALL black purse containing $16.60 either on Aylmer, Bethune or Hunter St. Finder leave at Examiner. 3d-62-4286

LOST — DARK BLUE PURSE CONtaining money and keys, between Simcoe and Sherbrooke Sts. on George St. Reward by returning same to Examiner Office. 3d61-4267

AGENTS WANTED

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR THE BEST PREMIUM proposition in Canada, one that appeals to everyone, apply to Sellery Advertising Dept., 223 Albert St., Ottawa. d6mon20-3694

TEACHERS WANTED

TEACHER WANTED FOR SCHOOL SECtion No. 6, Smith, one mile from Lakefield. Duties to commence after Easter holidays. Second-class required. Apply G. W. H. Pattrick, Lakefield. 1d622w11-4292

SITUATIONS VACANT

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1739, Lockport N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Heacock, B 1638 Lockport, N.Y. d6m 139

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.

208 Charlotte Street

Next to the Curling Rink

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

Electric Light, Heat & Power, Electric Bell & Annunciator.

Installations at Reasonable Rates

Let us quote on your motor installed ready to operate. Expert advice free

J. A. ASH

142 George Street South

MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

House Phone No. 799

A. Brown & Co.

406 GEORGE STREET

Headquarters for all kinds of

Real Estate

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,

d-tf On the Premises

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealer: have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a ne by mail and we will attend to at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

Advertise in the Examiner

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED, APPLY Examiner.

WANTED — EXPERIENCED SALESMAN for our staple Department. Richard Hall & Son, Ltd. 4d-62-4284

WANTED—NEAT YOUNG MAN TO MAKE himself generally useful around hotel. Apply at Munro House between 7 and 8 p.m., March 15th. 1d6-2-4305

WANTED — EXPERIENCED TINSMITH, also plumber and steamfitter, capable of making estimates. Apply, with reference and salary expected, to Box 4255, "Examiner." 4d-59-4255

WORK WANTED

DRESS AND MANTLE MAKER NOW ready to receive orders at 170 Perry St. 3d-62-4304

SITUATION WANTED—POSITION AS nurse to invalid, or housework in country. Apply Examiner. 3d61-4266

JAS. DELIGN, 497 CROSS ST., IS PREPARed to do plastering, also paper hanging Paper supplied. 'Phone 713. 3d-60-4257

DRESSMAKING—BY THE DAY OR AT home by experienced dressmaker. Apply 593 Harvey Street 6d-57-4229

WANTED—BY AN ELDERLY WOMAN, A position as a mother's help, or a competent seamstress. Apply at Oriental Hotel. 3d-62-4294

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET. Apply Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. dtf-54

TO RENT—MODERN BRICK HOUSE WITH all conveniences, very central. Apply 417 Stewart Street. 3d-62-4290

TO RENT, MODERN HOUSE 127 RUBIDGE Street. Also Market Garden. Apply 161 Hunter Street or Phone 1281. dtf-55-4196

TO RENT—House No. 344 Rubidge St. Hot Water heating and all modern improvements. Possession 15th March. Apply 437 George Street. d-tf-46.

TO RENT—SMALL HOUSE FITTED WITH electric light The house is centrally located and has a good garden for vegetables. For particulars apply 183 Antrim Street. d-tf-57-4221

FLAT TO RENT—FLAT OF ELEVEN rooms with all conveniences, suitable for roomers, cor. Aylmer and Charlotte Sts., very central. Apply Dr. Robinson's Livery, Charlotte Street. 3d-62-4289

TO RENT—Store and Upper Floor in Grand Opera House Block. Would make first-class Music Store or any other suitable business. Also a good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator. Cor. McDonald & Aylmer Sts. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Awning & Tent Manufacturers, George Street, Peterborough d-tf-46-4063

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—DINING ROOM GIRL. APPLY National Hotel. 3d-60-4265

WANTED — FIRST CLASS MANTLE maker. Apply 394 Water St. 3d61-4276

WANTED—A GOOD KITCHEN GIRL apply to Munro House. 3d61 4277

WANTED—GIRL EXPERIENCED IN DRY Goods as saleslady. Apply 166 Simcoe St. d-tf-59-4239

WANTED—A GOOD KITCHEN WOman. Apply National Hotel. 3d-60-4305

WANTED—AT ONCE, HOUSEKEEPER, Elderly person preferred. Apply Examiner Office. 3d-62-4288

WANTED—GOOD GENERAL SERVANT. Apply Mrs. A. H Stratton, 373 Park Street. 3d-62-4287

WANTED—AT ONCE, EXPERIENCED general servant. Highest wages. Apply 469 Hunter Street. d-tf-59-4245

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected. Parties arriving March 15th 20th, and April 2nd. Apply now. The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal, or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. 1md-55-4190

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—HOUSE, 330 PEARL AVE., also vacant lot adjoining. dtf-18-3670

FOR SALE—GOOD COLLIE DOG, NINE months old. 478 Mark Street. 2d-62-4302

FOR SALE—AT ONCE, BRICK HOUSE, conveniences, apply 69 Aylmer Street 12d-60-4256

FOR SALE — A NORTHEY STEAM PUMP—Size of connections ½ inch. Apply to G. A. Gillespie, Simcoe street d18wd

FOR SALE TWO BEDS, TWO STOVES and a few other articles of household furniture Apply 66 James St 4d-62-4296

FOR SALE — A HULL FOR MOTOR boat, 21 feet by 5 feet wide made of Cypress, new. May be seen at 231 George Street. 3d61-4226

FOR SALE — THE RESIDENCE OF THE late Dr. Gray, No. 326 Sherbrooke street A.1 improvements Hot water heating, good barn. Apply H. C. Stabler, 356 Water street. 4w

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE — A CASH Register, in good condition, registering from 5 cents to $100; or will exchange for one registering from 1 cent up. Can be seen at the Examiner Office tf-60

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 124 Rubidge street. d-tf-191-60

Chanberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.

Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting, Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

Further Particulars From

J. H. VANCE

773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

NOTICE TO

Builders and Workmen

With a view to Meeting the Demands for Houses Suitable for the Average Mechanic

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Submit the following proposition to the Builders and Working Men of Peterboro. We will supply a Builder with a choice lot within 12 minutes walk of the C.G.E., the Shovel Works or the Cordage Factory at a maximum price of $150, lot to be paid for when a house constructed thereon has been sold No interest or taxes for a period of one year provided house is not sold or rented within that time.

Any boy, girl, man or woman, can secure a choice lot in this section for $150 on terms of $10 cash and $5 per month.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter St. Phone 376

LAMEY & COSTELLO

Real Estate Brokers

631 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.

Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

WORKING PEOPLE

SHOULD OWN THEIR HOMES

With Garden and Fruit, Large or Small

It gives pleasant and profitable employment during spare time and saves many dollars for other necessities

The rent, sober, honest and industrious people are paying will buy a home for you on my easy terms, as it has done for others now comfortably settled in homes of their own, of which they are justionably proud and some can already show their deeds including a lone widow, while many more pretentious can only show rent receipts. Come in and let me explain my easy plan

Large and small garden and fruit lots for sale or to rent.

T. HURLEY

282 Hunter St., Peterboro

2m

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 25 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited

Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

HOUSE For Sale

An up-to-date BRICK HOUSE with all conveniences, water, gas, electric light & furnace, situated in the west end of the city. Lot, fifty foot frontage with lane at rear. A very fine property. Particulars at Examiner Office :: ::

1md57 4220

DO YOU NEED A TYPEWRITER?

We are in a position to furnish you with Any Standard make of typewriter.

Machines bought, sold or exchanged.

Old machines taken on account.

Typewriters rented.

Peterborough Typewriter and Supply Co'y

159 SIMCOE PHONE 655

Millinery Opening

Friday and Saturday March 17th and 18th

The sun with the wonderful powers of its alchemy, first brings out upon the earth a beautiful background of green, and gorgeous and harmonious tints, paints a picture that the hand of man has never yet been able to equal. The greatest artist is the one who comes nearest to nature.

To be a successful milliner, you require the artistic frame of mind, not only harmony of colors and shades, but also the tout ensemble de poise. The face, figure and poise have all to be considered.

Almost anyone can put a hat together; but my, what a difference. How often you hear, "How Is It That Mrs. So and So Always Looks So Distinguished"? This is where the real artist of millinery comes in. We have a millinery artist who has made a rare success of her work. She loves her work as only an artist can, and has a true artist's perception of its possibilities. Don't spoil your costume with an ordinary hat when you can get the artistic effect at no greater cost.

Two Days, Mar. 17 and 18. Miss Noble, Head Milliner

On Friday and Saturday we will exhibit as usual all the new styles, but Saturday Evening will be more particularly set aside for those ladies whose engagements prevent them from coming during the day.

Second Ready-to-wear Opening March 17th and 18th

Many new styles have been opened out since last week including a larger variety of Spring Suits, Dresses, Tailored Blouses, etc.

We make suits a specialty—we will make them to your measure or alter them to your figure. We excel in fitting.

MRS. RUSSELL IN CHARGE

When shopping don't fail to take home one of our New Irish Songs for the 17th

ELLIOT'S

SPLENDID MEMORIAL TO QUEEN VICTORIA

King George Will Unveil it on May 16th—Emperor of Germany to be Present

The date of the unveiling by the King of the Queen Victoria memorial at the head of the Mall, has now been fixed for May 16. The King will be accompanied by the Queen, and the German Emperor and Empress will be present at the ceremony. No definite arrangements have yet been made regarding the date of the German Emperor's arrival, but it is expected that the Empress and he will leave Berlin on March 13th or 14th. It is probable that they will remain for a few days after the ceremony. The Victoria memorial, which is the work of Mr. Thomas Brock, R.A., has taken ten years to complete. The scheme was initiated at a great meeting at the Mansion House, at which a resolution was proposed by Mr. Balfour, and seconded by Mr. Chamberlain, in favor of erecting "a national memorial to Queen Victoria in front of Buckingham Palace." King Edward subscribed a thousand guineas, and the City of London five thousand guineas to the fund. In the near future a new entrance to Buckingham Palace from the Mall will be made by the erection of large swing gates, on a site which will be provided by the demolition of a portion of the wall and the massive iron railings dividing the court-yard in front of the Palace from the open space in the centre of which stands the Queen Victoria memorial. The gateway will be situated midway between the existing eastern and western entrances to the courtyard, and thus directly opposite to the centre archway giving entrance to the quadrangle. The new entrance, the idea of which is understood to have originated with the King, will be used only on State occasions.

Although the memorial is finished and the workmen are now gilding the "Victory" group which surmounts it, a good deal of work still remains to be done at the base. On the four pedestals, which flank the broad flight of steps on each side, have to be placed the bronze lions and figures, respectively symbolizing "Peace," "Progress," "Labor" and "Agriculture." Surmounting the fountain arch on each side also will be groups representing "Science and Art" and the "Army and Navy." These have all been modelled in clay, but have not yet been cast in bronze. As soon as the gilding is completed, the work of removing the scaffolding will be commenced—a slow and laborious process—which is expected to occupy quite six weeks, on account of the extreme care which must be exercised. The slightest slip in handling the heavy timber, twelve inches square, might cause irreparable damage to the sculpture.

The monument towers to a height of about eighty feet, and must to some extent obstruct the view down the Mall from the lower windows of Buckingham Palace, with whose dingy exterior its beautiful designs and the freshness of its white marble and gilt will challenge damaging comparisons. It is now fourteen years since the Royal residence received even a coat of paint.

Just Arrived

Full Stock of the Famous

Buckley Stiff Hats

(All Hats Guaranteed)

Still some nice Fur Setts & Jackets to be cleared out

W. E. LECH

Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

Grand Opera House, Thursday, March 16

Wm. A. Brady's Production—America's Greatest Play

"The Man Of The Hour"

By George Broadhurst with Felix Haney as Alderman Phelan. Now in its fourth year of phenomenal success. Given here with a special cast, and produced on the same scale of magnificence that marked its two year's run at the Savoy, New York City. Prices, 25c to $1.00; Box Seats $1.50. Seats Tuesday

Grand Opera House, Saturday, Mar. 18 Matinee & Night

"The Bow-Wow Minstrels"

40—Company—40. First part 75 minutes. Melange of Mirth, Melody and Music, introducing many new and original features. 6 End Men—10 Soloists. Female Impersonator, OLIO—Lukey, Novelty Whistler; Bill Bailey, Painologist; The Kellys Ventriloquists; Ormerod, One String Fiddler; Charlebois, Habitant Impersonator; G B Hunt, Comicalities; Matt Greig, English Entertainer; Scully, Rolls & Woods, Singers, Dancers and Banjoists. Popular Prices—Evenings, any seat 50c. Gallery 25c. Matinee, any seat 25c, Children 15c. Seats on sale Thursday

MRS. MONTAGUE ELIOT

Formerly Miss Helen Post, who will be one of the American girls prominent at Court next season, owing to the appointment of her husband as an usher in the Royal household.

A GREAT WORKER

Viscount Gladstone Retains his Youth by Performing his Duties With Cheerfulness

Lord Gladstone, the Governor-General of the Union of South Africa, is not nearly such a "young politician" as many people imagine, for he is in his 58th year. To look at him one would not take him for a day over 40—a youthfulness which may be attributed to the whole-hearted way in which he enters into his duties as well as pleasures. Until the time of the Armenian atrocities Viscount Gladstone was teaching history at Keble College, but his strong sympathy with the suffering Christians of the East caused him to seek election to the House of Commons, in which he sat for 30 years. No man could get through more dry official papers and statistics and assimilate them with greater promptitude than he. He once told a West Ham meeting that he would like to give work not only to all at West Ham, but to a good many in the West End as well. He was asked if he liked work himself. "I guess," he plied, "that I have done as much work as you in my time. If you care to shoulder a pick, a spade, or an axe I am willing to compete with you. Probably the heckler would have been severely defeated, for, like his father, Viscount Gladstone is a firm believer in exercise.

ADVICE ON CANADA

A London Paper Issues a List of "Don'ts" for the Use of Intending Emigrants

"Tit-Bits" publishes a column of "Don'ts" for intending emigrants. Here are a few of them:

Generally speaking, the cost of living in the Colonies is higher than in this country, although the wages are better.

Don't pay premiums in this country to gain instruction in farming in Canada. The Canadian Government says it is unnecessary, and in many instances the payments are induced by fraudulent statements.

Don't forget that any emigrant who, within three years of landing in Canada, becomes a public charge, or an inmate of a jail, hospital, or other charitable institution, may be deported, with those dependent on him or her.

Don't forget that all emigrants landing in Canada between March 1st and October 30th must possess $25 and every child $15 each. Between November 1st and the last day of February the amount is increased to $50 and $30 respectively, in addition to sufficient travelling money.

Clerks are not wanted in Canada, for the simple reason that merchants and business men are not willing to take the trouble of training them. There is a great difference between the coinage and the banking in this country and in Canada. In regard to office work, it usually takes from six to twelve months to get into the proper run of things.

A knowledge of languages will be found exceedingly useful to those going to Canada and South America. In the latter case Spanish is a useful language to learn. In many Canadian towns, like Montreal, for instance, the French language is spoken by half the population, in addition to which there are many Italians, Russians, Swedes, etc. In the business portion of the community the Scotch, English, and French predominate.

In New South Wales, South Australia, and Queensland there is a general demand for working men, such as stonemasons, carpenters, blacksmiths, fitters, moulders, and boilermakers; but in Victoria no emigrants are wanted except farmers with capital and experienced farm laborers. In New Zealand, too, there is a good demand for farm laborers, particularly at the present time, which is the summer season. There is a good demand also for women and girls in the dressmaking, millinery, tailoring, shirt-making, and confectionery trades.

COUNTESS OF GRANARD

Formerly Miss Beatrice Mills, who has become one of the leading entertainers in London's inner social circle. Her bi-weekly dinners have become quite famous, and are attended by many statesmen as well as society leaders, including such prominent figures as Lord Knollys, Private Secretary to King George; Earl of Crewe, Secretary of State for India; and Mr. Richard B. Haldane, the Secretary of State for War. The Countess is the granddaughter of the late D. O. Mills, of San Francisco, from whom she inherited a large fortune.

RUSSIAN ANARCHISTS

They Made Raids from London on Continental Cities

The German political police have discovered that clocks and watches recently pawned by members of an Anarchist band were stolen in Breslau. This indicates that the Russian Anarchists living in London made raids in continental cities. It was during such a raid in Breslau that articles manufactured in Switzerland were stolen there.

Investigations are being made at Breslau, and the results will be communicated to the London police. It is noteworthy that the German authorities are undertaking these investigations on their own initiative without any request from London.

IN YOUR BOY'S INTEREST

Keep Him Out of a Job that Leads to Nowhere

Don't let your boy get into a blind-alley situation such as that of messenger-boy, van-boy, door-boy, dock-boy, etc. These jobs usually lead to nowhere. There are hundreds of boys to-day who, because they are in situations with no prospects, will swell the army of casual laborers later on. Give them a chance of becoming skilled in some occupation; and there are hundreds of such occupations fully described in "Careers."

NEWFOUNDLAND'S WEALTH

The riches of the encompassing seas are practically inexhaustible. Newfoundland has the largest cod fishery in the world. The great banks, 600 miles long, are but a day's sail from St. John's and the whole Atlantic coast of Labrador, 1,100 miles long, a fishing ground of incalculable wealth, is under the jurisdiction of Newfoundland. Land can be obtained from the Government of Newfoundland on easy terms, practically free, and intending emigrants have only to make inquiries at the Crown Lands Department at St. John's, Newfoundland, to obtain all information required.

TO HAVE CONTEST OF COCK CROWERS

The First Competition of the Kind in England Will be Held at Dunmow, Essex

The first cock-crowing competition ever held in England will take place during the coming summer at the old-fashioned Essex town of Dunmow, famed for its association with the historic flitch of bacon. Mr. J.W. Robertson-Scott, an author of books dealing with poultry matters, is organizing the great event, and a committee of twelve Dunmow men have been appointed to select the jury. Mr. Scott in a recent interview pointed out that the idea of the competition originated in the fact, long noticed by poultry-keepers, that young cockerels which crowed the most developed into the most vigorous birds. "In Belgium and East Germany," he continued, "the poultry fanciers have already fastened on this knowledge by holding crowing competitions for young cockerels which provide extraordinarily good sport, and also develop the strongest birds by a principle of natural selection. My idea is to utilize this knowledge in England. The cockerels will be arranged in rows facing each other, with a judge in front of each bird. The test will be to see which cockerels crow most in half an hour. A prize crower abroad has been known to give tongue 250 times in thirty minutes. Then there will be prizes for deep-toned crowers like Orpingtons, and shrill crowers like Legoorns, and a championship for the longest crow of all. We mean to have some real good fun an dinstruction in the countryside," concluded Mr. Robinson-Scott, "although I don't suppose that cock-crowing, when fully developed, will add a charm to rural places for those who are attracted there in search of quiet week-ends."

Inquiries made in poultry circles about Dunmow elicited that preparations are already being made to coach the likely crowers among the young chickens recently hatched. The cockerels are being fed and trained for the sport, and parent birds which are most inclined towards crowing are being run among the younger ones to give them the advantage of a good example.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

I WONDER if there is a person in my audience who owns any books at all, who has never in his life lost a book by loaning it to some one who completely omitted the little ceremony of returning it.

I doubt it.

I wonder also if there are very many people in my audience who could hold up their right hands and swear, "I haven't a book in my possession which I have kept longer than I should have."

Again I am a doubter.

The cheerful latitude which many people allow themselves on the subject of borrowed articles—especially books—is really almost amusing.

I was at the home of a friend the other day when she was giving its annual spring overhauling to her library. In the course of this upheaval she came upon a volume which she had borrowed TWELVE YEARS ago.

She was greatly astonished at finding it.

"To think I never took that book back," she said, "and just think poor M. has been dead six years."

(By-the-by, please excuse an irrelevant remark, but isn't it queer that despite our belief in a better and happier world we continually refer to people who are dead as "poor so-and-so"?)

My friend dusted the book and put it back on the shelf with a sigh that was evidently more for poor M. than for her own culpability in the matter of the twelve years. And yet she is in most matters a very conscientious woman.

Of course the man who has two or three books in his library which he borrowed so long ago that he actually doesn't know where they came from, or if he does know, has lost track of the owners, would be indictment if you told him he had stolen from his friends.

And yet what is the difference between such prolonged borrowing and stealing?

A difference in intent to be sure but not much in results.

The borrower always has a comfortable feeling that "some day I must return that book."

Some day is a very dangerous word, my friend.

It is such a convenient curtain to hide your culpability from yourself.

Admit frankly to yourself, I shall probably never return that book." And then perhaps you will feel such a sense of guilt that you will return it to-morrow.

Or better still to-day.

Ruth Cameron

FARMERS' CLUB

Zion Organization Held a Most Interesting Meeting

The Zion Farmers' Club held a most successful meeting in Zion Hall, March 9th. The house was filled and the audience was favoured with the following programme.

Instrumental—Miss E. Bell.
Recitation—Miss L. Deyell.
Solo—Mrs. J. Mann.
Recitation—Mr. H. Bell.
Solo—Mr. A. B. Mann.
Reading—Mr. C. Graham.
Solo—Mr. B. Bell.
Recitation—Mr N. Milburn.

Mr. C. E. Moore gave a very interesting report of the Farmers' Institute convention held in Toronto.

But the feature of the evening was a debate, "Resolved that farm stock is in more need of improvement than farm property."

The affirmative was taken by Messrs. Tate, Richardson and Hunter, of Pine Grove Farmers' Club, while Messrs. Stubbs, Milburn and Roseboro of Zion Farmers' Club, took the negative.

The speakers on both sides brought out many good points showing the need of improvement in both stock and property. The affirmative won the debate by one point.

The ladies then served refreshments and the evening closed with the singing of the national anthem.

GOOD-BYE TO BEAUTY

It is good bye to beauty when kidney derangements set in. The skin becomes hard and dry and the form wastes away and becomes emaciated. One cannot be too watchful and the safest way is to keep the kidneys as well as the liver and bowels healthy and active by the use of Dr Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. This ensures pure blood and a healthy digestive system.

LORD KITCHENER

He May Prefer a Quiet Life in the Country to a Military Appointment

Sundry scribes are again interesting themselves in the question of employment for Lord Kitchener, but it is by no means certain that he is so anxious for an active post as it would appear. He recently purchased Broome Park, a fine old place near Canterbury, with the intention of making himself a home, and it is quite possible that he might prefer the quiet life of a country gentleman in a lovely part of the country where can can indulge in his hobby to the fullest extet, to accepting an appointment which could bring him no more honor than he has already obtained.

NOT KEEN FOR WIRELESS

No Ready Response to the Call for Operators

The Postmaster-General's invitation in a recent Post Office circular asking telegraphists to volunteer for service in the wireless establishment has not met with the ready response that was generally anticipated. This has occasioned surprise. True, only a few men were required, and the maximum offered was only $14; but bearing in mind the fact that wireless telegraphy may be said to be yet in comparative infancy, it might have been thought that a far-seeing body of men would have considered the possibilities of advancement in the service. Apart from the question of salary, there is the experience to be gained in a new branch of work, which should in itself be some consideration. As a rule, those who associate themselves with a movement in its infancy become leaders as that movement advances, therefore those few telegraphists who have responded to the Postmaster-General's call are not likely to regret the step they have taken. In the natural order of things, when the wireless establishment expands, the prospects of those who were first in the service will undoubtedly oblige.

Neilson's Chocolates

The Chocolates that are Different

THERE is no such thing as stale Neilson's Chocolates.

They can't get stale, for Neilson's Chocolates—are prepared by a special process which makes this impossible.

They are made right, of the right materials, genuine fruit flavors, pure sugar, rich cream, and the finest chocolate in the world.

Send 80c. for pound box of Neilson's assorted chocolates—if your dealer does not carry them 33 different packages.

WM. NEILSON LIMITED, TORONTO. 16

Sold in Peterboro by Warne Drug Co., W. Heath

SPRING Shoes

This is a Patent Corona Colt, button with black cloth top. One of this season's smartest styles.

We are showing many exclusive novelties. Splendid workmanship, fine materials, perfect fit assured—always.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 GEORGE STREET

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL
Oak Hall Drug Store
Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar (positively no return.) Established Toronto, Hamilton & Guelph. Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail. References. Write for particulars.
MISS A. GRADUATE,
Box 368, Brampton, Ont.

LASTING PHOTOS

An evidence of the superior quality of our work is the fadeless quality we produce. We would like to show you photographs that have been exposed to sunlight for long periods without the slightest effect.

The Lendrum Studio
170 Charlotte Street

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies, Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.
Peterborough Ontario

MR. T. WOODWORTH
the well known English Elocutionist, is open for engagements as Concerts, Socials, At Homes, Civic Functions, &c., to give
RECITALS—Wise and Witty! Grave and Gay
An actor-elocutionist of the highest order.
—Peterborough Examiner
The audience was captured from start to finish
—Peterborough Review
An exceedingly talented elocutionist—irresistibly humourous. Peterboro' Morning Times
For terms apply 232 Wolfe St., Peterboro'
7m-38

Money to Loan

Mortgage loans on City and Farm property at lowest current rates.

Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr
d3m-36 415 Water St., Peterborough

Lots For Sale
—AND—
Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

CASH PRIZES
Amounting to $1200.00 will be given to collectors of

ORANGE MEAT
CARTON BOTTOMS

Have you entered the contest, and are you busy collecting? Send post card to Orange Meat, Kingston, for circular giving details.

Orange Meat and Milk is a Perfect Food

THE MEETING FOR LADIES WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Interesting Gathering Held in Knox Church Yesterday Afternoon—Difficulties Cleared Up.

A SPLENDID ADDRESS

The meeting for ladies in Knox church yesterday afternoon was well attended. All thoroughly enjoyed the address which Rev. Mr. Woodside gave on "The Holy Spirit," and several were heard to remark "that clears up difficulties for me." Mr. McBretney sang two solos that were much appreciated.

An after-service at the conclusion of last night's service, was addressed by Rev. Mr. Keith and Rev. Mr. Woodside.

The closing meetings of the Mission show no let up in the interest and no disappointment to those who attend. The singing and the address each night prove to be an inspiration Mr. Woodside speaks to-night on "Under God's Eye." Each address is on a very high plane, full of rich thought, and expressed in forceful language. Mr. Woodside has a wonderful descriptive power that makes illustrations live and carry a point home. He spoke last night of "The Tragedy of a Life Without God," basing his message on the experience of Judas. People who take no notice of God's claims are unbalanced in mind and reason. Judas was no uncommon type, as we are accustomed to consider him, but a very common type of man to-day. What John did for the power of love in the world and Peter did for the heroic life, Judas should have done for the world of finance. This sphere of life has yet to be redeemed from the curse of Judas. The betrayal was a simple thing, paralleled in many a life to-day. It is not what you do yourself, so much as what you make it possible for others to do in the life of evil that goes against you. Judas held to the world with one hand, and to Christ with the other. How many there are like him—neither hot nor cold. But, like Judas, you come to the places in sin where you cannot get back. We should not wait until life is marred.

One has to hear Mr. Woodside to appreciate his messages and their remarkable vividness. The services that will continue to-night and Thursday will conclude on Friday evening.

TO ENCOURAGE THE GROWING OF ALFALFA

A $100 crop per acre, if grown generally, on the farms of Peterborough County, would raise the value of farm land and increase the general prosperity in the county more than can well be reckoned. Such a crop is no dream. It is not even an experiment. It is quite possible as we shall have show.

Every dairy farmer who wishes to get the best results from his cows in milk production must give his cows feeds rich in protein. In years gone by this element protein has been available to dairy farmers in wheat bran. This product, however, now sells at from $20 to $25 a ton, the price varying with the season. It is so expensive that few farmers, who ought to feed it, have the courage to make the investment and lay out so much capital in cow feed; there is no need that he should. The same results as from bran may be secured from alfalfa. A ton of alfalfa hay is practically of equal value to bran, and from four to five tons, sometimes more, of alfalfa can be grown easily per acre; hence we may presume alfalfa to be a $100 crop.

A Competition.

On practically every farm in Peterborough County there is some land admirably suited to the growth of heavy yielding crops of alfalfa. Farm and Dairy, the weekly agricultural journal, published in Peterborough, proposes to induce farmers of Peterborough County to become growers of this wonderful crop, alfalfa. An alfalfa competition is being arranged for the farmers of Peterborough County. The details of the competition will be announced in these columns next week.

In various parts of Western Ontario notably in Haldimand County, land has risen in value until it sells for double what it did a few years ago, and this has been due directly to the fact that the farmers there have found out that their land will grow alfalfa, and they now grow it largely. One farmer at Caledonia grows each year over 100 acres of alfalfa.

Wealth Through Growing Alfalfa

In various states of the American Union, farmers have become wealthy through growing alfalfa. In Kansas, we learn that a few years ago farmers became so poor that all who could get out left the state. The land there became almost worthless; but since alfalfa was introduced the farmers have again become prosperous. In New York State on land quite similar to ours here in Peterborough County, the farmers generally are becoming large growers of alfalfa; the crop is making so much money for them and is doing so much to raise the general prosperity that even the railroads there have men going from farm, to farm inducing farmers to grow this great money-making crop.

Full instructions in regard to the culture of alfalfa will be furnished to all our farmers who enter the competition as here announced. An alfalfa expert who is now connected with the Farm and Dairy staff will in addition to his regular articles, give special instruction by letter or in person to those farmers, who decide to go in for growing alfalfa. Our farmer readers are advised to write Farm and Dairy in regard to this matter and to enter the competition.

North Monaghan Council Holds Business Meeting

The North Monaghan Township Council met on Monday, March 13, in the county committee room, at 2 p.m.

All the members were present, the Reeve in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

An account was handed in from Mr. G. Moncrief, for putting up railing at Lockie's Bridge, $38.85; account shovelling snow on ¼ line, $4.50; account shovelling snow on Cavan B., $5.60. These accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

Mr. M. Succee was present, and asked the Township to remunerate him to some extent, for digging a ditch that, he claimed, benefitted the road, and also other property adjacent thereto.

A communication relating to the matter was also read from W. H. Moore.

Mr. J. Fowler and Mr. R. Lillico attended the meeting and requested the Council to take such action as might relieve them from the flood caused by the Cavan Long swamp drain.

Moved by Messrs. Forster and Robson that the Clerk be hereby directed to notify the Council of Cavan Tp. to meet the Council of North Monaghan at the drain complained of by Messrs. Fowler and Lillico for the purpose of arranging in some satisfactory manner for the completion of the drain, and that Messrs. Fowler and Lillico be requested to be present at such meeting.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Forster that D. Manley be refunded the sum of $1.00 dog tax for 1910.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Forster and Morrow that F. Stinson be refunded the sum of ——— being error in school tax for 1910.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Morrow that the Collector be paid the sum of $60 as salary and allowances for 1910.—Carried.

The returns of the Collector were then presented and read. This account shows the sum of $41.59 as uncollectable in 1910. This return was left over until next meeting.

The matter of the ditch at Mr. Succee's was referred until such time as the Council can make an inspection of the work.

Council then adjourned to meet when called by the Reeve.

See the Pure Silk Ties in J. T. C. Lang & Co's window. Best quality and newest style. Regular 50c. special while they last 35c. 3d62

BIRTH

LASLETT—In Peterborough, March 8, 1911, the wife of Mr. A. E. Laslett of a son.

Burn "Dodo" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

THE GOOD OLD WAY

Apropos of the little controversy in the Examiner regarding Biblical interpretation, etc., the following written by one G. A. Wright in the Brockville Recorder, in evident reply to some poetical iconoclast, will be regarded as to the point:

In a recent day's Recorder, the good paper that we buy,
I came across some verses headed thus, "The Reason Why,"
The rhyme had lots of jingle, so I read the whole thing through;
It told just what the preachers in the pulpit ought to do.
He admitted that religion didn't bother him a bit,
Yet he knew just how to run a church and make the sermons hit.

He'd cut out the ancient gospel and the way our fathers trod,
And ask for some new-fangled way to worship Jacob's God.
He doesn't care for Moses, nor the Prophets' mighty deeds,
But thinks a new religion will fulfil our modern needs—
And the good old-time religion for the present will not do,
The kind for his collection must be absolutely new.

Since the days of Ananias men have never yet been slack,
To have excuses ready why they keep the money back;
But the very latest reason for not sitting in a pew,
We certainly acknowledge, is quite entirely new.
Many a man who shuns religion wouldn't change his present lot
For a land that's lacking churches and the freedom he has got

The good old-fashioned gospel that has stood the test of time,
And helped the countless millions the upward way to climb,
Is surely not unsuited to the needs of men to-day
If they honestly are anxious to walk the narrow way.
Men may scoff the old, old story, and may pass the preacher by,
But they often turn religious when the time has come to die.

Though a restless world is craving constantly for something new,
And though many minds are seeking false ideals instead of true,
Yet there is no new religion and there is no other way
Than the good old-fashioned gospel of our father's father's day.
And the thousand social problems which the world for years have shook,
Will find their only answer in the Good Old-Fashioned Book.
—G. A. Wright.

THE NEW MOVEMENT

Young Unionist Party (to Old Unionist Party):—"Come on out, mother, we shall never get anywhere in this. Let's take a taxi."—Punch.

[A Committee has been formed for the purpose of renovating the present Unionist Organization.]

BIG NAVAL REVIEW, SPITHEAD IN JUNE

A Battle Squadron of Dreadnoughts and Battleship Cruisers—A Great Illumination of the Fleet

There seems to be little doubt that the date for the Coronation Naval Review at Spithead will be on Saturday, June 24, the second day after the actual ceremonial in Westminster Abbey, and though it is yet too early to speak of details, it is safe to say that the naval pageant will be of an especially imposing character. It is understood that the Home and Atlantic fleets, with their attendant cruiser squadrons, will constitute the principal portion of the naval forces assembled, which will thus comprise a battle squadron of Dreadnoughts and battleship cruisers of the invincible type, with the Neptune as the principal flagship. This vessel is now absent from British waters, carrying out an important series of gunnery trials, but will soon return to hoist the pennant and flag of the new Commander-in-Chief of the Home Fleet.

If precedent is followed, the vessels will anchor in five to seven lines, between Ryde and Portsmouth, the battleships and cruisers nearest to the Isle of Wight, leaving a space in the centre of the line for the royal yacht to take up her mooring after the review for the illumination of the fleet. The lines nearer to Portsmouth and Stokes Bay will probably be occupied by smaller war vessels—sconts, torpedo craft of the various classes, and submarines. The foreign visiting vessels would be ranged in a line by themselves or on the flanks of the Dreadnoughts, though in the event of royal personages being on board they would be assigned a position of honor in the immediate vicinity of King George's own flotilla. With regard to the illumination of the fleet, it may be recalled that this was one of the most remarkable features of the aquatic display at the last coronation, when every ship was traced in brilliant lines of electric light, and the use of the fleet's searchlights proved most picturesque. The play of beams of light upon escaping steam made the scene one of fairylike delicacy, and the use of colored slides changing in rhythmic fashions as the successive signals came from the flagship, enhanced the beauty of the picture. Another picture that appealed to the imagination on that occasion was the firing of a salute by the fleet on the stroke of midnight when all of the searchlights of the fleet concentrated their beams to a focus above the royal yacht and threw her into bold relief against the night, till she looked like a sparkling gem surrounded by a halo. The suggestion is now being considered that this very effective spectacle be repeated, and indeed, there is reason to believe that most of the essential features of the 1902 review will stand unchanged, though, of course, the class of ships mustered for the royal inspection will show a remarkable change in naval architecture and strength, the Dreadnoughts having come into vogue since that memorable occasion. As regards the muster of foreign warships, an interesting representation is expected. Already there are indications that France and Japan will send some of their latest ships upon this special peaceful mission and when the list is complete, it is understood that it will be of an international character, representative of practically every naval power of any standing.

JUSTIN McCARTHY AT HOME

Eighty Years of Age, He Continues Literary Work

The popular author of "The History of Our Own Times," and the quondam Irish leader, is passing the evening of life in a pleasant villa at Folkestone.

"I arrived at the house just as Mr. McCarthy was returning from his morning bath-chair ride along the Leas," says a writer. "On November 22 he was eighty years of age, but his face is fresh and ruddy, and though his movements are slow and measured, he carries that fine, noble head of his well thrown back as of yore, and his figure is smart and upright."

Mr. McCarthy has continued his literary work while in retirement, bringing his famous history up to date, writing Lives of Sir Robert Peel, Pope Leo XIII., and Mr. Gladstone, and publishing some entertaining volumes of reminiscences.

PEARY'S GEOGRAPHY

North Pole Peary is apparently not strong in geography. He addressed a letter to "Dundee, Ireland."

THEIR OWN TAILORS

Young officers in the Scottish Command are now to be graciously permitted to choose their own tailors.

BLACK SNOW

A Remarkable Phenomenon in Emmenthal Valley

Black snow has fallen in the valley of Emmenthal and on the surrounding mountains to a depth of 15 inches in the valley, covering the white snow which lay on the ground and giving the district a dismal appearance. The first flakes were of a grey color, as if mixed with ashes, but as the downfall increased the snow took the hue of soot, and now it lies frozen on the ground black in color. Swiss scientists attribute the phenomenon to the volcanic dust thrown into the air by the recent eruption of Mount Etna and carried by the wind over the sea and Alps into Switzerland. The incident, though rare, has been experienced in this country on previous occasions, when "red" snow and "grey" rain fell, after volcanic eruptions in various parts of the world.

There has just been placed in the National Portrait Gallery a picture by an unknown Dutch artist of Jeffrey Hudson (1619-82), the famous dwarf of Henrietta Maria. The picture shows him to be about 2 feet 4 inches high at the age of eight, thus disposing of the legend that he was only 18 inches high till thirty, when he shot up to his full stature of 3 feet 6 inches.

Wall Paper Opening

40,000 ROLLS

of New and Exclusive Patterns in Canadian and Imported American Papers

Handsome effects in floral and scenic panels, Silks, Velours, Tapestries and the higher class of wall papers and decorations as well as a specially selected line of

5c, 6c, 7½c 10c and 12c Papers

An invitation is extended to the citizens of Peterborough and vicinity to call at the Peterborough Bookstore and inspect this new stock of high grade wall papers, the best ever shown in Peterborough.

Come and let us show you the newest effects for this spring.

WE HAVE AN ENDLESS VARIETY OF
Window Blinds, Cornice Poles and Drapery Rods

The PETERBORO BOOKSTORE
Trebilcock Bros.
417 George Street Peterborough

Call and have a look at our stock before you have made your purchases

College and School.

Chicago has eleven colleges and universities, with 18,683 students.

New Jersey maintains its high standard of public schools at an average cost of about 20 cents a day a pupil.

The Chilean maritime province of Entre Rios has equipped two floating schools to enable the residents of its islands to obtain an education.

Camp Meeting Song.

You better take yo' passage 'fo' de ship of gospel sail,
But don't you be no Jonah. It's hard upon de whale.

You better steer for glory whilst de time is called "Today!"
But don't you go lak' 'Lijah or you'll burn up on de way.

Oh, de worl' is full o' trouble, wicked comes on ever' han',
An' all you git w'en de trouble's done is a glimpse o' de promise lan'!
—Atlanta Constitution.

SMARTNESS AND ATTRACTIVENESS ARE THE CHIEF CHARACTERISTICS OF OUR NEW

SPRING SKIRTS

And don't think because they are the season's newest selections, that they are expensive:—You'll find them priced in the same economical way that we price all our merchandise.

Come to the store to-day or to-morrow. The display will delight you, for there's much to see and to admire.

Every garment included is one of Fashion's latest—and there's a large and varied assortment to choose from,

Words can't do jusice to the beauty and cleverness of this collection; come, let the skirts do their own talking. Come and see them and their prices.

Watch for To-morrow's Opening Announcement

RICHARD HALL & SON

SPECIAL MARCH SALE
of
WOMEN'S GARMENTS
14 Days of Intense Selling

Thursday, March 16th to Friday, March 31st

PREPARATIONS for this sale have been planned on a very large scale. Two features are prominent—First, Newness, then, Low Prices. They are here hand in hand for this 14 days of intense selling. When we say "stocks are one-third larger than in any previous season" you will understand we have not planned in any half hearted manner. Then the department has been enlarged and rearranged to make seeing and choosing very easy.

All garments sold during this special sale will be altered Free of Charge and fully guaranteed in fit and wear.

Only an item here and there can be mentioned. Dozens of others just as good, some better, await your visit to the department during this 14 days' sale. Come, if only to see what is correct.

The New Cloth Dresses

No section of our Ready-to-Wear Department has shown as big an increase in sales as that of Women's Dresses—We have them in silk, satin voile, and all kinds of cloths, made in New York's latest dictate as regard to style; some very elegant creations, marked at prices that appeal. Then the satisfaction of trying on the made up garment and seeing the effect before purchasing is a big card in favour of the made up dress. Only a few descriptions will be given below—a visit to the department will be well worth while, to see the entire range.

Tan Panama Dress $12—One piece dress of fine imported Panama Cloth with panel front skirt, yoke of the dress is in square banded effect with lace back and front, self buttons. One special price $12

Braided Shantung Silk Dress $25—One piece dress of corn blue Shantung Silk; waist elaborately trimmed with braid and cord of the same shade, cuff and yoke of valenciennes lace, a very dainty pretty gown. Price $25

Misses' Cashmere Peasant Dress $15—Light tan, champagne and navy with Persian silk trimming; a one piece dress, plain hobble band skirt, short sleeve waist with turn back cuff (the peasant) and turn down collar—Very special $15

The New Silk Kimonos—The new kimono for Spring 1911: —very dainty floral effects in silk—grey and red, pink and sky, pink and white and helio, a long kimono with handkerchief or kimono sleeves, ribbon and tassel trimmed. Prices range from ..... $3.50 to $12.00

Slip Over Gown 95c—Good quality cotton gown with circular yoke of embroidery beading inserted with wash silk ribbon and edged with valenciennes laces, cuffs of lace edged embroidery on ¾ length sleeve. Our special at 95c

New Children's Wear Dept.

Our enlarged Ready-to-Wear Section enables us to put in a most complete stock of ready-to-put-on garments for children—from the youngest baby up to the girls who take young ladies sizes. A large portion of these have been secured from Chicago and New York Makers and are chic and new in get up—They range from ordinary print and gingham up to the finest white mulls, embroideries etc.

To buy these ready-to-put-on saves you time, money and trouble which are three strong reasons why they should be purchased already made up.

The Highland Bloomer Dress—This is the latest innovation in children's wear—a dress and bloomer attached which are opened at the back and put on as easily as a man puts a coat on. These are for small boys and girls—are economical, sensible, and becoming, and does away with underwaists, drawers petticoat and unnecessary trouble in dressing the child. They come in light and dark shades in plaids, checks & plain materials with trimmings of white or fancy material, for ages 2 to 6. See the special lines at....$1.49 and $1.98

Checked Gingham Dress—For children aged 6 to 14 years, small blue, green and brown shepherd's checked gingham, with high collar, fancy piped front. Age 6 to 10 years, special 89c. Age 12 to 14 for..... 99c

Fancy Plaid Dress $2.25—Very pretty plaid dresses for children, blue, tan and red effects in Scotch Zephyrs, with yoke of plain material, pleated skirt and shaped attached belt. For ages 12 to 14 years $2.50. For ages 6 to 10 years, only..... 2.25

Fine Nainsook Gown $1.48—A gown of fine English Nainsook with embroidered yoke in two very dainty designs edged with lace and inserted with ribbon. Our special at..... $1.48

The above cut represents the Egyptine Skirt

$7 Black Silk Underskirt $5—This is the biggest value we have had for some time in our Underskirt Section. A chiffon taffeta silk petticoat in sizes 38, 40, 42, with 18 inch fancy flounce, combination pin tucks and shirring. Regular $7.00 value. Our leader at..... $5

New Egyptine Underskirt $2.19—This is an entirely new material for underskirts, the Egyptine cloth, does not crush, which is a marked improvement on heatherbloom. The skirt is made with very wide flounce, clinging styles, every shade & black. Reg. $3. Extra special for.... 2.19

Satinette Petticoat $1.39—This skirt is made of a very silk brilliant finished cloth—satinette—soft and flexible and does not crush, comes in black only. Regularly sold for and good value at $2.00. Our special value $1.39

UP-TO-THE-HOUR BLOUSES—Our new Blouse department is worthy of a visit. It is so arranged that many lines are displayed for "easy seeing." The new tailored effects are certainly very correct and then the prices are very reasonable. "Exclusiveness" is a very strong feature here and many lines are stocked with "ones" or "twos" to be able to give "something different" to all who wish it. Particularly see our range of New Tailored Blouses

Cross Bar Muslin (Tailored) $1—One of the lowest priced garments we keep, yet one of the nattiest. This blouse of cross barred muslin has the popular Gibson shoulder pleat. Our Spring value.... $1

Tailored Linette Blouse $1.50—Plain white Linette with wide side pleated front, square pointed cuff and linen collar, a very serviceable dressy blouse. Special Spring value..... $1.50

$1.75 Embroidered Linette Blouse—The Linette is a cotton with every appearance of a pure linen. This blouse has the embroidered front with centre box pleat, cluster of four side pleats over shoulder in Gibson effect. Spring special..... $1.75

$2.50 Real Irish Linen Blouse—A very nice quality Irish Linen Blouse with front of fine tucks in combination with a pretty design of solid and eyelet embroidery, box pleat down centre front and large pearl buttons. Special at.. $2.50

Other Tailored Lines—The above lines can hardly be termed a representative lot from our Tailored Blouse stock. We have many very excellent and exclusive lines which are at your service Prices range $3.25 to $4.75

Our New White Cambric Gown 89c—A gown in the Marguerite style with deep circular lace yoke and draw of blue baby ribbon, lace trimmed ¾ length sleeves. Our extra special leader at 89c

$1.48 White Skirt---Very Special—This is an extra special White Cotton Skirt with 18 inch flounce of clustered tucks and 5 rows of torchon lace insertion and wide lace edging. Big special 1.48

ELEGANT SPRING COATS—The spring coat is to be a most popular garment this season —it's perhaps the most useful garment for spring a woman can buy. The long raglan style is very correct and some shorter styles are also being sold. We have a very large number, one only of a kind. Strictly exclusive in style, some German made, others made in New York, and a large number made by our best Canadian makers.

Light Grey Spring Coat $25—A natty tweed coat in full length with the popular hobble lines, trimmed with cuff & vestette of green panama cloth A very dressy garment for spring wear. Price.... $25

Special $12 Long Coat—Light tan & shades of grey in chiffon panama, trimmed with black moire silk and jet buttons, shawl collar faced with black moire silk. Special value $12

Black and White Tweed Coat $10—A coat for the grown up girl or the small woman, black and white diagonal striped tweed in mid grey effect, with black & white shepherd's check collar, cuffs and buttons. Our leader at..... $10.00

Buy Your Whitewear During This Sale

Several lines of Whitewear, ordered for our January White Sale, have just come to hand, and on account of being late have been marked remarkably low in price.

$1.25 White Skirt, big value—A new line; good quality white cotton skirt with deep flounce of fine lawn, trimmed with clustered fine tucks & row of emb'y & a 2 inch hem. A very special value.. $1.25

15c Corset Covers—Good quality white cambric corset cover, plain front with deep lace yoke inserted with pale blue silk baby ribbon & lace trimmed armhole. Our extra special value at 15c

SPRING SUITS---Numbers, Style and Price Features

These three points have been emphasized for the 14 Days' Sale. Nearly 200 new Suits to choose from—every Suit is exclusive—that is, cannot be seen elsewhere in the city—all made to our special order and confined absolutely to us.

Special $14 Striped Venetian—A nicely tailored striped New Zealand Venetian in fawn, coat is short with tailored collar faced with Persian satin, fold cuff and curved slash pocket, lined nicely, skirt made in plain pleated style. Price..... $14.00

$15 Blue Diagonal Stripe—Very special quality diagonal weave fabric; coat is neatly tailored, with basket weave satin finished fabric collar facing, fold cuff; coat is short and neat; skirt is in plain pleated style. Price very special at..... $15.00

Blue Serge Suit $19—A natty suit of splendid quality imported serge, trimmed with fancy black buttons and self fancy bandings; coat has long shawl collar with self banding and black silk; skirt is neat and self trimmed. Very special ... $19.00

French Panama Suit $25—An exclusive high grade suit for a moderate price, light navy blue suit of French Panama cloth trimmed with piping of satin and fancy buttons; coat has black satin trimmed collar, self bandings, lined with Italian Satin; skirt is plain pleated. Price..... $25.00

DEPARTMENT STORE
Cressman's

Fine Grey Worsted Suit $37—One of our highest grade suits for Spring—very exclusive style; coat is two buttons with large fancy collar edged with wide band of black brocade, fancy pockets and cuffs, large and small fancy buttons to match the grey cloth; skirt is plain with fancy habit back, a very stylish suit for $37.00

Reach's Guide For 1911 Out

That one more ball season is upon us is convincingly demonstrated through the welcome appearance of Reach's Official American League Guide for 1911; being, as usual, first in the field and this Spring earlier than ever. The 1911 Reach Guide, which has been edited for many years by Editor Richter, of "Sporting Life," is always up to the high standard set by the Reach Guide ever since the incumbency of the present editor, but it can be justly stated that the 1911 Reach American League Guide is the best of the long Reach series and superior to any similar publication in the world, alike in the matter of text, illustrations, quality of paper, binding and all the details that go to make up a handsome as well as readable book—in short the American League Official Guide for 1911 is in all respects a first-class hand book for the National game and a decided credit to the American League and to the publishers, the Reach Company, of Philadelphia. This is the tenth annual issue of the Reach Guide as the official handbook of the American League and the twenty-ninth consecutive year of its publication as a book of record and reference for the entire baseball world.

POLICE COURT

One of the city's most prosperous enterprises is the Police Court. The proceeds of this morning's sessions were $23.00. A well known local young man, was the first to be called. He pleaded guilty. $5.75, or 15 days," said his Worship. "I'll take the fifteen days," said the accused, and he was accordingly marched down to the cells.

Cullen Chisom, of Marmora, was the next. He paid a fine of $5.75. David Newbury, of Nassau, paid a similar fine; also another well-known local boy, coughed up the same number of Williams. One of the prisoners had a very sore eye, which looked very much like as if he had been trying to do a Johnson-Jeffries stunt, and got worsted in the attempt.

OBITUARY

MR. STEPHEN G. HETHERINGTON

Death came with great suddenness to Mr. Stephen G. Hetherington, who died at his residence, 500 Chambers street this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. He had no illness, but this morning he complained of a pain in the region of the heart. He took dinner with the family as usual, but at half past one he died before help could be summoned. Heart disease is given as the cause of death. The deceased gentleman was about sixty years of age. He came to Peterborough from Millbrook about twenty years ago, and has been a resident of the city ever since. He leaves behind him a wife, four sons and one daughter. The sons are W. P. Hetherington, of the Peterborough Steam Laundry and Sydney, Walter and George Hetherington, all of Peterborough. The daughter is Mrs. J. S. Ferguson, of Pontypool. The announcement of the funeral will be made in these columns tomorrow.

DESERTED CHILD

TORONTO, MARCH 15.—A well-dressed woman, twenty-six years old, carrying a telescope valise in one hand and an infant two weeks old, in the other, was kindly given shelter without registering at the Krausman House last night, but this morning, when a maid called at the room, only the infant was there and a scrawled note on the table addressed to a fictitious person, indicated that the owner would not be back for the child, which is being cared for in a home here.

LAID TO REST

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alexander Greive took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence. The Rev. Robt. Pogue officiated. The cortege was followed to the cemetery by a large number of friends and relatives. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

The funeral of the late John Stothart, which took place this afternoon from the deceased's late residence, Water street north, was largely attended. The Rev. Robt. Pogue officiated.

SPORTING NOTES

The bright sunshine and balmy air of the past few days have been responsible for an outbreak of baseball fever, and the players are already beginning to talk over the prospects for the season. In fact some of the youngsters have gone a step further and have already dug up their gloves and bats. It is likely that the City League will be reorganized this season and the outlook is bright for a good league, as a lot of material has drifted into Peterborough during the winter, and the teams should be more evenly balanced than last year.

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR".

The greatest hit in years, "The Man of the Hour" will be seen by Peterboorugh theatregoers this season at the Grand to-morrow (Thursday) evening. Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, says: "A play that should be seen by every man who is a good citizen, and by every woman who feels pride in having her husband, brother or sweetheart do his duty."

Mother's Compound Iron Pills. Only 25 cents for 50 doses. Wm. Madill.

PROBS.—Strong winds and gales from west and northwest turning colder with showers of rain or snow. Thursday—fine and much colder.

ROBERT FAIR & CO., LIMITED

Wonderful Spring News

More Suits More Dress Goods
More Wash Goods More Coats
More Silks More Neckwear
More Blouses More Trimmings
More Linens

We make a specialty of Fashionable Styles in

TAILOR-MADE SUITS

We display in profusion a wonderful stock of Suits, perhaps the most remarkable ever assembled on the cloak floor at moderate prices; the scale of prices being from $10.00 up to $40.00. The materials in suits are serges, mixtures, men's wear worsteds in checks and stripes and bird's eye effects, while the colors are navy, kings blue, slate, pearl, grey, black and brown.

The spring season will see the

SEPARATE COATS

Wonderfully Popular

Tight or semi-fitting models that are wonderfully pretty, made so by the neatness in designing and rich shades and patterns. Serges in plain shades, rough face fabrics in mixtures, some with collars and cuffs, contrast shades and patterns lending to their beauty.

DRESSES

See What Pretty Styles

The prices are reasonable and the materials are the very newest in colors and designs. Come and see them; take the elevator to the second floor.

WAISTS

Very special value in beautifully designed high class New Spring Blouses for dressy wear. You will realize how great the values are when you inspect the Waist.

SKIRTS

Our Skirts are all fashioned on this season's smartest lines, made from the newest materials and beautifully tailored, the fitting qualities are all that can be desired.

There's something superior and distinctively different about garments bought at this store

Robt. Fair & Co.

383 George Street :: :: Limited

SUGAR AND FLOUR

We are still selling Sugar and Flour at lower prices than elsewhere in the city and we have

ONLY ONE QUALITY of Sugar and that is REDPATH'S BEST

You can get bargains in many lines of Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes, and Groceries and Furniture.

GET OUR PRICES

J. T. BRAUND, 718-720-722-724 George St., corner Smith Street. Cars pass the door. Orders taken for any part of the city

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

St. Patrick's Social.

—The Y. W. C. A. girls will hold their annual St. Patrick's social this evening. All girls are invited.

Piano Bargain.

$25.00 cash buys a square Piano, in good condition, needs tuning. Apply H. Ed. Browne, Examiner office.

Practise To-Morrow Night.

George Street Choir will hold a full practice to-morrow night (Thursday), at 7.30. It is important that all members be present.

Lenten Service.

—The Rector of All Saints' will conduct Lenten service this evening at 8 p.m., at the residence of Mr. W. G. Howden, 27 Lansdowne ave. All are invited.

Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's church will be held to-morrow night at 8 o'clock in the ladies' parlour.

Will Hold a Sale.

—The Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Church will hold a sale of home-made cakes and confectionery on Saturday in the China Hall.

Probabilities.

Strong winds and gales from west and northwest, turning colder with some showers of rain or snow. Thursday, fine and much colder.

Sugar! Sugar!

Received two carloads of sugar. While I am unloading will sell cheaper. Come at once and save money. JAMES R. BELL, Hunter street, east and west.

To-night.

The Africanders will be at the Royal to-night for the last time on this occasion. They give a show worth a good deal more than the admission of 10c. If you have not seen them yet, do so to-night.

Carroll Club Pianos.

The piano to be used on the stage at the Opera House, March 17th, is The Carroll Club Piano, manufactured by Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, Toronto. Call and inspect the pianos. 372 Water street.

An Error.

Through a regrettable error the Examiner yesterday stated that the funeral of the late Mrs. C. N. Graham took place to Little Lake cemetery. It should have read "the funeral of Mrs. Catharine Braham."

Lenten Service.

—Tonight, in St. John's church, Rev. H. A. Bracken of Toronto, will preach the special Lenten sermon. Rev. Mr. Bracken is one of the rising young men of the Anglican church and has been doing good work in Toronto.

Important to the Ladies of Peterborough.

—We are glad to announce that we are opening a nice line of millinery this season; very latest and up-to-date styles—shapes, trimmed and untrimmed. Come now and inspect our line. You are quite welcome whether you buy or not.—Knickerbocker Co., 422 George St.; 'Phone 711.

At S. A. Oke's, successor to H. P Kennedy.

FISH—Fresh fish, Halibut, Salmon, Sea Herrings, Seal Shipt Oysters. VEGETABLES — Carrots, parsnips, beets, cabbage, celery, fresh lettuce, parsley and green onions daily; guaranteed new laid eggs. Meats. Prime beef, lamb and pork, always in stock. —S. A. OKE, 340 George street. 'Phon e275.

Fruit Bargains.

—Seedless Oranges—50c line, 40c., 40c. line, 30c.; 30c. line, 25c.; 25c line 20c.; 20c. line, 15c. per dozen. If you are thinking of making Marmalade now is a good time to buy. Fish of all kinds and vegetables always in stock.—J. Longo, 206 Charlotte street, next My Valet.

On the Free List.

—Florida Grape Fruit, Pineapples, Sunkist Seedless Oranges, Bananas, and Lemons. Our stock is complete and prices are low. Also in stock, Cauliflowers, Strawberries, Boston Head Lettuce, Ripe Tomatoes, Rhubarb, Celery, Green Onions, Spanish Onions; fish of all kinds, Sealshipt Oysters, Vegetables, etc.—Walter J. Oke, 376 George street. Bell 'Phones 18 and 19.

Vacuum Cleaning.

A pure, dustless atmosphere cannot be obtained except by Vacuum cleaning. Vacuum cleaning has been perfected to the point where every home can enjoy its benefits for less than the cost of cleaning with broom or beating. Our powerful machines do the work quickly and well. Ask us to explain the system. The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Company, 396 Water St. (near cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British plate glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

Porcupine Gold Mines Co. (Vipond.)

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Gormaly, Tilt & Co., members of the Standard Stock Exchange, Toronto, who strongly advise the purchase of Vipond Porcupine Gold Mines Co. stock. The stock which has advanced so rapidly of late. Gormaly Tilt & Co. advised the purchase of this when it was selling at 25c. and they still advise the purchase of it at the present market price. Communicate with Gormaly Tilt & Co., 32 Adelaide St. E., Toronto, for full particulars. Work on the "Vipond" mine is proving that it is in reality a mine, not a prospect.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills

A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at 5 a box, or three for $10. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

There is more nourishment and sustaining power in

EPPS'S COCOA

than in any other beverage

Epps's Cocoa is a perfect storehouse of vitality, restoring and maintaining strength and energy. Fragrant, delicious and warmth-giving. "Epps's" contains the maximum of nourishment in Cocoa.

Children thrive on "Epps's."

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. R. Strickland of Toronto, is visiting in the city.

Mr. W. H. Carter, of Orillia, is at the Munro House.

Mr. J. O'Kuechler, of Brockport, is at the Hotel National.

Miss Linton, of Campbellford, is at the Hotel National.

Mrs. Homer O. Fiske will not receive again this season.

Mr. A. Williams of Picton is registered at the White House.

Mr. Gordon Dill of Montreal, is a guest at the Snowden House.

Mr. R. J. Soden and son, left on a trip to Midland this morning.

Mr. J. W. Young of Toronto, is registered at the Snowden House.

Mr. H. Schemidt of Campbellford, is a guest at the Hotel National.

Mr. John Linton of Campbellford, is registered at the Hotel National.

Mrs. Robert Davidson, 171 Antrim street, will not receive to-morrow afternoon.

Mrs. J. W. Kelly, 372 Downi street, will not receive to-morrow afternoon, Thursday.

Mr. R. S. Brinton of the Brinton Carpet Co., and of Kidderminster, Eng., is registered at the Oriental.

Mr. P. H. Masterson who has been visiting friends in Hastings and Peterborough during the winter, has left for the west.

Mrs. C. Warner leaves on the 4.38 C.P.R. train for Toronto, where she will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Hill, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Matchett are in Toronto, where Mr. Matchett is attending as a delegate the convention of the Canadian Order of Home Circles.

The many friends of Mr. Stewart Laing, 489 Cedar street, will regret to learn that he is in the General Hospital, Kingston, quite ill, with an attack of rheumatism.

Mr. Leonard Giroux, who has been so unfortunate as to lose the sight of one eye as the result of an accident some weeks ago, was removed to his home from St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday.

Mrs. R. E. Harrison, of Lamonte, Alta., who has been spending the past three months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harding, returned to her home yesterday. She was accompanied as far as Toronto by Mr. Harding and Mrs. Cofton. The latter will remain in Toronto the balance of the week.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CONCERT
Friday evening at the Opera House—Excellent Programme
Under Auspices of St. Peter's T. A. S. Plan Now Open.
3d-02-4378

FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF PETERBORO' COUNTY

Following is the financial statement of the County of Peterborough, February 28th, 1911:

Jan. 1—Cash on hand	22.58
Overdraft		12683.26
County rates, general	3445.93
House of Refuge	1169.23
Schools	263.35
Schools, general	2026.22	2847.87
Licenses	90.00
Land tax, general	24.40	994.61
Land tax, sale	5.33
Land tax, redempt's	80.79	114.49
Roads, bridges	404.30	1239.44
Ad. Justice, General	3954.80	2133.85
Ad. Justice, Gaol		421.11
Magistrates' Fines	Nil
Debentures		239.20
Interest	4.30	79.15
Miscellaneous	18.00	52.96
Division Courts	23.20
House of Refuge	306.95	563.10
Miscellaneous grants		40.00
Municipal		900.30
Registry office		53.09
Printing, postage, advertising, etc.		124.83
County property		202.26
Insurance, Heat Light etc.		40.00
Steam Plant		120.20
Feb. 28, Overdraft	10986.34
	$22,825.71	$22,825.71

ED. M. ELLIOTT,
County Clerk and Treasurer.

COAL OIL

For a strong white light try China Hall's water white American Oil at 15c per gallon in 5 gallon lots. 17c by the single gallon delivered. There is no better oil at any price.
3w3d6z-4291 McFarlane Wilson

A FARMERS' ORGANIZATION

From Farm and Dairy.

The Grange is a farmers' organization. It is not political in its nature. It does not endeavor to establish a third party. It does not urge Conservatives to cease being Conservatives or Liberals to cease being Liberals. It proposes simply to have farmers meet together to discuss what they consider to be in their best interests, and then to lay their platform before both political parties for approval, as the farmers in the west have been doing.

The articles in the constitution of the Grange covering political relations emphatically assert that the Grange is not a party organization. No Grange, if true to its obligation, can call political conferences nor nominate candidates, nor even discuss their merits in its meetings nor permit any discussion upon questions upon which its members stand divided by party lines. The principles taught by the Grange, however, underlie all true politics, all true statesmanship, and if properly carried out will tend to purify the whole political atmosphere of our country. The Grange seeks the greatest good to the greatest number; but it must always be borne in mind that no one by becoming a member of the Grange gives up that inalienable right and duty, which belongs to every citizen, to take a proper interest in the politics of his country.

The remodelled Grange, as we now have it in Ontario, is worthy of the support of every farmer. On account of its social and educational work, which is its main reason for existence, as well as for the influence which as an independent farmers' organization it can bring to bear upon the powers that be, we farmers owe it to ourselves to become connected with it. The Grange affords us farmers in Ontario the only means available through the machinery of which we can make ourselves effectively heard. Farmers' clubs are good, but they are unorganised units, and for that reason have not the influence or cohesion of the Grange.

Bi-lingualism In Platform.

Smith's Falls, March 15—Opposition to bi-lingual schools was the feature of the grand lodge meeting of the Royal Black Preceptory for Eastern Ontario, which opened here yesterday. The opening session at 2 o'clock had an attendance of over 150 delegates, a much larger number than usually reports for the first meeting.

One of the most important resolutions to come before the meeting is the following:

"The executive committee having been unable to prepare a Protestant platform for this grand lodge, and there being a possibility that before such a platform can be adopted by the two provincial grand lodges of this province, a provincial election may be held, therefore this grand lodge places itself upon record on the following question, which we hope will become planks in the platform, namely, 'abolition of bi-lingual schools and of sectarian teaching in the Ontario schools'."

AT THE WARNE SHOE STORE

Special This Week:

A Ladies' Patent Blucher Bal. $2.50

A light Dongola Bal., good for house boot 1.00

Boys' Box Kip Blucher, good school boot, 1 to 5 ..... $1.25

Youths' ditto $1.00

If you want the right shoe at the right price, just try—

WARNE'S SHOE STORE

Two New Regiments.

Ottawa, March 15.—A number of militia changes were announced yesterday. Lieut.-Col. J. P. Landry is transferred from the 11th Infantry Brigade to command the 9th Infantry Brigade, vice Lieut.-Col. F. S. Macway, transferred to the reserve of officers.

The organization of two new regiments is gazetted, one of the 26th New Brunswick Dragoons, under the command of Lieut.-Col. H. H. McLean, who is to command the coronation contingent, and the other the 72nd Highlanders of Vancouver, under the command of Major R. G. Edwards Leckie.

Captain J. W. de Corey O'Grady is gazetted as lieutenant-colonel in command of the 90th Winnipeg Rifles, vice Lieut.-Col. Billman, transferred to the reserve.

Electricians Strike at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., March 15.—Yesterday morning 26 electricians employed by the Lake Superior Corporation rail mill went on strike, alleging that the management had dispensed with the services of electrician J. Wilson on Monday without cause. It is not yet known to what extent the strike will effect the working of the rail mill.

Anarchists Attack Priests.

New York, March 15.—A band of anarchists interrupted the priests who were blessing the site of a new church on East Twelfth street with shouts of "Down with the church" and "Long live anarchy." Policemen rushed to the spot from all directions, and one of the men was arrested. The others scattered.

Cornell Losing Money Fast.

Ithaca, March 15.—Each student at Cornell University is costing the institution $13.70 more than he is putting back into the treasury for his tuition, according to a statement prepared by the officials. There are over four thousand regularly enrolled undergraduates in the university.

MISS McGIVERIN'S

Millinery Opening

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

of this week

March 17th & 18th

A handsome display of new and exclusive styles of Millinery, the cream of the latest creations in New York and Paris.

MISS McGIVERIN

New York Millinery Parlours 431 George St.

Sale Continued Until Saturday Night, Mar. 25th, 1911

$10-$13 Young Men's Serge Suits ...	$6.90
1.00-1.25 Fine Print and Gingham Shirts	75c
1.75-$2 All Wool Tweed Trousers.....	1.45
7.50-9.00 Young Men's Tweed Suits...	5.90
75c-90c Print Shirts, 14 to 17.....	50c
2.00-2.25 Fancy Worsted Trousers	1.55
5.00-7.00 Boy's three-piece Suits.....	3.95

Thousands of dollars worth of goods yet to be disposed of. Prices have been cut still deeper

This event has positively been the greatest money-saving opportunity ever offered to people of this section of the country. Hundreds of people have come from miles and miles, and supplied their wants for some time to come. Not a person has been or could be dissatisfied. The best qualities of merchandise have been sold, but there still remains thousands of dollars worth to be disposed of, hence this continuation of the sale is necessary. The stock must be reduced to the lowest possible point. On many items the price has been reduced still further, and you can come during the following days of this sale with full confidence that you will find bargains the equal of those that have attracted such vast crowds so far during this sale, and in many cases still greater bargains. The sale will positively end Saturday Night, March 25th. Don't delay, the sooner you come the better it will be for your own interests. :: ::

Hundreds of unadvertised bargains equally as good as the advertised ones

40c-45c Shawknit Cashmere Hose.....	30c
10.50-13.50 Fancy Worsted Suits, sizes 36 and 37 only.....	7.90
50c President Suspenders, guaranteed...	35c
1.25-1.40 all wool Tweed Trousers....	1.05
13.50-$15 Men's Fancy Worsted Suits	10.00
20c Merino and Cotton Hose	0c

9 More Days of Sensational BARGAINS | H. LeBRUN & CO. | 9 More Days of Sensational BARGAINS

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

VOL L No. 63 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY MARCH 16 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROSE LEA
10c Cigar

Sale Continued Until Saturday Night, Mar. 25th, 1911

$10-$13 Young Men's Serge Suits ... $6.90
1.00-1.25 Fine Print and Gingham Shirts 75c
1.75-$2 All Wool Tweed Trousers..... 1.45
7.50-9.00 Young Men's Tweed Suits... 5.90
75c-90c Print Shirts, 14 to 17..... 50c
2.00-2.25 Fancy Worsted Trousers 1.55
5.00-7.00 Boy's three-piece Suits..... 3.95

Thousands of dollars worth of goods yet to be disposed of. Prices have been cut still deeper

This event has positively been the greatest money-saving opportunity ever offered to people of this section of the country. Hundreds of people have come from miles and miles, and supplied their wants for some time to come. Not a person has been or could be dissatisfied. The best qualities of merchandise have been sold, but there still remains thousands of dollars worth to be disposed of, hence this continuation of the sale is necessary. The stock must be reduced to the lowest possible point. On many items the price has been reduced still further, and you can come during the following days of this sale with full confidence that you will find bargains the equal of those that have attracted such vast crowds so far during this sale, and in many cases still greater bargains. The sale will positively end Saturday Night, March 25th. Don't delay, the sooner you come the better it will be for your own interests. :: ::

Hundreds of unadvertised bargains equally as good as the advertised ones

40c-45c Shawknit Cashmere Hose..... 30c
10.50-13.50 Fancy Worsted Suits, sizes 36 and 37 only..... 7.90
50c President Suspenders, guaranteed... 35c
1.25-1.40 all wool Tweed Trousers.... 1.05
13.50-$15 Men's Fancy Worsted Suits 10.00
20c Merino and Cotton Hose 10c

9 More Days of Sensational BARGAINS | H. LeBRUN & CO. | 9 More Days of Sensational BARGAINS

ROYAL

Special Vaudeville
2 Double Acts

Kerner & Brown
German Comedians
Singing-Talking-Dancing

The Sloan Duo
in
A Refined Comedy Sketch
Singing and Dancing

These are two of the best Comedy Acts that have been at the Royal since a long time. All lovers of good clean refined Comedy should not miss the Royal to-night or to-morrow. Everything in both Acts is new and different from any other Acts on the Circuit.

The world's Best Motion Picture Plays
Another change of motion pictures for to-night's special picture show. Some of the best dramas and funniest comedies ever seen, Edison's Selig's Biograph's etc., besides the new pictures, Selig's great masterpiece "The Padre" a tale of the early missions in California will be repeated to-night.

Admission 5c & 10c

Extra Special To-day
PRINCESS
BIGGEST EVER

The Norwood Necklace
A splendid Thanhouser Detective Picture. Don't miss it

Last night to see
The Seminole's Sacrifice
A thrilling Indian and Soldier Drama of the Early Settler Days

Last night to see
Society And The Man
A great Drama by the famous American Vitagraph Co.

Come to-night and see the World's Greatest Show.

Remember
Every child photographed by us previous to Dec. 1st, will be in the large group photograph of Peterborough children to be reproduced in the special 1911 Christmas Examiner

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

Children's Aid Society
For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.
Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.
Bell Phone - - 785 George Street

THE UNITED STATES AND MEXICO ARE TO CONFER

Representatives of the Two Countries Will Meet in Cuba to Discuss the Problem of the Revolt.

REYES PRESIDENT

New York, March 16.—A conference to quell the revolution in Mexico is arranged to take place on Cuban soil between Jose y Limantour, Secretary of State Knox and General Reyes, and is slated for the second week in April. It was stated positively last night that President Gomez of Cuba is named as intermediary. It is said he arranged the proposed conference. As a result of the conference it is prophesied that General Reyes will consent to run for the Presidency of Mexico, with the united support of the Diaz Government and Madero followers. Limantour will succeed Enrique C. Reel as Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Secretary Knox is now in Florida and within a few hours' reach of Cuba. General Reyes is in Paris. Reports received by Mexican refugees here last night stated that Reyes is about to leave, ostensibly for Vera Cruz, to answer a message from President Diaz asking him to return home whence he was exiled in 1909, but really to go to Havana for the conference. Limantour is in this city.

"Involves Exalted Parties."

St. Petersburg, March 16.—A sensation was caused in the Douma yesterday by M. Milukoff's assertion that "The present affair in the Far East again involves exalted persons."

Mercury Drops 70 Degrees.

Duluth, Minn., March 16.—With a drop of seventy degrees in eighteen hours, the thermometer yesterday morning on city streets registered five below.

The World's Best Gloves are
Dent's and Perrin's
Our stock of Gloves is now complete and we are prepared to show you the best Gloves made, at prices from $1.00 $4.50.
Fashion - Craft Shop. 140 Hunter St.
A. M. LAIDLAW

SEES A BONANZA.

U. S. Official Presents Tariff Arguments In Maine.

Portland, Me., March 16.—That the United States will enjoy a greater export trade to Canada in five years' time, than any other country should the Canadian reciprocity agreement be adopted, was the prediction made here last night by John Hall Osborne, chief of the bureau of foreign commerce of the State Department, and a member of the reciprocity commission, in an address before the Economic Club. He estimated that Canada's total imports in 1915 should be about $560,000,000, and that the U.S. will supply $160,000,000, or 65 per cent. of its imports. This, he said, is an extremely conservative estimate, and may be augmented to $400,000,000 by assuming that the United States' share will be at least 74 per cent.

In reviewing the history of the negotiations which led up to the present reciprocity agreement between this country and Canada, Mr. Osborne pointed out that no more appropriate field than the Dominion of Canada possibly could be found by the United States for the application of the reciprocity policy in regulating trade intercourse.

The speaker discussed the advantages that would accrue to the American people by the adoption of the agreement. Mr. Osborne contended that while the reciprocity arrangement may not immediately cheapen the cost of living, it surely would equalize and steady prices, arresting the upward movement which is bearing so heavily on a large proportion of the population. Taking the free admission of Canadian wheat as an example, the speaker declared that this would operate to prevent speculative disturbances in domestic markets. The speaker did not think that any fear need be felt in the border states lest the agreement should prove injurious to the farming interests. Generally speaking, he said, it may be confidently asserted that the free movement across the border of farm products will benefit the farmers on both sides of the line and the reciprocal removal of existing tariff restrictions will make the surplus for export in either country readily available for supplying any deficiency in the other.

Must Stop the Train.

Cornwall, March 16.—An interesting case was tried before Judge Liddell and a jury in the Division Court at Cornwall, in which Duncan Monroe of Cornwall was awarded damages against the Grand Trunk Railway. Mr Monroe purchased a ticket at Cornwall for Lansdowne, Ont., on Oct. 11. In the early hours of Oct. 12 he went to Hallorytown, a flag station, for one of the morning trains and asked to have the train flagged. The night operator complied with the request, but the engineer failed to stop, and Mr. Monroe was detained an entire day.

It developed that as a matter of law the timetable is a contract with the public and that the refusal of the engineer to stop when signalled, was a breach of that contract.

The jury agreed on a verdict for Mr. Monroe for $50. So far as the public legal records show, this is the first time that an action of this sort has ever been tried in the Province of Ontario.

A.O.U.W. Meet.

Toronto, March 16.—The Grand Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen yesterday morning opened its 33rd annual meeting in the assembly hall of the Temple Building. Grand Master Workman Col. J. J. Craig, M.P.P., presided. He delivered the opening address of welcome to the delegates.

Difference of opinion was shown on advertising of employing special organizers and at a later session the question will be further discussed. The report of the committee on state of the order being withdrawn to permit the laws committee to report back on certain proposed amendments to the constitution.

STILL AT TARIFF

The Ontario Government Spends Another Day in Debate on the Reciprocity Question

GOOD FOR CATTLEMEN

Toronto, March 16.—Speeches for and against reciprocity occupied the attention of a bare quorum of members of the House at the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Mackay (Lib.) North Oxford, resuming the debate on the anti-reciprocity resolution, argued that the proposed agreement involved no tinge of disloyalty. As a boy, Canadian true to her best interests and to the British Empire and British institutions he could but welcome any equitable trade arrangement which was designed to strengthen the friendship of the Dominion and the Empire with the American people.

W. S. Brewster, Conservative, South Brant, referred to the protest of the Brantford Board of Trade the other night against reciprocity. Brantford was content to let well enough alone, and this applied to every city in the Dominion. At present, Americans were compelled to come here to make investments in order to extend their trade, while, with the proposal of the Dominion Government, a fiscal policy would be adopted that would be ruinous to Canadian trade. It was the most "jag-handled" agreement ever heard of, and Mr. Brewster saw in it elements that would tend to wreck Confederation.

J. Kohler (Lib.), Haldimand, quoted statistics gleaned from the Toronto Stock Yards and the Buffalo Stock Yards, to show that the price of cattle, calves, sheep and hogs was much higher in Buffalo than in Toronto, and had been without variation for the past three years. If the duty were taken off and the reciprocity bill proposed, what a splendid profit would accrue to the Canadian farmers upon their stock if sold on the Buffalo market.

D. Jamieson (Cons.), South Grey, said that his first impression of the bill was that it was a good thing for this country; but he had since changed his mind. At the same time, he was of the opinion that the feeling of loyalty towards the Empire was so strong in Canada that, even with such an arrangement in force, the spirit towards Britain would not be changed. He was very heartily in accord with the resolution presented by Sir James Whitney.

S. Clarke (Lib.), West Northumberland, said that the members of the House had not been in close touch with their riding since the House met, or he believed that most of them would find that they were not voicing the views of the rural constituencies in denouncing reciprocity. The cried the treaty offended the Canadian-northwest was but a cry, a drop in the bucket compared with what was done there.

At the night session F. Fraser (Cons.), Welland, said that a large number of Liberals thought Mr. Geroux a disgruntled politician, but the fact was Mr. Geroux had a mandate from the farmers of Welland, who are opposed to reciprocity. In the last few years sixty manufacturers had been established in Welland County, of which 56 were offshoots of factories on the United States side of the line.

Gian Sinclair (Labor), East Hamilton, said that he would vote against the anti-reciprocity resolution, as the joining of the industrial forces on this continent would be in the best interests of the wage-earners.

TROUBLE OCCURRED AFTER THE CHARTER WAS ISSUED

Farmers' Bank Irregularities Took Place After the Papers Were Made Out—Discussion in the House.

COMMISSION ASKED

Ottawa, March 16. While Parliament's ratification of the reciprocity agreement and the voting of supplies for the fiscal year, beginning two weeks hence, waited, the Commons again devoted a day to discussion of another issue without forwarding by a single step the actual work of legislation.

David Henderson (Halton) asked for a royal commission on the motion to go into committee to discuss reciprocity. He referred to the disaster as a financial holocaust, and declared that Mr Fielding, in response to warnings, said, "I put it up to Travers." He urged the Government to release the shareholders from the imposition of the double liability, on the ground that those involved would have to mortgage their farms with little hope of ever redeeming them.

R. L. Borden said "There is no doubt that the Treasury Board of Canada had the most direct and positive notice that these irregularities were committed."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier claimed that the wreck of the bank was due to the deception of the agent of the shareholders.

T. W. Crothers stated that the certificate had been illegally issued by the Treasury Board at a meeting at which there was not a quorum.

Mr. Borden stated that E. B. Osler and others who, if the royal commission was appointed, were prepared to swear that they had warned Mr. Fielding. The Minister should have ordered the production of the minute book before granting the certificate.

The Premier, who rose a few minutes before midnight to sum up the whole of the six hours of argument, put the matter in a nutshell. The case as made out by Mr. Henderson for the relief of the shareholders from the double liability, he pointed out, rested on the assumption that the ultimate failure of the bank resulted from the fact that whereas Travers had represented that the full $250,000 required by the Bank Act to be deposited in cash before the certificate was granted, it was in reality $80,000 short of the amount, the balance being made up by discounting shareholders' notes.

David Henderson (Halton), in introducing an amendment to the motion to go into committee of ways and means on the reciprocity issue, took up cudgels in behalf of the ruined shareholders of the defunct Farmers' Bank. His amendment was: "That this House is of the opinion that a royal commission should forthwith issue to enquire into and investigate the corporation and organization of the Farmers' Bank of Canada and the granting of a certificate by the Treasury Board permitting the said bank to issue notes and commence business, and all circumstances connected therewith, and generally to enquire into and investigate the operation and efficiency of the Bank Act in relation to the affairs and transactions of the said bank."

Mr. Pielding expressed sympathy with the misfortune that had come to those who had invested in the bank, but thought they were in no different position than others who had made unfortunate investments.

He did not think a royal commission would secure anything more than could be obtained by the proceedings before the courts. That would lead to a full investigation into the conduct of the affairs of the bank. Should anything arise later to indicate that the investigation was insufficient, the question could be brought up later.

He regretted to have a difference of opinion with Mr. Henderson, but he was obliged to say that the member for Halton was mistaken when he claimed that he had uttered a warning against the issue of the certificate. However, he remembered having had conversation with Mr. Henderson regarding the bank.

Hon. George E. Foster admitted that so far as the granting of the charter was concerned, the House was responsible and not the Government. The incorporation was the one non-essential part of the transaction. The granting of the certificate, he said, was the important matter. Theoretically the Treasury Board was responsible, but actually it was in the hands of the Minister of Finance. It was upon his recommendation entirely that it was granted. Mr. Fielding was responsible for the bona fides of the subscription.

Skirt Caused a Riot.

Rio Janeiro, March 16.—The pantaloon skirt has reached Rio Janeiro, and two girls who were engaged to popularize the curious garment were mobbed in the street. The police were called in to rescue one from a cafe and she was jostled by the crowds that gathered, while the other was saved from complete denudement only with difficulty. The mob seemed greatly amused and gathered up portions of the garment as souvenirs.

Suicided With a Hammer.

Sycamore, Ohio, March 16.—William Staum was found in his tin shop on Tuesday with his skull crushed in by blows from a wedge-shaped hammer. The coroner yesterday decided that Staum's death was due to blows administered by himself.

Case Dismissed.

Winnipeg, March 16.—The charge against the Thunder Bay Elevator Co. for the alleged mixing of grain at Port Arthur, brought by the warehouse commissioner, was dismissed in the Police Court yesterday.

George Met To-day.

Toronto, March 16.—The mayor has called a meeting of Georges for four o'clock this afternoon in his office. Invitations have been sent to a number of men of prominence in the city who are of the same name as the King and all are expected to attend. The question of taking action to make a present to the King at the time of coronation will be discussed.

G.T.R. Fireman Hurt

Toronto, March 16.—Ross Burnham, a fireman on the G.T.R., is in a critical condition at Grace Hospital.

His right arm was taken off above the elbow and he was injured about the head and may be injured internally as the result of being struck by a G.T.R. train which backed into him at the foot of Bathurst street last night.

Seven Years for Manslaughter.

Winnipeg, March 16.—Nikolay Brycka, convicted of manslaughter for the death of Harry E. Spalding, last November, the result of a fracas at the Pembina subway, Winnipeg, was yesterday afternoon sentenced by Mr. Justice Richards to seven years in the penitentiary at hard labor.

Write for our list of
INVESTMENT BONDS
MUNICIPAL PUBLIC UTILITY
INDUSTRIAL
To yield from 4½ to 6
WARREN, GZOWSKI & CO.
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
TRADERS' BANK BUILDING
TORONTO, and
25 BROAD STREET, New York

Optical Institute Getting Ahead

Progress is our prescription, always adding to our facilities, new Optical Instruments, new Optical methods, and doing our work with increasing interest and finer finish. Many who have become acquainted with our methods have found that our idea is better service than they had been accustomed to expect in quality, attention and satisfaction. They find us just as interested in supplying the most suitable glasses as they are in getting them.

We know how much that means for us in good will and good optical practice for the future.

The Optical Institute
In the Market Building, Peterboro,
332 George Street
Phones: Bell 1221 Machine 7
J. W. Brewer, Dr. of Optics of Philadelphia, G. O. C. P., Ref. D. M. A.O. Optometrist

Brutal Hold-Up In New York.

New York, March 16.—Entering a restaurant on Cherry street early yesterday, three hold-up men strangled Diego Lacala, the cook, strung him up by the neck with a noose, which they attached to a meat hook, and slashed his face with a knife as they went through his pockets and robbed him of $136. After robbing the cash drawer of $10, the men fled, and Lacala nearly strangled to death before he managed to free himself. He is in a serious condition from loss of blood.

Sensational Murder Trial.

London, Eng., March 16.—Minnie Morrison yesterday was found guilty of the murder of Joseph Heron, and sentenced to death.

The police tried to connect the tragedy with the Houndsditch anarchist burglar gang.

The trial was one of the most sensational and longest drawn-out that has been held in London.

Heron's body was found on Clapham common with the initial "H" gashed with a knife on each cheek.

The Fowler Finger EYEGLASS MOUNT

GIVES WHAT OTHERS CANNOT
Eyeglass Comfort, Convenience and Lens Efficiency

Most inconspicuous of Eyeglass Mounts. On to stay on when properly adjusted.

These Mounts have more talking points yet require less talk to sell than any Eyeglass Mount we have ever sold because they are a Distinctively Distinct Eyeglass Mount.

You are the one who must suffer expense, annoyance and discomfort if you wear inferior Eyeglasses.

$2.75 without Lenses. We carry a gross of these Mounts constantly in stock and guarantee to fit properly anyone who can wear Eyeglasses.

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

MEDICAL.

DR. T. F. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 15a Brock Street.

DR E.V FREDERICK, M.R.C.S. (Eng L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Surgery and Diseas of Women. 402 George Street. Hours 1.30-3 7-8.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 519. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 314 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 461, Mach., 126. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
dif 91 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 649 Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 190 Hunter street, or at residence, 362 Hunter street. Telephone No. 86.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries, Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices — 370 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.
Telephone No. 58

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, B. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets; entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—F. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. R. E. Hall, S. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 371 Water street, Peterborough.

Manual labor taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 9

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

(Continued from Wednesday)

"Provided you use the utmost care not to let the matter become public. If by any chance you should get a trace of Eleanor you will let me know of course. . . . . She is what her mother was the day we were married' he concluded, huskily.

For the second time he turned toward the window, and its light showed his face colourless, grey, hopeless—a reflection for the moment of the despairing spirit within.

Winthrop was shocked.

"Nothing will be left undone, Mr. Cuyler, to find her," he said, rising.

"Thank you, Sheldon. . . . When you can do so, please run down and see Mrs. Hazard. She must be very anxious indeed. . . . Good-bye."

"Good-bye, sir."

The painter rejoined Barrett, and they started uptown to find the conductor in whose car Eleanor had disappeared.

VIII.

While they were at Cuyler's office a wiry, slender man with tawny hair and beard called on the Assistant Superintendent of the old Seventh Avenue car-line, at its up-town office, long since abandoned. The stranger was well dressed and moved with a promptness, a decision, that commanded respectful attention.

"My name is Erskine," he said without hesitation, "and I want to find the conductor of a certain car who recently rendered a marked courtesy to a friend of mine."

The Assistant Superintendent looked up in surprise. He was accustomed to calls from passengers, irate, indignant, angry, who wished to make complaints about his men; but here was something new.

"Do you know the conductor's number?" he asked.

"No. All I do know is that his car passed down Seventh Avenue, crossing Fifty-fifth street between twelve fifteen and twelve-forty-five last Monday; a week ago to-day."

"We may be able to trace him," said the official. "Cars are running under long head-way at noon in this season of the year. Probably six or eight passed Fifty-fifth street in the half hour you mentioned."

He touched a bell, and a clerk responded.

"Take this gentleman down to the starter. He wants to locate a conductor."

Ten minutes later Wotsirb had explained his errand to the subordinate who kept records of cars and trips motormen and conductors. He found by examining the records that nine cars should have passed Fifty-fifth street in the half hour specified.

"Three or four of those conductors are loafing around the barns now," the starter added. "Do you want to see them?"

Wotsirb did want to see them, and they were sent to him, one after another, where he stood alone in a doorway of the big barns.

A lady, he said, a friend of his, had gone downtown the previous Monday, in a Seventh Avenue car, and had had an unusual experience. He wished to thank and reward the conductor who had been kind to her.

At the mention of reward every manjack of the conductors in turn pricked up his ears. One floundered along telling of a lady who had been nearly run over by a passing truck when she left the car, and whom he had saved from injury at the risk of his own safety.

"What did she look like?" asked Wotsirb, directing his clear, unflinching gaze full upon the other.

"Well, she—she was about forty—no, I mean thirty," the conductor hesitatingly replied, "and had black hair, and a light dress, and a white straw hat. Pretty stout, too. Good-lookin', I'd call her—"

"Next!" said Wotsirb.

The second conductor had paid out of his own pocket for a sweet-faced, white-haired old lady whom Wotsirb resembled enough for her to be his mother.

He was peremptorily dismissed.

The next conductor, avaricious for possible reward of a five-dollar bill, said he had protected a young girl from the attentions of a "masher" who was annoying her.

"Looked like she was an innocent thing from the country comin' here to visit relations," he continued, waxing enthusiastic as his vivid imagination swept on, multiplying the reward until it appeared to him in the light of a twenty-dollar bill. "She was dressed country fashion, too," he declared, taking long chances, "an even told me, when she thanked me so pretty, that it was her first visit to New York—or the second, anyhow, I disremember which."

"Git!" said Wotsirb, briefly, and this disappointed conductor turned away to join his fellow liars outside.

The fourth man who came to the doorway was tall and lean and self-possessed. He eyed Wotsirb without saying a word. Something about this fellow was impressive, and at last the detective broke silence.

"Have those other conductors told you what I'm after?"

"Yes."

"Well?"

"She went down on muh car as far as Forty-fift' street."

"Dressed how?"

"Brown and white."

Wotsirb's pulse jumped, but in even voice he asked: "What happened?"

The conductor thereupon began a detailed recital which proved him to be an uncommonly keen, shrewd observer of current events. Relieved of its slang and street idiom, his story, in brief, was as follows:

The passenger had barely taken her seat in the otherwise empty car when she noticed that two men, strangers, followed, and sat down one on either side of her, not close enough to crowd her in the slightest, but still uncomfortably near. A rapid glance sidewise told her that one of them was in priestly garb, smooth-shaven, red-faced, with pudgy hands and a paunch. The other, to her right, was thin and tall; well-dressed, wore a closely cropped and pointed beard, and carried a small surgical kit of black leather. The car went on its way, swaying and jolting down Seventh Avenue toward the intersection of Broadway, without a stop, for the heat was intense; there were few people on the streets, and, strange to say not another passenger had come on board. Alongside rolled a cab drawn by a flea-bitten horse — the only vehicle in sight.

As the car lurched slowly past Forty-eighth street the conductor, being thought himself of fares, and, leaving the rear platform, leisurely approached the two men and the charmingly-gowned girl sitting between them, and held out his hand. The girl opened her silver purse, but before she could take anything from it, the man in priest's garb, at her left, handed the conductor a dime and a nickel, remarking:

"Three."

The conductor rang up three fares before the girl could find words to protest. Then, thoroughly and suddenly alarmed, she snatched a quarter from her purse and tendered it.

"It's paid," the conductor remarked, turning to go back to his platform.

"I don't know what you mean!" the girl exclaimed, trying to appear calm, although she trembled visibly, and her face went red and white. "Take my fare, please," she continued, holding it out towards him, "and hand back this—this person's change to him. There's been a mistake."

For a moment the conductor wavered, but a motion of the priestly person decided him. One of those gudgy hands was raised to his red, solemn face, and a fat finger tapped his forehead significantly. Eleanor saw the motion, and the penetrating, decisive glance of those hawklike eyes as they rested upon her for an instant; and her head swam in an agony of terror. She sobbed once, and then laughed hysterically. Suddenly she tried to rise, but the man with the surgeon's kit took her by the arm, and pulled her back to the seat.

"Now be still," he said in a low tone. "Pon'll soon be safe and in a quiet place."

"Yes," my child," the fat priest added in smooth, oily accents. "Make no disturbance—just rest here and wait a bit—"

The daughter of old Mortimer Cuyler sprang to her feet.

It was no horrid dream, after all! It was worse than that—it was reality.

Something in her manner, proud imperious, accustomed to command, gripped the conductor's attention. He stopped the car and the girl fairly flew to the rear platform and thence to the street. The two men were instantly by her side, and while one threw open the door of the cab, which quickly pulled up close by them, the other lifted her inside—she seemed literally paralysed with terror, unable to utter a cry; and the cab dashed rapidly through Long Acre Square, disappearing in a side street.

"It was at Forty-sixt' Street she screamed fer muh to stop the car," the conductor added, "an' I done it. I don't want no trouble wit d' police. Yousе can't hold muh it yousе are from d' District Attorney's office. I done what was right. D' lady run outer d' car, an' dey chased after her, an' slung her into a cab wit d' shades pulled down, an' it skated off like I told yousе. . . . Wot's d' reward?"

"How do I know you are not lying, too?"

"Because," the conductor replied, "when she come runnin' out ter d' platform she snatched somethin' from her pocketbook an' shoved it in muh hand before d' men back of her could see it."

He took off his cap and from the band within carefully withdrew a visiting card, on which was engraved:

MISS CUYLER

Wotsirb pulled out a twenty-dollar bill.

"I'll trade it," he said.

"Make it fifty?"

Back went the bill into Wotsirb's pocket.

"Well," said the conductor, disappointed, "twenty'll do, but it's wort' fifty."

"What more can you think of?"

"Nuttin'—'cept it was queer d' cab sh'd have kept alongside d' car, an' stopped so close, an' d' guy drivin' it didn't ask no questions or wait for orders. When dey slung d' loidy inside an' jumped in after her, slammin' d' door, d' mug on d' box slashed his horse wit' d' whip, an' skated across town like an amb'lance on a hurry call."

"Sure he did," Wotsirb responded. "Those fellows had arranged beforehand to have the cab follow them."

"That's so!" the conductor exclaimed.

"What else do you know?" Wotsirb demanded.

"Nuttin'—nuttin' else, s'welp me! . . . . . An' yousе can't hold muh nuther."

"I don't want to hold you. I want to employ you and pay you well for your time."

"Wot d' yousе wan' muh to do?"

"Nothing just now except to keep your mouth shut."

"I'm on, Boss! I've kive yousе d' whole blame thing from start to finish. But by this time d' poor loidy's id away in a bug-house somewhere an' her relatives 'll have a tough time getting her out. I know, f'r a fact."

"I'm on, Boss! I've give yousе d' same place as me wuz pinched some'n d' same way, only when he got to smashing furniture dey tuk him away in a strait-jacket. . . . His folks didn't have no money, and her's has got it."

(To be continued)

BE WARNED BY HEADACHE

Tells of Serious Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You can stop a headache with powerful drugs. But it is not generally wise to do so.

A headache almost always warns you of derangements of the digestive system, the liver, kidneys or bowels.

Awaken the liver to healthful action by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and you not only free yourself of headache, but remove the cause which will soon lead to more dangerous results than headache.

Invigorate the action of the kidneys by this treatment and you take away the dangers of Bright's disease as well as free yourself of headache.

Pains are the result of poison in the system and whether you have headache, backache or aching limbs, you can be almost sure of relief and cure when you cleanse and regulate the vital organs by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

They are wonderfully prompt, as well as definite and thorough in action. You can depend upon them, no matter how long-standing or complicated your case, so long as the cause is the sluggish, torpid condition of the liver and kidneys.

If you don't feel like risking 25 cents for a box, write for a free sample. A trial will convince you of their merits. One pill a dose: 25 cents a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

OTTUMWA WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to you for my cure."—Mrs. HARRIET E. WAMPLER, 524 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous medicine, made only from roots and herbs, has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, confidential, and always helpful.

SCARLET FEVER AT LASSWADE

Several Families There Have Been Quarantined

Special to The Examiner.

LASSWADE, MARCH 15.—The winter up to the present date has been very nice. In fact the last few days have been more like spring.

The McColl saw mill which was burned down some time ago, is in running order again. A large supply of logs have already landed on the ground to be sawed.

Several families in this community have been quarantined for scarlet fever, and a great number are suffering from severe colds and la grippe.

Mr. Robert Steen, sr., who has been very ill for the past few days, is slowly recovering.

Mr. Robt. Steen, jr., and Mrs. Robt. Thompson from The Ridge, are spending a few days at their parents here.

Mrs Thos. Steen spent Thursday at Mrs. Samuel Bullied's.

Geo. C. Lord has been visiting in this vicinity this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Prouty from Owen Brook, passed through the village on their way to Apsley on Thursday.

Mr. Jas. Freeman from Havelock is the guest of Mr. John Bullied on Wednesday last.

Mr. Thos. Bullied, who recently lost his house with contents, by fire, has moved into the McFadden house for the present.

Mrs. George Bush from St. Ola, is visiting her daughter here.

Mrs. Wm. Daniels and Miss Edith visited at Mrs. Geo. Daniel's on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Whitmore, jr., visited friends at Apsley on Thursday.

Mr. Andrew Buchanan visited friends in this vicinity this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilson and Master Arthur have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, of Apsley.

The topic for the Christian Endeavour on Sunday evening last was taken by Miss Mary Woodbeck.

LAKEFIELD PARAGRAPHS

Examiner Special:

LAKEFIELD, MARCH 15—The annual meeting of the Lakefield branch of the Women's Auxiliary will be held in the Sunday School at 3 o'clock on Wednesday, March 15th, when an address will be given by the Rev. C. Brown of Young's Point.

Mr. W. Garbutt, who has been ill at his home for the past several weeks, is now out again and able to resume his work in the Traders' Bank.

Miss Finnie of Peterborough was the guest of the Misses Ray on Regent street for a few days last week.

Miss Dorothy Hilliard spent a few days last week in Peterborough, where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clementi.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Millbrook, are in the village visiting Mr. Smith's brother, Mr. Henry Smith.

Miss Estella Lennox and Miss Eva Darling have returned home after visiting friends in Norwood.

Mr. F. M. Dela Fosse of Peterborough was in the village on Sunday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Atwood.

Miss Northey opened her dressmaking rooms, above Dr. Burgess' drug store on Monday.

Miss Elsie Grahame spent a few days last week in Peterborough.

His many friends will be pleased to learn that the Rev. W. J. Creighton, who has been very seriously ill with a severe attack of pleuro-pneumonia, is now slowly recovering.

Mr. George Douglas of Young's Point, was in the village on Sunday.

Miss Maud Watson has returned to Peterborough after spending the past two weeks at her home in the village.

Mr. C. Leonard of Peterborough, spent Sunday visiting his daughter, Mrs. A. W. Mackenzie at the Grove.

The members of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary were entertained by Mrs. T. B. Marling at "The Cottage" on Friday last.

Miss C. Clementi of Peterborough, is the guest of Miss Dorothy Hilliard at "Cowley".

Rev. C. Brown of Young's Point, will preach at St. John the Baptist church on Wednesday evening March 15th.

Mr. Frank Dela Fosse of Peterborough, was in the village on Tuesday last.

Mr. Levi Payne was in Peterborough on Tuesday.

A genuine Irish concert, under the auspices of the W. F. M. S. of the Presbyterian church, will be given in the school room of the church on Friday, March 17th. An enjoyable evening is anticipated by all.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

SCHOOL REPORTS

S. S. NO. 6, DUMMER.

Following is the school report for S. S. No. 6, Dummer:

Sr. IV.—Percy Allen, Matthew Knox, Frank Kincaid.

Jr. IV.—Maye Brown, Gerald Gardner.

Sr. III.—Maggie Newell, Alice Stevens, Russell Jenkins, Thos. Griffin.

Sr. II.—Roy Brown, Pearl Jones, Edith Peake, Hattie Jenkins, Eva Allen, Mabel French.

Jr. II.—Horace Brown, Wesley Bell Freda Kincaid, Allan McMillan.

Sr. I.—Edna Patterson, Alfie Jenkins, Harold Jones, Edith Gardner, George Newell.

Primer—Hilliard Henderson, Ralph Knox, Ruby Gardner, George Newell Beatrice Stevens, Archie McMillan.

Total attendance, 30; average attendance, 25

Caught a Heavy Cold.

It Left Him with a Hacking Cough.

Mr. J. H. Richards, 1852 Second Ave East, Vancouver, B.C., writes:—"Allow me to write a few lines in praise of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Last fall I contracted a heavy cold which left me with a hacking cough, and every time I would get a little more cold this hacking cough would become a lung splitting one. It kept on getting worse and I kept on spending money buying different cough remedies until a friend asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I told him I was willing to try anything I thought would cure, and on the same day bought two bottles. Before half the first one was used my cough began to get much easier, and by the time I had used a bottle and a half my cough was gone. I am keeping the other half bottle in case it should come again but I am quite sure I have a positive cure. Let me recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to all who suffer from a cough or throat irritation of any kind."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Ate Unwisely? Sometimes people do, and suffer, because the stomach balks.

NA-DRU-CO DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

relieve the discomfort at once, and help digest the overload. The lover of good things may feel quite safe with a box of NA-DRU-CO Dyspepsia Tablets at hand. 50c. a box. If your druggist has not stocked them yet send 50c. and we will mail them. 34

National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, ... Montreal.

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA.

INCORPORATED, 1832.

Information for Depositors.

The following certificate is attached to the 79th Annual Statement, published January 16th, 1911:

We have examined the books and accounts of the Bank of Nova Scotia at its Head Office, Halifax, at the General Manager's Office, Toronto, and at seven of the principal branches, and we have been duly furnished with certified returns from the remaining branches and with all information and explanations required by us. The Bank's investments and the other securities and cash on hand at the branches visited have been verified by us and they are in accordance with the books; and we certify that we have examined the foregoing general statement and that in our opinion it is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the Bank's affairs as at 31st December, 1910.

PRICE, WATERHOUSE & CO.
Chartered Accountants.

Toronto, January 12th, 1911.

The Books and Annual Statements of the Bank have been submitted to independent audit annually, beginning 1906.

FOR SALE

Two Houses, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER
INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies

Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

PETERBORO' PENNANTS 50c

J. J. TURNER & SONS
Corner George, King and Water Streets
Both Phones Peterborough

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE
IN FULL OPERATION
Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.
Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited
Office corner George and Hunter Sts
Both Phones 262
Yards 124 Robinson Street, East City
Both Phones 264

COAL
That Is Coal
is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 Per Ton
HARDWOOD
First Class—Best in City—at
$6.00 Per Cord
4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at
J. E. A. Fitzgerald's
Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.
JAY'S STORE
390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 623

No. 1285

Made in 90 different styles

Think of the satisfaction of feeling positively sure that the metal bed you are buying will stand long, hard service, never wobble, never become shabby.

That's what the "Ideal" Guarantee means to you—assurance of finest quality and best workmanship, whether the "Ideal" Metal Bed you choose costs you as little as three dollars, or much more.

Isn't this satisfaction worth a few cents more? Ask for name of local dealer—also for "The Philosophy of Sleep," our interesting little Booklet No. 123 15

THE IDEAL BEDDING CO. LIMITED
MONTREAL—TORONTO—WINNIPEG

THE IDEAL GUARANTEED LINE

"It Wears"
These two words express the reason why so many people prefer the
"1847 ROGERS BROS."
brand of silver plate. This trade mark is a positive assurance of the heaviest grade of plate.
Best tea sets, dishes, waiters, etc., are stamped
MERIDEN BRITA CO.
SOLD BY LEADING DEALERS
"Silver Plate that Wears"

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited
162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00
SAVINGS DEPARTMENT
3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.
Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.
Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.
Security Afforded to Depositors
Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,355,604.49
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,866,026.60
Surplus $1,789 477.71
MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.
Head Offices:
427 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'
W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Alex Gordon's Meat Market
Is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.
CALL AND SEE IT
Also a full supply of
LAMB
MUTTON
PORK
Specially Selected for Holiday
Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.
Alex Gordon
Butcher Market Arcade

China Painting
Mrs. Langley McCarthy
Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

THE SMITH TOWNSHIP COUNCIL HAS MEETING

The members of the Municipal Council of the Township of Smith met in the Council Chamber, Peterborough, on Monday, March 6 at 10 o'clock. All the members were present with the exception of Mr. Garbutt.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Davis, seconded by Mr. McKee, that Mr. G. W. Bennett, Inspector of Colonization Roads be allowed ot address the Council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McKee, seconded by Mr. Davis, that the Peterborough Light and Power Co. be granted the privilege of extending their power line on the 1st Concession of Smith, as far as Mr. Hugh Bertram's farm, and that the Clerk be instructed ot prepare a by-law to that effect to be passed at the next meeting.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Jobe, seconded by Mr. McKee, that on account of the funeral of Mr. John Garbutt, father of our Deputy Reeve, the Council adjourn to meet again on Monday, the 13th inst. at 10 o'clock.—Carried.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE HAVELOCK COUNCIL

Other Interesting News Paragraphs From the Railway Town—Popular Young Man Leaving.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Special to The Examiner:

HAVELOCK, MARCH 15.—Mr. A. J. Hubble left last week for Fort George, B.C., after having spent the past two months with relatives in this vicinity.

Mr. Albert Armstrong left last week for Hastings, where he accepted a position in a jewellery store in that village.

Mr. Joseph Knox was in Peterborough last week on business.

We regret having to announce the serious illness of Mr. Thos. McQuaig.

Rev. A. J. Reid, of Campbellford, conducted the Lenten services in St. John's church on Wednesday evening last.

Mr. Robt. Kitchen, of Fenelon Falls, was home last week.

Mr. Sexsmith, of Chicago, Ill., was the guest of his cousin, Mr. J. R. Sexsmith, M.P., recently.

Mr. Blake Brooks left last week for his home in Peterborough, where he will remain for a couple of weeks before leaving for the west. On the Monday evening prior to his departure the Epworth League and Sunday school of the Methodist church, both of which Mr. Brooks has been an active member, met in the basement of the church and after a highly appreciative address, read by Miss Dora Wilde, a substantial purse was presented to the popular young man. Mr. Brooks, during his stay in Havelock, was in the employ of Phillips Bros.' hardware. His many friends join in wishing him every success in the future.

Misses Hutchinson and McDonnell, of the Public school staff, have sent in their resignation to the Board, the same to take effect at Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Breen have returned from their wedding tour and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Patterson.

A cottage meeting conducted by Rev. Holdsworth, will be held at the residence of Mr. Robt. Marshall, Belmont ,on Tuesday evening, March 14.

Mr D. Tunnedhapt, the well known eye and ear specialist, late of New York, now of Toronto, will be at the Armstrong house, Havelock, on Thursday, March 16th.

Auctioneer Andrews sold the household effects of Mr. A. Sinclair on Saturday last. Mr. Sinclair will go to Toronto to reside, having been transferred there by the C.P.R.

Mr. Jas. E. Fowler was in Peterborough on Thursday last.

Miss Hawkey, of Peterborough, was in town Friday and Saturday.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Methodist church held their regular monthly meeting and tea on Thursday afternoon last at the residence of Mrs. W. B. Ritchie. After the business part of the meeting a presentation of a beautiful table mirror and cut glass vase was made to Mrs. Thos. Vanaraum, one of their devoted and faithful members who leaves shortly to reside at Brockville.

A most appropriate address accompanied the presentation.

Mrs. Vanaraum replied in a few well chosen words, thanking the members for their kindness and assuring them that her thoughts would often wander back to the many happy hours spent in the work of the Ladies' Missionary Society at Havelock.

A dainty lunch was then partaken of, after which the meeting closed with hymn and prayer.

Court day was held here on Friday last, when a number of cases came up for hearing.

Council met on Monday night, 6th March. Present, Reeve Knox and Councillors Weese, Phillips and Matheson.

Moved by Weese, seconded by Matheson, that the following accounts be paid:

Telephone rent to July 11th	$ 10.00
Electric light, Feb.	58.21
Wm. Andrews, snow plowing	7.00
School Board	500.00
M. Pethick	5.00

Mr. George Young's resignation as councillor was received.

Moved by Phillips, seconded by Weese that Mr. Young's resignation be received. It was also stated that the council very much regretted that circumstances made it necessary for Mr. Young to resign.

By-law 251 to elect a councillor, 1st Weese and Matheson, 2nd Phillips and Weese, reeve in chair, 3rd Weese and Phillips.

Moevd by Weese, seconded by Matheson, that we have a by-law drafted to borrow $9.000 to build cement walks payable in 20 or 30 year debt.—Carried.

The constable brought in 147 slips, showing 134 in favour of cement walks and 10 against, with 3 slips not marked.

Moved by Phillips, seconded by Matheson, that the collector's time be extended to next regular meeting, on April 3rd.—Carried.

Council then adjourned.

Mr. W. J. Bryans of the Canadian Grocer staff, Toronto, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home.

Mr. W. J. Rose, of Moosejaw, arrived home on Friday night and will remain for some time.

Mrs. J. W. Bryans returned home today from Peterborough, where she spent the past week with friends.

Mr. O. C. Denike was in Toronto last week on business.

Miss Annie Smith, of Toronto, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in town.

Mrs. (Dr.) Holdcroft is in Cobourg attending the bedside of her mother, who is seriously ill.

Mr. T. E. Dineen was in Peterborough on Tuesday last on business.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's church, was held on Wednesday afternoon last, March 8th at the rectory at 2.30 o'clock. The attendance was very large and the report for last year showed much success in the work the past year, which proved very encouraging. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. (Rev.) Holdsworth.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Harry Falkner.
Record-Sec.—Mrs. Ed. Williams.
Treasurer—Mrs. Jas Black.
Corres.-Sec.—Mrs. Browning.
Hon. President—Mrs. I. Barlow.
Executive committee—Mrs. Bryans and Mrs. Curtis
President for Jr Branch Auxiliary—Mrs. Sawyer.

After the business part of the meeting was over the members partook of a dainty lunch. Meeting closed with prayer.

A number from town drove out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson on Friday night, where a most enjoyable time was spent in dancing and playing cards.

Mr. Sanderson, of Madoc, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in town.

Mr. Albert Armstrong, of Hastings, was home for Sunday.

Mr. Holcombe, of Belleville, is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Wilde.

Mr. and Mrs. Soanes, of Peterborough are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Browning.

The Mission Band of the Methodist church held an entertainment in the basement of the church on Friday evening last, which was largely attended. The programme was given by the members of the Mission Band.

Mr. C. A. Ghent, of town, was elected treasurer of the East Peterborough Liberal-Conservative Association at their annual meeting in Norwood. Mr. Jos. Knox was elected as Havelock's representative on the executive, J. B. Peoples for Belmont and Norris Whitney for Methuen.

Mr. Jas. Thompson, M. P. P. who is attending the Ontario Legislature, spent the week end in town.

Mrs. Spurr, of Madoc is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Ghent.

Messrs. Burnett and Muir of Belleville, are the guests of Mr. Isaac Barlow.

The monthly meeting of the Havelock lodge, I.O.O.F., was held in their lodge rooms on Friday evening, March 10th.

The annual meeting of the Junior Branch Auxiliary of St. John's church was held on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the basement of the church. The following officers were appointed for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Sawyer
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Cummings.
Secretary—Catherine Falkner.
Treasurer—Madge Curtis.
Organist—Violet Black.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.
Genuine
Carter's Little Liver Pills.
Must Bear Signature of
Brent Good
See Pac-Simile Wrapper Below.
Very small and as easy to take as sugar.
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION
Genuine must bear Fac-Simile Signature
Purely Vegetable. Brent Good
CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Recipe for 16 Ounces of Cough Syrup
No Better Remedy at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.
Make a plain syrup by mixing two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16 oz. bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.
The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequalled remedy for whooping cough.
This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe.
A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

HASTINGS HAPPENINGS

Examiner Special.

HASTINGS, MARCH 15.—A very quiet wedding was solemnized on Tuesday, the principals being Miss Pearl Scriver and Mr. W. Charles, both of Hastings. Their friends extend congratulations. The young people will reside in town.

The W.M.S. in connection with the Methodist church held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon with a goodly number of the members in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Oakman entertained a number of friends at an oyster supper one evening during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. (Rev.) C. W. Barrett spent Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Metcalfe. During the evening Mr. Barrett baptized their infant daughter, Flora Alfreda.

The signs of spring are becoming daily more in evidence. The crows have returned from their winter quarters and the snow is gradually disappearing.

Mr. J. McCarthy has returned from Toronto, where he has been spending a few days in the interest of his business.

Mr. John Collins, of Otonabee spent the week end with friends in town.

Mrs. L. T. Huycke has returned after spending a few weeks with her sisters, the Misses Tate, of Peterborough.

Mrs. Brisbois has been spending a few days in town with Mr. Grisbois.

The Misses Fowlds have been guests of their sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Berry, of Port Perry.

Miss Ethel Collins is visiting friends in Havelock.

Mrs. J. Johnson, of Norwood, has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown, town.

Miss Kennealy, of Keene, has been spending a few days with friends in town.

We are pleased to see Miss Pansey Runnels back to her position in the post office, after her recent illness.

Mr. Frederick, of Campbellford, gave us a call on Tuesday.

Miss Stevenson returned last week om Roseneath where she has been renewing old acquaintances.

The senior room of the Public school was closed part of the past week owg to the illness of the teacher, Mr. Mikel.

Miss Blanche Humphries, of Seymour, spent the week end with her arents, Mr. and Mrs. Ad. Humphries.

Mrs. Pearce, of Norwood, spent a w days with friends here.

Miss Stella Burgess spent Saturday nd Sunday at her home in Norwood.

Miss L. Tate, of Peterborough, spent few days with her sister, Mrs. L. Huycke.

Mrs. E. J. Laing and Miss Elsie, of Norwood, have been guests at the me of Mr and Mrs. Nelson Beavis.

Mr. T. Nelson, of Keene, was in own on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner, of Moorfield ,are visiting friends in this vicinity.

The Misses O'Donohue have returnto town and are preparing for the pring millinery opening.

Mrs. Scriver, of Keene, spent a few days with friends in town.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs . . . 25 cents

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.
Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.
692 Harvey St.
Peterboro b Ontario

The Funeral Of The Late Mrs. Andrew Knox

NORWOOD, MARCH 15.—Mr. T. J. Ruhal is visiting friends in Ashlands, Ohio.

Mrs. A. Ormiston of Havelock, visited friends in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. Geo. Mills is spending a few days in Campbellford.

Mr. MacFarlane of the High School staff, has been unable to attend to his duties this week on account of illness.

Dr. Hannon of London was in town this week.

Mrs. J. Stewart and children and Mr. Fred Stewart left for their home in Swift Current on Thursday.

Miss Breckenridge of Westwood, was a guest of Miss Beatrice Stewart over Sunday.

Miss Annie Birt returned this week from Toronto, where she had been visiting friends.

Mrs. George Duffield was summoned suddenly to Toronto last week to see her mother, Mrs. Minaker, who had had a stroke and who is in a very serious condition.

Messrs. Harry and Will Andrews, of Havelock, were in town last Friday.

Mrs. W. Dafoe is visiting her son, Rev. W. Dafoe at Hay Bay.

Miss Edith Burgess visited friends in Peterborough this last week.

Mrs. W. Baskin and Miss Annie Baskin left last Thursday for New York City where they are going to train as nurses in the Methodist Episcopal Hospital.

Miss Ruth Birdsall of Birdsalls, visited Miss Fleda Howson last Friday.

Mrs. E. P. Cuffe spent Saturday in Peterborough.

After a lingering illness of several weeks, the death occurred on Monday morning of Mrs. John Knox. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the sorrowing family, in this doubly sad bereavement, as it is but a few weeks since their father was laid to rest. The funeral took place from the family residence on Alma street to the Norwood cemetery on Wednesday afternoon. The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Tucker, and Rev. Hannon of London, a life-long friend of the family, assisted in the service. The pall-bearers were the deceased's three sons, William, Andrew, and Matthew, her nephew, Mr. Robert Knox, her grandson, Russell Knox, and her son-in-law, Mr. A. Brethen. She leaves to mourn her loss her three sons and two daughters, Miss Mary and Mrs. A. Brethen.

Miss Stella Burgess was in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mrs. Alex Kempt is visiting her sister, Mrs. Stephens, at Blind River.

Miss Lizzie Searight is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Hoar, at Centreton.

Mss Dora Payne of Warsaw, is visiting friends in Norwood.

Miss L. E. Hugill has returned from a visit with friends in Peterborough.

Miss Stella Lennox of Lakefield, was a guest of Miss Winnie Turner for a few days.

Mr. R. Birdsall was in town on Wednesday attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Knox.

Dr. Wilson of Hastings will visit Norwood every Friday.

USUALLY ONE DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION
Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Gas and All Stomach Distress Vanishes
If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure Indigestion.
To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your Stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas, which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.
A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.
No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.
Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort, all or any kind of food you eat.

SYRUP MAKING

From Farm and Dairy.

J. O. Stuart, Russel Co., Ont.

We have been making syrup for over 30 years, and have gone through every stage in the development of the business up to the present. I remember when my father made troughs out of Lasswood and tapped the trees with a two inch gouge, using a cedar spile to catch the sap. The sap was then carried in pails to coolers to be made into syrup. We would get 2 crotched sticks and a long pole. This pole was held against two trees with the crotched sticks, and on it was hung the large metal coolers as they were called. I do not remember whether the syrup was dark or not. With the smoke and cinders falling into it I do not see how it would be otherwise. We thought it extra good then. Then came a tin bucket and an iron spile made out of barrel hoops. These were a great improvement over the old spile and the trough. The bucket would be where you left it anyway. The trough was very apt to be upset by the snow melting. We then got a large potash kettle hung on a large cantilever. This was an improvement, as by catching the small end of the pole the kettle could be swung away from the fire when the syrup could be taken out with ease. This kettle, however, took a lot of wood. Wood, however, was cheap then, and that did not matter.

NEW IMPROVEMENTS

The next improvements were the large pans and a brick or stone arch and the metal spile to which the bucket was hung. We thought there could be nothing better.

In 1893 we bought our first evaporator.—a Grimm. We were new to the machine. The agent was anxious to make a sale. We found ourselves with a machine too small for our use. We used it 10 years, but had to boil night and day. It gave good results as far as quality was concerned. We then traded our evaporator for a larger one of the same make. It will be some time before they can improve on the present machine.

IMPROVED SPILES

Three years ago the Grimm people offered to send us 100 spiles to try. If at the end of the season we did not think they had paid for themselves we would not have to pay for them. We found that these spiles needed a hole only half the size of the older ones. The trees did not dry out as soon, and we believe that an extra amount of sap was run equivalent to the value of the spiles. We then purchased enough for the entire bush of 1,000 trees.

Last year we bought 100 new buckets with covers and we find that the sap from these is cleaner and on hot days much sweeter than from the open buckets.

GATHERING THE SAP

To bring the sap to the camp, we have a molasses hogshead fixed on a sleigh. With roads cut through the bush the gathering of the sap is not a very big job.

The sap is strained into a large tank, from which it runs into a smaller tank, which feeds the large pan. The sap runs through siphons through each pan until it reaches the one where it is finished into syrup. We test it with a thermometer, and when at the heat indicating syrup we run it off, and when hot it is strained through felt into a milk can, where it is allowed to cool and settle. We do not again strain or heat, finishing the work completely in the woods.

MARKETING THE SYRUP

We have been in the business so long that the marketing end is only play. We sell about one-half our output to our neighbors at the camp. Our price to the farmers and retail dealers in the city of Ottawa is, year in and year out, $1.00 a gallon.

We gather the sap every day that it runs and finish each run that day. We find that to get a good color we must not allow the sap to get old. We must keep it going once the fire is started until all on hand is made into syrup.

A CLEANER SYRUP

With the evaporator everything is clean. There is no smoke and no cinders. As the sap is not touched from the time it is poured into the big tank until it is in the milk can there is very little fear of not having a good article. With an evaporator of the correct size the sap can be boiled into syrup as fast as gathered. This alone is a big item in favor of the evaporator, as in the old way it was all day and all night.

When we got the evaporator first Ottawa was our only market. We found it hard to dispose of the syrup. It was so much brighter than the syrup made the old way that it was thought to be adulterated. Time changed all that, however, and now nothing but evaporator syrup can be sold at all on the Ottawa market.

Whether it is the improved goods or not, it is a fact that syrup made in the old way used to be sold from 45 cents a gallon up to 75 cents. The price now is from 50 to 100 per cent. higher. We believe that the improvement in the quality of the goods has enhanced the price of the product. If a man is going into syrup making it will certainly pay him to get an evaporator, as it is a time and labor saver, and ensures a better article than when made in any other way.

IT IS PROFITABLE

We have invested in equipment as follows: 1,000 buckets, $150; evaporator and outfit, $185; camp, $100; making an outlay of $435. We spend 2 weeks each year with 3 men in the bush, and use from 30 to 50 cords of wood. We have never had less than 300 gallons of syrup to sell, making an income of $300 on an investment of about $500. The work comes at a time of year when nothing else can be done outside of chores. We consider our investment in syrup making facilities a very profitable one indeed.

The main points about making good syrup are cleanliness and speed. Buckets, pans, and so forth must be kept clean. Sap must be strained and the machine kept going for all it is worth. The sooner the sap is boiled down, the clearer the syrup and the better the flavor.

RHEUMATINE

The Effect of Scott's Emulsion on thin, pale children is almost magical.
It makes them plump, rosy, and active.
Scott's Emulsion
contains no drug, no alcohol, nothing but the purest and best ingredients to make blood, bone and solid flesh.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst	1.40 a.m.	2.35 a.m.
North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	9.20 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.25 a.m. 2.35 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 7.05 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.20 a.m.	11.45 a.m.
Toronto, Montreal and east.	2.35 p.m.	5.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.45 a.m. 9.20 p.m. 10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m. 6.35 p.m 9.15 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.15 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.15 a.m. 2.35 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Sheffield	10.20 a.m. 6.15 p.m.	8.35 a.m. 12.05 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m. 1.01 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London Detroit, Chicago.	8.35 a.m. 4.01 a.m.
Berketown, Bobcaygeon Tyrtle ,Toronto	7.45 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago.
Winnipeg, Northwest Points	4.55 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC
$42.60
PACIFIC COAST
ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS
MAR 10 TO APRIL 10
THE ONLY THROUGH LINE
TOURIST AND COLONIST SLEEPING CARS ON ALL TRAINS
Ask any C.P.R. Agent for Particulars

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Reduced Rates for One-Way Tickets
March 10 to April 10
Inclusive
42.60 { Vancouver, B. C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Ore.
45.20 { San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal. Mexico City
Above rates are one way second class applying from Peterborough. Proportionate rates to certain other points.
Full particulars and tickets from—
City Ticket Office: 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE, City Ticket Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

COAL! COAL!
The Standard Anthracite D. L. & W. for
SCRANTON COAL
$7.50 Per Ton
Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc
Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.
R. HICKS & Co
YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 48

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

JACK and JILL in FAIRYLAND

1.—Said Jack to Jill at the top of the hill:—
"There's Simple Simon fishing for to catch a whale; well, now, I'll tell you what we'll do—we'll make him fish to catch a cow!"

2.—So Jill tied part of the fishing line to Simon's leg, while Jack ran to the cow that jumped over the moon. She was resting between jumps. "Look here, cow," said Jack, "do you mind if I tie this fishing line to your tail?" "Go as far as you like," said the cow," real friendly.

3—Then up the cow jumped—jumped over the moon,
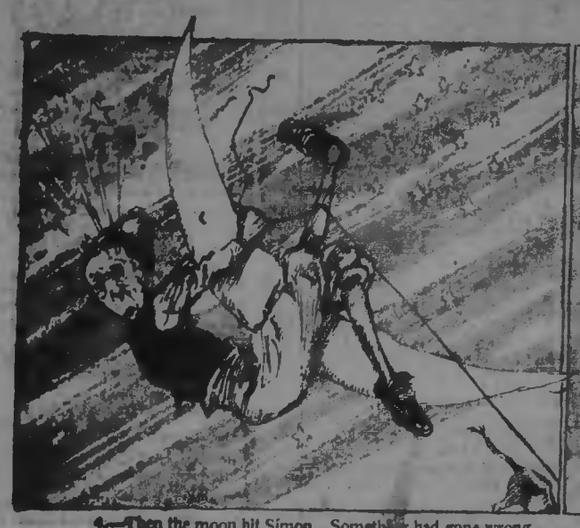
Which is high, you'll allow, at the back of a cow—



4.—Then the moon hit Simon. Something had gone wrong with the knot that Jack tied. Then Simon said something.
Wheel said he,
It seems to me
That here I stay eternallee—
Unless I get a bright idee!

5.—But he got one. Simple Simon wasn't half so simple up on the moon.
I'll just tie the line to the moon, said he,
And immediatelee—

6—I'll slide right down it, I will, I will—

7—And flop on the top of Jack and Jill!

THE TERRORS OF THE TINY TADS

1.—"Say, fellows!" cries a Tiny Tad, "why don't you come with me?
"I'm going to see a funny thing that I'd like you to see."

2.—"Come on!" exclaims his little mates. "We'll see what that thing is."
And off they trudge a mile or so, and then they cry, "Gee whiz!"

3.—For, all at once, they come upon a big Pheasantelope.
"Oh, mercy!" cry the Tiny Tads, "he will not bite, we hope."

4.—Oh, no! he will not bite at all; in fact, he's very kind.
And when they climb upon his back he doesn't seem to mind.

5.—He gives a cackle of delight and spreads his little wings,
And shows them a Jackasstle and some other funny things.

6.—He sets them on the ground again, and now the tiny band
Discusses him, declaring his pheasantics to be grand.

Mistakes MayHappen

to you,—as they do to everyone. If you eat too fast, do not masticate properly, or take food that does not agree with you, digestive derangements are almost sure to come, and indigestion generally leads to very serious physical troubles.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

relieve and cure indigestion. They have a quick and tonic action on the stomach and its nerves, and so they give direct aid to digestion. They carry away also the indigestible matter. With their use dyspepsia, hiccoughs, bad taste, unpleasant breath and flatulence disappear. You should be careful and remember Beecham's Pills

Will Right The Wrong

Sold Everywhere.
In convenient boxes 25c.

FRESH DAILY

Oyster Patties
Charlotte Russe
Plum Cakes
Lemon Cakes
Fancy Biscuits
Macaroons

ICE CREAM
in Bricks or Bulk

T. H. HOOPER
327-414-601 George Street

Hair and Fancy Goods

Whatever is new and good in Hair Coiffures, or that is required in dressing the hair in the very latest style we have it Perfect match guaranteed. Our line of Smallwares and Fancy Goods is very complete and offers a choice selection.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

Plumbing, Hot Water Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.
Phone 88
Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL
Limited

LAND REGULATIONS.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts, a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Lots For Sale
—AND—
Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. S. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

HELPFUL HINTS

From Farm and Dairy.

Now is the time that the cleverness of the housewife, or rather the mother, is made apparent by the gathering of articles of dress or wearing apparel and saving them from the house-cleaning rubbish box.

In this house-cleaning time one will go through old trunks and boxes, discarding garments right and left, and with a last sigh for a frock that has done good service, throw them away with the other things that have accumulated during the year.

The wise woman will not do this. She will look these clothes over carefully and if the material seems good, she'll lay them aside for future use. Just because the dress has become faded, or lost its freshness, or the shade is out of fashion, is no sign that it has outlived its usefulness.

Many a woman can easily dress in the new shades and styles, without buying a single new thing. There may be changes in styles since the old dress was worn, but these changes in style have no terrors for the thrifty woman who knows the possibilities of dyes. If the materials in last year's clothes are seemingly good, but a little faded or soiled, she'll convert the color into one of the new, fashionable shades. And with a few up-to-date patterns she'll have new dresses, correct in style and color.

Remnants, that are real bargains, are on sale quite often in the different stores, the only reason for the low price being that the shade is out of fashion. Quite a saving in a new suit can be made by buying up such pieces and dyeing them to meet the dictates of fashion. If the material is wool or silk, a dye that is especially adapted to these materials should be used. If it is linen, cotton or mixed goods, a dye made for cotton will give the best results. It is as easy as washing a handkerchief to get handsome new shades by using dye suitable for the material to be dyed, and any woman with a little time and care can thus effect an immense saving in her dress bills.

HOW TO RENOVATE

The use of dyes for coloring trimmings to harmonize with a dress or suit is endless. With a little perseverance, the careful dyer can obtain any color or shade to match or blend with her gown, while faded hosiery, veils and feathers can be made to give longer service by using dye to brighten or change the color. Portieres, couch covers, table covers and shadow curtains can also be given new life and added beauty and will fill the housewife's heart with joy at the marvelous color schemes that can be carried out in her home with little expense.

There are a few precautions, however, that should be used before and during the dyeing process, but if the directions that are given with the dyes are closely followed, no one need have other than the best results.

The first thing to be done is to have all the garments or wearing apparel free from grease. Grease spots can be taken out with benzine and afterwards washed with warm soapsuds.

HOW IT IS DONE

Now, remember that all dyeing should be done at a gentle boil, and use a vessel large enough for the proper manipulation of the goods. Be sure, though, that the dye is completely dissolved before putting it into the dye vessel.

Keep stirring the goods. Use a smooth round stick, such as a broom handle. Do not use anything sharp or pointed as it might tear the material. Turn the goods gently, completely and with absolute regularity. Many of the uneven results obtained occur through poor manipulation.

Under no circumstances rush the dyeing because the shade looks beautiful or deep enough, for all colors appear much darker when wet. Full shades usually require about an hour's boiling.

Remember, also, that all articles must be well washed in many changes of water after the dye, or until free from color. Otherwise the color may crack. Never dye a light color in vessel which has had a dark color in it without first cleaning the vessel thoroughly.

ABOUT COLORS

Now a word about the colors. If the original color is white, any color can be dyed on it. If it is cream, it can be dyed any darker shade of similar character.

Red can be dyed a darker red, crimson, wine, navy blue, brown or black.

Orange a darker orange, olive, red, brown or black.

Yellow a darker yellow, olive green, orange, red or black.

Green a darker green, olive, brown or black.

Blue a darker blue, navy, plum, dark brown, dark green or black.

Violet a darker violet, plum, olive green or black.

Brown a darker brown, wine color or black.

Grays can be dyed a darker shade, wine, maroon, navy blue, dark blue, green, brown or black. Or if very light, lavender, pink, rose or baby blue.

Good judgment should be used in combining shades, for you cannot dye a light shade over a darker one without first stripping. Nor a light shade over a dull one. The number of shades which may be produced by mixing two or more colors is limitless. Many textile mills produce their whole range of shades from about eight or nine standard colors by mixing them in different proportions.

Home dyeing is quite a simple operation, and if the home dyer will only use good judgment and observe the precautions given above, failures will rarely occur.

WOULD VERY OFTEN FAINT AWAY.

Doctor Said That Sometime He Would Never Come Out of One.

Many people may be unaware of having anything wrong with their heart till some little excitement, overwork, or confinement in an overheated or overcrowded room or public building makes them feel faint or dizzy.

If you neglect the warning the slight feeling of dizziness gives you, and fail to take treatment, there will be a gradual progression to something more serious.

There is no reason you should wait till your case becomes desperate before you avail yourself of a perfect cure by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mr. F. S. Chute, Wheatley, Ont. writes:—"It is with gratitude I tell how your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills benefited me. I was very weak and run down, and had headache, nearly every day and would very often faint away.

"In fact, my doctor said that sometime I would never come out of one of them. After taking three boxes of your pills I am glad to relate that it has been a number of years since I have had a fainting spell and scarcely have had a headache. Too much cannot be said in praise of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for in me they have effected a perfect cure."

Price 50c. per box, or 3 for $1.25.

At all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR Baking Powder adds to bread, cake and all foods made with it, a peculiar wholesome quality.

Cleveland's Baking Powder causes the food to retain its freshness and flavor.

A little of Cleveland's Baking Powder in pie crust will often redeem it from failure.

CLEVELAND BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

DISTRESSING HEADACHES

Headaches are largely the result of disordered kidneys.

Mrs. Hall, 84 Flora street, St. Thomas, Ont., says: "I suffered for years with headaches of a most distressing nature. They would come on me suddenly, and would last for days at a time. These were usually accompanied by spells of dizziness that would leave me unable to attend to my house duties. My back was weak and caused me much suffering through the night. I had doctored for years, but all to no avail. Nothing benefitted condition was gradually becoming worse. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills. One box gave me a complete and lasting cure. I have not had a headache or dizzy spell since and I feel like a new person."

Booth's Kidney Pills

Booth's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists, 50c. a box, under a guarantee to refund your money if they fail to relieve any disease having its origin in the kidneys or bladder. Postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold and guaranteed by Wm. Madill.

SOME COMPARISONS

From Farm and Dairy.

A comparison of the food value of cheese with that of other highly nitrogenous food materials, shows that no kind of meat excepting dried beef carries such a large percentage of protein as cheese, and as dried beef contains a much greater percentage of water, the other food constituents aside from the protein are much less than is found in cheese. Fresh beef as purchased has, weight for weight, little more than half the food value of cheese in either protein or fat, and the same is true of practically all other fresh meats, which have in many cases such a large percentage of refuse and in all cases such a large percentage of water that they are noticeably inferior to cheese in food value. Bacon or fat pork are exceptions, but their food value is mostly in the fat, which can be and is replaced to a great extent by the carbohydrates of vegetables at a much less cost and sometimes perhaps at a benefit to the health of the consumer. Fish and pork each have a notably large percentage of refuse, while eggs have a high percentage of water.

To sum the matter up we may state that a pound of cheese has nearly the same food value as two pounds of fresh beef or any other fresh meat as food; it is worth as much as or more than a pound of ham and is more digestible, and it is equal to two pounds of eggs or three pounds of fish. In price good cheese made from unskimmed milk costs about a third more than round steak and twice as much as the cheaper boiling beef, while it costs practically the same per pound as smoked ham and bacon. It costs usually a third more than fresh fish.

THE STEAM COOKER

From Farm and Dairy.

K. C. Davies, Leeds Co., Ont.

I have used a steam cooker, and from my own practical experience, I would not be without it, for twice the cost of it. Where one can cook with gas, they can easily save the cost of a cooker in a short time, by economizing the use of the gas, by cooking a whole dinner on one burner, which I have done time and time again. Then, too, one need not stand over the stove all the time the dinner is cooking, which, in warm weather is a matter to be greatly considered. It has always ben a mystery to me, why men, as a rule, of course there are exceptions, but mighty few, think so little of ever buying anything to help lessen the kitchen work.

If there are any new machines invented to lessen farm labour, how quick they are to purchase them: but they never think a woman needs any assistance, in regard to her humdrum, every-day kitchen work, which, in many instances, could be made comparatively easy, with very little expense, considering all the labour-saving devices that are on the market to-day. I would never advocate running in debt for such things, but get them little by little, as one feels they can afford them, and the amount of strength and energy saved in doing the same work, with these inventions, would simply be marvellous. One has only to try a few experiments with a few of them to find that out.

I, myself, am very fond of housework, but at the same time, I think that the women should be entitled to as many labour-saving devices as the men.

CLYDESDALE NEWS ITEMS

Special to The Examiner:

CLYDESDALE, MARCH 15. — The weather continues fine. The majority of farmers are busy drawing poles to Coe Hill.

Mr. Alex Trotter and Mr. Tom. Trotter are busy drawing sawdust from Mr. Andrew Bird's mill, Woolastan.

The Presbyterian student, Mr. G. C. Soules will be with us the coming summer.

Miss Marion McPherson leaves shortly for Port Arthur.

Miss Edna Trotter is spending a few days with relatives in Peterborough.

The price of fowl is going up. Mr. Allan Caldwell purchased 34 chickens at Mr. Wm. Gallon's sale last Wednesday for $17.50.

A number of the young ladies are taking music lessons at present, as Mrs. Swain, the music teacher from Coe Hill, comes to Clydesdale store every Saturday.

Miss O. Campbell is home from Pittsburg.

HEADACHE

And FIG PILLS do not agree. The headache disappears after one or two doses of FIG PILLS. They tone up the stomach and cure Constipation. 25c. a box. At leading drug stores or mailed on receipt of price by The Fig Pill Co., St. Thomas, Ont.

GOOD ROADS

From Farm and Dairy.

City people are awakening to the influence which good roads in country districts exert on the prosperity of both city and country and at the annual meeting of the Good Roads Association in Toronto recently many townsmen took part in the program although the Good Roads Association is primarily an association of farmers.

Resolutions were passed at the convention recommending that the Provincial Government increase the expenditure on county roads from one-third to one-half of the cost of construction, that the Province cooperate with the counties in the maintenance of these roads; that the provisions of the Highway Improvement Act be extended to townships in counties in which county road systems have been established; that a system of provincial highways be assumed and built by the province; that funds to be devoted to the improvement of highways should be diverted for the purpose of aiding farmers in laying tile drains, and that, in the opinion of the Association, a Highway Commission should be appointed for Ontario.

The addresses given covered a wide field. The good roads movement in Ohio was explained by N. N. Maxwell, of Cleveland. Road improvement in Ontario was dealt with by J. F. Bean, Black Creek. Road systems was the subject of an address by W. A. McLean, Provincial Engineer of Highways, and highway bridges from the investment point of view was dealt with by C. R. Young, Toronto. Major Sheppard spoke of roads in Quebec and Geo. Diehl of Buffalo explained how roads were managed in New York State.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents

BEE KEEPING

From Farm and Dairy.

Jas. Horor, Victoria Co., Ont.

It is to be assumed that the careful bee-keeper has the bees put away for the winter, properly protected either in the cellar or out of doors, and with sufficient stores to last them till the flowers bloom in the season of 1911. After being satisfied that all is well with the bees, they should not be disturbed till about the middle of April in this locality, or even later in some seasons.

One not acquainted with the business will ask: "What is the bee-keeper going to do during those months that bees require no attention?" If he has not sold out his last year's crop of honey and wax this should be attended to at once. Prices are fairly good for both at present. Perhaps the bee journals have not been carefully read during the honey season. They should be all carefully read over again. One of Farm and Dairy correspondents advised farmers who kept only a few hives that it was not necessary to read bee journals; that a text book was sufficient. I heard the statement made once at a bee convention that printers ink is scarcely dry, giving details of something new in bee-keeping, when some one has improved on it. The advice of persons who have made a success of bee-keeping is: "Read all the bee journals you can get hold of and if you don't find just what suits your trouble ask questions of the editor."

Look over your last season's work among the bees. You may have had good success with some hives and almost failures with others and apparently no difference between them. This is a matter for the bee-keeper to study out for himself with the assistance of bee journals.

REPAIRING THE PLANT

Then there is always a certain amount of the bee plant that is wearing out and requires to be repaired and renewed. Hives get knocked about, frames and supers all require cleaning and putting in order. We must lay plans and prepare for next summer's work. If it is our intention to increase in the bee business, extra hives and supers should be gotten ready. These may be home-made or ordered from the dealer. If supplies are bought there is a discount allowed for early orders. If the bee-keeper is a fairly good hand with tools he may succeed in making what he requires. Great care however must be exercised in having every part about the hives and supers made to the standard of the make of hives used.

Many different kinds of hives are made and it is difficult for one to decide which style is best for their requirements. Information as to a good selection of hives may be gotten from practical bee-keepers and bee journals. Orders should be sent for comb foundations, after one has decided on plans for the summer work. I have known of bee keepers being short of foundation when the makers were crowded with orders and could not fill them for several weeks. And there is nothing more annoying to the bee-keeper than waiting on comb foundation when the bees are doing their best and through his own neglect he is holding the bees idle.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25.

CARRYING PIG IRON.

The Way Scientific Study Increased Results and Wages.

No work seems more simple, more unlikely to be subject to scientific study, than the art of carrying pig iron. This, however, has been subjected to the most careful scientific study. Men at Bethlehem, Pa., were loading pig iron on cars at the rate of about twelve tons a day. Certain pig handlers were given extra wages for doing this work under special direction. An attempt was made to ascertain the relation between the amount of horsepower which each man exerted and the fatigue which he incurred. Long continued experiment furnished a vast amount of information, but apparently no law. Finally F. W. Taylor, who was conducting the experiments, handed the data over to an associate who was apt at mathematical problems. Very soon he reported that he had discovered the law—that fatigue varied in proportion to a certain relation between the amount of load and the period of rest—for example, a man carrying a ninety-two pound pig had, in order to avoid fatigue, to be at rest 58 per cent of the time. The discovery of this law involved a great amount of data, including certain physiological facts concerning the poisonous effects of waste tissue upon the blood and difficult mathematic formulæ, including the plotting of curves. As a result the pig handlers were directed exactly how to lift and carry their loads and when to rest, and the amount of pig iron handled by each man every day increased from twelve and a half tons to forty-seven. Of course the men received a great advance in wages.—Ernest Hamlin Abbott in Outlook.

Where the Joke Was.

"All the publishers in the country have turned my song down."

"Cheer up. Think what a laugh you have got on the fellow you stole the music from!"—Toledo Blade.

He Told Her.

"Why did I ever leave home and mother?" sobbed his wife.

"Chiefly because your family was too stingy to take us in," he answered bitterly.—Life.

Tea Time Talks

The Healthfulness of Tea

Physicians who often forbid the use of Coffee and Cocoa to the well, prescribe tea for the sick. Of the three, tea is the only beverage that can be drunk for a lifetime without injurious effects. It is a harmless tonic—a gentle stimulant without reaction.

As tea is the most desirable beverage, so "Salada" is tea in its most desirable form.

"Salada" Ceylon Tea comes from tea plant to tea pot untouched by human hands, from the time the leaves fall into the picker's baskets. Its delicate aroma and delicious flavor are perfectly preserved in sealed, air-tight packages.

"SALADA" TEA

Yearly Sales Over 20,000,000 Packages

Ask your grocer for "Salada" Tea or send for a free trial package which makes 50 cups of delicious tea. We will mail it to you without charge. Say whether you use Black, Mixed or Green Tea and the price you pay per pound.

The "Salada" Tea Co.
22 Yonge Street Toronto

THEY SCRUB EACH OTHER.

Daily Bath of the Pupils in Copenhagen's Public Schools.

Denmark is one of the cleanest little countries imaginable. In a Copenhagen public school one may see an interesting sight. Mounting the spotless stone staircase to the first flight, every morning you may see at 8 o'clock the children assemble and answer to their names and then march to a dressing room. Here they undress, and each child neatly folds its clothes and puts the tidy little bundle on the floor. Then the children go into a small square room with shelves all around, and on these shelves are innumerable wooden tubs, such as we use in America for washing, with two iron bands around them. Everything is in immaculate order. The teacher gives each child a tub, and he or she takes it into an immense and well lighted wash room.

Of course the girls and boys are washed separately, and they perform their ablutions by grades, the tiniest ones coming first. The floor of this wash room is of cement, and in the center is a latticed wooden floor. All around the top of the walls runs a nickel shower pipe, the water of which is regulated by the teacher. Under these showers at the height where the small fingers can reach are little nickel stands with soap and the stiffest hog bristle brushes, which make one shiver. Near by is also a faucet.

Each child puts his or her tub under the faucet and lets the necessary amount of water into it and proceeds to scrub, not himself or herself, but the child in front—a novel sight and a pretty one for a lover of children. But one could not help thinking what an instrument of torture that innocent brush could be if the small fingers that manipulated it did their duty viciously, paying off some grudge or fancied slight.

When all are clean the teacher turns on the showers, and they are all thoroughly rinsed with first hot and then cold water. Each child is obliged to empty its own tub. Then the clean, rosy little bodies dry themselves with rough towels, standing on the wooden latticed floor. Each tub has to be carefully put away, the children dress themselves, and they file in for prayers, and the business of recitation begins. —Youth's Companion.

Willing to Divide.

An American newspaper correspondent who followed the government army in a revolution in a Latin American country tells a story about an experience that he had with the general commanding the division. The correspondent observed that in every town that the troops invaded they would help themselves to everything that was not nailed, screwed or anchored down. This did not appeal to the American's ideas of the rules of war, and he reported the misdoings of the soldiers to the commander.

"That is selfish," said the latter indignantly. "I will see to it that when we reach the next town you will have the first chance."

The correspondent confined himself thereafter to the writing of "copy."—New York Tribune.

Complied With the Conditions.

The monotony of the London postal official's daily routine is frequently broken by the peculiar whims and caprices of eccentric members of the public with whom he is from time to time brought in contact.

A lady once sent to her son a pair of trousers by book post, which is cheaper than parcel post. The postal officials wrote to her: "Clothes cannot be sent by book post. If you will refer to the Postoffice Guide you will see under what conditions articles may be sent by book post." After a few days the lady replied, "I have looked in the Postoffice Guide and find that articles which are open at both ends may be sent by book post, and if trousers are not open at both ends I should like to know what is."—London Answers.

A Cool Soldier.

A French grenadier who was exasperated at some injustice that had been done him by a field marshal pointed his pistol at the marshal and pulled the trigger, but it did not go off. Without moving a muscle the veteran cried, "Four days in the cells for keeping your arms in a bad state!"

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children,
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

WHISTLER AND MOORE.

Two Versions of the Famous Carling Incident at Drury Lane.

It was in his capacity as editor of the Hawk that the late Augustus Moore, a journalist and playwright of no little notoriety, enacted an unrehearsed comedy with Whistler that created no end of a sensation at the time. It happened in the vestibule of Drury Lane on the first night of the production of "A Million of Money." Whistler, it appeared, had been annoyed at sundry references to himself in the Hawk and, coming up to Gus Moore, who was calmly smoking a cigarette, struck him across the face with a cane. A struggle followed, and, although opinions varied as to the actual course of the conflict, there was no doubt about Whistler having ultimately to pick himself up from the floor.

Each of the protagonists afterward gave his version of the incident. "I started out," said Whistler, "to cane this fellow with as little emotion as I would prepare to kill a rat. I did cane him to the satisfaction of my many friends and his many enemies, and that was the end of it." "I am sorry," wrote Mr. Moore for his part, "but I have had to slap Mr. Whistler. My Irish blood got the better of me, and before I knew it the shriveled up little monkey was knocked over and kicking about on the floor."

The notion, however, that he was knocked down was characterized by Whistler as "a barefaced falsehood." He contended that Mr. Moore never touched him. "I am sure," he added, "I don't know why, for he is a much bigger man than I. My idea is that he was thoroughly cowed by the moral force of my attack. I had to turn him around in order to get at him. Then I cut him again and again as hard as I could, hissing out 'Hawk!' with each stroke. Oh, you can take my word for it, everything was done in the cleanest and most correct fashion possible. I always like to do things cleanly."—New York Tribune.

PILES

Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of Itching, Bleeding and Protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can buy it on approval, your money back if not satisfied. 50c. at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

East City
Coal and Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East
Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.50 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

328 George St. No 287 HAMILTON
Ice Cream Soft Drinks

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

NO MORE DARKNESS

20 ELECTRIC SIGNS ARE TO BE GIVEN ABSOLUTELY FREE

To the First 20 Merchants Answering This Advertisement

THE PETERBORO' LIGHT & POWER CO. Limited have contracted for the above number of signs with

The HOLMAN ELECTRIC SIGN CO. Limited

Recognized as the largest exclusive builders of novelty signs in Canada

YOU PAY THE OPERATING EXPENSES ONLY. CALL THE SIGN

EXPERTS AT THE LIGHT AND POWER OFFICES NO. 108

Evaporated FRUITS

The home prepared supply which is running low, can be nicely supplemented by our newly arrived evaporated fruits.

Apples, Apricots Peaches, Prunes

A nice change that is cheap this season is sliced

Oranges or Grp Fruit

Thinking of pie materials reminds us of our

LADIES' FAVORITE FLOUR

If not the flour you use, try it

We sell ROSE BRAND LARD

Porter S. White

336 Georgia St. - Phone 208

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store

Grand New

MILLINERY OPENING for the 17th

Ladies of Peterborough are invited to come in and inspect our Hats. The latest and most up-to-date styles from New York and Toronto. Chic, ready-to-wear and untrimmed Ladies and Children's Hats for the coming season. You will be agreeably surprised when you see our display of most recherche Millinery. We have a thoroughly up-to-date Milliner, who can suit in any style you may require. Hair-made hats a specialty.

We have also the very latest styles in Ladies' and Gents' ready-to-wear Clothing. Ladies' New Spring Suits in all the newest and becoming shades and styles. All kinds of Skirts in the newest ideas. All Housefurnishings. See our windows.

CASH OR CREDIT

Why not dress well when you can on such easy terms? A small deposit and one dollar weekly will get you what you require for the Spring.

432 George st. Phone 567

Money to Loan

Mortgage loans in city and Farm property at lowest current rates.

Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr

Insurance 415 Water St., Peterborough

A Simple Explanation.

Ottawa, March 16.—There is a simple explanation to the complaint of A. S. Goodeve, in the House of Commons as to Lord Strathcona's alleged statement that the Canadian Ministers had been hypnotized by the brilliance of the American offer and had fallen into a "trap."

Mr. Goodeve read the Canadian Associated Press cable in The Ottawa Journal. By an error this paper had joined a paragraph interview with the Canadian High Commissioner in London to an editorial in The London Standard, the latter carrying the obnoxious expression.

Burglars at Lindsay.

Lindsay, March 16.—Daring burglars broke into the Foy shoe store here Tuesday night and got away with some $60 in cash by looting the safe. Strange to say a small bag labelled, Sunday school collection, which contained a small sum of money, and which was sitting on the safe, was left untouched.

Radicals Exult.

London, March 16.—At a meeting yesterday of the extreme Radical members of the House of Commons, among whom are those opposed to a big navy program, resolutions were adopted expressing much satisfaction over Sir Edward Grey's utterances in support of the arbitration suggestion of President Taft.

In a Dual Role.

Kingston, March 16.—Just before the tram left for Belleville L Cuneo, a member of the "Three Twins" theatrical company, secured a marriage license, and with another member of the company, Gladys Feden, went to St. George's Cathedral, where they were married. Canon Starr tied the knot.

Off to Western Cities.

Montreal, March 16.—Nearly 800 of the finest type of future Canadian citizens passed through Montreal on Tuesday night for the west on special trains.

Most of them expected to make their homes in the cities of Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Our Photos

Always please because the likeness is true, the finish perfect, the subject is naturally and effectively posed, and the work is mounted and put up in the very latest style.

Louis Mendelz

STUDIO 374½ George Street, East Side.
The only Studio on George St.

WAS SENT BACK.

Detroit Operator Deported, Say the G.N.W. Employes.

Toronto, March 16.—According to President Konenkamp, representative of the G.N.W. telegraph operators, who are seeking Government aid towards the reinstatement of thirty discharged operators, the local immigration officials have deported an operator who is said to have been brought here by the company from Detroit.

"W. H. Connors was taken from the G.N.W. office here and returned to Detroit yesterday," said Mr. Konenkamp last night.

"His services were engaged in Detroit, and he was instructed to call at Windsor for transportation. A pass to Toronto was issued at Windsor. A member of the Canadian executive laid the charge of breach of the Alien Labor Act.

"The company have circulated another circular over their whole system similar to the one issued a month ago asking the men to repudiate the committee who were negotiating for an increase in pay and who have been laid off. This time, however, in order to avoid having more men locked out for refusing to sign they assure the men that they will be given an increase of from $5 to $15 a month."

Max Aitken Coming Over.

London, March 16.—The Evening Times says Max Aitken, M.P., has left for Canada with the intention of initiating an anti-reciprocity campaign, and endeavor to get an appeal to Canadians through a general election. Further, it says that if Laurier can be persuaded to this course, it is probable that in the autumn several British M.P.'s will leave for Canada to assist in the campaign and conduct a mission from Vancouver to Quebec.

Imperial Navy Support.

London, March 16.—In the Commons yesterday, Hon. Reginald McKenna, replying to Norton Griffiths, said the attention of the Government had been drawn to the Premier of New Zealand's statement that the Dominions were prepared to join in the maintenance of an Imperial navy, but discussion now would be premature. It was more properly to be reserved for the Imperial Conference.

Proposed Seamen's Strike.

Antwerp, March 16.—The secretary of the International Seamen's Congress continues the report of secret proceedings of the moment at which it was decided to appoint a committee having authority to declare a general strike if deemed advisable. The German delegates refused to join the movement for a strike, as they have received a wage increase.

Centenarian Dead.

Gorrie, March 16.—Probably one of the oldest men in the Dominion died near Gorrie on Tuesday night in the person of Mr. George Totten, who reached the wonderful age of 105.

Deceased was a native of Ireland, but the greater part of his life was spent in Howick Township. He retained his intellect to the last.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Traces of diamonds have been found on Olivine Mountain, B.C.

Great Britain is spending large sums on the creation of an aerial fleet.

A conference to settle the Mexican revolt will be held in Cuba next month.

The Canadian Horticultural Association will meet in Ottawa August 9, 10 and 11.

Plague has appeared at Port au Spain, Trinidad. Only one case of the disease has so far developed.

James Alexander, an aged resident of Hillier township, wandered away from home and was found dead.

Sir Edward Grey's statement regarding President Taft's arbitration proposals has been favorably received in Germany.

The Burford Grange passed a strong resolution in favor of the trade agreement and condemning the stand of Mr. Lloyd Harris, M.P.

Russian troops, including cavalry and artillery, yesterday received orders to be ready to cross the Chinese frontier in Eastern Turkestan.

The storage dams already constructed or in progress on the Ottawa River will control one hundred and sixty-eight billion cubic feet of water.

The Bijou Dream, a moving picture theatre in New Haven, Conn., was burned yesterday morning, while a smaller theatre and several stores suffered by water. Loss $35,000.

The Danish Government is sending warships to Greenland with instructions to arrest foreign walrus hunters, chiefly Americans, who are reported to be killing thousands of walrus annually.

In discussing in the Senate the bill to prevent the use of opium and other injurious drugs, Sir Richard Scott said that Canada imported enough opium to supply the legitimate needs of 50,000,000 people.

The barkentine Emma R. Smith, Mobile for St. John, N.B., at Vineyard Haven, reports that in a northerly gale on March 7, in the gulf stream, she lost a portion of her deck load of yellow pine and oak timber.

Seat For Bonar Law.

London, March 16.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Lord A. Compton, M.P. for Brentford, has resigned. He had a majority of 3,075 in the election last December. He is making way for Joynson Hicks, who will be the Unionist candidate in the bye-election.

Bonar Law, the Canadian, was adopted yesterday as Unionist candidate in Beotha, Lancashire, where Col. Sandys, who was unopposed in the general election, has resigned in his favor.

Out of the Woods.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., March 16.—Yesterday morning's train on the Algoma Central Railway brought in 250 men who had been working for Oberholtzer Bros. and in various camps of the Lake Superior Corporation during the winter. This is the first instalment of lumberjacks arriving in the Soo this season, and is unusually large. The men have overrun the town and the authorities are busy keeping them under control.

Will Have Fair Trial.

Viterbo, March 16.—Carbineers, cavalry and Government agents yesterday started a crusade against suspicious strangers in Viterbo as a result of the halt of the great Camorrista' trial through inability to secure a jury. All persons known to have been intimidating talesmen or suspected of such crimes are being driven out of town.

A score of them, mostly Neapolitans, were driven from Viterbo yesterday by soldiers. They were instructed not to return upon penalty of arrest and imprisonment.

The afternoon session was given over to minor details. When the clerk of the court read the indictment, which is very lengthy, the accused men appeared indifferent, and at its conclusion laughed ironically, as though to demonstrate their contempt for the proceedings.

The jury is an admirable one, being for the most part composed of professional men and better class merchants, which fact would appear to guarantee an impartial trial for the prisoners.

Goes to the Jury.

Albany, N.Y., March 16.—Testimony in the trial of Mrs. Edith Melber, the young widow who is charged with killing her child by administering carbolic acid on Jan. 6, was practically closed when the court adjourned yesterday afternoon and the case is expected to go to the jury to-night. Three doctors, who have spent years as superintendents of institutions for the insane, and studied mental disorders, testified yesterday that in their judgment the woman is rational and was mentally sound when the act was committed.

CREDIT

Makes a Hard Road EASY

WE SELL what we advertise without extra charge for CREDIT. Credit will serve you well HERE.

ECONOMY

says buy NOW and BUY HERE.

Open An Account Now

Get high grade Ladies' and Gents' Clothing ready-to-wear for the Spring. Special Ladies' Suits, most up to date, all reduced prices for early buyers.

Ladies' Suits, reg. 35.00 for $27.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 25.00 for 19.45
Ladies' Suits, reg. 18.00 for 12.50

All good tailored and all colours

New Line of Millinery

New line of Millinery will open for Spring. Come and pick out your Hat HERE

All kinds of House Furnishings, Linoleums, Oilcloths, Squares, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains in best quality.

CASH OR CREDIT

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

The Best Credit Clothiers in City

163 CHARLOTTE STREET

DUTTON & COMPANY

Finnan Haddie — White Fish — Salmon Trout
Sea Herrings — Burnhams Clam Chowder
Fine Nidals for Soups — Oysters

FRED. WALKER, MANAGER

High Grade Sewing Machines

The quality of the White and Raymond Sewing Machines is measured by the satisfaction they give those who use them.

WHITE / RAYMOND — The Two Standard Machines for the Home

SOLD ON EASY TERMS

Peterborough Music Co.

404 George St. — J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

My Valet

This is the time to look over your Spring Wardrobe and have them put in shape. We do all kinds of cleaning, repairing and pressing, on ladies' or gent's garments. You will be surprised at the improvement.

2 STORES:

204 Charlotte Street, Bell 871 — Mach. 587
137 Simcoe Street — Phone 567

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address:

762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

Coleman Bros

—For—

The BEST Baking Catering Ice Cream and Candies

426 George St.

Advertise in the Examiner

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 12

PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY MARCH 16 1911

Be Sure and Read the Advertisement Regarding Free Electric Signs on Page Six of This Issue of The Examiner

GAOL FOR MUNROE

Former Toronto Promoter is Sentenced to Three Years for Fraudulent Use of the United States Mails

CLEARED HALF MILLION

Special Wire to the Examiner.

NEW YORK CITY, MARCH 16.—George H. Munroe, formerly of Toronto, where he promoted taxi cab and mining propositions of various kinds, which stocks were widely sold through out Ontario, was sentenced this morning to three years in the Federal prison at Atlanta for the fraudulent use of the mails in connection with selling wireless stocks. He operated here as a broker. He is said to have cleared up half a million in Canada.

NARROW ESCAPE

Inmates of Burnlea House Were Aroused Just in Time

Special to The Examiner:

KINGSTON, MARCH 16.—Two ladies passing the home of William Kelly, Bagot street, saw smoke issuing and roused the inmates, just in time for them to escape in their night clothing.

KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Special Wire to The Examiner.

COBALT, MARCH 16.—Albert Sullivan, of Killaloe, Ont., a drill runner in the Temiscaming mine, was killed when a charge exploded before he got clear. It is thought he was overcome by gas.

BRAKEMAN KILLED

Special to The Examiner.

NORTH BAY, ONT., MARCH 16.—George Cauchey, aged twenty-four, a Canadian Pacific brakeman, was mysteriously struck by an engine, sustaining a fracture of the skull and other injuries from which he died this morning. He leaves a widow.

LOOKING BACK NINE YEARS.

Nine years ago the "opposition" gave us six months to "peter out." This was in 1901. During 1910 we have enrolled more students and qualified more stenographers than any other college in the city. Nine years ago when 30-day Syl-la-bic Shorthand was a new thing, we taught the student, placed him in a position, told the employer to prove him before engaging him, and then, and not until then, would we ask the student to pay us our tuition fees. To-day we enjoy the largest enrolment of any stenographic college in Toronto, besides having 13 branch colleges throughout Canada. Schools and systems have come and gone, but the Moon College has come to stay, and may be found at 282-286 Yonge street, Toronto, able and willing to verify every claim regarding their 30-day Shorthand.

ST. PATRICK'S EVENING

Last evening the Y. W. C. A girls and their friends enjoyed a most pleasing and appropriate St. Patrick's evening. The programme was given in the Gymnasium Hall, after which a happy social half hour was spent, during which cake and cocoa was served.

Those taking part in the excellent programme were Misses Davies, Hawkey, McGill, Dawson, Howell, Flavelle, Scott and Martin.

Mrs H. P. Kennedy presided in her usual kind and happy manner

PRIVATE MILLINERY

Miss Anna Cuffe has returned from the Millinery Openings, and is now prepared to receive orders at 527 George St. zd63

BOATS MISSING SINCE LAST NIGHT'S STORM

Tug "Silver Spray" With Crew of Eight is Believed to Have Been Destroyed---Other Vessels Have Failed to Come Back to Harbour---One Boat Burned.

Special Wire to The Examiner.

ERIE, PENN., MARCH 16.—During the night the vivid reflections of flames were seen out in the lake and rescuing tugs started out in that direction, but were driven back by the seas. It is thought it may have been the Silver Spray on fire.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, MARCH 16.—This morning nothing has been seen or heard of the missing tug Silver Spray, of Erie, Penn., and little hope is entertained for the lives of her eight crew. Despite the heavy seas still raging, other tugs are preparing to go out to search. Other vessels are missing, as several were out when the cold storm blew up yesterday afternoon and last night. The steamer Effie B., missing since yesterday morning, came in just before daylight this morning a mass of ice and with the crew terribly frost bitten. Great anxiety is felt here and all along the south coast of Lake Erie for the boats out.

THE CLOSING SESSIONS OF THE SPECIAL SERVICES

At the special service in Knox church to-night Mr. McBretney will sing one of his favourite solos, "Jesus Was Standing in Pilate's Hall," to-night and to-morrow night will see the close of the Mission that has meant so much to those who have attended. Rev. Mr. Woodside will leave on Saturday morning to be in his own pulpit for Sunday. Mr. McBretney will go to Cobourg. Those who have not heard either Mr. Woodside, or Mr. McBretney, should not miss to-night's service at 7.45.

LINDSAY SHOE STORE ENTERED AND ROBBED

(Lindsay Post)

Some time during Sunday night or early Monday morning, a burglar or burglars entered the Foy shoe store, and carried off a sum of money from the safe.

Entrance to the store was gained by forcing in the front door. In some unaccountable manner the safe was opened and the money extracted —some $40.00 or $50.00 in all.

No damage, whatever, was done the safe, and the crook, whoever he was, covered up his tracks nicely, as there is no clue to the perpetrator of the daring theft.

There have been a number of bad looking characters around the town lately, and it behooves the merchants to have their stores securely locked at night. Discretion is the better part of valour.

LADIES' AUXILIARY OF THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

Will Look After the Clothing of the Children and Other Similiar Work in the City.

OFFICERS ELECTED

A meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a Ladies' Auxiliary in connection with the Children's Aid Society, of Peterborough, whose special work will be to look after the clothing of the children and such other work as may be delegated by the Children's Aid Society. The chair was occupied by Mrs. Gibbs.

The following are the officers elected to take charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary:

Hon. President—Mrs. Best.
President—Mrs. W. Gibbs.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. T. Rutherford.
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. W Stalker.
Corresponding Secretary — Mrs. Pearce.
Treasurer—Mrs. Ruddy.

There also was a representative from each church in the city elected on the committee of the new organization. The following are the representatives:

George Street church—Mrs. Cressman.
All Saint's—Mrs. Gilbert.
St John's—Mrs. Hopwood.
Murray Street—Mrs. W. Montgomery.
St. Peters'—Mrs. J. Dunn.
Charlotte Street—Mrs. G W. Johnston.
Park street—Mrs. Mann.
St. Paul's—Mrs. Sanderson.
St Andrew's—Mrs. W. S. Campbell
Knox—Mrs. R. Mulligan.
Mark St.—Mrs. T. C. Westlake.
St. Luke's—Mrs. F. J. Jamieson.
St. James'—Mrs. Wilson.
Free Methodist—Miss Butcher.
S. A. Army—Mrs. R. C. Braund.
Sacred Heart—Mrs. M. O'Brien.
Bethany Tabernacle — Mrs. W. Stock.
Christian Science—Mrs. R J. Todd.
Gospel Hall—Mrs. Fairley.

The officers elected for the Dorcas committee, are as follows:

Mrs Montgomery, Mrs. Hopwood, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Wm. Hill, Miss Mary Brown, Mrs. G. Curtis.

It was moved by Mrs. Goodwill, and seconded by Mrs. Montgomery, that the officers and committees, form a committee, to frame a code of laws for the new organization.

There will be a meeting of the officers and executives, elected to-day, on Monday at 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Hopwood, 113 Simcoe street.

OUT OF HEALTH

is a very common expression.

Are you one of the unfortunates,—and what is the cause?

There are hundreds of people right in this vicinity who have poor blood, are run-down, all tired out, with no strength, vitality or ambition.

We want to ask all such people to call at our store and get a bottle of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, which is made without oil and very palatable.

We claim it will make pure, rich red blood, and [illegible] new life, energy and str[illegible] person who does not [illegible] fails we will return your m[illegible] without question. Isn't this a [illegible] and generous offer?

A case is reported from Leipsic, Ind. —Mrs. C. R. Cutlin was troubled with indigestion—was weak—all run down. She says Vinol cured her stomach trouble,—restored her strength,—and made her feel like a new woman. Anyone in her condition can get the same benefit from Vinol. McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

LENTEN ADDRESS

Given by Rev. H. A. Bracken, of Toronto, at St. John's

Rev H. A. Bracken of Toronto, gave a very interesting address last night in St. John's church, on "Prayer," tracing it through its various stages, such as intercession, praise thanksgiving, etc. Despite the inclement weather which prevailed there was a large turnout of people.

COMING TO PETERBORO'

The Prospects Are Bright For Securing an Important New Industry to Locate in This City

COUNCIL TO MEET

Negotiations have been under way for some time and are now well advanced for the establishment of a new industry to manufacture rubber tires for automobiles and buggies in Peterborough. The matter has been receiving attention for some time and it is expected that after to-night's special meeting of the City Council which is called for the purpose of taking up the matter, there will be some interesting information about the new concern to divulge for the benefit of the public.

DEATH IS HOURLY EXPECTED

Special Wire to the Examiner.

OTTAWA, MARCH 16.—The death is hourly expected of aged Justice Girouard, of the Supreme Court, who was thrown out of a carriage two weeks ago.

The Toronto Globe says "The best play that has been seen here this season." "The Man of the Hour" "Grand" to-night Prices—50c-75c-$1, Gallery 25c First time at these prices

THEATRICAL WEDDING

Two Members of "Three Twins" Company Are Married

KINGSTON, MARCH 15.—L. Cuneo and Gladys Peden, both of Chicago, two members of the "Three Twins" Company, were quietly married this morning in St. George's Cathedral by the Rev. Canon Starr. The couple procured a marriage license from Smith Brothers about 8 o'clock and had Canon Starr perform the ceremony immediately. They left with the company on the 9 o'clock train for Belleville. They were unattended, Mr Graham, sexton of the Cathedral, acting as witness.

OBITUARY

JOHN CHESNEY.

John Chesney passed away last night after a brief illness. Deceased was sixty years of age, and was a widower. He is survived by one son.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 10 a.m., from Comstock's undertaking rooms, and proceed to Lakefield for interment.

SAMUEL STEWART.

Samuel Stewart passed away yesterday after a short illness at his home in Otonabee, lot 17, con. 15. The deceased was a life long and highly respected resident of the township in which he lived. He was eighty-nine years of age. There are left to mourn his loss a widow, two sons and two daughters. The sons are J. R. and J. B. Stewart, both of Otonabee. The daughters are Mrs. R. R. Armstrong, of Melita, Manitoba, and Mary at home. Funeral will take place to-morrow at 2.30 from above residence to Little Lake cemetery.

YEARS OF SATISFACTION.

You'll find that the only bicycle Tire which will continuously satisfy you is the Dunlop Detachable. It has been conducting a "satisfaction" campaign since 1898.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CONCERT

Friday evening at the Opera House—Excellent Programme Under Auspices of St. Peter's T. A. S. Plan Now Open.

MADMAN KILLS HIS GUARD AND ESCAPES

Dangerous Lunatic Gets Away From Longue Pointe Asylum, Liberating Another Insane Man Before Leaving---Special Police Are Scouring the Country For Him.

Special Wire to The Examiner.

LONGUE POINTE ASYLUM, QUE., MARCH 16.—Although left by his keepers tightly strapped and manacled, Augusto Panneton, a dangerous lunatic, who was imprisoned because of his mania, for attempting to kill his father, a wealthy banker at Three Rivers, managed to get loose last Tuesday night. He killed a guard named Francis Debine with a length of lead pipe concealed in the cellar. He then liberated another patient and together they got clear again. The Monks, who keep the asylum, tried to keep the matter quiet, but it leaked out to-day. Special police are scouring the country, which is in terror. 'Tis feared Panneton will make at once for Three Rivers to try to kill his father. Gadbois, who also escaped, is a brother-in-law of Hon. Tuffie Berthiame.

The Moran-McFarland Fight Clever Exhibition Chicago Boy's Margin

NEW YORK, MARCH 15.—A magnificent exhibition of scientific boxing enabled Packey McFarland to score a signal victory over Owen Moran, of England, in a 10-round bout at the Fairmount A. C. last night. A crowd that packed the building expected this result, but nobody looked for such a brilliant performance as that shown by the American.

McFarland's wonderful speed was chiefly responsible for his success. He was lightning in attack and defence. With an unerring left he jabbed Moran incessantly and scored the points so rapidly that Moran was, at times bewildered. Moran had wonderful strength and a hard wallop in either hand, but McFarland's defence was so invincible that very few effective blows were driven home.

When Moran found that he was out classed in scientific boxing he tried rushing and slugging, but McFarland knew how to checkmate him at this style. McFarland had the better of every round. The bout was purely one in which real science was displayed by both men.

In the sixth round McFarland forced the issue so persistently that Moran was driven into the ropes, where he fell from the force of a push, not a punch. McFarland had the Englishman beating a retreat under rapid fire tactics in the seventh round, and for a moment it looked as if something serious might happen. After that great boxing by McFarland carried him further to the front, and he won in a blaze of glory.

THE ALL STARS FAILED TO SHINE AT KINGSTON

KINGSTON, MARCH 15.—The junior Frontenacs defeated the All-Stars of the O. H. A. here to-night by a score of 18 to 5, with the half-time score standing 9 to 4 in favour of the champions. The Frontenacs started off bewildered, and for a few minutes it was anyone's game. The little chaps tallied five before the Stars had time to notice, two being scored direct from the face-off. The Stars' first goal was scored by Hunt of the Frontenacs. The Frontenacs' fine team work assisted them a great deal. The ice was in fine condition and the game was very fast all through.

Both teams played better and faster than at Toronto. The Stars endeavoured to make up for lost time but the Frontenacs checked harder than ever and almost succeeded in shutting the Stars out. In the last half they only made one goal to Frontenacs' nine. The teams:

All-Stars — Goal, Addison; point, Heffernan; cover, McBurnie; centre, McKenzie; rover, Crane; wings, Brown and Hill.

Frontenacs—Goal, Williams; point Davidson; cover, McCammon; centre, Hunt; rover, Brouse; wings, Millan and Boyer.

Referee—Harvey Sproule of Toronto.

KINGSTON WHIG WAS RILED OVER CRITICISM

The Kingston Whig man seems a little "riled" because the Examiner took him to task about making such a howl about the defeat of the Frontenacs at the hands of the All Stars. Anyway the Whig last night contains the following:

The Peterborough Examiner criticizes the Whig's report of the All-Star, Toronto, game, because the Whig objected to the rink lighting, etc. Well, nearly every Toronto paper had the same kick, and admitted freely that the Frontenacs were handicapped by the miserably poor lighting as well as soft ice. So that as the Peterborough scribe was probably not at the game, and the Toronto writers as well as the Whigman was, it looks as though the Examiner doesn't really know what it is talking about. Besides the Whig feels that the Examiner would be doing better work for hockey in general if it condemned the "big joke" rink on Mutual street, instead of coming to assist it by such language as that of yesterday's issue.

As a matter of fact just to show that other papers than the Examiner feel that such a spiel of hard luck was not called for as the Toronto Globe to-day quotes the same extract from the Whig as the Examiner cited, with the following comment:

The following is printed just to show how many excuses—none of them needed, as the champions did all that was expected of them—The Kingston Whig special artist can put into a single sentence:

NOMINATED AS BENCHER

Mr. E. A. Peck, of Peterborough has been nominated as a Bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada, the nominations for which closed yesterday. In all fifty-nine have been placed in the field with thirty to be elected. Mr W. E. Kerr, of Cobourg, brother of Mr. F. D. Kerr is among the nominees.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Miss Macdonald's coming postponed one week.

Owing to a change in Miss Macdonald's Ottawa programme, her coming to Peterborough has been deferred one week. She will tell the interesting story of life in Japan on Sunday afternoon, March 26, at 4.15 and will also speak in the Y. W. C. A drawing rooms on the following Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. McCulloch's Home Nursing class at the Y.W.C.A. has been cancelled for this evening.

DIED IN THE GAOL

John Chesney, an Old Man Committed a Week Ago as Being Insane, Died Yesterday Afternoon

INQUEST TO-DAY

John Chesney, sixty-two years of age, who was committed to the county gaol on Thursday of last week as being insane, died in that institution yesterday and the coroner's jury empanelled by Coroner Dr. Greer as required in such cases, found this morning that death was due to paresis or paralysis of the insane.

The inquest was held in the gaol, with the following jury: C. Clementi, foreman, Percy Doughty, Sam. Long, Ed. Finnie, Bert Cadigan, Myles Henry, Arthur Johnston, W. Edwards, Chas. Wesley, Cecil Smith, Archie Moore, Chris Wood.

H. Nesbitt, the gaoler, was the first witness. He testified that the deceased had been committed to the gaol on March 8th, 1911 as being insane. He was ill when he came and had been in a semi-unconscious condition ever since, being confined to his bed. A couple of prisoners had waited on the deceased, who had to be fed with a spoon. The witness was satisfied that he had had every care possible.

Dr. Caldwell, the gaol physician, testified that he had attended Chesney from the day after he was admitted until his death. The deceased was lying on the floor when the witness came and had gradually become more unconscious and weaker. Although he could not say definitely as to the cause of death, to the best of his knowledge he would put it down to paresis. He did not know whether the early history of the case would correspond with the diagnosis but it appeared to be paresis at the last. He had been informed that Chesney was a temperate living man and there was no reason to suppose there was any other disease. Coroner Dr. Greer explained to the jury that paresis was paralysis of the insane.

The jury brought in a verdict in a few minutes that death was caused by paresis.

PETERBORO' TO HAVE GREAT WHITE WAY

The Peterborough Light and Power Co., Ltd., Are Going to Install Twenty Electric Signs Free

Mr. C. E. Wilkes, general sales manager of the Holman Electric Sign Co. Ltd., and Mr. Julian Register, their advertising manager, are in the city and intend placing a great white way in our city.

The signs installed are to be the same in attractiveness and construction as those seen in the principal cities of America.

All kinds of novelty effects will be shown, each merchant will be given an exclusive design of his own. Effects such as a sky rocket shooting into the air and bursting into stars, a shoe forming lamps, streak of lightning, spinning top, fountains bubbling up as if real and other flashing effects that will make the streets a blaze of light.

Messrs. Wilkes and Register are greatly impressed with the progressive spirit shown by our merchants and expect to hear Peterborough spoken of soon as The Bright Spot in Canada.

The Peterborough Light and Power Co. Ltd have contracted for 20 electric signs. They will be given to the first 20 merchants answering their ad. in this issue of the Examiner.

CURLING

Only one game in the Consolation series was played last night, the contending forces were represented by Messrs Morrow and Neil. The score was 13-11 in favour of Skip Morrow. If weather conditions are favourable the bonspiel will in all probability be finished this week.

Don't miss seeing "The Man of the Hour" "Grand" to-night td63

If You Are Thinking of ELECTRIC SIGNS Consult Us. Every Style, Channel Letter, "Elexlume," Transparent, Etc., made to Flash or Otherwise. Sketches and Estimates Furnished. J. J. TURNER & SONS, SIGN DEPT.

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 12

PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY MARCH 16 1911

Be Sure and Read the Advertisement Regarding Free Electric Signs on Page Six of This Issue of The Examiner

GAOL FOR MUNROE

Former Toronto Promoter is Sentenced to Three Years for Fraudulent Use of the United States Mails

CLEARED HALF MILLION

Special Wire to the Examiner.

NEW YORK CITY, MARCH 16.—George H. Munroe, formerly of Toronto, where he promoted taxi cab and mining propositions of various kinds, which stocks were widely sold through out Ontario, was sentenced this morning to three years in the Federal prison at Atlanta for the fraudulent use of the mails in connection with selling wireless stocks. He operated here as a broker. He is said to have cleared up half a million in Canada.

NARROW ESCAPE

Inmates of Burning House Were Aroused Just in Time

Special to The Examiner:

KINGSTON, MARCH 16.—Two ladies passing the home of William Kelly, Bagot street, saw smoke issuing and roused the inmates, just in time for them to escape in their night clothing.

KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Special Wire to The Examiner.

COBALT, MARCH 16.—Albert Sullivan, of Killaloe, Ont., a drill runner in the Temiscaming mine, was killed when a charge exploded before he got clear. It is thought he was overcome by gas.

BRAKEMAN KILLED

Special to The Examiner.

NORTH BAY, ONT., MARCH 16.—George Cauchey, aged twenty-four, a Canadian Pacific brakeman, was mysteriously struck by an engine, sustaining a fracture of the skull and other injuries from which he died this morning. He leaves a widow.

LOOKING BACK NINE YEARS.

Nine years ago the "opposition" gave us six months to "peter out." This was in 1901. During 1910 we have enrolled more students and qualified more stenographers than any other college in the city. Nine years ago when 30-day Syl-la-bic Shorthand was a new thing, we taught the student, placed him in a position, told the employer to prove him before engaging him, and then, and not until then, would we ask the student to pay us our tuition fees. To-day we enjoy the largest enrollment of any stenographic college in Toronto, besides having 13 branch colleges throughout Canada. Schools and systems have come and gone, but the Moon College has come to stay, and may be found at 282-286 Yonge street, Toronto, able and willing to verify every claim regarding their 30-day Shorthand.

ST. PATRICK'S EVENING

Last evening the Y. W. C. A. girls and their friends enjoyed a most pleasing and appropriate St. Patrick's evening. The programme was given in the Gymnasium Hall, after which a happy social half hour was spent, during which cake and cocoa was served.

Those taking part in the excellent programme were Misses Davies, Hawkey, McGill, Dawson, Howell, Flavelle, Scott and Martin.

Mrs. H. P. Kennedy presided in her usual kind and happy manner.

PRIVATE MILLINERY

Miss Anna Cuffe has returned from the Millinery Openings, and is now prepared to receive orders at 527 George St. 2d63

BOATS MISSING SINCE LAST NIGHT'S STORM

Tug "Silver Spray" With Crew of Eight is Believed to Have Been Destroyed---Other Vessels Have Failed to Come Back to Harbour---One Boat Burned.

Special Wire to The Examiner.

ERIE, PENN., MARCH 16.—During the night the vivid reflections of flames were seen out in the lake and rescuing tugs started out in that direction, but were driven back by the seas. It is thought it may have been the Silver Spray on fire.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, MARCH 16.—This morning nothing has been seen or heard of the missing tug Silver Spray, of Erie, Penn., and little hope is entertained for the lives of her eight crew. Despite the heavy seas still raging, other tugs are preparing to go out to search. Other vessels are missing, as several were out when the cold storm blew up yesterday afternoon and last night. The steamer Effie B., missing since yesterday morning, came in just before daylight this morning a mass of ice and with the crew terribly frost bitten. Great anxiety is felt here and all along the south coast of Lake Erie for the boats out.

THE CLOSING SESSIONS OF THE SPECIAL SERVICES

At the special service in Knox church to-night Mr. McBretney will sing one of his favourite solos, "Jesus Was Standing in Pilate's Hall," to-night and to-morrow night will see the close of the Mission that has meant so much to those who have attended. Rev. Mr. Woodside will leave on Saturday morning to be in his own pulpit for Sunday. Mr. McBretney will go to Cobourg. Those who have not heard either Mr. Woodside, or Mr. McBretney, should not miss to-night's service at 7.45.

LINDSAY SHOE STORE ENTERED AND ROBBED

(Lindsay Post)

Some time during Sunday night or early Monday morning, a burglar or burglars entered the Foy shoe store, and carried off a sum of money from the safe.

Entrance to the store was gained by forcing in the front door. In some unaccountable manner the safe was opened and the money extracted—some $40.00 or $50.00 in all.

No damage, whatever, was done the safe, and the crook, whoever he was, covered up his tracks nicely, as there is no clue to the perpetrator of the daring theft.

There have been a number of bad looking characters around the town lately, and it behooves the merchants to have their stores securely locked at night. Discretion is the better part of valour.

LADIES' AUXILIARY OF THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

Will Look After the Clothing of the Children and Other Similiar Work in the City.

OFFICERS ELECTED

A meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of organising a Ladies' Auxiliary in connection with the Children's Aid Society, of Peterborough, whose special work will be to look after the clothing of the children and such other work as may be delegated by the Children's Aid Society. The chair was occupied by Mrs. Gibbs.

The following are the officers elected to take charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary:

Hon. President—Mrs. Best.
President—Mrs. W. Gibbs.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. T. Rutherford.
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. W Stalker.
Corresponding Secretary — Mrs Pearce.
Treasurer—Mrs. Ruddy.

There also was a representative from each church in the city elected on the committee of the new organization. The following are the representatives:

George Street church—Mrs. Cressman.
All Saint's—Mrs. Gilbert.
St. John's—Mrs. Hopwood.
Murray Street—Mrs. W. Montgomery.
St. Peter's—Mrs. J. Dunn
Charlotte Street—Mrs. G W. Johnston.
Park street—Mrs. Mann.
St. Paul's—Mrs. Sanderson.
St. Andrew's—Mrs. W. S. Campbell
Knox—Mrs. R. Mulligan.
Mark St.—Mrs. T. C. Westlake.
St. Luke's—Mrs. F. J. Jamieson.
St. James'—Mrs. Wilson.
Free Methodist—Miss Butcher.
S. A. Army—Mrs. R C. Braund.
Sacred Heart—Mrs. M. O'Brien.
Bethany Tabernacle — Mrs. W. Stock.
Christian Science—Mrs. R J. Todd.
Gospel Hall—Mrs. Fairley.

The officers elected for the Dorcas committee, are as follows:

Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Hopwood, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Wm. Hill, Miss Mary Brown, Mrs. G. Curtis.

It was moved by Mrs. Goodwill, and seconded by Mrs. Montgomery, that the officers and committees, form a committee, to frame a code of laws for the new organization.

There will be a meeting of the officers and executives, elected to-day, on Monday at 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Hopwood, 113 Simcoe street.

OUT OF HEALTH

is a very common expression.

Are you one of the unfortunates,—and what is the cause?

There are hundreds of people right in this vicinity who have poor blood, are run-down, all tired out, with no strength, vitality or ambition.

We want to ask all such people to call at our store and get a bottle of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, which is made without oil and very palatable.

We claim it will make pure, rich red blood, and impart new life, energy and strength to every person who does not feel well. If it fails we will return your money—without question. Isn't this a fair and generous offer?

A case is reported from Leipsic, Ind.—Mrs. C. R. Catlin was troubled with indigestion—was weak—all run down. She says Vinol cured her stomach trouble,—restored her strength,—and made her feel like a new woman. Anyone in her condition can get the same benefit from Vinol. McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

LENTEN ADDRESS

Given by Rev. H. A. Bracken, of Toronto, at St. John's

Rev. H. A. Bracken of Toronto, gave a very interesting address last night in St. John's church, on "Prayer," tracing it through its various stages, such as intercession, praise, thanksgiving, etc. Despite the inclement weather which prevailed there was a large turnout of people.

COMING TO PETERBORO'

The Prospects Are Bright For Securing an Important New Industry to Locate in This City

COUNCIL TO MEET

Negotiations have been under way for some time and are now well advanced for the establishment of a new industry to manufacture rubber tires for automobiles and buggies in Peterborough. The matter has been receiving attention for some time and it is expected that after to-night's special meeting of the City Council which is called for the purpose of taking up the matter, there will be some interesting information about the new concern to divulge for the benefit of the public.

DEATH IS HOURLY EXPECTED

Special Wire to the Examiner.

OTTAWA, MARCH 16.—The death is hourly expected of aged Justice Girouard, of the Supreme Court, who was thrown out of a carriage two weeks ago.

The Toronto Globe says "The best play that has been seen here this season." "The Man of the Hour" "Grand" to-night Prices—50c-75c-$1, Gallery 25c First time at these prices

THEATRICAL WEDDING

Two Members of "Three Twins" Company Are Married

KINGSTON, MARCH 15.—L. Cuneo and Gladys Peden, both of Chicago, two members of the "Three Twins" Company, were quietly married this morning in St George's Cathedral by the Rev. Canon Starr. The couple procured a marriage license from Smith Brothers about 8 o'clock and had Canon Starr perform the ceremony immediately. They left with the company on the 9 o'clock train for Belleville. They were unattended, Mr. Graham, sexton of the Cathedral, acting as witness.

OBITUARY

JOHN CHESNEY.

John Chesney passed away last night after a brief illness. Deceased was sixty years of age, and was a widower. He is survived by one son.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 10 a.m., from Comstock's undertaking rooms, and proceed to Lakefield for interment.

SAMUEL STEWART.

Samuel Stewart passed away yesterday after a short illness at his home in Otonabee, lot 17, con. 15. The deceased was a life long and highly respected resident of the township in which he lived. He was eighty-nine years of age. There are left to mourn his loss a widow, two sons and two daughters. The sons are J. R. and J. B. Stewart, both of Otonabee. The daughters are Mrs. R. R. Armstrong, of Melita, Manitoba, and Mary at home. Funeral will take place to-morrow at 2.30 from above residence to Little Lake cemetery.

YEARS OF SATISFACTION.

You'll find that the only bicycle Tire which will continuously satisfy you is the Dunlop Detachable. It has been conducting a "satisfaction" campaign since 1888.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CONCERT

Friday evening at the Opera House—Excellent Programme Under Auspices of St. Peter's T. A. S. Plan Now Open.

MADMAN KILLS HIS GUARD AND ESCAPES

Dangerous Lunatic Gets Away From Longue Pointe Asylum, Liberating Another Insane Man Before Leaving---Special Police Are Scouring the Country For Him.

Special Wire to The Examiner.

LONGUE POINTE ASYLUM, QUE., MARCH 16. — Although left by his keepers tightly strapped and manacled, Augusto Panneton, a dangerous lunatic, who was imprisoned because of his mania, for attempting to kill his father, a wealthy banker at Three Rivers, managed to get loose last Tuesday night. He killed a guard named Francis Dehine with a length of lead pipe concealed in the cellar. He then liberated another patient and together they got clear again. The Monks, who keep the asylum, tried to keep the matter quiet, but it leaked out to-day. Special police are scouring the country, which is in terror. 'Tis feared Panneton will make at once for Three Rivers to try to kill his father. Gadbois, who also escaped, is a brother-in-law of Hon. Tuffie Berthiame.

The Moran-McFarland Fight Clever Exhibition Chicago Boy's Margin

NEW YORK, MARCH 15.—A magnificent exhibition of scientific boxing enabled Packey McFarland to score a signal victory over Owen Moran, of England, in a 10-round bout at the Fairmont A. C. last night. A crowd that packed the building expected this result, but nobody looked for such a brilliant performance as that shown by the American.

McFarland's wonderful speed was chiefly responsible for his success. He was lightning in attack and defence. With an unerring left he jabbed Moran incessantly and scored the points so rapidly that Moran was, at times bewildered. Moran had wonderful strength and a hard wallop in either hand, but McFarland's defence was so invincible that very few effective blows were driven home.

When Moran found that he was out classed in scientific boxing he tried rushing and slugging, but McFarland knew how to checkmate him at this style. McFarland had the better of every round. The bout was purely one in which real science was displayed by both men.

In the sixth round McFarland forced the issue so persistently that Moran was driven into the ropes, where he fell from the force of apush, not a punch. McFarland had the Englishman beating a retreat under rapid fire tactics in the seventh round, and for a moment it looked as if something serious might happen. After that great boxing by McFarland carried him further to the front, and he won in a blaze of glory.

THE ALL STARS FAILED TO SHINE AT KINGSTON

KINGSTON, MARCH 15.—The junior Frontenacs defeated the All-Stars of the O. H. A. here to-night by a score of 18 to 5, with the half-time score standing 9 to 4 in favour of the champions. The Frontenacs started off bewildered, and for a few minutes it was anyone's game. The little chaps tallied five before the Stars had time to notice, two being scored direct from the face-off. The Stars' first goal was scored by Hunt of the Frontenacs. The Frontenacs' fine team work assisted them a great deal. The ice was in fine condition and the game was very fast all through.

Both teams played better and faster than at Toronto. The Stars endeavoured to make up for lost time but the Frontenacs checked harder than ever and almost succeeded in shutting the Stars out. In the last half they only made one goal to Frontenacs' nine. The teams:

All-Stars — Goal, Addison; point, Hefferman; cover, McBurnie; centre, McKenzie; rover, Crane; wings, Brown and Hill.

Frontenacs—Goal, Williams; point Davidson; cover, McCammon; centre, Hunt; rover, Brouse; wings, Millan and Boyer.

Referee—Harvey Sproule of Toronto.

KINGSTON WHIG WAS RILED OVER CRITICISM

The Kingston Whig man seems a little "riled" because the Examiner took him to task about making such a howl about the defeat of the Frontenacs at the hands of the All Stars. Anyway the Whig last night contains the following:

The Peterborough Examiner criticizes the Whig's report of the All-Star, Toronto, game, because the Whig objected to the rink lighting, etc. Well, nearly every Toronto paper had the same kick, and admitted freely that the Frontenacs were handicapped by the miserably poor lighting as well as soft ice. So that as the Peterborough scribe was probably not at the game, and the Toronto writers as well as the Whigman was, it looks as though the Examiner doesn't really know what it is talking about. Besides the Whig feels that the Examiner would be doing better work for hockey in general if it condemned the "big joke" rink on Mutual street, instead of coming to assist it by such language as that of yesterday's issue.

As a matter of fact just to show that other papers than the Examiner feel that such a spiel of hard luck was not called for as the Toronto Globe to-day quotes the same extract from the Whig as the Examiner cited, with the following comment:

The following is printed just to show how many excuses—none of them needed, as the champions did all that was expected of them—The Kingston Whig special artist can put into a single sentence.

NOMINATED AS BENCHER

Mr. E. A. Peck, of Peterborough has been nominated as a Bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada, the nominations for which closed yesterday. In all fifty-nine have been placed in the field, with thirty to be elected. Mr. W. E. Kerr of Cobourg, brother of Mr. F. D. Kerr is among the nominees.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Miss Macdonald's coming postponed one week.

Owing to a change in Miss Macdonald's Ottawa programme, her coming to Peterborough has been deferred one week. She will tell the interesting story of life in Japan on Sunday afternoon, March 26, at 4.15, and will also speak in the Y. W. C. A. drawing rooms on the following Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. McCullagh's Home Nursing Class at the Y.W.C.A. has been cancelled for this evening.

DIED IN THE GAOL

John Chesney, an Old Man Committed a Week Ago as Being Insane, Died Yesterday Afternoon

INQUEST TO-DAY

John Chesney, sixty-two years of age, who was committed to the county gaol on Thursday of last week as being insane, died in that institution yesterday and the coroner's jury empanelled by Coroner Dr. Greer as required in such cases, found this morning that death was due to paresis or paralysis of the insane.

The inquest was held in the gaol, with the following jury: C. Clement, foreman, Percy Doughty, Sam. Long, Ed. Finnie, Bert Cadigan, Myles Henry, Arthur Johnston, W. Edwards, Chas. Wesley, Cecil Smith, Archie Moore, Chris Wood.

H. Nesbitt, the gaoler, was the first witness. He testified that the deceased had been committed to the gaol on March 8th, 1911 as being insane. He was ill when he came and had been in a semi-unconscious condition ever since, being confined to his bed. A couple of prisoners had waited on the deceased, who had to be fed with a spoon. The witness was satisfied that he had had every care possible.

Dr. Caldwell, the gaol physician, testified that he had attended Chesney from the day after he was admitted until his death. The deceased was lying on the floor when the witness came and had gradually become more unconscious and weaker. Although he could not say definitely as to the cause of death, to the best of his knowledge he would put it down to paresis. He did not know whether the early history of the case would correspond with the diagnosis but it appeared to be paresis at the last. He had been informed that Chesney was a temperate living man and there was no reason to suppose there was any other disease. Coroner Dr. Greer explained to the jury that paresis was paralysis of the insane.

The jury brought in a verdict in a few minutes that death was caused by paresis.

PETERBORO' TO HAVE GREAT WHITE WAY

The Peterborough Light and Power Co., Ltd., Are Going to Install Twenty Electric Signs Free

Mr. C. E. Wilkes, general sales manager of the Holman Electric Sign Co. Ltd., and Mr. Julian Register, their advertising manager, are in the city and intend placing a great white way in our city.

The signs installed are to be the same in attractiveness and construction as those seen in the principal cities of America.

All kinds of novelty effects will be shown, each merchant will be given an exclusive design of his own. Effects such as a sky rocket shooting into the air and bursting into stars, a shoe forming lamps, streak of lightning, spinning top, fountains bubbling up as if real and other flashing effects that will make the streets a blaze of light.

Messrs. Wilkes and Register are greatly impressed with the progressive spirit shown by our merchants and expect to hear Peterborough spoken of soon as The Bright Spot in Canada.

The Peterborough Light and Power Co. Ltd. have contracted for 20 electric signs. They will be given to the first 20 merchants answering their ad. in this issue of the Examiner.

CURLING

Only one game in the Consolation series was played last night, the contending forces were represented by Messrs. Morrow and Neil. The score was 13-11 in favour of Skip Morrow. If weather conditions are favourable the bonspiel will in all probability be finished this week.

Don't miss seeing "The Man of the Hour" "Grand" to-night 1d63

If You Are Thinking of ELECTRIC SIGNS Consult Us. Every Style, Channel Letter, "Elexlume," Transparent, Etc., made to Flash or Otherwise. Sketches and Estimates Furnished. J. J. TURNER & SONS, SIGN DEPT.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending Jan. 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited. Office, 119 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1911

A SAFE WAY.

It is an axiomatic truism that nine-tenths, or a very large proportion, of accidents, fatal and otherwise, are, directly or indirectly, due to carelessness or a combination of carelessness and ignorance. In yesterday's despatches was reported the horrible death of a woman, due to the use of coal oil in lighting a fire. Carelessness or ignorance, led her to pour oil over a blazing fire from an oil tin, the blaze communicating with the contents of the tin with fatal results. If persons will use coal oil for such purposes, and with such results—and death and mutilation seem to serve for no warning—they should know that there is a safe way to use coal oil for lighting, or giving new life to, a fire. If in kindling a fire the housewife were to pour a spoonful or two in the ashes at the bottom of a grate, the ashes would not as a wick, and the oil would burn slowly and as safely as in a lamp. The kindling wood laid on this blaze would rapidly be lighted, with absolute safety and the use of very little oil. For brightening a sluggish fire, instead of holding a tin full of oil over a blaze, put a little oil in, say a baking powder tin and, if it must be done, pour over the sluggish fire — without danger; for there will not be enough body of oil, to cause an explosion or dangerous flash of flame. This may seem a trifling matter to discuss; but if the hints given will save a life or prevent serious burning, the discussion is amply justified; especially as carelessness and "didn't think" are responsible for the neglect of the most vitally, or rather, mortally important preventive precautions.

FIREMEN'S SALARIES.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the Toronto City Council have adopted the recommendation of a sub-committee proposing to increase the salaries of members of the Fire Department. It will be of local interest to reproduce the scale of advanced salaries decided upon:

District chiefs to commence at $1,700 per annum, with annual increases of $50 until a maximum of $2,000 be reached; captains to commence at $1,400, with annual increases of $50 and maximum of $1,600, lieutenants to commence at $1,100, with annual increase of $50, and maximum of $1,300; engineers of engines to have the same rank and pay as lieutenants; Chief Engineer of Engines to commence at $1,400, with annual increase of $50, and maximum of $1,600. Firemen to commence at $750 per annum, and be increased $100 annually until a maximum of $1,600 be reached. assistant engineers of engines to have same rank and pay as firemen.

The circumstance of Toronto thus dealing with the remuneration of its Fire Department, justifies reference to the salaries of corresponding civic officials in Peterborough. By a comparison one is forced to the conclusion that either Toronto firemen are shamefully overpaid, or Peterborough firemen are shamefully underpaid: and it does not require much thought to decide in favour of the latter conclusion.

The fireman the private—in Toronto, begins with a salary of $750, with $100 yearly increase to $1,000. Peterborough firemen begin with $500 per year, with an increase of $50 per year till the highest point, $575.00, is reached. Under the munificent increase of 7 1-7 cents per day, $25 a year is added to the above figures. Even at the increased figures the highest salary a Peterborough fireman can receive is $575—after three years' service—or $175 less than the raw recruit begins with in Toronto.

While economy in municipal expenditure is always desirable, there is such a thing as false economy, and at the same time, practising injustice as well as economy. The labourer is worthy of his hire, and the best servants and the most effective service cannot be expected from palpably underpaid, and inadequately remunerated civic service, handicapped with a sense of unjust treatment.

With our splendidly equipped Fire Department, its fullest usefulness cannot be realized without it is manned by the best possible membership. In this respect it seems to be false economy to pay wretchedly inadequate salaries, that will not retain the best qualified men or retain the average men long enough to permit him to acquire the highest possible efficiency. With constant changes it is impossible to secure and maintain a first-rate brigade. We have recently lost, or stand to lose, good men, who could not, and could not be expected to, resist the inducement of double the salary received in Peterborough.

So much, briefly, for the economic side. Will our City Council deny that it is injustice to remunerate firemen at a greatly smaller—almost half smaller—rate than other cities, or at a much smaller rate than is paid other workmen for less responsible service? The efficient fireman must be a man of pluck, activity, and ready resource. He is practically on duty twenty-four hours a day, and seven days in the week. The call to duty comes at all hours and in all weathers. The fireman is called upon to risk his health and even his life, in the discharge of his duty. He has a tremendous responsibility. The safety of valuable property and more valuable human lives, depends upon his promptitude and energy of service. We should not expect good men to devote their whole time to a difficult and dangerous service without adequate remuneration; and even the most rigid economist among the ratepayers will not say that our firemen are overpaid. If the City Council must practise economy, the last place in which cheese-paring methods should be applied is the Fire Department. It is in the public interest, in the interest of the safety of our property that the pay of firemen should be sufficient to attract and keep the best men. And it is not in the interest of the city's credit that Peterborough should have the name of having one of the best equipped fire departments, coupled with having the name of having the most shabbily paid fire brigade. No man would buy a $5,000 auto car and put it in the hands of a chauffeur, procured at the wages paid a stable-boy.

Last year there was destroyed in Canada property to the value of $23,600,000 or $2.87 for every man, woman and child in the Dominion. The fire loss last year in Peterborough was $18,588, or $1.08 cents per head of the city's population, a pretty effective evidence of the efficiency of Peterborough's Fire Department.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Galt Reporter threatens the Kingston Standard, whose editor takes an independent stand on reciprocity. It says, "Verily he will not get a big reward, if by any manner of means in his day and generation the Conservatives should acquire possession of the reins of office." The direst threat based on such a contingency loses a good deal of its virus.

In the supplementary estimates of the Ontario legislature, appears an item of $350, allowance to the daughters of the late Col. C. J. Baldwin, "in recognition" of their father having raised and equipped a regiment to serve in the rebellion ow 1837. It is fortunate that the grant is classified as "a resognition." If it had been intended to recoup the patriotic gentleman for his sacrifice, $350 is little enough, or the original expenditure was very small. Considering that 75 years have elapsed since 1837, and considering that at five per cent. compound interest, money doubles itself every twenty years, the $350, would represent an expenditure by Col. Baldwin of about $25 — to raise and equip his regiment. Countries are ungratefully slow in recognizing the services of their sons. Yesterday's despatches tell us that a veteran of the Fenian Raid of 1866, had just received his medal.

THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER AND THE CONSUMER.

(Lethbridge Herald)

There is another side to the British Columbia fruit corn story. Since the reciprocity arrangements were announced, it has been shouted from the housetops that the fruit industry of British Columbia would be ruined.

It would be a pity if such were to happen, but that the fruit men have the entire sympathy of the people of British Columbia in their attitude is disputed. A citizen of Kamloops says:

"Niagara fruit growers have been sympathizing with their brethren of British Columbia in the impending ruin that is to take place should reciprocity between Canada and the United States carry.

"The sympathy of Niagara fruit-growers is lost on their brethren of the West. They had better extend it to the unfortunate who have to buy. I have lived for a number of years in the heart of British Columbia fruit country namely, Kamloops. During all these years I have paid from $2.25 to $2.75 per case of twenty-four boxes for preserving strawberries. For apples we pay from $1.25 to $2 per box of forty pounds, which is equal to from $5 to $8 per barrel.

"Martin Burrell, M.P., has been telling you of the East that reciprocity is going to ruin the fruit-growers of British Columbia.

"What are the actual facts to-day? Is it not that Oregon, Idaho and Washington have wrested from California the fruit trade of their own and neighbouring states? If Oregon and Washington have succeeded without protection why cannot British Columbia? Are not Mr. Burrell and his fellow British Columbians the equals of any to be found in either Washington, Idaho, or Oregon? Has fruit-growing been a success in the above states? If we are to judge by the price of fruit lands there it is decidedly so. Land that could be purchased fifteen years ago for less than $5 an acre is now selling for $1,000 an acre and upwards. That is equal to anything that I have heard of in British Columbia under protection."

There is enough argument there to keep the B.C. fruit-growers busy for a while.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

The title of this article just about summarises, as well as could be put into sentence, the most illuminative statement which was made to the House of Commons last night by Hon. Frank Oliver, the Minister of the Interior, in his presentation of immigration, which is, after all, the most interesting record of all our national statements, because it is the one which means both dollars and men and women (and in this case the dollars take second place.)

The Minister of the Interior, who we always a business man, from the days when he helped the oxen to take his goods across the prairies to the "promised land," has had enough experience to know that it pays to advertise.

And there is just this to be said about it. If Frank Oliver were about thirty years younger he would be the greatest personal advertiser of western Canada who could be found. But fortunately he was caught while he was young and he has come back to Ontario (and not only to Ontario, but to the rest of the world) with the message that he has the best and the last west to offer to the landseekers of the world, and, incidentally, he admits that most of his success as an administrator is in proving that when he has a good thing to advertise he knows how to advertise it well.

Mr. Oliver's statement was in itself so clear that no comment is needed by a Canadian newspaper; but it might not be impropos to cite the opinion of an Albany, N.Y., journal, which declares:—

Three hundred and eighty thousand dollars were spent by the Dominion of Canada last year in advertising its resources and the publicity attracted 71,000 Americans (not counting an equal number from the other countries of the world) who transferred the scene of their industrial activities from the United States to the provinces of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta. Canada hopes with additional advertising this year to land 100,000 Americans as against the 71,000 she got last year.

A conservative estimate places the amount of money taken into Canada by the 71,000 Americans who located there at $40,000,000. As the Dominion spent only $380,000 to get them there, the investment appears to have been a good one. If 100,000 Americans go to Canada this year they will take at least $50,000,000 with them.

Any man who is worth anything at all is a valuable asset to any country in need of development, and Canada is going after the men who are worth something. The immigration is being directed to millions of acres of idle land and the Dominion is making its appeal to sturdy, ambitious, young farmers who know what to do with the land when they file on a quarter section. They are the sort of men the United States cannot afford to lose. It will be a long time before their places can be filled by the raw, ignorant immigrants who are coming to this country from the four quarters of the earth, for these immigrants will have to adjust themselves to new conditions and that, of course, will require time.

The success Canada is having in attracting immigration from the United States is another illustration of the value of advertising. The moral is obvious.

And it can do no harm to add that what is true in international advertising is also true in domestic business—If you have the goods, advertise them; and get results.

The Canadian Government knew it had the goods; it advertised; and it got the people.

THREE SWALLOWS"

Sir John Power and Son's "Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey—Famous for over a century.

Of highest standard of purity.

Distillers to His Majesty the King.

Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

(VIPOND)

We advised the purchase of this stock at 25c. We still advise its purchase at present market price. Work is proving this a MINE, not a prospect. :: :: :: :: ::

GORMALY TILT & CO.

MEMBERS STANDARD STOCK EXCHANGE

Long Distance Phone, Main 7505 32-34 Adelaide St. East, TORONTO

"Tay Pay's" Tale Of High Feeling In British House Of Commons

London, March 11.—(T. P. O'Connor, Nationalist M.P.)) "This was expected to be a week off in parliament as the veto bill had been postponed and all the excitement which it creates for the moment was suspended. The ministry, in addition, was compelled to call a halt by the necessity of getting a vote on the budget and appropriations.

"Every member of parliament thus anticipated a pleasant and quiet little interval during which they could safely visit their homes on the seashore, but the intense passion which now stirs England everywhere to its depths made all of these calculations miscarry. The week wound up with one of the most prolonged sittings of the last two years.

"The Tories never forgot the veto bill, and played for time every moment of the session. They have organized a filibustering campaign against all of the government business, and never allow even the most trivial proposal to pass unchallenged, and, in order to further exasperate the situation and waste time, their speakers throw across the floor of the house of commons epithets of insult at the ministers and all their opponents.

"The absence of Premier Asquith, who has gone to visit his sick daughter, and the fact that Lloyd George is compelled to take a further vacation because of the obstinancy of the malady in his throat, threw the leadership of the Liberals in the commons into the hands of Winston Churchill. This helped to bring an extraordinary scene in which the week culminated. Young audacious and aggressive, Churchill drove the Tories to fury and insisted on applying to them the most drastic form of closure and demanded that the budget bill should be pushed through by any means and at any hour.

Scenes of Violence.

"This resulted in scenes of great violence in a sitting which beginning about 3 o'clock on one afternoon did not end till 10.30 the next day. There were moments when passion ran so high as to threaten an outburst of physical violence between the members of the different parties, but the characteristic English good sense and love of fun and the absence of vindictiveness came to the rescue and the sitting passed off without any violence except in speeches.

"The leaders of the Irish party, even the oldest among them, sat through the night rallying and encouraging the Liberal ranks and thus saved the Liberals several times from defeat or from such small majorities as would amount almost to defeat.

"The ministerial majority ranged from sixty to seventy throughout the night, but without the Irish members this majority would have descended six or seven, which, in such a critical and passionate time might have amounted to a disastrous blow to the ministerial prestige and the great campaign against the house of lords.

Bitter Fight Ahead.

"The Tories, in season, and out of season, make violent remarks on Ireland and the Irish members in pursuance of their settled policy of a concentrated campaign against the government and the veto bill and on Home Rule. Though the home rule move has lost most of its old terrors for the English masses, it is evident the fight will be extremely bitter in the next three years, and the house of commons must have the fiercest, most prolonged and most devastating fight for two generations. Already the number of public men on the sick list is unprecedented, and more will be added every month.

"But the situation still remains without a cloud on the Liberal and Irish horizon, and these fierce attacks by the Tories reveal the desperation of their fortunes. It is a prospect of grim, prolonged and exhausting fight, and probably the mortality in the house of commons in the next three years will mount to high figures, but Ireland is worth it all. A little personal episode was added to the fight when Miss Joanna Redmond won big success. She was given an unbroken chorus of applause by all parties and all papers.

Churchill's Rise.

"Something is happening in the attitude of the British public to Winston Churchill, which is not sufficiently described by the statement that he is making great progress in political reputation. The change is larger and more subtle. It would be described correctly as meaning that Mr. Churchill is beginning to be better understood more correctly. As to this gradual change in the attitude of the public and especially of the house of commons public, toward the mental qualities of Mr. Churchill, it is beginning to regard him less as a swashbuckler and more as a great, original, and profound political thinker."

The Dennistoun Property

We have received exclusive sale of the R. M. Dennistoun property, with frontage on George and Water streets. This is an opportunity for intending builders to secure good lots in fine locations at very Moderate Prices. Also double house on Aylmer street bringing in a rental of about $40.00 per month. This will go cheap. Four Lots on the west side of the city at quick sale prices.

As Mr. Dennistoun is now permanently located in Winnipeg all of the above property will be sold at prices that should insure quick sale.

CALL AT OUR OFFICE. we will be glad to give all information regarding the above property.

Easy Terms can be Arranged on Any of the Above Property

A. BROWN & CO.

PHONE 126 406 GEORGE ST.

LOST

LOST—A WEEK AGO, A YELLOW COLLIE pup about 10 months old. Will finder please leave at Munro House, Peterborough or Examiner Office. 3d-62-4286

LOST—ON SATURDAY NIGHT A SMALL black purse containing $16 60 either on Aylmer, Bethune or Hunter St. Finder leave at Examiner. 3d-62-4286

LOST — DARK BLUE PURSE CONtaining money and keys, between Simcoe and Sherbrooke Sts. on George St. Reward by returning same to Examiner Office. 3d61-4267

EDUCATIONAL

STATION AGENTS COURSE OUTLINed and illustrated in New Booklet. Write for it. Central Telegraph and Railroad School, Yonge and Gerrard Streets, Toronto. William Shaw, President. d-t,t,s,-Mar. 31

AGENTS WANTED

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR THE BEST PREMIUM proposition in Canada, one that appeals to everyone apply to Sellery Advertising Dept., 223 Albert St., Ottawa. d6mo20-3694

SITUATIONS VACANT

LIVE MAN OR WOMAN WANTED FOR work at home, paying $2.00 to $3.00 per day with opportunity to advance. Spare time can be used. Work not difficult and requires no experience. Winston Limited, Spadina Avenue, Toronto. 12d-57-3918

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $120 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1739, Lockport N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Heacock, B 1639, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 139

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.

208 Charlotte Street

Next to the Curling Rink

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

Electric Light, Heat & Power, Electric Bell & Annunciator.

Installations at Reasonable Rates

Let us quote on your motor installed ready to operate. Expert advice free

J. A. ASH

142 George Street South

MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

House Phone No. 799

D-tf-56-4167

A. Brown & Co.

406 GEORGE STREET

Headquarters for all kinds of

Real Estate

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,

d-tf On the Premises

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash prices will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a line by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED, APPLY Examiner.

WANTED KITCHEN PORTER FOR National Hotel. 3d-63-4305

WANTED — EXPERIENCED SALESMAN for our staple Department. Richard Hall & Son, Ltd. 4d-62-4284

WORK WANTED

DRESS AND MANTLE MAKER NOW ready to receive orders at 170 Perry St. 3d-62-4304

SITUATION WANTED—POSITION AS nurse to invalid, or housework in country. Apply Examiner. 3d61-4266

WANTED—BY AN ELDERLY WOMAN, A position as a mother's help, or a competent seamstress. Apply at Oriental Hotel. 3d-62-4294

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET. Apply Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. d1f-24

TO RENT—FURNISHED ROOM WITH OR without board. Apply 380 Stewart St. $1.63-4300

TO RENT—MODERN BRICK HOUSE WITH all conveniences, very central. Apply 417 Stewart Street. Phone 1209. 3d-62-4290

TO RENT, MODERN HOUSE, 129 RUBIDGE Street. Also Market Garden. Apply 161 Hunter Street or Phone 1231. d1f-55-4196

TO RENT—House No. 344 Rubidge St. Hot Water heating and all modern improvements. Possession 15th March. Apply 437 George Street. d-1f-46.

TO RENT- SMALL HOUSE FITTED WITH electric light. The house is centrally located and has a good garden for vegetables. For particulars apply 183 Antrim Street. d-1f-57-4221

FLAT TO RENT.—Flat of seven rooms with all conveniences, suitable for roomers, cor, Aylmer and Charlotte streets, very central. Apply Dr. Robinson's Livery, Charlotte street. 3d-62-4289

TO RENT—Store and Upper Floor in Grand Opera House Block. Would make first-class Music Store or any other suitable business. Also a good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator. Cor. McDonald & Aylmer Sts. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Awning & Tent Manufacturers, George Street, Peterborough. d-1f-46-4063

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED — FIRST CLASS MANTLE maker. Apply 384 Water St. 3d61-4276

WANTED—A GOOD KITCHEN GIRL apply to Munro House. 3d61-4277

WANTED MACHINE OPERATORS ON waists and aprons. Gemmel & Company. 2d-63-4311

WANTED—GIRL EXPERIENCED IN DRY Goods as saleslady. Apply 166 Simcoe St. d-1f-59-4239

WANTED—AT ONCE, HOUSEKEEPER. Elderly person preferred. Apply Examiner Office. 3d-62-4298

WANTED—GOOD GENERAL SERVANT. Apply Mrs. A. H. Stratton, 375 Park Street. 3d-62-4287

WANTED—AT ONCE, EXPERIENCED general servant. Highest wages. Apply 459 Hunter Street. d-1f-49-4245

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected. Parties arriving March 13th, 20th, and April 2nd. Apply now. The Guild 71 Drummond St., Montreal, or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. 1md-56-4190

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—HOUSE, 300 PEARL AVE., also vacant lot adjoining. d1f-18-3970

FOR SALE—GOOD COLLIE DOG, NINE months old. 478 Mark Street. 2d-62-4302

FOR SALE—AT ONCE, BRICK HOUSE, conveniences, apply 59 Aylmer Street. 12d-60-4258

FOR SALE — A NORTHEY STEAM PUMP. Size of connections ¾ inch. Apply to G. A. Gillespie, Simcoe street. d11&wtf

FOR SALE—TWO BEDS, TWO STOVES and a few other articles of household furniture. Apply 66 James St. 4d-62-4296

FOR SALE — A HULL FOR MOTOR boat, 24 feet by 5 feet wide made of Cypress, new. May be seen at 231 George Street. 3d61-4295

FOR SALE—SOLID BRICK TEN ROOMED house, hot water heating, modern conveniences, exceptional residential location. cor. Weller & Walton. Apply 529 Weller St. 5d-tst-63-4315

FOR SALE — THE RESIDENCE OF THE late Dr. Grey, No. 335 Sherbrooke street. All improvements. Hot water heating, good barn. Apply W. C. Stabler, 350 Water street. 4f6

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE — A CASH Register, in good condition, registering from 5 cents to $1.00; or will exchange for one registering from 1 cent up. Can be seen at the Examiner Office tf-605

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 194 Rubidge street. d1f-129 6m

Chanberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.

Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting, Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

Further Particulars From

J. H. VANCE

773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

NOTICE TO

Builders and Workmen

With a view to Meeting the Demands for Houses Suitable for the Average Mechanic

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Submit the following proposition to the Builders and Working Men of Peterboro. We will supply a Builder with a choice lot within 12 minutes walk of the C.G.E., the Shovel Works or the Cordage Factory at a maximum price of $150, lot to be paid for when a house constructed thereon has been sold. No interest or taxes for a period of one year provided house is not sold or rented within that time.

Any boy, girl, man or woman, can secure a choice lot in this section for $150 on terms of $10 cash and $5 per month.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter St. Phone 376

LAMEY & COSTELLO

Real Estate Brokers

631 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.

Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

WORKING PEOPLE

SHOULD OWN THEIR HOMES

With Garden and Fruit, Large or Small

It gives pleasant and profitable employment during spare time and saves many dollars for other necessities.

The rent, sober, honest and industrious people are paying will buy a home for you on my easy terms, as it has done for others now comfortably settled in homes of their own, of which they are perfectly proud and some can already show their deeds including a lone widow, while many more pretentious can only show rent receipts. Come in and let me explain my easy plan.

Large and small garden and fruit lots for sale or to rent.

T. HURLEY

282 Hunter St., Peterboro

2m

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $60,000 per year; net profit on this amount 25 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited

Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

HOUSE For Sale

An up-to-date BRICK HOUSE with all conveniences, water, gas, electric light & furnace, situated in the west end of the city. Lot, fifty foot frontage with lane at rear. A very fine property. Particulars at Examiner Office :: ::

1md57-4220

DO YOU NEED A TYPEWRITER?

We are in a position to furnish you with Any Standard make of typewriter.

Machines bought, sold or exchanged.

Old machines taken on account.

Typewriters rented.

Peterborough Typewriter and Supply Co'y

159 SIMCOE PHONE 655

Millinery Opening

Friday and Saturday March 17th and 18th

The sun with the wonderful powers of its alchemy, first brings out upon the earth a beautiful background of green, and then with gorgeous and harmonious tints, paints a picture that the hand of man has never yet been able to equal. The greatest artist is the one who comes nearest to nature.

To be a successful milliner, you require the artistic frame of mind, not only harmony of colors and shades, but also the tout ensemble de poise. The face, figure and poise have all to be considered.

Almost anyone can put a hat together; but my, what a difference. How often you hear, "How Is It That Mrs. So and So Always Looks So Distinguished"? This is where the real artist of millinery comes in. We have a millinery artist who has made a rare success of her work. She loves her work as only an artist can, and has a true artist's perception of its possibilities. Don't spoil your costume with an ordinary hat when you can get the artistic effect at no greater cost.

Two Days, Mar. 17 and 18. Miss Noble, Head Milliner

On Friday and Saturday we will exhibit as usual all the new styles, but Saturday Evening will be more particularly set aside for those ladies whose engagements prevent them from coming during the day.

Second Ready-to-wear Opening March 17th and 18th

Many new styles have been opened out since last week including a larger variety of Spring Suits, Dresses, Tailored Blouses, etc.

We make suits a specialty—we will make them to your measure or alter them to your figure. We excel in fitting.

MRS. RUSSELL IN CHARGE

When shopping don't fail to take home one of our New Irish Songs for the 17th

ELLIOT'S

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

WIT Hthe approach of the magic twenty-first that gives us the right to consider winter over, whatever the thermometer may try to tell us, our minds may turn, as a sunflower toward the sun, toward the new season. summer clothes, summer food and summer fun, and, of course, summer vacations replace our winter thoughts.

It seems to me that to a great many young people who are not fortunate enough to have summer homes the summer vacation is a decided problem.

Especially to those of us who have very tired minds and bodies, a scant two weeks to rest them in for the next fifty weeks of strain, and pathetically slender purses with which to accomplish this miracle.

We MUST have rest. We WANT fun and a jolly time. And we simply CAN'T spend a great deal of money.

What then are we going to do with these two weeks?

Now, why can't we help each other?

Why can't you people write and tell me of some especially unique and interesting or restful vacation which you, a girl of moderate means, have taken and let me pass the idea on to your sisters?

I know two girls who have planned a rather unique excursion for this summer. One of them owns a horse and a runabout, and so, instead of spending a lot of money for board at some fashionable summering place, they are going to put a few simple clothes and a few good books in a suit case, and with these and the spirit of adventure and determination to have a good time which is indispensable for any good vacation, fare forth some fine June morning on a two weeks' driving trip.

They have planned a trip which will take them through some beautiful country. They will stop occasionally at friends' homes and spend the other nights at country inns.

Have you ever taken or are you planning some such unique little trip?

If you have, tell us about it.

Or tell us about the best vacation you ever had and what feature made it so.

It may be some feature that others could incorporate into their vacations.

I don't want you to write over two hundred words, but I do want you, if you can possibly think of some good vacation idea to share, to consider the fun you got out of it an obligation to pass it on.

Ruth Cameron

SPRING GOODS

We are glad to announce that all our Spring goods in

READY-TO-WEARS

for Ladies and Gentlemen are ready for your inspection, and we will be delighted to show our lines.

High grade Men's Suits, Spring Coats, Ladies' Suits, Skirts, Separate Coats, Dresses, Blouses, etc.

We assure all our customers that we will give them most up-to-date styles and good values, better than ever.

See our Big Leader in LADIES' SUITS for $11.00. Best ever offered in City

HOUSE FURNISHINGS all complete for Spring now—Oilcloths, Linoleums, Lace Curtains, Tapestry Curtains, Carpets, Rugs of various sorts and sizes.

For Cash or Credit at

Knickerbocker Co

CREDIT CLOTHIERS

TELEPHONE 711 422 GEORGE STREET

The End of His Rope

A Story of a Fortune Hunter in the Swiss Alps

By F. A. MITCHEL

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Interlaken, in the Swiss Alps, is a central point for tourists for making excursions either into the neighboring valleys or on to the mountains. The town, which is simply a cluster of hotels with a casino, is built on a plain between two lakes, deriving its name from its location, each lake about ten or a dozen miles long and about a mile wide. To the south of these lakes rise the peaks of the Bernese Alps—the Eiger, Jungfrau, Monch and others. From Interlaken a cog railway carries tourists up steep inclines to Grindelwald, Scheidig, and thence down to Lauterbrunnen. From Lauterbrunnen one may be swung up by cable several thousand feet to Murren, where a near view can be obtained of the surrounding group of mountains.

One summer some tourists started on the cog railway for Scheidig, from whence the men of the party intended to attempt to climb the Jungfrau. The cog railway now extends farther up the mountain, but at that time one could travel by rail no farther than Scheidig. In this party were Miss Delia Denton of New York and Mr. Archie Pendleton of Chicago. Miss Denton was an heiress, while Mr. Pendleton was a young lawyer of moderate means who had but recently been admitted to the bar.

Touring in Europe affords every facility for lovemaking, and Pendleton had availed himself of the opportunity to woo Miss Denton. He seemed about to secure the prize when a young Britisher, heir to an earldom, came upon the scene, and it became a tie between him and the American. Pendleton had the mortification and disappointment to see his suit held up by nothing more or less than a title. Worse than this, from the time Lord Boyingham entered the contest for Miss Denton's hand he treated the Chicagoan with that towering superiority which has made John Bull unpopular with all other races.

There are hotels at Scheidig, and it had been arranged that the ladies of the party should put up at one of them while the men made the attempt upon the mountain. There were three men intending to go up, but one of them, becoming fearful of his heart's action in the thin air even at Scheidig, decided not to risk a higher altitude. This left Boyingham and Pendleton the only ones to go except the guides. There were two guides, armed with axes and alpenstocks, one for each end of the little procession.

When the party left their friends standing on the porch of the hotel both Boyingham and Pendleton looked back at Miss Denton, each for a goodby. Boyingham was elated, Pendleton depressed, for the smile she bestowed on the former had an evident meaning in it, while the one she gave Pendleton conveyed nothing more than good will. The men moved off, encouraged by a cheer from those who remained, and were soon lost by a turn in their path taking them around the side of the first mountain.

It was 10 o'clock when the climbers started, and the day was fine. Through a telescope on the porch they were watched, being occasionally seen like a dotted line far up on the mountain side. About noon the weather began to thicken, with frequent snow flurries, and they were visible no longer.

It was nearly night when two of the party, Lord Boyingham and one of the guides, Hans Dyckman, returned, their blanched faces and agitation denoting there had been an accident.

"Where are the others?" asked a clamor of voices in tones of dread.

"Lost, I fear," said Boyingham.

At that moment Delia Denton joined those about the returned climbers and, hearing Boyingham's words, staggered.

"What has happened?" asked all at once.

"Tell them, Hans," said Boyingham.

"The snow covered our way," said Hans, "and getting on was difficult. We were crossing a ridge. Brouwer was in advance, with Mr. Pendleton next, his lordship third and I fourth, all bound together by the rope. Brouwer and Mr. Pendleton had crossed and were cutting steps in the ice on the other side. Something, we know not what, gave way on the other side, and we felt a jerk on the rope. It had broken between Brouwer and Mr. Pendleton. His lordship was on the edge of the divide. Presently there was another jerk. Mr. Pendleton went down, and his lordship fell back, I catching him in my arms."

"But the others!" exclaimed the excited listeners. "How far did they fall? Were they killed?"

"That we don't know," replied the guide. "It was snowing, and we could not see a dozen yards. We concluded to return for ropes, go back and as soon as it is light tomorrow make an investigation. They have provisions and flasks of liquor, and if they are not killed we may save them."

At moment the landlord took up the end of the rope that had been severed between Boyingham and Pendleton and scrutinized it. Presently he dropped it and went away.

"Why did you examine that rope?" asked a guest.

"To see if it had been broken."

"Well?"

"It was broken. The end was frayed."

About midnight a party, provided with such paraphernalia as were necessary to their purpose, made ready to start in quest of the missing guide and Pendleton. Lord Boyingham declared that there was no use in attempting to reach them; that he had looked down into a crevasse several hundred feet deep, into which he was sure they had fallen. He declined to go back with the party, making an excuse that he had been so "cut up" by the accident and the loss of the two men that he would be of no use in the rescue. Since no one was wanted in the party who could not assist it was deemed best for him to remain in the hotel.

The party started about 1 o'clock. They could travel over a known path till nearly dawn, which would bring them near the scene of the accident as soon as it was light enough to see to what depths the men had fallen. Fortunately the weather had changed, and shortly after 2 o'clock a gray streak appeared in the cloudless east. The party consisted of a Mr. Bowers, an American stopping at the hotel where the excursionists had put up, two porters and Dyckman leading the way.

About half past 2 they reached the ridge where the accident had occurred, and Bowers, taking the advance, climbed it, sitting on it with a leg on either side. Looking down, he saw that the tourists must have fallen into a gap, but how deep it was he could not tell. The rest of the party, being informed of what he was about to do, all advanced, he descending to an icy ledge not far below. The men in falling must have struck this ledge and, unable to stop themselves, had slid into the gap.

When all had crossed the last man threw the coils of rope over to them, and Bowers volunteered to be lowered to discover whether the men could be found and whether they were dead or alive. A rope was placed around his body, and, a code of signals having been arranged, he was let down. When he had gone some forty feet, the rope slackening, it was evident that he had struck bottom. He was then heard to call, and a faint response came up. He signaled to be raised and, reaching the party, said that the gap was filled with soft snow; that he had called and received an answer. When being raised he looked for the owner of the voice and saw him some fifty feet away. The point from which he had been lowered being altered to meet the new conditions, he went down again with another rope. Presently a signal was given on each of these ropes, and Bowers and Brouwer were both hauled up. Brouwer was well nigh gone, but was able to point out where Pendleton could be found, the two having conversed after their fall.

Bowers again went down with an extra rope and struck Pendleton lying apparently unconscious, though if Bowers had not been immediately over him he would not have seen him, so deeply buried was he in the snow. Then Bowers and Pendleton were both drawn up, Pendleton showing no sign of life. But glass being placed over his mouth showed moisture, and the party, going to work on him with a will, pouring down liquor at the same time, finally revived him.

Neither of the men had been injured by their fall into the snow. They were on the eve of perishing by cold. As soon as they were able to proceed the party descended to Scheidig.

Great was the rejoicing at the hotel when the two men who had been considered lost appeared walking with their rescuers down the mountain.

When they came up to the porch it was crowded with people cheering and waving to them. Then some one asked, "Where's Lord Boyingham?" An attendant replied: "His lordship went down to Interlaken an hour ago. He received a telegram calling him away."

The meeting between Pendleton and Delia Denton was far different from their parting. The title that had tempted her had shriveled since it must be taken with a man who was at once dishonorable and a coward. Not only that, but the accident had revealed to her her own heart. The belief that Pendleton had been killed gave her a shock that surprised her. One glance from Pendleton at the woman he loved told him that he had won.

When something of the excitement had subsided the landlord asked Pendleton to come into a private room. The rope with which the climber had started the day before was still about his waist. The landlord took up the end and, looking at it, threw it from him.

"What is it?" asked Pendleton.

"It was cut," was the reply in a scathing tone. "The dog feared you would drag him over and cut you off. Before his return he frayed the edge by rubbing it between stones."

Pendleton was thunderstruck. The landlord continued:

"His lordship wrote a telegram to himself stating that his mother was dying. He did it for an excuse to get away and left before your return. He dared not face your end of the rope."

"Keep it to yourself," said Pendleton after a moment's thought.

Pendleton kept the secret till a few years later he heard the Britisher was trying again to marry an American fortune, when he sent his lordship an order to keep off, an order that was speedily obeyed.

Delia Denton did not know the secret till she had been Mrs. Pendleton several years.

"GRAND" TO-NIGHT

The Greatest of American Dramas "The Man of the Hour" with Felix Haney as Alderman Phelan 1d63

Fear of the Tree.

The first experiments in tree planting in London were sternly discouraged. A. D. Webster tells us in Town Planting that when London built his house in Porchester terrace, Bayswater—this was in the thirties—he planted a sumac by the side of the path opposite. The action was met by prompt and triumphant opposition on the part of the district surveyor, whose complaint was that it was "likely to shade the pathway and keep it damp." In the end the tree had to go.

Proper Chills.

"I've had cold chills running over me all day," the thin man complained.

"You ought to be glad of that," said his heartless friend.

"I don't think I understand you. Why should I be glad?"

"Oh, well, you know, it is quite an ordinary thing to have cold chills. There's no cause for alarm. Just think what an extraordinary thing it would be if you should have hot chills running over you."—New York Press.

Not a Success.

Sawyer—Twistler has invented a combination broom that can be used for a cane, a trapeze, a rolling pin, a billiard cue, a lawn mower handle and a wooden leg. Gearing—He ought to make money with a broom like that. Sawyer—He could if he only knew how to adjust the blamed thing so it would sweep.—Chicago News.

As It Impressed Him.

"How about the Nile? Great, eh?"

"Yes. As I remember it took up several pages in the guidebook."—Washington Herald.

STIGMA OF RESPECTABILITY.

People Who Continuously Prate About Being Extra Superfine.

Can anything worse be said about any people in these days than that they are respectable? Nothing that we can think of, except to say that they are eminently respectable.

To be respectable implies so much that is utterly undesirable and alien to our ideals that it almost always produces a shudder.

When a man has tried everything else and failed he then becomes respectable.

Respectability is in itself a badge of the commonplace, which, from the standpoint of society, is the unpardonable sin.

To be respectable implies that you may be honest, not necessarily that you are honest, because you may possibly be using your respectability as a cloak. The probability is that you are not doing this, however, as most people would rather be caught dishonest than to have the name of being respectable.

A respectable man is almost always hopeless. He is blind to his own condition.

The chances are that you cannot educate him out of it.

But there is always hope for every human soul.

For example, if, unconsciously, without realizing his danger, he has drifted into being respectable and is thoroughly ashamed of it he may be saved. Helping hands should immediately be extended to him. Life preservers and poker chips and rum bottles should be thrown at him. And the probability is that he will swim ashore.

But if he once admits that he is respectable he is lost.

Jails ought to be used exclusively to harbor respectable people, where they wouldn't be constantly boring us to death.

One reason why so much wickedness is perpetrated is because there are so many respectable people around, maddening others with their presence.—Life.

The highest liberty is in harmony with the highest law.—Giles.

SEE BELOW BIRTHDAY MATINEE SEE BELOW

Grand Opera House - Saturday, March 18th

The Famous Bow-Wow Minstrels

40—PEOPLE—40. JOLLY DOGS ALL OF THEM

6—FUNNY END MEN—6. 10—BIG NOVELTY ACTS—10

See "The Kellys" and their Funny Wooden Head Family.
——You'll Laugh, You'll Holler, You'll Scream——

PRICES—Matinee, Children 15c; Adults, 25c.
Evening—Any Seat Reserved, 50c. Gallery, 25c

SEE BELOW FOR BIRTHDAY CONTEST

You Must Use this Card, Filling in Space Below. If you use anything else your Name will not be Considered.

SOMEBODY HAS GOT TO WIN. WHY NOT YOU?

PRIZE $2.50 IN GOLD

Write your name, day and month of your Birth on this card. Deposit same as you enter, in a box, which will be at the Opera House door for receiving these. The management have set down a certain day and month and to the boy or girl who was born on the corresponding day and month the prize of $2.50 in gold will be given. If there should be more than one the amount will be equally divided between them. Should there be no one born on the particular date, the one nearest to it will be awarded the prize.

BE SURE AND WRITE NEATLY AS ONLY THOSE WHICH ARE NEATLY WRITTEN WILL BE CONSIDERED

Use This Space

For Name day and month of your birth

SPRING Shoes

This is a Patent Corona Colt, button with black cloth top. One of this season's smartest styles.

We are showing many exclusive novelties. Splendid workmanship, fine materials, perfect fit assured always.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 GEORGE STREET

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL
Oak Hall Drug Store
Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

LASTING PHOTOS

An evidence of the superior quality of our work is the fadeless quality we produce. We would like to show you photographs that have been exposed to sunlight for long periods without the slightest affect.

The Lendrum Studio
170 Charlotte Street

Omemee Items Of Interest

Special to The Examiner

OMEMEE, MARCH 15.—Mrs. R. J. Mulligan left on Saturday to join her mother and sisters in Atlantic City, where they will remain for some time.

Mrs. H. Earle and Miss Edith Robinson were in Peterborough last Tuesday.

Mr. Ed. Morgan has sold his farm to Mr. McConnell of Springville. Mr. Morgan leaves the last of this month for Saskatchewan, where he has a fine homestead.

Miss Hazel Cannon left for her home in Welcome on Friday, after spending two weeks here, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. M. McCrea.

The L. B. A. C. were entertained at an oyster supper, held at the home of Mrs. Ed. Morgan, on Thursday evening. A pleasant time was spent in music and games, after which the guests sat down to a dainty supper. Before leaving they all wished Mr. and Mrs. Morgan "bon voyage" to their new home.

Rev. D. Balfour of Queen street church, Lindsay, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday in the interest of missions. Mr. Balfour gave two eloquent and stirring discourses, presenting the missionary cause in a clear, vivid manner.

While in Omemee Mr. Balfour and his daughter were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Connell.

Miss Addie Adams of Lindsay spent Sunday in town.

The Misses Nichols of the Peterborough Normal School, spent the week-end at their home here.

On Friday evening a concert and social was held at the Lebanon Methodist church. A splendid programme was given, which was much enjoyed. Considering the bad state of the roads the social was a decided success.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Sam. Connell is ill again and trust he will have a speedy recovery.

Mr. Will Gallagher, of Peterborough, was in town over Sunday.

Miss Parrott returned on Saturday to resume her duties in Mr. Chas. Ivory's dressmaking establishment.

The saying that spring and tramps come together, can be verified here. Free lodging was given to five tramps on Saturday night in the 'guest room' of the village.

Miss Jennie McConnell, of the Peterborough Normal school, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents.

Mrs. Ed. Morgan was in Lindsay on Saturday.

Miss Gladys Henderson has taken a position as clerk in Chas. Ivory's store.

Miss Hazel Adams, of Lindsay, is visiting her uncle, Mr. R. J. Mulligan.

Master Foy Connell was in Peterborough on Saturday.

Rev. R. Burns occupied the pulpit of Queen street church, Lindsay, on Sunday.

The two wild ducks which have remained on the river near the mill all winter, have attracted a great deal of attention.

MULCTED $2

Lakefield Man Found His Thirst Was Expensive

Frank Freeburn, of Lakefield, blew into the city yesterday and got a little too much of the cup that cheers, with the result that he was arrested and charged in the police court this morning with being drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $2.00 by His Worship Magistrate Dumble.

See the Pure Silk Ties in J T C. Lang & Co's window. Best quality and newest style. Regular 50c, special while they last 35c. 3d62

Our Formal Opening Display Of Spring Millinery is Announced

For Friday and Saturday, March 17th and 18th

This fixed event of this store, and the one always looked forward to with interest and expectancy, by the women of Peterboro, is of more than usual importance this season, mainly because it is the formal display of the new season and because of the extensive preparations which have been made to make it a noteworthy occasion in every sense of the word.

Carefully, tastefully chosen stocks of the very newest and most favoured models of the season have been assembled for this important Fashion occasion. Here you will find a vivid portrayal of the styles which have been decreed as absolutely correct for Spring wearing. Our broad, satisfying assemblage of models embraces the small turban trimmed with but a single rose, to the large picture hat, gracefully draped with an exquisitely beautiful Willow Plume.

We cordially invite you to visit this important display and assure you, you will find much of interest, and that the display will help you wonderfully in making a satisfying selection.

In connection with important Fashion Events, we shall also make Elaborate Displays of Ready-to-Wear Apparel Dress Fabrics and Housefurnishings.

The stocks assembled in these above mentioned lines have been given the same critical care in selection as that given our Millinery Department. Our experience and your preferences have been combined to its very highest degree in selecting these Spring stocks and we feel confident you will be as enthusiastic in your praise as we were in gathering these desirable favoured fashions of the season.

Again we bid you welcome---Come.

Quite the Prettiest Neckwear

We hazard you will pronounce it the most charming you have ever seen. Delicate lacy effects, chic embroidered novelties and plenty of stylish tailored styles for the woman who likes that kind of neckwear.

RICHARD HALL & SON
359-361 GEORGE STREET LIMITED

There is style to the New Veilings

Meshes are quite a departure from those we have shown heretofore. Colorings to match or harmonize with Spring Garments make them especially attractive.

SPRING SHOWING OF

WALL PAPERS

in Prodigious Quantities

AT ROUTLEY'S

Never before in the history of the C. B. Routley establishment has there been so much wall paper put into stock. We have wall paper from the lowest to the highest grade produced.

We can give you enough ground paper to do any ordinary bed room From 3c to 35c Per Roll. HALL PAPER per roll from 4c to $1.00. DRAWING ROOM PAPERS from 10c to $3.00.

We have also Japanese Leathers, Grass Cloths, German Silk Flocks, Oatmeals, Burlaps, &c.

Room moulding is a line we give our attention to. Last year's mouldings and wall papers we are clearing at half price, not but that they are just as nice as this year's but we make it a rule not to show the same paper two seasons if price inducement will clear them out.

We can let you have paint to match any wall paper, paint that will dry hard and wear well, in short it is the best mixed paint in the market. We guarantee every can of it. For a few days we will sell it at PER QUART 45c.

Do not forget that we are the largest wall paper dealers in Canada. Our people here imagine because we live in Peterboro that the above assertion is not possible, yet it is acknowledged in large centres.

Come and try us and test our ability to serve you.

Toronto 262-4 Queen W. | ROUTLEY'S | Peterborough 379 George St.

SHOULD STOP CALLING THEM ALL CHAMPIONS

The Toronto Globe says:

Hockey is so popular in New York and the artificial ice rink so well patronized that the series of misrepresentations doing duty as advance press work is all the more discreditable. The assumption is that newspaper readers there have memories lasting not more than 24 hours. Every Canadian team that played in New York this winter was announced as "the champions of Canada." One of the most ridiculous records was that assigned to Parkdale Canoe Club. The Paddlers were described as having defeated Varsity, St. Michaels, McGill, Queen's, Cliffsides, Shamrocks, Montreal, and Maple Leafs. As a matter of fact they played but one of these teams, St. Michaels, and so far from being champions of Canada they were only third in the Ontario Hockey Association. New York has not yet seen the champions, the Eaton A. A. team, winners of the O. H. A. senior series and the J. Ross Robertson cup. The Tribune appears to be the only New York paper that did not "fall for" the weekly production of new "champions of Canada."

On the same lines and at the same time Cleveland and Chicago were also entertaining champions, including the All-Niagaras, who were non-existent as a team in this country. The thousand-dollar purses that the eastern professional teams are playing for in New York this week are more of the same bunk.

PONIES HAD AN EASY WIN

The game last night between the Ponies and Featherweights of the City Basketball League, furnished one of the surprises of the season. The Ponies had their shooting togs on and they certainly showed that they knew where the basket was when they got their hands on the ball, the half time score being 21 to 4 in favour of the Ponies, and at full time 49 to 17 in Ponies' favour. Teams:

Ponies—A. Flowers, W. English, H. Wallis, J. Shore, M. Turner.

Featherweights—C. Bartlett, W. Willis, A. Darling, W. Irwin, A. Deem. Referee—S. Hall. Umpire—M. McCarrell.

The bowling game between the Midgets and Millionaires proved to be no exception to the rule, and after a most strenuous contest the Millionaires landed a victory, winning out by 132 pins. Score, Millionaires 1239, Midgets 1107.

Electric Restorer for Men

Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension; restores vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will make you a new man. Price $3 a box, or two for $5. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

COAL OIL

For a strong white light try China Hall's water white American Oil at 15c per gallon in 5 gallon lots. 17c by the single gallon delivered. There is no better oil at any price.

3w3d62-4291 McFarlane Wilson

BIRTH

GATFIELD—At 629 Downie street, March 13th, 1911, to Mr. and Mrs W. Gatfield, a daughter.

A CHALLENGE

Here is a belated challenge that drifted into the sporting department of the Examiner this afternoon:

"The Canadian General Tool Room team, winners of the Mercantile League, challenge the Dominion-Ottawa team, champions of the Bank League, to a game of hockey for the city championship, to be played wherever possible.

J. EVANS, Manager.

How would George street do?

Superb Company
Clever Play
Splendid Equipment
"Man of the Hour"
"Grand" to-night 1d63

SPRING OPENING

Time Rolls 'Round

SPRING'S HERE AGAIN

With The Fashion Show of Millinery

WOMAN! Oh Woman! You cannot stop time, nor can we—Seasons come, seasons go; we all try to keep pace, some of us try to get ahead. It's no go, time flies too fast for us and all we end up in doing is "Doing Our Best", "Looking Our Best". The Spring Season is again here with the gloriousness of other springs. Each time, we think we have succeeded in out doing all past records, we're honest in it, but who is the judge—You—you are judge as far as you are concerned, others judge for themselves, and yet we may never know the verdict only by the result of our efforts. The verdict in general must have been a good one in past seasons for the results were gratifying to us.

We open our Millinery Parlors for the judges to come en masse and pass on the show of New Spring Millinery which we have selected from the season's best. To-morrow is the first day. All are welcome.

DEPARTMENT STORES Cressman's

Just Arrived

Full Stock of the Famous

Buckley Stiff Hats

(All Hats Guaranteed)

Still some nice Fur Setts & Jackets to be cleared out

With our Conformateur we can shape all Stiff Hats to fit all heads

W. E. LECH

Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

Grand Opera House TO-NIGHT

Wm. A. Brady's Production—America's Greatest Play

"The Man Of The Hour"

By George Broadhurst with Felix Haney as Alderman Phelan. Now in its fourth year of phenomenal success. Given here with a special cast, and produced on the same scale of magnificence that marked its two year's run at the Savoy, New York City. Prices, 25c to $1.00; Box Seats $1.50. Seats now on sale

Grand Opera House, Saturday, Mar. 18 Matinee & Night

"The Bow-Wow Minstrels"

40—Company—40. First part 75 minutes. Melange of Mirth, Melody and Music, introducing many new and original features. 6 End Men—10 Soloists. Female Impersonator. OLIO—Lukey, Novelty Whistler; Bill Bailey, Palmologist; The Kellys Ventriloquists; Ormerod, One String Fiddler; Charlebois, Habitant Impersonator; G B Hunt, Comicalities: Matt Greig, English Entertainer; Scully, Rolls & Woods, Singers, Dancers and Banjoists. Popular Prices—Evenings, any seat 50c, Gallery 25c. Matinee, any seat 25c, Children 15c. Seats now on sale

"The Romance of The Reaper"

Will be Presented at

THE CRYSTAL

ON

Saturday, March 18

Afternoon and Evening

By MR. WHEELER, of the International Harvester Company, Hamilton, Ontario.

"The Romance of the Reaper" has been published in the leading journals of the day, and has since been characterized ana put in moving picture form, thus making a very interesting and educating entertainment.

Every person being interested in the developments of agriculture, and appliances used from the primitive Sickle to the present high-class Binder, should see this production, which is put in moving picture form, comprising 4000 feet of film and 100 slides.

This embraces from the ore in the mine and timber in the forest to the finished product, and gives a more vivid description than history.

"Why the Modern Farmer is King"

will be thoroughly exemplified in scenes taken both in Canada and all foreign countries. You should not miss this chance of a lifetime to see this great historic scene, which is being brought here at a large expense by local representatives of the I. H. C.

Mr. R. J. Todd's Opinion Of Tuberculosis And The Vaccination Theory

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Some of us attended the meeting Monday night in the Council Chamber with the understanding that the purpose was to discuss the best methods to wipe out, or check, the spread of Tuberculosis. Knowing this would be discussed from a medical standpoint, I selected a number of testimonies on the subject from eminent physicians, but time did not permit to give them. Now that we are to have an Association for such a worthy and humane purpose, I believe some of those opinions of such eminent men would help the citizens in adopting the best methods. I give them without comment, other than to say experience, in my own family, has made me a prayerful advocate that the day will soon come when the barbarous practice of vaccination will be abolished from the statute books, and the minds of our physicians.

We quote from the Omaha Bee of September 2nd the opinions of a physician as given at a recent meeting of the Missouri Valley Medical Association:

"One of the strikingly interesting papers presented during the day was that of Dr. L. A. Merriam, of Omaha, vigorously attacking the germ theory of disease and deploring the universal belief in the theory, because, he said, it broke down the natural defences of the body by opening the psycho-mental doors and inviting the invasion of disease. He leaned toward a belief that all epidemics were largely mental. Not content with this, Dr. Merriman shattered the fetish of vaccination, and emphatically declared his belief that more harm had come from the practice, and that its real efficiency had come through the principle of suggestive therapeutics by the patient's belief in vaccination changing his mental attitude toward the disease, simply permitting nature to fortify the body."

Dr. Barney, a well-known physician of Brooklyn, N.Y., who has an extensive practice among the wealthy residents of Park Slope, recently declared:

"Fifty per cent. of the children of Brooklyn who are vaccinated in the public schools come near death from convulsions, while hundreds of them are inoculated with the germs of tuberculosis. . . ."

"James R Brewer, late secretary of the State Board of Charities of Maryland, recently said: 'This cattle disease—tuberculosis—had not attacked the human race until it was planted in the arms of men, women and children. Now, the "white death" is everywhere. We are building costly hospitals and sanatoria to treat the disease, while we are planting it by law in the bodies of the children. "As ye sow, so shall ye also reap." Stop vaccinating and soon you will cease providing hospitals and sanatoria for the care of the victims of the "bovine parasite."

"As the matter now stands we have one set of men constantly engaged in the propagation of disease for profit—the vaccine manufacturers, another set of men constantly engaged in infecting the people with disease, also for profit to themselves—the vaccinating doctors; and another set of men earnestly engaged in an effort to overcome the resulting evil by soliciting, giving, working without pay—the White Plague Crusaders. But, seemingly, they are not aware that the first two sets of men, the vaccine manufacturers and the doctors who vaccinate, are constantly creating the disease, and that so fast that they may never be overtaken. They must be stopped in their nefarious and pernicious work and practices before any fight against the fearful 'White Plague' can hope to be at all successful. And they must be stopped at once and for all time, for if the practice of vaccinating with virusas and serums of various kinds, animal as well as human, is greatly extended, and they are permitted to pus-pollute, blood-poison and disease the people much longer it must eventually result in the degeneracy of the entire human race."

Dr McNulty advocated educating the people, especially the children. I agree with him, if the right kind of teaching is given. The following might be of interest:

In a recent issue of the California Eclectic Medical Journal the brilliant and scholarly physician, Dr. A. F. Stephens, contributed a paper entitled "Collective Paranoia" in which he said:

"Several years ago a wave of insane apprehension of appendicitis arose, whose proportions were increased and its movements accelerated by the hoot of our medical owl. That wave of fearsome apprehension has gained in volume until it has submerged the reason of almost the entire Nation. Within the last half dozen years a second wave of insanity has followed and to-day our people are in a state of mind wherein they think disease, talk disease, live disease in their daily lives and give it to everyone with whom they come in contact of in any way susceptible. . . . We have tuberculosis paranoiacs going about among the people in the guise of an educational crusade, preaching disease from the housetops; teaching it to the children, inculcating in their minds a fear and dread of disease which amounts to disease insanity. They carry about with them an atmosphere of disease which is highly infectious to suscepti. ible minds, and which eventually develops in these minds a state of paranoia or unreasonable disease-fear. Given a diseased mentality, who may say how surely a perverted physical state will follow? Mental anxiety, or fear, results in lowered vitality and prepares its victim for the invasion of bodily disease."

Thanking you for valuable space.

Sincerely yours,

R. J. TODD.

SPRING MILLINERY OPENING

NEW YORK and PARISIAN MILLINERY

March 17th and 18th

MISS ALLAN

372 George Street Telephone 35

DON'T BE BALD

Nearly Anyone May Secure a Splendid Growth of Hair

We have a remedy that has a record of growing hair and curing baldness in 93 out of every 100 cases where used according to directions for a reasonable length of time. That may seem like a strong statement—it is, and we mean it to be, and no one should doubt it until they have put our claims to an actual test.

We are so certain Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will cure dandruff, prevent baldness, stimulate the scalp and hair roots, stop falling hair and grow new hair, that we personally give our positive guarantee to refund every penny paid us for it in every instance where it does not give entire satisfaction to the user.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is as pleasant to use as clear spring water. It is delightfully perfumed, and does not grease or gum the hair. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. With our guarantee back of it, you certainly take no risk. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

WEDDING BELLS

WATSON—SHARPE.

The wedding was solemnized at Knox church manse last night at 8 p.m., of Stephen John Watson to Miss Mabel Irene Sharpe, in the presence of witnesses. The ceremony was performed by Rev H. J. Keith. Mr. and Mr. Watson will reside on Sherbrooke street.

Famous Athletes Use Zam-Buk

Mr. Sim Vaughan, trainer of the Hamilton Tigers Football Team, and admittedly one of Canada's finest trainers, says of Zam-Buk: "In my estimation it is the finest healing balm obtainable, and no athletic institution, or no athlete, should be without it. I say this after fifteen years' experience as a trainer of athletes, and after experimenting with nearly all known embrocations."

The above opinion is shared by such well-known athletes as Sherring, of Hamilton, Longboat, the All Blacks, of New Zealand, and all the leading football organizations of England. For sprains, cuts, abrasions, stiffness, rheumatism, and as an all round embrocation and balm, Zam-Buk is unequalled. All druggists and stores at 50c. box.

The Young French Girl.

A young French girl enters the theater with her father. She takes her seat directly in front of the privileged American girls "finishing" their education. Her untouched flowerlike face is alight with anticipated pleasure, with a soft vividness of intelligence that could never be cursed with the word "brainy." Her hair is bound with a little old fashioned snood and tiny buckle; a strangely simple evening dress covers the exquisite ardor of her slender body. Quickly four faces, the faces of the overindulged, the overprecocious, the overathletic and the overdressed, turn to study her. There is something to learn in this little French maid, whose eyes never meet a man's, who is never allowed to walk alone on the street, whose unconscious grace envelops her like a veil, who is sheltered like a delicate bird, yet trained to the utmost energy, reserve, accomplishment and usefulness.—Atlantic.

Wall Street Superstition.

Almost all the Wall street speculators are superstitious fellows who believe in charms and amulets. In their pockets they carry lucky coins, a rabbit's foot, a horse chestnut or something of the kind. One Wall street man, much envied by his companions, has a short piece of a hangman's rope to conjure with. Many of the customers in the offices are even more credulous than the professional traders in their belief in signs and omens. There is a deep seated tradition that Tuesday is "low day" in a "bull market" and "high day" in a "bear market." Some persons speculate on "systems," and others employ "charts." Once they exploited a machine in Wall street known as a "market register." It was about as effective as helping anybody to win at Stock Exchange speculation as it is to rub up against a hunchback for luck just before you bet on a horse race.—Munsey's Magazine.

A WOMAN MADE HAPPY

"I could scarcely get about the house to attend to my work and felt miserable nearly all the time," writes Mrs. Alex. Buchanan, Island Brook, Que. "After using Dr A. W. Chase's Nerve Food my system is wonderfully built up. There is no further trouble from dizzy spells and stomach weakness, and with health and strength restored, life has a new pleasure for me."

Fourteen Bodies Recovered.

Nashville, Tenn., March 16.—At two o'clock yesterday afternoon, fifteen men had been recovered from the ruins of the recently burned building, the walls of which collapsed yesterday morning on a gang of laborers, fourteen of whom were dead.

The body of Ralph McCollum, son of a well-known local musician, was the last to be recovered. His head was mashed into a pulp.

Commercial Arbitration.

London, March 16.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Hon. Sydney Buxton, president of the Board of Trade, speaking at the dinner of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, said it had been complained that the board did not give information regarding the new tariffs of other countries. The board had been cautious in such matters not to arouse false alarms. The question of commercial arbitration would probably come up at the Imperial conference, and it might be possible, as far as the Empire was concerned, to obtain uniform action.

Chase's Pills Regular 25 for 15	SHILOH'S Cough Cure Regular 25 for 20	Peruna Regular $1.00 for 85c	Pinkham's Comp. Regular $1 for 85	Carter's Pills Regular 25 for 15
Electric Oil Regular 25c for 15c	Your Money Back If not satisfied with any of the Rexall Prescriptions: Wine of Cod Liver Oil Face Cream Liver Pills Kidney Pills, etc.	Eastman's Kodaks and a full line of Supplies always on hand. Sole Agents for Huyler's Chocolates		Pink Pills Regular 50 for 30c
Dodd's Pills Regular 50 for 38c				Chase's Syrup Regular 25 for 15c

CHEMIST E. L. PAYNE DRUGGIST

(ORMOND & WALSH OLD STAND)

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF ST. JOHN'S WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

St John's branch of the Woman's Auxiliary held a most successful annual meeting last Tuesday afternoon. The attendance was large and all the reports presented showed an advance in the work.

The 25th anniversary Thank offering collection was a good one, with prospects of an increase from absent members. The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Mrs. Vernon.
President—Mrs J. C Davidson.
1st Vice President—Mrs. A. Stevenson.
2nd Vice President—Mrs. Campbell.
Secretary—Miss Mencke.
Treasurer—Mrs. Aylmer.
Dorcas Sec.—Mrs. Best.
Lit. Sec.—Miss Archer.
Delegates to Toronto Annual—Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Stevenson, Miss Mencke.
Substitutes—Mrs. McClellan, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Morris (juniors).

ECZEMA NOT A BLOOD DISEASE

Eczema is a disease of the skin and not of the blood. For this reason internal medicines have never been a success in curing eczema. Whatever the cause local application is necessary to heal the sores and restore the skin to a healthful, natural condition. For this reason Dr. Chase's Ointment has a world wide reputation as being without a rival for the cure of Eczema.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops [illegible] cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents

SCHOOL REPORT

Report of S. S. No. 5, Belmont, for the month of February, names in order of standing:

Class IV—John Brown.
Class III — Nellie Johnson, Ernest Rupert.
Class II — Nettie Johnson, Lillie Brown, Margaret Thompson.
Part II—Laura Rupert, Willie Steenburg, Oscar Ellis.
Part I—Leta Johnson, Emily Ellis, Floyd Ellis, Leddy Rupert, Katie Brown.

Average attendance for the month 17

M. EDMONDS, Teacher.

PROB.—Strong north-westerly and westerly winds, fair and cold. Friday—Fair and a little higher temperature

Robert Fair & Co'y, Limited

IN HONOUR OF IRELAND'S PATRON SAINT

Millinery Opening Friday and Saturday MARCH 17th & 18th

We have the honour to announce our Spring Millinery Opening on the above dates. The handsome display will embrace dainty models from Paris and New York, and many charming patterns, the product of our own work rooms. :: ::

BEAUTIFUL DISPLAY OF

LADIES' TAILORED SUITS and SPRING COATS, House and EVENING GOWNS

Fashion's first arrivals in Tailored Suit Models, Coats, Ready-to-Wear Dresses and Waists, will be a strong feature of our St. Patrick's Day exhibit.

The store and show rooms are at your service and our staff will be found courteous and obliging.

Robert Fair & Co'y, Limited

Store Phone 145 Dressmaking Department 429

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, March 15.—Dust storms in the northwest lifted the price of wheat to-day. A cold wave predicted for the winter crop belt to-night had a lifting effect. The advance, however, was not maintained, and there was an irregular close, ½c higher than last night, to ¾c below. On corn the market suffered a net decline of a shade to ¼c, and for oats a gain was made of 1-16c to ⅛c. Provisions wound up 5c to 22½c dearer, as compared with 24 hours before.

The Liverpool wheat market closed to-day ¼d lower to ¼d higher than yesterday; corn unchanged to ¼d higher. Antwarp wheat closed unchanged, Berlin ⅛o lower, Budapest ⅛o higher, Paris ⅛c to ¼c lower.

Winnipeg Options.

	Close.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	93⅛	93¾	93¾	92⅝	93⅞
July	94⅛	94⅛	94⅝	94⅛	94⅛
Oats—
May	32¼	32⅝	33¼	32⅝	33⅛
July	33½	34	34¼	34	34⅛

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	0 99	to 0 00
Wheat, goose, bushel	0 78	....
Rye, bushel	0 66	0 68
Barley, bushel	0 00	....
Oats, bushel	0 37	....
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	0 49
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 00

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, store lots	0 27	0 28
Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 28	0 28
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 28	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 26	0 26
Eggs, new-laid	0 19	0 20
Eggs, cold storage	0 17	....
Cheese, lb.	0 13	0 13½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 50	....
Honey, extracted, lb.	0 10	0 11

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, March 15.—Closing—Wheat—Spot dull; No. 2 red western winter, no stock. Futures steady; March 6s 9¼d, May 6s 9¼d, July 6s 9½d.

Flour—Winter patents easy, 27s 3d.

Hops—In London (Pacific coast) firm, £4 0s to £5 5s.

Pork—Prime mess, western, quiet, 85s.

Hams—Short cut, 14 to 16 lbs., dull, 54s.

Lard—Prime western, in tierces, easy, 42s 6d; American refined, in pails, dull, 41s 6d.

Cheese—Canadian, finest white, easy, firm, 61s; Canadian finest colored, easy, firm, 62c.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, March 15.—There was no improvement in the demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat, and what few did come forward were from 1½c to 2c out of line with values here. It was reported that sales of 50,000 bushels of No. 2 C.W. oats were made to London. The local market was firmer in sympathy with the strength in Winnipeg, but the volume of business passing is small. Demand for flour continues slow from all sources, and prices show no change.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 38½c to 39½c, car lots, ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 37⅝c to 38c, No. 3 C.W., 37½c to 37⅝c; No. 1 local white, 37½c; No. 2 local white, 36½c; No. 4 local white, 35½c.

Corn—American No. 3 yellow, 56c to 56½c.

Feed barley—Car lots, ex-store, 48c to 50c.

Eggs—Selected, 23c; fresh, 22c to 23c; No. 1 stock, 20c; No. 2 stock, 18c.

Cheese—Westerns, 13c to 12½c; easterns, 11½c to 12c.

Butter—Choicest, 26c to 28c; seconds, 24½c to 25½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 15.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the receipts were 600 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 550 hogs and 1600 calves. A feature of the trade was the weaker feeling in the market for cattle, and prices ruled ½c per pound lower than on Monday, which was attributed to the fact that the supply was in excess of the requirements. The demand was slow; the weather was much warmer, and, this being the Lenten season, the consumption of beef was curtailed to some extent, and butchers generally are only buying from hand to mouth for the time being. A few choice steers sold as high as 6¼c, but the bulk of the trading was done at 6c; good at 5½c to 5¾c; fairly good at 5c to 5½c; fair at 4¾c, and common at 4½c per pound. A slow trade in cows at prices ranging from 3¾c to 5½c, and bulls at from 3½c to 5¼c per pound.

The feature of the trade in small meats was the large offerings of calves, and prices scored another sharp decline. At the reduction the demand was good, and an active trade was done at prices ranging from $4 to $6 each. Old sheep sold at from $4 to $7, and yearling lambs at from $5 to $8 each. There was no change in the condition of the market for hogs, prices being steady on account of the smaller offerings, and sales of selected lots were made at $7.25 to $7.30 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars.

At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the offerings of live stock this morning were 200 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 600 hogs and 1,300 calves. The fire on Monday, which destroyed a portion of the eastern section of the stalls of the above market, has not, nor will it inconvenience business in any way, and the manager states that everything will be in first-class order by Monday next, and that there will be ample accommodation for all the cattle, sheep and hogs that come forward. A fair trade was done in hogs this morning, and, as the supply was smaller, prices ruled steady, with sales of selected lots at $7.25 to $7.30 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars. Receipts of calves are increasing, and prices are steadily tending towards a lower level. The demand is good, and sales were made at from $3 to $12 each, as to size and quality. Sheep sold at 6c per pound, and lambs at $6.75 to $8.85 per 100 pounds, and spring lambs at from $5 to $10 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 15.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; market active, steady; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.75; butcher grades, $5.50 to $6.40.

Calves—Receipts, 200 head; market slow and steady; cull to choice, $5.75 to $10.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 5400 head; market active, firm; choice lambs, $6.75 to $7; cull to fair, $5 to $6.50; yearlings, $5.50 to $6; sheep, $3 to $5.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 1200; market active and lower; yorkers, $7.40 to $7.50; stags, $5 to $5.25; pigs, $7.50 to $7.75; mixed, $7.30; heavy, $7.20 to $7.25; roughs, $6 to $6.30.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Beeves—Receipts, 2300; steers, slow and barely steady; bulls and cows, dull to 10c to 15c lower; steers, $5 to $6.75; bulls, $4 to $5; cows, $2.10 to $4.75.

Calves—Receipts, 1550. Market slow and 50c lower. Veals, $6 to $10; culls, $5 to $5.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 10,200. sheep, firm; lambs, 10c to 15c higher; ewes, $3.75 to $4.75; wethers, $5 to $5.35; lambs, $6 to $7.15; yearlings, $5.50 to $6.

Hogs—Receipts, 5450; market, easier; heavy to light, $7.35 to $7.75.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, March 15.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 17,000; market steady to a shade lower; beeves, $5.15 to $6.85; Texas steers, $4.35 to $5.65; western steers, $4.70 to $5.75; stockers and feeders, $4 to $6.80; cows and heifers, $2.60 to $6.30; calves, $6.25 to $8.50.

Hogs—Receipts estimated at 35,000; market slow, 5c to 10c lower; light, $6.80 to $7.10; mixed, $6.65 to $6.90; heavy, $6.45 to $6.85; rough, $6.45 to $6.65; good to choice heavy, $6.65 to $6.85; pigs, $6.50 to $7.05; bulk of sales, $6.80 to $6.90.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts estimated at 14,000; market slow at yesterday's close; native, $3 to $5.10; western, $3.25 to $5.10;

Genuine Sardines.

Genuine sardines are the young of the pilchard. Their name comes from the fact that they are most numerous off the coast of Sardinia. They swim in the spring in shoals containing millions—fish shaped shoals ten miles long and a half mile wide. The sardines are netted and taken at once to the shore. There they are washed, scraped and sprinkled with salt. The salt is soon removed, the heads and gills cut off and there is another washing. Then, on beds of green brush, the fish are dried in the sun. Next they are boiled in olive oil till cooked thoroughly. The packers—women always—take them now and pack them in the tin boxes we all know, filling up each box with boiling oil, fitting on the lid and making the box air tight by soldering the joints together with a jet of hot steam. Sardines are more or less perfect according as they are prepared more or less immediately after their capture and according as the oil they are packed in is more or less pure.

Burn "Gco" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

AT THE WARNE SHOE STORE

Special This Week:

A Ladies' Patent Blucher Bal. $2.50

A light Dongola Bal., good for house boot..... 1.00

Boys' Box Kip Blucher, good school boot, 1 to 5..... $1.25

Youths' ditto..... $1.00

If you want the right shoe at the right price, just try—

WARNE'S SHOE STORE

MISS McGIVERIN'S

Millinery Opening

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

of this week

March 17th & 18th

A handsome display of new and exclusive styles of Millinery, the cream of the latest creations in New York and Paris.

MISS McGIVERIN

New York Millinery Parlours 431 George St.

When a Great Man Dies.

There can be but austere and serious thoughts in all hearts when a sublime spirit makes its majestic entrance into another life, when one of those beings who have long soared above the crowd on the visible wings of genius, spreading all at once other wings which we did not see, plunges swiftly into the unknown.—From Hugo's Funeral Oration on Balzac.

The Change.

"He used to complain because he never got what he wanted to eat."

"Yes, but he's rich now."

"Yes, and now he complains because he never wants what he gets to eat."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Inherited.

Knicker—Jones has a bad memory, Bocker—His mother never knew what were trumps, and his father couldn't remember anything on the witness stand.—New York Sun.

Napoleon Obeyed the Mob.

In "The Corsican—A Diary of Napoleon's Life in His Own Words," Bonaparte tells how, as an obscure soldier, he witnessed some of the opening scenes of the revolution: "I lodged Rue du Mail, Place des Victories. At the sound of the tocsin and at the news that the Tuileries were attacked I started for the Carousel. Before I had got there in the Rue des Petits Champs I was passed by a mob of horrible looking fellows parading a head stuck on a pike. Thinking I looked too much of a gentleman, they wanted me to shout 'Vive la nation' which I did promptly, as may easily be imagined."

MR. T. WOODWORTH

the well known English Elocutionist, is open for engagements at Concerts, Socials, At Homes, Civic Functions, &c., to give

RECITALS—Wise and Witty! Grave and Gay

An actor-elocutionist of the highest order.
—Peterborough Examiner

The audience was captured from start to finish
—Peterborough Review

An exceedingly talented elocutionist—irresistably humourous. —Peterboro' Morning Times

For terms apply—222 Wolfe St., Peterboro' 1m-28

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. It also pays to read Lost and Found ads Look at page 2 and read.

Probabilities.

—Strong, north-westerly and westerly winds; fair and cold. Friday, fair, a little higher temperature.

George Street Choir.

—George Street Choir will hold a full practice to-night at 7.30. All members are requested to be present.

Choir Practice.

The members of Knox church choir are requested to be on hand this evening, as there will be a practice after the evening service for about fifteen minutes.

A Popular Lecture.

Don't miss the lecture, "The Making of the Nation," by Rev. John McNeil, Tuesday, March 21st, at Murray street Baptist church. Tickets on sale at Porter S. White's grocery.

Card of Thanks.

—The family of the late Mrs. Pennington Alexander desire to thank the friends who showed so much kindness during her sickness and for the expressions of sympathy on her death.

Passed With Honours.

At the mid-winter examinations of the Toronto College of Music, Miss Edith Leadbetter and Master Edward Frith, pupils of Mrs. Greenslade, passed their piano examinations with first-class honours.

The Weather.

A genuine March gale, accompanied with severe cold, arrived last night. Yesterday morning the weather was spring-like; last evening the thermometer had gone down to zero. This morning it was 5 degrees below.—W. P.

Dried Fruits.

4 lbs. dates for 25c; 3 lbs. cooking figs 25c.; fresh prunes 10c. lb. Extra quality of canned peas, corn, tomatoes (Gazelle brand) 2 for 25c. Maple syrup 30c. quart. JAMES R. BELL, 43 Hunter street east; 161 Hunter street west.

Funeral Notice.

—The funeral of the late Stephen G. Hetherington will take place tomorrow (Friday) afternoon from the family residence, 500 Charlotte St., to Little Lake cemetery. The service at the house will take place at 2.30 o'clock and the funeral will leave the house at 2.45 p.m.

A Correction.

—In the Examiner last night there was an error in the report of the entertainment in St. James' Methodist church, in which it was stated that a violin solo was played by Miss Hall. It should have stated that it was Mrs. Hill who contributed that number to the programme.

Important to the Ladies of Peterborough.

—We are glad to announce that we are opening a nice line of millinery this season; very latest and up-to-date styles—shapes, trimmed and untrimmed. Come now and inspect our line. You are quite welcome whether you buy or not.—Knickerbocker Co., 423 George St.; 'Phone 711.

At S. A. Oke's, successor to H. P. Kennedy.

FISH—Fresh fish, Halibut, Salmon Trout, Herrings, Seal Shipt Oysters. VEGETABLES — Carrots, parsnips beets, cabbage, celery, fresh lettuce parsley and green onions daily; guaranteed new laid eggs. Meats, Prime beef, lamb and pork, always in stock. —S. A. OKE, 340 George street. Phone 275.

On the Free List.

—Florida Grape Fruit, Pineapples Sunkist Seedless Oranges, Bananas, and Lemons. Our stock is complete and prices are low. Also in stock, Cauliflowers, Strawberries, Boston Head Lettuce, Ripe Tomatoes, Rhubarb, Celery, Green Onions, Spanish Onions; fish of all kinds, Sealshipt Oysters, Vegetables, etc.—Walter J. Oke, 376 George street. Bell 'Phones 18 and 19.

Vacuum Cleaning.

A pure, dustless atmosphere cannot be obtained except by Vacuum cleaning. Vacuum cleaning has been perfected to the point where every home can enjoy its benefits for less than the cost of cleaning with broom or beating. Our powerful machines do the work quickly and well. Ask us to explain the system. The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Company, 395 Water St. (near cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co. situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

Open Meeting.

—An open meeting of the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute will be held in the Assembly Hall on Friday evening, March 17, at 8 o'clock. An interesting feature of the programme will be a debate between the Normal School and Collegiate Institute: "Resolved that public ownership of public utilities is in the best interests of Canada." Judges of the debate, Mr. Goodwill, Rev. Mr. Couch and Mr. Wood. Silver collection.

Porcupine Gold Mines Co. (Vipond.)

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Gormaly, Tilt & Co., members of the Standard Stock Exchange, Toronto, who strongly advise the purchase of Vipond Porcupine Gold Mines Co. stock. The stock which has advanced so rapidly of late. Gormaly Tilt & Co. advised the purchase of this when it was selling at 25c, and they still advise the purchase of it at the present market price. Communicate with Gormaly Tilt & Co., 32 Adelaide St. E., Toronto, for full particulars. Work on the "Vipond" mine is proving that it is in reality a mine, not a prospect.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heal the throat and lungs. 25 cents

The Spring Suit

Before deciding on the Spring Suit, better investigate all round. With a chance to show you our high class goods, expert workmanship, and

Latest New York Styles

we are willing then to leave the decision to you. No better goods anywhere, no work quite so select, and prices very reasonable.

Come early for prompt delivery

Good Girls Wanted

I. GOLDBERG

Ladies' Tailor

Phone 1267. 452 George St.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. W. Hope, of Toronto, is a guest at the Oriental.

Mr. Geo. Parent left to-day for Portland, Oregon.

Mr. C. Lester, of Montreal, is registered at the Oriental.

Mrs. (Dr.) Frederick left on a visit to Campbellford to-day.

Mr. Peter McInnis, of Ottawa, is staying at the Munro House.

Mr. Alex. G. Castleton of New York is a guest at the White House.

Mr. D. Lowe of Hamilton, is registered at the Snowden House.

Mr. A. L. Andress, of Indian River, is a guest at the Munro House.

The many friends of Mrs. S. D. Hall will be glad to learn that her condition is steadily improving.

Miss Minnie Walker has returned to Welcome after visiting her friend, Miss Beach, Charlotte street.

Mrs. R. F. Downey, of 298 Boswell ave., has returned from Whitby, after spending a few days with her mother, who is very ill.

Mr. J. W. Fewer returned to the city last evening after being confined to his home in Stratford for the past two months. His many friends will be glad to see him again.

SALVIA HAIR TONIC

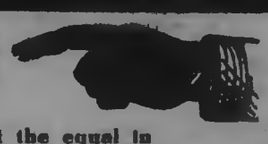
An Ideal Hair Dressing

SALVIA HAIR TONIC is compounded on the most scientific principles, and nothing on the market today can compare with it. It accomplishes so much more than the ordinary tonics and does it so quickly that users are astonished.

SALVIA kills the dandruff germs and eradicates dandruff, stops falling hair, itching of the scalp and splitting hairs in two weeks or we will refund your money.

SALVIA gives a fascinating lustre to women's hair and makes it beautiful. It makes the hair grow luxuriantly; it is the daintiest and most refreshing hair dressing that science has produced, and has not a particle of grease or stickiness in it. SALVIA costs 50 cents at your druggist. McDermid and Jury, special agents.

$25.00 REWARD



If you can prove that the Suit and Overcoat here offered, are not the equal in material and make, of those sold regularly in Peterborough for $26.00 to $30.00.

A Great Three Days' Offer

Just at this season, when everyone is thinking of a Spring Overcoat or Suit, Our Big Special Offer Comes Opportunely

Friday, Saturday, Monday, March 17, 18, 20

Suits $19.40

Sold Regularly for $25.00 to $30.00

During the three days this offer is open, we will make to your measure and guarantee fit, style and workmanship, a top notch suit of blue worsted or vicuna suitings, guaranteed Indigo dye, the same suit as is regularly sold for $25 to $30, at the very low price of $19.40

Spring Overcoats $18.45

A Regular $25.00 to $30.00 Value

If you come on Friday, Saturday or Monday, March 17-18-20, we will measure you and make up one of our swell spring overcoats, made of black or grey vicuna cloth. Solid all wool goods of very finest quality. Silk facing to the bottom. Make style and fit positively guaranteed at our three days' sale price of $18.45

EVERYTHING MADE TO YOUR INDIVIDUAL MEASURE

We have no ready mades, everything made right here on the premises by expert tailors. We have the goods ready for your inspection and if we cannot do exactly as we advertise we don't want your money.

A DEPOSIT OF $5 MUST ACCOMPANY ALL ORDERS. YOU CAN LEAVE YOUR DEPOSIT AND MEASURE, AND HAVE THE SUIT OR COAT MADE UP LATER IF DESIRED. REMEMBER DEPOSIT. THESE PRICES ARE FOR CASH ORDERS ONLY.

We stake our reputation on the quality of the work we put out, and hundreds of customers testify by continual patronage, that we give them first-class work always. DON'T MISS THIS CHANCE.

Special Tailors, Limited

325 George Street OPEN EVENINGS TO TRY ON COATS E. HUFF, Manager

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept th m gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL L No. 64 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY MARCH 17 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL

Special Vaudeville
2 Double Acts

Kerner & Brown
German Comedians
Singing-Talking-Dancing

The Sloan Duo
in
A Refined Comedy Sketch
Singing and Dancing

These are two of the best Comedy Acts that have been at the Royal since a long time. All lovers of good clean refined Comedy should not miss the Royal to-night or to-morrow. Everything in both Acts is new and different from any other Acts on the Circuit.

MOTION PICTURES

Complete change of motion pictures at the Royal Picture show to-night. All good subjects, all new and never seen before. A Biograph drama "His Daughter," a most beautiful and pathetically told story; the "Comrades of War," showing one comrade giving his life for another; the "Beauties of San Luis" a beautiful scenic picture of the prettiest park in the world, and other pictures.

Admission 5c & 10c

Extra Special To-day
at the
PRINCESS
BIGGEST EVER

Their Wedding Gifts
The funniest Essanay Comedy ever shown here.

When the Clock Struck Nine
Another Big Essanay Comedy.

The Diamond Star
A great Biograph Drama, everybody likes a Biograph, don't miss this one.

Last night to see this great Detective Drama: The Norwood Necklace

NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG

4 Pictures To-night

The World's Best Gloves are
Dent's and Perrin's

Our stock of Gloves is now complete and we are prepared to show you the best Gloves made, at prices from $1.00 to $4.00.

Fashion - Craft
Shop. 140 Hunter St.
A. M. LAIDLAW

Remember

Every child photographed by us previous to Dec. 1st, will be in the large group photograph of Peterborough children to be reproduced in the special 1911 Christmas Examiner

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

Money to Loan

Mortgage loans on City and Farm property at lowest current rates.
Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr
Jan.31 415 Water St., Peterborough

ALL HONOUR TO IRELAND'S PATRON SAINT

HON. A. G. MACKAY'S BRILLIANT SPEECH IN THE LEGISLATURE ON RECIPROCITY

Leader of the Opposition in the Ontario House Says the Conservatives Have Desired the Policy of Sir John A. MacDonald.

A SPLENEID EFFORT

Toronto, March 17.—Crowded galleries yesterday afternoon attested the public interest in the reciprocity question which discussed by political leaders. The general expectation was that the day would see the conclusion of the debate with speeches by the two leaders, but the member for North Grey was bent on making the speech of his life, and, as he frankly intimated, it was a rallying call to the farming element to gather to his support.

Hon. A. G. MacKay's address was the ambitious oratorical effort the House has yet had this session. He was two hours and twenty-five minutes delivering it. The Opposition leader spoke rapidly and so vigorously that his voice broke down so utterly that he had to pause and swallow water several times when he was finally reading his amendment to Sir James Whitney's anti-reciprocity resolution.

Sir James Whitney was greeted with loud applause from his party when he rose to reply. The House, he said, had listened for two and a half hours to a most interesting speech by the leader of the Opposition, but for at least an hour and a three-quarters, the speech had not been within touching distance of the subject which he was supposed to be criticising.

In his amendment, the Opposition leader denied the charge that the loyalty of the people of Canada was purchasable property. Not one member had made such a charge, and he congratulated the followers of the honorable member upon having as their leader the only man who had dared to publicly suggest that the loyalty of Canadians is purchasable.

Sir James is expected to close the debate this afternoon.

A. E. Fripp (Con.), West Ottawa, resumed the debate. He said that if any Canadian thought there was nothing beyond the reciprocity agreement but a business idea on the part of the United States, he would not think much of his intelligence.

It was a great fallacy, declared Hon. A. G. MacKay, to say that this country could expect to get something for nothing in her trade dealings with her cousins to the south, unless she robbed the United States. He believed it was possible between, nations, as between men, to make a mutually fair agreement.

Mr. MacKay then sailed into the Conservative party for having deserted the policy of Sir John A. Macdonald, whom they extolled so highly for his protective principle. No man could intelligently read the history of Canada for the past forty years without realizing that the very bill which the Laurier Government was passing was the realization of Sir John's dearest dreams. No other interpretation could be put on that revered statesman's utterances that "I will build up a tariff wall so that the United States will give us reciprocity."

"What does all this talk of loyalty to the Empire mean? Where were the Conservatives when the Liberals proposed to give British goods a preference of 25 per cent. over all other countries? There was the testing time for their British loyalty?"

As to the cry that the arrangement was to be ratified without a mandate being asked from the people to ascertain whether it was right or wrong, Mr. MacKay answered, "Why, the greatest change that was ever made in this country—confederation of the various provinces—was made without a mandate from the people!"

ST. PATRICK, IRELAND'S PATRON SAINT

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The A. E. Rea store at Montreal changed hands.

The Ontario appeals were heard in the Supreme Court.

A destructive fire followed an explosion in a Barrie hardware store.

Hon. Clifford Sifton addressed the Hamilton branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Data and papers lost by Prof. Chas. Kenneth Leith of Wisconsin University were found in the north.

It is intended to use another 100 h.p. of the Hydro-Electric power at Galt for the pumping station of the waterworks.

Gen. Julio Roca, former president of the Argentine republic, says that he had no idea that the United States was planning the annexion of Mexico.

An attempt was made Wednesday night to blow up the barracks at Juarez, Mexico. Two of a small band of insurrectos were wounded and captured.

Joseph Vassard, aged 21, who lives ten miles north of Treherne, Man., bled to death yesterday as the result of being struck with an axe in the hands of a companion.

John Robbins, an elderly farmer living in the eighth concession of Moore Township, near Sarnia, was so badly gored by an infuriated bull yesterday afternoon that he died shortly afterwards.

Wandering from home, clad in little more than his night clothes, James Brown, of 3,000 Alice street, Montreal, died from exposure. Mr. Brown was 75 years of age, and has been irresponsible for some time.

Baptist Young Peoples' Union of Ontario and Quebec, will not meet in Ottawa because of the epidemic of typhoid, but the annual convention of the union, opening on Good Friday, will be held in all probability in Hamilton.

Want an Inquiry.

Toronto, March 17.—That the Ontario Government should appoint a commission to investigate fraternal insurance in Ontario, so as to ensure its being on a sound basis, was adopted by the Grand Lodge of the A.O. U.W. yesterday.

After discussing the cost and value of life insurance and getting the best expert evidence obtainable on valuation of policies held by members of all ages accepted by fraternal insurance orders, this resolution was adopted. Moved by J. M. Peregrine, P.G.M.W., Hamilton, seconded by Capt. T. M. Cornett, P.G.M.W., that this Grand Lodge of Ancient Order of United Workmen of Ontario, in annual session assembled, respectfully request the Ontario Legislature to appoint a commission to enquire into and take such action as may be necessary to place all fraternal benefit orders working under provincial charter on a safe and business-like basis to enable all the fraternal societies to meet the promised benefits when they become claims, and that a committee from this grand lodge do wait upon the Ontario Government to present the matter before them contained in this resolution."

Thomson Line Bought by Cunard.

London, March 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.) The Cunard Co. announce that they have acquired from the Cairn Line, the passenger and cargo business conducted by the latter from London to Canada under the name of the Thomson Line.

Will Exchange Professors.

Paris, March 17.—The French Government and Harvard University have reached an agreement providing for the exchange every other year of professors at the Sorbonne and at Harvard, thereby continuing officially the foundation of James H. Hyde of New York, who established a French lectureship at Harvard in 1898, and an American lectureship at the Sorbonne in 1904.

Western Prosperity.

Calgary, March 17.—Calgary bank clearings for the week showed an increase of over a million dollars over the same week last year. The figures for the past week are $3,184,134, and for the same week in 1910, $2,380,263.

Graduate of '68 Dead.

Kingston, March 17.—Dr. Roderick Kennedy of Bath, one of the oldest alumni of Queen's, graduating in 1868, died yesterday. He was a fellow student of Hon. Dr. Sullivan.

HOME RULE LEADERS SEND OUT GREETINGS

In Honour of St. Patrick's Day---Nationalist Leaders Make Formal Statements---T. P. O'Connor Calls It the Happiest St. Patrick's Day for Irishmen.

London, March 17.—In honor of St. Patrick's Day and the near approach of home rule for Ireland, several Irish leaders last night issued formal statements and greetings on the occasion of the national anniversary. These included John E. Redmond, chairman of the Irish Parliamentary party and chairman of the United Irish League of Great Britain; Wm. O'Brien, M.P. for Cork and leader of the important Nationalists and Lord Dunraven, president of the Irish Reform Association.

H. H. Asquith, the Prime Minister, and A. J. Balfour, ex-Premier and leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, declined to make any comment on the probability of home rule, refusing to break the ironclad tradition against Cabinet members giving an interview.

In a speech at the St. Patrick's banquet in the Hotel Cecil last night Mr. Redmond referred to how, amid a long list of valuable Irish reforms achieved by hard labor during the past twelve years, they had met year by year at this festival, almost despairing of achieving the great goal of their aspirations.

"Now at last," he said, "we meet with the light of victory shining on our country and our cause. The struggle between England and Ireland is ended. England and Ireland have joined hands against the common foe of both in defence of the peoples' liberties and rights. All bitterness has left our souls. We want peace with England. We want friendship with the English people. We want our proper place in the British Empire, and to bury fathoms deep in the ocean of oblivion and memory the wrongs, the miseries and the oppressions of the past."

T. P. O'Connor, speaking at the St. Patrick's banquet at Liverpool, said: "This is the brightest and happiest St. Patrick's Day any of us have ever seen. Ireland's deliverance is close at hand. The first step towards the realization of Sir Edward Grey's arbitration proposals must be reconciliation with the Irish people through self-government."

NO COMMISSION IN THE FARMERS' BANK CASE

Henderson's Motion Calling for Appointment of Such an Organization Was Defeated by 97 to 61---Debate on the Question Lasted Two Days.

Ottawa, March 17.—After two long days of debate Parliament at an early hour yesterday morning negatived, by a vote of ninety-seven to sixty-one, the resolution of Mr. David Henderson of Halton calling for the immediate appointment of a royal commission to investigate the circumstances surrounding the origin, operation and end of the Farmers' Bank. Sir Alan Aylesworth, who spoke after midnight, demonstrated the fallacy of the recriminations which had been hurled all day at the Minister of Finance and the Treasury Board.

He endorsed the position taken by Sir Wilfrid Laurier last night that the present was not the time to take action calculated to return the best results.

The proceedings of the courts will be noted and the Government may subsequently consider the wisdom of any special action.

The division was reached after 1.30 a.m. The Conservatives voted 62, Liberals 97. The commission was refused by a majority of 36.

On the resumption of the Farmers' Bank discussion, Dr. J. W. Edwards (Frontenac) stated that the failure of the bank would mean a loss of $60,000 to his county, and the sadness of the whole affair was only equalled by the fortitude of the men and women facing bravely a loss which meant to them penury and want.

Digressing from the Farmers' Bank failure, Dr. Edwards referred to the number of bank failures in Canada during the last twenty years, and said that out of 48 banks chartered during that period, nearly 30 had failed since the Minister of Finance had taken office. He endorsed the movement instituted by H. C. MacLeod, formerly general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, for Government inspection, and declared that a few hours spent in the books of the defunct banks would have disclosed an insolvent condition.

E. W. Nesbitt (North Oxford) said he would like to see a commission named, not for the purpose of the motion, but to enquire into the present condition of the Farmers' Bank, to see if any portion of the money invested could be recovered. If anything was wrong, he said, it was not the fault of the Minister, but of the Bank Act. Touching on W. S. Calvert's connection with the matter, he said that a former mayor of Toronto had written to Mr. Calvert asking him to introduce Travers to Mr. Fielding.

Richard Blain (Peel) said that while some responsibility for the affair doubtless rested upon the banking and commerce committee, and the House, the chief responsibility must remain with the Minister of Finance. One word from Mr. Fielding at the right time would have prevented the inauguration of the bank and its subsequent failure.

M. Y. McLean (Huron) thought that the speeches of Opposition members had been made up chiefly of insinuations. If the foresight of the Conservatives was only as good as their hind sight, they would be very wise. He regarded the whole discussion as an attempt to make political capital against the Government.

C. J. Thornton (Durham) remarked that from its inception the operations of the Farmers' Bank had been on a basis of deception.

The Government, Jos. E. Armstrong declared, was not going to lose anything by this transaction, but on the other hand the depositors looked as if they would lose every dollar. He gave as his reasons for supporting the resolution that Travers had not been entitled to his certificate, that the necessary $500,000 had not been subscribed, that the $980,000 had not been properly deposited, and that the Minister of Finance had been given notice, before the certificate was issued, that Travers had been guilty of perjury.

W. M. Martin (Regina) said he did not agree with the statement made that the Government should recompense the shareholders and depositors. He regarded it as a dangerous precedent to establish. He thought it was advisable to allow the bank to be incorporated as the Farmers' Bank. No doubt the responsibility for the issue of the certificate rested with the Minister of Finance, but, according to the official documents Mr. Fielding had complied with all obligations.

Boy Scouts for Coronation.

Montreal, March 17.—Announcement was made yesterday that "The Canadian Century," a weekly magazine published here, would send twenty boy scouts to the coronation in London in June.

SEE BELOW BIRTHDAY MATINEE SEE BELOW
Grand Opera House - Saturday, March 18th

The Famous Bow-Wow Minstrels

40—PEOPLE—40. JOLLY DOGS ALL OF THEM
6—FUNNY END MEN—6. 10—BIG NOVELTY ACTS—10

See "The Kellys" and their Funny Wooden Head Family.
——You'll Laugh, You'll Holler, You'll Scream——

PRICES—Matinee, Children 15c: Adults, 25c.
Evening—Any Seat Reserved, 50c. Gallery, 25c

SEE BELOW FOR BIRTHDAY CONTEST

You Must Use this Card, Filling in Space Below. If you use anything else your Name will not be Considered.

SOMEBODY HAS GOT TO WIN. WHY NOT YOU?

PRIZE $2.50 IN GOLD

Write your name, day and month of your Birth on this card. Deposit same as you enter, in a box, which will be at the Opera House door for receiving these. The management have set down a certain day and month and to the boy or girl who was born on the corresponding day and month the prize of $2.50 in gold will be given. If there should be more than one the amount will be equally divided between them. Should there be no one born on the particular date, the one nearest to it will be awarded the prize.

BE SURE AND WRITE NEATLY AS ONLY THOSE WHICH ARE NEATLY WRITTEN WILL BE CONSIDERED

Use This Space | For Name day and month of your birth

Drug and Patent Medicine Prices

Our Prices are as low as the lowest or lower:

Burdock Blood Bitters regular $1.00 for 88c
Pink Pills regular 50c for 30c
Carter's Pills regular 25c for 15c
Chase's Ointment reg. 60c for .. 40c
Steedman's Soothing Powders regular 35c for 25c
Thomas' Electric Oil reg. 25c for 15c
Chase's Linseed and Turpentine regular 25c for 15c
Lyd. Pinkham's Compound regular $1.00 for 88c
Fruitative regular 50c for 40c
Miller's Worm Powders regular 25c for 20c
Minard's Liniment regular 25c for 20c
Pain Killer regular 25c for 20c
Egyptian Liniment reg. 25c for . 20c
Peruna regular $1.00 for 85c
Zam-Buk regular 50c for 40c
Scott's Emulsion reg. 50c for ... 40c
Nerviline regular 25c for 20c
Norway Pine Syrup reg. 25c for 20c

McDermid & Jury's
The Safe Satisfactory Drug Store
Corner George and Charlotte Streets

The Fowler Finger EYEGLASS MOUNT

GIVES WHAT OTHERS CANNOT
Eyeglass Comfort, Convenience and Lens Efficiency

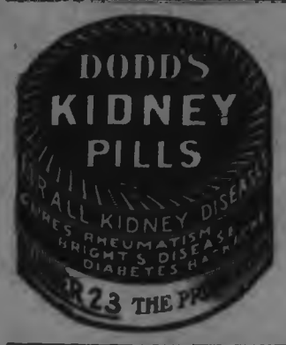
Most inconspicious of Eyeglass Mounts. On to stay on when properly adjusted.

These Mounts have more talking points yet require less talk to sell than any Eyeglass Mount we have ever sold because they are a Distinctively Distinct Eyeglass Mount.

You are the one who must suffer expense, annoyance and discomfort if you wear inferior Eyeglasses.

$2.75 without Lenses. We carry a gross of these Mounts constantly in stock and guarantee to fit properly anyone who can wear Eyeglasses.

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.



MEDICAL.

DR. T. F. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 188 Brock Street.

DR E.V. FREDERICK, M.R.C.S. (Eng L.R.C.P. (Lond.) Surgery and Diseas of Women, 402 George Street. Hours 1.30-3 7-8.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 519. 149 Charlotte Street. Hours —9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L. R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 134 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 661, Mach., 236. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
Office 31 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 649 Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment Consultation free

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 190 Hunter street, or at residence, 189 Hunter street. Telephone No. 86.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; H. L. Goodwill

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices . . 379 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A
Telephone No. 64.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, B. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 436 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON, Barrister, Solicitor, etc Offices, corner Hunter and George streets, entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public Hunter st., Peterborough Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. E. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce E. E. Hall, B. T. Medd, W. S Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 372 Water street, Peterborough

Manual labor taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by,

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 9

A Goat and a Valentine

Instead of a Nuisance, Billy Becomes a Prime Favorite

By MARION C. ENRIGHT

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Drusilla Fowler detested the Franklins' pet goat, for it had all but devastated her small domain during the summer. Flower beds had been trampled, shrubs uprooted, and, as for the little kitchen garden near the orchard, the succulent heads of lettuce and later the hard cabbage balls had fallen victims to the insatiable appetite of Billy the goat.

Of course the Franklins were very sorry about it and tried to confine Billy within a hastily constructed fence, but that sagacious and resourceful animal had viewed the structure of wood and wire with a contemptuous eye before he utterly demolished it and resumed his invasion of Drusilla's garden. Drusilla hated him, and the Franklins loved him

This crisp February morning Drusilla came to the glass door that led from her sitting room into the south porch, and, standing there bathed in the sunlight, she planned her garden for the coming year.

Now, Drusilla in her mind's eye could see the beds blooming once more with roses and pinks and sweet williams, phlox and marigolds and mignonette, while the baffled Billy peered through the palings.

Little Bessie Franklin ran through her own yard waving an envelope frantically. "Oh, mother," Drusilla heard her shout, "somebody has sent me a valentine!"

So this was St. Valentine's day. Drusilla's red lips pressed into a thin red line as she remembered that there was one other thing in the world she detested as heartily as she did the goat Billy, and that was St. Valentine's day. The hot color flew to her cheeks as she recalled events which had happened ten years before and which had thereafter made that anniversary a detestable day.

She had not been engaged to Gregory Ware, but on the 13th of February Gregory had said to her that there was something to be settled between them. "You'll know tomorrow, Drusilla, and you'll believe what you get won't you?" he had whispered in an agony of embarrassment, for Gregory was the shiest man in the world.

And Drusilla had guessed that he was to confess his love in a valentine, and she was radiant with happiness, for she would joyfully believe anything he might say to her in the tender missive. So she had told him shyly that she would see what it said and so put him off while her heart was beating wildly.

Then the next day had come, and there was no valentine, and the next and the next, and it had never come. Drusilla had grown very stiff and hurt, and Gregory had never come to ask an explanation, and after awhile he went away to another village and found work there, and Little River saw him only occasionally and Drusilla not at all.

So Drusilla always avoided going to the postoffice on Valentine's day that she might evade even the appearance of being interested in the anniversary of the good saint. But today—and she frowned as she recollected it—there was a matter of sending a money order to the city that must be attended to, for an impecunious cousin had written and asked for a loan to tide over a financial difficulty. Drusilla Fowler was not a shirker when duty presented itself, and so she swallowed her repugnance and buttoned herself into a thick warm cloak and pinned on her most becoming hat, for Drusilla had pride in her appearance.

Her adventures began from the very moment she passed out of her own yard into the street. The Franklins' goat was hungrily browsing on the privet hedge that surrounded his master's yard, and as he turned his little evil eye on Drusilla she involuntarily uttered a vicious little "Scat!"

Billy wheeled about on the pivot of his hind legs, reared himself menacingly, dropped his head and made one dive after Drusilla Fowler. But she had gone. With the speed of an antelope she had picked up the skirts of her long cloak and darted down the street, the angry goat leaping after her with increasingly swift gait.

Men dashed to head him off and dodged his threatening horns; women screamed and took to the opposite side of the street; children scattered like chaff until there only remained on the long street the flying red cloaked form of Drusilla Fowler and the plunging gray coated Billy after her.

The first building into which she might safely turn was the postoffice. It stood at the corner of the main street and the road that ran to the river. The doors were usually wide open even in this wintry weather, and there would be friendly hands to help her in and to close the portals against the invasion of Billy. Once she glanced behind and saw his waving gray whiskers and the glitter of his evil eye and renewed her speed.

At last the postoffice. Drusilla dashed across the street up the wide stone steps and reached the top as the frenzied goat clattered his hoofs on the bottom one. Drusilla was conscious that big familiar hands, warm and friendly, grasped her own and drew her to a place of safety behind a tall broad shouldered figure—Gregory Ware.

The goat bounded up the steps and slipped through the closing doors, his hoofs skating along the oiled floor; then he saw his reflection in the glass front of the tier of letter boxes and paused, staring, belligerent, bleating angrily.

Some one laid a tentative hand on his back and was rewarded with a vicious lunge. Billy renewed his gaze in the glass. He pawed the floor angrily; he bleated once more, and then before the horrified onlookers could prevent him he bent his head and crashed violently into the glass front, shattering it in a thousand flying fragments and toppling the whole structure on to the startled postmistress and her assistant.

Fortunately nobody was hurt, not even Billy the goat. The glass front of letter box No. 13 was impaled on one horn, and on the other was a fancy embossed envelope that inclosed a valentine. Somewhat subdued, he was captured by several citizens of Little River and tethered to the doorknob. Then one and all went forward to assist in restoring order in the chaos of mail matter.

Drusilla, pale and frightened, still hovered in the corner into which Gregory Ware had thrust her and which he had left without a word to help clear up the wreckage. Fanny Bicknell, the sharp faced, sandy haired little postmistress, pointed a skinny finger at Drusilla, while her little dark eyes flashed resentfully.

"I declare, Drusilly Fowler, ain't you got any better sense than to tag that goat of the Franklins into the postoffice? I expect the gov'ment will get after you. You've broke all the rules of the office. It says no dogs allowed inside, and that means goats and such. I thought you didn't take no stock in the Franklins' goat."

"I don't," retorted Drusilla, with spirit. "He chased me all the way down here. He's the bane of my life. You can look to Mr. Franklin for damages."

"I shall," said Miss Bicknell acidly, and then, addressing the men who were picking up glass preparatory to raising the fallen section of boxes, she added: "What you men fussing over there? Remember that's all gov'ment mail matter you're handling."

"Picking some of these letters out of the dirt under your boxes, Miss Fanny," said Gregory Ware grimly. "I should recommend that you have something done about your boxes. The whole thing is cracked and warped, and the mail box is full of cracks. Look under here where it stood." He pointed to a square dust outlined space on the floor where several yellowed and dirty missives were mingled with bits of dirt and splintered glass. "You're the postmistress, Miss Fanny. You'd better see what these letters are doing underneath the mailing box." He stood back while the fussy little woman came forward and picked the letters out of the accumulated soil. She scanned them closely—there were three in all—and then she looked hesitatingly around the office.

"These must have slipped through the crack in the mailing box," she said after awhile. "Here's a bill from Fryer & Kermit for Anson Rowell. Come to think of it, Anson's dead this five years, and Fryer & Kermit went bankrupt anyway, so there's no harm done there! And here's a postal card for Mrs. Beebe, saying that Burns & Co. ain't got the sample of blue cloth she asked for, and, land, it's dated two years back, so that don't make no matter either, because Mrs. Beebe's wearing black now anyway. And—here's a letter for—mercy me, are you there, Drusilly Fowler? Here, Gregory, give that letter to Drusilly while I boss these men." She thrust a yellowed embossed envelope into Gregory's hand and turned away.

He came toward Drusilla, his eyes fixed on the missive in his hand, his face white beneath its coat of tan. When he spoke his voice was thick with emotion.

"Drusilla, here's a letter Miss Fanny just found under the mailing box. I like as not it's been there all this last ten years, ever since I mailed it one night before Valentine's day. I never understood why you never answered it," he said with slow emphasis as she took the letter from him. "Now I know, but I suppose it's too late

She opened the missive with shaking fingers and drew from within a lacy and flowered valentine. Wreaths of roses and forget-me-nots surrounded two loving hearts, and underneath was a printed verse that was heavily underscored in ink:

While I protest my heart is thine
I would inquire if thine is mine.
If this be true pray give a sign
To say you'll be my valentine.

And the name of Gregory Ware was signed to it, and the date was ten years ago! Drusilla stared at it until all the coldness had fled from her eyes and a great tenderness invaded her face. Ashamed to lift her betraying glance to his serious inquiring one, she pressed the valentine with unconscious grace to her heart.

"Oh, this ought to have come before—it ought to have come before!" she cried passionately.

"Is it too late now, Drusilla?" asked Gregory softly. "It's never too late to be happy—if you want to be," he suggested.

"I want to be," sighed Drusilla contentedly, and then later she added, "Who would have thought that goat of Franklin's would prove a blessing in disguise?"

Little River folk watched agape, and nobody but those two understood why Gregory Ware and Drusilla Fowler led the Franklins' pet goat home with such solicitude or why Gregory bought it afterward and changed its name to Valentine.

"It can browse in the south meadow. He'll make a nice playmate—for somebody—some day," he added vaguely.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

A Germ Disease Which is Baffling the Doctors and Alarming the People Generally

It may be said that doctors are only agreed on two points regarding this much dreaded disease.

First, that it is a germ disease, and, second, like all germ diseases can only be fought with pure, rich blood.

Prevention is always the better way and that is why we are always talking about the wisdom of keeping the blood pure and rich and the nerves healthy and strong by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Rich, red blood is a deadly foe to disease germs whether they are germs of infantile paralysis, of colds, of consumption or any other disease.

Don't let the blood get thin and watery. Don't let the nerves get exhausted. The risk is too great. Every dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food goes to the formation of a certain amount of pure, rich blood. For this reason you are certain to benefit by this treatment.

You need not wait until you have some form of paralysis before testing this great medicine. Be warned by headaches, sleeplessness, irritability, failing memory and power of concentrating the mind. Restore the system while still you have something to build on.

Get new energy and vigour into the system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co. Toronto

HELP FOR OLD BACKS THAT ACHE

GIN PILLS Cure Them

Age is no barrier to the wonderful, soothing, healing properties of GIN PILLS, the great Canadian Kidney Cure. We have on record many letters from men and women of 60, 65, 70, 75, 80 and over, testifying to the great relief they received from taking GIN PILLS.

Mr. Samuel Martin of Strathroy, Ont. suffered for twenty years with misery in his back. Some months ago, he tried GIN PILLS and after taking only three boxes, was entirely cured. Mr. Martin is now 85 years of age and enjoys the robust health of a vigorous man of sixty, thanks to GIN PILLS.

All elderly people are troubled, more or less, with Kidney and Bladder Trouble, and pain and weakness in the back. GIN PILLS are a guaranteed cure for all these misfortunes. Money promptly refunded if they fail to give complete satisfaction.

50c. a box—6 for $2.50. Sample box free if you write us, mentioning this paper. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. B., Toronto. 46

FIG PILLS

Cure Constipation and all Kidney, Liver, Stomach and Bowel disorders. FIG PILLS cure rheumatism by dissolving the uric acid in the blood. Guaranteed to do all we claim. Price 25c. per box at all leading druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Fig Pill Co., St. Thomas, Ont.

Plumber.

Mulligan, the contractor, put up a church building. Dunn was building inspector then, and when he saw the church he said, "Pat, it isn't plumb."

That made Mr. Mulligan pretty mad. He climbed right up and began to take measurements. Having squinted down the plumb line in a dozen different places, he was ready to report. There was a ring of triumph in his voice.

"Mr. Dunn," he said, "come and look at it y'rself. Plumb, eh? By th' piper that played before Moses, it's more than plumb!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It Worked.

There are a great many ways devised for avoiding jury duty.

The story is told of a man who was noted in the county because of the badness of his son. Finding that there was no way of escape from serving, he had an obliging friend telegraph him at the courthouse.

The telegram read, "Your son is no better." The judge was so amused at the ingenuity that he let the man off.—Judge.

Mary's Little Hat.

Mary had a little hat—
But there! I'm really grieved.
There's no use finishing the poem—
It will not be believed.
—Harper's Bazar.

But we can make a little guess
And come within a mile.
When Mary had that little hat
Big ones were not in style.
—Springfield Union.

Or maybe this thought will explain
About that "little hat;"
It only seemed small when compared With Mary's nifty "rat."
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Mary may have really had
A little hat, but still
I'll bet that there was nothing
Very little to the bill.
—Nashville Tennessean.

If Mary had this little hat
There is no sort of doubt
It would allow a few more feet
For hatpins to stick out.
—Yonkers Statesman.

Noise.

Rivers had just got home and was stumbling over the things in the dark hallway.

"What are you growling about, dear?" called out Mrs. Rivers from the floor above.

"I am growling," he answered in his deepest bass voice, "to drown the barking of my shins!"—Chicago Tribune.

Smile.

When fifteen paces is your lead
And the sheriff gaining fast;
When rent day bobs up and cash fond
You fear will be your last;
When debtors rise as one and the
The dreaded little "list;"
When walking every little while
You meet a shaking fist;
When pockets that once jingled loud
Are empty and thus still;
When once you've sported with the crowd
And blew it to its fill;
When once it was a constant joy
To live and eat in style—
'Twas easy then to laugh, my boy,
But smile now, blank you, smile!
—Smile.

THAT BLANK LOOK.

Scientist Says "the Baby Stare" Is Not a Thing to Be Admired.

Where is the man who sometime or other in his career has not owned to the fascination which lies in a baby stare? Now come the scientists, who somehow or other manage to spoil many a good thing sooner or later, telling us that the baby stare is something of which to be ashamed rather than proud. They state—rather convincingly, too—that that peculiarly expressionless expression which every devotee of the footlights has endeavored to affect at one time or another is nothing less than a token of imbecility, undeveloped faculties, and possibly of criminal tendencies. There is more credit in having eyes that will not behave, eyes with some sort of expression, even if it be a naughty one, than in having eyes that are blank and staring like a baby's.

Innocence, childish charm and fascination—those are the qualities which the woman who cultivates round eyes and blank expression thinks her face portrays. Ridiculous, say the scientists. In the first place, because it is an affectation the baby stare is repulsive to a discriminating individual. In the second place, the woman who affects it is copying something which, when unassumed, means criminality. And what woman of even mediocre intelligence cares to cultivate the look found on the countenances of imbeciles and criminals? It has been found that the baby stare—when it is perfectly natural, that is—in the face of an adult is an almost certain indication of some mental shortcoming which may develop along criminal lines or may grow into a harmless imbecility. The child, every one agrees, is a miniature savage with no sense of responsibility, and the grown man or woman with the child's eyes and vacant face may be almost anything but normal.

Many of the most irresponsible criminals have had the child's face, and these same scientists are prone to believe that the baby stare was the chief fascination of many of the famous and malicious beauties of history. With them the stare was not an affectation, but an index to their shortcomings. Man is always fascinated by the insidious. The baby stare is insidious and may be the mask of more malevolence than the most brutal or crafty expression. So much for the nature of it as scientists see it.

No matter what these learned men have to say about the subject ordinary men and some not so ordinary see, better than all else in a woman's face the wide-eyed, startled dawn expression—which means so little and is just on and off like a mask. It is safe to say that when Antony raved in jealous wrath against Cleopatra the latter knew how to make the round, vacant eyes and stare innocently and at the same time fascinatingly at Marc, so that his wrath disappeared like down on the gale. When Semiramis wanted another man put out of the way she didn't scout around the palace and the temple of the sun hunting the thing with a pained and anxious expression. It is safe bet that she waited till he came around and then gave him the baby stare—the man disappeared. Not that the girl with the baby stare cannot look as slyly, maliciously, coyly, wisely, or enticingly as any other. The baby stare is just a part of a beauty's stage setting.

Crass Ignorance.

An unsophisticated resident of a small town up the state had never been in court before and was not familiar with the interrogative manner in which a lawyer juggles a witness. When he returned home in the evening a friend asked him how he had made out.

"Oh, I made out all right," he replied, "but I never saw such a bum lot of lawyers in my life."

"What was the matter with them?" queried the friend.

"A whole lot was the matter with them," answered the witness. "Judging from the million questions they asked me there ain't a darned one of them that knows anything about the case."

The Thumb.

Thumbs have been appreciated ever since the world began. The ancients used to call the thumb the other hand. Barbarous kings used to swear and make compacts by their thumbs. In Rome it was a sign of favor to wring and kiss the thumb and of disfavor or disgrace to lift it up or turn it outward. A man who was hurt in his thumbs was excused from serving in the Roman wars. Some of the scoundredly citizens used to cut off their thumbs so as to remain at home and get rich. Teachers used to punish their pupils by biting their thumbs.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieves all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it, while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

100 DOSES

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna -
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed -
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda -
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor.

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

THE BANK OF OTTAWA

ESTABLISHED 1874.

Paid Up Capital and Rest - - $7,400,000

A JOINT ACCOUNT

may be opened in the

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

in the names of two persons either of whom can deposit or withdraw money.

Peterboro Branch, George St., G. C. Wainright, Manager

FOR SALE

Two Houses, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER

INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies

Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

OXO CUBES

put heat in the body and protect against the cold. The perfect winter food and drink.

4 Cubes, 10c. 28

—a relish for luncheon
—an appetizer for dinner
—good with meals
—good between meals
—good for everybody

O'Keefe's 114
Pilsener Lager
"The Light Beer in the Light Bottle"

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the needaries. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capita $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,355,504.40
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,500,026.69
Surplus $1,780 477.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'
W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of
LAMB
MUTTON
PORK
Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon
Butcher Market Arcade

PETERBORO' PENNANTS 50c
J. J. TURNER & SONS
Corner George, King and Water Streets.
Both Phones Peterborough

China Painting
Mrs. Langley McCathy
Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

RAILWAYS SELL SOME ODD THINGS

When Unclaimed Baggage is Auctioned —People Buy "Pigs in Pokes" Out of Curiosity

Every year railways dispose of unclaimed baggage by auction, and as the buyers bid on trunks or parcels without knowing their contents, there is always excitement.

The distribution of goods and chattels bought at auction in the baggage-room at Windsor Station, Montreal, recently, took place when a motley crowd, all agog with curiosity, besieged the patient officials, who trundled out trunks, hauled down sacks, and generally disposed of the accumulation with more speed than the onlooker, ignorant of the methods by which baggage is handled, would have supposed possible.

The opening of purchases on the premises was made against the rules, in order that the floor space might be kept clear for the wheeling and carrying out of trunks and boxes as they were handed handed over to the buyers; but not a few impatient men pried surreptitiously into the bundles received in exchange for sums of money which ran from two to ten dollars, and their hasty investigations brought to light a few quaint collections of odds and ends.

One man, who had fondly hoped to find in his bundle something which might be of use in the replenishment of his wardrobe, fished out of thick wadding one of those wire forms on which female bodices are fitted; while another discovered the contents of a large substantial trunk to be wholly unsubstantial and petrified bread.

Yet on the other hand, a rather shabby "telescope" bag yielded at least half a dozen suits of fleece-lined underwear; and a man who had bought largely in past years said that two years ago he sold for $60 the goods bought for $20. The majority of the bidders were dealers in second-hand clothes, and men who make money in the handling of ordinary every-day rags, bought extensively.

A trunk, bearing the label of "Bow's Emporium, Glasgow," was undone in the sleigh to which it was carried for transportation, and showed plainly that the former owner of it had forsaken the ranks of the bachelors, since dainty bits of lingerie were found mixed up with masculine collars, shaving apparatus, and a voluminous book on baseball.

Most of those who experienced disappointment took their losses philosophically, but one disheartened individual, finding not even a tray in the trunk for which he had expended five dollars, burst into a torrent of self-accusation and pity; and another, grumbling at large to anyone who would listen, promptly refused for his pile an offer of the same amount for which he himself had paid.

There seemed to be a preponderance of boots in many of the sacks, and the cutting of the string which held together a soft, large blanket loosened a choking cloud of fine feathers. In a small hand bag had been carefully packed a plate, a knife, a cracked cup and a bottle of pickles; and an attractive sign, done in black and white, "For sale, or to let. Apply to B. Gilmour," was tenderly taken out in company with two "Halma" boards, one-half of a bed and a disjointed baby's chair.

LICENSE FOR 600 YEARS

A London Inn Which Was Established in 1278

What romantic stories of London life are recalled by the history of "Ye Olde Wheate Harte," probably the most ancient, and certainly the most interesting of London's inns, which is at present in course of reconstruction. Established as long ago as 1278, at the top of Drury Lane, it has outlived all other inns, in that part of the Metropolis, at any rate. It was first built on a plan familiar to all readers of Dickens's novels—with the courtyard opening on to the main thoroughfare, with wooden galleries running round the building, approached by steps from the courtyard.

Good times there must have been for the Whyte Harte when the citizens of London passed its doors in their thousands when accompanying the condemned criminals on their way to Tyburn, and many a goodly sum must have passed into the coffers of mine host for the privilege of viewing the procession from its windows. Special interest was attracted to the Whyte Harte when Jack Sheppard went to Tyburn accompanied by a crowd number ing some 200,000, and also when Jonathan Wild went to the gallows. Both of these worthies were for some time residents of Drury Lane, and also publicans in that locality, and doubtless they were frequenters of the Whyte Harte.

In the early days of the history of the Whyte Harte Drury Lane was inhabited by a very different class of people from those who now occupy it. It it lived the Earl of Anglesey, for some time Lord Privy Seal; the Earls of Clare and Craven, and numerous other members of the aristocracy.

And in what was known as the Coal Yard, which abutted on the garden wall of the Whyte Harte, was born Nell Gwyn in 1650. It was as an orange-girl, holding a basket of fruit in the pit of the King's Theatre, which stood where Drury Lane Theatre now stands, that she first attracted the attention of Charles II. Nelly's abode was the house at the top of Drury Lane and the corner of Wych Street, and it is Pepy's who in his Diary writ s that on the 1st of May, 1667, on his way to Westminster, he "saw pretty Nelly standing at her lodging door in Drury Lane in her smock sleeves and bodice, looking on at the milkmaids dancing with a fiddler before them. She seemed a mighty pretty creature.

Headaches Stopped

Mr. J. A. Wessinger found Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey the only medicine to cure him of his headaches, which had been the bane of his life.

"For years I suffered from headaches and though I tried all the Doctors in my community, they all told me that they could not do me any good. On the recommendation of a friend, I commenced to use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and I have not had a headache since. You may be sure I will pass the good word along to all my neighbors."—J. A. Wessinger, Chapin, S. C.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

through its tonic and rebuilding constituents, will cure troublesome nervous complaints by supplying the system with those vital elements which it needs to bring about a complete restoration to health.

The processes of tearing down and building up are constantly being carried on in the body, and if nothing interferes with these important processes good health results; but when something occurs to check them disease is sure to follow. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey overcomes the disease by stimulating the heart and nerves, which quickens the circulation of blood, enabling the system to properly assimilate the food from the alimentary tract; also to adequately eliminate from the system, through the lungs, pores, kidneys and intestines, those waste products, such as uric acids, toxins, etc., which result from the disintegration of the old tissues of the body, and the decomposition of alimentum in the alimentary canal.

All liquor dealers, or direct, $1.25 a large bottle. Medical booklet, containing rare common-sense rules for health and testimonials, also doctor's advice, sent free to any one who writes. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

F. R. J. Mitchell, George St., Agent.

POOR MAN BECOMES RICH

George Gates, However, Had a Hard Struggle With Poverty

A struggling Californian inventor named George Gates, who is seventy years of age, has sold to a syndicate of eleven of the greatest railway systems of the United States, for three and a half millions sterling, the patent rights to a concrete railway tie or sleeper invented by him.

The new concrete sleeper is considered the greatest railway invention since the air-brake. It is a composition of substances which afford extraordinary resilience and durability. A single machine can turn them out at the rate of 3,500 a day.

Gates is a veteran of the Civil War, and has had a hard fight with poverty during his career as an inventor.

He proposes to spend a portion of the money now received in perfecting and introducing another invention styled by him a "continuous rail." Of the remainder, the bulk will be placed in trust for the benefit of his wife and relatives generally. For the present Gates lives in a modest cottage in San Jose, California.

DANGEROUS BODYGUARDS

Few Sovereigns Careless In Avoiding Danger Died in their Beds

It is not always the case that a trusted royal bodyguard proves worthy of confidence, and history gives several instances like that of the Prætorian guard under the later Roman Emperors, who became virtual rulers of the Empire, and deposed and replaced at will the nominal wearers of the Imperial purple. So, too, the Mamelukes of Egypt who used to choose a ruler from among their own number and were afterwards so dangerous to the new Turkish Government that Mehemet Ali arranged a treacherous massacre of the whole regiment.

It is one of the ironies of history that those kings who have been the most careful to avoid possible danger have very seldom died in their beds. The experience of ages goes to show that a king who is the special object of relentless, unwearying enmity and hatred cannot often escape his doom; although at times the trust engendered by a clean conscience and a sense of popularity has left a blameless monarch open to a wanton or insane criminal, where a less beloved prince might be on his guard or not unprotected.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 31 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers, in handsome cloth-binding, 50 stamps.

WHISKY MADE FROM SAWDUST

How the Material is Treated—Simple and Economical to a Degree

The president of the International Congress of Chemists at the World's Fair, Chicago, remarked that the next greatest discovery in chemistry would be the manufacture of alcohol from lumber refuse. Probably not one of the chemists assembled at that congress imagined for one moment that the discovery would be made within twenty years from that date; for chemists have been experimenting for the greater part of a century trying to discover a method of making pure alcohol from a wood waste.

To-day, however, the discovery is an accomplished fact, and is the result of experiments which have been carried on for five years by two Chicago chemists, who claim to have discovered a process by which pure ethyl alcohol can be made from sawdust or wood waste of any kind. That the discovery has actually been made is evident from the fact that the United States Department of Agriculture, after making the fullest investigations of the process patented by the inventors, has made a highly laudable report about it. The department describes it as "a revolutionary discovery," in view of the numerous uses of alcohol.

Alcohol as Light and Fuel

For lighting purposes it is admitted to be brighter, safer, cleaner, and more desirable in every way than kerosene; as a fuel it competes successfully with gasolene, coal, wood, or any present known heat-maker. It has won its place in the kitchen cooking stove and in the locomotive tender; it lights drawing-rooms and drives automobiles. And, in addition to this, it is an important ingredient in the manufacture of scores of articles, of which gunpowder is one. Germany has made experiments with alcohol as a fuel on its battleships, and its use instead o coal has been declared not only feasible, but desirable.

All manner of engines, from the delicate affair in the aeroplane to the giant that pulls a train, may use alcohol as a fuel. Alcohol steamships, locomotives, airships, motor-cars, and power plants thus become probabilities of the future.

Oil wells may go dry, coal-mines will be used up, but alcohol, found in every form of plant life, will be available so long as Nature makes trees grow on the earth's surface.

How the Sawdust is Treated

The process of manufacturing alcohol from sawdust is simple and economical to a degree. In appearance the plant combines certain features both of a pulp factory and a distillery. First in the process the sawdust is poured into a "digester," similar in operation to the "digesters" of pulp plants. Here it is treated under high steam pressure for a short time in the presence of a small quantity of acid. A portion of the wood is thus converted into glucose.

The glucose is then fermented and distilled into alcohol by distilling apparatus similar to that found in a regular corn-distilling plant. In brief, the sawdust goes into the plant one end and comes out at the other in the form of pure alcohol—not wood alcohol, but pure alcohol—purer than that which comes from corn and barley, there being in it not a trace of fusel oil.

It is estimated that there is enough wooden waste thrown away every year to more than supply the country's demand for alcohol. With this waste utilised under the new process, corn will cease to be a necessity to the alcohol distiller, as will barley. These two crops will thus be freed of this source of drain, and their entire millions of bushels may be used solely for food. The effect of this upon the economic conditions of the world is inestimable.

TORTOISE SHELL

The Finest Specimen is Said to Come From the Indian Archipelago

The finest tortoise shell is said to be that which comes from the Indian Archipelago, although much of that obtained on the Florida coast is of the very best quality. There are three rows of plates on the back of the animal, called "blades" by the fishermen. In the central row are five plates, and in each of the others four plates, the latter containing the best material. Besides these there are 25 small plates round the edges of the shell, known as "feet" or "noses." The biggest turtle does not furnish more than 16 pounds of shell. Formerly the undershell was discarded as worthless, but now it is much esteemed for its delicacy of coloring. Sometimes imitation of tortoise shell is made of the horns of cows.

RIDING RECORDS

A Breathless Ride of Twenty Miles or More Under a Red Hot Boer Fire

A lawsuit has lately centred round a breathless ride of twenty miles or more under a hot Boer fire; but, judged merely as a record of hard riding, this has been easily outdone on many occasions. Field-Marshal Sir George White, V.C., when a major on the staff in India, covered 210 miles in two days through a wild and difficult stretch of the enemy's country, in order to join the "Gay Gordons" at Kabul, whence they were starting on that immortal march to Kandahar.

In the very early days of Natal a Mr. Richard King covered the distance from Durban to Grahamstown, 600 miles, in ten days, through a hostile and comparatively unknown country, with not a single bridge over rivers and streams. However, in traveling to precisely the same destination from Cape Town, a distance of 700 miles, Sir Harry Smith beat the above record, for he performed the journey in six days.

But to Archibald Forbes, the famous war correspondent, doubtless belongs the best riding record. To begin with, he covered a hundred miles on the day following the Russian assault on Plevna, in order to reach Bucharest and telegraph home his account of the engagement. This, however, he completely put in the shade during the Zulu War of 1879, when, after the Battle of Ulundi, he rode alone over 116 miles of trackless country swarming with Zulus, in the short space of fifteen hours, to reach a telegraph office with news of the victory for English newspaper readers. He then continued his ride to Pietermaritzburg, 170 miles farther south, which he achieved in a little over twenty-nine hours! And all this by a man suffering from a wound in his leg received during the battle!

As for records in marching on foot, there seems to be no end to them. Only a year or two ago an English regiment, the Shropshire Light Infantry, on conclusion of some arduous manoeuvres, covered a distance of fifty-five miles in two days without a single man falling out, and carrying the burden of full equipment.

Then there was the Kabul to Kandahar march of 313 miles in thirty days; and only a short time ago the 19th Battalion of the Chasseurs-a-pied in France marched sixty-eight kilometres—over forty English miles—in one day, though even this astonishing feat is put completely in the shade by the forced march of the famous Light Division in the Peninsula, when the troops, carrying from 50 to 60 pounds each on their shoulders, covered sixty-two miles in twenty-six hours!

NEED OF GOOD SEED

As Direct Method of Ensuring Larger Returns

The absolute necessity of good seed as the most direct method of insuring larger returns, not only in larger yields, but also in crops free from weed impurities, is being fully realized by thousands of young farmers throughout the entire West, says a Winnipeg paper. The use of impure seed, low in vitality, means nothing but ruin and disappointment to the sower. Pure seed of a pedigreed strain, on the other hand, is too expensive to buy in large quantities from the various seed firms, and the only course left open to the farmer of average means is that of growing the seed himself, or securing it from some neighbor who has grown it, and for which he will ask a good figure. A few bushels should be bought and planted on a carefully prepared piece of land, free from weeds and the crop carefully harvested and stored for next season's seed.

After obtaining successful results for a few years, many farmers even go further, and by a system of selection and elimination gradually build up a strain of the variety he is growing, which may be either a heavier yielder, more resistant to smut or frost, or stronger in the straw, and so forth. Such work, however, requires more time, and at present is mostly left to specialists or experimental farms in this Western country. There are, however, some private growers throughout the West who are interested in the work, and are obtaining very satisfactory results.

A BETTER WORLD

No Poverty, He Says, a Hundred Years From Now

Mr. Edison is in favor of books made of nickel. He is also in favor of steel furniture, so the "Cosmopolitan Magazine" tells us. The reason for this change is the expensiveness of wood. Steel furniture is light, and can afterwards be stained to resemble any kind of wood. Edison also believes in building with reinforced concrete in which steel is embedded. "Reinforced concrete is not only cheaper than brick and steel, but it is fireproof," and will practically last for ever. Edison continues: "The day of the seamstress wearily sewing her seam is also ended. There is no reason why women should do what machinery can do better. There will be no poverty in the world a hundred years from now." There is no limit to the cheapness with which things can be made. The world will soon be flooded with the cheap, not the poor, product of machinery. Why should poverty continue? Poverty was for a world which only used its hands. Now that men have begun to use their brains, it is decreasing."

To revolutionize war Edison has invented a new storage battery of great power, but light enough to carry. If submarines can use them the submarine may become so formidable that it will not be worth while to build battleships."

A CITY OF CHAMPAGNE

Epernay, France, is a Subterranean City of Wine

Epernay, in France, the centre of the rioting which recently took place in the wine-growing districts, is a vast subterranean city of champagne.

There are miles and miles of underground galleries, like streets, hewn out of the solid chalk, and flanked with millions of bottles of champagne of all blends and qualities.

It is not an inviting place, this subterranean city of wine. All is dark, dank and damp, with the temperature about zero. Yet in this low temperature, and under these dark and unhealthy conditions, thousands of workers spend the bulk of their waking lives.

For although the champagne is stored for so long as five and six years underground, it is not left alone there or unattended. Every one of the millions of bottles must be shaken up day by day. If this is not done regularly and properly, the wine ceases to ferment, and is spoiled.

Every now and again, too, in the earlier stages, each bottle must be opened for a fraction of a second, and a small quantity of the fermenting wine allowed to escape.

Her Face and Body Were Litterly Covered With "BOILS."

Burdock Blood Bitters Cured Them.

Mrs. John H. King, Johnston, N.B. writes:—"Last summer I was very much troubled with boils, and my face and body were literally covered with them. A friend advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. I got three bottles, and before I had taken all the first one my boils began to go away. I had just taken a few doses out of the last one when they all disappeared. My husband has also used Burdock Blood Bitters with much benefit."

Boils in themselves are not a dangerous trouble, but still, at the same time, are very painful. They are caused entirely by bad blood, and to get rid of them it is necessary to put the blood in good condition, and for this purpose there is nothing to equal that old and tried remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

"The Real Thing"

For Those Who Work Outdoors

There is nothing like a cup of Cowans' Cocoa to warm you up after being out in the cold. It is a good wholesome drink, appetizing and refreshing.

Nothing but the pure cocoa beans, and the best beans at that, go into the manufacture of Cowan's Perfection Cocoa. It is absolutely pure. 100

Do you use Cowan's Cocoa?

THE COWAN COMPANY LIMITED, TORONTO

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	1.40 a.m.	2.35 a.m
	9.00 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	6.05 a.m.	11.05 a.m.
	5.35 p.m.	9.25 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	6.05 a.m.	11.05 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	5.35 p.m.	9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.00 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.
	10.15 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	8.15 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
	5.05 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
Lakefield.	10.00 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
	5.15 p.m.	12.05 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.55 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m.
	1.05 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'.
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	8.30 a.m.
	4.01 a.m.
Burketown, Bobcaygeon, Fyrtle, Toronto.	7.40 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$42.60

PACIFIC COAST

ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS
MAR. 10 TO APRIL 10

THE ONLY THROUGH LINE

TOURIST AND COLONIST SLEEPING CARS ON ALL TRAINS

Ask any C.P.R. Agent for Particulars

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Reduced Rates for One-Way Tickets March 10 to April 10 inclusive

42.60 { Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Ore.

45.20 { San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal. Mexico City

Above rates are one-way second class stopping from Peterborough. Proportionate rates to certain other points.

Full particulars and tickets from—
City Ticket Office: 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE, City Ticket Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

THE RAG TAGS AND BOB TAIL

(COPYRIGHT, 1911, BY THE NEW YORK HERALD CO.)
All Rights Reserved.

THE TERRORS OF THE TINY TADS

1—The Tiny Tad has chopped a tree, for it is Christmas now.
He's going to get some things for it: let's watch and see just how!

2—A Unicornucopia is walking on a hill.
"Give me some toys!" the Tad implores. The beast replies, "I will!"

3—A big fat Pelicandy-box is waddling o'er the ice,
He gives the Tad some candy, very fresh and very nice.

4—And there's a country Sturiole, to which the Tad next goes,
And purchases some nuts and cakes and candles, all in rows.

5—These things he carries home with him, he puts them on the tree.
He lights the little candles, then he calls his little mates to see.

6—"You are a clever Tad!" they cry. "Come on, let's start to chow!
Come on, let's all Christmasticate these cakes and candles, too!"

(COPYRIGHT, 1910, BY THE NEW YORK HERALD CO.)
All Rights Reserved.

Speed The Parting

O, happy day, they've gone away,
No more they haunt the house;
For COMMON SENSE, without offense,
Has killed each rat and mouse.

COMMON SENSE is a paste which rats and mice eat in preference to other food. Unlike other preparations, it does not result in offensive odors, for no matter where the animal dies, its carcass completely dries up like a mummy. 15c, 25c, 50c and $1, at all dealers.

COMMON SENSE MFG. CO., 11
261 Queen Street West, - Toronto, Ont.

COAL
That Is Coal
Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 Per Ton
HARDWOOD
First Class—Best in City—at
$6.00 Per Cord
4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at
J. E. A. Fitzgerald's
Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

FRESH DAILY
Oyster Patties
Charlotte Russe
Plum Cakes
Lemon Cakes
Fancy Biscuits
Macaroons
ICE CREAM
In Bricks or Bulk
T. H. HOOPER
327-414-601 George Street

Hair and Fancy Goods
Whatever is new and good in Hair Coiffures, or that is required in dressing the hair in the very latest style we have it. Perfect match guaranteed. Our line of Smallwares and Fancy Goods is very complete and offers a choice selection.
MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

Plumbing, Hot Water Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing
We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets,
Phone 88
Estimates given on all contract work.
ADAM HALL
Limited

LAND REGULATIONS.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts, a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3 per acre in certain districts. Price $5 per acre Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Lots For Sale
— AND —
Houses to Rent
APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

TAKING THE CENSUS IN GREAT BRITAIN

Numbering the King's Subjects in England, Ireland and Scotland Is a Gigantic Task

Once more the fiat has gone forth for the numbering of the King's subjects, on Sunday, April 2nd. The necessary Census Acts—one for Great Britain, the other for Ireland—have been published; and after resting from its labors for nearly ten years the great census-taking machinery has begun to work again, and will know no rest from its labors for considerably more than a year.

More than a century ago it was no easy task to count the King's subjects, when there were fewer than 9,000,000 persons in England. Now that the population has grown fourfold, and to-day is, as nearly as possible, 36,000,000, its vastness requires no pointing out.

An Army of Enumerators

Already the whole country is flooded with tens of thousands of circulars and letters—to the local authorities, enjoining them to see that the naming and numbering of every street is in "apple pie order" before the fateful day of the census, so that the work of the enumerators may be made as simple as possible; and to the thousands of superintendent registrars, requiring them to arrange in good time for the services of a vast army of enumerators, whose number for Great Britain alone will exceed 40,000. All this naturally leads to a deluge of correspondence—letters by tens of thousands, each of which must be carefully considered and answered.

The more intricate and difficult work of the division of the country into the enumeration districts, so that no part of it, however minute, may be excluded from the survey, and so that each district shall be within the compass of one man's labor for a day. It is found in practice that in towns a district comprising about two hundred houses is large enough for one enumerator to tackle; while, in the country, a district involving a fifteen-mile walk is the measure of his powers; and into tens of thousands of such sections the whole area of the country must be mapped out.

Orders have already been given for the preparation of the almost countless schedules which in a few weeks' time will be scattered broadcast over the land.

Millions of Schedules

For this purpose it is calculated that 20,000 reams of paper have to be specially manufactured, and something like 9,500,000 schedules printed.

Later these millions of schedules will be sent to every point of the compass to the superintendent registrars, who in turn will distribute them among the heads of their sub-districts, to be kept until the week before the census day. Then they will be handed to the 40,000 or more enumerators, each of whom will distribute them in his special district, noting the delivery of each schedule in a book provided for the purpose.

On the 3rd of April all the schedules will be collected, with their many questions duly answered; if any assistance is required in filling up the form the enumerator's duty is to give it. But his work by no means ends here, although he will probably have well earned his money by this time. He must further "copy the entries in the schedules into his enumeration book and make an abstract of them in a form showing the total number of persons, males and females, the number of houses, and so on."

This task completed, the superintendent registrars dispatch their thousands of bundles of material to the Pimlico headquarters, where a largely augmented staff of clerks wrestles with them, gradually evolving from seeming chaos those wonderful tables of statistics which proclaim to the world all it wants to know about King George's subjects at home.

HIS MAJESTY THE KING AND THE NEWSPAPER MEN

His Majesty Inquires as to Arrangements being Made for them at the Coronation

King George evidently does not harbor any ill feeling against the press, for although the Coronation is nearly six months off, he has already inquired as to what arrangements are being made for the convenience of the press representatives on Coronation Day, adding that he remembers that they were rather badly handicapped at his father's coronation through lack of suitable accommodation.

As a result of the King's interest in the matter a well-known journalist has been placed in charge of the press arrangements, and as soon as he has mapped out his plans, he has been commanded to attend an audience at Buckingham Palace to lay his scheme before the King, who has further intimated that he wants the representatives of foreign newspapers to enjoy the same privileges as their English colleagues. A representative of the London Society of Foreign Journalists has, therefore, been appointed to co-operate with the English newspaper man in charge.

The whole of Westminster Abbey is to be closed to the public from about the middle of February, and will then be handed over by the Cathedral authorities to the Office of Works, which will then arrange for the necessary seating accommodation. At the coronation of King Edward seats for about seven thousand people were provided in the Abbey, but the number will have to be increased upon this occasion, since King George has expressly intimated that he desires room to be found for the members of the House of Commons and their ladies, and seats for these will probably be provided by the erection of galleries in the Edward the Confessor Chapel. Under any circumstances the accommodation will be taxed to the utmost, and many of those who receive the much-coveted "commands" will find themselves unable to obtain anything like a complete view of the entire ceremony. The sham Gothic annex to the Abbey, which was built for the last coronation, will be erected again. This acts as a convenient space in which the lengthy procession can be marshalled; while provision is also made for retiring-rooms for the King and Queen and the Royal Princes who will attend on this occasion.

WIRELESS FOR CANNIBALS

Messages May Be Sent From Australia to British New Guinea—Is Not "Good Form" to be Cannibal

A message by wireless telegraphy direct to a cannibal king will soon be within the realm of possibility, for a high-power wireless station is now in course of installation in British New Guinea, or Papua, a country where a proportion of the natives still maintain the unpleasant habit of eating their neighbors.

Mr. J. H. P. Murray, the Lieutenant-Governor of British New Guinea, gives the news of this strange linking together of civilization and darkest barbarism. He has just returned to London from Port Moresby, the capital of British New Guinea, 12,000 miles away.

"When the wireless station—which should now be in course of erection—is in working order," said Mr. Murray, "we shall be in daily communication with Australia, and there is some talk now of establishing a newspaper at Port Moresby. Under present conditions, without the wireless, when a business man in New Guinea wants to communicate with his principals in the Commonwealth, it may take about three months before he can get a reply."

No one knows how many people live in Papua, because a great part of the country is still unexplored. "There are about 700 whites," said Mr. Murray, "and the native population has been variously estimated at from 300,000 to 500,000. There are any number of tribes and dialects. Cannibalism is still rife in the districts beyond our sphere, but we are gradually spreading our influence and putting it down."

Imprisonment is a punishment for cannibalism, but Mr. Murray has found that the natives cease the practice when they are convinced that it is "bad form" to make a repast off a neighbor. Orokola is one village which has set its face against cannibalism and where no known cannibal is ever received. Thus, among the other natives to be on visiting terms at Orokolo is a mark of high social tone.

BRAZILIAN NAVAL COMEDY

British Seamen will Have to Take Place of Native Deserters

An amusing incident illustrating the discipline in the Brazilian Navy is reported by wireless (says the Exchange Telegraph Company) by the S.S. Amazon, which arrive at Solon from Rio de Janeiro.

It appeared that the Brazilian Government had booked passages by the Amazon for officers and sixty-three Brazilian sailors, who were embarking for the purpose of taking a new destroyer out to Rio de Janeiro.

When the order to muster was given it was found that sixty-one out of the sixty-three sailors had deserted. The two men who had remained loyal were promoted to the rank of officers, and the crew to bring the new destroyer to Brazil will now be composed of British seamen.

NIMROD UNSOLD

The Nimrod, the old sealing vessel in which Sir Ernest Shackleton made his Antarctic expedition, was put to auction the other day at the Baltic Sale Room, England.

The Nimrod, which was originally built at Dundee in 1866, has in her time helped in the catching of no fewer than 345,000 seals. To-day she is lying at Birkenhead, apparently as fit for work among the ice as ever she was.

The bidding for the vessel lay between two people, and began at £1,500. The auctioneer had expressed a willingness to take £3,000, but £2,975 was the highest offer.

A carter named John Kerr, Leith, was found dead in his bed. It appears that about three weeks before Kerr met with an accident in Edinburgh.

ANARCHISTS AND THEIR DOCTRINE

Questions Raised by the Houndsditch Affair—Raise Money by Fair Means or Foul

What are they striving for? What do they hope to gain by committing wholesale crimes? These questions have probably occurred to the minds of many readers since the amazing battle with Anarchists which the London police recently fought in the East-end. There are many aspects of Anarchism, which have been voluminously dealt with by a number of writers; but there is one idea common to all Anarchists, namely, that government of man by man constitutes oppression, and is an interference with freedom. Anarchists desire liberty for all men. They object to any regular government, and they object to any man possessing more land or capital than another. The latter should, they say, be the common property of society, at the disposal of everyone.

The following resolutions, drawn up at an Anarchist meeting some time ago, at which were present delegates from Anarchist societies in all parts of the world, explain the extraordinary aims and objects of Anarchists:—

"Destruction of the existing class rule by any means.

"Establishment of a free society, based upon co-operative organization of production.

"Free exchange of equivalent products by and between the productive organizations, without commerce and profitmongery.

"Equal rights for all, without distinction of sex or race.

"Regulation of all public affairs by free contracts between the autonomous (independent) communes and associations, resting on a federalistic basis."

Father of Anarchism

It is, in order to bring about this state of society, that Anarchists form their societies and their clubs and publish newspapers all over the world, persevering in their propaganda work in spite of the efforts of Governments to suppress them.

It is an error, however, to suppose that all Anarchists are of that extreme type who seek to attain their aims by spreading terrorism by assassination. There are moderates as well as extremists, who, in a quiet and unostentatious way, spread the teachings of Proudhon, the famous French Socialist and acknowledged father of Anarchism, who died in 1865. There are about fifty genuine Anarchist journals in existence at the present time, but not more than a dozen of these openly preach a doctrine of violence, the majority contenting themselves with denunciations of government and bureaucracy.

Audacious and Fearless

Concerning Anarchist newspapers, it might be mentioned that London has for the last few years been the headquarters of several Anarchist publications, which are printed for circulation in many other countries besides England. In countries like Spain and Portugal the fearlessness and audacity of Anarchists are strikingly illustrated by the fact that on the anniversary of the murder of King Carlos and his son busts of the murderers were placed on the graves of the two assassins, the celebrations being organized by a leading Anarchist newspaper. In Portugal the Anarchists openly flout the authorities, and it was the campaign of their newspapers which had a great deal to do with the revolution in Portugal which dethroned King Manuel.

Money is not lacking amongst Anarchists, but there are times when funds run short, and they are prevented from carrying on their work. And if they cannot obtain money by fair means they resort to foul, as in the case of the Houndsditch affair.—Tit-Bits.

PROVISION FOR THE FUTURE

Governess:—"Eat up your food, you ungrateful child. The day will come when you will wish that you had such a nice rice pudding to eat."
Little Girl:—"Will it, Miss Pearsall? Perhaps I'd better keep it till then."
—Punch.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD STAFF

The King and Queen Make Several Appointments, Including a Position for Lady Minto

King George has just appointed Mr. Montague Eliot to be a Gentleman Usher in the Royal Household, so that Mrs. Eliot, who was Miss Helen Post, will be seen much about the Court next season. Mr. Eliot was given the post in the last reign, just before King Edward's death, but his reappointment has come as a pleasant surprise to his friends. The Hon. Sidney Greville, a brother of Lord Warwick, who was Groom-in-Waiting to King Edward, has not been offered the post by King George. Mr. Greville will devote himself to the Court of Queen Alexandra. The two new Grooms-in-Waiting are Mr. Harry Varney, and Captain Philip Hunloke, who is a well-known yachtsman, and was a friend of King George in the old days in the Navy. Queen Mary has taken a very long time to complete her household. The three new Ladies-of-the-Bedchamber are Lady Minto, wife of the ex-Viceroy of India, Lady Ampthill, and Lady Desborough, the last named being one of the most charming and exclusive of hostesses in the country and the wife of the splendid athlete and sportsman who was formerly known as Mr. W. H. Grenfell. The new Maids of Honor, who will not have to work so hard as their predecessors in Queen Victoria's time, are Miss Sybil Broderick, Miss Venetia Baring, of banking fame, Miss Katherine Villiers, who is a descendant of King William IV., and Miss Mabel Cye, a niece of the Hon. Alexander Nelson Hood, the Queen's private secretary.

THE UNDEFEATED SALESMAN

Customer:—"But it hasn't got all the time I've been in the shop" Salesman:—"Yes, madam, it has—every minute. Have you noticed it's not once struck you that it's been sleep on every blessed day, and after two o'clock on Thursdays nothing will induce that intelligent bird to utter a sound?"—Punch.

THE FAVORITE IN A MILLION HOMES
Seal Brand Coffee
Packed in cans
1 and 2 pound only.

It Pays The Housewife
to use the best sugar—because poor sugar means poor cooking.
St. Lawrence Sugar
is the genuine "Montreal Granulated"—absolutely pure, sparkling crystals of the most inviting appearance.
Ask your grocer for a 20 lb. bag of ST. LAWRENCE GRANULATED — also sold by the barrel and in 100 lb. bags.
The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co. Limited
MONTREAL. 32

"May I call you Mabel?"
"If you wish to, but my name is Gertrude."

A FRIEND OF THE CRADLE

Alluding to the accidents of birth, Lord Warwick told an amusing story recently. Some years ago when he was connected with the Warwickshire Yeomanry, and drilling his men on the commons, a man in very poor circumstances and indifferent health came up and said, "Good morning, Colonel, I know you very well, my lord." The peer answered that he did not remember the man, whereupon the latter rejoined, "My lord, I am the baby that you were vaccinated from."

HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE.

COULD NOT CROSS THE FLOOR PAIN WAS SO GREAT.

Miss Hazel Hess, Winchester Springs, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad, at times, I could not cross the floor for the pain. The doctor could not do me any good and a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought six boxes and now I have been cured for over four years. I will recommend them to every sufferer."

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a purely vegetable medicine, realizing quick, permanent relief, without any after ill effects. A medicine that will absolutely cure backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Eggs for sale in any quantities.
Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.
W. SCOTT Co., Limited
Office corner George and Hunter Sts
Both Phones 262
Yards 124 Robinson Street
East City
Both Phones 264

COAL! COAL!
The Standard Anthracite D. L. & W. for
SCRANTON COAL
$7.50 Per Ton
Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc
Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.
R. HICKS & Co
YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 68

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.
JAY'S STORE
390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 622

East City
Coal and Wood Yard
MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96
All sizes of Best Mixed Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.
COAL $7.50 PER TON
Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac Cutting and splitting extra.
WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.
See our line of new and re-built wheels
Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
328 George 328 George
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at
388 George St. HENRY HAMILTON
Ice Cream Soft Drinks

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of Finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.
ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

The above cuts represent two Suits and a Coat which are among the extensive showing of Women's Garments now to be seen in our Ready-to-Wear Section.

TO-MORROW'S SPECIAL VALUES

8c to 10c Embroideries 5½c—Embroidery Insertions on fine cambric materials, in widths five inches. Eyelets or blind effects. Part of urer's clearing lot and worth up to 10c a yard. To-morrow a yard 5½c

29 Parasols $1.49—Women's Parasols with a splendid silk and wool top, bulb runner, 23 inch frame and a good range of the season's newest handles worth $2, only..... $1.49

Princess Slips 98c—Fine White Longdale Princess Slips, seams well finished. Neck and arms have fine val. edging. Skirt finished with ten inch tucked lawn flounce. All sizes, a $1.25 value 98c

A Windowful of 20c Foulards—See the big range of Fancy Cotton Foulards in George street window to-morrow, nicely finished materials in all popular shades and designs. To-morrow a yard..... 20c

A pair of Sheets for 98c—White Cotton Sheets made from white cotton and 2 yards wide by 2 1-2 long. Hemmed ends. Regular price 75c each. A pair 98c

12½c Flannelette 9½c—1200 yards of coloured Flannelettes in blue and white, pink and white and grey and white stripes soft fleecy quality 34 inches wide. 12 1-2c value, a yard..... 9½c

36c Sheeting 22½c—Plain Unbleached Sheetings two yards wide in a fine closely woven quality free from specks, worth 30c a yard..... 22½c

12½c Victoria Lawn 8½c—White Victoria Lawn, 40 inches wide, in a fine close weave suitable for undergarments, children's wear or aprons. 12½c values, a yard.. 8½c

$10.00 Smart Ready-to-Wear Millinery $6.95

For Saturday, March 18th, we will show 25 smartly trimmed Ready-to-Wear Hats in styles suitable for wear with a tailored suit or a shirt waist dress. Prominent in this assortment of new shades and shapes are the new closefitting Draped Toques in contrasting straws, and Milan turbans finished with jaunty quill. Regularly these hats would sell from $8 to $10, but to open the season we will offer them for one day, Saturday, only (See Window) $6.95

$5.00 and $6.00 Black Ostrich Feathers $3.98

Just to open our Millinery season with a rush we will offer a limited quantity of Ostrich Feathers 18 inch length tied in beautiful rich black. Regular $5.00 to $6.00 One day only..... $3.98

TURNBULL'S
THE HOUSE THAT VALUE BUILT

Saturday Bargains

20c and 25c Art Sateen 12½c

Good quality in Engli h art sateens in twill or plain weave, silky finish in new conventional and floral patterns, color combinations are blue, green, rose, cream, brown and mauve.. 12½c

Lace or Insertion Trimmed Window Shades 29c

Lace or Insertion Trimmed Window Shades 29c—48 dozen Window Shades in colours of cream, green or white, size 37 x 70 ins. long, trimmed with good quality laces or insertions 3 to 5 ins. deep and mounted on spring rollers. These are a manufacturer's seconds and slightly imperfect 29c

$1.00 White Lace Curtains 59c pair

White Nottingham Lace Curtains 3 and 3½ yards long, and full width, with best finished corded edges and perfect in weaves. Four new spring patterns from which you may choose..... 59c

Tapestry Rugs Cheaper Than Ever—A splendid new shipment in medium grade and as rich colours as some of the most expensive. The prices are cheaper than the cheapest. 1¼x3 yards 3.00. 2½x3 yards 3.60. 2½x3 yards 5.12. 3x3 yards 5.40. 3x3½ yards 6.63. 3x4 yards 7.50. 3½x4 yards 8.00. Other sizes up to 4x9 yards.

Seamless Axminsters at Sweeping Reductions—We lay particular stress on these Axminster Rugs. Remember they are seamless and wove with rich deep wool pile that will stand endless wear. We have priced them so low that there is little more than cover the cost of production. 3x3—15.44. 3x3½—17.98. 3x4—20.53. 3½x4—23.08 3½x4½—27.10.

65c 4-yard Linoleum 48c

Heavy quality imported Scotch Linoleums, 4 yards wide, in tile or carpet patterns in rich shades of green, brown, rose and fawn..... 48c

Evaporated FRUITS

The home prepared supply which is running low, can be nicely supplemented by our newly arrived evaporated fruits.

Apples, Apricots Peaches, Prunes

A nice change that is cheap this season is sliced

Oranges or Grape Fruit

Thinking of pie materials reminds us of our

LADIES' FAVORITE FLOUR

If not the flour you use, try it

We sell ROSE BRAND LARD

Porter S. White

336 George St. - Phone 208

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store

Grand New

MILLINERY OPENING for the 17th

Ladies of Peterborough are invited to come in and inspect our Hats. The latest and most up-to-date styles from New York and Toronto. Chic, ready-to-wear and untrimmed Ladies' and Children's Hats for the coming season. You will be agreeably surprised when you see our display of most recherche Millinery. We have a thorough up-to-date Milliner, who can suit in any style you may require. Hand-made hats a specialty.

We have also the very latest styles in Ladies' and Gents' ready-to-wear Clothing. Ladies' New Spring Suits in all the newest and becoming shades and styles. All kinds of Skirts in the newest ideas. All Housefurnishings. See our windows.

CASH OR CREDIT

Why not dress well when you can on such easy terms? A small deposit and one dollar weekly will get you what you require for the Spring.

432 George St. Phone 587

Our Photos

Always please because the likeness is true, the finish perfect, the subject is naturally and effectively posed, and the work is mounted and put up in the very latest style.

Louis Mendels

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.

Bell Phone - 785 George Street

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

(Continued from Thursday)

"I've got some," Wotsirb replied promptly, "but not any too much."

He obtained the name and address of the conductor, and again cautioned him not to talk about the matter to anyone.

"If they find we're onto them," he said, "they'll take her away from the asylum she's in to another one, which means that I won't find her, and you won't get your hundred."

The conductor — sharp, keen, avaricious product of the streets of New York—instantly saw the force of this remark, and his lips were sealed from that moment.

When Wotsirb left him, with twenty dollars in his pocket and prospect of more to come, he started for a saloon two blocks distant, and proceeded to get immediately and gloriously drunk. In this condition he staggered back to the car-barns, and was summarily discharged.

Less than an hour after Winthrop and Barrett had left Cuyler's banking house Wotsirb arrived there, and was at once shown to the private office.

"Your daughter is neither killed nor injured," he announced briefly. "She has been abducted. How much ransom do you authorise me to offer?"

Wotsirb paused, looked at the other—and knew why men quailed before those eyes so suddenly abalase. He could feel their terrible, penetrating force piercing him through and through.

"Not-one-cent," Cuyler quietly replied, his massive jaws becoming more and more set. "I have a duty to society at large, to the State. . . . Not one cent," he repeated. "No human being on earth can blackmail me to the extent of a farthing!"

Wotsirb rubbed his hands with satisfaction.

"How do you know my daughter has been abducted?" the banker suddenly demanded.

"I located the conductor of the Seventh Avenue car she boarded at Fifty-seventh street. He told how a crazy young woman left the car further downtown, accompanied by a doctor and a priest who put her in a cab, and drove away with her. That young woman's description agrees in every particular with your daughter's."

Cuyler's hands twitched. He gave no other sign.

"Anything further?"

"Nothing," said Wotsirb. "Hereafter I will inform you of possible developments by telephone. Central Office men are scattered all over the Wall Street district. If any of them see me coming here repeatedly they would start to find out the reason. Good morning, Mr. Cuyler."

"Good morning."

The Secret Service man halted for a moment at the door.

"Don't be disturbed if I fail to communicate with you frequently. Many things may prevent—but rest assured, we will find the missing girl and restore her, sooner or later."

Then he was gone.

IX.

Wotsirb left the building by a door opening to a side street, entered a waiting cab, and drove rapidly northward. An hour later he was seated at a table in an uptown club facing an unobtrusive gentleman with white moustache and general air of distinction, who enjoyed a life of large leisure.

"And what brings you here at this season, my dear confrere?" the gentleman asked, his eyes smiling benevolently through their rimless glasses.

"Fact is, Major Hartwell, Washington's a pretty hot place in summer," returned Wotsirb, also smiling.

"Perhaps you are interested in the excitement downtown," the other went on, holding up his cocktail and looking through it with keen appreciation. "The market is behaving abominably, isn't it?"

"Looks like a possible panic, Major."

"Yes. Strange how things come on. By the way, Mr. Wotsirb, has our old friend, the General, been in evidence lately?"

"Why—let me see—I believe he has been rather active. You know, I suppose, that he has chartered a schooner yacht for a Southern cruise?

The other's face was suddenly alight with interest. He spoke sharply.

"He has, has he!"

"Yes—this is definite. He's going to South America—on some hunting or exploring expedition, I judge, from the supplies and arms and ammunition being put aboard."

"When does he sail?"

"To-night."

"Good." The white-moustached gentleman's leisurely, careless manner was gone. "Now," he went on briskly, "what can I do for you?"

"Who's back of this raid on Cuyler properties?" asked Wotsirb bluntly.

Financial interests in England, France, Germany — I'm not sure which."

A waiter approached. Wotsirb dismissed him with a gesture.

"What's the reason?" he continued.

"You know about Russia's projected military railway southward to the Persian Gulf?" asked Mapor Hartwell.

"Heard it rumoured when over there two years ago."

"I remember. Well, if completed, that road means Russia's ownership of the Arabian Sea, and a foothold in the Indian Ocean."

"And good-bye to England's most valued Eastern possessions!" Wotsirb exclaimed, as a light suddenly burst on him.

"Exactly. It will change the map of the world. Cuyler has got the prize of financing and constructing that military highway—got it in the face of all the money interests of Europe, which were fighting for it. But he proved too much for them."

"And now?"

"And now the most important of those foreign interests have combined. They are going to smash Cuyler, and when his house goes to pieces, they will step in and carry through the vast undertaking."

"Where does England come in?"

"She will insist—through her financiers, of course—that Russia abandon the route to the Persian Gulf, and deflect it eastward through Siberia and Manchuria to the Pacific."

"Better to have the Bear swallow China now, than to lose India a hundred years hence," Wotsirb commented thoughtfully. "So that accounts for this terific raid on Cuyler?"

Major Hatwell nodded. In a moment he said:

"I suppose you are finding this out for some Senator or other who is carrying a lot of Cuyler securities on margin?"

"You're not far out of the way," said Wotsirb. "And this means that I've got to leave at once and attend to something before the market closes. . . . Remember, the General's schooner is scheduled to sail from Wilmington to-night for those newly discovered nitrate beds your friends are after. Good-bye Hartwell. I guess we've made an even trade this time."

They shook hands cordially, and the American Secret Service man settled back to enjoy his salad, while the agent of the international police strode out of the club and down Fifth Avenue.

Hartwell's disclosure had simplified much that had temporarily bothered him. There was little doubt that the story was true. Hartwell and he frequently gave each other information of great value.

"So the bankers of Berlin, Paris, London, are going to smash Cuyler—force him to bankruptcy," Wotsirb reflected, his mind working with lightning rapidity. "The girl's abduction just at this time may be a coincidence—but I doubt it. I wonder who planned that end of the job? Somebody who knows that nothing else under Heaven could so distract Cuyler and overwhelm him until he is half-crazed by anxiety. Once get him in that condition, and he might not be able to hold back a panic—for when a man's nerves are gone, he's all gone."

The idea that Eleanor's abduction was part of an international plot did seem hardly probable; but Wotsirb took no chances. He framed a telegram giving an exact description of the girl, who was to be arrested on general charges "as a suspicious person," and held until he should be communicated with at the Sub-Treasury. This message he addressed to Secret Service men, both on the Atlantic and the Pacific Coasts, along the Canadian and the Mexican borders, and to agents in every port of the world where steamers were due, which had left New York since July 16. Then, having thrown a net completely over the globe, his task was to contract it.

"They can't get her out of the country now," he soliloquised, as he left the telegraph office where he had filed the messages "and if she's already on the water anywhere she will be picked up when they try to land with her. It's up to me to find her somewhere in the United States."

This would not be difficult under ordinary circumstances when he could call on the police of the entire country and on all the detective agencies to help him. Now, however, that he was absolutely forbidden such invaluable assistance, the task seemed almost hopeless. For all he knew, Mortimer Cuyler's daughter was hidden away in an East Side rookery here in New York, or in some lonely farm-house of New England, or kept captive in Chicago, Pittsburg Denver—on a Dakota ranch, maybe, or in the wild mountain region of the Virginias.

"Like as not," he said to himself, disgusted at the situation, "they've got her on board a private yacht somewhere off the coast, or on the Great Lakes." And he wondered why he'd been such a fool as to undertake the wild-goose chase.

Chance, however, or luck, or fortune—good or ill—plays a larger part sometimes than it is credited with. As Wotsirb come out of the telegraph office later on, he bought an evening newspaper—one of the cheap sensational sheets, given over to large headlines and pictures, which are purchased and looked at by hundreds of thousands who never see one of the important daily journals.

Wotsirb stood in the shadow of the telegraph company's building, carelessly glancing over page after page, when suddenly his attention was arrested by a large half-tone portrait, made from a photograph—an excellent likeness of Eleanor Cuyler. Hardly able to believe his eyes, he read underneath it the item of society news which the banker had given out to reporters at the Metropolis Club, on his return from Washington the previous Saturday night. This brief announcement that Mortimer Cuyler's daughter had gone abroad, was followed by a lurid recital of her high social position and vast wealth, and the paragraph concluded with an accurate description of one of her new costumes—"A marvellous confection in brown and white effects, especially designed for Miss Cuyler by Bruaine et Cie, Paris and New York."

That was the costume she had worn the day she disappeared!

A second rapid glance to make sure there was no mistake, and Wotsirb started with all speed for the office of the newspaper.

"I want to insert a Personal notice, paying for special position on the fourth page," he said to the clerk who received advertisements. "Can it get in the next edition?"

The clerk glanced at a clock.

"Yes," he said, "if your copy is ready."

Wotsirb seized a slip of paper and wrote thereon the following:

Money Offered.—Gentleman admirer will pay liberal sum to person putting him in communication with tall, good-looking young lady in brown linen suit, white ribbons, with parasol, who left Seventh car about noon, Monday, July 16, entered cab with companions and drove westward through Long Acre Square. Replies confidential. Address M. C., care 264 office of this newspaper.

"There;" said the Secret Service man, "Somehow I feel in my bones that this will bring results."

An hour later the Sporting Edition of the newspaper issued forth, and swept through the city like a flood at high tide. Wotsirb's "Personal" was printed on the same page where Eleanor's picture appeared together with the "Society Note," telling of her absence from the city.

The brief but accurate details of her costume had been given to the newspaper by the dress-maker who designed it, and whose name also appeared—an excellent advertisement for his establishment. The photograph came from a limitless number carefully filed in the Art Department of the newspaper, ready to be used at a moment's notice.

Fortunately the drunken car conductor did not see this newspaper, which was engaged in bitter warfare against Tammany, of which he was an ardent, enthusiastic, lifelong supporter. He would not look at the sheet in question, much less buy it.

(To be continued)

A PLACE IN THE FAMILY

If you and your family were obliged to depend on one medicine, what would you choose? It is not difficult to guess what medicine Mrs. James Gray, Sartella, N.B., would choose, for she writes.—"For five years my husband and I have used Dr Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills for kidney troubles, biliousness and constipation and find them indispensable as a family medicine.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

Fourteen Georges Show Up.

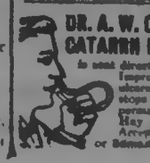
Toronto, March 17.—An organization meeting of the George who are to unite in sending a testimonial to the King on the occasion of the coronation, was held in the city hall yesterday, on the invitation of the mayor. There were thirteen whose first names are the same as the King's and then there was W. K. George, making fourteen in all in attendance. These were all there on a special invitation from the mayor and will constitute the local committee for carrying out the scheme suggested in the letter of His Excellency, Earl Grey, to Lieutenant-Governor Gibson. They will also, in all probability, form the nucleus of the Ontario organization.

Submarine Wrecked.

La Rochelle, France, March 17.—The submarine Loutre while rising to the surface yesterday in the roadstead at La Pallice came into collision with the fishing boat Antioche. The Loutre sustained a bad breach in her starboard bow and took in water rapidly. The guardship Active was notified by the Antioche, and sent two whale boats to the rescue. They took off the commander and crew of the submarine, which drifted ashore on the rocks, and it is believed will prove a total loss.

Must Observe the Law.

Kingston, March 17.—Mayor Graham is out with a big stick after the enforcement of the city bylaws. He says there are dozens of bylaws violated. The city carters have been violating a bylaw in standing in front of the City Hall, and yesterday they were ordered to their proper standing by the police, at the mayor's request.



DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.

Is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase & Co., Toronto.

DUTTON & COMPANY

Finnan Haddie — White Fish — Salmon Trout
Sea Herrings — Burnhams Clam Chowder
Fine Kidals for Soups — Oysters

FRED. WALKER, MANAGER

High Grade Sewing Machines

The quality of the White and Raymond Sewing Machines is measured by the Satisfaction they give those who use them.

WHITE / RAYMOND — The Two Standard Machines for the Home

SOLD ON EASY TERMS

Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

Edwin Elcome TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.

Peterborough Ontario

CREDIT

Makes a Hard Road EASY

WE SELL what we advertise without extra charge for CREDIT. Credit will serve you well HERE.

ECONOMY

says buy NOW and BUY HERE.

Open An Account Now

Get high grade Ladies' and Gents' Clothing ready-to-wear for the Spring. Special Ladies' Suits, most up-to-date, all reduced prices for early buyers.

Ladies' Suits, reg. $3.00 for..... $27.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. $5.00 for..... 19.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 18.00 for..... 12.50

All good tailored and all colours

New Line of Millinery

New line of Millinery will open for Spring. Come and pick out your Hat HERE.

All kinds of House Furnishings, Linoleums, Oilcloths, Squares, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains in best quality.

CASH OR CREDIT

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

The Best Credit Clothiers in City
183 CHARLOTTE STREET

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Papernangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address:
782 Water Street
PHONE 1140

Mr. Valet

This is the time to look over your Spring Wardrobe and have them put in shape. We do all kinds of cleaning, repairing and pressing, on ladies' or gent's garments. You will be surprised at the improvement.

2 STORES:

304 Charlotte Street, Bell 814 Mach. 332
137 Simcoe Street Phone 906

MR. T. WOODWORTH

the well known English Elocutionist, is open for engagements at Concerts, Socials, At Homes, Civic Functions, &c., to give

RECITALS—Wise and Witty! Grave and Gay

An actor-elocutionist of the highest order. —Peterborough Examiner

The audience was captured from start to finish —Peterborough Review

An exceedingly talented elocutionist—irresistibly humorous. —Peterboro' Morning Times

For terms apply—322 Wolfe St., Peterboro' 1m.36

Coleman Bros

—For—

The BEST Baking Catering Ice Cream and Candies

426 George St.

Advertise in the Examiner

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 12

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY MARCH 17 1911

INDEPENDENT TIRE COMPANY LIKELY TO LOCATE IN PETERBORO'
COUNCIL DISCUSSES BY-LAW OF AGREEMENT WITH THE INDUSTRY

Will Employ an Average of 100 Hands and Will Install Machinery to the Value of $75,000---Council is to Advance a Loan Covering Cost of Building and Site Up to $40,000 at 3 per cent--By-law to be Submitted in April.

COMPANY TO MANUFACTURE RUBBER TIRES

An important step in the securing of a new industry for Peterborough was commenced last night when the City Council held a special meeting to discuss the by-law in regard to the location here of the Independent Tire Company of Toronto.

The Company, which has been incorporated with a paid-up capital of $40,000, which is to be increased to $350,000, proposes to manufacture rubber tires for automobiles and buggies. The by-law will likely be carried at a special meeting of the Council to-morrow afternoon, being held over from last night in order that the Company should be informed of a change in the agreement which the Council decided to make at last night's meeting.

Briefly, the terms of the agreement and of the by-law are as follows:

The Company agrees to purchase a suitable site in the City of Peterborough on or before July 1st, 1911, and to erect a three-storey building, 200 by 50 feet, and to have it equipped with $75,000 worth of machinery, free of all encumbrances and sufficient to give employment to 100 operators on or before July 1, 1912.

The City is to advance to the Company, when a site is purchased and a building erected one-half of the cost of the site and building, up to $20,000, and within thirty days after the building is equipped with $75,000 worth of machinery, to make a second loan of the other half of the cost of the building and site up to $20,000.

The city also agrees to exempt the building, machinery and land of the company for ten years from all taxes, except school and local improvement charges.

The company agrees to give the city a mortgage on their factory, machinery and land and to pay back the loan at the rate of $2,000 per year with interest at 3 per cent., commencing on December 31, 1912.

The city is, of course, protected by being given the power to call in their loan provided the Company does not carry out its agreement. When the by-law was being read Mayor Morrow called attention to the fact that the measure only compelled the Company to employ an average of 100 hands after they had been in operation for one year, whereas the city had to pay the second part of their loan within thirty days after the machinery was installed. His Worship pointed out that the Company was not bound at all in regard to the number they should employ the first year, and he thought that some number should be specified before the second half of the loan was advanced. The Council took the same view of the matter and it was agreed that the Company should be asked to have seventy operatives at work on receipt of the full loan and that they should be compelled to employ at least that number during the first year after which they are to employ at least one hundred.

It was decided to hold the by-law over until this change has been presented for the approval of the Solicitor of the Independent Tire Company, after which a special session of the Council will be called to pass the by-law, which will be submitted to the ratepayers about the third week of next month.

The Council last night decided upon the polling sub-divisions, and appointed deputy returning officers and poll clerks.

Incidentally, on motion of Ald. Morgan and Anderson a $1 increase was made in the remuneration of the poll clerks who will receive $3, instead of $2.00, while the deputy returning officers will be paid $4.00 as usual.

THE SHAMROCK AND THE MAPLE

We've first place in our hearts for the Land of the Maple,
We've a garth for the Thistle, no less for the Rose,
But to-day's Paddy's Day, so don't blame us for toasting
The dear little Isle where the Shamrock grows.
The dear little island, the sweet little island—
Remember'd her glories, forgotten her woes—
The land of our fathers; the home of our childhood,
The dear little Isle where the Shamrock grows.

We're proud of this new land that gave us a welcome,
When sad fate ordained it from Erin to roam,
When homeless we tossed on the breast of the ocean,
With a cead mile failte she bade us to come.
But had we forgotten the sweet hills of Ireland,
What faith could you place in our promise to you?
How could you believe we'd be loyal Canad'ans,
If to Old Ireland you thought us untrue?

So then, if to-day we are thinking of Ireland,
And sparting the Shamrock and ribbons of green.
Oh! think not we're false to the land of adoption,
'Tis a true heart that beats 'neath the Emerald Sheen.
But rather you'll say when you see the dear trefoil.
The men who remember their mother alway,
Are the men who would die for the Land of the Maple,
Should the war trumpet sound on St. Patrick's Day.

Then come brother, come, whether Saxon or Teuton,
And drink ye a health to the Isle of the West,
As you pin on your breast the green emblem of Ireland—
The dear little plant that St. Patrick blessed.
The Shamrock and Maple we'll twine in one garland,
The hardy Scotch Thistle, the sweet English Rose,
And brothers we'll stand hand in hand thro' the ages
Secure in our union, regardless of foes.

REV. D. A. CASEY.
Campbellford, Ont.

St. Patrick's Day, 1911.

FORTUNE FOR MARIA McCLUSKEY

A Nice St. Patrick's Day Present for Irish Girl Whose Brother Has Left Her a Million Dollars

CAN'T BE FOUND

Examiner Special.

MONTREAL, MARCH 17.—If anybody knows Maria McClusky, the daughter of Thomas McClusky, who came from Ireland to Montreal fifty years ago, there will be a St. Patrick's Day present worth while to tell her. She is heiress to an estate of a million dollars, left by her brother in New York. A Gotham lawyer is here to-day looking up the McCluskys family, who are scattered now all over Canada.

Canadian Aviator Showed Them How

Examiner Special:

WASHINGTON, D.C., MARCH 17. In the presence of Secretary of War Dickinson and High Officers of the Army and Navy, J. A. D. McCurdy, the Canadian aviator, gave an exhibition of aeronautical scouting to-day, demonstrating how easily he could swood down and drap bombsinto open forts and blow up the Capital in a second or two. The officers agreed that McCurdy had the best all round control of an aeroplane yet seen.

Escaped Lunatic Has Been Captured

Special to The Examiner:

MONTREAL, MARCH 17.—R. A. Phael Gabois, one of the men who escaped from Longue Point Asylum, yesterday, after murdering a guard, was captured, partly clothed, here. He was loudly declaring he was on the way to marry one of Pierpont Morgan's daughters. Panneton, the most dangerous of the two, is still at liberty, though the police are scouring the whole country.

EATONS TO HOLD CUP

Examiner Special:

TORONTO, MARCH 17.—W. A. Hewitt, Secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association, this morning wired William Northry, Secretary of the Allen Cup Trustees, that the Eaton Hockey Club, holders of the cup, not having been arranged with for a game with the challengers, had gone out of training. The Eatons consider the Cup their property for the year.

BAHAMA WILLING

Special wire to The Examiner:

MONTREAL, MARCH 17. A private cable received here says the Upper House of the Bahama Legislature adopted amid great enthusiasm the memorial of the lower House regarding annexation with Canada.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY BADGE FROM BALLAGHADERIN

Mr R J Bayley has favoured the Examiner with a St Patrick's Day badge, which is the real thing. It consists of a green ribbon on which is printed in gilt letters—"St. Patrick our glory" (at top) and at the bottom, "a nation once again," with of course the harp and other Irish emblems. The real element of interest, however, consists of a pressed cluster of real shamrock, backed by Irish moss, placed at the top of the badge. It is the genuine shamrock sprig—too, the dainty Irish trefoil, with small delicate leaves, quite a different thing from the spade or wood sorrel which does duty to such a large extent as our Hibernian emblem on St. Patrick's day. The badge referred to is issued and sold in the interests of charity by the Sisters of Charity, Ballaghaderin, County Mayo.

See the Pure Silk Ties in J. T C. Lang & Co's window. Best quality and newest style. Regular 50c. special while they last 35c. 3d62

A SURPRISE FOR COUNCIL OVER ST. RAILWAY MATTERS

City Solicitor Hall Tells City Fathers That the Radial Railway Company Has Lived Up to its Agreement---"How About Extensions?" the Aldermen Wanted to Know nd They Were Told Company Was Not Bound to Make Any---Newspapers Blamed.

It may cause surprise to some people to find that the Peterborough Radial Company has lived up to its agreement to the city; at least, it seemed to surprise some members of the council last night when the city solicitor, Mr. E. H. D. Hall made a statement to that effect.

The discussion came up quite incidentally in talking over other matters. One of the Council happened to mention the Street Railway as one of the concerns which the city did not make keep to their agreement.

"The Street Railway has lived up to its agreement," said Mr. Hall. "A great many people seem to think that the company has not, but that is a fallacy for which I think the newspapers are principally to blame. The agreement has been carried out as far as required, but the newspapers and a great many of the citizens do not seem able to see it."

"How about the extensions to their line," asked Ald. Kerneghan, and several other voices echoed the inquiry of the aldermen from the north ward.

"They have done all that their agreement calls for," replied Mr. Hall "and the city has no power to make them do anything more."

"When do they intend to extend?" asked Ald. Kerneghan.

"No time," replied the solicitor. "At least they cannot be compelled to during their thirty year franchise."

Mr Hall pointed out that the most the Council could do was to demand that the Street Railway should build a line on a certain street and in the event of a refusal the city could then grant a franchise to another company for a line on that particular street, but could not interfere with the streets on which they have at present lines running.

"Don't you think that was a pretty loose agreement," inquired Ald. Kerneghan.

"That may be," replied the solicitor, "but that is the way it stands, anyway."

The information seemed to be new to most of the Council.

COAL WEIGHING BY-LAW PASSED BY THE COUNCIL

Five Cents Toll Will Be Collected on Every Load Weighed on the Public Scales at the Market.

REASONS FOR CHANGE

A by-law repealing the old measure in regard to the weighing of coal on the public scales on the market square and embodying Ald. Brown's suggestion that a fee of 5 cents be collected for every draught weighed there on was given its several readings and passed by the Council at its special meeting last night.

Ald. Brown took advantage of the opportunity to explain his position in the matter and to reply to the letter signed "Citizen" which appeared in the Examiner a few days ago. He said that he had gone into the question with no malice aforethought to anyone and had studied the matter. "Citizen" had complained that the toll of 5c. to be charged would make the weighing of coal prohibitory as far as the poor man was concerned, but the speaker had discovered that only twenty-three private individuals had taken advantage of their opportunities to have their coal weighed free of charge during last year. The great majority of loads weighed were for Government buildings and for large firms and he thought that some fee should be collected.

Ald. Morgan objected to the charge saying that he did not wish to put any additional cost on the coal of the poor man. He was of the opinion that the coal should be weighed free of charge.

Ald. Brown said that the working man had not been taking advantage of the old system.

An amendment to the effect that the clause in the Property committee's report recommending the repeal of the old by-law and the substitution of the new measure, fathered by Ald. Morgan and Anderson was defeated, only the mover and seconder voting for it.

Later on the new bylaw was carried

SKEPTICS BEING CONVERTED DAILY.

For years it has required from 6 to 10 months The Syl-la-bic System as being demonstrated at the Moon College, 282-286 Yonge street, Toronto, qualifies first-class stenographers after only 25 to 30 or 35 days' study. This means one-fifth of the time, or even less, and but one-half the fee, and enables the student to earn salary from 4 to 8 months earlier than under any other system. A very cordial invitation is extended to any interested to thoroughly investigate the 30-day Shorthand at the Moon College, 282-286 Yonge street.

A NARROW ESCAPE ON A BRIDGE

Unknown Man Tried to Cross in Front of the Morning Train From Lindsay To-day—Had to Stop the Train

WAS WARNED

An unknown man, apparently a stranger in the city, had a narrow escape this morning that he will not soon forget. He was walking south along the G.T.R. track and had reached the beginning of the bridge over the creek at Stewart street when the G.T.R. morning train from Lindsay came along. Several citizens who were walking behind the stranger shouted a warning to him, but he paid no attention to them or to the approaching train and calmly walked out onto the bridge. When he got to the centre, he stopped, apparently too frightened to move. Fortunately, however, the train was running slowly and after blowing his whistle sharply three or four times with no response from the man on the track, the engineer stopped his train entirely, within a few yards of the stranger who, without giving any explanation of his conduct, walked off the bridge and disappeared without a word to the train crew.

HE AROUSED ENTHUSIASM

Special to The Examiner.

LONDON, MARCH 17.—Public opinion and newspaper editorials this morning are enthusiastic over Leader Balfour's speech, favouring the text of the Anglo-Saxon perpetual peace proposals. There will likely be a series of peace mass meetings around Coronation time.

HOW DAY IS CELEBRATED

Special to The Examiner:

TORONTO, MARCH 17.—St. Patrick's day was celebrated quietly in most cities of Canada. Montreal had a procession of 5,000 people. Irish banquets are the feature of the evening's programme all over the country. In Chicago the Mayor declared a public holiday.

NOT MUCH AFRAID OF RECIPROCITY INTERFERING WIT RAILWAY TRAFFIC

Mackenzie and Mann Will Outstrip Their Record for 1910 and Will Lay 600 Miles of Track This Year---Work to Commence on Western Lines Soon.

(Toronto Globe)

"Last year we built 560 miles of railway in the West at an expenditure of $13,000,000. This year our program calls for the construction of 600 miles of line. I cannot tell the amount of expenditure this season. We are not talking of spending money, but of building railways."

This statement was made by Sir William Mackenzie to The Globe yesterday. He has just returned from a trip to Winnipeg by way of Chicago. On his journey west he adopted the plans for the work of the company on the prairies for this year.

Sir William announced that the appropriations for railway construction in Ontario would not be given out for some time.

In addition to the announcement of Sir William it was learned yesterday that the plans of the Canadian Northern line from Toronto to Hamilton have been filed with the City Solicitor. The route follows that of the Electrical Development Company to the point where the electrical line branches off at the entry to Hamilton. The line will run through the counties of York, Peel, Halton and part of Wentworth.

Work on Western Lines.

Work will be commenced on the western line at the beginning of early spring and it will continue until stopped by the frosts of the late autumn.

In Manitoba additional grading will be done on the Wakopa branch, which runs southwest from Greenway and serves the country close to the international boundary line. This year this line will reach Deloraine. The branch will eventually be built through to Maryfield branch and the junction will probably be at Bienfait.

Plans for Saskatchewan.

Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, will be reached by the continuation of the Maryfield branch from the south, work on which will be rushed this year. Farther north in Saskatchewan the Rosaburn branch will be continued through to Russell, and to join the main line of the Canadian Northern near Canora. Grading will be conducted on the Thunderhill branch north of the main line west from Swan River. This line will probably be extended to Prince Albert, or to join the Prince Albert-Regina road. The Prince Albert-Battleford branch will probably be completed. It will pass through the country north of the Saskatchewan River, where a large settlement has already been started. The Delisle line will eventually run to Swift Current to join the railway that the company is building from Marsfield to Lethbridge.

Four Branches in Alberta.

Work will be done on four branches in Alberta. Two lines will be completed to Calgary, one from Saskatchewan and one from Vegreville. A large force of workmen will be employed on the main line west of Edmonton to Vancouver. A great amount of grading will be accomplished on the railway to the Brazeau coal fields. This road begins at Stetler and crosses the Canadian Pacific at Red Deer, whence it proceeds west to Brazeau. Large expenditures will be made for betterment on the various branches and on the main line in the Prairie Provinces. Special attention will be paid to the line between Regina and Prince Albert, where ballast trains will be employed during the summer. Heavy steel will be laid on half of this branch. The portion to be covered extends to Warner a distance of 146 miles.

East of Winnipeg a grade of rock will be built across Rainy Lake.

To Enlarge Yards.

The yards of the railway will be enlarged and improved at many points, and a large mileage of new sidings will be built. Heavy steel will be laid from Beaver to Grandview, a stretch of 132 miles. A station will also be constructed at Dauphin.

Sir William said the company was building towards the Yellowhead Pass and the main line to the Pacific coast would be completed in about three years.

SPECIAL TAILORS OFFERING SOME WONDERFUL BARGAINS

The Special Tailors, George St. (Ed. Huff, manager) who in the past twelve months, have several times astonished the citizens of Peterborough by a slaughter of prices in made-to-order clothing are to the front once more with an even more astounding offer. A special sale commences to-day and continues until Monday, during which the public has the chance of securing a spring overcoat or suit made to measure of the highest class material, cut and workmanship at prices away below the ready-made rates. Suits that are sold regularly from $25 to $30 will, during the three days of the offer, be sold for $19.40, and spring overcoats, regularly sold at from $25.00 to $30.00, will be given at $18.45. A genuineness of the offer is indicated by the fact that the firm will pay a reward of $25.00 to anyone who can prove that the suit and overcoat offered are not the equal in make and material of those sold regularly in Peterborough at from $25.00 to $30.00. The offer seems very opportunely at this time.

Criticizes Earl Grey

Special to The Examiner:

OTTAWA, MARCH 17.—J. S. Ewart, K. C., who assisted Sir Allan Aylesworth at the Hague in the Fisheries case, is out to-day with a strong letter criticising Governor General Earl Grey for interfering in politics. He says His Excellency's motive is to bind Canada to Britain for war purposes.

SHIPWRECKED CREW HAD A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

HALIFAX, N.S., MARCH 17.—After tramping for miles through a dense forest, the Captain and five men of the Schooner Allen Been of Rockland, Maine, reached civilization in a famishing condition. Their vessel went ashore in a terrible gale in the Bay of Fundy, after one of the crew had been washed overboard and drowned. They escaped by running the vessel on the rocks in a desolated spot, tying themselves together with ropes and climbing up the wave-swept cliffs.

LAST OF THE SPECIAL SERVICES THIS EVENING

Rev. Mr. Woodside will deliver the closing message of his mission tonight in Knox Church on "God's Responsibilities." This will be the last opportunity of hearing either Mr. Woodside or Mr. McIlratney. Those who have heard them will likely be present at this closing service and a large congregation is expected. Rev. Mr. Riddiford and Rev. Mr. Henderson took part in last night's gathering that was well attended. Those present listened with great attention to the message "Under God's Eye," in which the character of Herod was laid bare. The impressive scene of Jesus before Herod, answering not a word to the monster, Herod, was brought home to the listeners. A brief after-service was held in which a number led in prayer. Mr. McBretney sang very acceptably "Jesus was Standing in Pilate's Hall."

Annual Tennis Banquet Is To Be Held April 4th

The annual meeting and banquet of the Peterborough Lawn Tennis Association will be held on April 4. Plates will be laid for those holding tickets on April 4th only. Ladies interested in tennis for the coming season are invited to attend and may obtain tickets from Mr. R. J. Dovey. Gentlemen willing to assist in the promotion of the game are asked to obtain their tickets from Messrs. Sandford Hall, W. Coleman or W. H. Cluxton.

The buying of a ticket helps, even if you cannot come, as the net cost of the supper is 50c., and there are other expenses. Let us all give the game a boost.

Another Man On Blacklist

A local young man was blacklisted in the police court this morning. He appeared in court charged with being drunk and disorderly in a public place. He also was charged with non-support of his wife and family. The chief gave evidence to the effect that the accused was a habitual drinker, so the accused was accordingly blacklisted.

TO-NIGHT

Irish Concert and Tea in St. Andrew's Hall under auspices of Young Ladies' Mission Band. Tickets 15c.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR."

"The Man of the Hour," Geo. H Broadhurst's powerful comedy drama of American political life of the present day, and one of the strongest and most appealing plays of its kind ever written, was presented at the Grand last night to a small but delighted audience. Although the plot is stirring and gripping, there is a strong vein of comedy running through the action that makes the presentation altogether enjoyable. Felix Haney, as Ald. Phelan, the central figure in the play, gave a splendid interpretation of the role in spite of the fact that he was handicapped by a very bad cold which interfered with his work. The supporting cast had been well chosen and the whole production was distinctly praiseworthy.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending Jan. 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 416 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

E. H. CLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1911

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

By regulation of the Dominion Government, the flag of the Empire is to be raised and float over or from all public buildings under the jurisdiction of, and representation of the government of the country on the anniversary of the patron saints of the four great British nations. These are St. David's Day, March 1st—Wales; St. Patrick's Day, March 17th—Ireland; St. George's Day, April 23rd—England, and St. Andrew's Day—Nov. 30th, Scotland. The symbolism of the Union Jack is two fold. The Cross, the emblem of Christianity, and all that implies in its union represents the three great nations. The cross of St. Andrew is superposed upon the cross of St. George and upon the cross of St. Andrew, rests the saltire of Ireland, representing union, the bond of empire, the cohesive element of Britain's strength and greatness.

This is St. Patrick's Day, the day of the patron saint of one of the four great national elements that go to the constitution of the British people—the greatest people of history. Ireland and Irishmen have had their share in the wondrous procession of events that has made the world of civilization and Christianity what it is to-day; that has planted in every quarter of the globe the principles and practice of the highest civilization known to history; that has given the individual, and the state, resting under the Union Jack the widest measure of freedom, compatible with the noblest forms of self government. Britain has been the foremost in the arena of war by land and sea, and the leader in the arts of peace; the mightiest agent and influence in the extension and development of human enfranchisement, of human progress, and of all the conditions that make for the highest standards and manifestations of human enlightment enterprise, and moral culture, individual domestic and national. In the achievement of these things four great national elements have cooperated, and for each a day has been set apart and universally recognized.

To-day is St. Patrick's Day, sacred to Ireland. On this day the heart of every Irishman no matter at what altar he bows, takes on a quickened beat. St. Patrick is the type of all that is dear to the Irishman, in national pride or national remembrance. He is as dear to the exiled Celt as to the home dweller. St. Patrick's memory is worthy of the homage paid it not only by Irishmen, but by others. No fewer than four countries dispute the credit of his birthplace in proof of the honour in which he is held for his saintly character and his glorious work. The claim of Ireland is the strongest—posession is nine points of the law. And besides, how could St. Patrick be an Irishman if he were not born in Ireland; and who but an Irishman, with his whole heart in it, could have done the great work for Ireland and the Irish, which makes St. Patrick's name the brightest in the bede-roll of sainthood, since apostolic days?

Never before to-day has a St. Patrick's day dawned with brighter outlook for Ireland's lengthy longing and untiring hope. And in no land under the sky, can the Irishman celebrate St. Patrick's day under such happy auspices and with such warranted jubilation as in Canada. Here he has found a happy home, prosperity, peace, contentment, and rights and privileges, which Irishmen enjoy in a measure, not to be found in any other country on earth. Their love for their adoptive country will be none the less deep and loyal because on St. Patrick's Day their hearts turn "with fond recollection" to the native land of themselves or their sires, as our hearts on the mother's birthday can enshrine tender recollections, and still be true to the new ties that manhood and womanhood create.

THE PARSON AS POLITICIAN.

(Ottawa Free Press)

Surely the opposition to reciprocity with the United States has reached its highest pinnacle of absurdity in the statement made by the Grand Chaplain of the Orange Grand Lodge of Eastern Ontario that "reciprocity is a scheme furthered by the hierarchy of Rome."

There is one thing to be said in favour of Rev. Mr. Steacy's remarks, and that is they are original. In the last few weeks we have been hearing and reading over and over again to the point of weariness a few unsatisfying arguments against reciprocity. We had just been wondering whether any opponent of the scheme would ever find a new point when, like a ray of sunlight on a gloomy day, comes Rev. Mr. Steacy into the discussion. The reverend gentleman's reasoning is too good to pass. Here it is:

"The proposed trade pact between Canada and the States, reciprocity, will ultimately lead to the annexation of the West, which is becoming populated by Galicians, Doukhobors, and other aliens who have not yet absorbed Canadian principles, to whom commercial union with the United States would soon mean annexation. This would leave Ontario, Quebec and the Eastern provinces, where the French are already very strong, and the intention is that through them the Roman Catholic church should eventually become the dominant force here. The centre of the Roman Catholic Church would be moved from Rome to Ottawa." This Mr. Steacy considered the ultimate aim of Roman Catholic authorities. He ventured the opinion that Sir Wilfrid Laurier might be known to future generations of Catholics not as "Sir" but as "Saint" Wilfrid Laurier.

We had thought Mr. Steacy was serious until we read the expressions of his belief that "the majority of Liberals were as loyal as Conservatives and were not in favour of reciprocity." That surely must be a fine piece of satire. Who ever heard of a high officer of the Grand Ornage Lodge of Eastern Canada admitting that a Liberal could be loyal? Have we not had their assurance over and over again that all Liberals are traitors to their country?

In the meantime we commend Mr. Steacy's argument against reciprocity to the gentlemen of His Majesty's loyal opposition in the Commons, who are suffering from an impoverished supply of reasons for the faith that is in them.

Facts add to the absurdity of the reverend gentleman's contention. There is reason to believe that Roman Catholics would be the most earnest opponents of annexation of Canada, and consequently practical advocates of British connection; for they know that in retaining this country as an integral part of the British Empire, they are committed to perpetual enjoyment of British rule, for there is no probability or even recognizable possibility of Canada ever being anything but British. The Irish Roman Catholics of Canada know that Separate schools, constitutionally guaranteed in a large part of Canada, would be swept away automatically and instantly by union with the United States. The Church attaches the greatest importance to Separate schools and would be self-evidently unlikely to favour annexation as Rev. Mr. Steacy asserts it does. Then, again, the French element of our population would, and do, oppose annexation to the United States on the same and additional grounds. Great Britain conceded to the French population the use of their language in Canada—a privilege they hold dear. The French Canadian knows that at the moment of annexation the language rights conferred by Great Britain would be swept away. The desirability or undesirability of retaining Separate schools and the French language are not in question; but they are facts that give an additional stamp of absurdity to Rev. Mr. Steacy's arguments. We have the opponents of reciprocity creating all the annexation sentiment there is in Canada. But we know that the people of Canada, as a whole, do not want it, will not entertain the idea. If the classes referred to oppose annexation from motives of interest, they are not alone, for all the opposition to reciprocity—by their rabid reasoning, equivalent to annexation—comes from the special interests which are willing to sacrifice all other classes to the promotion of these special interests.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c

AN ERROR

An error in the advertisement of the Carroll Piano Club on the programme for the concert to-night in the Grand Opera House puts the firm name as J. C. Carroll & Co., instead of C. J. Carroll & Co., also in reference to the Club piano being the one used on the stage, the manufacturers' names are given as Winter and Leeming, instead of Gourlay, Winter and Leeming, Toronto.

Burn "Coco" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

(VIPOND)

A producing mine. We still advise its purchase at present market price. Second bar of gold shipped this week. Write, wire or phone for full particulars. :: ::

GORMALY TILT & CO.

MEMBERS STANDARD STOCK EXCHANGE

Long Distance Phone, Main 7565 32-34 Adelaide St. East, TORONTO

The Relation Of Tariff Conditions To The Prevalent High Cost Of Living

The following is from the introduction to J. J. Harpel's "Canadian National Economy" — The MacMillan Company, Toronto:

The people are beginning to realize that the price received by the primary producers of natural products, such as those of farming, mining and fishing are lower in Canada than in the United States, while the prices of the articles which those producers require to buy, such as clothing, machinery and other supplies, are higher in Canada than in the United States. This being so, the profits of the Canadian farmer, miner and fisherman must necessarily be smaller than those of his co-worker in the neighbouring Republic.

Canadian producers and consumers are beginning to discover that the conditions under which they are labouring appear even less favourable when compared with conditions in countries other than the United States. According to the evidence submitted before the Royal Commission of South Australia on the Marketing of Wheat, the market price of wheat in Melbourne, Australia, on August 7th ,1908, was 4s. 1½d. ($1.00½) a bushel. On the same day the wholesale price of flour in Melbourne was £9 5s. ($45.02) a ton. During the same month the average price of Ontario wheat in Toronto was from 82 to 83 cents a bushel. The price of western wheat at Winnipeg ranged from 60 cents a bushel for the poorer grades to $1.05½ a bushel for the best grade. It should be explained here that wheat in Australia is bought on the f. a. q. or fair average quality lan. There is, therefore, only one grade in Australia, while in Canada there are many grades. On the whole the average price of wheat in Canada during August, 1908, was very much below the average price of wheat in Australia. But the price of flour in Toronto during the same month was from $65.00 to $70.00 per ton, or from $20.00 to $25.00 per ton more than in Australia. From data such as these the Canadian farmers are beginning to discover that while the average price which they receive for their wheat is about the lowest received by farmers in any wheat growing country of the world, yet the prices which they and other Canadian consumers pay for their bran, and shorts are about the highest. The freight on wheat from New Liskeard, a station on the Government road in the clay belt of Northern Ontario, to Montreal, a distance of 500 miles, is $4.48 per long ton. For the same distance in New South Wales, Australia, the freight on wheat is 12s. ($2.92) a long ton. Co-existent with this condition is the fact that steel rails made in Canada are being sold to the builders of New South Wales railways at a much lower price than the same class of rails from the same Canadian foundry, on which the Canadian people, including the growers of wheat, have paid a bounty of from $2.75 to $3.75 a ton, can be bought by the builders of Canadian railways. The cash price of a Canadian made harvester in the Province of Alberta is $155, in Ontario the price is $132. But the same binder can be bought in Great Britain for £25 10s. "delivered at any station and subject to 2½ per cent. discount, for cash or three months." That is, the cash price of the Canadian-made harvester in Great Britain is $121.00. The freight on agricultural machinery from Liverpool, England, to Calgary, Alberta, is 118s. ($28.48) per long ton, carload lots. A harvester weighs from seventeen to nineteen hundred weight, so that it would pay the farmer in Alberta to buy his Canadian-made machinery in Liverpool and ship it back into Canada, if it could be imported free of duty.

Another discovery that is arousing the suspicion of the Canadian people is that there are few commodities produced in Canada which cannot be bought by the consumers of other countries much cheaper than there are being sold to the consumers in Canada. For instance, bacon made from the Canadian hog in the packing-houses of Toronto, and for which the people of Toronto pay from 22 to 28 cents a pound, is sold in Great Britain for from 15 to 20 cents a pound. Canadian flour is cheaper in England than it is in Canada, and bread in Canada is about double the price it is in England. The same is true of fish, lumber, or, as a matter of fact, any commodity that is the product of the natural industries of this country. None of this extra price which the Canadian consumers pay goes to the primary producers. The prices which they receive for their products is the same whether for export or for home consumption, and is always based upon the ruling prices in the English markets. Thus the price paid to the Canadian producers of wheat, live stock, cheese, fish, etc., is governed by the current prices of these products in England. The Englishman may call this dumping, but the Canadian consumer is beginning to realize that the explanation lies in the fact that the prices of these commodities have remained stationary in Great Britain or have advanced slightly, while the prices to Canadian consumers have been very considerably and rapidly increased during recent years. On the other hand, the prices which the Canadian consumers pay for commodities imported from Great Britain are much higher than the prices paid by the English consumers. Concurrent with the rapid increase in prices of commodities there has been an abnormal increase in every other item, such as rents, taxes, etc., that goes to make up the total cost of living, until at the present time it is a demonstrated fact that a family can live better in England on about one-half the outlay that is necessary to keep the same family in Toronto or Montreal.

It Grows Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality, we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury corner George and Charlotte streets.

Balfour Backs Effort.

London, March 17.—Mr. Balfour, speaking in the House of Commons yesterday, said:

"The late Government did its best to carry out an arbitration treaty with the United States. I hope that there is a general feeling in America that the time has come when these two great countries may at last be bound by treaty to refer all questions which could possibly produce anything so horrible as war between them, to some arbitration tribunal.

"The Secretary for Foreign Affairs will find no heartier friends of such a policy than those in the Unionist party."

Mr. Balfour's speech, which was quite unexpected, has given a new impetus to the arbitration movement, and in the opinion of the Liberal morning papers, brings the question of an Anglo-American treaty within the region of practical politics.

Woman Burned to Death.

St. Catharines, March 17.—The firemen had two alarms last night, one which resulted fatally. Mrs. John Motley, aged 68, being burned to a crisp by falling while walking with a lighted lamp from room to room at her home on Division street. The other alarm was at the Reo automobile plant, but was unattended with any serious results.

Mrs. Motley was alone in her house at the time, so exactly how her death occurred will never be known. It was only when passers-by noticed flames in the interior of the house that an alarm was telephoned to the fire department. Firemen lost no time in gaining an entrance, but the woman was then lying dead on the floor, her clothes having been completely destroyed by the flames. A broken lamp was also found on the floor beside the body, thus telling the sad story.

Mrs. Melber Guilty.

Albany, March 17.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Edith Melber, charged with the murder of her son last January, brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree yesterday afternoon, after being out two hours and nineteen minutes.

Justice Howard immediately sentenced the woman for an indeterminate period of not less than twenty years' imprisonment at hard labor at Auburn prison, with life the maximum.

Mrs. Melber showed not the slightest trace of emotion when the verdict was rendered, nor did she waver when sentence was pronounced.

Lamp Trust Comes Down.

Washington, March 17.—As the first direct result of the Government's anti-trust suit against the so-called "electric lamp trust," the Department of Justice has received intimation that the prices of all electric light bulbs will be reduced 33 1-3 per cent. all over the United States.

By such a cut in present prices folks who buy the electric lamps will save more than $6,000,000 a year. The department continues to receive word that the various pools in the so-called trust are breaking up in anticipation of the suits which have been prepared.

The Dennistoun Property

We have received exclusive sale of the R. M. Dennistoun property, with frontage on George and Water streets. This is an opportunity for intending builders to secure good lots in fine locations at very Moderate Prices. Also double house on Aylmer street bringing in a rental of about $40.00 per month. This will go cheap. Four Lots on the west side of the city at quick sale prices.

As Mr. Dennistoun is now permanently located in Winnipeg all of the above property will be sold at prices that should insure quick sale.

CALL AT OUR OFFICE, we will be glad to give all information regarding the above property.

Easy Terms can be Arranged on Any of the Above Property

A. BROWN & CO.

PHONE 126 406 GEORGE ST.

LOST

LOST—A WEEK AGO, A YELLOW COLLIE pup about 10 months old. Will finder please leave at Munro House, Peterborough or Examiner Office. 3d-63-4296

LOST—ON SATURDAY NIGHT A SMALL black purse containing $16 60 either on Aylmer, Bethune or Hunter St. Finder leave at Examiner. 3d-62-4286

LOST OR POISONED ON TUESDAY large brown short haired dog, new collar with two tags attached, answers to Plato. Would anyone knowing anything about him please communicate with W. A. Bryden, 175 Rubidge St. and receive reward. 3d61-4285

AGENTS WANTED

WANTED—AGENT FOR PETERBOROUGH County, excellent thing, big money. Room 16, Montgomery Hotel. 3d-64-4319

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR THE BEST PREMIUM proposition in Canada, one that appeals to everyone, apply to Sellery Advertising Dept., 238 Albert St., Ottawa. d6mo20-3694

SITUATIONS VACANT

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1739, Lockport N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Hancock, F 1638, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 139

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.

208 Charlotte Street

Next to the Curling Rink

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

Electric Light, Heat & Power, Electric Bell & Annunciator.

Installations at Reasonable Rates

Let us quote on your motor installed ready to operate. Expert advice free

J. A. ASH

142 George Street South

MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

House Phone No. 799

1 yr.-34 418

A. Brown & Co.

406 GEORGE STREET

Headquarters for all kinds of

Real Estate

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,

d-tf On the Premises

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a card by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED, APPLY Examiner.

WANTED—KITCHEN PORTER FOR National Hotel. 3d-64-4305

WANTED — EXPERIENCED SALESMAN for our staple Department. Richard Hall & Son, Ltd. 4d-62-4284

WANTED

WANTED—TO RENT NEAR PUBLIC LIBrary, modern 9 or 10 roomed house. Apply 285 Stewart Street. 3d-64-4331

WANTED—AN UNFURNISHED ROOM with board for married couple. All conveniences and central location. Apply Box 4321, Examiner Office. 3d-64-4321

WORK WANTED

DRESS AND MANTLE MAKER NOW ready to receive orders at 170 Perry St. 3d-62-4304

WANTED—BY AN ELDERLY WOMAN, A position as a mother's help, or a competent seamstress. Apply at Oriental Hotel. 3d-62-4294

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET. Apply Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. dtf-24

TO RENT—FURNISHED ROOM WITH OR without board. Apply 390 Stewart St. 2d-63-4308

FURNISHED ROOM, SUITABLE FOR TWO young men, all conveniences, 336 Reid Street. 3d-64-4283

TO RENT—MODERN BRICK HOUSE WITH all conveniences, very central. Apply 417 Stewart Street, Phone 1209. 3d-62-4290

TO RENT, MODERN HOUSE, 129 RUBIDGE Street. Also Market Garden. Apply 161 Hunter Street or Phone 1281. dtf-55-4195

TO RENT—House No. 344 Rubidge St. Hot Water heating and all modern improvements. Possession 15th March. Apply 437 George Street. d-tf-46.

TO RENT—SMALL HOUSE FITTED WITH electric light. The house is centrally located and has a good garden for vegetables. For particulars apply 125 Antrim Street. d-tf-57-4221

FLAT TO RENT.—Flat of seven rooms with all conveniences, suitable for roomers, cor, Aylmer and Charlotte streets, very central. Apply Dr. Robinson's Livery, Charlotte street. 3d-62-4289

TO RENT—Store and Upper Floor in Grand Opera House Block. Would make first-class Music Store or any other suitable business. Also a good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator, Cor. McDonald & Aylmer Sts. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Awning & Tent Manufacturers, George Street, Peterborough. d-tf-46-4063

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—GOOD GIRL, Small family. Apply 636 Water St.

WANTED — MACHINE OPERATORS ON waists and aprons. Gemmel & Company. 2d-55-4511

WANTED—GIRL EXPERIENCED IN DRY Goods as saleslady. Apply 166 Simcoe St. d-tf-59-4230

WANTED—AT ONCE, HOUSEKEEPER, Elderly person preferred. Apply Examiner Office. 3d-62-4288

WANTED—GOOD GENERAL SERVANT. Apply Mrs. A. H. Stratton, 373 Park Street. 3d-62-4287

WANTED—A YOUNG GIRL FOR LIGHT housework. Apply 596 George Street. 2d-64-4332

WANTED—AT ONCE, EXPERIENCED general servant. Highest wages. Apply 469 Hunter Street. d-tf-59-4246

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected. Parties arriving March 13th, 28th, and April 2nd. Apply now, The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal, or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. 1md-56-4190

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—HOUSE, 239 PEARL AVE., also vacant lot adjoining. dtf-18-3870

FOR SALE—AT ONCE, BRICK HOUSE, conveniences, apply 59 Antrim Street 12d-56-4266

FOR SALE — A NORTHEY STEAM PUMP—Size of connections ½ inch. Apply to G. A. Gillespie, Simcoe street. d11fwtf

FOR SALE—COOK STOVE AND OTHER articles of furniture. Appy 175 Douro Street. 2d-64-4307

FOR SALE: TWO BEDS, TWO STOVES and a few other articles of household furniture. Apply 68 James St. 4d-62-4300

FOR SALE — THE RESIDENCE OF THE late Dr. Grey, No. 335 Sherbrooke street. All improvements. Hot water heating, good barn. Apply W. C. Stabler, 350 Water street. d69

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE — A CASH Register, in good condition, registering from 5 cents to $1.00; or will exchange for one registering from 1 cent up. Can be seen at the Examiner Office. tf695

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises 124 Rubidge street. dtf 125 62

Chamberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.

Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting, Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

Further Particulars From

J. H. VANCE

773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

NOTICE TO

Builders and Workmen

With a view to Meeting the Demands for Houses Suitable for the Average Mechanic

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Submit the following proposition to the Builders and Working Men of Peterboro. We will supply a Builder with a choice lot within 12 minutes walk of the C.G.R., the Shovel Works or the Cordage Factory at a maximum price of $150, lot to be paid for when a house constructed thereon has been sold. No interest or taxes for a period of one year provided house is not sold or rented within that time.

Any boy, girl, man or woman, can secure a choice lot in this section for $150 on terms of $10 cash and $5 per month.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter St. Phone 376

LAMEY & COSTELLO

Real Estate Brokers

431 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.

Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

WORKING PEOPLE

SHOULD OWN THEIR HOMES

With Garden and Fruit, Large or Small

It gives pleasant and profitable employment during spare time and saves many dollars for other necessities.

The rent, sober, honest and industrious people are paying will buy a home for you on my easy terms, as it has done for others now comfortably settled in homes of their own, of which they are perdonably proud and some can already show their deeds including a lone widow, while many more pretentious can only show rent receipts. Come in and let me explain my easy plan. Large and small garden and fruit lots for sale or to rent.

T. HURLEY

282 Hunter St., Peterboro

2m

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 25 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited

Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

HOUSE For Sale

An up-to-date BRICK HOUSE with all conveniences, water, gas, electric light & furnace, situated in the west end of the city. Lot, fifty foot frontage with lane at rear. A very fine property. Particulars at Examiner Office :: ::

1md-57-4220

DO YOU NEED A TYPEWRITER?

We are in a position to furnish you with Any Standard make of typewriter.

Machines bought, sold or exchanged.

Old machines taken on account.

Typewriters rented.

Peterborough Typewriter and Supply Co'y

159 SIMCOE PHONE 656

Millinery Opening

Friday and Saturday March 17th and 18th

The sun with the wonderful powers of its alchemy, first brings out upon the earth a beautiful background of green, and then with gorgeous and harmonious tints, paints a picture that the hand of man has never yet been able to equal. The greatest artist is the one who comes nearest to nature.

To be a successful milliner, you require the artistic frame of mind, not only harmony of colors and shades, but also the tout ensemble de poise. The face, figure and poise have all to be considered.

Almost anyone can put a hat together; but my, what a difference. How often you hear, "How Is It That Mrs. So and So Always Looks So Distinguished"? This is where the real artist of millinery comes in. We have a millinery artist who has made a rare success of her work. She loves her work as only an artist can, and has a true artist's perception of its possibilities. Don't spoil your costume with an ordinary hat when you can get the artistic effect at no greater cost.

Two Days, Mar. 17 and 18. Miss Noble, Head Milliner

On Friday and Saturday we will exhibit as usual all the new styles, but Saturday Evening will be more particularly set aside for those ladies whose engagements prevent them from coming during the day.

Second Ready-to-wear Opening March 17th and 18th

Many new styles have been opened out since last week including a larger variety of Spring Suits, Dresses, Tailored Blouses, etc.

We make suits a specialty—we will make them to your measure or alter them to your figure. We excel in fitting.

MRS. RUSSELL IN CHARGE

When shopping don't fail to take home one of our New Irish Songs for the 17th

ELLIOT'S

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

TO BE or not to be,
That is the question."

I wonder if I'll be considered absolutely hopeless if I "confess up" to a feeling I have long cherished without ever daring to give utterance to it before. And that is that I have never been able to have any great patience with the gentleman who uttered the above sentiment and who took five acts to make up his mind about something which an ordinary person would have decided in five minutes, and decided just as he did, at that.

Nor have I patience with Hamlet's innumerable relatives in the world of to-day, to whom making up their minds on every little point seems to be nothing short of agony.

Some of these people suffer so much in the effort that they are perpetually trying to persuade other people to perform that function for them.

"Do I really want to buy this coat or won't I wear it enough to pay?"

"Shall I wear my blue suit or my black?"

"Will we be better satisfied to move now or to stay here until spring?"

With questions like these, which, being possessed of the fullest evidence in the case, they are better qualified to answer themselves than anyone else can possibly be, they are perpetually bombarding their unfortunate friends.

There is nothing more tiring than to be in the company of a person badly afflicted with this atrophy of the decision muscles.

I know a girl who once spent a vacation with a victim of this weakness, and she says she came home absolutely exhausted from deciding everything, from what Marion should put on in the morning and what she should eat for breakfast, to whether she wanted to go to bed early or stay up and write letters.

That last illustrates one of the quaerest quirks about these folks. They don't simply ask other people's opinions on questions in which a third person's judgment and view point is valuable, but they help in decisions where the only doubtful quantity is their own need and desires.

To be so pigheaded that you never take advice on any subject is a weakness, of course.

But to be so lazy that you are always trying to make other people do your own legitimate work of making up your mind for you is as great a one.

Of course few people do this to the extent I have described, but every one is acquainted with people who have milder cases of this kind of atrophy.

"Look before you leap," is a good motto, but it doesn't mean to take a dozen looks and asks all your friends to look, too, before every little leap.

Learn to make all small decisions promptly and silently and not bother a busy world with questions you are quite capable of answering yourself and you will have acquired a habit that will strengthen both your judgment and your will power.

Ruth Cameron

Immigrant Smuggling.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 17.—Charged with assisting two foreigners to enter Canada by making false representations to the immigration authorities, George Wahl of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was fined $20 and costs in the Police Court yesterday. Max Menier and Henry Wessman, whom he assisted, across the border, were fined $5 and costs each and deported.

Wahl accompanied by the two foreigners crossed the upper bridge. They were stopped and Wahl stated that they were going to a skating rink. Officer Carter, who made the arrest, recognised Menier, who had been rejected last week under the name of Borner and the three were taken into custody. Menier said that he was suffering from mental relapse and could not remember his name.

Put Arabs to Flight.

Frankfort, Germany, March 17.—A despatch from Saloniki to The Frankfurter Zeitung, says that the young Turks central committee has received a despatch from the seat of hostilities in Yemen to the effect that the Turkish troops are putting the Arabs to flight everywhere, and that the machine guns have caused great havoc among the tribesmen. The Arabs have lost 200 in the last two fights, while 40 of the Turkish troops were killed.

Sheik Jahia (Yahya), the leader of the revolting Arab tribes, is said to have taken refuge on British territory. The telegraph lines between Rodsitia and Sana have been restored.

Underpaid and Underworked.

Winnipeg, March 17.—The grand jury of local assizes handed out some strong recommendations to the Provincial Government yesterday regarding the existing accommodation in such institutions as the local jail and Selkirk Asylum. The staffs are underpaid and overworked. In regard to the asylum the grand jury says that a provincial board of examiners should be appointed to inspect them. At present there is no classification, the insane and those of insane tendencies being all herded together.

Blames J. J. Hill.

London, March 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Hon. W. Peel, Unionist M.P. for Taunton, speaking at Deptford Wednesday night, said that the Imperial Government had outraged Canada in interest as well as sentiment. If it was unable to respond to Canada's appeal for preference, it need not have been rude. Mr. H. Page Croft, M.P. for Christchurch, speaking at the same meeting, expressed the conviction that J. J. Hill, the American railway king, was at the bottom of the reciprocity treaty.

Orangemen Approve Action.

Smith's Falls, March 17.—At the afternoon session of the Orange Grand Lodge here yesterday, the members placed themselves on record as approving the course taken by the Education Department in withholding the grants to schools of the Counties of Prescott, Russell and Glengarry because they did not comply with the requirements of the Public School Act. A resolution was passed expressing regret at the death of his late majesty, King Edward, and expressing loyalty to King George.

Just Thinking.

"Did you say your husband was out looking for work?"

"No; I believe he's out looking at work. There are some men digging a cellar down at the corner, and he doesn't seem able to get any farther."

Pick a Good One.

If you are determined to live and die a slave to custom, see that it is at least a good one.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills

A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at $5 a box, or three for $10. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

DEATH PENALTY IN PERSIA.

Ingenious Way of Lengthening Out the Process of Beheading.

The death penalty in Persia may be met in a number of different ways. A few years ago the assassin of the reigning Shah of Persia was hanged. A large crowd was allowed to look on, just as they used to be allowed to look on when criminals were executed in England. Persia still clings to an old theory which the west has outgrown—the theory that public sight of an execution acts as a warning against crime. Maybe, but more likely the western nations are right. Certainly the Persian authorities, with all their public severities, have not succeeded in stamping out a tendency of vicious and evil-tempered men to kill like wild animals when savage instincts take possession of them.

It makes no difference how horribly the consequences are going to roll back over themselves. When they "see red" they are wild beasts. And, to tell the truth, such men often get punished with a ferocity which you can hardly imagine. A man is tied across the mouth of a cannon. The cannon is fired. Well, his sufferings were no worse, I suppose, than if he were electrocuted, but the spectacle is more sickening. The public executioner has ingenious ways of lengthening out the process of a beheading. He cut off one arm, the other arm—one leg, the other leg—will it never be done? Yes. There goes the head. One more bad man has gone to meet a Judge who knows the case better than any earthly judge.

A Mohammedan husband is supposed to attend to any small matter of discipline where the women of his family are concerned, just as he does where his boys are concerned. In a very serious case, such as murder done by a jealous or passionate wife, the leader of the mosque deals out justice. The civil authorities do not deal with a woman at all in the event of such a tragedy. And in the woman's case there is always an effort to keep her crime and her fate a secret. The respectable widow of a murdered man has been known to die suddenly with something like acute indigestion. A strong dose of poison steadily prescribed by the leader of mosque does certainly check the digestion.

Wall Paper Opening

40,000 ROLLS

of New and Exclusive Patterns in Canadian and Imported American Papers

Handsome effects in floral and scenic panels, Silks, Velours, Tapestries and the higher class of wall papers and decorations as well as a specially selected line of

5c, 6c, 7½c 10c and 12c Papers

An invitation is extended to the citizens of Peterborough and vicinity to call at the Peterborough Bookstore and inspect this new stock of high grade wall papers, the best ever shown in Peterborough.

Come and let us show you the newest effects for this spring.

WE HAVE AN ENDLESS VARIETY OF
Window Blinds, Cornice Poles and Drapery Rods

The PETERBORO BOOKSTORE

Trebilcock Bros.

417 George Street Peterborough

Call and have a look at our stock before you have made your purchases

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, March 16.—Official forecast that rising temperature would be widespread, and that in Minnesota there would be rain or snow, removed to-day as a wheat market influence all talk of cold dry weather. In consequence the close was easy at a net decline of 3c to 3½c. Other leading cereals showed an advance—corn and oats both making a gain of a shade to 1c—provisions declining 7½c to 25c and 37½c.

The Liverpool wheat market closed today ½d higher than yesterday, corn was ½d to 1d higher. Antwerp closed unchanged on wheat.

Winnipeg Options.

	Close.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	92½	92¼	93½	92¼	92¾
July	84¾	84¾	85	84¼	84¼
Oats—
May	33½	33¼	34¼	33¼	33¾
July	34½	34¾	35¼	34¾	34¾

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	$0 89	to $0 91
Wheat, goose, bushel	0 78	....
Rye, bushel	0 66	0 68
Barley, bushel	0 46	....
Oats, bushel	0 37	....
Buckwheat, bushel	0 40	0 42
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, store lots	0 17	0 19
Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 23	0 24
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 25	0 26
Eggs, new-laid	0 23	0 30
Eggs, cold storage	0 22	....
Cheese, lb.	0 13	0 13½
Honey-comb, dozen	1 80	....
Honey, extracted, lb.	0 10	0 11

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, March 16.—Closing—Wheat, spot, dull; 7s 3 red western winter, no stock; futures firm; March, 6s 9½d; May, 6s 9¾d; July, 6s 9½d; flour, winter patents, quiet 27s 6d; hops in London, Pacific coast, firm, £4 to £5 5s.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, March 16.—Cables on Manitoba spring wheat came stronger with bids 1½ to 2d higher. Demand was fair, but even at the advance they were 1c to 2c per bushel below cost. Canadian western oats were stronger, and prices advanced ¾c to 1c per bushel on the spot, with a moderate business doing. Millfeed was unchanged. There is an unsettled feeling in spring wheat flour and prices are being cut in some cases 10c to 20c per barrel, which, if continued, will lead to a general decline in the near future. Stocks are large, and the demand is very limited.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 39c car lots ex-store, extra No. 1 feed, 38½c; No. 2 C.W., 38c; No. 1 local white, 37c; No. 2 local white, 36c; No. 4 local white, 35c.

Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, firsts, $5.60; seconds, $5.10; winter wheat patents, $4.60 to $4.75, strong bakers', $4.90; straight rollers, $4.35 to $4.50, in bags, $2.00 to $2.

Rolled oats, per barrel, $3.90; bag of 90 lbs., $1.85.

Feed barley, car lots ex-store, 45c to 46c. Corn, American No. 3 yellow, 56c to 56½c.

Millfeed—Bran, Ontario, $22 to $23; Manitoba, $21 to $23; middlings, Ontario, $24 to $25; shorts, Manitoba, $28 to $30; moullie, $25 to $30.

Country dressed hogs, $8.25 to $8.35; dressed hogs, abattoir, $9.25 to $10 per 100 lbs. Beef—Plate, half barrels, 100 lbs., $3.75; barrels, 200 lbs., $17; tierces, 300 lbs., $25.

Lard—Compound tierces, 25 lbs., 10½c; boxes 50 lbs. net (parchment lined), 10½c; tubs, 50 lbs. net, grained, two handles, 10½c, tin pails, wood, 20 lbs. net, 11c; tin pails, 20 lbs., gross, 10½c.

Pork—Heavy Canada short cut mess, barrels, 35 to 45 pieces, $23, half barrels, $11.75. Canada short cut and back pork, 45 to 55 pieces, barrels, $21.50. Canada clear pork, barrels, 30 to 35 pieces, $22; bean pork, small pieces, hot dog, barrels, $17.

Eggs—Selected, 23c; fresh, 22c to 23c; No. 1 stock, 20c; No. 2, 18c.

Cheese—Westerns, 12c to 12½c; easterns, 11½c to 12c.

Butter—Choicest, 28c to 29c; seconds, 26c to 27½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, March 16.—The railways reported 70 carloads of live stock at the City Yards, consisting of 747 cattle, 2268 hogs, 453 sheep and 84 calves.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots of butchers' cattle sold at $5.20 to $5.50, and one lot of 4 extra choice butchers, good enough to export, 1170 lbs. each, sold by Dunn & Lovack to the Harris Abattoir Co., at $5.75 per cwt. loads of good, $5.20 to $5.40, medium, $4.90 to $5.15, common, $4.75 to $4.85, cows, $3.25 to $4.50, bulls, $4.50 to $5.

Milkers and Springers.

Moderate receipts of milkers and springers sold at $65 to $94 each.

Veal Calves.

Fairly liberal receipts of veal calves sold at $5.50 to $8 per cwt., with a few choice calves as high as $8.50.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.; rams, at $4 to $4.50, and lambs, $6.50 to $7 per cwt. The lambs selling at $7 per cwt., are nice light weights, 90 to 100 lbs. each; heavy lambs are slow sale at prices quoted.

Hogs.

Receipts of hogs were fairly liberal. Prices ruled steady, at $7.65 for selects, fed and watered, and $7.75 to drovers for hogs, f.o.b., cars, at country points. All heavy hogs, 200 lbs. and over, are bought culled out at 50c per cwt. less than the above prices.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 16.—Cattle—Receipts, 25 head, market active, steady; prime steers, $6.40 to $6.75; butcher grades, $5 to $6.25.

Calves—Receipts, 225 head; market slow, lower, cull to choice, $5.50 to $9.50.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 2200 head; market active, firm; choice lambs, $6.75 to $7, cull to fair, $5.25 to $6.50; yearlings, $5.50 to $6, sheep, $2.75 to $5.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 1700, market active, 10c higher, yorkers, $7.50 to $7.55, stags, $5 to $5.50, pigs, $7.55; mixed, $7.40 to $7.50, heavy, $7.30 to $7.35, roughs, $6.25 to $6.40.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Beeves—Receipts 1235. No trading. Feeling nominally weak.

Calves—Receipts 180. Nothing doing. Feeling steady.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 3000 head. Market steady. Sheep $3.75 to $5.25; lambs, $6.11 to $7.15.

Hogs—Receipts 1800. Feeling nominally steady.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, March 16.—Cattle—Receipts, estimated at 5500, market slow, weak. Beeves, $5.10 to $6.55; Texas steers, $4.60 to $5.65; western steers, $4.75 to $5.90; stockers and feeders, $4 to $5.10; cows and heifers, $3.60 to $5.80; calves, $6.25 to $8.50.

Hogs—Receipts, estimated 24,000; market slow, 5c to 10c higher. Light, $6.90 to $7.30; mixed, $6.75 to $7.30; heavy, $6.60 to $7; rough, $6.60 to $6.75; good to choice heavy, $6.75 to $7; pigs, $6.60 to $7.15; bulk of sales, $6.85 to $7.05.

30 DAYS' REMOVAL SALE

About April 1st we are moving two doors north to 407 George St. (Adam Hall's old stand). During March we are giving prices that are worth watching.

Machine Oil, regular 10c for	5c	Sulphur, 8 lbs	25c
Tar Soap, regular 10c for	5c	Glauber's Salts, 8 lbs	25c
Celery and Iron Pills, regular 25c for	9c	Tooth Picks, regular 10c for	5c
Toilet Soap, regular 15c a cake for	10c	Grecian Hair Restorer, regular 50c for	25c
25 per cent. off all Hair Combs and brushes		Laxative Fig Syrup, regular 25c for	13c
20 per cent. off Trusses of all kinds		Little Liver Pills, regular 25c for	8c
Talcum, Rose, Violet, Carnation, Boquet, regular 25c for	13c	Sponges, 25 per cent. off regular price

THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE
C. M. MONCUR, Phm. B., Prop.

Occasionally—not often—a sack of stout cloth inclosing something heavy is carried or dragged up, up, up the long winding staircase in the tower of a mosque and thrown down from the top to the stone-paved ground outside. Nobody say what was inside that sack. Horrified guesses may be exchanged in confidence by a few persons who knew the owner of a certain reckless temper, but no public announcement is made about the facts. One more unfortunate has ended her days. Perhaps the sin was not all on her side, either. Who knows?—Leon Modern.

The Wild Camel of Spain.

Who would imagine that there are wild camels in Spain, and in a part of Spain which is flooded during a great part of the year? Yet the thing is vouched for by the authors of "Unexplored Spain." The explanation is that the animals were introduced to Spain in 1830 by the Marquis of Villafranca, with the object of employing them in transport and agriculture, as they are commonly used on the opposite shores of Africa. But local difficulties ensued, chiefly arising from the intense fear and repugnance of horses toward camels, which resulted in numerous accidents, and eventually the bactrians were set free in the marismas, wherein they have since lived at large and bred under wholly wild conditions."

A Cold Fact.

"I couldn't stand it in the public parlor any longer. A man there with the worst kind of a cold in his head was telling the oldest kind of stories."

"I see. Hoarse chestnuts."

"Whinever annybody offers to give you sometbin' f'r nawtbin', or sometbin' f'r less thin it's worth or more f'r somethin thin it's worth, don't take anny chances. YELL F'R A POLISMAN,"---Mr. Dooley.

J. J. TURNER & SONS, SIGN DEPT. - The People Who Sell Signs

Sketches and Estimates on Electri Signs Furnished

SPRING Shoes

This is a Patent Corona Colt, button with black cloth top. One of this season's smartest styles.

We are showing many exclusive novelties. Splendid workmanship, fine materials, perfect fit assured—always.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 GEORGE STREET

OIL WILL BE USED ON ALL STREETS THIS YEAR

Board of Works Decides to Substitute the Odiferous Oil for Water for Sprinkling Purposes

BETTER FOR STREETS

No water will be used for sprinkling purposes on Peterborough's streets this summer.

At least, not if the Council passes the recommendation of the Board of Works, and as that body is a majority of the Council, there is no reason to suppose that the suggestion will not be carried out.

The Board of Works decided last night to substitute oil for water on all streets throughout the city.

There was considerable discussion over the matter but the Board seemed satisfied with the result of the experiment made last year.

City Engineer Hay was very strongly in favour of using oil instead of water.

"I like oil," remarked Ald. Duncan.

"So do I" echoed Ald. Graham.

"The oil could be placed on George street after 11 o'clock on Saturday nights" pointed out Ald. Duncan.

"I was talking to one of the confectioners about it" explained Ald. Graham, "and he seemed satisfied that if George street was oiled late on Saturday night there would be no trouble."

"Well, I was speaking to another confectioner who made a strong protest against the use of oil," remarked Ald. Brown.

"The oil protects our streets and keeps the dust down better," said Ald. Metheral, chairman of the Board.

"We might use water on George street," suggested Ald. Anderson.

There was a discussion as to whether any water should be used on any of the streets and finally it was moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that oil be used instead of water for all the street sprinkling during the year.—Carried.

Ald. Graham moved, seconded by the Mayor, that the chairman and Engineer be given authority to purchase a small grader.—Carried.

The City Engineer reported that people were dumping garbage at Edinburgh and Water streets and was instructed to look into the matter.

A letter was read from Dr. John McCullough, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, approving of the plans submitted by the City Engineer for a septic tank at Waterford and Harvey streets.

The chairman, Ald. Metheral, brought up the question of the season's supply of cement, stating that he believed that the cement could be secured this year at about the same or perhaps five cents less per barrel than last year. He suggested that the cement be secured in paper bags which would do away with the trouble of collecting and sending back the bags as under the old system, but which would mean a difference in cost of 10c. per barrel.

It was decided to use the cloth bags as usual, and on motion of the Mayor seconded by Ald. Anderson, the chairman was instructed to advertise for tenders for cement in the usual way.

BOW-WOW MINSTRELS FINE ORGANIZATION

The lovers of old-time negro minstrelsy with the grand old darkey lullabys, true Virginia essence and Southern atmosphere will do well not to miss the Bow-Wow Minstrels, appearing at the Grand for two performances, on Saturday, March the 18th at popular prices.

Ever since the old days, when the first minstrel troupe appeared before the public on January 31st, 1843 with only four members in the circle wearing costumes depicting the cotton gatherers, minstrelsy has been improving until in the year 1850 the first company was presented in full evening dress, swallow-tail coats, white vests and black pants, and travelled under the name of Dumbolto's Serenaders. Gradually the companies enlarged until now the present day troupe gives a whole evening's entertainment with variety from beginning to end.

The Bow-Wow Minstrels have reached the height of perfection, such as seldom seen in an organization of this nature. The entire company appearing in the modern evening dress, the beauty of which is greatly enhanced by white satin lapels, while the six "dandy" 'end men are pictures indeed in their swagger, red satin costumes.

Imagine a series of harmonized, old-time darkey plantation songs and lullabys softly sung in the pale light of the tropical moon, with an accompaniment of the djstant mocking birds, the singing gradually swelling and falling. Close your eyes and think you are sitting at the edge of a cotton plantation, down in "Ole Virgini" way back in the early days of emancipation, with the negroes humming and crooning and the staccato twang of the banjo heard in the distance. Imagine all this and you will form a very clear idea of the scenes enacted by the Bow-Wow Minstrels.

Singing in the circle are such favourites as Harry Barker, Fred G. Wood, Arthur Baxter, Chas. Waddell, besides the six comedians playing on the ends, and T. R Walke, the well known female impersonator.

The second part or olio, is quite equal to the first part, with the following artists appearing: R. C. Lukey, novelty whistler; G. B. Hunt, refined English entertainer; John A. Kelly, presenting his blockhead family in a ventriloquial sketch; W. J. Charlebois, habitant impersonator; Bill Bailey at the piano will serve a "ragtime table d'hote"; and Scully, Rolls and Wood, in a Southern playlet entitled "Plantation Pastimes."

TO-NIGHT

Grand St. Patrick's Day Concert in the Opera House

Excellent Programme — under auspices of St. Peter's T. A. S.

BLACKLISTERS APPEAR IN POLICE COURT TO-DAY

Several Are Charged With Being Drunk and a Conviction Costs One Man a $10 Fine.

OTHER CASES HEARD

John McGee, of North Monaghan, was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the street, in the police court this morning. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2.00. He paid the fine.

A local man was charged with being drunk, while on the Black List. He pleaded not guilty, but the evidence was so strong that a conviction was made and he was fined $10.00.

Mr. J. Stewart, License Inspector, gave evidence to the effect, that he was called to the defendant's home on the fifteenth, and that there was a racket going on. The defendant's wife had a very sore eye, which she at first attributed to the fact that a stick of wood had flew up from the axe and struck her in the eye, but afterwards stated that she was down on the floor picking up a fork, and that her husband gave a door a kick, and it hit her in the eye, causing the eye to be black and irritated as it appeared in court. Mr. Stewart stated that the defendant admitted to him that he had had a drink on that day, but was not under the influence of liquor. Mr. Stewart could smell it off him.

The defendant's wife gave evidence to the effect that she and her husband had, had a slight misunderstanding on that day regarding some money matters, and that that was what caused all the racket and not the liquor, as supposed by Mr. Stewart. She gave an outline of the event of the door striking her eye, much the same as she had previously told it to Mr. Stewart.

The defendant was then put in the box and corroborated his wife's statement. He did not deny that he had got a drink on that day. He stated that his wife had got a 25c. bottle of liquor for one of the children which was sick, and that he had got it and drank it.

The fact that he had liquor in his possession was enough to make the conviction, however, and the fact that he had drunk liquor while on the list was a positive conviction, so His Worship, Magistrate Dumble fined the defendant $10.00.

Another young man from North Monaghan, and who is at present employed in the Cordage Works, was charged with being drunk while on the black list. He pleaded not guilty, so that the evidence was taken.

Mr Stewart stated that he was going out Charlotte street on Tuesday morning to the G.T.R. station, and he met the defendant. He stated that the defendant looked very much under the influence of liquor, and that he staggered as he walked past him.

Harry Jamieson, a 13 year old witness, was beside Mr. Stewart on that particular morning and remarked at the time that the defendant looked drunk. He made the same statement in the witness box.

The defendant stated that he had been sick and had been up all night, and that that was the cause of his appearance.

The magistrate thought that might be the case, and did not feel justified in making a conviction. Mr. Stewart stated that he had no desire to convict him, if he was not guilty and that it was no gratification to him to see him convicted or in court at all. He said that the defendant was a nice, quiet young fellow, and that he knew nothing bad about him except the drink habit, and this was the first time he had been in court since he was put on. He said that he was perfectly willing to see the magistrate give the defendant the benefit of the doubt.

The case was accordingly dismissed.

OPEN MEETING

There will be an open meeting of the Brotherhood of St. James' Methodist church to-night, the affair being in the nature of a St. Patrick Day entertainment. A feature of the programme will be travel talk on "A Trip Through the British Isles" by Mr. S. J. Keyes, of the Normal School staff. Mr. Keyes will first touch upon Ireland and then pass on to deal with England, paying particular attention to Westminster Abbey and the Tower of London. His lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon slides and promises to be exceptionally interesting. The public is cordially invited to be present.

BIRTH

HALL.—At 116 Hunter street, on Friday, March 17th, 1911, the wife of Mr Basil D. Hall, of a son.

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL

Oak Hall Drug Store

Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

LASTING PHOTOS

An evidence of the superior quality of our work is the fadeless quality we produce. We would like to show you photographs that have been exposed to sunlight for long periods without the slightest effect.

The Lendrum Studio
170 Charlotte Street

Our Stock of

Ready-to-Wear GARMENTS

for Ladies and Gentlemen is Complete

We are prepared to show you the choicest and most up-to-date lines of Springs Goods in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Ready-to-Wear Clothing, House Furnishings and Millinery.

We sell on easy payments of $1.00, $.200 or $3.00 per week.

See Our Ladies' Suit as a Special Leader for : $11

Knickerbocker Co

CREDIT CLOTHIERS

TELEPHONE 711 422 GEORGE STREET

Extra Specials for Saturday

March 18th

You Are Cordially Invited

To Attend Our Spring Millinery Openings, FRIDAY and SATURDAY, March 17th and 18th Splendid displays have been made of Millinery, Dress Goods, Ready-to-Wear Garments and House-furnishings.

You will find much of interest, as all the authoritative styles for 1911 are represented in our showing.

Ready-to-Wear Items

Black Voile Skirts
Made of good quality Voile with panel front and side gored to knee, finished with pleating, headed with fancy design in embroidery. Extra Special Saturday, each $6.00

Suits
Made of French Serge, coat made in a natty style, self trimmed, one of the season's newest cuts. Gored skirt with shaped band of self, colours navy and grey. Extra Special Saturday, each .. $17.50

Long Coats
Made of fancy diagonal covert cloth, semi-fitting style, patch pockets with laps, collar and cuffs, well tailored. Extra Special Saturday, each..... $11.50

Gowns
Made of good quality flannelette with tucked yoke, finished around neck & down front with frill, good full sizes. Extra Special Saturday, each 69c

Silk Waists
Made of good quality messaline silk, with clusters of 8 fine tucks, finished with soutache braid and buttons, to form yoke, sleeves made to match, open front. Colours, black, navy, grey and champ. Extra Special Saturday, each $5.00

Splendid Offerings from the March Dress Goods Sale

Paillette-De-Chene
40 inch rich finished silk, suitable for dresses and coats—all pure silk, (note the width and extra heavy weight), worth $1.75 per yard. Just to introduce this great value to you, we will sell it Extra Special Saturday, yard $1.25

Foulard Silk
27 inch silk in colours of black, grey and Copenhagen, very rich finish, equal to any 50c quality. Extra Special Saturday, yard 35c

40 inch Stripe Taffeta Cloth
For a new Spring dress or skirt, in such colours as navy blue, marine blue, king's blue, blue grey, pearl grey, mid brown, golden brown and reseda green. All pure wool, worth to-day 75c yd. Extra Special Saturday, per yard..... 50c

Belwarp Serge
44 inches wide, all pure wool, in navy blue only, for suits and skirts, soap shrunk, will resist dust and wear, absolutely fast dye, worth $1.00 yd. Extra Special Saturday, yard 75c

Kid Gloves 98c
Perrin's Kid Gloves, wrist length, two domes, colours assorted tans & greys, white and black, every pair guaranteed. Extra Special Saturday, pair..... 98c

Lisle Thread Gloves
All the new shades in fine quality Lisle Thread Gloves, wrist length, two domes. Extra Special Saturday, pair 25c

Mercella Handkerchiefs
Suitable for fancy work, white centres with coloured borders. Extra Special Saturday, 2 for .. 25c

Linen Collars
Dainty patterns in embroidered linen collars, all sizes. Extra Special Saturday, each 19c

Embroidery
Very fine quality cotton and muslin embroidery, in an assortment of pretty patterns and widths. Regular up to 15c yd. Extra Special Saturday, yd.... 8c

Cashmere Hose 23c
Splendid quality women's fine black Cashmere Hose, seamless feet, sizes 8½, 9, 9½, 10. Extra Special Saturday, pr. 23c

Fancy Hosiery
Women's fine Lisle Hose with polka dots, in colours of sky, helio, black & white, garter tops, spliced heel and toe. Extra Special Saturday, 3 pairs for 1.00

Staple Department Offerings

Unbleached Damask
Good heavy quality of all linen unbleached damask, neat floral designs, will wear well and bleach in a few washings. Extra Special Saturday, yd..... 31c

Sheets
Full bleached ready to use sheets, made from good quality sheeting, finished 1½ inch top & 1 inch bottom hems, double bed size. Extra Special Sat., each 69c

Vestings
Big range of new and stylish patterns, mercerized effects, very fine soft material, suitable for blouses and dresses. Extra Special Saturday, yard..... 25c

Pillow Cotton
Heavy bleached circular pillow cotton, firm weave, soft pure finish, 40 ins. and 44 inches wide. Extra Special Saturday, yard 18c

Shirtings
Good quality Canadian Shirting in stripes of black and white & navy with white, fast colours, splendid wearing cloth. Extra Special Saturday, yard 15c

Save Money on Housefurnish'gs

Window Shades
6 doz. Window shades in cream, green and white, trimmed with lace to match, size 37 x 70 inches. Extra Special Saturday, each 29c

Brussels Rugs
Extra heavy quality of Brussels Rugs, in colours of green, camel and blue, size 10 ft 6 x 9 ft and 12 feet x 9 ft. Extra Special Saturday, each.... .....$18.50---$21.50

Axminster Rugs
15 only fine quality Axminster Rugs, size 36 x 63 inches in a good assortment of patterns and colorings. Extra Special Saturday, each $2.69

Door Mats
20 only outside Cocoa Door Mats. Extra Special Saturday, each. 18c

Bungalow Net
120 yards Bungalow Net, 45 inches wide, in ecru shade only. Extra Special Saturday, only 19c

New Idea Patterns are economical. They're just what you need if you need Patterns at all & they're only 10c each

RICHARD HALL & SON

Have your new Dress or Suit fitted over one of the New Models of our famous "Kabo" Corsets

WATCH FOR THE GREEN PRICE CARDS

Saturday Snaps

The New Spring Dress Goods

A wonderfully complete showing of new dress fabrics, with no intermediate stopping place between the mills that make them and our customers. They're here for your inspection and criticism. Here are a few special price inducements to shop at the dress goods counters Saturday.

Natural Shantung Silk 39c

The silk that washes, is cool for summer dresses, and very durable, makes nice coats and waists, very suitable for the three piece suits. Reg. 50c value. Saturday Snap.... 39c

$1.25 Paisley Silk for 90c

All the new newest patterns and colourings, makes up nicely for blouses, dresses or for hat trimmi'gs, also used as trimming for the summer suit or dress. Reg. 1.25. Sat. Snap.. 90c

Spring Blouses Spring Suits Spring Coats

The new Spring wearables are here in abundance, not a few garments to choose from, but literally hundreds, all new, all correct. Choosing is made easy here. Many special prices for Saturday.

New Panama Skirts $4.25

A new skirt at a new price, made of splendid quality all wool panama, in new pleated effects, navy and black. A skirt worth easily $5. Bought to sell at this price as a big leader. Saturday only $4.25

— Second Floor —

The New Covert Coat $6.00

A very special Spring coat about 28 inches long, made of good quality covert cloth in fawn in new stripe effects, with the 1911 back, very nattily trimmed. Very special at ..... Other prices — $5 to $15 $6.00

— Second Floor —

Special $15.00 Suit

Perhaps the best Suit value in our entire range is the $15 line. It was specially made for us for a big leader Variety of cloths, including Venetians, Fancy Wale Cords and Diagonals, in blue and black, is very fashionable & is extra good value. These suits are beautifully lined & trimmed. Very special at..... $15

EGYPTINE

New Egyptine Undersk't 2.19

This is our big Underskirt value of the season, and it's remarkably good. We have stocked the skirt in every wanted shade and black. This new Egyptine cloth is the last word in cloth excellence for underskirts, superior to taffetine and will wear much better. Ask for this garment, 2nd floor. Introductory price $2.19

Save Time, Labour, Money, by buying your Child's Dresses ready to put on. :: :: :: See them on Second Floor

Early Riser No. 1

$1 and 1.25 Wrappers 89c

For two hours only Saturday morning, 8:15 to 10:15 (not after)

One hundred new wrappers, just in from the factory. These wrappers are really worth $1.25 and $1.50, but are sold here very special at $1.00 and $1.25 as leaders. Saturday morning from 8:15 to 10:15 (or until sold out) they go on sale at only..(All colours & sizes).. 89c

Note—Will not be displayed in windows owing to the Millinery Opening.

Early Riser No. 2

18c Art Silkolines 8 1-2c

For two hours only Saturday morning, 8:15 to 10:15 (not after)

10 or 12 pieces of Art Silkolines, beautiful soft drapery materials in good shades and patterns, full yard wide. These goods make splendid bedroom drapes for windows, bed & box covers, etc. They are especially good for comforter covers. Reg. 18c & 20c yd. Saturday, 8:15 to 10:15, per yard..... 8½c

Note—Will not be displayed in windows owing to the Millinery Opening.

Great Bargain in Rugs

Brusselette Rugs, woven in oriental designs in shades of red, blue and green, very strong and serviceable.

Size 3x4 yds. worth $11, sale price $7.95
Size 3x3½, worth 9.50, sale price $6.79
Size 3x3 yds., worth $8, sale price $5.48

— Third Floor

Nottingham Lace Curtains 89c

An excellent line of lace curtains in Nottingham weave, 3 to 3½ yds. long, 48 ins wide, finished with colbert edges, very strong durable net, suitable for bedrooms and sitting rooms. Regular $1.25. Saturday.... 89c

— Third Floor —

Get in right on the Wall Paper question by getting our advance 1911 ideas

Department Stores Cressman's

The New Wall Papers are marvels of beauty. Our ideas surpass the usual

ROBINS FROZEN

James Mann, an employee of the McDonnel Lumber Co., found three robins frozen to death this morning. It is evident they were unable to resist the piercing gale which visited this section yesterday, they having just arrived from a warm climate.

GAME AT KINGSTON

Kingston, March 16.—The match between Frontenacs and the All-Star team of western Ontario realized $100. The total receipts were over $300, but the expenses of the visiting team and other incidentals had to be paid. This afternoon James T. Sutherland, the manager of the Frontenacs sent checks for $50 each to the General Hospital and Hotel Dieu. The Frontenacs during the past week have thus been been the means of contributing $230 to Toronto and Kingston hospitals. It was the idea of Mr. Sutherland to play in Toronto for the benefit of Mr. J. Ross Robertson's Hospital for Sick Children.

Chase's Pills Regular 25 for 18	SHILOH'S Cough Cure Regular 25 for 20	Peruna Regular $1.00 for 83c	Piskham's Comp. Regular $1 for 88	Carter's Pills Regular 25 for 18
Electric Oil Regular 25c for 18c	Your Money Back If not satisfied with any of the Rexall Prescriptions : Wine of Cod Liver Oil Face Cream Liver Pills Kidney Pills, etc.	Eastman's Kodaks and a full line of Supplies always on hand. Sole Agents for Huyler's Chocolates		Pink Pills Regular 50 for 30c
Dodd's Pills Regular 50 for 38c				Chase's Syrup Regular 25 for 15c

CHEMIST E. L. PAYNE DRUGGIST

(ORMOND & WALSH OLD STAND)

St. Patrick's Day

(Written for the "Examiner" by Rev. Father Casey.)

All the world is Irish on St. Patrick's Day, the poet tells us, and true it is that whether we be Celt or Saxon we like to sport the "green, immortal Shamrock" on the seventeenth. For with all his faults, Paddy is an universal favourite—indeed we like him for his very weaknesses, they are so very human, and we recognize that if his head is hot his heart is warm. Anyway, we join hands with him this one day; we willingly yield him up the seventeenth; it is his special property, and he mopopolizes it to the full. No other national holiday is kept, as Paddy keeps his. No other day is so universally observed. No other national emblem is so ubiquituously displayed as the shamrock. No other national patron is so honoured, and it is only right that it should be, for the Apostle of Ireland is assuredly one of the grandest characters in all history. The world of Christianity and civilization owes him too much to forget him, and of course his own children love him in the country he evangelised with a love that is more than human in its intensity. And to-day the "dear little plant" that he is supposed to have planted, greets you everywhere, and the thoughts of many thousands go out across the ocean to the "banks and the bogs and the mireland," where it grows and flourishes. And there are tears in many eyes and a gripping of the heart strings, and many a blessing is invoked on the lone little Isle of the Sea. They are a strange people, these Irish, and few have ever understood them. The smile and the tear are inseparably blended in their composition. Now grave, now gay, careless one moment, moved to the very depths the next, a strange, volatile, mysterious people, going their own way, pursuing their own ideal, persecuted, laughed at, petter—and yet, ever the same. Beaten but never conquered, broken but not subdued, tried as few peoples have been tried, this strange race still lives on in spite of the dungeon and the sword, immortal as its ever-green emblem, eternal as the God it has so faithfully served. Strang sad, disappointing, heart-breaking is its story. Blood-stained, tear-dimmed, sorrowful as the call of the night wind above the graves of its forgotten dead. What mysteries are therein set down, only the All-seeing can fathom. "Greater than tongue can tell in every age has been God's design for Erin the mighty." Only the Providence that willed it can measure it.

After eight hundred years, England has still to fathom the depths of the Celtic soul. To understand Ireland—to read her history in the light in which it was written, is a privilege but given to the few. To do so we must see things as she sees them, and it is hard for a world that is Mammon-mad to adjust itself to her viewpoint. It is hard for this busy, practical century to go back to the fifteenth—to imagine itself listening to that strange gospel which taught men that the body was more than the raiment, and that man did not live by bread alone. And yet this is what we must do. For Ireland, that has grown old in years, has kept her heart ever young, and to-day she still sees the visions and dreams; the dreams of centuries. The world scoffs at her, but she either hears not or does not care. She has sought the things that are above. She traded not in the perishable goods of time, but in that which endureth for eternity. And when the world mockingly bids her show it, the evidence of her greatness, she bids it look to Iona and Clonmacnoise, to Lindisfarne and Northumbia—she bids it look up to where, around the throne of St. Patrick, stands the army of her confessors and martyrs and virgins, and tells it this is what she has achieved. She has lived for heaven, and to heaven she confidently appeals. Her high duty it has been

"To teach the world the might of moral beauty,
And stamp God's image truly on the struggling soul."

And to-day, when from the four corners of the earth, her children gather to do honour to her name day, their first and grandest celebration will be before the altar of God. Processions and parades, concerts and meetings and speeches there will be and to spare, but before all that they must needs pay tribute to Patrick in the House of God. St. Patrick's Day is primarily a holy day. Religion that enters into every detail of their lives must sanctify their national celebration, whether they keep it here mid the snows of Canada, or in the sun-kissed isles of the south, or beneath the gray skies of Ireland.

It will be glad hearts that will keep the Day of Patrick, for the eyes that look out across the ocean to-day to the little green isle can at last discern a gleam of hope in the dark clouds that have so long brooded over it. The dream of countless generations is about to be realized, and soon a free Ireland, free in the sense that Canada is free, will keep the Day of Patrick. The dawn of that Patrick's Day will mark an epoch in the history of the Empire. Directing her own destiny, going her own way, after her own fashion, Ireland will grow in loyalty to our common king, as her children grow stronger and prosper under home rule. There never has been a cause that has suffered so much from misrepresentation as the cause of self-government for Ireland. The powerful and unscrupulous interests who ruled the country for their own ends sought to justify their usurpation by an unceasing campaign of misrepresentation and calumny. The country was disloyal, she sought complete separation from England, she was seething with rebellion, she was in a constant state of anarchy, the midnight assassin ruled the land. If you throw enough mud some of it will stick, and so people came to accept this monstrous fabrication for the reality. But you cannot prevaricate for ever. Some day the truth will out, and that day has now dawned for Ireland. The wonder is that England should have taken so long to see it. Seventy years ago Upper and Lower Canada were divided against each other, but England evolved union out of chaos by the grant of self government. We have seen it with our own eyes in South Africa. The granting of complete local autonomy has healed the scars of all these years' war, and has made Boer and Briton dwell in peace and harmony. Why should it be otherwise with Ireland? I know Ireland—I know exactly the sentiments of the people towards the king and constitution, and knowing it I, in common with my fellow countrymen, look forward to the day when a generous measure of home rule will, with one stroke of the pen, undo the wrongs of centuries and heal the feud that far too long has divided two peoples that have to march in common. We look forward to seeing French and English, Boer and Briton, Celt and Saxon, each bringing his own tribute to mingle their confluent natures in the stream of Imperial union—one throne, one empire, one people, diverse in origin and in race—all alike charged and endowed in the fullest measure with liberty and responsibility and self government in their own local affairs. We are at the beginning of a new reign. The first act of the new sovereign was to send our future Governor-General, the Duke of Connaught, to open a free parliament in South Africa. That ceremony was the culminating point in the pacification of South Africa, which will stand for all time on the pages of history as the greatest glory of the reign of Edward the Peacemaker. We in Ireland believed that his late Majesty would have been very much pleased to have performed a similar function in the capital of Ireland. It may be that he has left that glorious privilege to his son and successor. Ireland lost her parliament under a George; a George may, in the near future, open in person the parliament of a friendly and reconciled Irish nation, and when the day comes that the king will enter the Irish capital to re-open the ancient parliament of Ireland he will obtain from the Irish people a reception as enthusiastic as ever welcomed a British monarch in any part of his dominions.

These are the thoughts that are in all our hearts this Patrick's Day, and before the next Patrick's Day comes round, may they be far on the road to fulfilment. The day that sees their fruition will have have done more to consolidate and strengthen the Empire than many army corps and fleets of dreadnoughts.

Why Do Children Like Zam-Buk?

A Chat With Mothers

"Whenever my children have any sore places, cuts, or skin troubles, they ask for Zam-Buk. They can always depend upon it doing what is needed."

So says Mrs. A. Alce, of 170 Chatham Street, Montreal.

A missionary, writing from the West Coast of Africa, says: "One boy who was treated for a bad case of ulcer, came back recently and said, "I like best that green medicine. The 'green medicine' was Zam-Buk."

Now why should children, all the world over, show such a marked preference for Zam-Buk?

Children like Zam-Buk because, as soon as applied to a burn, acut, or a sore, it stops the pain and then gradually, but surely, it heals. As soon as the pain of a wound or sore is relieved a child can go on with its play and leave Zam-Buk to finsh off the healing.

Mothers might look a little more deeply into the action of Zam-Buk. First, it is highly antiseptic. As soon as applied it stops all danger of festering, blood-poisoning and inflammation. Second, it is soothing. It cools the wound or sore; allays the irritation; stops the pain and smarting. Then, thirdly, it stimulates the cells, beneath the injured part, to healthy action, and causes the speedy creation of new, healthy tissue.

Just try Zam-Buk for cuts, or burns, or cold sores, or eczema, ulcers, rashes, bad leg, piles, varicose ulcers, or any inflamed or diseased condition of the skin. Its effect will highly satisfy you. All druggists and stores 50c. box, or free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful imitations and cheap, worthless substitutes.

COAL OIL

For a strong white light try China Hall's water white American Oil at 15c per gallon in 5 gallon lots. 17c by the single gallon delivered. There is no better oil at any price.

3w3d62-4291 McFarlane Wilson

CORPORATION TEAM SOLD

The heavy team of grey horses owned by the Corporation and which were housed at the fire hall, have been sold to Mr. Robt. Leary. They will be shipped, along with a number of others, to the Crow's Nest Pass, B.C.

In all probability their places will be filled with a younger team.

ITS WORRY THAT KILLS

Nothing so wastes the vital nerve force as worry. Nothing so certainly retards restoration to health. Get out into the sunshine, be cheerful, use Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food to rebuild the wasted nervous system, and you will be surprised how quickly there will be a change for the better. This advice will be better than gold to you if you will but follow it.

Just Arrived

Full Stock of the Famous

Buckley Stiff Hats

(All Hats Guaranteed)

Still some nice Fur Setts & Jackets to be cleared out

With our Conformateur we can shape all Stiff Hats to fit all heads

W. E. LECH

Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

Grand Opera House, Saturday, Mar. 18 Matinee & Night

"The Bow-Wow Minstrels"

40—Company—40. First part 75 minutes. Melange of Mirth, Melody and Music, introducing many new and original features. 6 End Men—10 Soloists. Female Impersonator. OLIO—Lukey, Novelty Whistler; Bill Bailey, Painologist; The Kellys Ventriloquists; Ormerod, One String Fiddler; Charlebois, Habitant Impersonator; G B. Hunt, Comicalities; Matt Greig, English Entertainer; Scully, Rolls & Woods, Singers, Dancers and Banjoists. Popular Prices—Evenings, any seat 50c, Gallery 25c. Matinee, any seat 25c, Children, 15c

Seats now on sale

"The Romance of The Reaper"

Will be Presented at

THE CRYSTAL

ON

Saturday, March 18

Afternoon and Evening

By MR. WHEELER, of the International Harvester Company, Hamilton, Ontario.

"The Romance of the Reaper" has been published in the leading journals of the day, and has since been characterized ana put in moving picture form, thus making a very interesting and educating entertainment.

Every person being interested in the developments of agriculture, and appliances used from the primitive Sickle to the present high-class Binder, should see this production, which is put in moving picture form, comprising 4000 feet of film and 100 slides.

This embraces from the ore in the mine and timber in the forest to the finished product, and gives a more vivid description than history.

"Why the Modern Farmer is King"

will be thoroughly exemplified in scenes taken both in Canada and all foreign countries. You should not miss this chance of a lifetime to see this great historic scene, which is being brought here at a large expense by local representatives of the I. H. C.

$15 $10 $5 SAVE $5 Just as Well as Not

These Men's Suits We are Now Selling at $10.00

are $15 and good value any one of them. See them and be convinced. ::

H. LEBRUN & CO.

Two Entrances; George and Hunter Streets.

SALE ENDS SATURDAY, MARCH 25

PROBS—Southerly winds fair and milder, light local snow falls or rain during the night. Saturday—Cloudy and mild.

ROBERT FAIR & CO., LIMITED

Saturday Bargains

We combine two important occasions for Saturday : — our Grand Spring Millinery Opening and at the same time we give you an opportunity to do shopping on that day so that any of the purchases you may make from the following list which is only a few of the lines on sale, will be money saved or in other words the bargain will all be on the side of the purchaser.

JAPANESE SILKS 20 inches wide, all colors except black and cream, regular price 25c yard, Saturday 18c

150 yards BLACK CHIFFON TAFFETA SILK (wear guaranteed), regular 75c yard, Saturday 55c

20 ends NEW SPRING COLORED FANCY NET VEILINGS in green, brown, grey and mauve, regular price 25c and 35c yard, your choice Saturday..... 15c

LADIES' BLACK PARASOLS, gloria cover, fluted ribs, regular price $1.25, Saturday..... 98c

200 yards heavy Cotton and Linen WASH SUITINGS 30 to 36 ins. wide, 25c and 35c qualities to be cleared Saturday at, yard.. 18c

FLOUNCING EMBROIDERIES 27 and 30 inches wide with beautiful needle work, regular 40c and 50c the yard, Saturday 25c

CRASH and KITCHEN TOWELLINGS, two different weaves with fancy colored borders 17 and 18 inches wide, regular value 7c and 8c yard, Saturday..... 5c

ENGLISH OXFORD SHIRTINGS, our own direct importation in neat fancy stripes, fast colors, regular price 15c yard, Saturday 12½c

ENGLISH CRETONNES, new spring designs and colors, 5 different patterns, regular 15c the yard, Saturday..... 10c

CARPETS AND HOUSEFURNISHINGS

50 inch TAPESTRY FURNITURE COVERINGS in rose and china blue, regular price $1.25 the yard, Saturday 50c

Three ends 10 wire BRUSSELS TAPESTRY CARPETS, 12¾, 12-3 and 20-3 yards, regular value $1.00 per yard, clearing price Saturday yard..... 65c

24 yards CROSSLEYS VELVET CARPET, regular price $1.35 yard, clearing Saturday at..... 98c

25 yards body BRUSSELS CARPET and 18¾ yds. border to match, regular value $1.10 per yard, clearing price Saturday, yard 69c

50 Sample and BRUSSELS CARPETS 1½ yards long, clearing on Saturday..... 79c

Tambour Swiss SASH CURTAIN NETS 27 and 30 inches wide, 75c quality for..... 25c 50c quality for..... 15c

1 end SCOTCH LINOLEUM slightly damaged, size 14 ft. 6 ins. x 12 ft., regular price 65c square yard, will sell the end on Saturday for..... $7.00

Sateen finish Fancy Stripe COTTON SKIRTINGS, heavy English make, navy and white, red and white, regular value 25c yard, Saturday..... 15c

Robt. Fair & Co.

383 George Street :: :: Limited

POST CARD COLUMN

Dear Sir,—A few evenings ago I read with considerable interest that a petition for a free playground had been presented to the local Council. The party or parties responsible for this move are much to be commended on the spirit of public-mindedness displayed, and the City Fathers should see to it that the petition be given ample and fair treatment before sending it along the waste-paper route. The ordinary run of petitions sent into the Council contain nothing more or less than requests which may I take it, be attributed to a spirit of selfishness on the part of those signing it. A resident of "B" street rings your door bell, shoves a paper covered with signatures into your hand and says: "Here, put your John Hancock on this, will you? Just a little petition for more light on the street."

The plea for free parks is a very different matter, and a most important one. In the expansion and progress of our city—the building of factories, warehouses, churches, and other edifices, is reducing to a deplorable minimum the vacant sites, which have been used as playgrounds and the consequence is that the boy is being driven to the city streets with its numerous and decidedly unhealthy attractions. Our American neighbours have set a noteworthy example for us in the matter of providing free playgrounds, and when they have found it a paying investment, why should not we make a start at least. It might be interesting to the Committee handling this matter to find out what some of the cities in Western Ontario have done in recent years, taking Galt as an example, and before rendering any verdict in the matter they might also figure out just how much space for recreation and games our "kids" in this city really have.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

Yours truly,

OLD BOY.

The Spring Suit

Before deciding on the Spring Suit, better investigate all round. With a chance to show you our high class goods, expert workmanship, and

Latest New York Styles

we are willing then to leave the decision to you. No better goods anywhere, no work quite so select, and prices very reasonable.

Come early for prompt delivery

Good Girls Wanted

I. GOLDBERG

Ladies' Tailor

Phone 1267. : 452 George St.

CURLING

A couple of games were pulled off in the Consolation event in the bonspiel at the Curling Rink last night. The scores were as follows:

Fitzgerald	Ferguson
Skip 14	Skip 7
Lockhart	Sturgeon
Skip 10	Skip 5

It is expected that the finals for the consolation will be played tomorrow night.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. It also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Probabilities.

Southerly winds, fair and milder; light local snow falls or rain during the night. Saturday, cloudy and mild.

Boy Scouts.

Weather permitting, the first troup of Peterborough Boy Scouts, will meet at 1.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon for a trip into the country.

Regular Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. will be held on Monday afternoon at 3.30. A full attendance is requested.

Lenten Service at All Saints.

—The Rev. Chas. Carpenter will preach at the Lenten service at All Saints' church to-night at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of the choir is requested.

A Popular Lecture.

Don't miss the lecture, "The Making of the Nation," by Rev. John Mc Neil, Tuesday, March 21st, at Murray street Baptist church. Tickets on sale at Porter S. White's grocery.

Garrison Signalling Class.

All those who desire to enrol in the above class are required to parade at the Armouries on Monday, March 20th, at 8 o'clock p.m. G. K. Rackham, Sig. Lieut.

Funeral To-day.

The funeral of the late John Chesney took place this morning at 10 o'clock from Comstock's Undertaking rooms. A number of friends were present from Harwood and other places. The Rev. James Rollins officiated.

Dried Fruits.

4 lbs. dates for 25c.; 3 lbs. cooking figs 25c.; fresh prunes 10c. lb. Extra quality of canned peas, corn, tomatoes (Gazelle brand) 2 for 25c. Maple syrup 30c. quart. JAMES R. BELL 43 Hunter street east; 161 Hunter street west.

At S. A. Oke's, successor to H. P Kennedy.

FISH—Fresh fish, Halibut, Salmon Sea Herrings, Seal Shipt Oysters VEGETABLES — Carrots, parsnips beets, cabbage, celery, fresh lettuce parsley and green onions daily; guaranteed new laid eggs. Meats, Prime beef, lamb and pork, always in stock —S. A. OKE, 340 George street 'Phon e275.

On the Free List.

—Florida Grape Fruit, Pineapples Sunkist Seedless Oranges, Bananas and Lemons. Our stock is complete and prices are low. Also in stock Cauliflowers, Strawberries, Boston Head Lettuce, Ripe Tomatoes, Rhubarb, Celery, Green Onions, Spanish Onions; fish of all kinds. Sealshipt Oysters, Vegetables, etc.—Walter J. Oke, 376 George street. Bell 'Phone 18 and 19.

Vacuum Cleaning.

A pure, dustless atmosphere cannot be obtained except by Vacuum cleaning. Vacuum cleaning has been perfected to the point where every home can enjoy its benefits for less than the cost of cleaning with broom or beating. Our powerful machines do the work quickly and well. Ask us to explain the system. The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Company, 396 Water St (near cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all desisms of counter cases silent salesmen, showcases, wall case store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald manager.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. Roy Brown left for Keene this morning.

Mr. Grant Elliot, of Ida, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. A. F. Lane went to Montreal this morning on business.

Mr. J. J. Turner, has returned from Toronto, where he was attending as representative of Peterborough lodge the Grand Lodge of the Ancient and United Order of Workmen. He made an earnest attempt to secure the next meeting of Grand Lodge for Peterborough, but it will again meet in Toronto.

BE AN EARLY RISER

Owing to the Spring Opening Exhibit of Women's Millinery and Ready-to-Wear it will be impossible to give the usual window space to the Early Riser Specials this week. See adv. on page 11 and come early for the two big two hour specials Saturday Morning—8:15 to 10:15.

CRESSMAN'S

KINGSTON WHIG MAN GETS IN WRONG AGAIN

The man who writes sports for the Kingston Whig, seems to have a fatal faculty of getting in wrong. For instance, in his report of Wednesday's All Star-Frontenac game he says:

Heffernan at point, the well known Peterborough player, whom everyone recognized, played a good game in the first half, but was replaced in the second half by Burkhart, of Toronto.

Evidently the Whig scribe was one man in the crowd who did not recognize Heffernan as the Peterborough boy played the whole game. The man who retired at half time in favour of Burkhart was McBurnie of the West Toronto Victorias. The Whig, you know, is the paper which claimed that the Frontenacs when they defeated the scrub team sent down from here for the last game, had beaten Peterborough intermediates. Naturally the management of the Peterborough Club resented this report and sent down a list of the intermediate players, showing that only one of these had been on the line-up against the junior champions. The Whig published the list all right, but without a word of explanation to show that the line-up was not the one which held Kingston to a 7 to 3 score. As a matter of fact, as everyone in Peterborough knows, Giroux was the only intermediate player on the line-up, not even the spares of the intermediates being sent down.

SHAMROCK OF OLD IRELAND

The Shamrock of Old Ireland is good enough for me,
I'll change it for no verdure of any bush or tree;
The ivy, vine or figleaf your "chosen leaf" may be,
The Shamrock of Old Ireland is good enough for me.

Our faithful race have loved it for many and many an age,
It decked the generous bosoms of soldier, saint, and sage;
Our exiles bore it fondly across the stormy sea—
The Shamrock of Old Ireland is good enough for me.

'Tis memoried with our triumphs, our sufferings, and our wrongs,
With noble pleas for Freedom, with fierce and tender songs;
Bright eyes have smiled upon it, and tears rained fast and free—
The Shamrock of Old Ireland is good enough for me.

I'll wear no novel emblem, however bright or gay,
The ancient one will suit me until my dying day;
And when my grave to cover—wherever it may be—
The Shamrock of Old Ireland will be good enough for me.

From Sisters of Charity, Ballaghaderin, County Mayo, Ireland.

OTTAWA EASILY BEAT PORT ARTHUR

Ottawa, March 16.—In one of the prettiest exhibitions of the season Ottawa to-night successfully defended the far famed Stanley Cup for the second time this week, Port Arthur, the champions of the New Ontario League, losing by a score of 13 goals to 4.

The Ottaaws had the game successfully tucked away in the first period, but there was never any slowing up on the part of either team with the result that the game was interesting. The visitors, despite the large score run up against them, proved much stronger than anticipated, and it is only fair to them to say that the Ottawa margin does not represent the play. The westerners, gifted with speed, gameness and staying power, with which they covered clever stick handling, often swept the Ottawas off their feet. Then the "champs" would suddenly break away in a bunch, and before the westerners could rally for the rush, the home team would have beaten them to the nets.

Systematic team work won the game for Ottawa. Of course they were far superior to the challengers, but Port Arthur maintained a remarkably good pace from beginning to end and would likely have made matters much more interesting had the "champs" played as they did against Galt. The weather was cold and the ice very hard, and in consequence the invincible Ottawas were at their best. The game abounded in brilliant play on the part of the Ottawa forwards while the defence of the "champs" was well nigh invincible. The play was clean from beginning to end and the penalities were light, Ottawa losing fifteen minutes, while Port Arthur suffered the loss of a man for six. The visitors replaced O'Leary by Meikle in the second half. Russell Bowie and Duncan Campbell handled the match with their usual satisfaction. Port Arthur took the first goal and also broke into the lead with the odd one in three. Then Ottawa got three in a row and led at the first rest by 4 to 2. In the second period Ottawa took seven straight. In the third they registered four and Port Arthur two. Walsh starred for the home team, getting ten goals for Ottawa. Walker, on the line, and Mcdonough at point, for the visitors, were the best, although all the Port Arthur boys showed speed. They had it on Ottawa in weight and occasionally they used their bodies with great effect. McDonough was the only man injured, hurting his knee after crushing into the boards in the third period and had to retire. Darragh was dropped to even up and the game was finished with six men a side. Three thousand spectators attended the game. The teams:

Ottawa—Lesueur, goal; Lake, point; Shore, cover; Darragh, rover; Walsh, centre; Ridpath, right wing; Kerr, left wing.

Port Arthur—Seigel, goal; McDonough, point; Carpenter, cover; Walker, rover; O'Leary, centre; McGregor, right wing; Wellington, left wing.

Referee—Russell Bowie, Montreal. Judge of Play—Duncan Campbell of Montreal. Umpires—P. Baskerville of Ottawa and W. Crouch of Port Arthur. Timers—M. Rosenthal of Ottawa and W. Gordon of Port Arthur.

Warne's EXTRAORDINARY Saturday Bargains

LADIES' DRESSING COMBS — SATURDAY 8c — Worth 20c

CLOTHES BRUSHES — SATURDAY 9c — Regular ..... 25c each

PAIN EASE — SATURDAY 10c — Regular.. 25c per bottle

AMOUR'S C. L. OIL COMP. — 40c — SATURDAY ONLY

WILLIAM'S TOOTH POWDER — SATURDAY 13c — Regular 25c per tin

Macalin Disinfectant — SATURDAY 8c — Regular 25c per tin

Crushed Rose & Violet TOILET CREAM — SATURDAY 15c — Regular 25c

Twin Bar CASTILE SOAP, 3 cakes 10c — Saturday Only

OUR OWN CORN CURE — SATURDAY 14c — Regular 25c

Shaving Brush and Mug Set — SATURDAY 19c — Regular 40c the Set

Free! Free! Free! From 8 to 8.30 p.m. we will give away 100 TRIAL SIZES Colgate's Talcum Powder

POPULAR TOILET SOAP, 3 cakes 14c — SATURDAY — Regular 25c per box

SEE OUR BARGAIN WINDOW

The Warne Drug Company, Limited

351 George Street Out-Rate Druggists Peterborough

GRAND THREE NIGHTS, commencing THURSDAY March 23

Opera House — The People's Favorite

Tom Marks

and His Company of Fun Makers

In Comedy Dramas presenting

Thursday Night, The Cyclone of Fun "A FOOL AND HIS MONEY"
Friday Night, The Great English Comedy "WANTED A HUSBAND" or "THE MARRIAGE OF KITTY"
Saturday Night, The Side-Splitting Irish Comedy "CASEY'S TROUBLES"

PRICES—10c, 20c and 25c — Seat sale opens Tuesday morning

Escaped In Their Night Clothes.

Kingston, March 17.—Two men yesterday saved the lives of William Kelly, wife and children, and a boarder named Thomas Walton. They saw the house in flames and got them out in safety. The inmates had to escape in their night clothes.

The Gas That Failed.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 17.—The natural gas pressure failed yesterday when the thermometer registered zero. The majority of homes here are heated only by natural gas and the suffering from the cold was severe.

$25.00 REWARD

If you can prove that the Suit and Overcoat here offered, are not the equal in material and make, of those sold regularly in Peterborough for $25.00 to $30.00.

A Great Three Days' Offer

Just at this season, when everyone is thinking of a Spring Overcoat or Suit, Our Big Special Offer Comes Opportunely

Friday, Saturday, Monday, March 17, 18, 20

Suits $19.40

Sold Regularly for $25.00 to $30.00

During the three days this offer is open, we will make to your measure and guarantee fit, style and workmanship, a top notch suit of blue worsted or vicuna suitings, guaranteed indigo dye, the same suit as is regularly sold for $25 to $30, at the very low price of..... $19.40

Spring Overcoats $18.45

A Regular $25.00 to $30.00 Value

If you come on Friday, Saturday or Monday, March 17-18-20, we will measure you and make up one of our swell spring overcoats, made of black or grey vicuna cloth. Solid all wool goods of very finest quality. Silk facing to the bottom. Make style and fit positively guaranteed at our three days' sale price of..... $18.45

EVERYTHING MADE TO YOUR INDIVIDUAL MEASURE

We have no ready mades, everything made right here on the premises, by expert tailors. We have the goods ready for your inspection and if we cannot do exactly as we advertise we don't want your money.

A DEPOSIT OF $5 MUST ACCOMPANY ALL ORDERS. YOU CAN LEAVE YOUR DEPOSIT AND MEASURE, AND HAVE THE SUIT OR COAT MADE UP LATER IF DESIRED. REMEMBER DEPOSIT. THESE PRICES ARE FOR CASH ORDERS ONLY.

We stake our reputation on the quality of the work we put out, and hundreds of customers testify by continual patronage, that we give them first-class work always. DON'T MISS THIS CHANCE.

Special Tailors, Limited

325 George Street OPEN EVENINGS TO BUY OVERCOATS E. HUFF, Manager

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept th m gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL I. No. 65 | 14 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY MARCH 18 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

CARPENTERS:

FOR THE BEST TOOLS THAT WILL HOLD THEIR EDGE, COME TO US.

BUILDERS:

FOR THE BEST FINISHING HARDWARE THAT WILL LAST AND BE ORNAMENTS TO YOUR BUILDING, COME TO US.

EVERYBODY:

WHEN YOU WANT ANYTHING IN HARDWARE, COME TO THE STORE THAT HAS MADE ITS GOOD REPUTATION BY SELLING ONLY GOOD GOODS.

The Peterborough Hardware Co.
368 George Street. Peterborough.

What Do You Think of This?

How often we hear men say, "Yes, I'd insure my life if I was only sure I could keep it up. I could pay it alright as long as I had my health, but if sickness or accident laid me low I would have to give it up and lose the protection just at the time I needed it most." Now, the issues a policy just to suit such a case. Under this policy, should the assured become totally and permanently disabled from any cause, the policy is kept in force during such disability, without any lien or charge against it. Or, in lieu of this, the Company will commence forthwith to pay to the assured one twentieth of the policy each year for twenty years. Should the assured die before the twenty annual payments have been paid, the remaining instalments will be paid to such beneficiary as the assured may designate.

SUN LIFE
Assurance Company of Canada

Is not this the Climax of Liberality? The Sun Life lives up to its motto of "Prosperous and Progressive." Investigate this proposition before insuring.

W. H. HILL
OFFICE—139 HUNTER ST., PETERBORO, Ont.
TELEPHONE 14, BELL OR MACHINE

DUTTON & COMPANY

Finnan Haddie | White Fish | Salmon Trout
Sea Herrings | Burnhams Clam Chowder
Fine Nidals for Soups | Oysters

FRED. WALKER, MANAGER

High Grade Sewing Machines

The quality of the White and Raymond Sewing Machines is measured by the Satisfaction they give those who use them.

WHITE } The Two Standard
RAYMOND } Machines for the Home

SOLD ON EASY TERMS

Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

ROYAL

Last Chance To-night to see
Kerner & Brown
German Comedians
Singing-Talking-Dancing
The Sloan Duo
in
A Refined Comedy Sketch
Singing and Dancing

These are two of the best Comedy Acts that have been at the Royal since a long time. All lovers of good clean refined Comedy should not miss the Royal to-night for the last time. Everything in both Acts is new and different from any other Acts on the Circuit.

MOTION PICTURES
Another change of Pictures for to-night's big picture show, all new and most up-to-date picture stories produced, interesting Dramas, laughable Comedies, and beautiful Scenic and Educational pictures for to-night's picture show.

Special for Monday
The Royal has secured a Big Attraction for Monday next, the "Sugimot's Japanese Troupe", a family of five Japanese performers, the cleverest performers in the world today. Don't miss the Royal the first three days next week.
Admission 5c & 10c

BIG Cowboy Feature
AT THE PRINCESS TO-DAY
The Half-Breed's Plan
A thrilling cowboy drama of the western plains.
Their Wedding Gifts
A very funny Essanay Comedy
When the Clock Struck Nine
Another Big Essanay Comedy.
The Diamond Star
A great Biograph Drama, everybody likes a Biograph, don't miss this one.
NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG
We would like all our patrons to come to-night and see our feasure film——
THE HALF-BREED'S PLAN

The World's Best Gloves are
Dent's and Perrin's
Our stock of Gloves is now complete and we are prepared to show you the best Gloves made, at prices from $1.00 to $1.50.
Fashion - Craft
Shop. 140 Hunter St.
A. M. LAIDLAW

Remember
Every child photographed by us previous to Dec. 1st, will be in the large group photograph of Peterborough children to be reproduced in the special 1911 Christmas Examiner
The Roy Studio
140 Hunter Street

Money to Loan
Mortgage loans on City and Farm property at lowest current rates.
Dennisto... Peck & Kerr
3m-3 415 Water St., Peterborough

Write for our list of
INVESTMENT BONDS
MUNICIPAL PUBLIC UTILITY
INDUSTRIAL
To yield from 4% to 6%
WARREN, CZOWSKI & CO.
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
TRADERS' BANK BUILDING
TORONTO, and
25 BROAD STREET, New York

Forsaken the Local Waters

(BY DECKHAND)

People come and people go in this busy, work-a-day world; one gets accustomed to new faces appearing unexpectedly at some old familiar haunt where you always get an old pal's welcome. But, sometimes, the old pal is so linked with the place that it is well night impossible to think of one without the other.

Now, how could one think of Stony Lake without "Tuff" Moran? "Tuff" with the merry brown face, and twinkling eyes, stocky in build, but with a big, friendly heart stowed away inside of him! Every tourist, boat man and lock master of recent years knows Captain "Tuff" Moran, and had he not been seen cruising the Kawartha lakes during the summer months it would have seemed like the Ark without Noah. Although a comparatively young man, there is scarcely a cottager on Stony Lake, who can remember the time when "Tuff" was not sailing its waters. No person can pretend to know the Trent Canal if "Tuff" is not associated with the "know." He was always "Johnny-on-the-spot," and the pleasure seeker, lumber-jack, and excursionist looked for this hail-fellow-well-met captain, as part and parcel of a trip to the lakes.

But alas! "Tuff" has deserted the local waters. This year, he will wheel a boat on the North Shore, and the Trent Canal will have lost an interesting character. "Tuff" is a born sailor and at no job could he be happier than on a tug or steamboat of some description. He wheels his boat with all the ease and composure of an expert pilot on the old St. Lawrence, and the darker the night the happier he seemed. Nothing escaped his keen black eyes. They could seek alike through dancing sunshine and evening shadows, and to be allowed by "Tuff" the high stool in the captain's cabin and your own hand on the wheel, was indeed an honour to be coveted. No one knows better than he, the rocks and bars, bends and currents of the various stretches of the Trent Canal. To him the very trees and stumps along its banks, are all good old friends. Captain Moran is a good, capable, hard-working steamboat man, and will be greatly missed on the local waters.

But who knows? A few more years when the canal is opened to Georgian Bay, perhaps his little craft will find its way down towards Lakefield. Then the rocks will send back their salutations in thunderous echoes to his steamboat's whistle, the island trees will bend gracefully to greet him, and the soft summer breezes will whisper amongst themselves of "Tuff's" return.

What Board of Trade Might Do

BY MURRAY GEORGE STREET

Editor of The Examiner:

Now that the spring is here, I think that it is about time that an effort was made to agree upon some joint control of Central Park, and not have a repetition of the disgraceful manner in which this public place has been changed during the past two years. Anyone in his sane senses will admit that, instead of Central Park being one of the town's beauty spots, it has been an eye-sore to every person who has occasion to pass by it during the past two years or more.

Are the white birch stakes driven in the ground, each at a different angle, and supporting a few strands of wire that are fit only for the scrap heap, to remain in front of the Collegiate Institute during the coming summer? Are the tall ,noxious weeds going to be allowed to stand up with an air of defiance in front of the Armouries? Is the park generally going to continue to be a disgrace to the city?

This is a matter that should be taken up at once, and not allowed to drag along for another season. This is a matter that well deserves the attention of the Board of Trade and the Industrial Commissioner. What is our Board of Trade for ,anyway? They meet and pass silly resolutions about reciprocity, imperial defence and other rot, and all the talk of the members, and the resolutions passed by them, have no more weight in determining the policy of the governments of the day on those particular questions, than have the proceedings of mock parliaments in connection with church societies, or the stump speeches at coloured minstrel shows. What the Board of Trade should do is to get down to business, and discuss, follow up and carry into effect certain policies in connection with some simple little problems, such as the one to which I have herein referred. A meeting of the Board of Trade to further some progressive policy in this respect will do more for the town than the wasting of a lot of hot air by amateur orators about Imperial defence, western transportation and other questions that can be taken care of by people whose duty it is to take care of them. It is the duty of the Board of Trade to endeavour to take care of the city first. Let them start by calling a meeting to formulate some policy regarding Central Park. The weather is getting fine and they might have the meeting some afternoon in the Park itself, where every person could offer a suggestion regarding the proper course to pursue. Any suggestion that could be made by the most weak-minded individual in town, could not be any worse than the suggestion to have this Park remain in the condition it has been in for the past two years. Central Park is a disgrace, to the Militia Department ,the Board of Education and the City of Peterborough.

Will Help North Country

There is every reason to believe that if the proposed reciprocity agreement goes into effect it will prove a grand thing for the back portions of the counties of Peterborough, Hastings and Haliburton. It is a well known fact that in these back townships are valuable mineral deposits that only require proper development.

Mr. Gillespie, manager of the Madoc Talc Works, dropped into the office of the North Hastings Review the other day, and gave expression to his views as to the effect of the proposed trade arrangements between Canada and the United States on the mining interests of Hastings county, and probably few men in Canada are better qualified to give a rational opinion on this—the most important resource of this district.

He has developed the talc industry from a business sending a few carloads of underground talc periodically to the United States to be there manufactured into a going concern employing from 35 to 40 men the year round, and paying out in wages and supplies, from $25,000 to $30,000 a year. He has established markets even on the continent of Europe for the sale of ground talc, but says that unless he can gain free access to the great markets south of us that he cannot profitably develop the talc industry any further, but if the proposed tariff becomes law he will be able to employ from 80 to 100 men and double the present output of talc.

There is no doubt in his mind that there are other large deposits of talc in this county, and that the impetus given to the business by free access to the markets of the United States would lead to the discovery and the development of the talc industries.

Should this measure become law he will, he says, employ 25 men in developing his fluor-spar property south of the village.

Other economic mineral, which, under present conditions, it would not be profitable to mine, could, under the changed conditions, be advantageously shipped to the United States, thus giving employment to hundreds of men and creating a home market for all kinds of farm produce.

Know Where They Are At

The long-looked for report of Special Auditor Williamson on the accounts of the municipality of the Town of Lindsay for three years ending December 31st, 1910, has been presented to the Council.

The information imparted revealed a serious condition of things in all branches of the municipal machinery. The auditor's report has been prepared with great care and gives evidence of the fact that considerable time has been spent in compiling.

The amount of defalcations of the late town treasurer reached the sum of $23,609.12. The sum of $13,500 was made up by friends of the former treasurer, leaving the town's loss $10,109.12. Of that amount $2,229.54 represents money misappropriated from Flavelle's Limited, and others, the auditors having treated this as a liability of the town.

Mr. Higgins, Mr. Williamson's assistant, said that the audit has revealed a shocking state of affairs. It was necessary to go back twenty-one years in order to get a true statement of the defalcations, which were apparent in almost every branch. Many other irregularities were suggested, but there was no supporting evidence available. In the work of preparing the report, personalities had been avoided in laying the blame for the unfortunate state of affairs. The point now was for all to devote their energies to safeguard the town in the future.

SPRING REMINDERS OF RHEUMATISM

Raw, Damp Weather Starts the Pain, but the Trouble Lies in the Blood

Spring weather is bad for rheumatic sufferers. The changes from mild to severe weather, cold, raw, damp winds following mildness start the aches and twinges, or in more extreme cases, the tortures of the trouble going. But it must be borne in mind that it is not the weather that causes rheumatism, the trouble is rooted in the blood—the changeable weather merely starts the pains. The poisonous rheumatic acids must be thrown off and driven out. This is a solemn medical truth every rheumatic sufferer should realize. Liniments and outward application may give temporary relief, but they never did and never can cure rheumatism. And doctor will tell you this is true. The sufferer is only wasting time and money with this sort of treatment, and all the time the trouble is becoming more firmly rooted—and harder to cure. There is just one sure, speedy cure for rheumatism—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They act directly on the weak, impure and tainted blood. They purify and strengthen it and thus root out the cause of rheumatism. Here is a bit of proof out of thousands of similar cases that might be given. Mrs F. X. Boisseau, St. Jerome, Que., says: "For almost two years I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism. The trouble first located in the right leg, making work about the house impossible, and walking very difficult. I tried to cure myself by means of all sorts of liniments and lotions, but with no result— it was only money wasted. The trouble constantly grew worse and the pains more unbearable. Finally it attacked the other leg, and I was all but helpless and completely discouraged, thinking I would be a sufferer for the rest of my life. At this time I read in our home paper of the trouble being cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. After using the pills for several weeks I could see that they were helping me, and I continued taking them until I had used nine or ten boxes when every symptom of the trouble had disappeared and I could walk as well as ever I did. Had I known of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills earlier I would have saved myself much suffering and much money spent in other useless treatment as well."

Whether you are ailing or not a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will increase your vitality and give you increased strength to withstand the torrid summer weather coming, when even the strongest feel easily fagged out. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicines or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THINGS IN GENERAL

In school section No. 2, Nogey's Creek, to fill the place of the retiring teacher, the trustees engaged a young man for a short time, who gave entire satisfaction to the people, says the Nogey's Creek correspondent to the Bobcaygeon Independent. He might have been engaged for a longer term, but another teacher was obtained, and at a higher salary. Now, why was this done? Simply because the teacher did not board at the right place. I venture to says, says the correspondent, that the ratepayers will note the fact, and endeavour to remedy the matter in the near future.

Mr. Alex. Dunseath, with his faithful old bay horse Tom passed through on Friday last, having completed his assessing on the south side of the lake for the 24th year. Tom has taken him on his rounds every year but one, and looks good for many years yet.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Mr. Byron Green, of the Bank of Montreal, left this afternoon, per C. P. R. for Hamilton, Bermuda, where he will spend several weeks, says the Lindsay Post. At New York he will be joined by Mr Boyd Sylvester, of the New York branch of the Bank of Montreal. Byron intends taking his golfing outfit with him, so as to be in prime shape for local contests when he returns.

A correspondent from Bowles' Corners to the Fenelon Falls Gazette says:

A great many arguments have been advanced for and against reciprocity, but the argument or statement that Canadian farmers are already too prosperous, and should not have any wider markets opened to them, is the most insolent piece of arrogance we have ever heard of.

Mr. Stubbs, of the Bell Telephone Co., Peterborough, accompanied by Mr. Wm. Batten, were in Dummer township last week, and were successful in securing twelve subscribers on a new telephone line between Warsaw and Crowe's Landing, Stoney Lake. The new line will have its central at Lakefield and will be in connection with the local line.—Lakefield News.

The Boy Scout movement was organized in Lakefield last Friday evening when seven patrols were enrolled. The next meeting will be held in the town hall next Tuesday evening.

George M. Teasdale was a couple of months ago sentenced to four months in gaol for selling liquor in the local option constituency of Colborne. A writ of habeas corpus was issued and his case came before Judge Riddell on Tuesday in Toronto, and on the consent of Deputy Attorney General Cartwright, the judge made an order for Teasdale's discharge from gaol. On Wednesday morning he was a free man again and went back to Colborne. Acting for the prisoner, Mr. J. B. Mackenzie objected that the oral adjudication of the magistrate made no reference to hard labour, whereas he was set scrubbing the floor at the gaol. He also objected that eight days had elapsed between the adjudication and the actual sentencing. More than half the term had been served.

Optical Institute Getting Ahead

Progress is our prescription, always adding to our facilities, new Optical Instruments, new Optical methods, and doing our work with increasing interest and finer finish. Many who have become acquainted with our methods have found that our idea is better service than they had been accustomed to expect in quality, attention and satisfaction. They find us just as interested in supplying the most suitable glasses as they are in getting them.

We know how much that means for us in good will and good optical practice for the future.

The Optical Institute
In the Market Building, Peterboro.
332 George Street
Phones: Bell 132! Machine 7
J. W. Brewer, Dr. of Optics of Philadelphia, G. O. C. P., Ref. D. M. A.O. Optometrist

He Got Valuable Information.

The story is told of the times of Arctas Blood and the old Manchester locomotive works that a student came to Mr. Blood once and wanted to study the business of locomotive building in his vacation days. The student came well recommended, and Mr. Blood, who never had much use for those "tech" people, sent him down to the boiler shop and placed him in charge of the old foreman. The old man took the "tech" man around, and in the course of the inspection of the shop they came across one boiler on the inside of which was a man at work.

"How does that man get out?" inquired the "tech" man.

"Oh," said the venerable pilot, "he doesn't get out. We always count upon losing at least one man in building a boiler."—Manchester Union.

He Knew Dem.

"Dear me, pa," said the fourteen-year-old boy, "you'll mortify me to death yet."

"What's the matter now, Lil?"

"You told John to go down to the depot and get the earl's baggage right out loud so that he couldn't help hearing you. Why can't you learn to say station and luggage?"

"Oh, don't mind that, Tessie; earl don't care. He's got used to United States talk. He asked me this morning how I got my dough and how I had it."

HEALING POWER A MARVEL

So remarkable is the healing power of Dr. Chase's Ointment that the results of a single application are often a marvel to persons who witness them for the first time. Mrs. C. Hopkins, St. George, Ont., tells how her son was cured of blood poisoning which got started in a wound received at a threshing. Relief was prompt and cure effected by three boxes.

The Fowler Finger EYEGLASS MOUNT

GIVES WHAT OTHERS CANNOT
Eyeglass Comfort, Convenience and Lens Efficiency

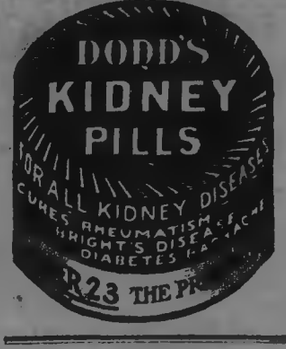
Most inconspicious of Eyeglass Mounts. On to stay on when properly adjusted.

These Mounts have more talking points yet require less talk to sell than any Eyeglass Mount we have ever sold because they are a Distinctively Distinct Eyeglass Mount.

You are the one who must suffer expense, annoyance and discomfort if you wear inferior Eyeglasses.

$2.75 without Lenses. We carry a gross of these Mounts constantly in stock and guarantee to fit properly anyone who can wear Eyeglasses.

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.



MEDICAL.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 188 Brock Street.

DR. E.V. FREDERICK, M.R.C.S. (Eng L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Surgery and Diseas of Women. 492 George Street. Hours 1.30-3 30—7-8.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 619. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L. R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 214 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 661, Mach., 625. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
Off 91 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 190 Hunter street, or at residence, 188 Hunter street. Telephone No. 86.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices - 379 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.
Telephone No. 54

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, E. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets; entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—F. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. R. E. Hall, S. T. Medd, W. S Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 272 Water street, Peterborough.

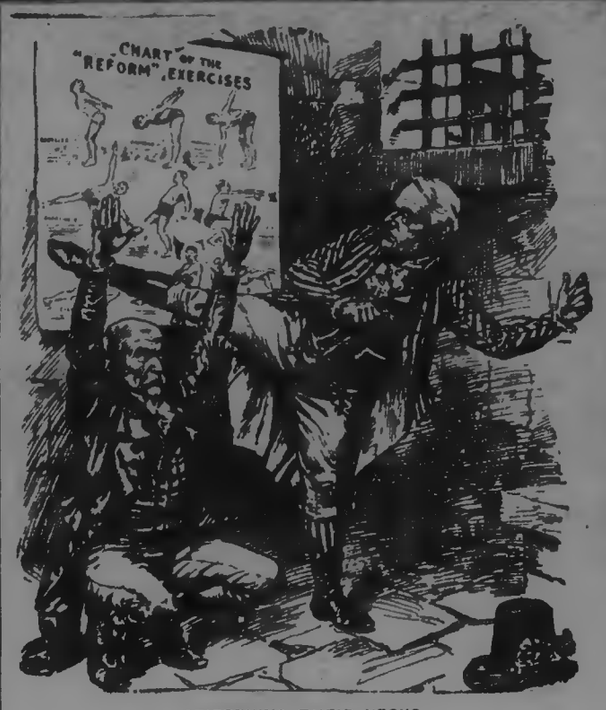
Manual labor taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by
The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
Ashburnham. 'Phone 9



STIFFENING THEIR NECKS

Lord Rosebery:—"Better stick to these exercises; they'll get us into the pink of condition for the scaffold."—Punch.

FIFTY AIRSHIPS FOR FRANCE

The French Government Will Train One Hundred Airmen and Establish Flying Schools

With regard to Mr. Haldane's recent statement that the aeroplane for army purposes is "still in the experimental stage, it is worthy of note that the French government regards the aeroplane in its present form as sufficiently practical to warrant the downright purchase of some fifty machines, the training of about 100 airmen, and the establishment of flying schools or depots at Versailles, Rheims, Chalons-sur-Marne, and Vincennes. On November 30 last, the French Army possessed thirty-two aeroplanes of the Bleriot, Henri Farman, Maurice Farman, Breguet, Wright, Antoinette and Sommer types. Since then numerous purchases have been made, including six more biplanes of the Henri Farman and Maurice Farman patterns, half a dozen Nieuport racing monoplanes, some Hanriot machines, and one Koechlin. Although no official figures are available of France's actual strength in the air, it is certain that there are not fewer than 100 Army airmen, either accomplished pilots or in training, while there are now half a dozen naval airmen learning to fly at the Government's expense. The French Government is resolved to continue its "experiments" along these lines, and those who have not yet awakened to the value of the aeroplane in its present form in modern warfare will doubtless be thoroughly aroused if they attend the next French grand army manoeuvres. The French War Office has offered a constructor's prize of $10,000 this year. Every month orders from the various European armies, with the exception of the British, are received by French aeroplane constructors in Paris.

LONDON WILL LOSE ANOTHER OLD RELIC

Farm House of Centuries Ago Now In London Theatre District to Go —Photographs Made

Another relic of old London is about to be levelled with the dust in order to make room for modern improvements.

This is the house, No. 13, Archer Street, Soho, facing the stage door of the Lyric Theatre; a place which dates back some centuries, as testified by the sloping red-tiled roof, the old-time dormer windows and bottle-glass panes.

Originally it was a farmhouse, surrounded by green fields and purling brooks, like the one which stood further west in what is now Farm Street, Piccadilly. In more recent times this historic relic of Soho has been occupied by a metal worker, and for the last forty-five years by an art-fringe maker.

Tradition says that Charles I., on one occasion called at the farm, in 1637, and again in 1672 rumor has it that the place was granted to Henry Jermyn, he who gave his name to Jermyn Street in the same neighborhood. It is possible, too, that this interesting spot may have been known to Dr. Johnson and his clubable set who used to meet in Gerrard Street close by. Certain it is that if these walls could speak they might tell a tale of wondrous comings and goings, of the building and demolition of Charles II.'s statue for instance; of the changing of names, King's Square -Monmouth Square—Soho Square, etc.; of the disappearance of the White House and other aristocratic residences, and the coming of the Italian.

With change of time has come change of values. Once the freehold was offered for £1,500, the same sum as for which it had been bought, and for a while a bargain went begging. Now, however, things have altered; where once was open country is now the West End of London, the heart of theatre-land. Nevertheless, the County Council have taken care that the old place shall not be forgotten. Photographs of the interior and exterior have been taken and a record made for future readers of by-gone London.

GIGANTIC FEAST FOR BABY HEIR

Rejoicings for the Infant Son of Lord Fitzwilliam—Miner Guests Who Raise His Wealth

Viscount Milton, the five-weeks-old son of the Earl and Countess Fitzwilliam, was christened in the private chapel of Wentworth Woodhouse, the most splendid mansion in England. Monster rejoicings of the Earl's tenants took place in the great park around the house, where eight great tents were filled with the seven thousand guests invited to the feast. The baby who was the hero of the day is the child of good fortune. He is the long-awaited heir of many millions, the future owner of many great estates in England, Ireland, and Canada, and some of the richest coalfields in Yorkshire belong to his heritage.

It was strange to think of that baby, with its blinking eyes and tiny, helpless hands, receiving the homage of the great strong laboring men, toilers in the darkness of the earth. One day that little pink morsel of humanity will have the power of vast wealth, and will be the lord over these men's lives.

The child was christened in the private chapel of Wentworth House, and only the Earl and Countess, with their immediate relatives and closest friends, were present. Mr. Verni, the vicar and private chaplain, conducted the service, and in the gallery the Wentworth Church Choir sang an anthem of thanksgiving and joy. Afterwards, in the dining-room of the mansion, Countess Fitzwilliam cut the christening cake in the presence of his lordship the baby, who regarded the operation with great gravity, and of numerous guests.

The cake was much larger than the baby. It was a giant cake of wonderful architecture, suitable to an infant who is to be so monstrously rich. It weighed eight hundredweight and was nearly six feet high. At the top was a cradle containing a sugar baby, surrounded by sugar cherubs. It aroused the admiration and enthusiasm of four little girls, to whom the arrival of a baby brother has brought a new source of delight.

Immense preparations had been made for the entertainment of the seven thousand guests. On the broad lawns were many great marquees, and tables were spread for a mighty feast. Sir Joseph Lyons was the caterer, and it taxed the resources of even his company to provide for so many guests so far from London.

A special train left St. Pancras with an army of 300 waiters, eight truck loads of food, cutlery, and china and linen, amounting to eighty tons in weight. All the morning they were busy in and out among the trees preparing [illegible] the most gigantic [illegible]

Cause and Cure of Headache

The cause of headache as you know, is the stoppage of the circulation resulting in pressure on the delicate nerves of the head. In time nature will start the blood going again, but meanwhile we suffer and are unfit for duty.

Assisted by two ZUTOO Tablets, which by the way are as harmless as the soda they contain, nature will remove the pressure and stop the headache in twenty minutes. Why continue to suffer? Why be unfit?

It is really remarkable how many people now use ZUTOO to cure their headaches. Do you? If not, why not?

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish." —Mrs. HERMAN SIETH, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

nick ever held in an English park. By the afternoon they were ready down to the last knife and fork, for the invasion of guests.

Brass bands played on the lawn, and and in one part of the park there was a great fair, with steam roundabouts and swings. The miners and their lasses danced old Yorkshire dances in the open air, and enjoyed themselves with hearty enthusiasm. An ox was roasted whole, and the smell of the meat rose as rich incense into the air, and put a keen edge on the appetites of men who, as Yorkshiremen, are always ready for a square meal. Carvers flourished their knives and cut off slices of the well-browned meat. In a little while there was only a carcass with gaunt ribs.

In the tents where the miners sat down to the long tables there was a great clatter of knives and forks, a tremendous din of voices speaking in the broad Yorkshire dialect, and roars of laughter that shook the tent poles. Glasses were raised to the health of the young heir, and when Earl Fitzwilliam came among them, putting a hand on this man's shoulder, giving a hand clasp to this man and that, with a hearty word and a cheery smile for all of them, they sprank to their feet and gave such cheers as scared all the rooks in the park.

For these miners have a soft spot in their hearts for Earl Fitzwilliam. He is a good sportsman and a good soldier, and he has the spirit of adventure in his blood. In the South-African War he fought at the head of some of his own Yorkshire lads. He went out on a romantic voyage to search for the famous treasure of the Cocos islands, and had a hairbreadth escape from death. He is a generous-hearted man and simple in spite of all his wealth, and so the miners who work for him were glad because of the luck that has come to him with a son and heir.

In the afternoon and evening there was a great display of fireworks, and high above the quiet park rose swift rockets bursting like shells and scattering balls of colored light and golden shows of stars which were reflected in the mirror of the broad lake.

The baby's wrap at the christening was the scarf which William the Conqueror took from his arm at the Battle of Hastings in 1066 and handed to an ancestor of Earl Fitzwilliam as a mark of appreciation for valor and service.

$3.50 Recipe Cures Weak Kidneys, Free

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E Robinson, K1810 Luck Building, Detroit Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it ,this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

STILL RUTHENIANS

But Good Canadians—Term Galician Is a Misnomer

A citizen of Ethelbert, Man., recently wrote to a Winnipeg paper complaining that Ruthenians are very frequently termed Galicians. The correspondent points out that Galicia is at present peopled by Ruthenians, Poles, and Jews, so that, strictly speaking, there is no Galician, as a nationality. Generally speaking, however, every individual coming from this Austrian province of Galicia is a Galician, but while the Poles and Jews are known as such, it is only the Ruthenian who is to-day spoken of as a Galician. He further makes it clear that while many Ruthenians come from Galicia, others come from Bukovina, Hungary, Ukrainia and other European countries, and to these the term Galician is a misnomer. He, therefore, feels that the term should be dropped altogether.

"A nation," says this correspondent, "is a group of people speaking one language, possessing one literature, one history, etc. As is well known, the Poles, the Jews and the Russians each have their own literature and history; therefore, the Poles, Jews and Russians are three different nations. The Ruthenians have and use a language of their own; they have a literature and history of their own, other than that of the Russians or the Poles; they are a nation, approximating thirty-five million souls. They inhabit the larger part of eastern Galicia, almost the whole of Bukovina, the north-eastehrn part of Hungary, and that southern part of Russia called Ukrania.

"There a great number of Ruthenians in North America, also in South America, and in Eastern Asia. Thus are the Ruthenians widely scattered. This, however, does not interfere with the national game, which has existed for many centuries.

"There is no Galician language; there is no Galician literature or Galician history, and there is no Galician nation or people.

"Having been under persecution in Galicia, we came out to Canada, the country of freedom. We have our home-sweet-home here, and we are progressing both economically and educationally. We are Canadians and are loyal to our Government. We are still Ruthenians (Ukrainians) and there is nothing which will destroy our national name, which we esteem and will preserve always."

THAT "CURSED" WEED

A Story about Mr. Gladstone and Tobacco

In his book of reminiscences, "One City and Many Men," Sir Algernon West, the defendant in the recent society case, who for some time was Mr. Gladstone's private secretary and most trusted confidential adviser, says that the G.O.M. "hated the smell of tobacco, and once accused me of bringing the odious aroma of the 'cursed' weed into his room. Meanly anxious to excuse myself, for I never smoked before going into his presence, I said I had been sitting for half an hour with Sir William Harcourt. Such was Mr. Gladstone's innocence that he said, 'Does Harcourt smoke? I am sure if he does he must always change his clothes before he comes to me, for I have never perceived that he smokes.'"

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

SPELLING REFORM

Mr. Bernard Shaw Thinks It is Time to Do Something in this Matter

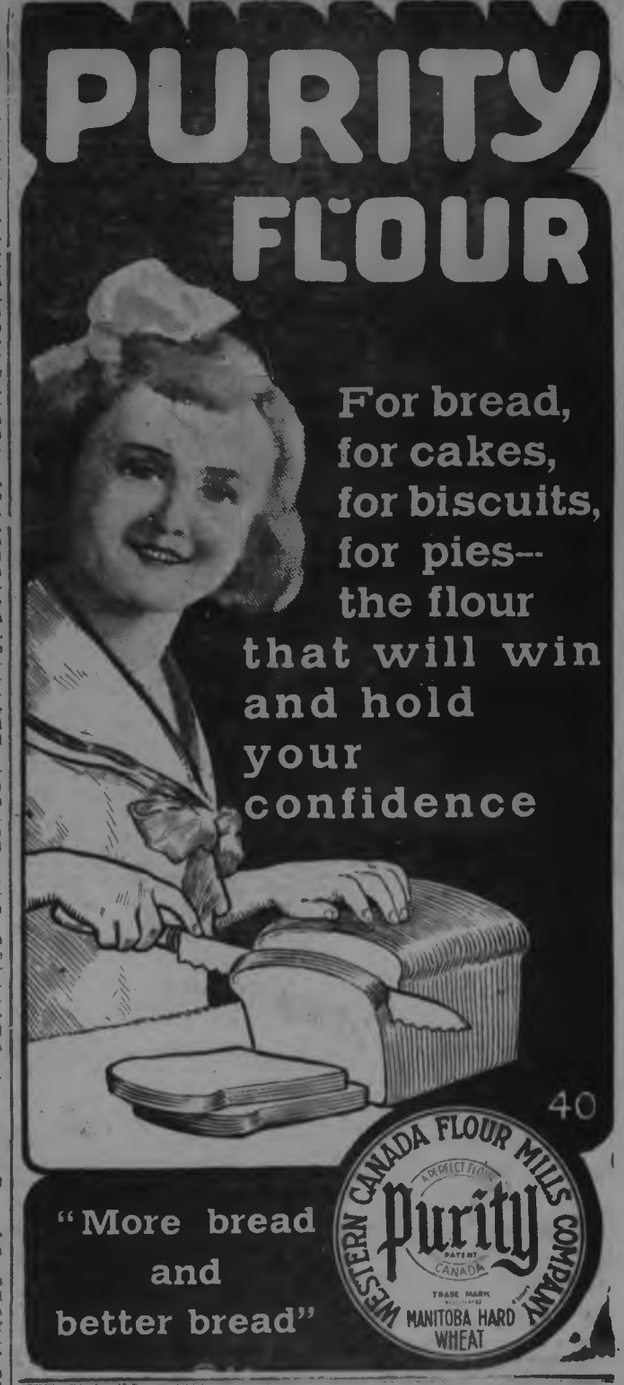
Mr. Bernard Shaw, at a meeting of the English Association at University College, London, expressed himself in sympathy with those who were laboring for a reform in spelling. After agitating for a period of 30 years, he said, it was really time for them to do something. Whatever was done there must be a standard, and when they came to deal with the English language it would be necessary to dispel from their minds the idea that "it can simplify the job." "You must take the line of least resistance," proceeded Mr. Shaw. "I dare say you will take it whether you want to or not, but if you think that line is a system which departs as little as possible from the present system, that is your mistake; it is the line of most resistance. To employ words from a list altered according to phonetic spelling only looks like the spelling of an illiterate man who has not been educated. We have it in the style of Artemus Ward, Josh Billings, and Mr. Dunne writing as 'Dooley.' It is very comic, but you will never get it introduced as a classical and standard type. It will be very much better to introduce new letters. Take the word 'thumps' and spell it with a final 'z.' Everybody laughs, but if you spell it with a new letter for the 'th' and a new sort of vowel for the 'u,' nobody would find it comic or ridiculous." Proceeding, Mr. Shaw said if they had gone to work in a sensible manner they would have settled the system 30 years ago.

HOLLAND NOT ON THE MAP

It was an English skipper of the olden time, who, having knowledge beyond the seeming needs, as he could read and use a chart, was dispatched to Rotterdam. After getting over the bar and well away to the east he produced his charts and made a learned inspection; but the charts had been a long time in the locker, and circumstances combined to alarm him extremely.

He went up on deck and called to his mate:

"Put her about, Mike, the rats have eaten Holland!"



FOR SALE

Two Houses, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER
INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies

Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y

433 George Street. Limited

LOCAL TREATMENT FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS

The health we enjoy depends very largely upon how the blood circulates in our bodies; in other words, if we have perfect circulation we will have perfect health.

There is a constant wearing out of the tissues in every part of the body. The blood flowing through the veins carries off this waste or dead matter, while the blood coming from the heart through the arteries brings the fresh new living tissue, the essence of the food we have digested, to replace what has been carried off. This constant wearing out and expelling of the dead matter and the replacing of it with new matter, atom by atom, goes on day and night, until in about 7 years a complete change has been effected. Thus every man and woman has an entirely different body in every particle of it from what he or she had 7 years before.

It sometimes happens, however, from a variety of causes, that the blood becomes congested in certain portions of the body. This means that the blood vessels in these parts become weakened, and the circulation in that section of the body becomes sluggish and stagnant. The consequence is that the dead matter in that part of the body is only partially carried away, and that but little of the new, vital matter is introduced there to build up and strengthen the tissues and nerves.

This condition invariably exists in all cases of female disorders. The dead matter retained in the circulation, which should have been expelled, causes irritation and inflammation of the delicate membranes, and oppresses the nerve centres. This condition is the cause of the grievous physical and mental suffering which accompanies female troubles.

To obtain relief it is evident that the first thing to be done is to get rid of the dead matter which is being held in the circulation. If this dead matter is allowed to remain there a species of blood poisoning will result and nature will endeavor to get rid of it by forming ulcers, tumors, etc.

The above explanation will also show why ORANGE LILY is so successful in curing this condition. It is a local treatment, and is applied direct to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissue, and from the very start the dead matter begins to be discharged. A feeling of immense relief, both mental and physical, accompanies it, and the improvement is constant and positive. This feature of the expelling of the dead matter is always present to a greater or less extent, and in some cases it is so marked as to be amazing. The case described in the following letter is not exceptional:

Dr. Comley—I am thankful to Mrs. F. E. Currah, your Canadian representative, for my health restored by your wonderful remedy. I have suffered for 17 years, but not so bad until 3 years ago. Then I had a doctor, who told me I had a tumor, and could live no more than a year. If I went through an operation I would not live through it. A year later I sent for him again, and he gave me up to die. My husband then sent for another doctor, who performed an operation, and it did me much good. I doctored with him 3 or 4 months, but became so bad again that I thought I could live no longer, and I began to long to die. One day my husband came home and threw a slip of paper to me with Mrs. Currah's address and told me a lady had advised him to write to her for a treatment that would cure me. I said it was too late, that I would die anyway. I could not lift a teacup without hurting me. Then the first doctor told me I was worse than ever. However, my husband sent for ORANGE LILY, and the third treatment brought away one tumor. Others followed, until 7 tumors had been expelled, 3 large ones and 4 small ones. I know if it had not been for ORANGE LILY I would have died, for I could not live much longer. I would have thought it cheap at one hundred dollars for a month's treatment, instead of one dollar. It is worth its weight in gold.—MRS. GEO. LEWIS, Hunterville, Ont.

The above letter is published with Mrs. Lewis' permission. All letters received are treated as being sacredly confidential, but occasionally some patient feels so grateful for being cured that she is willing to make the matter known for the benefit and encouragement of her suffering sisters.

ORANGE LILY is a positive, scientific remedy for all disorders of the female functions. As explained above these troubles are of local origin, and require local treatment. It is just as sensible to take medicine internally for female troubles as it would be to take medicine internally for a bruise, a boil or an ulcerated tooth. In all these cases some dead matter is being retained, and the cure is effected by employing local methods for expelling the dead matter. ORANGE LILY has antiseptic, soothing and healing properties, and also tones up and invigorates blood vessels and nerves. I am so anxious that every suffering woman may satisfy herself, without cost to her, that ORANGE LILY will cure her, that I hereby make the following

FREE TRIAL OFFER

I will send, without charge, to every reader of this notice who suffers in any way from any of the troubles peculiar to women, if she will send me her address, enough of the ORANGE LILY treatment to last her ten days. In many cases this trial treatment is all that is necessary to effect a complete cure, and in every instance it will give very noticeable relief. If you are a sufferer, you owe it to yourself, to your family and to your friends to take advantage of this offer and get cured in the privacy of your home, without doctors' bills or expense of any kind. Address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont. 7

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,335,504.40
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,566,026.69
Surplus $1,789,477.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'
W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of
LAMB
MUTTON
PORK
Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon
Butcher Market Arcade

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at
388 George St. HAZEY HAMILTON
Ice Cream Soft Drinks

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	1.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	8.25 a.m 6.35 p.m
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.25 a.m. 5.35 p.m.	11.45 a.m 9.00 p.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.25 a.m.	11.45 a.m
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	5.35 p.m.	9.05 p.m
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m. 10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m 6.35 p m
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p m
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	8.15 a.m. 5.35 p.m.	8.30 a.m 1.40 p.m
Lakefield.	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	9.35 a.m. 12.40 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.35 a.m
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m 1.01 a.m
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	6.36 a.m 6.51 a.m
Burketown, Bobcaygeon, Fyrtle, Toronto. Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	7.43 a.m 4.28 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$42.60 PACIFIC COAST

ONE-WAY SECOND CLASS
MAR. 10 TO APRIL 10

THE ONLY THROUGH LINE

TOURIST AND COLONIST SLEEPING CARS ON ALL TRAINS

Ask any C.P.R. Agent for Particulars

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Reduced Rates for One-Way Tickets
March 10 to April 10
inclusive

42.60 { Vancouver, B.C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Ore.

45.20 { San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal. Mexico City

Above rates are one-way second class applying from Peterborough. Proportionate rates to certain other points.

Full particulars and tickets from—
City Ticket Office: 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE, City Ticket Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

The Double Tragedy

Of President Lincoln and the Man Who Had Saved His Life

By MILLARD MALTBIE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

There are many stories in the life of Abraham Lincoln. Probably no man ever lived who was connected with more romances. But in them all there is something sad. It was a period of war in which these events of which he was the central figure occurred, and only a very few of the romances extracted from war have happy terminations. No one can look upon the portrait of Abraham Lincoln without seeing there the solemnity of those four years when the boys of '61 to '65 were being mowed down like wheat, when every family in the north and in the south were mourners.

There is one event in the life of President Lincoln which, if certain efforts that were made had been unsuccessful, would have left nonexistent his leadership in the great struggle and he would have gone down in history simply as the man whose election brought it on. True, it would have been adorned with the crown of martyrdom, but at the beginning instead of the end of his career.

This is the story of his escape from that earlier attempt to assassinate him which was a failure:

It was in the spring of 1861, when secession sympathizers were plotting against the lines of communication leading from the national capital, that a man, middle aged, muscular and with a determined though tranquil face, appeared in Perrymansville, Md. He was a Pinkerton detective and had been sent there to discover plots to damage railroad property.

When Mr. Lincoln went to Washington for his first inauguration, having passed through New York, he went southward on the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads. Allan Pinkerton, chief of a Chicago detective bureau, learned through a master machinist of the latter road that a number of secessionists had bound themselves by an oath to assassinate Mr. Lincoln while journeying to the capital. There was but little time to act, for the president elect was about to leave his home. When the assassination plan was conceived it was not known by the conspirators by what route Mr. Lincoln would go to the capital. They were therefore obliged to arrange for an attack upon him at several different points. The Perrymansville branch of the organization pretended to be a cavalry company. Webster, who, though of a quiet exterior, knew how to sham very deep feeling against the Yankee government, at once enrolled himself in this cavalry company.

But getting into the company was far from getting its plans, and unfortunately there was very little time to discover them. Webster relied on his pretended hatred of the government to secure his initiation into the inner circle. His ruse succeeded. He was invited to go to the house of the captain of the company, but not to say a word about the invitation. In a room every window of which was protected against hearing and seeing from the outside he met men from the central point of the conspiracy, Baltimore, and was received as one of the planners of the work to be done.

Seated about a table, the party discussed different methods of assassinating the president elect. Webster, being a new man and of a reserved disposition, listened to the others, only occasionally pointing out some weak spot in a proposition or suggesting a way to obviate it. Before the conference broke up it had been decided to shoot Mr. Lincoln at the depot as he was passing through Baltimore on the 23d of March.

Webster now had the plans in his possession. Taking himself away from the so called cavalry company, he went where he could safely communicate with his chief, Allan Pinkerton. On the night of the 21st of February Pinkerton met Mr. Lincoln at the Continental hotel at Philadelphia and revealed the plot.

The question now arose how, having the plan, to defeat it. A ruse was adopted. Instead of going on to Washington direct, Mr. Lincoln was taken northwest to Harrisburg. But it was no easy job to turn the gaze of millions of people from the most prominent figure in the land with hosts of newspaper correspondents watching his every movement. The telegraph wires leading out of Harrisburg were secretly grounded, thus cutting off that city from the rest of the world.

Mr. Lincoln now being able to travel without news of his passage being telegraphed from every station, a private train was made up at Harrisburg, and the president elect—it is said that he was disguised—was taken back to Philadelphia and at midnight of the 22d instead of the 23d, as had been arranged, was rushed through Baltimore and early the next morning arrived safe in Washington.

This brief statement of the plan to assassinate the president elect and its defeat is essential to the story—a story of Abraham Lincoln as the central figure and Timothy Webster, whose quick work was instrumental in saving him for the great work he was to accomplish. It would have been well had the president kept Webster by him until, his task having been finished, he should return to the less dangerous field of private life. But Webster could not have brooked four years of comparative idleness. Besides, there was a continued need for his services. The only railroad thoroughfare between the northern Atlantic states and the capital was continually threatened. Indeed, there was no safety on any line connecting the capital with the rest of the country. Even dispatches were not safe in transit. The first work done by Webster after foiling the intention of the Baltimore conspirators was to carry some important papers through to the president. Webster found the railroad bridges burned by the secessionists. Taking the route through Havre de Grace, where a long bridge was destroyed, he was rowed across the river and hired a wagon to take him onward. He was obliged to pass through Perrymansville, and the wagon was stopped by the cavalry company in which Webster had enlisted for a spy. He was recognized, but fortunately for him the fact that he had revealed their plot to the government was not known to them.

Webster traveled on in company with an Englishman whose confidence he won, and the man revealed to him that he was bearing dispatches to southern sympathizers in Washington. When the two reached the environs of the capital, Webster, meeting one whom he knew to be a Union man, sent word by him to the picket guard that he wished them to arrest both him and his companion. This was done, but as soon as they were separated Webster was released and went to the White House. There he was at once admitted to Mr. Lincoln and, taking off his coat and vest, ripped open the lining and produced the dispatches. They and those found on the Englishman were of vital importance. Possibly the latter were the more important, since they revealed that the president was living in a city where numbers of the enemy's sympathizers were plotting for the capture of the capital.

Webster, though he did not serve Mr. Lincoln personally, accomplished a great work for him as president. The spy played a double game. He would go south as a southern man and enter the service of the government for the purpose of giving them information of the designs of the Federal government. There he pretended to be a Federal spy when he was really a Confederate spy. He was from the first a Pinkerton detective, and when Pinkerton organized the military secret service bureau of the United States government Webster entered that service and worked for the pay he received in it. Ordinarily it is hard to tell which side a spy playing this double game is really working for. But Webster in the beginning saved the life of the president elect and continued to take him important information, while he had only to give the Confederacy information that was untrue or would not avail it.

This being a story of Mr. Lincoln rather than Webster, the many remarkable romances in the life of the latter during his term of service must be passed over without even a catalogue of them. Finally, though suffering from rheumatism, he started south in company with a Miss Lewis, who was in his confidence. The trip was to be his last incursion into the south. Unfortunately he was laid up a long while in Richmond with rheumatism. Miss Lewis nursed him. During this time nothing was heard from him at Washington, and the president and others who knew of his mission became anxious about him. It was determined to send the members of the secret service force south to look for him.

The two men went to Richmond. They learned that Webster was lying ill at a hotel and blundered by going directly to see him without communicating with him. In his room they found a Confederate and were rash enough to hand him a letter from Allan Pinkerton which, they said, came from a friend of his in Baltimore. They came again and unfortunately met an officer from the provost marshal's office. This meeting led to their examination. They were identified by a person who knew them, and all was lost.

When the news came to General McClellan's headquarters that the two men had been arrested as spies and had implicated Webster, Allan Pinkerton hurried to Washington to see Mr. Lincoln and discover if anything could be done to save them. Singularly enough, Webster had saved Lincoln's life, and now Lincoln was called upon to save Webster's life.

Mr. Lincoln called a special meeting of the cabinet to devise means to save the spies' lives. Nothing could be done except to communicate through the secretary of war calling the attention of the authorities at Richmond to the fact that the United States government had always been lenient to Confederate spies and had never tried or sentenced to death any one caught carrying information. The message closed with a threat of inaugurating a different code in future if the spies were executed.

Neither the fact pointed out nor the threat availed. Webster was hanged. Miss Lewis was imprisoned for a year, and the two men who caused the tragedy were imprisoned for twenty-two months. It is not probable that they would have escaped had they not implicated Webster. But it must be remembered that they had only indirectly been spies.

The last event of similarity between Mr. Lincoln and Webster occurred three years later, when Mr. Lincoln was again the object of the assassin's bullet. The double tragedy contains two singular coincidences. Both died for the cause, though neither of them as a soldier, and both died tragic deaths, one being hanged for a spy, the other murdered.

WHEN THE ODDS ARE AGAINST YOU

You Can Depend on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine to Help You, If You Get the Genuine

What a fight goes on during the winter season against coughs and colds. The children are careless about keeping dry and warm, and the parents are worried to hear them cough.

The best insurance against serious results is the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

So well-known is this medicine and so universally used that we need scarcely tell you of its merits. But we do want to warn you against imitations and substitutes.

Once you know that there are at least four imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine on the market, you are not likely to let any dealer talk you into accepting anything but the genuine, on each bottle of which are the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book Author.

Imitations are sold on the reputation of this great medicine, and not on their own merits, or why should they not have a name of their own.

With the genuine Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine you can readily overcome croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, throat irritation and the most serious coughs and colds. 25 cents a bottle; family size, 60 cents; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

No Sick Person can Afford to throw away this chance to get a 50c. bottle of Psychine FREE

There is a curious business.

It usually commences in a subtle fashion, almost unconsciously.

Yet if you do not check your illness, it grows and grows.

And one fine day you find you're sick.

* * *

The greatest scavengers of the body are the white corpuscles, or phagocytes in the blood.

These white corpuscles attack and eat up every germ of disease that invades the body.

That is when they are strong enough and in sufficient numbers.

If they're not strong enough, then they wage an unequal warfare until they are finally overcome by their more powerful enemies.

The body becomes steadily sicker and sicker until actual disease sets in.

* * *

Now, we have had all sorts of so-called cures.

And a great many people have seriously endangered their health experimenting with them.

But years ago—before even science was able to tell we had the right treatment for disease—viz., herbs, nature's own remedies.

Now that science can tell to an absolute certainty, we know why certain herbs cure disease.

Because they strengthen and increase the white corpuscles or phagocytes.

A third of a century ago Psychine made remarkable cures.

To-day it is making remarkable cures.

In the meantime, millions of bottles of Psychine have been sold.

Hundreds of thousands of people made well and kept well.

Why?

Because Psychine is largely made up of those herbs that scientists now know increase and strengthen the white corpuscles, the phagocytes.

That's why we have received hundreds of thousands of unsolicited testimonials, that's why we can afford to buy and give away hundreds of thousands of 50-cent bottles of Psychine, that's why Psychine benefits these diseases:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice
Sore Throat	Spring Weakness
Anaemia	Early Decline
Female Weakness	Catarrhal Affections
Indigestion	Catarrh of Stomach
Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and Nervous Troubles	Laryngitis and Dyspepsia
After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La Grippe.

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effects of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner, hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our 30 years' experience with this splendid preparation, with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

COUPON No. 82

To the Dr. T. A. SLOCUM, Ltd.
193-195 Spadina Ave., Toronto

I accept your offer to try a 50c. bottle of Psychine (guaranteed 24-hour) at your expense. I have not had a 50c. bottle of Psychine under this plan. Kindly advise my druggist to deliver this bottle to me.

My Name.....
Town.....
Street and Number.....
My Druggist's Name.....
Street and Number.....

This coupon is not good for a 50c. bottle of Psychine if presented to the druggist—it must be sent us—we will then buy the 50c. bottle of Psychine from your druggist and direct him to deliver it to you. This offer may be withdrawn at any time without notice. Send coupon to-day.

OK O'Keefe's OK

PILSENER LAGER

"The Light Beer in the Light Bottle"

A Standard for all the World to Pattern

No Government in the world demands so high a degree of purity and quality in brewing, as is in force in the O'Keefe Brewery.

"The Beer with a Reputation" is not only as good—but is far superior to any imported lager, even at double the price.

At Hotels, Cafes and Dealers generally.

THE O'KEEFE BREWERY CO., LIMITED, TORONTO.

207

OK OK

YOUR BLOOD IS TAINTED

ULCERS, BOILS, SWOLLEN GLANDS, BLOTCHES, PIMPLES, AND ALL SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES ARE COMPLETELY CURED BY THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT

We desire to call the attention of all those afflicted with any Blood or Skin Disease to our New Method Treatment as a guaranteed cure for these complaints. There is no excuse for any person having a disfigured face from eruptions and blotches. No matter whether hereditary or acquired, our specific remedies and treatment neutralize all poisons in the blood and expel them from the system. Our vast experience in the treatment of thousands of the most serious and complicated cases enables us to perfect a cure without experimenting. We do business on the plan—Pay Only for the Benefit You Derive. If you have any blood disease, consult us Free of Charge and let us prove to you how quickly our remedies will remove all evidences of disease. Under the influence of the New Method Treatment the skin becomes clear, ulcers, pimples and blotches heal up, enlarged glands are reduced, fallen out hair grows in again, the eyes become bright, ambition and energy return, and the victim realizes a new life has opened up to him.

YOU CAN ARRANGE TO PAY AFTER YOU ARE CURED

CONSULTATION FREE

Send for Booklet on Diseases of Men "THE GOLDEN MONITOR" FREE

If unable to call, write for a Question List for Home Treatment

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY
Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

NOTICE All letters from Canada must be addressed to our Canadian Correspondence Department in Windsor, Ont. If you desire to see us personally call at our Medical Institute in Detroit as we see and treat no patients in our Windsor offices which are for Correspondence and Laboratory for Canadian business only. Address all letters as follows:
DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont.
Write for our private address.

A Range of Possibilities.

"I have been told," said the confident performer, "that I make my violin sound like the human voice."

"Yes," replied the candid friend, "but there are so many kinds of human voices."—Washington Star.

Yourself.

If you want to be miserable think about yourself—about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to pay to you and what people think of you.—Charles Kingsley.

The Same Girl.

Young Husband—When I used to kiss you, you slapped me. Young Wife—Well, you won't get slapped now unless you forget to kiss me.—Illustrated Bits.

People seldom improve when they have no other model but themselves to pattern after.—Goldsmith.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heal the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

Cookson's Antimony
Immediate Delivery
The CANADA METAL CO., Limited
31 William St. - - Toronto, Ont.

HINTS FOR CORONATION ✵ KING'S POPULARITY ✵ THE HAREM SKIRT

RESCUE STATUE 2,200 YEARS OLD

Guarnacci Hercules To Be Seen at Ancient Art Exhibition in London.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

BURIED in a jungle of merchandise in a city warehouse for fifteen years the famous marble statue the "Guarnacci Hercules," reputed by experts to be twenty-two centuries old, has been resurrected and transferred to Earl's Court, where it will constitute one of the attractions of the Ancient Art Exhibition to be held there this summer.

This statue, which is attributed to Lysippus, of Sycione, or one of his pupils, has had a remarkable history. It is supposed to have been modelled in the fourth century B. C. and was in all probability taken to Rome in the second century B. C. After the fall of the Eternal City it lay buried until the Pontificate of Clement XI. (1700-1721). Later it passed into the possession of Mgr. Mario Guarnacci, who placed it in his palace at Volterra.

In the early seventies it was purchased by an Italian art dealer in London, and exhibited by him at his showroom in Regent street. Several tempting offers to buy were made, but declined. In 1877 it was sent to Paris and formed one of the chefs d'oeuvre at the exhibition of 1878.

The damage to the statue on its return trip from Paris to London gave rise to three lawsuits, the dealer suing Mr. Herbert Davis, the consignee, for £5,000 damages. Before the end of the third suit the owner died and the statue was sold at auction. The new owner placed it in his warehouse in the city, where it remained for fifteen years.

Last week it was taken to Earl's Court and bathed. With the grime of fifteen years of London on its broad shoulders such an operation was not only necessary but extremely beneficial to Hercules' appearance.

Though the evidences of the damage it sustained since it first emerged from its quarried block are evident, the beauty of the work is not impaired.

That this piece is the statue of Hercules from the Guarnacci gallery is made clear by some notes by R. Monti when the marble first arrived in England. Mr. Monti says:—

"This statue is mentioned by Clarac, by Muller, by Visconti and by Maffei as the one in the Guarnacci Museum.

"This statue was one out of the many brought to Italy from the slopes of the Aventine and Palatine hills. Among these are to be noted a large number of statues of Hercules, from the Farnese Colossus, by Glycon, down to the heroic and life size. It is beyond dispute that all these statues of Hercules owe their type to the original of Lysippus of Sycione, but in their individual worth these relics greatly differ. Those of the subsequent two centuries show a greater bulkiness of form and superabundance of muscularity.

"In the Guarnacci Hercules, however, the adherence to the earlier style is not only traceable in its portions of undeniable antiquity, but also in the restoration which it must have undergone by Graeco-Roman sculptors when first brought to Rome. It must then have stood on a support of metal fixed in the base and bifurcating at its upper end, the receptacle for which, being even now quite visible. The character of the restoration shows the boldness of touch which characterizes the Graeco-Roman workmanship of that period. But in the repairs carried out on the passing of this statue into the hands of Guarnacci, the operators have been swayed by the appearance presented in the Farnese Hercules, thus rendering the new parts incompatible with the rest.

"It must also be remarked that no allusion whatever to this visible occurs in the writers of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Therefore, it may be held that no restoration, by sculptors of the Cinquecento was made, be as it may quite evident that this relic had not at that time been exhumed.

"For these reasons this particularly interesting relic may be attributed to some of the immediate followers and pupils of Lysippus, who, using the ancient, or perhaps of the master's own direction, produced a work more in accordance with his idiosyncrasy than it would have been possible for subsequent copyists to do."

THE LURE OF LONDON IN THE SPRING AIR

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

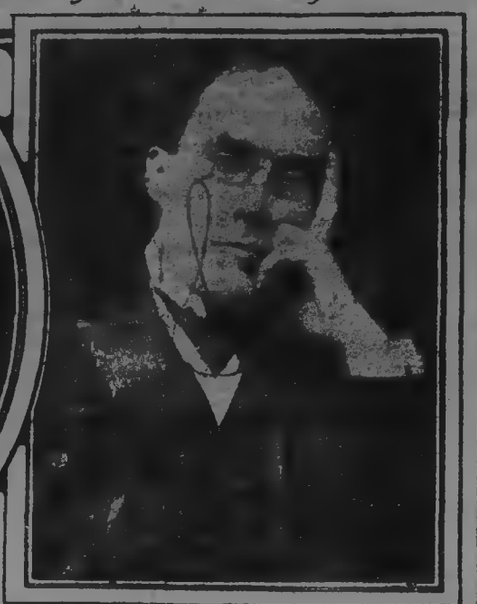
With more than a suspicion of spring in the air the lure of London seems irresistible. If one chooses one can see Queen Mary on most days in her drives through Hyde Park, looking regally handsome and acknowledging with her quick smile and side glance the salutes of all observant pedestrians on the paths or of the occupants of automobiles or other carriages.

When the Court is out of mourning it is understood no one will devote herself more whole heartedly to promoting the attractions of social life in London than the Queen, for there are few women who have grasped the economic advantage of encouraging home industries which a gay London season implies more thoroughly than Queen Mary.

Next month there will be a good deal of entertaining in honor of royalty. No member of the royal family enjoys a measure of popularity than Princess Alexandra of Teck, whom hostesses of royalty are always eager to secure, and Princess Patricia is famous for dancing.

"Baby Mine" Sets All London in a Roar; Voice of "Mrs. Grundy" Is Barely Heard

MISS MARGARET MAYO. (MRS EDGAR SELWYN.)
PHOTO BY BARNES



MR. LAURENCE IRVING.
FROM AN OIL PAINTING BY SARGENT R.A.

Miss Mayo's Farce Captures Audience Instantly and Cast of Play Wins High Praise.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

NEVER have I heard a London audience laugh so much as at the first performance of "Baby Mine" at the Criterion Theatre. It was continuous and uproarious, like a contagion that every one had caught. It fairly shook and rocked and quaked with merriment, and still in the midst of all this hilarity it persistently asserted that the play was improper and a little vulgar.

So much for the proprieties. All London will flock to see "Baby Mine," denounce it as indelicate and then go to see it again. This American play at least is going to be popular here, and Miss Margaret Mayo, the authoress, can congratulate herself that she is one of the very few dramatists from the other side whose work the British public appreciates. The farce bids fair to be quite as well liked here as it is in New York. Mr. Edgar Selwyn, who is Miss Mayo's husband, tells me that no American audience ever enjoyed it more than the audience at the Criterion.

One long haired critic describes it as "amazing" and wonders how it ever got by the censor. Another says that in America it would be called "a scream." They all agree that it vastly pleased the audience.

The only adverse comments I heard, out in "The Lily," and tried to shut off the side of that regarding the "indelicacy" of rest of the company and the play and give the work, was that the finish was weak as Mr. Irving all by himself. That actor found disappointing and that it was a play was seated so near the footlights that with only one idea in it, that of substitut- when the curtain came down at the end of ing a baby, which became a trifle monotonous by the time the third act was reached. All this is perfectly true, but still the audience kept on laughing and laughing, even when the baby purloining business had increased the stock to triplets. The steady stream of pure nonsense and ridiculous impossibility made it irresistible. Then, too, there was no small amount of genuine wit in the dialogue.

Mr. Weedon Grossmith played the part of Billy, a sort of Patsy Bolivar, who had all the disagreeable work to do, including the baby snatching. His own peculiar method of making an abused, weak spirited man an object of mirth never came into better play. To be sure, it was not a star part, but Mr. Grossmith, unlike most theatrical stars, is generous to his company in that respect. Fortunately the whole cast was well selected, or "Baby Mine" would have proved a very uninteresting infant. Miss Iris Hoey, as the frivolous, procrastinating, doll-like wife, gave a charming and spirited performance. There is no trained actress in captivity who can pop in and out of bed quicker than she or who wears prettier or more dainty pink nighties.

Even the curtain at the Kingsway Theatre seemed to know that Mr. Laurence Irving was the one particular good thing in the character.

KING DECORATES PLUCKY WOMAN

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

There have been investitures of brass men by the King of England before, but seldom has there been so much interest taken as in King George's reception and investiture of the miners, firemen and police constables and the decoration of a plucky woman who lent valuable aid to a policeman in his fight with an armed criminal.

Pathos, too, was lent by the fact that one of the recipients of the honor was Police Constable Woodhams, who was severely wounded in the recent fight with anarchists, and had to be carried to the palace on a stretcher, and whom the King received with a pleasant smile and the words:—"I am proud to make you by the hand."

MR. HAMMOND STIRS SOME REMINISCENCE

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

The English newspapers are full of stories of the life of Mr. John Hays Hammond, the Special Ambassador of the United States, who has rented the mansion of the late Baroness Burdett-Coutts in Piccadilly. After recalling the adventurous part played by Mr. Hammond in the reform movement in the Transvaal and recalling the fact that following the Jameson raid he was arrested and sentenced to death, these newspapers devote considerable space to telling of the magnificent entertainments that are to be provided by the Special Ambassador, and assert that the fancy ball given by him will be one of the most notable gatherings of Anglo-American society during coronation week.

PREDICTED COURSE OF FAMOUS LIVES

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

"Gypsy Lee," who died a few days ago at Brighton Borough Asylum at the age of seventy, was a famous fortune teller who was consulted by thousands in all grades of society. She asserted that she predicted for the present Queen when Princess May that she would be engaged to two heirs to the British throne and to have told Miss Dallas Yorke that she would marry a duke.

She is said to have told Mr. Gladstone when a young man the famous career he would have, and among others in her book of patrons were Colonel North, for whom she outlined great wealth and a tragic death.

"Tossing the Pancake," Old English Ceremony, Observed at Westminster

PANCAKE DAY AT WESTMINSTER SCHOOL.
PHOTO BY TOPICAL ASSOCIATION

Ancient Custom Is Still Observed in British School On Each Shrove Tuesday.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

TACT OF THE KING • DAILY INCREASES

They Were Wrong in Believing Him "Cold." People of Great Britain Find

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

IT is interesting to study the manner in which King George and Queen Mary have been growing into the affections of the whole English people. When the King ascended the throne there was a general impression that his manner was cold and repellent, but as the days go by evidence accumulates that this attitude is more fancied than real. Of course, following a man so universally beloved as his father—who in his too short reign enlisted even the affections of his Irish subjects—George V. was at first at a disadvantage, but today the King is looked upon as a sovereign who will uphold worthily the traditions of the Empire. As a man he is regarded as intensely human.

When the King announced that following the example of King Edward he would patronize the turf the sportsmen of the Kingdom were gratified, and this gratification was intensified when it became known that the declaration in favor of the "sport of kings" was not a mere formality, but that the royal stables would be maintained at their highest standard and that the thoroughbreds that are to be entered in the King's name will be worthy of bearing the royal colors.

Then came the tactful tone might say statesmanlike announcement that the King would visit Ireland and Scotland. Of course it was to be expected that the Scotch would welcome him whole heartedly, but it is now believed that the demonstrations in Ireland will be more enthusiastic than the greeting to his father when King Edward visited the Emerald Isle. While the nationalists may not extend a formal welcome to King George, they will be there as Irishmen and will cheer as merrily as their unionist brethren when His Majesty reaches the "cold sea." If anything were needed to make the assurance of hearty welcome doubly sure the King did the very thing when he announced that he would attend the Leopardstown races—for there was never an Irishman born who wasn't a lover of horses and horse racing.

WILL GO TO WALES.

Even little Wales will not be neglected, as the King and Queen, it is announced, will visit Lloyd George's island in state to witness the investiture of another Edward as Prince of Wales. Mindful, too, of the claims of his Eastern subjects, and once more following the example of his illustrious father, the King will visit India to be crowned as Emperor of those vast possessions. To Canada he is sending the Duke of Connaught, who, it is believed, will be able to assure Canadians of a visit by the King and Queen within a few years.

Add to these evidences of statesmanlikeregard for the constituencies that make up the Empire the King's deep personal interest in the doings of all his subjects, and you will understand why he is increasing his hold upon the affections of his people. Only the other day the constables injured in the Houndsditch battle—one of them borne to the palace on a stretcher—were personally praised and decorated by the King who at the same time placed a gold medal upon the breast of the working woman who saved a constable from being shot by a burglar.

As further evidence of King George's tact one notes the honor of a royal command to dinner to Dr. Jowett, the Birmingham Nonconformist, who is soon to leave for New York, and the deep interest evinced by His Majesty in the sufferings of seamen when he received Dr. Grenfell, the Labrador missionary, and listened to the perils of his work in the Far North. What could be more diplomatic than the King's praise for the plucky American nurses who assist Dr. Grenfell in his heroic undertakings?

These are only a few examples of how the King is winning his way into the hearts of his people, and in this work he is ably assisted by Queen Mary, whose charities are nation wide and absolutely unsectarian. Moreover, the Queen is doing everything in her power to encourage the development of British industries. Everything that can be made in England—laces, linens, lingeries, silks—will be worn by her at the Coronation; and the example set by Her Majesty is being followed by court ladies in general, so that a great impetus has been given to manufacturers in England and Ireland.

It is safe to predict that, whereas only a few short months ago the name of the King evoked merely stereotyped enthusiasm, when he rides to Westminster in June to be crowned the demonstrations of his subjects will equal in enthusiasm the greetings accorded to his father, long the First Gentleman and always the most popular prince in Europe.

SOCIALLY ACTIVE, TOO.

The King and Queen are becoming socially active, too, and are accepting invitations to dinners at the houses of their more intimate friends for the first time since King Edward's death. The first they honored in this way were Lord and Lady Farquhar at their house at No. 7 Grosvenor square, when some thirty guests were invited to meet them. Queen Mary looked beautiful in a black velvet dress with rich jet embroideries, and wore diamond stars in her hair, her other ornaments including a magnificent plaque of diamonds worn as a necklace, and a spray of diamond flowers in her corsage. Lady Farquhar, wearing a white dress with a diamond tiara in her white hair, and escorted by the King, led the procession to the dining room, Lord Farquhar accompanying Queen Mary. The Duchess of Roxburghe, the only American present, who was accompanied by the Duke, wore a white satin [illegible] and a broad band of diamonds in her hair.

TIMELY HINTS FOR CORONATION WEEK

Hotel Men Become Ravenous and Are Advancing Rates to All Visitors.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THAT portion of Westminster Abbey known as the Chapel of Edward the Confessor is the spot where the actual crowning of King George V. will take place. Officially known as the "theatre," it is here that the largest amount of attention is being given.

The King's throne, the historic old chair of St. Edward, is elevated on a dais in the centre of the theatre facing the high altar, and is approached by five steps. Side by side with it, but two steps lower than the King's, stands the more modern chair that will be occupied by Queen Mary.

On the right of these are the two chairs of state, with stools in front of them, that will be occupied by their majesties during the ceremony and until the moment arrives for placing the crowns upon their heads. These chairs directly face the seats reserved for the members of the royal family and the distinguished foreign and royal and other visitors whom it is especially desired to honor.

Some magnificent embroidery will cover the various coronation robes of the King and Queen, in which the national emblems will largely figure. The supertunica, for instance, that is placed around the King after the anointing ceremony, will be beautifully worked with roses, shamrocks and thistles all in their natural colors.

An interesting innovation of rather a significant character is being made by the introduction of various colonial emblems, such as the maple leaf of Canada, the wattle bloom of Australia and the lotus flower of India, which emblems will also be represented on the stole that is placed around the King's shoulders.

Both supertunica and stole are of British woven cloth of gold, and the gold thread used for the embroidery is of a darker shade.

A BRILLIANT COMPANY.

It is now possible to indicate to some extent the brilliant company of royal guests who will attend the coronation. Already many of the delegates from foreign countries have been chosen, and the list will be completed very soon, so that the officials may approach well in advance the problem of providing them with accommodation during their stay in London.

Germany will be represented by the Crown Prince, who very probably will be accompanied by the Crown Princess. There is also a probability of Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia attending the ceremony in a private capacity. Another interesting group is the Japanese delegation. The Mikado has chosen Prince Fushimi to represent the Japanese Court, while Admiral Togo and General Nogi will represent the army and navy respectively.

Among other royal representatives are the King and Queen of Norway, the Crown Prince and Princess of Denmark, the Crown Prince and Princess of Sweden, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent to the throne of Austria-Hungary, Prince Yousuf Izzed Din, heir apparent to Turkey, and the Crown Prince Ferdinand and Princess Maria of Roumania.

Mr. John Hays Hammond, it is understood, is to represent the United States, but France, Portugal, Spain, Belgium and some other States have not yet selected their representatives. With regard to Russia, however, the Tsar is expected to attend the coronation naval review at Spithead, and the Queen of Spain is expected in June.

It is estimated here that 150,000 Americans, 100,000 Colonials and fully as many visitors from the Continent will be here in June to witness the coronation pageant. If it were not for the limit set to the exodus in America by the facilities of the ocean transportation companies it is believed that the number of American visitors would be much greater than that which is now roughly estimated.

Between Easter and Whitsuntide, when the American invasion will be on, the shipping companies, by utilizing their maximum resources, will be able to provide accommodation for about 100,000 voyagers across the Atlantic.

If we allow 50,000 who will come at other times and by other routes and by less luxurious vessels, we arrive at the 150,000 estimate. That every berth from New York from the middle of April to the middle of June will be occupied is already assured. The steamship companies, to their credit be it said, have increased their rates but slightly, if at all, and the example thus set might be followed with profit by the hotel keepers of London, who, it seems, are determined to engage in the ancient practice of killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

So ravenous are some of these hotel keepers that persons who have been stopping with them for years have been notified that unless they submit to an increase of about 300 per cent above the rates now paid they must vacate their rooms and apartments during the month of June.

Rooms that are now rented at from $2 to $5 a day have been jumped in price from $6 to $20, and as if this were not enough some of the managers, intent upon getting every dollar that can be squeezed out of the visitors, are doubling the price of foodstuffs.

Of course this does not apply to all of the hotels; there are some managers here who can see beyond the end of their noses and these have not penalized their permanent residents, but are content with a slight advance upon regular rates.

Your correspondent knows of a score of families who, forced out of their homes by exorbitant demands, have engaged apartments in select neighborhoods, and are making to-day more than will know upon [illegible]

HAREM SKIRT STIRS EUROPEAN CITIES

Barred in Rome, Causes Riot in Madrid and Discussed in Gay French Capital.

[Special Despatch.]
Madrid, Saturday.

THE "harem skirt" does not fit in with the Spanish idea of propriety. The first woman to appear in the streets of Madrid wearing the "jupe-culotte" was grossly insulted and mobbed, and similar experiences are reported from Valencia and other cities in Spain in which women have been hired by a Parisian firm to display the new mode.

It was a few days ago that the "harem skirt" made its first appearance in the Spanish capital. A woman with expensive and showy jewels and wearing the new style of dress walked up the calle Mayor to Puerta del Sol. She was accompanied by a maid. Soon a crowd of men was following the woman, jeering and hurling insults at her. The crowd increased until the street was filled and the woman was surrounded.

Some one in the mob proposed that she be exhibited at the Kursaal, a theatre where the dancers wear costumes of as light material as the police will permit. Another man shouted that the woman had been punished enough, but the words were hardly out of his mouth before his hat was knocked from his head, and he was being pummelled and kicked when two policemen went to his assistance.

The woman for the moment ceased to be the centre of attraction, and a German merchant who is in business here thrust the woman and her maid into a carriage. The coachman luckily was not one of the majority of Spaniards who are opposed to innovations in fashions for women, and the wearer of the "harem skirt" and her maid were half a block away before the mob lost interest in the woman's would-be protector. The coachman whipped his horse into a gallop and the crowd gradually dispersed.

There is little hope for the "harem skirt" in the provincial cities, where the people are not accustomed to seeing exaggerated creations of Dame Fashion, and at Seville no attempt will even be made to introduce the "jupe-culotte."

It was the "cholas" who made it almost impossible for Spanish society women to wear large, fashionable hats last year, and the "cholas" no doubt will take it upon herself now to act as a censor of public morals and the proprieties and pronounce the "harem skirt" an abomination.

"HAREM SKIRT" VIEWED FROM HYGIENIC POINT OF VIEW.

PARIS, Saturday. "The harem skirt is the ideal garment for women. It allows of freedom of limbs, protects against cold and wind, and more, against microbes and dust. The harem skirt affords every advantage." This is the view of Dr. Berg, a Swedish doctor, who in a letter to the "Matin" adds: "If one bears in mind the number of women who are drowned owing to their being hampered by their skirts, the number of women who are harried by inflammable matter catching their skirts, all women will understand the advantages of the harem skirt, which must eventually become general." Dr. Berg adds that when the eye has become accustomed to the new fashion, mankind will prefer it to the old-styled skirt.

His views, however, are not shared at the Academy of Medicine. Professor Debove, formerly dean of the Faculty, expresses his views on the subject as follows: "The question of hygiene does not enter into the domain of the harem skirt; there is only a question of ugliness! The Swedish doctor in question knows nothing about feminine dress. Bad legs will have no better show in the harem skirt than in the ordinary one. Men wear trousers owing to their anatomical structure; women wear skirts for the same reason. The harem skirt will not last. It is contrary to natural laws."

POPE PIUS PRONOUNCES AGAINST "HAREM SKIRT."

ROME, Saturday.—Pope Pius has pronounced against the "harem" skirt. It is declared that Roman matrons, even before the advent of Christianity, would have rejected this costume as unworthy of them.

In the opinion of the Vatican, its adoption would break down the barriers between the respectable woman and the demi-mondaine.

Such eccentricities in women's fashions have formerly been denounced by the Pope, and he will not fail, if necessary, to issue an official condemnation of a dress which he regards as likely to be harmful to public morals.

STORM IN BERLIN KEEPS MANY INDOORS

BERLIN, Saturday. Berlin has not escaped from the storm which has swept over other parts of Europe. The streets have been covered with a mixture of rain and snow, and a wind of hurricane-like violence has been raging. For two days the streets looked deserted, and the cabmen and chauffeurs had to drive with one hand and hold on with the other to keep from being blown from their seats.

The effect of the capricious weather is plainly to be seen in the tea rooms of the various hotels, where people are glad to take refuge. The Berlin hotels are so overcrowded this week that many persons have been obliged to go as far as Potsdam in search of rooms.

This pressure upon the hotel accommodation arises from the fact that the German aristocracy has forsaken country estates and takes all the available suites at the leading hotels in order to participate in the Court festivities, and in addition to this, the Berlin hotels have had to stand the strain of the German Agricultural Association, which has many members in all parts of Prussia, provinces and their families.

Just the corn-kernel—
the veritable "sweetheart of the corn—rolled paper-thin and crisped a golden-brown. Kellogg's

TOASTED CORN FLAKES

is just a little better than delicious! The first spoonful will tell you better than a page full of adjectives, why this is the cereal you never tire of for breakfast.

Look for the name on the package

10c

Kellogg's

Beauty and Wear

Knives, forks, spoons, etc., of exclusive design and fine wearing quality are stamped

"1847 ROGERS BROS."

This mark on silver plate is a guide to quality recognized everywhere as the world's standard.

Best tea sets, dishes, waiters, etc., are stamped

MERIDEN BRITA CO.
SOLD BY LEADING DEALERS

"Silver Plate that Wears"

COAL

That Is Coal
is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD
First Class—Best in City—at
$6.00 Per Cord
4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired; at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's
Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

FRESH DAILY

Oyster Patties
Charlotte Russe
Plum Cakes
Lemon Cakes
Fancy Biscuits
Macaroons

ICE CREAM
in Bricks or Bulk

T. H. HOOPER
327-414-601 George Street

Hair and Fancy Goods

Whatever is new and good in Hair Coiffures, or that is required in dressing the hair in the very latest style we have it Perfect match guaranteed. Our line of Smallwares and Fancy Goods is very complete and offers a choice selection.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

Plumbing, Hot Water Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.
Phone 88
Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL
Limited

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

THE NEW SENATOR.

He Found Fashionable Washington Life Too Rich For His Blood.

A newly elected senator came on early to Washington to arrange for rooms and had an object lesson furnished him on "the high cost of living." He wanted to start in "with the swim" and be at the center of things, so he priced the "fo'mal" hotel.

"We make it $650 per month, two rooms and bath, to you, senator—without meals," said the clerk dreamily. When the senator caught his breath he was two blocks up the avenue.

He tried another hotel, a moderately exclusive house, whose lobbies were a sort of eddying pool of statesmen and "influential" lobbyists. To him the attendant flamen of this gilded shrine remarked: "Now, we have a choice of two rooms with bath at $350 per month"—

"Without eating—just for a sleeping place!" broke in the senator. "Why, I'd burn up with fever if I had to sleep at that price!"

The salary of a senator is $7,500, and it is figured on the high level of "simple" living in Washington that he ought to part with that much for assured rest at a good hotel. But the new senator didn't feel that way about it. Finally it was suggested that he might take a room at the simple hotel of the old days, at $1 per twenty-four hours, and save money, using the parcel room for baggage when away over Sunday. Then he could take a peep at Peacock alley and meet friends in the "lobby" which the more wealthy statesmen and tourists support.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

THE SPIRAL DIP.

Brookins Says It's One of the Most Risky Feats of Aviating.

The spiral dip is undoubtedly one of the most difficult feats of aviating. It is something which requires the utmost confidence and skill on the part of an aviator to perform.

I worked out the stunt myself. For a number of weeks before attempting it I had the spiral idea. I knew what I wanted to do, but I did not know how to go about it. Finally I went to Orville Wright, explained my proposition, or rather my idea, to him and asked his advice. He heard me through and then pronounced the idea an impossibility. Still I was not convinced. I believed it could be done, and I kept puttering around with it until finally I struck upon the solution and made my first spiral.

With all frankness I will admit that it is, to say the least, a bit scary. Before going into it one must tip the machine straight downward, dropping toward the earth to secure momentum enough to make the spiral. Somehow, no matter how often one performs this, you never get used to it. The terrible falling sensation is there, always there. If the first spiral does not go off just as it should I always come out of it instead of attempting the second circle. It is the best plan.—Walter R. Brookins in Los Angeles Herald.

Had a Distressing, Tickling Sensation in The Throat.

COULD NOT SLEEP AT NIGHT.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is rich in the lung-healing virtues of the Norway pine tree. It is a pleasant, safe and effectual medicine that may be confidentially relied upon as a specific for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Quinsy, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

It will stop that tickling in the throat which causes the dry cough that keeps you awake at night.

Mrs. J. A. Smith, Marshville, Ont., writes:—"I had a very bad cough and that distressing tickling sensation in my throat. It was so bad I could not sleep at night and my lungs were so sore I had to give up work.

"Our doctor gave me medicine but it did me no good, so I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had used two bottles I was entirely cured. I am always recommending it to my friends."

Do not be humbugged into buying the so called Norway Pine Syrups but be sure and insist on "Dr. Wood's." It is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; the price 25c.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LOGAN GROVE DOOMED.

Old Camping Ground of Kansas Indians to Be a Cornfield.

Logan grove, for years the camping ground of tribes of Kansas Indians and a place of historical interest, will soon be a cornfield. This grove is ninety-nine acres in extent and is a mile and a half south of Junction City.

The grove is on the bank of the Smoky Hill river and was a favorite camping ground for Indians from the north and south parts of the state. They would come for powwows and would often leave their families in camp there while they went out on buffalo hunts. Many Indian relics are still to be found there.

In 1855 a soldier from Captain Henderson's company, then stationed at Fort Riley, went out to the site of the grove and built a small cabin. The next year Captain Henderson bought the ground and cabin, later homesteading the entire grove. For many years he had a sawmill there, and many of the houses in Junction City are constructed of lumber from Logan grove.

The cabin, which is still standing, was the first schoolhouse in Geary county. The place was then named Logan grove by Captain Henderson, who was a great admirer of General Logan, who was then stationed at Fort Riley. Mrs. Logan presented to Captain Henderson a large flag, which still flies on legal holidays from a flagstaff near the grove.

A few years before he died Captain Henderson erected a granite monument to the explorer Coronado, who followed the Smoky Hill river and camped at the grove, which was then the site of an Indian village, Quivera. It was the original intention to keep the grove in its present beautiful condition, but the high values of bottom land have made it too expensive to maintain in that condition. Robert Henderson, a son of the captain and the present owner of the land, will have it cleared.—Junction City Cor. Kansas City Star.

GAS, HEARTBURN AND DYSPEPSIA VANISH

Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach, if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and any thing you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in the stomach), Biliousness, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in the stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist, and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong Stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from Indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

Explosive Chewing Gum.

The British soldier loves to chew gum—not, however, the gum known to America, but the army explosive cordite, which contains 60 per cent of nitroglycerin, a sweet concoction of agreeable taste. Chewers of cordite assert that when taken in little doses it gently stimulates the nervous system and causes a slight exhilaration. Chewed in larger quantities, it produces an effect like that of hasheesh and causes ecstatic visions. The habit of chewing cordite has become so common in the British army that the military authorities have taken measures to prevent the misuse of the explosive. Cordite so used does not explode, because nitroglycerin is exploded only by a formidable shock or by an electric spark, but it is not impossible that under certain conditions it might be exploded—by the impact of two exceptionally hard teeth, for instance.—Harper's Weekly.

Where Does the Gold Go?

During the twelve last months the world produced upward of $450,000,000 new gold. Yet in that same period the gold holdings of the world's great banking institutions decreased about $40,000,000. Most of the changes from a year ago were small, but the Bank of France lost $55,000,000 and the Imperial Bank of Russia gained $21,000,000. The United States treasury balance of unpledged gold increased $8,000,000 and the Argentine gold reserve against the currency $13,000,000. Yet even this leaves the problem open, where the rest of the world's new gold has been distributed.—Exchange.

Expensive Furs.

Actresses who wish to assert victorious power in their toilets have a mania for rich furs. The supply grows scarcer, and the demand rapidly rises. The skin of the Andes rat now costs, first hand, 90 francs. It is this little animal that gives us the beautiful Chile fur now so prized for motor wraps, stoles, muffs and garnitures. A further rise is expected, the Bolivian government having forbidden the export of the pelts of the Andes rats. Furriers have fallen back on the skin of the possum, which costs but 8 [illegible]

HADES COLD OR HOT?

One Pastor Locates It in the Moon, Another in the Sun.

Two Washington pastors hold widely differing opinions as to the location of hades. The Rev. Zed Copp, pastor of Bethany chapel, has boosted the sphere of eternal torment from the bottom of creation all the way up to the sun. The Rev. Dr. Baker of the Theosophical society puts it in the moon.

Dr. Baker's discovery is brand new. He let it out to his parishioners the other night. He told them that after a thorough and painstaking investigation he had become firmly convinced that all other theories concerning the real location of the future address of transgressors were false and that in reality the man in the moon is his satanic majesty.

There are many little dogs in the moon, according to Dr. Baker. They are there to torment vivisectors. As the breath leaves the body of the vivisected animal his soul is rushed through space until he finds himself in the moon, where he patiently awaits the coming of his murderer, and thereafter through all eternity he amuses himself by tormenting the late learned M. D.

Dr. Baker did not say whether the presence of dogs in the moon had anything to do with the aversion cats have to the beautiful orb.—New York World.

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG

Keep in the sunshine. Avoid excesses of all kinds. Eat moderately at regular intervals. Cultivate a spirit of contentment and keep the bowels regular and liver active by using Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. No treatment is so definite and so satisfactory for this purpose. None so trustworthy and economical.

Carnegie's Millions.

Andrew Carnegie has succeeded not only in making himself the second richest man in the world, but also in enriching several of his fellow countrymen, says the London Chronicle. When the "star spangled Scot" retired from business his fortune was estimated at £75,000,000 ($375,000,000), and he had made about £50,000,000 ($200,000,000) for his friends and partners, a large proportion of whom are of Scottish birth. These include George Lauder, his cousin, who now lives in retirement at Pittsburg with at least £4,000,000 ($20,000,000) to soothe his declining years. Thomas Morrison, also a cousin, and Alexander Peacock, another son of Dunfermline, likewise amassed huge fortunes at Pittsburg.

A Blazing Fire.

On a cold, frosty night every one likes to see a blazing fire, but this generally means heavy coal bills. A good plan is to place a quantity of chalk at the back of each grate, in equal proportion to the coals. This throws out a terrific heat and lasts quite a long time. It always pays in the end to buy good coal, for not only does it make a clearer fire, but it leaves fewer ashes. A handful of common salt thrown into the fire occasionally makes a cheerful blaze and lessens the consumption of coal.

Vegetarian Boots and Shoes.

An enterprising manufacturer has discovered a process whereby a passable imitation of leather may be manufactured from a vegetable product. The novelty owes its introduction to London vegetarians, who protest at the number of animals killed annually to keep humanity in boots. The imitation leather is being used for the manufacture of boots, shoes, Bible covers and a hundred other articles usually found in the art leather department.—Jewish Chronicle.

From the Barber's Standpoint.

An applicant for citizenship went with a citizen before Judge Chatfield in the United States district court in Brooklyn the other day. "Are you sure this man will make a good American?" asked the court of the witness. The witness was sure. "Why?" asked the court. "Because," answered the witness, "I have shaved him for ten years."

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Lighting a Tunnel.

An ingenious way of illuminating a tunnel has been devised by a Parisian inventor. Reflectors throw the light from many electric lamps sixteen feet above the rails to the sides of the tunnel, where it is again reflected by burnished tin, giving a soft and agreeable light. The trains automatically turn the current on and off when entering and leaving the tunnel.

Merely Wished to Know.

"Mother, did father have to ask you more than once to be his wife?"

"Why, dearest, what makes you ask such a question?"

"I just wanted to know whether you always answered no before you thought, the same as you do to me now."—Chicago Record-Herald.

That Wondrous Flavor!

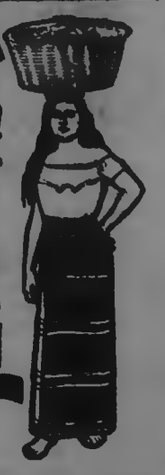
Puddings, Sauces, Ices are welcomed with eagerness when flavored with this unequalled essence.

ONLY the finest Mexican Vanilla Beans are used to make it. Thus it has the TRUE vanilla savor—richly delicate and delightful. Try it to-day: Your groceryman.

CAUTION:—
A smaller quantity required than of any other extract.

Shirriff's
TRUE VANILLA

Other delicious Shirriff flavorings are—Lemon, Almond, Rose, Pineapple, Strawberry, Ratafia and ninety more.



Every Precaution Taken.

During a smallpox epidemic in Alabama special precautions against the disease were taken in the mining camps. In one of these camps the president of the mining company paid a visit of inspection and came upon an old negro leaning against the side of a building.

"Jake," asked the president, "are you afraid of the smallpox out here?"

"Some may be, sah," Jake replied. "As fo' me, I ain't scahed. I's jest gwine toh get me some lime an' limate mah house, an' den the doctah, he's comin' up an' 'sassinate mah fambly so dat den, sah, if we do git de smallpox 'twon't be nothin' but de celluloid."

A Word In Season.

The playwright turned pale with excitement and a sudden rush of pride as he heard from his position in the wings the sound of stamping feet and roaring voices.

"They are calling for the author!" he cried feverishly. "What shall I do? Must I make a speech?"

The manager, who had not only heard but seen the audience, took him by the elbow.

"The best thing you can do," he whispered, "is to slip out of the stage door and escape while there's time."

Be Good to Yourself

and the world will be good to you. The way is to keep your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels right. And you'll find great help in

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 25c.

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited
162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-281
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

WANTED

OFFERINGS OF UNLISTED and INACTIVE STOCKS and BONDS
WE HAVE A GOOD MARKET FOR STOCKS, SUCH AS

Dominion Permanent, Trusts and Guarantee, Canadian Birkbeck 6%, Standard Loan Stock and Debentures, Hamilton Steel and Iron, Dominion Power Transmission, United Empire Bank, Home Bank, Sterling Bank, Northern Crown Bank, Continental Life 20%, Paid and many others.
List of bids and offerings sent weekly on request.

FISHER & WATT
Members of Standard Stock Exchange
2103 Traders Bank Building, Toronto. Phone Main 7424-34

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA.
INCORPORATED, 1832.

Information for Depositors.

The following certificate is attached to the 79th Annual Statement, published January 16th, 1911:

We have examined the books and accounts of the Bank of Nova Scotia at its Head Office, Halifax, at the General Manager's Office, Toronto, and at seven of the principal branches, and we have been duly furnished with certified returns from the remaining branches and with all information and explanations required by us. The Bank's investments and the other securities and cash on hand at the branches visited have been verified by us and they are in accordance with the books; and we certify that we have examined the foregoing general statement and that in our opinion it is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the Bank's affairs as at 31st December, 1910.

PRICE, WATERHOUSE & CO.
Toronto, January 12th, 1911. Chartered Accountants.

The Books and Annual Statements of the Bank have been submitted to independent audit annually, beginning 1906.

An Abiding Debt

We owe our best in life and death to the dearest objects in life, namely the wife and children. We cannot pay the debt without insuring our lives; because we run the risk of depriving them of the money value of our lives. Duty is a debt until it is done. A policy in the

Manufacturers Life Insurance Co.
is the best plan.

THOMAS MARK
GENERAL AGENT
The Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough Ontario

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.
Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited
Office corner George and Hunter Sts.
Both Phones 262
Yards 124 Robinson Street
East City
Both Phones 264

PETERBORO' PENNANTS 50c
J. J. TURNER & SONS
Corner George, King and Water Streets.
Both Phones Peterborough

Lots For Sale
—AND—
Houses to Rent
APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

COAL! COAL!

The Standard Anthracite
D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton
Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc
Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co
YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 66

East City
Coal and Wood Yard
MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East
Phone 96
All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.
COAL $7.50 PER TON
Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.
See our line of new and re-built wheels
Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE
390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 623

PERHAPS NOT YET—
BUT EVENTUALLY

McCORMICK'S JERSEY CREAM SODAS

Will have a permanent place on your daily menu. Quality will win. Serve at breakfast with bowl of hot milk and sugar—lunch with glass of milk and cheese—dinner with soup or in place of bread.

SICK HEADACHES AND NERVOUSNESS

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured Me.

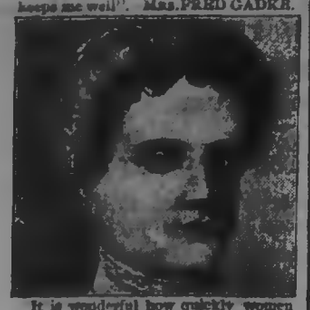
LAKELET, ONT., May 12th, 1910.

"It is my firm belief that every woman should take "Fruit-a-tives" if she wants to keep herself in good health.

Before taking "Fruit-a-tives", I was constantly troubled with what is commonly known as "Nerves" or severe Nervousness. This extreme Nervousness brought on the most violent attacks of Sick Headache, for which I was constantly taking Doctor's medicine.

Constipation was also a source of great trouble for which the Doctors said I would have to take medicine all my life" but "Fruit-a-tives" has banished these troubles and I am a well woman.

When I started taking "Fruit-a-tives", I took four at a time, but have reduced the dose so that it is only necessary for me to take one in a week, and that one "Fruit-a-tives" tablet every week keeps me well". MRS. FRED GADKE.



It is wonderful how quickly women get better when taking "Fruit-a-tives". These famous fruit tablets relieve headaches and tone up the whole nervous system. They regulate the bowels, strengthen the stomach, stimulate the appetite, and take away that pain in the back. Pale, weak, nervous women should always use "Fruit-a-tives".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store

Grand New

MILLINERY OPENING for the 17th

Ladies of Peterborough are invited to come in and inspect our Hats. The latest and most up-to-date styles from New York and Toronto. Chic, ready-to-wear and untrimmed Ladies' and Children's Hats for the coming season. You will be agreeably surprised when you see our display of most recherche Millinery. We have a thorough up-to-date Milliner, who can suit in any style you may require. Hand-made hats a specialty.

We have also the very latest styles in Ladies' and Gents' ready-to-wear Clothing. Ladies' New Spring Suits in all the newest and becoming shades and styles. All kinds of Skirts in the newest ideas. All House furnishings. See our windows.

CASH OR CREDIT

Why not dress well when you can on such easy terms? A small deposit and one dollar weekly will get you what you require for the Spring.

432 George St. Phone 567

Our Photos

Always please because the likeness is true, the finish perfect, the subject is naturally and effectively posed, and the work is mounted and put up in the very latest style.

Louis Mendels

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

Mylatef

This is the time to look over your Spring Wardrobe and have them put in shape. We do all kinds of cleaning, repairing and pressing, on ladies' or gent's garments. You will be surprised at the improvement.

2 STORES:

204 Charlotte Street, Bell 877 Mach. 387
137 Simcoe Street Phone 666

Edwin Elcome TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.

Peterboro n.h. Ontario

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.

Bell Phone 85 George Street

W.C.T.U. ITEMS OF INTEREST

The matter in this Department is supplied by the Peterborough Branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which has arranged for its publication.

UNTIL IT IS SETTLED RIGHT.

However the battle is needed,
Though proudly the victor comes
With fluttering flags and prancing nags
And echoing roll of drums;
Still Truth proclaims her motto
In letters of living light—
No question is ever settled
Until it is settled right.

Though the heel of the strong oppressor
May grind the weak in the dust,
And the voices of fame with one acclaim
May call him great and just;
Let those who applaud take warning
And keep this motto in sight—
No question is ever settled
Until it is settled right.

Let those who have failed take courage,
Though the enemy seems to have won,
Though his ranks are strong, if he be in the wrong
The battle is not yet done;
For sure as the morning follows
The darkest hour of the night,
No question is ever settled
Until it is settled right.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

An Effective Lesson.

A drunkard in New Orleans recently was saved from continuing his career of dissipation in a peculiar manner. The young man in question was of fine family, and had splendid gifts, but was going down as fast as it was possible for a man to go through strong drink. His friends had pleaded with him, but he had taken their warning as an insult. One day one of them who was a court stenographer determined to try a new tack with him. He was sitting at a restaurant one evening, when the young man in question came in with a companion, taking the table next to him and not seeing him. He was was just drunk enough to be talkative about his private affairs, and on the impulse of the moment the stenographer pulled out his note-book, and took a full shorthand report of every word he said. It was the usual maudlin folly of a young man with his brain muddled by drink, and included a number of highly candid details of the daily life—things which, when he was sober, he would as soon have thought of putting his hand in the fire as speaking about to a casual acquaintance. The next morning, the stenographer copied the whole thing neatly, and sent it round to his office. In less than ten minutes he came tearing with: "What is this, anyhow?" It's a stenographic report of your monologue at the restaurant last evening," his friend replied, and gave him a brief explanation. "Did I really talk like that?" he asked, faintly. "I assure you it is an absolute verbatim report," was the reply. He turned pale and walked out. He never drank another drop. There are many men who would cease, not only the sin of drunkenness, but other sins as well, if they could see themselves as other people see them.

WHAT ONE LOCAL OPTION COUNTY HAS DONE.

A single specimen of county prohibition is all that space will permit. With more than half the territory of the United Sates under some form of prohibition what can be said about Calhoun County, Michigan, can be matched by hundreds upon hundreds of counties in thirty local-option States. This county has been "dry" since May 1, 1909. At that time two breweries and about eighty saloons were forced to close their doors. Battle Creek, an enterprising city of 30,000 population; Albion, a college town of 6,000, and Marshall, the county seat, with over 3,500 population, are the principal centres in the county.

Industrial and moral conditions have greatly improved, business in all legitimate lines is better, retail merchants report increased sales and more prompt collections of accounts, crime has decreased, and taxes have not been advanced; while happiness and thrift mark many homes formerly under the shadow of want and misery.

The Honorable John W. Bailey, Mayor of Battle Creek, says: "It has been an entire success." The county sheriff says: "It is an immense success, morally and financially." The Honorable Walter N. North, Circuit Judge, enumerates the doleful prophecies made by the "wets" during the campaign, and adds: "None of these predictions have come true. Taxes are no higher. Business is good. The law is being rigidly enforced." Four-fifths of the merchants in the county report improved conditions due to banishing the saloon, and nobody but the former dealers in drink—and a fair proportion of their patrons—has a word to say against the "dry" regime. In Calhoun County prohibition prohibits.

The conclusion of the whole matter is:

That prohibitory laws are not more difficult of enforcement than other laws; that they are likely to be enforced wherever officials find a strong public sentiment in their favour: that such sentiment is on the increase and is likely to continue; and that, taking the country as a whole, prohibition is prohibiting as never before in all our history.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs . . . 25 cents

CREDIT

Makes a Hard Road EASY

WE SELL what we advertise without extra charge for CREDIT. Credit will serve you well HERE.

ECONOMY

says buy NOW and BUY HERE.

Open An Account Now

Get high grade Ladies' and Gents Clothing ready-to-wear for the Spring. Special Ladies' Suits, most up-to-date, all reduced prices for early buyers.

Ladies' Suits, reg. 35.00 for $27.80
Ladies' Suits, reg. 25.00 for 19.05
Ladies' Suits, reg. 18.00 for 12.50

All good tailored and all colours

New Line of Millinery

New line of Millinery will open for Spring. Come and pick out your Hat HERE.

All kinds of House Furnishings, Linoleums, Oilcloths, Squares, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains in best quality.

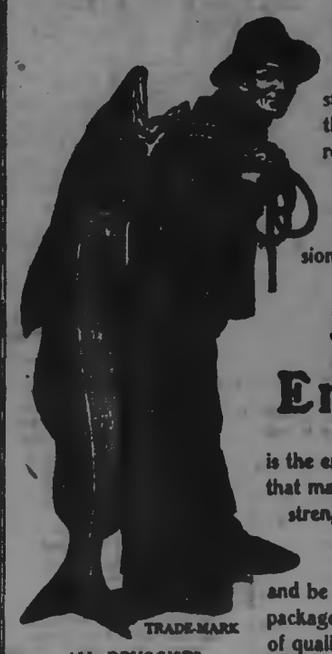
CASH OR CREDIT

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

The Best Credit Clothiers in City

163 CHARLOTTE STREET

BY THIS SIGN



you know that you are getting the one preparation that has stood the test for over thirty-five years and still remains the standard tonic-food-medicine, used and recommended by the medical profession the world over.

Scott's Emulsion

is the embodiment of elements that make for good health and strength. There are many emulsions but only one SCOTT'S—ask for it, and be sure that you get the package that carries the mark of quality—The Fisherman.

TRADE-MARK

ALL DRUGGISTS

THE CHILD AND THE MUD PUDDLES.

"Judge ye this rather, that no man put a stumbling-block in his brother's way, or an occasion of falling."

It is well to pray that the youth of the land may be dissuaded from patronizing the saloons, but it would be well to accompany that petition by a prayer that the saloons might be speedily removed altogether out of the way. A boy named Carl had a fancy for playing in the mud, a practise which was forbidden. Anxious to be a good boy, yet in a strait betwixt the two things of obedience and mud pies, Carl asked divine help in the premises. "Please, God," he prayed one night, "keep Carl from going into mud puddles any more." That did not seem ot quite cover the ground, or to be assurance enough, so presently the little fellow prayed. "And please, dear God, don't let there be any more mud puddles for Carl to get into." Childhood frequently goes to the root of matters. It is too bad to ask the Lord to do the harder thing of keeping society out of the saloons when he would much prefer to do the easier thing of keeping the saloons out of society.

March on, my soul, nor like a laggard stay,
March swiftly on, yet err not from the way
Where all the nobly wise of old have trod—
The path of faith made by the sons of God.
Follow the marks that they have set beside
The narrow, cloud-swept track, to be thy guide;
Follow and honour what the past has gained.
And forward still, that more may be attained.
Something to learn, and something to forget;
Hold fast the good and seek the better yet;
Press on, and prove the pilgrim-hope of youth—
That creeds are milestones on the road to Truth.

—Henry van Dyke.

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

(Continued from Friday)

X.

That Monday afternoon was an afternoon of disappointment for Barrett. Following their call at Cuyler's office, he and Winthrop had luncheon together, and then went to the office of the Seventh Avenue car-line to find the conductor who had taken Eleanor downtown from Fifty-fifth street a week previous.

They saw the Assistant Superintendent, who referred them to the starter, who, in turn, listened to them.

"Seems to be something funny about the case," he finally remarked. "You're the second party who's been here to-day looking for that conductor."

Barrett and Winthrop exchanged glances.

"What did the other party look like?" asked the painter.

"He was about medium height, and not very heavy, but had the build of a man in good condition for a fight," the starter replied. "Had a yellowish beard, too, and pink cheeks, like a girl."

"Did he find the conductor we're after?" Barrett demanded impetuously.

"Yep," said the starter. "Had a long talk with him, and paid him money, I reckon, for the conductor went off, and come back a while later fighting drunk."

"Where's the conductor now?" Winthrop interposed.

"Oh, I fired him an hour or so ago."

"And haven't you got his name or address?"

"No. He just tackled off somewhere or other. Haven't any idea where you'd find him."

The two visitors slowly walked away together, cudgelling their brains as to what their next move should be. At Forty-second street they stopped, and Winthrop, pulling out his watch, remarked:

"Tom, it's four o'clock. I'm going back to the studio to see Hambidge."

"All right, I'm finished, and I'll join you in time for dinner. I'm bound for a hot bath, and have some errands to do."

They parted, Winthrop boarding an uptown car, Barrett turning toward Fifth Avenue, where he purchased clothing, brushes, shoes, umbrella, and a travelling bag. He had come away from Van Studdiford's place, Bleak Rock, so hurriedly, Sunday afternoon, that he had not stopped long enough to gather any such personal belongings.

Hardly twenty-four hours had passed since he started on the wild ride over the Maine roads, back of that blooded mare; but they had been so crowded with events that he felt as if a month had gone by.

"Now," he said to himself, as he strode into a hotel to engage quarters for an indefinite sojourn, "I'll sit down and write a note to Mildred, and another to her mother. It's only common decency. . . . Besides," he reflected, "I might as well wait here for an hour before joining the other fellows. That car starter may have sent someone to follow me, and I don't want him to locate the studio. Winthrop and Hambidge will stay there until I come, anyhow."

He went up to his rooms, and sitting before a desk quickly penned two brief letters. After directing the envelopes and sealing them he sat quite still, leaning with one arm on the desk, while the picture of Miss Van Studdiford, with her nervous vivacity, dissolved from his mind, and in its place came firmly, calmly, indelibly, the girl his friend had painted.

There she was, standing out clearly, so close to him that he could almost touch her, so real, so truly alive, that he listened for her to speak. He knew that her voice, Eleanor Cuyler's voice, would be gentle, restful—it would have no shrill undertones, but a dignity, a sweetness, all its own.

He was very, very tired, and hungry, almost worn out. He would give anything to bathe, and sleep awhile. But not yet! The girl was missing, and must be found. The girl whom his friend loved; with whom, perchance, he was engaged for marriage. And Barrett had sworn to himself that he would find her. Later, perhaps, he could sleep, and sleep; but now haste must be made.

Then an idea struck him. He would telephone the others to dine with him here in the hotel; and while they were on the way he could have a delicious, refreshing plunge and shower.

Up he sprang from the desk, instantly alert, buoyant, full of energy, more than ever determined—and rang up Winthrop's studio.

Barrett had reserved a table in a secluded corner of the roof-garden, which surmounted the huge hotel, and there he and his friends seated themselves. All around them, at scores of other tables, were parties, mostly of business men unable to leave town this warm evening. In order to simulate a feeling of gaiety, an orchestra set the air vibrating with a succession of numbers from popular musical-plays. Under these conditions Barrett and his guests were able to talk without being interrupted and with no fear of being overheard. As they discussed the experiences at the car barn their hearts sank. The one definite source of information had escaped them.

Finally Hambidge spoke.

"If Miss Cuyler has gone away of her own volition," he declared, "she will sooner or later communicate with her family. If she has been injured, or is ill, the police or some hospital will immediately notify her nearest relatives."

"Therefore—" interposed Winthrop inquiringly.

"Therefore," the lawyer continued, "the chances all are that she is being detained against her will by some person or persons unknown, who are preventing her from communicating with her family."

"In other words," said Barrett, "in all probability Miss Cuyler has been kidnapped—abducted from a New York street-car at midnight—and is now kept captive?"

"Exactly," Hambidge replied. "and the first thing is to find the motive for Miss Cuyler's abduction: then the person or persons back of that motive."

"It isn't common robbery," Winthrop went on, "for when she left my studio she wore almost no jewelry excepting a watch, and two or three rings, and a locket."

"Speaking of a locket," Hambidge remarked, "I had a curious experience—"

"Oh, hang the curious experience!" Barrett broke in. "Beg your pardon, Bill—I don't mean to be impolite, but let's stick to this question of the motive. Here the whole day has gone by, and we haven't fairly got started on the search. . . . As Winthrop says, the motive wasn't robbery."

"And it wouldn't be the worst motive for abduction, either," the lawyer responded, willing to pass by his friend's interruption of the story he had been about to relate. "Girls who are abducted for that are either recently arrived immigrants of the peasant class who cannot speak the language, or restless, flighty young creatures lured from the back country towns. . . . No, that supposition is impossible, thank God."

"Thank God!" Winthrop murmured reverently.

Barrett said no word, but his forehead and face and muscular neck flared a blood red. The very suggestion for the worst of all facts brought murder to his eyes.

"And so," continued Hambidge, "we come down to the last remaining motive for the crime, which is probably ransom in some shape or kind. That means, also, that the abductors will use every care to prevent harm coming to Miss Cuyler. Only in the last extremity would this be disregarded. It is entirely possible, however, that if they found themselves in imminent danger of being captured, they might do something desperate."

"So our vigilance must be more than doubled!" Winthrop exclaimed. "We must find her, but must not let her captors know that we are searching?"

"Exactly," the lawyer assented.

"The motive for her abduction may be ransom," Barrett remarked, "but I hardly think so. A man of Mortimer Cuyler's granite will and inexorable purpose would not compound a crime."

"Even for the sake of Eleanor?" the painter ejaculated.

"Even for her sake," the other went on. "As I said once before, if Cuyler should pay money to have his daughter released and returned to him—no other woman could go about the city of New York in safety."

Silence fell on the group.

A waiter drew near with coffee and a tray of cigars, then noiselessly departed.

Winthrop roused himself with an effort.

"If the motive isn't money, what can it be? What sort of ransom?"

"It is revenge!" declared Barrett.

The lawyer glanced up quickly.

"What makes you suspect that?" he asked.

"Absolutely nothing. But it stands to reason that Miss Cuyler was stolen for some purpose, and that those who carried out the crime had planned it most carefully, as well as most audaciously — always presupposing that she has been abducted. Criminals of calibre desperate enough to steal her must know as well as we do that Mr. Cuyler would never under any circumstances submit to blackmail—call it ransom, reward, or what you will."

Hambidge nodded thoughtfully and turned to the p[illegible]

"What do you think, Sheldon?" he asked.

"I'm no lawyer; only an artist; and I do not pretend to be familiar with finance, business—with the world of action, as both of you are familiar. But I am confident that I know why Eleanor Cuyler was taken from that Seventh Avenue car or from wherever she was abducted. . . . It is a case of mistaken identity."

"By George!" Barrett ejaculated, bringing his great fist down on the table with a bang. "I believe you're right, after all!"

"I believe I am," Winthrop returned. "Her abductors were honestly searching for an insane patient closely resembling Eleanor, whose family had arranged to send her to a sanatorium, and who overheard the plans, and escaped from home—or some such thing."

"How about it, Billy?"

"It could easily happen," the lawyer replied.

"But—" continued Barrett, as another perplexing doubt flashed into his mind, "in that case she would be identified sooner or later, when relatives of the girl who is really insane called at the sanatorium to see her."

"Perhaps the officials would not want relatives to see the new patient for weeks or months," Hambidge suggested.

"Then our first line of work is cut out for us," Barrett remarked with his habitual decision. "We must make inquiries of all the sanatoriums within reach of the city—say within fifty miles, at first; in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Long Island'"

"And yet," the lawyer went on, "the sanatorium to which she was being taken might be located in Illinois, or Michigan, or any other State."

"It is getting late," Winthrop interposed wearily. "I don't believe we can do anything more to-night, excepting to think over the situation. . . . My head is in a whirl."

The others noted his pale, haggard face, and arose from the table.

"You're right," said Hambidge. "I'm going to my apartment to try and get some sleep."

"And I'll stop at the studio before turning in," the painter added. "There may be some message there."

"I'll walk along with you, as far as the studio building," Barrett concluded.

Hambidge left the others at the corner, and the two strolled up the broad, quiet avenue side by side. Block after block they went, speaking scarcely a word. The painter was in truth nearly exhausted by his three days of anxiety; and Barrett saw constantly before him the picture of that tall, lithe girl in brown and white, whose frank, open eyes looked directly into his.

Before them, and behind, rose row after row of tall buildings draped in gloom; endless rows. And down the side streets stretched others in each direction. Here and there a shop window, a restaurant, a saloon, a hotel, was ablaze with light; and over all, through all, trembled and moaned the thousand sighs and stifled wails of a city that tosses restlessly throughout the night hours but never slumbers, never sleeps.

Somewhere, thought Barrett, in this vast human ant-hill, was she whom his friend loved. Somewhere—perhaps in a building around the corner; perhaps in an East Side tenement; perhaps in a dark hole at the end of a labyrinth of torturous passages in Chinatown—she was kept captive. If she could be hidden anywhere on earth it would be in some secret chamber of this abiding place of three million human beings; not in a small city or village, where everyone knew everyone else and where each newcomer was discussed and gossiped over. And he realized, as did Wotsirb, the utter impossibility of carrying on a regular, systematic search, as long as they were prohibited from enlisting the assistance of police or private detectives.

Yet Winthrop might be right after all—it might be a case of mistaken identity; Eleanor might be confined in an asylum for the insane, as he had suggested. Others had been so confined. In fact, he remembered reading more than one deathbed confession which proved that men unjustly accused of murder itself had been tried, convicted, even executed—innocent persons suffering the extreme penalty, while the guilty had escaped, because of mistaken identity.

"I guess your idea is worth threshing out," he said to Winthrop as they paused in front of the studio building. "We must get a list of public asylums and private sanatoriums the first thing to-morrow."

"In one way it would be a great relief to know she is in an asylum. That would be much better than if she were locked up somewhere, tied fast like a prisoner—even manacled—"

"Oh, nonsense!" Barrett broke in. "Don't get to imagining such things. In all probability Miss Cuyler is now undergoing the novel experience of living in a private suite of rooms in some expensive sanitorium up in Westchester County, or out Connecticut way—one of those places where the very rich send unbalanced members of their families. They have every comfort and luxury one can think of, too. Elegant furnishings, cheerful surroundings, beautiful private parks, the best of servants, music in the evenings—frequently concerts by noted singers—and long drives through the country. It's not a bad way to spend one's vacation, I can tell you!" he concluded with assumed cheerfulness.

(To be continued)

RHEUMATINE

DELICATE BABIES NEED BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. H. L. Boone, Tay Mills, N.B., writes: "I think Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent remedy to keep in the house and I would not be without them. My baby was not exactly sick but was ver yelicate and I gave him the Tablets and they have made him strong and healthy." Such is the testimony of thousands of mothers. Baby's Own Tablets always do good—never harm. They can be given with absolute safety to the youngest child, as they are guaranteed by a government analyst to contain no harmful drugs. Never give baby "soothing" stuffs — that only dopes him. Give him a medicine that will set right on the root of his trouble. A medicine that will strengthen his stomach; regulate his bowels; sweeten the breath and make him bright, healthy and strong — such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are sold by medicine dealrs or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

Burn "Scoe" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

Daughters of Mrs. Emmott

Cured Awful Ringworm

"Well over four years ago my two little girls were taken with a dreadful scalp trouble that the doctors called ringworm. They attended the —— Hospital as out-patients for a year. I had to apply their ointment with a brush, giving the children frightful pain. I also had to have their heads shaved every two weeks, but they got no better under the treatment. They used to cry with the tormenting itching, and their heads were covered with a thick scurf and dandruff.

"About a year ago I determined to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used plenty of Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment. I used only about three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and they were cured. Their hair is growing long and nice again. They had become so ill after their three years of suffering that I had to send one away to a convalescents' home as soon as she was cured, but now she is home, well and strong. My younger girl was away from school nine months with the disease. I am very grateful to Cuticura and for their children's sake I hope other mothers will try it. The Cuticura Soap I will always use for it makes the hair so lovely."

(Signed) MRS. NORA EMMOTT,
36, Lena Gardens, Brook Green, W., London.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment

afford the speediest and most economical treatment for itching, burning, scaly rumors of infants, children and adults. A single set is often sufficient. Sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, U.S.A., for 32-page Cuticura Book on treatment of skin and scalp affections.

ARTIFICIAL LEGS

For half a century we have been making Artificial Limbs and have succeeded in perfecting these appliances until they almost equal nature.

Authors & Cox

Manufacturers of Trusses and Deformity Appliances

35 CHURCH ST., TORONTO

Coleman Bros

—For—

The BEST Baking Catering Ice Cream and Candies

426 George St.

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Papernangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address—

762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

Have you tried the "Want" Columns of The Examiner yet. Small ads., small price.

14 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 14

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY MARCH 18 1911

"GRAND" TO-NIGHT---"THE BOW-WOW MINSTRELS"---40--PEOPLE--40

SURPRISE IN TRIAL OF CAMORRA

Crown Prosecutor Secures Damaging Admissions From One of the Prisoners By Skilful Cross-Examination

KEPT HIM SEPARATE

Special to The Examiner :

VITERBO, ITALY, MARCH 18. — At the Camorrista trial to-day the crown prosecutor sprung a surprise when he summoned one prisoner from the cage and by an adroit cross examination, drew from him many admissions seriously implicating the witness and several other prominent prisoners in the cage with murders charged against them. After giving evidence the witness was kept separate from other prisoners for fear they would murder their traitorous colleagues Others may be called Tuesday, when the trial resumes.

ILL HEALTH CAUSED SUICIDE

Toronto Bank Clerk Goes Down Into Basement of Bank and Shoots Himself With Revolver

ACCOUNTS STRAIGHT

TORONTO, MARCH 18.—Despondent because of ill-health, W. Morton Kelly, aged 26, a clerk in the Bank of Montreal, here, walked down to the basement of the Bank, and shot himself dead with a 32 calibre revolver. His accounts are quite straight.

MAN KILLED IN FIRE

CHICAGO, MARCH 18.—One man was killed and three hundred cattle burned to death in a fire in the Union stock yards this morning.

DEADLOCK IS ENDED AT LAST

Saskatchewan Legislature Votes Supplies When Premier Said Dissolution Would Not Be Sought This Year.

SCOTT COLLAPSES

Special to the Examiner.

REGINA, SASK., MARCH 18—After three weeks' deadlock over the voters' lists, Premier Scott announced last night that dissolution would not be sought this year and supplies were voted. Scott has collapsed under the strain and will leave the province for his health immediately.

THREE SWALLOWS"

Sir John Power and Son's "Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey—Famous for over a century. Of highest standard of purity. Distillers to His Majesty the King.

GUILTY OF CRUELTY TO HIS WIFE

Montreal Judge Indignant Over Case and Would Have Condemned Him to Lash If It Had Been Possible.

GAVE NO SUPPORT

MONTREAL, MARCH 17.—"My only regret is that the complaint against you was not laid in such a way that it would be possible for me to condemn you to the lash." Such was the remark of Judge Lanctot this morning when Maxime Branchaud, who had been found guilty of cruelty to his wife and of non-support asked for clemency.

Branchaud arrived in Montreal from Cornwall six months ago with his wife and eight children, and, according to the evidence this morning made no effort whatever to support them. Dr. Pilon said that Branchaud, twelve days after the birth of a child, had beaten his wife into unconsciousness.

A MYSTERY IN THIS FATALITY

Superintendent of Chicago Gas, Light and Coke Company Found With Two Bullet Wounds in Body

WIFE CAN'T EXPLAIN

Special to The Examiner.

CHICAGO, ILL., MARCH 18.—John Schenck, supt. of the Gas, Light and Coke Co., was found dead in his home this morning with two bullet wounds in his body. His wife alone in the house with him, can give no coherent account to the police. They had some company in last night and the shooting occurred after the guests had departed.

Ladies! Take Miller's Compound Iron Pills if you would have nice, clear complexions. Wm. Madill.

OVERCOAT SAVED A MAN'S LIFE

Caught in the Cow-Catcher of the Engine When He Was Struck and Carried Him Until Train Stopped.

ESCAPED WITH BRUISE

KINGSTON, MARCH 17.—Alva James, traveller for the Kingston Milling Company, was severely injured yesterday morning near Coteau by being struck by a Grand Trunk train while driving across the tracks. Twice he narrowly escaped death by falling under the wheels. The fact that he wore a fur overcoat, which caught in the cow-catcher of the engine, saved him when he was struck, and then when his coat, which had been holding him up, gave way after supporting him for about 250 yards, the train had come to a stop. Two fractured ribs, several severe bruises, and a bad shaking up are his injuries. He was brought to Kingston and is now doing well.

PHILLIPS IS AGAIN FREE MAN

York Loan Examiner Sentenced to Four Year's Imprisonment Was Released at Kingston To-day

IN EXCELLENT HEALTH

Special Wire to the Examiner.

KINGSTON, MARCH 18.—Joseph Phillips, the examiner of the York Loan Savings Co., who was sentenced to four years' imprisonment, was released to-day, after three years and three months' confinement. He is in excellent health and spirits.

BIRTH.

MAHONEY—On Thursday, March 9, 1911, the wife of E. Mahoney, 508 Sherbrooke street, of a daughter.

FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE EXHIBITION SHOULD MEAN MUCH FOR THE ASSOCIATION

Last Night's Gathering Was Great Success in Spite of a Small Attendance of Business Men---Superintendent Will Recommend Change in Law in Regard to Loans to Agricultural Sociaties, Giving Local Exhibition a Chance for Permanent Grounds.

SOME SPLENDID ADDRESSES WERE GIVEN BY THE SPEAKERS

The first annual banquet of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition held last evening in the Hotel National, was a most gratifying success in every particular save one—there was not the attendance of business men of Peterborough that there should have been. The farmers of the surrounding district turned out splendidly and formed the greater part of the seventy who gathered around the festive board. Splendid addresses were given by Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, Superintendent of Fairs and Exhibitions, Dr. Simmons, of Frankford, the president of the Ontario Exhibitions and Fairs Association, Mr. Jas. Thompson, of Havelock, and local speakers. As a result of the banquet and a suggestion from Mr. Stratton, the Superintendent of Fairs will make a recommendation to the Government that the law in regard to loans to Agricultural Societies be amended to permit of loans up to $10,000 being made without appealing to the people which will give the local Exhibition a good chance to obtain the necessary assistance.

There were present Mr. R. H. Leary, president of the Exhibition, who acted as chairman, Mr. J. H. Garbutt, vice-president, Mr. J. Lockie Wilson of Toronto, Superintendent of Fairs and Exhibitions Association; Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., for West Peterborough; Mr. Jas. Thompson of Havelock, M.P.P. for East Peterborough; His Honour Judge Huycke, Messrs. Wm Collins, F. J. A. Hall secretary-treasurer of the Exhibition; H. C. Winch, Robert Farr, E. N. McWilliams, Peterborough; John Hanbidge, Otonabee; W. J. Porter, Otonabee; John E. Cowper, W. E. Conway, R. C. Kingan, Roland Deane, D. F. Drummond, W. Bennett, F. Ellis, W. C. Scott, J. A. Jobs, Bridgenorth; Jas Davidson, Thos. H. Graham, Smith; A. Armstrong, E. F. Mason, F. H. Dobbin, John Breen, H. Stewart, Chemsholme; S. A. Oke, R. N. Scott, Wm. Carter, John Chittick, S. Deyell, J. K. Moore, John Bennett North Monaghan, Bruce Johnston North Monaghan, W. T. Switzer, Dr. D. C. King, C. E. Moore, J. Gordon Mann, J. V. McGregor, Ed. M. Elliott County Treasurer; W. J. Cox, S. T. Milburn, G. A. Gillespie, president of the Board of Trade; Robert Cox, Robert Scott, Allan B. Mann, Wilbert A. Rosborough, Joe R. Mann, G. Noble Millburn, Arthur R. Fitzgerald, Wm. H. Pethick, Geo. E. Elliott, J. A. Story, R. J. Howden, Thos. Cruickshank, J. J. Turner, Sr., Geo. Simpson, Ald. Jas. B. Brown, Ald. Jos. R. Metheral, Frank Wise, Louis Yeates, G. E. Marsh, W. E. Thornton, Walter J. Oke, R. M. Glover, James Baptie.

An enjoyable repast, served in the customary excellent style of Mine Host Denison was done ample justice to while the pleasure of the occasion was increased by splendid music, furnished by the Halpany Orchestra.

The toast to "The King" was honoured in the usual hearty manner by the singing of the National Anthem.

The chairman, Mr. R. H. Leary, president of the Exhibition, in introducing the speakers of the evening, expressed his pleasure at seeing so many faces around the board, but regretted the absence of so many business men. It had been thought that such a banquet would be a good way to get the farmers of the district and the business men of the city working together for the good of the Exhibition. The Association had beautiful grounds but they were only under lease. The buildings were delapidated and in such a condition that it was not fair to ask business men to place expensive exhibits therein. A couple of years ago the Association had made a proposition to the City to the effect that if the Council would purchase the grounds the Exhibition Association would erect buildings at a cost of $10,000. The by-law had been submitted to the people, but owing to the difficulty of getting measures of this kind passed, where a vote equal to three-fifths of the total number on the roll was required, it was defeated. The Association had options on other grounds, in addition to those already in use. As conditions were now, every dollar spent on the buildings was a dollar wasted. If the Exhibition had proper grounds they would put up the proper buildings. They could begin with a four-day show and he was confident that in a very short time they would have a week's fair.

Mr. Lockie Wilson.

Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, Superintendent of Fairs and Exhibitions for the Ontario Government, was given a hearty reception when he arose to speak. He expressed his pleasure at being able to meet the farmers and business men of this section of the province. His department was trying to further the interests of the farmers of Ontario, and felt in so doing that they were furthering the interests of all other classes in the community. The great thing was to make the masses of the land prosperous, and this could be best accomplished by having the farmer and the mechanic and the professional man work in harmony, each in his own sphere doing what he could for the uplift of his fellowmen. It had been commented that there were not as many business men present as had been expected. He felt that the business men could have quite well spared an hour or two to meet with their fellows of the county to talk over matters that were of lasting benefit not only to the farmers but to the merchants. The city could not very well do without the farmers; the farmers on the other hand could not get along without the city. As superintendent of Fairs and Exhibitions he had noted with pleasure the forward march of the Peterborough Industrial. It might be said that city men say: "What have we to do with these agricultural exhibitions?" As shrewd business men, he thought, they should rally around the organization. The citizens of Toronto had come to realize what a great exhibition like the Canadian National meant. In the same way a good Exhibition would mean big things for Peterborough. It would prove the greatest advertisement Peterborough ever had. Peterborough was known now for its great lift-lock; the speaker thought it should also be famous for its great Exhibition. The business men were not looking at the matter in the proper light, or there would have been more of them present. It was possible to make a great exhibition here, there was no part of Ontario with better advantages. He had been informed that 13,000 people had passed through the gates of the Peterborough Industrial last year. That, in itself, was a splendid achievement, but how much more could be accomplished if the farmers and business men worked shoulder to shoulder in the matter? Peterborough County, with its enterprising citizens and farmers, its fine lands and stocks, could make the Exhibition an attraction for 40,000 or 50,000 instead of 13,000, if they worked hard enough. It was up to the business men to do their part; the farmers were doing their share. In the Field Crop competition the finest score in the whole Province of Ontario was made by the farmers of West Peterborough. He had been informed that a great number of the Board of Directors of the Peterborough Industrial were young men and he thought there could be no better recommendation. He felt that the young men should be interested, they were the people who would have to look after the destinies of the country. He referred to the great advantages that Toronto gained from the Canadian National Exhibition, and contended that Peterborough would gain similar advantages.

The speaker pointed out the necessity of the farmers adopting scientific methods of farming. Science and the farmer should go hand in hand. More brains were needed now to make a good farmer than to make a good doctor or lawyer, the speaker contended. He advised the young men before they made up their minds to forsake their native province to reflect carefully upon the many advantages that Ontario offered them.

(Continued on page 10.)

MR. R. H. LEARY,
President of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Who Was Chairman at Last Night's Banquet.

EGG A BIG ONE

Park Street Grocer Gets One That Weighs Over a Quarter of a Pound and Measures 8 Inches.

LOCAL HEN TOO

Mr. E. P. Jackson, the grocer at the corner of McDonnel and Park Sts., has come across an egg that he believes is a record breaker and furthermore it is a city hen that is responsible for the comment. The particular specimen in question weighs over a quarter of a pound and measures 8 inches in circumference one way and 6 3-4 the other. It was laid by a hen owned by Wm. Silk, McDonnel street, and will be on exhibition at Mr. Jackson's store for a few days.

WE PUBLICLY APOLOGIZE

if we have in any of our ads. said one word to offend your local school. We do not intend any offence. They are, for the greater part, doing good work. Their systems are usually good and their methods often even superior to many larger schools. We must, however, repeat and emphasize every statement ever made regarding our 30-day Syl-la-bic Shorthand, even though we do have to answer to the Courts for it. 2000 satisfied graduates stand ready if required to testify that with from 20 to 40 days at Moon College, 282-286 Yonge St., Toronto, they held good positions.

AN ADDRESS ON MISSIONS

The Luttrell Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the Park Street Baptist Church held a most delightful meeting last night at the parsonage. The President, Mrs. W. C. Riddiford, presided, and Miss Marion Kennedy gave a very interesting paper on missionary work. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Robert Wright's, Albert street, and will be of a social nature.

IF I HAD ECZEMA

I'd wash it away with the mild, soothing liquid, D. D. D. Relieves all kinds of skin trouble, cleansing away the impurities and clearing up the complexion as nothing else can. Yes, If I had any kind of skin trouble I'D USE D. D. D.

Write the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. P. E., 49 Colborne St., Toronto, and they will send you trial bottle free.

McDermid and Jury, druggist; also Payne's drug store.

GOING RAPIDLY

The tickets for the lecture by Rev. John McNeil in the Murary street Baptist church on Tuesday night next on "The Making of a Nation" are going very rapidly and the indications point to a full house hearing Mr. McNeil in his famous address.

Miller's Worm Powders cure all ailments of children like magic. Wm. Madill.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE GIVES A SPLENDID ADDRESS AT THE ENNISMORE CONCERT

Government Accepts Responsibility Which The Opposition Tries To Dodge

Special to The Examiner:

OTTAWA, MARCH 18.—The press despatches leaving the seat of Government seems to be founded upon the idea that the Government is in doubt as to the question of the adoption of the reciprocity agreement, and the reason assigned by those opposed is, that the Government are afraid to appeal to the country. The facts are, that the Government feel that they are taking advantage of a situation in the United States that will redound to the benefit of the farmers and all classes in Canada, and that they would have been blameworthy to an extent that would be almost criminal, if they had declined to accept the offer made by the United States, to have better trade relations in respect of the products of the farm and other natural products. The Government accepts the responsibility and they have submitted the agreement to Parliament. That it will be adopted by about the usual majority, there is no question of doubt. If it works out satisfactorily, as the Government expect it will do there is no doubt, that the Government will be sustained by a handsome majority in the country. If it will not work out satisfactorily, the Government must assume the responsibility of its adoption, which they are prepared to do, and which they are doing in pressing the agreement to vote in the House in contrast to the Opposition, which is resorting to every subterfuge to avoid declaring themselves on the subject.

The tactics of the Opposition are to endeavour to force the Government to go to the country, without giving the electors an opportunity of studying the subject and coming to a rational conclusion, based on an understanding of what the agreement really means. It would be the veriest nonsense for the Government to appeal to the country, without affording the country a chance of seeing the workings of the reciprocity agreement. The Government is not afraid to allow the people to decide, but can the people not decide better with a year, or two's trial? A judge never gives a case to the jury till the evidence is in, sifted and analyzed, and till he is sure that the jury understands the question submitted to them. This is the attitude of the Government, and perhaps there has been no question come before the Parliament of Canada of more importance to the commercial community and the whole population of Canada; and to appeal to the country before the question is rightly placed before them, is not the way that Sir Wilfrid is accustomed to presenting his case. The best thinking classes of the community are coming to the conclusion that the Government is acting wisely in taking advantage of present conditions.

SITUATION IN MEXICO IS NOW VERY SERIOUS

United States Lieutenant Brings Back Some Startling Information---Capital of Mexico is Filled With Disaffected Men and the Campaign There Will Be Bloody and Decisive.

Special to The Examiner.

EL PASO, TEX., MARCH 18.—A United States Army officer who rejoined his regiment here to-day after several months' sojourn among the Mexican brigands, brings authentic information that the situation threatening President Diaz is much more startling than was considered this side of the boundary line. The Mexican capital abounds in disaffected officials, some of whom have been arrested and sentenced to death or long imprisonment by the president. Plots and counter plots are rampant. If a revolution breaks out within the capital it will be a short, bloody and decisive one. Only the death of Diaz or his speedy abdication can save the country from disruption. The situation has changed greatly within the last few days. Madero and his insurrecto forces are gaining ground. Some large towns have been captured without resistance and he is pushing on toward the capital. In the meantime the United States' troops along the border are gradually increasing and preparing for instant movement.

ANTI-CIGARETTE MEETING IN ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

Mass meeting of the boys of the Sunday schools at 4.15 p.m. an anti-cigarette meeting under the auspices of the W.C.T.U.

Mass Meeting for Boys and Men at 4.15. Boy Scouts expected to attend in a body. A large attendance is expected, as the Sabbath Schools will close earlier than usual to allow the boys to attend the meeting in St. Andrews.

The musical part of the program is in charge of Mr Dewey, who requests all boys who sing to take seats in the choir gallery.

The following is the program:

Chairman—Rev. Mr. Biddiford.
Hymn—Onward Christian Soldiers.
Prayer.
Scripture Reading—Rev. Keith.
Recitation—"The Boys of To-day are the Men of To-morrow"—Palmer Wiley.
Short Address—Why a Scout Does not Smoke Cigarettes, by Howard Armstrong.
Barney.
Hymn—Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus.
Address—Mr Tate of J.M.C.A.
Address—By E. L. Goodall.
Hymn—Yield Not to Temptation.
Offering.
Benediction.

Hon. Chas. Murphy Was the Principal Speaker at the Concert Under Auspices of St. Martin's T. A. S.

A LITERARY TREAT

The concert in Ennismore last night, under the auspices of St. Martin's T. A. S., was the greatest literary treat that the township has ever had. Unfortunately, lack of space prevents a full account of the programme, but a detailed report will be given in the Examiner next week.

Hon. Chas. Murphy, the Secretary of State, was the principal speaker of the evening, and with him, on the platform, were Rev. P. J. McGuire, chairman of the evening; Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Messrs. D. O'Connell, Jas. Lynch, F. D. Kerr, J. C. Sullivan, James O'Brien, the members of the T. A. S. committee and the Township Council.

Hon. Mr. Murphy gave a splendid lecture on "A Ramble Through Ireland." The hall was crowded to the doors. During the evening an address of welcome was presented to Hon. Mr. Murphy by Mr. P. J. Scollard. A full report will be published next week.

DON'T SAY YOU'RE OLD

You only feel old.
Digestive organs are weak—don't assimilate food as they used to.
Other organs act more slowly and less effectually.
Blood is thin and sluggish.
Renewal of strength does not equal the wear and tear of your system.
That's what makes you feel old.
Nothing in the world will tone up and invigorate those weak, backsliding organs, make rich blood and create strength so quickly as Vinol.
Vinol is not a secret nostrum, simply the medicinal elements of the cods' livers, with the useless nauseating oil eliminated and tonic iron added. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not make you stronger, feel younger and give you an added interest in life. McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte street; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

INTO NEW PREMISES

Messrs. Maitland and Moore, proprietors of the Peterboro Roofing and Supply Co., have lately found their business so largely increased that it could not be properly handled in their recent premises at 163 Simcoe street, and more commodious quarters have been secured and are now fitted up and occupied by the firm at 344 Water street. With the better accommodation and convenient location, Messrs. Maitland and Moore will now be able to handle their trade much more expeditiously than ever. Several new lines of builders' supplies have lately been added, making their stock very complete in this respect.

They are now prepared for roofing contracts for the season, or to supply roofing material, metal ceilings, siding, &c., in large or small quantities.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending Jan. 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 379 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.50.
E. H. CLEVER, Managing Director.
Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

SATURDAY, MARCH 18, 1911

HEADING OFF "ANNEXATION."

President Taft, of the United States is quoted by the mouth loyalists as being behind a deliberate movement for the annexation of Canada to that country, and that reciprocity is his high trump card in the game. If this is so, the president is spoiling his chances. He has proposed a treaty between the United States and Great Britain to provide for the reference of all subjects that might lead to war, to an arbitration tribunal. Now the proposal to annex Canada would certainly lead to war; and no arbitration tribunal would endorse the annexation of Canada to the United States against her will and the will of Great Britain. Great Britain regards such a treaty as proposed with favour. But with the proposed naval estimate of $167,500,000, the Pacific outlook does not seem so promising. Not at first sight; but Britain's great naval expenditures are more directed against the possible hostile attitude of European nations, and with a view of maintaining naval supremacy in the interest of her trade and commerce, that seeks and frequents every sea. Canadian annexationist patriots are losing standing ground for their traitorous work.

THE INDUSTRIAL AND THE CITY.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition held its first annual banquet in the National Hotel last evening. The object of the occasion was to endeavour to get the most important of the agricultural community and the business men of the city together to talk over the situation in order to see if some means could not be adopted that would secure for the Agricultural Society, grounds that would enable the Association to build up an Exhibition worthy of the most important city, county and district, east of Toronto.

Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, of the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, and Superintendent of Agricultural Fairs, and Dr. Simmons, of Frankford, President of the Provincial Fair's Association, were present and addressed the gathering. Many of the most progressive farmers of the community were present, but the absence of the business community of Peterborough, with the exception of about half a dozen, indicated the deplorable lack of interest that was being taken in the matter by the citizens, and especially the business men, of Peterborough. If Peterborough is to go ahead, and if it is to become a centre of exhibition enterprise, as it is a centre of justice and county administration, the cooperation of the business men of Peterboorugh is indispensable. If farmers can drive miles and miles, and perhaps in some cases spend a night in the city, to show their interest in the matter, surely more of the business men of the town could have been present to show their willingness to cooperate and their sympathy with the object of the gathering. They are equally, if not more, interested in the success of the Exhibition then the farmers, who derive only an educative advantage from the success of the exhibition, whereas the merchants from the large influx of visitors to the town, derive a money advantage.

A properly conducted annual fall exhibition is as much to the advantage of Peterborough, proportionately to population, as the Industrial Exhibition of Canada is to the city of Toronto, and if Toronto for any reason had to give up its Industrial Exhibition, it would feel that the bottom was gone out of the city. It is to be regretted that more interest is not shown by the business men of Peterborough in the furtherance of the movement, which can only be carried out successfully by the cooperation of the county and the city. The City Council of Peterborough might interest themselves in some things of less importance to Peterborough than the success of the Agricultural Exhibition, and those of the aldermen who were present at last night's banquet, showed an interest in the affair which might with advantage be transferred to the whole Council and made the basis of some policy in regard to the Exhibition, that would be to the benefit of Peterborough. The City Council of Toronto takes a practical interest, and assumes large financial responsibility in promoting the success of the Canadian National; and this cooperation b ythe city authorities is one of the elements that have contributed to making this exhibition unique of its kind and head and shoulders above any similar exhibition in the world.

A FALSE ALARM.

Among the reasons advanced against reciprocity by interested opponents is that involved in the assertion that free exchange of agricultural products will divert the line of railway traffic from east and west to south and north, turn the course of export products of the Canadian west through the United States and kill our transcontinental railway lines in which Canadian and British capital has invested so much money. This assertion is made in cheerful disregard of the fact that the rail route from the Canadian west through the United States to the seaboard is about 700 miles longer than that by the Canadian railways. But a little thing like this does not daunt the prophets of evil. They stick to their story, though fact and inference are directly against their contention. Fortunately few thinking persons believe them, which is not surprising, for they do not believe themselves.

Sir William Van Horne on his return from Cuba, where he was looking after his investments of money, made in Canada and exported to build up a foreign country, said the reciprocity agreement was such a vile thing that it made him sick to think of it. Does he believe that reciprocity is going to ruin Canada and landslide the C. P. R. into bankruptcy? He can't believe it in face of the fact that moneyed men and financiers and dealers in stocks think it will benefit the C.P. R. If there was anything in the yarn of ruin of our railways by reciprocity, C.P.R. stock would slump to two figures. Instead of that, from the time that Mr. Fielding announced the details of the reciprocity agreement, C. P.R. stock has been on the rise. It has soared from 209 on Jan. 25th to 218 3-4 in New York on Wednesday, March 15th. Does that look like ruin, like the reduction of the C. P. R. to two transcontinental streaks of rust?

No other financiers and railway men believe the blue ruin stories? Mackenzie and Mann are not frightened at the bogey. They announced yesterday that this year they would spend about fourteen millions in building new railway lines in the Canadian west. Do they believe that reciprocity will kill Canada, destroy the carrying trade and ruin their railways?

Do British financiers believe that reciprocity will destroy or even injure Canada. No; three British financiers, after making inquiries as to the prospects of development in Canada have arranged heavy investments in city real estate and Ontario farm lands.

The people that tell these stories of ruin don't believe them themselves; for the facts, which they know better than anybody else, contradict them. They have some interest in making these exaggerated statements, either economic or personal.

Let the people, read the agreement and think out the matter for themselves, and not swallow the the ready-made opinions of those having "an axe to grind."

THE TEACHER FAMINE.

(London Advertiser.)

The scarcity of teachers is felt in every portion of the province. It is quite the most acute question in provincial politics, and one which the supporters of the Government would avoid if they could Mr. Phill Bowyer, M. P. P., bravely faced it before the East Kent Conservative Association. He ascribed the trouble wholly to the lure of the west. The west has been always a strong attraction, and not more so now than a few years ago when the salaries in Ontario ranged much lower. The tact is that the teaching profession is not being recruited in Ontario as freely as in the past, because of the abolition of the Model schools and the financial impoitments of a Normal school course.

Mr. Bowyer proposed to stop the exodus of teachers to the west by withholding from Normal school graduates their certificates of qualification until they had taught in Ontario for two years. This plan might have been suggested by the provincial sawlog policy, but an embargo on Ontario teachers would not be as practicable as an embargo on Ontario sawlogs. If a teacher completed a Normal school course the nonpossession of a piece of parchment would count for nothing in the estimation of western school boards. As the Ontario department of education cannot check the outflow of teachers it must do something to increase the inflow into the profession. The present system has had the contrary effect so far.

There is one other possible cause to be added to those given above for the scarcity of teachers in Ontario. And for that the school trustees of Ontario are largely responsible. It is the inadequate salaries paid to teachers. It can hardly be expected that a teacher who devotes years of study to prepare himself or herself and in the process spends both time and money will be satisfied with a salary much less than unskilled labour or less expensively qualified callings can command. The Canadian west gets Ontario teachers because it is willing to pay the price.

A New Head In 30 Minutes
Exchange that aching, throbbing, suffering, wrabbed head for a clear, cool, comfortable one by taking a
NA-DRU-CO Headache Wafer
25c. a box at your druggists' or by mail from National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal.

Porcupine Gold Mines Co.
(VIPOND)
A producing mine. We still advise its purchase at present market price. Second bar of gold shipped this week. Write, wire or phone for full particulars. :: ::
GORMALY TILT & CO.
MEMBERS STANDARD STOCK EXCHANGE
Long Distance Phone, Main 7505 32-34 Adelaide St. East, TORONTO

DOME GROUP You cannot get any shares in the Dome Mines. The next best and cheapest stock in the market to-day is the Dome Extension, with 200 acres and a low capitalization. We have only a small quantity for sale. Hold your Preston East Dome shares.
A. T. COLE COLE & SMITH W. E. SMITH
Members Dominion Stock Exchange 402 LUMSDEN BLDG., TORONTO

WHERE THE CONSUMER COMES IN UNDER RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT

The Toronto workingman asks The Globe the very priper and reasonable question: "How will the reciprocity agreement beenfit me? Will bread or meat be any cheaper in Toronto?" He adds: "That this agreement will benefit the farmer, I can easily see, as it will open up a new market for his produce. Cold storage and fast steamers have helped him to get into the British market, but, as every thinking man will agree, that has raised prices on the local market."

The question, it will be observed, affects only the actual cost of foodstuffs. It might be stated that the Toronto workingmen depend very largely on the farmers of Ontario and the west for a market for the implements, stoves, pianos, furniture, and other articles they manufacture, and that whatever makes the farmer more prosperous will give the town-dweller steadier work and the possibility of better wages.

An answer of that sort, however, would be in some measure an evasion of the question, "Will bread or meat be any cheaper in Toronto?" Bread should be a little bit cheaper if the various agencies standing between the grower of wheat and the consumer of bread do not combine to prevent it. The agreement takes ten cents per barrel off the duty on flour and lessens to that extent the protection of the Canadian miller. At present, like all others who benefit by protection, the miller gets under normal conditions a higher price for his flour today in the home market than he does after shipping it across the ocean to Liverpool. Mr. Roderick MacKenzie of the Manitoba Grain-growers' Associat says that the wholesale price of flour in Winnipeg at present is about $2.95 per 100 pounds. The wholesale price of the same grade of flour at Manchester, England, and Glasgow, the home of the two co-operative wholesale societies of Great Britain, is 28s. 6d. a sack of 280 pounds, or $2.50 per 100 pounds. The cost of taking the flour from Winnipeg to Manchester, England, or Glasgow, Scotland, is about 50 cents per 100 pounds and the result of this is that the agent of the British co-operative society can buy flour f.o.b. cars Winnipeg for about $2 per 100 pounds, while the local merchants in Winnipeg has to pay about $2.90 for the same grade. But when the flour is retailed in small quantities, such as the poorer people are compelled to buy, the differen in favour of the Englishman is ve much greater For instance, the pri of a seven-pound sack in Toronto is 30 cents, or at the rate of $4.28 per 100 pounds. At Winnipeg it is 20 cents, or at the rate of $5 for 100 pounds. The price of a seven-pound sack in Manchester, England, for the same grade of flour is 11 pence, or 22 cents, which is at the rate of $3.14 per 100 pounds.

These statements by a recognized authority indicate that the Canadian millers and retailers of flour are taking full advantage of their protection; and that the reduction of that protection from 60 cents per barrel to 50 should lessen to that amount the cost of flour, even though the millers have to pay a somewhat higher price for their wheat in competition with wheat buyers from the United States.

Whether wheat will be dearer or cheaper in Toronto under reciprocity is something that only the seventh son of a seventh son could at a moment say. At the first glance it would appear that if the farmers are going to get higher prices for hogs and lambs and cattle in Buffalo than in Toronto meat prices here must go up. But as a matter of fact meat prices have very little to do with the prices of live animals. An officer of the Massachusetts Bureau of Industry discovered last year that the meat retailer gets more than twice as much for cutting up and selling a bullock in Toronto as he does in Detroit.

It is freely asserted that even when cattle and lambs are worth more in Buffalo than in Toronto the retail price of meat is lower in Buffalo than in Toronto. The agricultural editor of The Globe has tried to get at the facts by a careful comparison of the grade of animals on the Buffalo and Toronto markets, and of the meats displayed in Buffalo and Toronto shops. It is his opinion that, grade for grade, cattle prices are at present somewhat higher in Toronto than in Buffalo, and that meat in Buffalo, grade for grade, is somewhat higher in price than in Toronto. The difference in price, however, is very slight, and at certain seasons lambs from the other side are on sale in Canadian shops despite the addition of duty and freight. On the whole, it would seem that the removal of the duty in live animals crossing the border both ways will not greatly affect the price of meats. If we are to put credence in the statements of the packers, the material reduction in the duties on pork especially will lessen the price and open the market to American competition in dead meats.

The removal of the absurd regulations surrounding the marketing of farm products in the city would probably do more to reduce food prices in Toronto than any other cause. Retailers and middlemen's agreements as to prices and the civic regulations that hemper the farmer at every turn are more potent influences in the fixing of food prices than tariffs in a country like ours that exports a large part of its production of foodstuffs. It would be absurd to suggest that the price of foodstuffs grown on the farms around Toronto will be lowered materially at present, no matter what tariff changes are made. Canada is extremely prosperous, and the farmer is profiting by that prosperity, like all other classes of the community.

In looking at the question in the large, however, it must be remembered that Canada by the proposed changes takes off Customs duties amounting to almost two million dollars, and that the bulk of these duties are now levied on foodstuffs. To that extent the cost of living should be lessened directly even more by the removal of the barriers that now, prevent trade from following natural channels on both sides of the border. Some of the items on which the Toronto consumer should benefit at various seasons of the year are as follows: Lard, duty remitted $81,867; pork, duty remitted $66,751; fresh mutton and lamb, duty remitted $12,543; cereal foods, duty remitted $15,901; sheep and lambs, duty remitted, $42,873, fresh vegetables, duty remitted, $195,602; potatoes, duty remitted, $43,045; peaches, duty remitted, $47,970; berries, duty remitted, $50,071; grapes ,duty remitted, $42,750; cranberries, duty remitted, $22,938; plums, duty remitted, $20,858; dried apples and other fruits, duty remitted, $60,502, halibut, duty remitted, $11,521; oysters, duty remitted, $42,188.

These are a few of the remissions of taxation on foodstuffs by Canada. They indicate that a very real effort has been made on this side of the border, as on the other, to lessen the cost of living, while giving the food producers the advantages that come from free access to their natural markets. The Globe believes that under the new conditions by the wiping out of tariff and tran-portation handicaps the actual producer of foodstuffs will in the aggregate get more for his product, while the actual consumer will have to pay less, and if Toronto workingmen will sit down and figure that out they will get at the source of much of the opposition to the agreement.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c. at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.
DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

The Dennistoun Property

We have received exclusive sale of the R. M. Dennistoun property, with frontage on George and Water streets. This is an opportunity for intending builders to secure good lots in fine locations at very Moderate Prices. Also double house on Aylmer street bringing in a rental of about $40.00 per month. This will go cheap. Four Lots on the west side of the city at quick sale prices.

As Mr. Dennistoun is now permanently located in Winnipeg all of the above property will be sold at prices that should insure quick sale.

CALL AT OUR OFFICE, we will be glad to give all information regarding the above property.

Easy Terms can be Arranged on Any of the Above Property

A. BROWN & CO.
PHONE 126 406 GEORGE ST.

LOST

LOST — SATURDAY LAST BETWEEN Smith and Hunter Streets, a walking stick with initials (J.K.). Finder leave at Examiner. 2d-65-4360

LOST—A WEEK OR MORE AGO, A SET of amber Rosary beads, thought to be on the local or near the C.P.R. station. Finder please leave at this office. 1d-66-4349

LOST—OR POISONED ON TUESDAY large brown short haired dog, new collar with two tags attached, answers to Plato. Would anyone knowing anything about him please communicate with W. A. Bryden, 175 Rubidge St. and receive reward. 3d61-4335

WORK WANTED

WANTED—WASHING, ROUGH DRY, Preferred or work wanted evenings, leave address at Examiner Office. 3d-65-4361

EDUCATIONAL

STATION AGENT'S COURSE OUTLINED and illustrated in New Booklet. Write for it. Central Telegraph and Railroad School, Yonge and Gerrard Streets, Toronto. William Shaw, President. d-t.t.s.-Mar. 31

AGENTS WANTED

WANTED—AGENT FOR PETERBOROUGH County, excellent thing, big money. Room 16, Montgomery Hotel 3d-64-4319

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR THE BEST PREMIUM proposition in Canada, one that appeals to everyone, apply to Sellery Advertising Dept., 128 Albert St., Ottawa. d6mon28-3694

WANTED

WANTED—TO RENT NEAR PUBLIC LIBRARY, modern 9 or 10 roomed house. Apply 283 Stewart Street. 3d-64-4331

WANTED—AN UNFURNISHED ROOM with board for married couple. All conveniences and central location. Apply Box 4321, Examiner Office. 3d-64-4321

WANTED — A PERMANENT BOARDING place, south of Hunter Street and central for young lady and father. One preferred with accommodation for third boarder. Please address Box 4364 Examiner stating rates and conveniences. 1d66-4364

SITUATIONS VACANT

LIVE MAN OR WOMAN WANTED FOR work at home, paying $2.00 to $5.00 per day with opportunity to advance. Spare time can be used. Work not difficult and requires no experience. Winston Limited, Spadina Avenue, Toronto. 12d-37-3918

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1739, Lockport N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Heacock, B 1638, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 139

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.
208 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

PROPERTY FOR SALE
AT SHEMONG PARK
The Island and Large Cottage formerly known as The Club Boat House

This is one of the most Ideal Summer homes in the Kawartha Lakes beautifully situated on the only island in the lake. Contains five large bedrooms, spacious dining room, living room, kitchen, store rooms and, pantry. Wide verandas on both stories. Large open fireplace, &c. The house is furnished complete with beds, bedding, cutlery, cooking utensils, stoves, piano, tools and everything required in a summer home. In connection there is an ice house filled for next season, supply of wood, etc., good boathouse and boats. A substantial bridge 200 feet long connects it with the shore.

The whole will be sold as a going concern. Apply to

W. J. Hopwood.
4d-64-4340 Corner Water & Simcoe Sts.

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,
d-tf On the Premises

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED, APPLY Examiner.

WANTED—KITCHEN PORTER FOR National Hotel. 3d-63-4305

WANTED—BY YOUNG LADY, FURNISHED room without board. Apply Box 4337, Examiner. 3d-65-4337

WANTED — EXPERIENCED SALESMAN for our staple Department. Richard Hall & Son, Ltd. 4d-62-4304

WANTED—YOUNG MAN TO HANDLE high-grade tailoring agency in this locality, State experience. Good proposition to live man. Apply to Wm. McLeod, 665 Spadina Ave., Toronto. 2d-8765-4356

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET Apply Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. d1f-34

FURNISHED ROOM, SUITABLE FOR TWO young men, all conveniences, 336 Reid Street. 3d-64-4323

TO RENT, MODERN HOUSE, 129 RUBIDGE Street. Also Market Garden. Apply 161 Hunter Street or Phone 1281. dtf-55-4195

TO RENT—House No. 344 Rubidge St. Hot Water heating and all modern improvements. Possession 15th March. Apply 437 George Street. d-tf-46.

TO RENT—SMALL HOUSE FITTED WITH electric light. The house is centrally located and has a good garden for vegetables. For particulars apply 183 Antrim Street. d-tf-57-4221

FLAT TO RENT.—Flat of seven rooms with all conveniences, suitable for roomers, cor. Aylmer and Charlotte streets, very central. Apply Dr. Robinson's Livery, Charlotte street. 3d-62-4289

TO RENT—Store and Upper Floor in Grand Opera House Block. Would make first-class Music Store or any other suitable business. Also a good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator. Cor. McDonald & Aylmer Sts. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Awning & Tent Manufacturers, George Street, Peterborough. d-tf-46-4063

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—GOOD GIRL, Small family. Apply 635 Water St.

WANTED — EXPERIENCED WAIST AND Skirt hand. Apply Miss McManus, 206 1-2 Charlotte Street. 2d-65-4348

WANTED—A YOUNG GIRL FOR LIGHT housework. Apply 596 George Street. 2d-64-4332

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected. Parties arriving March 13th, 20th, and April 2nd. Apply now, The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal, or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. 1md-56-4190

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—THREE PIECES OF PARLOR suite, apply 493 Aylmer Street. 3d-65-4367

FOR SALE—HOUSE, 309 PEARL AVE., also vacant lot adjoining. dtf-18-3670

GIRLS WHITE LAWN DRESS AGE TWO to eight, postpaid 30c. Standard Garment Co., London, Ont. 1d-65-4332

FOR SALE—AT ONCE, BRICK HOUSE, conveniences, apply 59 Aylmer Street. 12d-59-4236

FOR SALE — A NORTHEY STEAM PUMP. Size of connections ½ inch. Apply to G. A. Gillespie, Simcoe street. d11wtf

FOR SALE—COOK STOVE AND OTHER articles of furniture Appy 175 Douro Street. 2d-64-4327

FOR SALE—TWO BEDS, TWO STOVES and a few other articles of household furniture. Apply 60 James St. 4d-62-4288

FOR SALE—GOOD BRICK HOUSE ON double lot, new stable also hen-house, centrally located, cheap. Apply Box 4356, Examiner. 1d65 1w12-4355

FOR SALE—SOLID BRICK TEN ROOMED house, hot water heating, modern conveniences, exceptional residential location, cor. Weller & Walton. Apply 529 Weller St 3d-1w6-63-4315

FOR SALE — THE RESIDENCE OF THE late Dr. Grey, No. 395 Shrubrooke street All improvements Hot water heating; good barn. Apply H. O. Stabler, 260 Water street. 459

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE — A CASH Register, in good condition, registering from 5 cents to $3.00; or will exchange for one registering from 1 cent up. Can be seen at the Examiner Office. tf495

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 194 Rubidge street 4d-1w-4m

FOR SALE—C. CLARIONET A CASE, $15; violin and case, worth $25 will sell for $10.00; 4 by 5 plate camera, complete with Tripod and Carrying case (leather) $10. set of "World's Greatest Literature," 61 volumes, new, cost $36, will sell for $20. address Box 4339, Examiner 3d-wed-65-4339

Chanberlin Metal Weather Strip
will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.
Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting, Decorating Kalsomining
Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.
Further Particulars From
J. H. VANCE
773 Aylmer St. Phone 189

NOTICE TO
Builders and Workmen
With a view to Meeting the Demands for Houses Suitable for the Average Mechanic
J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
Submit the following proposition to the Builders and Working Men of Peterboro. We will supply a Builder with a choice lot within 12 minutes walk of the C.G.E., the Shovel Works or the Cordage Factory at a maximum price of $150, lot to be paid for when a house constructed thereon has been sold. No interest or taxes for a period of one year provided house is not sold or rented within that time.
Any boy, girl, man or woman, can secure a choice lot in this section for $150 on terms of $10 cash and $5 per month.
For further particulars apply to
J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter St. Phone 376

LAMEY & COSTELLO
Real Estate Brokers
631 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.
Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

WORKING PEOPLE
SHOULD OWN THEIR HOMES
With Garden and Fruit, Large or Small
It gives pleasant and profitable employment during spare time and saves many dollars for other necessities
The rent, sober, honest and industrious people are paying will buy a home for you on my easy terms, as it has done for others now comfortably settled in homes of their own, of which they are particularly proud and some can already show their deeds including a lone widow, while many more pretentious can only show rent receipts. Come in and let me explain my easy plan
Large and small garden and fruit lots for sale or to rent.
T. HURLEY
282 Hunter St., Peterboro
Bell Phone

A GOOD INVESTMENT
A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 25 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit-sharing stock in this company par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now, earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.
National Securities Corporation, Limited
Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

HOUSE For Sale
An up-to-date BRICK HOUSE with all conveniences, water, gas, electric light & furnace, situated in the west end of the city. Lot, fifty foot frontage with lane at rear. A very fine property. Particulars at Examiner Office :: ::
1md57-4289

DO YOU NEED A TYPEWRITER?
We are in a position to furnish you with Any Standard make of typewriter.
Machines bought, sold or exchanged.
Old machines taken on account.
Typewriters rented.
Peterborough Typewriter and Supply Co'y
159 SIMCOE PHONE 655

Millinery Opening

Friday and Saturday March 17th and 18th

The sun with the wonderful powers of its alchemy, first brings out upon the earth a beautiful background of green, and then with gorgeous and harmonious tints, paints a picture that the hand of man has never yet been able to equal. The greatest artist is the one who comes nearest to nature.

To be a successful milliner, you require the artistic frame of mind, not only harmony of colors and shades, but also the tout ensemble de poise. The face, figure and poise have all to be considered.

Almost anyone can put a hat together; but my, what a difference. How often you hear, "How Is It That Mrs. So and So Always Looks So Distinguished"? This is where the real artist of millinery comes in. We have a millinery artist who has made a rare success of her work. She loves her work as only an artist can, and has a true artist's perception of its possibilities. Don't spoil your costume with an ordinary hat when you can get the artistic effect at no greater cost.

Two Days, Mar. 17 and 18. Miss Noble, Head Milliner

On Friday and Saturday we will exhibit as usual all the new styles, but Saturday Evening will be more particularly set aside for those ladies whose engagements prevent them from coming during the day.

Second Ready-to-wear Opening March 17th and 18th

Many new styles have been opened out since last week including a larger variety of Spring Suits, Dresses, Tailored Blouses, etc.

We make suits a specialty—we will make them to your measure or alter them to suit your figure. We excel in fitting.

MRS. RUSSELL IN CHARGE

When shopping don't fail to take home one of our New Irish Songs for the 17th

ELLIOT'S

SERMON FROM SHAKESPEARE

(Copr. 1909 by Bradley-Garretson Co. Ltd.)

The gods are just, and of our pleasant vices,
Make instruments to scourge us.
King Lear, Act. V., Sc. 3.

The instrument that the gods used to scourge the Earl of Gloucester in the drama of "King Lear" was his illegitimate son Edmund. The poor old noble was deprived of his estates, his eyes were brutally torn out, and he was driven forth into a bitter winter world to "smell his way to Dover." In the opening scene of the drama Gloucester is introduced to the audience flippantly commenting on the follies of his youth. He was an unrepentant sinner. He had sown the wind and he reaped the whirlwind; he had given way to passion in his youth and the offspring of his lust was to be the scourge of his old age. This is an extreme instance of the possibility of sin returning to destroy the sinner; but in a thousand ways the truth of the statement that

"Our pleasant vices
Make instruments to scourge us,"

is proved in life.

The commonest vice of humanity is idleness; by idleness is meant refraining from the ordinary work of the world, living in sloth or pleasure when the voice of duty is demanding that the energies should be directed toward producing or preserving what has already been produced. It is pleasant to most natures to refrain from work. Scratch the man and under the skin you find the animal. Sunlight and cool water, sleep and food content the majority. Visions of the Garden of Eden, where work was unknown, where man had not to earn his bread by the sweat of his face, is the delight of the multitude. But the man was created for work. His brain is a complicated and delicate conceiving instrument; his hands are tools constructed to enable him to conquer the elements. If brain and hand lie idle man will find himself in old age thrown into a forgotten corner; neglect and poverty will scourge him. It is often wondered why the Indians of the North American continent never attained civilization. Idleness was the cause. Animal enjoyments were their sole delights. Like the bears and wolves of their forests and plains it was with them a feast or a famine. They took no thought for the morrow, and they were scourged and are being scourged by their idleness. Individual instances of red men who have, through their energy, risen to positions of prominence show what the Indians might have become as a race had they, in useful constructive work, persistently put forth the brain and energy that they occasionally displayed in their destructive wars. The gods are just; they deserve no better fate than to be plucked up as human weeds to give place to the white race which has learned the need of work.

Gluttony is a pleasant vice practised by many. Unwise feeding lowers the soul's life; for "high thinking" there must be "plain living." Like idleness gluttony tends to degrade man to the animals. The body and mind usually develop harmoniously, and in a gross body a coarse mind is apt to be found. But the pleasant vice carries its own scourge; half the ills that flesh is heir to are directly due to unwise eating and over-eating. This is an age of patent medicines; the quacks thrive on the fools.

Indulgence in strong drink is another common pleasant vice. By subduing the will intoxicants give loose rein to the imagination. Under their influence men are oblivious to the ills of existence. Sorrows are drowned in the wine cup, misfortunes are forgotten in the flowing bowl. Strong drink is the falsest of cures for the evils of life. Its effect is not lasting and the reaction leaves the latter state of the individual worse than the former. It seems a pleasant servant, but it becomes a relentless master. In time it undermines the will and wrecks the body. The brand of Cain, what was that? A special mark by which the murderer of his brother could be known. On every drunkard there is a brand of Cain, mind and body are stamped with the vice. The excessive use of liquor is in the first place delightful to the palate; it stimulates the blood and exalts the imagination; in the end, if its practice be continued, it saps the physical strength and degrades the mind. It is a veritable scourge lashing individuals and communities.

In "Timon of Athens" there is an excellent example of the pleasant vice proving a scourge. Timon was a spendthrift; he was blessed with wealth, but he abused it. He denied himself nothing; he gave to every flatterer with a lavish hand. The spendthrift is a pleasantly vicious individual, and is a favourite while his money lasts. In the end he is scourged by the neglect and scorn of those he favoured. Poverty, all the harder to bear because he has known affluence, is the scourge o fthe spendthrift's closing years.

In the case of the man who allows his passion to control him, of the idle man, of the glutton, of the drunkard, of the spendthrift, their pleasant vices prove in the end to be avenging scourges for their waste, their neglect their sin,—and who will call the gods unjust?

THE FAMILY HEARTH

A cheerful word or smile will fill your fireside with pleasantness, rekindle the fires of love in your wife's bosom and brighten the hopes and aspirations of your children. Cheerfulness is better than doctor's medicine, and a cheerful home is an earthly heaven.

Let the sunshine into the gloomy rooms, have a couch to lie on, a piano to play on; in fact, a home to live in; and wherein a sense of hospitality and good cheer exudes from the very table and chairs, instead of a mausoleum of glooiny elegance, wherein every thing is for show and nothing to be used.

The gleeful life of happy children is the best home music and the graceful figures of childhood are the best statuary. We are all kings and queens in the cradle. A home without a child! It is like a lantern without a candle; a garden and no flowers; a vine and no grapes; a brook and no water gurgling and gushing in its channel.

Home should be just one blaze of sunshine. But it can not be while some member of the family circle is snapping and fault-finding and selfish. Do people ever go more deliberately and insanely at work to make themselves miserable than they do when they deliberately cloud the lights of the only place on earth where they have any reason to expect anything like perfect quiet and happiness?

Cultivate a cheerful disposition. Do not wrap up all your interest, all your thoughts and ambition in self. Seek to please those with whom you associate, and above all strive to lighten the burdens and hours of the ones at home who call you husband, father, or brother. Whatever be your disappointment or how heavy the cross you bear, do not go over the threshold of your home with a sullen cheerless countenance.

Who but women—when Judas betrayed, and Peter denied, and the weary slept, and the fearful fled—could summon energy to linger around [illegible] of pity, and the blood of suffering? Who but a woman, when man turned coward, and his trust grew faint, could stand until the last by the dying Saviour, and then go to trim the lamp of her devotion at the door of the sepulchre.

Kind words bring memories that echo through the years long after the lips that uttered them have crumbled to dust. Children carry the memory of words of appreciation with them through childhood and often recall them in old age when enveloped in the shadows of life. They are like the perfume of the violet that lifts its head above the spring snows and whispers to them of the sunshine.

Money cannot buy, intellect cannot create so rare a gem as true kindness. It is a heart product and needs the tenderest of culture. It is killed by indifference and enfeebled by neglect.

We feel animated to struggle more manfully in great battles of life when we remember our mother's holy counsel to us in childhood's early dawn, and in the slippery paths of youth. Ah! those of tenderness—those pious precepts softened by a "mother's love"—too much unheeded then, and disregarded—live now, brightened in memory, and constitute our sweetest recollections. Her prayers for us in childhood—her sparkling crystal tears, made an impression on our young minds as durable as time and even now they bid us walk in the paths of rectitude.

That there is a God all nature declares in a language too plain to be misapprehended. It is written over the face of the whole creation. You see it in the tender blade just starting fom the earth in the early spring and in the sturdy oak that has withstood the blasts of four score winters. The purling riverlet meandering through downy meadows and verdant glens and Niagara's tremendous torrent leaping over its awful chasm unite in telling us of a God. Show these beautiful arched heavens to your children and explain to them these poets while their young minds are so tender and easily impressed.

A woman who is capable of filling her home in every sense of the word is worthy of more true applause than if she possessed many accomplishments. We are often very much impressed by the woman who is doing a great and grand work for humanity, but the one who retains our respect is the true wife and mother, who presides over home and children with a heart and head, demonstrating kindness and ability, which puts the blush on the public life. Let the parents, the father as well as the mother, impress upon their young daughters whether they are in the country school house or college, that the true woman's sphere is in the home, and the great business and educational worlds that have thrown wide open the doors for woman does not detract one iota from the importance of her sphere.

Many a soldier who bravely stood at his post of duty for two or three years during the Civil War, is covered with badges. We would not take one from him, he merits them; but many an "ordinary" woman has stood at her post of duty for thirty forty and even half a century, fighting with sickness, poverty and discouragement, and with true Spartan courage kept the wolf from the door and saved the lives of a large family of children. The man who saves one life receives a prize for bravery, his picture appears in the metropolitan papers, and he wears a medal which says to the world he was brave. And he was. But the woman who has saved the lives of many is given no badge, and seldom ever a word of commendation. These ordinary women may not receive a Carnegie badge for bravery, but "He who marks the sparrow's fall" will certainly reserve for them the brightest jeweled crowns in his kingdom.

For Afternoon Tea.

The hostess who likes novel little cakes for afternoon tea will find these palatable. A sort of sweet biscuit, shaped like a ladyfinger is made from the well-beaten whites of three eggs, into which is beaten almost half a pound of confectioner'es sugar. Add four ounces of melted butter, and stir in quickly at the last four ounces of pastry flour.

Put this paste into a pastry bag and force through a tube on well-buttered baking sheets. Form finger shapes not too close together, as they spread, and bake in a moderate oven until a delicate brown.

For an almond cake, heat to a cream three ounces of butter and half a pound of soft A sugar, then add gradually half a pint of milk and enough flour to make a light dough. Stir in a quarter of a pound of blanched and minced almonds, lightly floured. Put on a floured board, roll about a quarter of an inch thick and cut into diamonds and squares.

Almond macaroons are made by beating the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth, then stirring in half a pound of confectioner's sugar and the strained juice of half a lemon, and last half a pound of ground almonds. Put paper on a flat baking sheet, drop the mixture on by teaspoonfuls and bake in a quick oven until a light brown.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

In a most interesting game of basketball in the City League series the Giants defeated the Collegiate team by six points, after having a big lead in the first half. The Collegiate team played a great game in the second half, and had the score tied many times, but the Giants were not to be denied, and when time was called the score read Giants 39, Collegiate 33.

Giants—Loomis, Tait, forwards; Downing, centre; Sisson, G. Hall, defence.

Collegiate — Hill, Cresswell, forwards; Bartlett, centre; Stewart, Ray, defence.

Referee—C. Nicholls and T. Laing.

The Juniors trimmed the Educationalists last night in one of the best junior games ever played on the local floor. The Juniors won by the score of 26 to 9.

Referee, H. Hill.

Makes Home Baking Easy

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

The only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

NO ALUM, NO LIME PHOSPHATE

TO-DAY'S MARKET

The demand for all kinds of products on the market this morning was very great, far exceeding the supply of some of the products. The market was not as largely attended to-day as it usually is, probably on account of the bad roads.

Outside Market.

The prices on the outside market were as follows:

Baled hay—$14.00.
Loose hay—$10 (only one load offered.)
Potatoes—80c. per bag.
Onions—$1.75 per bag.
Onions (small)—35c. per bush.
Apples—30c. per peck.
Other small vegetables at the usual prices.
Pork (by the quarter)—12 and 13 cents.
Beef (by the quarter)—8 to 10 cts.
Lamb (by the quarter)—12 to 13 cts.
Butchers' hides—$7.50.
Farmers' hides—$7.00.
Dressed hogs—$8.50.
Live hogs—$6.65.

The supply is very heavy, but the demand is poor.

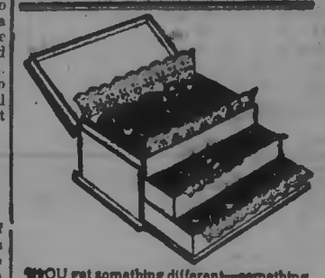
Inside Market.

Packed eggs—19c.
Fresh eggs—20c.
Butter—26c.

Not a singe duck, goose, chicken or turkey showed its beak on the market to-day. The market was utterly devoid of all kinds of fowl, but butter and eggs, especially the latter, were there by the basketfull. Clover seed was also a product for sale on the outside market. It was selling at $6.50 per bush.

BIRTH

SOANES—At Havelock, on March 16th, 1911, the wife of Mr. Harry Soanes, of a daughter.



YOU get something different—something really worth eating—something you will always remember with pleasure—when you get a box of

Neilson's

The Chocolates that are Different

33 different packages—each one containing a new surprise in chocolates.

Get a box at your dealer's or send 60c. for pound box of the most delicious assorted chocolates you ever tasted. 15

WM. NEILSON LIMITED, TORONTO.

Sold in Peterboro by Warne Drug Co., W. Mastin

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

March 19th, 1911.

(Copyright, 1910, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

Defeat Through Drunkenness. (Temperance Lesson.) 1 Kings xx: 12-21.

Golden Text—It is not for kings to drink wine; nor for princes strong drink. Prov. xxxi:4.

(1.) What is the general effect of drinking on kings and princes?

(2.) What battles can you mention that have been lost, or wars which have been jeopardized through drink?

(3.) What great men can you recall who have been ruined through drink?

(4.) Verse 12—Who was Benhadad and what were the circumstances which "this message" referred to?

(5.) Is a king the general of an army, a business man, or any other man, when under the influence of drink, in a condition to wisely decide on great issues? Why?

(6.) Would this war, which proved so disastrous to Benhadad, likely have taken place if he had not been influenced by drink?

(7.) Verses 13-14 — How did this prophet know, in advance, that Ahab was going to conquer the powerful Benhadad?

(8.) Which army is more likely to win, in a battle, and why, one of ten thousand with its officers drunk, or one of five thousand with its officers sober, other things being equal?

(9.) What part does God, or the laws of God, play in modern warfare?

(10.) Verses 15-16 — What forces were working in favour of Ahab, and what forces working against Benhadad?

(11.) What are the chances for a man founding a happy family, conducting a successful business, or winning in any battle, if he "drinks himself drunk" and consorts with men who drink?

(12.) What proportion of sensuous men attain distinction and hold the love and confidence of the community?

(13.) Verses 17-18 — Wherein were the instructions of Benhadad worthy of a drunken man?

(14.) If Benhadad had been sober what would his instructions probably have been?

(15.) How does drink influence the judgment, the motives and the ambitions of a man?

(16.) Verses 19-21—What would you say was the chief cause of the defeat of the Syrians?

(17.) There are many foes to-day which conquer and defeat men, including strong drink. Say which you consider the worst and why? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(18.) How many men do you personally know who have been defeated by drink and how many do you know who have been injured by total abstinence?

Lesson for Sunday, March 26th, 1911. Review.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS

BY SIMPLE SIMON

Apropos of the City Council's decision to have analyses made of the water of the Otonabee river, an article by D. G. Revell, B.A., M.B., Provincial Bacteriologist for Alberta, entitled Water Analysis and the Public Health," appearing in the Canadian Engineer for February 25th, is worthy of attention.

Here are two extracts worth committing to memory. 1. It does not require a chemical examination to decide whether a stream has been polluted by sewage when one can see the sewage floating into it. 2. Bacteria change both in number and kinds soon after a sample is bottled, therefore for an analysis to be efficacious, a bacteriologist must be on the spot himself to take samples and make cultures of them there.

Dr. Beattie Nesbitt is believed to be in China (vide press.) One would hardly expect to look for a fugitive from justice in Celestial regions.

Lots of people wore sham Shamrock yesterday, thinking it was the real thing.

It is reported that corpses of the plague victims have been found denuded of their pigtails, and it is feared the hair has been shiped to the dealers in hair goods. Rats have always been suspected of disseminating the plague, but now there is a possibility of another kind of "rat" being the medium, and one not so much held in terror by the fair sex as the common rodent.

With the possibility of a rubber company locating here, Peterborough can certainly said to be "expanding." Here's wishing it a "bouncing" success.

CONTROLLED BY DUNLOP CO.

Dunlop Bicycle Tires were first made in 1888, and have been in the lead ever since. They cannot be improved upon, and the method of manufacture is the exclusive process of the Dunlop Tire & Rubber Goods Co.

30 DAYS' REMOVAL SALE

About April 1st we are moving two doors north to 407 George St. (Adam Hall's old stand). During March we are giving prices that are worth watching.

Machine Oil, regular 10c for	5c	Sulphur, 8 lbs	25c
Tar Soap, regular 10c for	5c	Glauber's Salts, 8 lbs	25c
Celery and Iron Pills, regular 25c for	9c	Tooth Picks, regular 10c for	5c
Toilet Soap, regular 15c a cake for	10c	Grecian Hair Restorer, regular 50c for	25c
25 per cent. off all Hair Combs and brushes		Laxative Fig Syrup, regular 25c for	13c
20 per cent. off Trusses of all kinds		Little Liver Pills, regular 25c for	8c
Talcum, Rose, Violet, Carnation, Boquet, regular 25c for	13c	Sponges, 25 per cent. off regular price

THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE
C. M. MONCUR, Phm. B., Prop.

First Arrival in

Spring Tailored Suits

Garments of Unusual Distinction at $15.00 Each

WITH enthusiastic confidence in their charm of style and superior excellence of quality, we introduce the new tailor made Suit for Spring.

Beauty and smartness of model are conspicuous features. The style tendencies of the new season are correctly interpreted in all the innovations of design, which they embody.

Garments are made of splendid, durable, French Wool Serge, and pelican, which will resist wear and weather. Models are mainly of the trig, short coated type, which promise to hold sway during Spring. They are superbly tailored, coming from some of the finest workrooms in the country. All are silk lined.

We have made quite a name for our Ready-to-Wear Department among women of exacting taste---and in purchasing these splendid garments to sell at this popular sum, we have aimed to further our reputation for fine value giving.

A decidedly higher price would be strictly in keeping with the high quality and charm of the garments.

See the King Edward Vacuum Cleaner demonstrated 2nd Floor

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED GEORGE STREET

Have your new Suit fitted over a KABO Corset

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE WON SPLENDID DEBATE

Battled With the Normal School Last Night Over the Question of Public Ownership---The Addresses Were Splendidly Prepared and Presented.

Resolved, "That Public Ownership of Public Utilities, is the Best Thing for Canada,' was the subject of an interesting debate held in the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute last night under the auspices of the Philomathean Society between the Normal school and the Collegiate Institute.

There was an excellent display of intellectual and oratorical abilities and some good points were enumerated by the contestants, on both sides of the fence. The Normalites who represented the negative were Miss Dick and Mr. Clubine, while the Collegiate speakers were Harold Matthews and Meredith Huycke, with Mr. John Harstone in the chair.

It was moved and adopted that the reading of the minutes of the last meeting be dispensed with. The chairman in his opening remarks took occasion to thank those present on behalf of the Society for their presence. He was also glad to see so many of the parents present as it enabled them to see one of the many phases of school life and served to give the meeting a wider scope. Since the inauguration of the society in 1904 it had grown rapidly.

The leader of the affirmative, Mr. Harold Matthews, was the first speaker. He inferred that Public Ownership would be best managed by a Commission of capable men, who would be paid ample salaries. It would eliminate politics, lower taxes and be a universal benefit to the community.

In Medicine Hat the tax rate was only 14 mills on the dollar. This low rate was due to the saving effected by the public ownership of water, light, etc. Guelph, from a similar cause, had only a tax rate of 14 1-2 mills on the dollar. In England where even the telegraph companies came under the head of government ownership, you could send a 12 word telegram for twelve cents to any part of the British Isles. To send a telegram of 12 words from Peterborough to Lakefield would cost twenty seven cents. These, along with numerous others were among the good points that were enumerated by the speaker in favour of public ownership.

The leader of the negative, Miss Dick, was the next speaker. Great credit is due to Miss Dick for the masterly way in which she handled the subject in hand. She is possessed of an excellent delivery and gift of expression, coupled with an unlimited vocabulary, and was unanimously considered to be the star speaker of the evening. "One of the chief reasons of public ownership is for the suppression of individuals,' said the speaker in her opening remarks. It is the individual man who has harnessed the water powers and has promoted some of our largest industries. Public ownership produces pauperism, a man looks to the state for help, but does not receive any. The Intercolonial railway was a bankrupt corporation that had never been known to pay anything but a small dividend. It was the inevitable result of public ownership.

The second speaker for the affirmative, Mr. Meredith Huycke, endeavoured to show how effectual government ownership was as compared with private ownership.

His contention was that a private individual would not be so careful in catering to the wants of the people. In Guelph a workman with a house assessed at $1,200 before government ownership came into force would be taxed $63 per year for gas, water and taxes, under the new regime he is only taxed $42.70.

The second speaker for the negative Mr. Clubine, said that during the 41 years that the Intercolonial Railway has been in operation it has only had a surplus eleven times. Public ownership cannot exist where there is opposition. The speaker referred to Peterborough as a typical case of one of the disadvantages of [illegible] under the ban of municipal ownership. Should any of the residents on the outskirts of the town desire to be connected on to the city waterworks system, they would have to get up a petition and present it to the proper authorities. But on the other hand should they desire to have electric light installed in their homes, it would only be necessary for them to apply to one of the lighting companies, which are privately owned, and they would get it without further trouble.

Five minutes was then allowed for the speaker of the affirmative to reply, after which the judges, who were as follows: Rev. J. Couch, Mr. R. E. Wood and Mr. Goodwill, adjourned to another room to render their decision. While their procedure was under way a short programme was provided, consisting of the following numbers: A violin selection by Mr. W. Wilson, accompanied by Miss Choate on the piano.

A vocal solo by Mr. G. A. Fergusson and a duet by Miss Grace Gumpricht and Miss Helen Greaves, all of which were well rendered and heartily encored.

The speaker of the judges, Mr. Wood was then called upon to announce the verdict, which was in favour of the affirmative. In the course of his remarks Mr. Wood took occasion to congratulate the contestants, especially the young lady who so manfully presented a strong argument with good logical reasoning.

A vote of thanks was then tendered the judges on behalf of the society after which the meeting closed with the singing of the national anthem.

SPRING SHOWING OF

WALL PAPERS

in Prodigious Quantities

AT ROUTLEY'S

Never before in the history of the C. B. Routley establishment has there been so much wall paper put into stock. We have wall paper from the lowest to the highest grade produced.

We can give you enough ground paper to do any ordinary bed room From 8c to 35c Per Roll. HALL PAPER per roll from 9c to $1.00. DRAWING ROOM PAPERS from 10c to $3.00.

We have also Japanese Leathers, Grass Cloths, German Silk Flocks, Oatmeals, Burlaps, &c.

Room moulding is a line we give our attention to. Last year's mouldings and wall papers we are clearing at half price, not but that they are just as nice as this year's but we make it a rule not to show the same paper two seasons if price inducement will clear them out.

We can let you have paint to match any wall paper, paint that will dry hard and wear well, in short it is the best mixed paint in the market. We guarantee every can of it. For a few days we will sell it at PER QUART 49c.

Do not forget that we are the largest wall paper dealers in Canada. Our people here imagine because we live in Peterboro that the above assertion is not possible, yet it is acknowledged in large centres.

Come and try us and test our ability to serve you

Toronto 262-4 Queen W. | ROUTLEY'S | Peterborough 379 George St.

FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE EXHIBITION

(Continued from page 7.)

in the pursuit of their occupation as farmers.

In conclusion, he expressed the hope that the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition might become the talk of all Canada, from one end to the other.

Dr. Simmons' Remarks.

Dr. Simmons of Frankford, the president of the Ontario Fairs and Exhibitions' Association was next introduced. He felt it an honour as a representative of the Fairs' Association, to attend their gathering, especially as it fell on a night when all good Irishmen, wherever they might be united in spirit to do honour to the Emerald Isle.

He was greatly interested in agriculture, as might be expected when it was known that he came from a district which had the oldest agricultural organization in the province, having been formed under letters patent from the Governor in 1843. The forefathers of the present farmers had come to that fair on horse back, or in ox-carts. It had since, of course, long outgrown the clothes of its infancy. The speaker briefly explained the benefits that had accrued in the province from agricultural societies, and their adjuncts, and outlined the progress that had been made along every line of farming. The better grade of cattle, horses, sheep, swine and poultry, he thought, could be put to the credit of the Agricultural Societies. He instanced the improvements in his own home county of Hastings, where some magnificent results in breeding Holsteins had been attained. The growth of dairying had been stimulated by the Agricultural Societies in offering magnificent prizes. As a result, Canada occupied a proud place in the dairying world. He was proud to say that she was second to none, as far as cheese was concerned, and had to yield the palm for butter only to Denmark. He was confident that if the present rate of progress continued for five years, Canada would be second to nobody in this line, as well. He believed that mixed farming was the only farming for the people of the Dominion, and was strongly in favour of Technical Schools, in which a young farmer might be educated to know what grain he is to sow, what lend will give the best crops, etc. Speaking of Agricultural Societies he pointed out that no Society ever flourished unless the members were united. Every exhibitor who paid his dollar should have a live interest in the Exhibition and should do his part by endeavouring to see that his exhibit in whatever line it might be, was the best possible. He wished the Peterborough Industrial success in its splendid address.

President Leary said that Ontario had to be the producing centre for the West, and pointed out the great field there was for the breeding of dairy cattle in Ontario for export to the West, where almost fabulous prices were being paid.

Hon. Mr. Stratton.

Hon. Mr. Stratton said that he had merely come as a citizen of one of the best cities of the province to give what little assistance he could by his presence in strengthening the hands of the Industrial Exhibition directors in their desire to secure better grounds. Everyone realized, he said, that Canada was to be and would be, if it was not already the granary of the world. There were one hundred millions of acres in the West yet to be developed, and he felt that Canada would be the brightest gem in the British Crown.

He wished to emphasize the fact that it was the desire of the best class of citizens of the East and West Ridings to have at least one central exhibition at or adjacent to the City of Peterborough. He was satisfied that such an exhibition would result in material benefit to the City and County of Peterborough. He wanted to see an exhibition with suitable grounds and buildings that could be added to from year to year. He was surprised to find only half a dozen business men present. He did not think they were looking after their own best interests when they did not attend on an occasion of that kind. There were a few business men ready to co-operate, but not as generally as he would like to see. Mr Leary, he thought, had done all that he could reasonably be expected to do to advance agriculture in Peterborough he [illegible] much time to the Peterborough Industrial and in making it the success that it had been. He, himself, felt that it would be better to do away with the tight-rope walkers and the midways, and make the Peterborough Exhibition purely agricultural, so that Peterborough might be able to show that it could grow better grain than any other section, or grow better roots, or produce better stock. He felt that if the Exhibition was confined to this the attendance would be even better.

Yesterday morning he (Mr. Stratton) had read in the public press that the Municipal Committee of the Ontario Legislature had granted the right to some municipalities to vote money for certain purposes without the vote of the people. If the aldermen of Peterborough had power to do so he felt that they would make a substantial grant to the Industrial Exhibition. He had thought that if the law could be changed, the Council of Peterborough might issue debentures to raise money for the Exhibition without the question being submitted to the people. He did not want to get away from the people on the question, but the present law was such that in a campaign he felt the Society would not be able to get enough votes to the polls to carry the measure. He had called up Mr. James, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, and Mr. Wilson, the Fairs' Superintendent, about the matter, and had made the suggestion that it might be possible to get the law changed. Mr. Stratton was of the opinion that if this was done the foundation might be laid of one of the best Exhibitions in the Province. If the meeting was able to persuade Mr. Wilson, the Superintendent of Fairs, to use his influence in having the law changed, he thought that the City might be induced to loan $10,000, and the county a similar amount, towards the cost of grounds. He felt sure that if this was done buildings equal in value to the amounts advanced would be erected in a very short time, and the Association would speedily be in a position to redeem the debentures at the rate of $1,000 a year. Personally he would be in favour of buying the whole block of ground at present used by the Society. There was no reason why the Fair should not be one of the greatest in the Province. Peterborough County had some of the best horses to be found anywhere, splendid dairying and farming facilities, and no other county could make a better showing as the farmers of the present day were more enterprising and showed it by improved buildings, stock and methods. All that was wanted was a change in the law, so that it would be possible for the municipalities to make the loans.

Mr. Stratton wished the Agricultural Society every success, because he felt that it was representative of the class that had been called the bone and sinew of the country. He felt that the manufacturing and agricultural interests were identical, and should work together. He, himself, was not a protectionist, nor a free trader, but rather a modified protectionist.

Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P.

Mr. James Thompson of Havelock, the member for East Peterborough, in the Legislature, was the next speaker. He expressed his pleasure at being present and felt that the extra trouble he had taken to attend had been repaid by meeting so many representative citizens. The object the Industrial Exhibition had in view was a worthy one. If any mistake had been made it was that this step had not been taken ten years ago. Property was increasing in value rapidly and a site that could have been purchased some years ago for $10,000 would now cost three times that sum. He did not think the Exhibition should hesitate about buying grounds; they could not buy too quickly. He thought that if they got enough representative business and public men to co-operate with them they could get the necessary vote to carry the by-law. The speaker referred to the awakening that was taking place in Ontario to the possibilities offered by agriculture. He pointed out that the average of Western Canada, in grain, last year, was eighteen bushels to the acre, in the western part of the United States, thirteen bushels was in Peterborough County twenty-seven bushels to the acre were exceeded. He took up the possibilities offered in the northern part of Ontario, in the clay belt for agricultural purposes.

His Honour Judge Huycke.

His Honour Judge Huycke was called upon for an address, and took advantage of the opportunity to say that he was glad to be with them in Peterborough, for many reasons. He was heartily in favour and wished to support any movement that was going to help the agriculturalists, or pertaining to the welfare of the City and County of Peterborough. He had come among them not to be merely a Judge, but a citizen as well, and he was sure that the Exhibition would be one of the best and most lucrative assets that te City of Peterborough could have. Speaking of the success of the Cobourg Horse Show with which he had been connected for some time, he said that it had been attained by united effort, by a long pull and a strong pull and pull all together—on the part of the citizens of Cobourg and the farmers of the surrounding townships. Without this the show would never have grown to become the greatest outdoor horse show in the province. The show had served a double purpose. It was not only a benefit to Cobourg, by reason o fthe advertising and the direct financial benefit derived from so many visitors coming into the town, but it had also aroused a spirit of emulation and of enthusiasm over the breeding of good horses that was shown in the increased value of the horses bred by the farmers of the district bringing much more money to them. It was an object lesson to the district and he felt that the Peterborough Industrial could be made to serve the same purpose.

In moving a vote of thanks to the speakers of the evening, the Vice-President, Mr. John H. Garbutt, said that the Peterborough Industrial had come to a time when it needed a new suit of clothes.

Mr. Wm. Collins expressed the same sentiment, in seconding the motion, saying that the Exhibition was at the dawn of a new era. The motion was carried amid hearty applause.

Mr. Wilson, in replying, referred to the suggestion made by Mr. Stratton, that the law in regard to loans to fairs, might be amended. At present cities could not loan more than $3,000, towns $2,000, and villages $1,000, without consulting the ratepayers. If the meeting would set some maximum sum to which they wanted the law changed he would be pleased to recommend it to the Ontario Government.

Mr. Stratton moved, seconded by Mr. Garbutt, that the Ontario Government be asked to change the law so as ot permit municipalities to loan a sum not exceeding $10,000 to agricultural societies without submitting a by-law to the people.—Carried.

The banquet was then brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Good

tea is the result of care and experience in blending—must be the combination of fine flavor, smooth strength and richness. Because all these elements are so generously included in Red Rose Tea it well merits the term "good tea."

RED ROSE TEA is good tea

NEVER SOLD IN BULK

Your Grocer Will Recommend It

FOR SKIN IRRITATION

We Guarantee Relief. Your Money Back If Not Satisfied

We have an ointment possessing extraordinary power to permanently relieve all forms of eczema, skin eruptions, pimples, blotches, ringworm, acne, tetter, scaly scalp, hives, all forms of itching and irritation caused by insect bites. Its power to soothe ulcers, sores and wounds is very pronounced.

We are so positive that Rexall Eczema Ointment is unexcelled for overcoming these ailments that we sell it with our personal promise that it will not cost the user anything unless it in every way gives satisfaction. We exact no promise and in no way obligate the purchaser. You must admit that we could not afford to make such a broad liberal guarantee, except we are certain we could substantiate our claim.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is a grayish-white, pleasant smelling, antiseptic, cooling, healing salve that is strongly germicidal. It destroys the germs that penetrate the skin and cause eczema and other tormenting skin ailments. A remedy must do that to be effective, for in no other way can such diseases be overcome.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is ideal for the treatment of skin irritations peculiar to children, for barber's itch and for sore itching feet.

It is positively the best remedy we know of, and we urge you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

A stereoptican travel lecture on our great Northland is to be given at the Y.W.C.A. on Friday evening, March 31st. Fuller announcements will be made later.

We regret that the books ordered during Miss Blodgett's visit with us were so long delayed. However, they have at last reached us and we shall be glad to see all those who gave an order.

Miss Macdonald, of Japan, will be with us March 25th to 29th.

THE HERPICIDE GIRL KNOWS

While shopping the most annoying thing for me is to have someone try to sell me something "just as good" when I ask for Newbro's Herpicide. To be sure there are not many druggists who do this, but what few there are should know that such a policy will destroy the customer's confidence. When they try it on me I never wait for the story, simply hunt a store where they will sell me what I want.

It is absurd for anyone to say that a preparation is as good as Herpicide. I don't think they believe it themselves. Every druggist knows that there is but one genuine, original dandruff germ destroyer and that is Newbro's Herpicide.

It keeps the head free from dandruff, prevents the hair from coming out and stops itching of the scalp.

Herpicide is really a wonderful remedy which does just what you want and expect it to do.

One dollar size bottles are guaranteed. Sold by all druggists. Applications at good barber shops.

Send 10c. in postage for a sample to The Herpicide Co., Dept R, Detroit, Mich.

McDermid and Jury, special agents.

SPRING Shoes

This is a Patent Corona Colt, button with black cloth top. One of this season's smartest styles.

We are showing many exclusive novelties. Splendid workmanship, fine materials, perfect fit assured—always.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 GEORGE STREET

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL
Oak Hall Drug Store
Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

LASTING PHOTOS

An evidence of the superior quality of our work is the fadeless quality we produce. We would like to show you photographs that have been exposed to sunlight for long periods without the slightest effect.

The Lendrum Studio
170 Charlotte Street

A Modern Machine

With the

Connor Ball Bearing Washer

washing day becomes a pleasure, the drudgery done away with.

Drop in and let us show it to you, also the

Life Buoy Brand Wringer

which is guaranteed for 5 years.

Don't forget our special "Clairette" Laundry Soap

Porter S. White
336 George St. · Phone 208

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar (positively no return). Established Toronto, Hamilton & Guelph. Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail. References. Write for particulars.

MISS A. GRADUATE
Box 269, Brampton, Ont

Advertise in the Examiner

The Home Beautiful

Newness
Excellence

Exclusive
Ideas

Of course you want the Best in

WALL PAPERS
CARPETS
CURTAINS, ETC.

OUR enlarged Home Furnishing Department—entire Third Floor, can assist you. New ideas in wall decorations, and window hangings are plentifully displayed for easy seeing, with expert salesmen to show you—"choosing is made easy."

"March Sale Prices" are interesting and profitable to intending buyers. You can select and lay aside if not wanted at once.

Department Stores
Cressman's

DR. CHARLES HARRISS AND DR. HENRY COWARD
Conductor of the Sheffield Choir of 200 Voices. Opera House, Peterborough, Monday, April 3rd, 1911

Just Arrived

Full Stock of the Famous

Buckley Stiff Hats

(All Hats Guaranteed)

Still some nice Fur Setts & Jackets to be cleared out

With our Conformateur we can shape all Stiff Hats to fit all heads

W. E. LECH

Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

$15
$10 SAVE $5
$5 Just as Well as Not

These
Men's Suits
We are Now Selling at $10.00

are $15 and good value any one of them. See them and be convinced. ::

H. LeBRUN & CO.

Two Entrances; George and Hunter Streets.

SALE ENDS SATURDAY, MARCH 25

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CONCERT WAS A GRAND SUCCESS

Crowded House Greeted Entertainment of St. Peter's T. A. S. in the Grand Last Light---Programme Was Most Enjoyable Throughout---A Delightful Operetta.

The annual St. Patrick's Day Concert, under the auspices of St. Peter's T. A. S., which was held in the Grand Opera House last night, scored a most brilliant success with the house crowded, every seat being occupied. Every entertainer went through his or her allotted part, with a remarkable degree of cleverness, showing not only the splendid training they had received, but the ability of the entertainers themselves.

The first part of the programme assumed a musical nature, and was contributed by the St. Peter's Choir, the Boys' Glee Club, and others.

The first number was given by the boys of St. Peter's school, there being about one hundred in all. They sang two good old Irish songs, namely, "The Isle that's Crown'd With Shamrock" and "The Irishman's Toast". Both were rendered in a good, clear voice by the youthful singers. To make the scene more impressive, the boys held in their right hand the flag of Ireland, which they waved as they sang the "Irishman's Toast."

This was the first, and one of the best numbers contributed in the musical part of the programme, and is worthy of special mention. The boys, who were all comparatively young, executed the number in a very praiseworthy manner and the audience showed their appreciation as stated. The next number was a vocal quartette, "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms," by Messrs. Henshaw, Daly, Quinlan and Hickey, was greatly applauded by the audience. The next item, a song "Under the Old Umbrella," by Helen McCarthy and Joseph Clancy, scored a triumph for the youthful singers, the effect of the scene being wholly charming.

A vocal quartette entitled "Kerry Dance" was the contribution of Misses M. Clancy, K. Gannon, Messrs. Hanshaw and New, which merited the great applause it received. The next item was given by 100 girls of the Convent School, prettily dressed in white, with a green sash, making the scene very impressive. The youthful choristers sang two songs, entitled "Hibernia's Champion Saint," and "The Day we Celebrate" and were greeted with great applause by the enthusiastic audience. This ended the first part of the programme.

The Second Part.

The first item on the second part of the programme, was a character song, entitled, "The Tall, Top Hat." It was rendered in a very acceptable manner by the Boys' Glee Club, and was greeted with great applause. A Pantomime "Minuet," the next number, was rendered by a number of little boys and girls, in a manner that was worthy of special praise. The children went through the quaint movements of the minuet in a way which was greatly appreciated.

The effect was added to by the fact that they were dressed in the old English style.

"The Hobby Horse Brigade" was the next number. It was given by twenty-eight boys, and in a manner which was worthy of the applause of the audience, which it duly received. The boys were dressed in red uniform of the British Soldiers, and rode, or were supposed to ride on horses. The performance was a very appealing one and kept the audience in a continuous peal of laughter. Mr. H. Quinlan sang a song in excellent voice which was also greatly appreciated and applauded by the audience.

The Operetta.

The Operetta "The Golden Slipper" was produced in three acts. Each scene was realistic to life, and each character played her part admirably well. It is regretted that a summary of the different acts cannot be given here, owing to lack of space. But let it suffice to say that each member of the cast, without exception, played her part in a manner which was exceedingly praiseworthy, and displayed a remarkable degree of theatrical and dramatic ability. The operetta, with its tuneful music and entertaining action, gave openings, both for vocal and dramatic cleverness, and the members of the cast took full advantage of their opportunities, the result being a thoroughly pleasing and enjoyable presentation from start to finish, artistic and pleasing. The cast was as follows:

Madame Arrogant, a proud and haughty dame—Miss Emma Derocher.

Frieda, Stella—her daughters—Miss Margaret Merrell, Miss Eileen McCabe.

Madge, a Ward of Madame Arrogant—Miss Carrie White.

Princess Otillia, the Regent—Miss Ethel Jayes.

Dame Cronin, a Sorceress—Miss Lily Simons.

Lady Rosamond — Miss Florence Leahy.

Lady Revers—Miss Lilian Clancy.

Lady Osmund—Miss Eva Lajeunesse

Eneratido, a Court Emissary—Miss Harriet Pierce.

Village Maidens, Court Attendants, etc.

The programme last night varied somewhat from that of other years, but the success scored was even more emphatically striking, the largest audience of the season being present in the Opera House and many were the expressions of pleasure heard from the audience as it filed out after the singing of the National Anthem. Especial credit is due those who had the training of the children whose clever work featured the programme.

SPLENDID LECTURE

Given by Mr. S. J. Keyes Before Saint James Brotherhood.

A very successful open meeting of the Brotherhood of St. James' Methodist church last night when Mr. S. S. J. Keyes, B. A., of the Normal school staff, gave a travel talk on a trip through the British Isles. He began with Irish scenes, showing an excellent collection of views bearing upon the life of Ireland's patron saint, and related the legends of the birth and life of St. Patrick. Other views of Ireland, showing the lakes of Killarney, the Giants' Causeway and other places. He then took up views of England, paying particular attention to Westminster Abbey.

Mr. H. O. Fiske operated the lantern for the stereopticon views. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Keyes and Mr. Fiske.

ORANGE MEAT

IS MADE FROM THE WHOLE WHEAT

No other cereal contains and furnishes more nutriment to the human system

Orange Meat and Milk is a Perfect Food

THE MILLINERY RE-OPENINGS

ROBERT FAIR & COMPANY

The opening of Robert Fair & Company's millinery department for the spring season took place yesterday, and the result was a constant stream of visitors to the handsomely equipped parlours on the second floor of the building. Miss Rennie, head milliner, and her able assistants had little time on their hands during the day. All the latest shapes and styles are shown by this firm. One especially attractive hat is of vedda braid, string shade and harem mount, with touches of black velvet. Another that was greatly admired by yesterday's visitors was a large Georgette hat with canvas top and trimmed with coronation poppies and velvet. Still another neat, smart model is a chic jaba hood with crimson poppy outline, a rolling brim and velvet wings.

MISS McGIVERIN

No millinery re-open is more eagerly attended or m sincerely admired than those o Miss McGiverin, whose handsome parlours on George street have become known as the head-quarters for the most fastidious followers of fancy's dictates. The opening yesterday was more than usually successful and the very extensive line of hats and bonnets shown comprise almost every variety upon which the approval of the leading milliners of the world has been stamped. The smaller hats for spring wear and the larger ones for dress occasions and summer use, are displayed to the fullest advantage. Among the small hats probably the most popular is the Helmet model, a small smart hat that is much admired. The new geranium shade of red for trimming purposes which is destined to be very popular this year, is extensively used and the new coral, cerise, and coronation blue shades are also much in evidence in the trimming. The flowers used in decorating are smaller than usual, this rule applying to roses as well as other floral decorations. Panamas and Milans although not in demand so early in the season, will be eagerly sought after later on and Miss McGiverin is showing some very chic models in these lines as well as in Neapolitans.

AT T. C. ELLIOT'S

A pretty little romantic story is told of Matsys, the great painter. He fell in love with Grethchin, the beautiful daughter of an artist—Matsys was at this time an iron worker. The father would not consent to his daughter marrying any but a painter.

Matsys then after a pathetic adieu to his sweet heart, disappeared from his usual haunts, and when after a time he returned to his own home town and to his sweet-heart he came as a painter.

After a tender greeting his sweetheart took him into her father's studio to show him a picture her father had just completed.

Matsys partly for amusement; partly to show his skill to Grethchin's father very cleverly painted a fly upon the face of the picture.

The father entering shortly tried to brush off the fly.

One of the new hats would almost suggest this idea. In the beautiful butterfly hat the illusion is so skillfully carried out, you almost instinctively step on your toes expecting to see it soar upon its lacey wings at your approach. This hat is quite a triumph of art. Another pretty style that comes to us from guy Paree is the Harem hat, this chic design has a very natty appearance and presents that youth and dash that our sisters in Paris know so well how to fabricate.

This style is only shown at Elliot's.

See the pretty impalpable hat. It is made up of many rows of delicate tulle foundation, trimmed with a wreath, flowers and rich silk ribbon to match. Its dressy exclusiveness is very attractive.

Detailed descriptions would seem almost impossible. The styles are so numerous, all presenting that indescribable something that shows the hand of the skilled artist.

The pretty decorations around the room make a pretty back-ground to the delicate tints and colorings.

Elliot's store can be congratulated upon its showing this year.

R. HALL & SON

A visit to Messrs. Hall & Son's big store was a revelation, especially if the trip through the multitudinous departments is taken with an observant eye open. The capacious windows have been very carefully prepared for the spring opening and are splendid examples of the art of suggesting what may be found in fuller detail on the inside.

The large window is devoted to the display of dress goods and millinery, and presents a comprehensive showing of the authoritative styles for spring and summer. In the centre of the window a figure wearing a beautiful New York gown in Ceil Blue Silk veiled with chiffon, is posed before a mirror. On either side is an architectural piece representing a white marble gateway, and on top of the smaller pilalrs are shown baskets of flowers.

The centre window design consists of two fancy pillars decorated with smilax. A wax figure attired in a handsome spring suit is the central figure. This window is devoted to ready-to-wear garments and shows the latest style tendencies. The north window dosplays to great advantage one of the new Persian drawingroom rugs, with drapery to match.

Following the eager crowds of interested ladies, quickly lands one in the place where they set the styles, the splendid millinery department of Messrs. Hall & Son. When the bewildering scene could be analyzed and the attention centred on, simply parts of the busy picture, it was borne in upon the visitor that here was a magnificent display of the finest that the milliner's art can produce. The arrangements appeared to have been carefully planned with an idea of the classification of colors, rather than the hit and miss method.

In one section the black and white was the predominating color and in others the brilliant flowers, ribbons, feathers and laces brighten the display. A close look reveals the fact that the small shapes are to be the popular ones for early spring wear, much smaller than for some time. Many of the shapes fit close, like a cap, a decided change from last year's very large forms. One in particular, the "Maud Adams," a "cappy" looking little hat, was prominent among the newest creations. It was made of bright blue straw, trimmed with red cherries and red velvet. While small hats are most numerous, many large picture hats are also shown, some trimmed extensively with flowers, others having for their sole trimming a large willow feather.

In colors the black and white seem to take the lead, this combination being often shown, brightened with a touch of vivid color, such as cerise, plain red, coral, coronation blue and bright green. Touches of the same colors are also used to brighten the large picture hats, a noticeable sample was a black lace shape with pleating of velvet ribbon around the crown. A bouquet of natural looking roses formed the trimming with velvet streamers as a finish. Another large hat was made of white Proxaline braid trimmed with one large willow plume extending completely around the crown, and finished with a cluster of pink roses.

Among some medium sized hats was a striking looking Gage Hat of smart appearance, made of white canvas, faced in black velvet, trimmed with a scarf of Helen Taft pink and finished with a fringe of white cord, and a white buckle.

One noticeable feature of the entire display was the practical and wearable style that seemed to prevail.

Wandering into the housefurnishing department there was found ample evidence of a big preparation for the spring trade, and anticipation of the people's wants in this line. An immense and varied line of rugs were chiefly noticeable, among the very latest arrivals being two duplicates in design of a priceless antique Persian one shown in shades of green and pink. The originals of these rugs could not be bought at any price. In the curtain section one feature that is becoming more popular as the growing use of material by the yard. These are used for many purposes and made up for large windows with colored pattern goods for edging some striking effects are produced.

The new ideas in linoleums consist of patterns designed for use in bed rooms, and these Scotch importations are exclusive and very dainty in pattern.

The ready-to-wear department also has its aspect of newness, and readiness for spring. A particularly handsome gown catches the eye. It is a new model in silk, veiled with chiffon, the color being ceil blue.

Another afternoon dress of Foulard silk has bands of satin trimming on waist and skirt. Kimona sleeves, finished with lace and buttons, and it embodies the new feature, the high skirt.

A strictly man-tailored suit in greenish fawn, with patch pockets piped with green satin, has a dressy appearance. A band in the skirt is also piped with satin.

The whitewear tables have all the newer fabrics and novelties in design and complete a most attractive section of the store.

Taking a look at the new spring goods in the dress goods section it is noticeable that silks in American and French Foulards are a strong feature. They come in stripes and spots and conventional designs.

A bright spot, where the goods have a special freshness to them, is the one where the wash goods are on display. Mercerized foulards in spots and Persian effects are a strong feature here, also French cotton and chiffon voiles in new and handsome shades. There is a big range of new ginghams and percales, stripes and big plaid patterns catching the eye at once.

Just a few steps away, the small ware counters are covered with a pretty array of 1911 novelties, too numerous to describe. Automobile veils, scarfs and new neckwear might be specially mentioned as embodying many pretty styles and new ideas.

Over the entire store there seems to have come the promise of springtime, and the possibilities that await the habitually well dressed people of the city, and a peep at a few of them gives one only a faint idea of the labor and study required to prepare such an offering as that shown by R. Hall & Son.

TURNBULL'S

Turnbull's March Millinery opening is now in full swing, under the able management of Miss Brooks. All the latest designs, styles, shapes, etc., imported from the leading Parisian makers are now on hand, and those who are contemplating the purchase of a new hat should avail themselves of this excellent opportunity to inspect this large and varied stock of the very latest creations, at prices that will conform to the range of everybody's purse. The newest Spring Millinery at popular prices are here for your choice, selected Paris and London styles, ... direct from New York. This we believe to be one of the most extensive and up-to-date stocks of Millinery in the city.

A. W. CRESSMAN'S

All the season's very latest models and a busy throng of visitors were features at the reopening of Cressman's millinery department yesterday. Miss Stobil, the head milliner and Miss Downes, head trimmer, with their host of assistants were kept busy in looking after the many visitors to the department during the day and the sales were unusually brisk for the opening. Many new designs in spring and summer hats are displayed. A novelty is the suit case hat made of black and white chip with a float knot of scarlet, the hat being so constructed that it can be folded up and packed in a suit case. Another new model shown illustrates two new popular shades, the putty shade and the coronation blue. The helmet hats a small close fitting hat, coming low over the eyes is another that is destined to be popular. A large black picture hat embroidered in coral and pearl beads and with three large willow plumes, was greatly admired by yesterday's visitors, as was a large, drooping, mush-room shaped hat with a white Irish lace crown and another high-crowned model trimmed with flowers and a scarf of blue velvet with coral beads. The millinery department is handsomely decorated for the occasion with white pillars and bronze vases. A new blouse section has been installed in the centre of the second floor and another row of cases for the ready-to-wear department. The windows carry out the idea of spring re-openings in effective fashion. The large centre one in particular has attracted admiration from all who have seen it with its setting of white and gold and its cornucopias filled with trailing vines and flowers. Displayed are six of the new spring hats as well as a gown and an opera cloak. The whole effect is pleasing and artistic and furnishes a fitting introduction to the magnificently equipped store. The corsage bouquet, a new novelty for women is illustrated in the central window.

MISS E. M. ALLEN.

Have you visited the Millinery Parlours of Miss E. M. Allan? If not, do so at your earliest opportunity and see for yourself the large display of the latest creations from the leading makers of Europe. Here you will see the latest styles from London, Paris, and New York, each and every one a model of the discriminating and pain-taking care in selection that they have received at the hands of the buyer.

Intelligent and individual service is one of the strong features which are attracting those patrons, who demand the best in millinery.

Visit a visit and be convinced.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE

For Alcoholic and Drug Addictions.

1253 DUNDAS ST. TORONTO

A SCENE IN HOUSE

Glen Campbell Becomes Obstreperous in the Commons and Calls Dr. Neely a Liar

FORCED TO WITHDRAW

Ottawa, March 18.—While the estimates of the Department of Interior came under consideration shortly before supper recess, a melee arose between Glen Campbell (Dauphin) and Dr. Neely (Humboldt). There was a discussion over certain alleged discrimination against homesteaders who were known to be Conservatives. Dr. Neely stated that no discrimination was made on political lines, and if there was, the Minister of the Interior would make an investigation.

In response to Conservative jeers, Dr. Neely said: "It is known that my hon. friend (Mr. Campbell) has taken steps himself, on certain occasions, to lead even officials to do what was not in the best interests of the country."

"My hon. friend is a liar, absolutely a liar," said Glen Campbell.

There were cheers and cries of "Order."

"It will be necessary for my hon. friends to withdraw those words," said the Deputy Speaker.

"I called him a liar and I refuse to take it back!" Dr. Neely shifted in his seat nervously.

The Speaker insisted on considering the point of order he had raised.

"He had better talk of his honesty," said Mr. Campbell. "Where is the capital of Saskatchewan? What does it cost to vote for it?"

"The member for Dauphin will realise that he has spoken hastily, and also that his words are not Parliamentary. I think that will be sufficient to cause him to withdraw them," said the Deputy Speaker.

Col. Sam Hughes here raised a second point of order with regard to Dr. Neely, saying what he did concerning Mr. Campbell. "It is his place first to withdraw his declaration."

"What I said goes, he is absolutely a liar, but if it is not Parliamentary, I take the word back. But he is absolutely a liar," called out the member for Dauphin.

The Deputy Speaker: "Such a breach of order must be——"

Here the House got into a tremendous uproar. "I will not take a word back. He is a liar, first, last and all the time," said Mr. Campbell, while half a dozen members tried to speak.

The Deputy Speaker: "Inasmuch as the hon. member has refused to withdraw, it will be my duty to report the matter to the House, for such action as it deems proper and desirable."

"It is a hard task, Mr. Chairman, to withdraw something that is absolutely true," observed Mr. Campbell.

More cries of "Order."

After further discussion Mr. Campbell withdrew the expression "At your order, Mr. Chairman."

Dr. Schaffner (Souris): "Now you had better make that man withdraw."

Col. Hughes then raised the point of the propriety of Dr. Neely's remark, that the member for Dauphin had sought to induce the officer of the crown to perform an illegal act. The Speaker did not think the expression was unparliamentary.

Dr. Neely denied using such words, and when interrupted by Col. Hughes, said he would give him an opportunity to speak, adding: "I am not cowardly enough to make insinuations."

"Why don't you call him to order," said Dr. Reid (Grenville), but the chairman said he had not heard the word.

Dr. Neely, in explaining his assertion, said that he meant to convey that the member for Dauphin had "made the admission or statement——"

"That is absolutely false," broke in Mr. Campbell.

"That in connection with a certain transaction, a firm with which my hon. friend was identified, that it cost that firm a certain amount of money in order to induce an official of the department to obtain this grazing lease." He added that he had a report of a speech of Mr. Campbell in which that statement was made.

Mr. Campbell denied this and after a couple more wrangles com members made withdrawals satisfactory to the Deputy Speaker.

Friday is a clearing up day in the House. On the motion to go into supply yesterday afternoon, A. C. Boyes (W. Algoma), directed the attention of the Minister of Labor to a disturbance among electricians employed by the Lake Superior Corporation, who had resented the dismissal of their foreman. This was the culmination of a long series of grievances due to the fact that the alien labor law had been laxly administered, and hundreds of men had been imported from the United States at Sault Ste. Marie. The Canadian workmen resented this, because they felt their living was in jeopardy.

Hon. Mackenzie King stated that the Labor Department was not charged with the enforcement of the law, except in regard to contract labor. Otherwise it was in the hands of the Interior Department to see to its enforcement. He said that the Department had been in receipt of complaints from the Lake Superior Corporation that the immigration officers at Sault Ste. Marie were too active in this regard.

W. M. Martin (Regina) read a telegram from the Association of Saskatchewan Municipalities in session at Moose Jaw, which stated that the reciprocity agreement had been unanimously endorsed by two hundred delegates present. Mr. Martin added: "So far I have not met a single man in the province of Saskatchewan who is against reciprocity."

Sam Barker (Hamilton) read a communication which stated that quarantine conditions in Groose Isle were in a deplorable condition. With the outbreak of cholera there was danger of persons infected getting into Canada. He thought the Government might save some of the money now being squandered on wharves all over the country and extend the docks at Grosse Isle, to make it possible for ocean liners to come alongside.

ARBITRATION ONLY.

Sir Edward Grey Does Not Propose an Armed Alliance.

London, March 18.—Sir Edward Grey further developed his views on arbitration at the annual banquet last night of the International Arbitration League, and corrected some misapprehensions which had arisen regarding his now famous speech in the House of Commons, in which he gave support to the suggestion of President Taft for an Anglo-American treaty providing for the settlement by arbitration of any question that might arise between the two Governments.

"I observe," said the Foreign Secretary last evening, "that some of the words I used the other day are being construed as if a general arbitration treaty between these two great nations would be tantamount to a defensive alliance between them. If a general arbitration treaty were made between two great nations and became firmly rooted in the feelings of both countries, and if one of them was in the course of time made the object of an attack in a dispute with a third power, in which arbitration had been offered to and refused by the third power, certainly, I think, there would be a strong sympathy between the two powers who had made the general arbitration treaty. But that is a matter which depends upon public opinion, and in which opinion will take care of itself.

SIR EDWARD GREY.

"To introduce any such condition or stipulation into an arbitration treaty would impair the chances of it here or elsewhere. It might even lead other countries to suppose that the arbitration treaty between the two powers was directed against one or more of those powers. That would completely spoil its possible effect in mitigating the general expenditure on armaments.

"If an arbitration treaty is made between two countries on the lines sketched out as possible by the President of the United States, let it be done between the two powers concerned without 'arriere pensee' (by-purposes), but don't let them set narrow bounds to their hopes of the beneficient results which may develop from it in the course of time—results which, I think, must extend far beyond the two countries originally concerned."

The titled foreigners, I'm much afraid,
Come here a-seeking fortune, and it's funny
That rather than the money to be made
They always want the maid that has the money.

—New York Times.

Asaya-Neurall

THE NEW REMEDY FOR

Nervous Exhaustion

Nervous exhaustion, the ailment of the age, results from the destruction of nerve cells by overstrain faster than they are rebuilt. The only remedy is Food, Rest and increased nerve repair. "ASAYA-NEURALL" is and makes possible this cure. It feeds the nerves, induces sleep, quickens the appetite and digestion, restores buoyancy of spirits. $1.50 per bottle. Obtain from the following

McDERMID & JURY.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Alva James, a Kingston traveler, was struck by a train and carried along for some distance by his overcoat, which caught in the cowcatcher.

Four persons, a man, two women and a child, all colored, were burned to death in a fire in a four-storey tenement on Truro street, Boston, early yesterday morning.

Messrs. W. S. Buell of Brockville and Isaac Pitblado of Winnipeg have been appointed to hold an inquiry into telegraph rates. The commission will sit at Toronto on April 24.

Thirty-five hundred employes of the United States and Wells Fargo Express Companies threw in their fortunes yesterday with the 1,500 striking drivers of the Adam Express Co.

Sir E. Taschereau suffered a slight stroke of apoplexy Thursday night, but it is thought he will recover, despite his advanced age. The former chief justice showed signs of improvement yesterday.

After being out about half an hour the jury last night brought in a verdict in the inquest into the circumstances surrounding the explosion at the Ontario Paper Co.'s power house at the Falls. They hold no one responsible.

Auguste Pannoton, the lunatic, who escaped from the St. Benoit Joseph Asylum immediately after the murder of one of the guards last Tuesday, was brought back to the institution at Montreal yesterday morning from L'Assomption.

Don't Wear A Truss

After Thirty Years Experience I Have Produced an Appliance for Men, Women or Children That Cures Rupture

I Send It On Trial

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success.

The above is C. E. Brooks, of Marshall, Mich., who has been curing Rupture for over 38 years. If Ruptured write him to-day

Send attached coupon to-day and I will send you free my illustrated book on Rupture and its cure, showing my Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember I use no salves, no harness, no lies.

I send on trial to prove what I say is true. You are the judge, and once having seen my illustrated book and read it you will be as enthusiastic as my hundreds of patients whose letters you can also read. Fill out free coupon below and mail to-day. It is well worth your time, whether you try my Appliance or not.

FREE INFORMATION CU PON

C. E. Brooks, 4940 Brooks Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Please send me by mail in plain wrapper your illustrated book and full information about your Appliance for the cure of rupture.

Name .....

Address .....

City ..... State .....

Just Like Uncle Sam.

St. Petersburg, March 18.—Large bodies of Russian troops en route for China are concentrated at Sharkent, about sixty miles west of Kulja.

An official communication announcing the movement of the troops euphemistically describes it as "a test of mobilization."

Wigg—I saw you coming out of Dr. Bigfee's office the other day. What have you got?

Wagg—Nothing now; I just paid his bill.—Philadelphia Record.

Could Not Walk Ten Yards Without Resting.

WEAK HEART WAS THE CAUSE.

Mrs. Robinson Collette, Rogersville, N.B., writes: "I am now enjoying the best of health after having used your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was troubled with a weak heart and was afraid to draw a long breath for the pain it would cause me. I could not sleep at night, and it was impossible for me to walk ten yards without resting myself. I cannot speak too highly of your Heart and Nerve Pills, for they are the greatest pill I have ever used and I can recommend them to all sufferers."

Thousands of people go about their daily work on the verge of death and yet do not know it.

Little attention is paid to the slight weakness of the heart for the simple reason that one thinks it will right itself, but there is where the mistake is made. It is only when a violent shock comes that the weakness of the heart becomes apparent.

On the first sign of any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown, the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will soon produce a quick and permanent cure.

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The flavor, fragrance and deliciousness of

SALADA TEA

make it the favorite of all lovers of good tea.

Sealed lead packages only.

WHITNEY ON TARIFF

Studholme, Labour Member, Votes With the Liberals Against the Government in Division on MacKay's Amendment

VOTE WAS TAKEN

Toronto, March 18.—Ringing cheers for the King and a demonstration of loyalty unexampled in the history of the Ontario Legislature formed the climax to the reciprocity debate.

The galleries were crowded with spectators when the House opened yesterday afternoon, and the preliminaries on the order paper were made short work of. When the Prime Minister rose to close the discussion, by a reply to Thursday's lengthy address of the leader of the Opposition, expectancy was keyed up to a high pitch. Prolonged applause came from the Government supporters, and their chief proved his prowess by a vigorous address.

The anti-reciprocity resolution of the Premier was carried on a straight party division, Allan Studholme, the Labor member, voting with the Opposition. Hon. A. G. MacKay's amendment was first defeated by 75 to 17, and the resolution carried by 74 to 17. Hon. I. B. Lucas was absent when the later division occurred.

"It is my purpose this afternoon," said the Premier, "to make some observations on the subject before this House and some observations in relation to certain statements in the amendment, the like of which were never before seen in this House.

"My hon. friend, the leader of the Opposition, spoke yesterday for an hour and a half; read a compilation of mixed statistics, the truthfulness of which is not in question; and gave a wicked compilation of quotations respecting the attitude of a prominent Canadian statesman of the past."

"The remarkable feature of the addresses on this subject from the other side of the House is that all the speakers, from the whip down to the leader, have dwelt on the mere sordid dollar. They have not discussed the question of the effect on the Empire, but have only discussed the very slight higher price paid in Buffalo for hogs and lambs.

"I was struck with the circumstance that the member for West Huron stated that Mr. Taft was not the tempter. The tempter was the market in Buffalo. He contrasted Toronto and Buffalo, but did not mention the wider difference between the prices in Buffalo and Chicago and Omaha.

"The amendment suggests that the loyalty of Canada is a purchasable property."

There has been no direct attempt to answer the statements of Mr. Taft, J. J. Hill, Champ Clark and Senator Beveridge that reciprocity will draw Canada towards the United States. The only effect, according to the Opposition leader's speech, will be two cents more a pound for lamb and $1 per cwt. more for hogs.

The serious effect would be that it would separate our east from our west. That just as we have fastened the hooks of commercial activity on all parts of Canada, that as Canadians have just stepped out on the mountain of nationhood, the tempter appears and the Dominion is asked to step aside and abandon her nationality. The American politicians do not expect immediate annexation, but their whole idea is to gradually lead the people of Canada towards annexation.

A scene of inspiring patriotism was the sequel. Differences of resolution and amendment appeared to become forgotten. Capt. Machin, Kenora, led off by starting the "Maple Leaf." Alex. Muir's matchless Canadian anthem was rendered with impressive force and vigor by the hundred sturdy legislators, irrespective of party. The chorus of "Rule Britannia" followed, and instinctively every person present rose in every part of the House, including all the galleries, and "God Save the King," attested by its volume and ring that the Ontario Legislature is British to the core.

Cheers for the King scarcely sufficed to give full vent to the enthusiasm of the inspiring moment.

The division was on strict party lines, except that Allan Studholme, who usually votes with the Government, voted for the amendment.

Camorra Trial.

Viterbo, Italy, March 18.—The entire session of the trial of the 36 Camorrists was taken up yesterday by the cross-examination of Corrado Sortino and Nicola Morra, both of whom are accused of the actual murder of Gennaro Cuocolo. Both men strenuously denied the charge, and in an endeavor to prove an alibi testified that at the time Cuocolo was killed they were under police surveillance and could not possibly have left Naples to go to Torre del Greco, where the murder occurred.

Sortino attempted to justify the scars on his hand, which, according to evidence adduced, were received from Cuocolo, while Sortino was killing him, by saying that one of them was caused by a pair of scissors and the other by the point of a hat pin.

Both Sortino and Morra have had criminal records.

NEW LINE PLANNED

May Be an Eastern Link for the Canadian Northern—From Quebec to the Sea Will be the Route

MALCOLM INTERESTED

Montreal, March 18.—It is apparent that still another railway is to be built from Quebec to St. John and Halifax, and the statement is made that if the people of the lower provinces persist in keeping the I.C.R. under Government control that the new line will be handed over to the Canadian Northern as constituting their Atlantic section.

It was announced the other day that Mr. Thomas Malcolm, who has just completed the International from Campbellton to St. Leonards on the St. John River, would build the river railway from Grand Falls to St. John and over country to Moncton from Fredericton.

It appears, however, that Mr. Malcolm, who owns the Quebec and New Brunswick charter, has a more formidable project on hand, and will construct the Quebec and New Brunswick line as part of the system. By this route the distance from Quebec to St. Leonards, on the St. John, is 174 miles, from St. Leonards to Grand Falls, 12 miles, from Grand Falls to Woodstock, 74 miles, and from Woodstock to Fredericton, 62 miles, and from Fredericton to St. John, 80 miles, or 402 in all.

Then it is proposed in order to form an alternate route through to Halifax to run across country from Fredericton to Moncton and on to Halifax.

WONDERFUL CURE IN BONAVENTURE

Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Cause a Sensation

They cured Dame Aubin Bonne, who for fifteen years, had endured the tortures of Diabetes — Interview with Dame Bonne.

Musselyville, Bonaventure Co., Que., March 17.—(Special.)—"I suffered all that any person could endure." These are the words of Dame Aubin Bionne of this place, in telling of her wonderful cure from Diabetes, which held her in its grasp for fifteen years. She declares that Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else must get the credit for her cure.

"I had pains in my head and back and stiffness of the joints," Dame Bonne continues. "I lost my appetite and suffered from Heart Disease and had difficulty in breathing. Doctors attended me but they could do me no good.

"After fifteen years of constant suffering I was persuaded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used fifteen boxes and now I can do my own work. Do you wonder that I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills?"

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured Dame Bonne because all her ailments were of or from the Kidneys. If you have Kidney Disease in any form don't wait fifteen years for someone to persuade you. Use Dodd's Kidney Pills and be cured.

Gets Ten Years.

Chicago, March 18.—Judge Landis in the U. S. District Court yesterday sentenced Edward S. Nichols, who was convicted of having enticed Elsie Ferrier, 13 years old, to Hammond, Ind., in violation of the Mann "White Slave" statute, to ten years' imprisonment in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

While the court was reading sentence, secret service operatives of the department of justice were arresting Jacob Finklestein on the charge of having placed his young wife in improper places in El Paso, in Mexico, and in California, and of abandoning her thereafter, taking $5,000 of her earnings to purchase a saloon property.

Let Colonies Send Members.

London, March 18.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Irish Times says: "If it is really desire dto introduce fresh blood into the Upper House and at the same time justify the title of an Imperial Parliament, we see no better way than by giving considerable representation to the great dominions."

LAID UP FIVE YEARS

Until Half a Bottle of Father Morrisey's Liniment Cured His Shoulder.

Mr. Jos. J. Ray, a prominent tinsmith of Bathurst, N.B., July 16, 1909:

"I cannot let this opportunity pass without letting you know what benefit I received from your Liniment. For five years I had a sore shoulder, which prevented me from working or from sleeping at night. I had tried everything possible and still could find no relief, until I was advised to try a bottle of your liniment, which I purchased without delay. I only used one half of the bottle when I was completely cured, and now I feel as if I never had a sore shoulder. I would advise anyone suffering from Rheumatic pains to give your liniment a trial, for I cannot praise it too highly."

A liniment that will do that is the liniment you want. It is equally good for sore throat or chest, backache, toothache, ear ache, sprains, sore muscles, cuts, bruises, burns, frost-bites, chapped hands or chilblains. Rub it in, and the pain comes out. o 25c per bottle at your dealer's, or from Father Morrisey Medicine Co., L'td, Montreal, Que.

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

WORK WITHOUT FATIGUE

You won't feel exhausted when you take

EPPS'S COCOA FOR BREAKFAST!

It will sustain you as nothing else will—there is strength in every particle of it. As a supper beverage it is perfect.

A Pointer on Securing a Position

State definitely what you can do. A man who can "do anything" can usually do nothing very well. There is one thing you can do better than anything else.

Say what it is and Use "Examiner" Want Ads.

NORDHEIMER

"Quality Tone"

Pianos and Player Pianos

THE REPUTATION AND QUALITY OF THE NORDHEIMER SELLS IT

To own a NORDHEIMER means a New Enthusiasm and New Delight in a Piano that is richly excellent in Tone and beauty, full of volume and sweetness. It reflects upon its owner an exclusive distinction. It indicates a buyer of judgment, one who recognizes its suberb quality throughout. The NORDHEIMER satisfies the most exacting buyers which is the best evidence of its merit; and furthermore it imposes upon its buyers no penalty of price beyond value.

LISTEN

This is the exact statement made by the judges at the Franco-British exhibition in July, 1908. "Pianos were shown by Nordheimer of Toronto, Williams of Oshawa, Martin Orme of Ottawa, Bell of Guelph, Leach of Montreal, Gerhard Heintzman of Toronto, and Newcombe of Toronto. Those that we tried were excellent in touch and tone, though one or two needed tuning after the voyage. The NORDHEIMER, in PARTICULAR need fear no comparison with ANY competitor, and it is a matter of congratulation that such EXCELLENT instruments are manufactured in Canada."

Used Instruments Taken In Exchange

Terms To Suit

JOS. J. DUFFUS

District Representative

Phone 255

The NORDHEIMER PIANOS are on Exhibition at 309 George St.

Sudbury Link.

Montreal, March 18.—The official announcement was made for the first time here yesterday as to the probable date of the opening of the Canadian Northern Railway from ocean to ocean. Mr. D. B. Hanna, en route for Quebec, stated that the several links would be hitched up by the fall of 1914, and the third vice-president also confirmed the statement to the effect that the five hundred-mile stretch from Sudbury to Port Arthur will be built in two years' time.

Mr. Hanna likewise expects that by that time there will be no less than six trains daily running from Montreal and Toronto to the Pacific Coast, two to be operated by the C.P.R., two by the Grand Trunk Pacific and two by the Canadian Northern. He also wants to know why, if Canada can give business enough for six daily transcontinental trains, why can she not support at least a daily steamer from Great Britain to the Canadian ports? This is what he says will happen, and travelers from Bristol to Halifax will only pass four nights on shipboard.

"There is no room for knockers here in Canada," said the third vice-president in conclusion, "and there is also room for three great railways."

Deserter Won't Back.

London, March 18.—Colin Duncan Mackenzie has surrendered to Plymouth police for deserting from the Seaforth Highlanders. He deserted in 1909, went to Canada, and it is alleged made a lot of money in Saskatchewan. He returned voluntarily at his own expense, and says he intends after receiving punishment purchasing his discharge and returning to Canada.

About One Cent on the Dollar.

Montreal, March 18.—About one cent on the dollar is the latest estimate of the dividend of the seekers of wealth who sought quick and easy fortunes through the medium of Charles D. Sheldon's "Blind Pool."

According to Mr. Burnett, of the firm of Wilkes & Burnett, who are the curators of the estate of the one-time financial "wizard" of 189 St. James street, there is at present but little more than $15,000 in receipts available to divide among the unfortunate creditors, whose losses total up in the neighborhood of $800,000.

Nearly $7,000 must come out of the $15,000 to provide for expenses, legal and otherwise, in connection with the winding up of the "Investment Broker's" business.

Some little ray of hope, however, was held out to the creditors by Mr. Burnett, who said that if the law suit which the curators had taken against a certain party for the recovery of $14,000 or $15,000 was successful, twenty or more other suits would be instituted to recover amounts which, if not quite as large as the first one, would swell the total receipts for distribution considerably.

Explosion Caused Fire.

Barrie, March 18.—An explosion in the cellar of J. R. Hambly's hardware store Thursday afternoon was responsible for a $17,000 fire.

V. Hambly, nephew of the proprietor, was very badly burned about the head by the explosion.

The loss to stock is estimated at $15,000, on which there is $9,000 insurance. The damage to the building, which is owned by Mrs. James Plummer, Toronto, amounted to about $2,500, and is fully covered by insurance.

MEN'S MALADIES

Skin Diseases, Private Ailments, Nervous Debility, Kidney and Bladder Affections, Blood Disease affecting throat, mouth and skin, Losses and Impaired Vitality, chronic, deep-seated or seemingly incurable

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED

Many years experience gives ability to cope with your case. Consultation free. Call or write. Medicines sent to any address.

Dr. John Reeve
295 Sherbourne St., Toronto
Hours 9 to 9

OFFER IS APPRECIATED

The two special offers contained in the large display advertisement of Special Tailors, Limited, attracted a large number of appreciative buyers on the first three days during which the offer holds good, and it was well that Mr. Huff had provided an extra large stock of the goods from which the suit and overcoat orders are to be made. Big as was the demand, Mr. Huff assured the Examiner representative that the supply of the four cloths that are being shown, is ample to meet all requirements, so that all who come at any time before Monday night, can be sure of a chance at one or both of these unusually attractive propositions.

LARGE SHIPMENT

As an instance of the importance of apparently small things in trade, Messrs. Hopwoods Limited passed through the Customs this week a shipment from a large Birmingham manufacturer of wire hairpins, weighing 2125 pounds. This should enable the retail merchants to keep the dressing tables of their lady customers supplied with this necessary little adjunct for some time.

CURLING

Two games were played for the fourth round of Consolation and three for the fifth round last night. They were as follows:

4th Round Consolation.

Greer, skip 11, Morrow, skip 12.
Pincheon skip 14, Thompson skip 9.

5th Round Consolation.

Wightman skip 14, Morrow skip 13.
Pincheon skip 5, Fitzgerald skip 18.
Lockhart skip 8, Brightman skip 12.

The line up for the semi-finals, which are to be played to-day are as follows: Messrs. Wightman, Fitzgerald; Brightman, Stevenson.

The Irish and Scotch match which was played yesterday resulted in a draw. Four games were played altogether, with the following skips in command.

Irish	Scotch
Yeates skip 8	Taylor skip 19
Neil skip 11	Ferguson skip 9
Waddell skip 11	Lang skip 6
Stevenson skip 10	McDermid skip

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

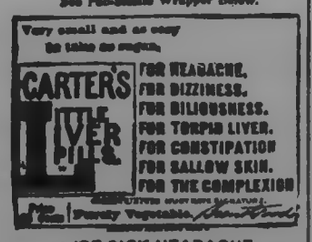
Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.



CURE SICK HEADACHE

The Spring Suit

Before deciding on the Spring Suit, better investigate all round. With a chance to show you our high class goods, expert workmanship, and

Latest New York Styles

we are willing then to leave the decision to you. No better goods anywhere, no work quite so select, and prices very reasonable.

Come early for prompt delivery

Good Girls Wanted

I. GOLDBERG
Ladies' Tailor
Phone 1267. : 452 George St.

TRANSFORMER DEPARTMENT HELD FINE BANQUET

C. G. E. Employees Say Farewell to Mr. R. F. Pier, Who is Leaving the City.

A PRESENTATION MADE

An interesting event took place in the Oriental hotel last evening when the employees of the Transformer Department of the Canadian General Electric Works held a banquet in honour of Mr. R. F. Pier, foreman of the department for the last fourteen months, who is leaving to accept a position in Cincinnati. About forty gathered around the festive board and did ample justice to the many good things provided by Mine Host Graham in his usual efficient manner.

Mr. W. Allan filled the position of toast master gracefully and the affair was most enjoyable. Mr. Pier has been most popular with the employees and the speeches of the evening teemed with regret at his departure and well wishes for his future success. The following toast list was honoured:

"The King."

"The Canadian General Electric Company," proposed by Mr. Frank Convery. Responded to by Mr. Wilson of the Test Department.

"The Transformer Department," proposed by Mr. Jack Stiner and responded to by Mr. Jos. Hopkins.

"Our Departing Guest," proposed by Mr. Allen, and responded to by Mr. Pier.

"Departmental Bosses," proposed by Mr. L. Campbell and responded to by Messrs. Stiner, Grosse and Gordon.

"Transformer Hockey Team," proposed by Mr. Pier and responded to by Mr. Bert Dorris.

"The Ladies," proposed by Mr. Alf. Ellis and responded to by Mr. James Derocher.

"Our Sister Departments," proposed by Mr. Wilson and responded to by Mr. Robt. Cottrell.

"The Press."

"Our Host."

During the programme enjoyable vocal selections were given by Messrs Stacey, Townrow and Allan and well played instrumental selections by Mr. Barry.

In the afternoon the employees of the Transformer gave other evidence of their esteem for Mr. Pier by presenting him with an eulogistic address and a handsome pipe and tobacco jar. The address was read by Mr. Bert Dorris and the presentation made by Mr. Wm. Jamieson.

THE BROCK ST. ROLLER RINK OPENS TUESDAY

Lovers of roller skating will be glad to learn that the popular Brock street rink will open for the present season on Tuesday night of next week. Mr. L. E. Pitcher has taken over the rink for the summer months and is making elaborate preparationse for the coming season. To-day Mr. T. Jacks, of Toronto, is here with his surface machine putting the floor in the best possible shape for the opening on Tuesday night and a perfect surface will be the result. During the winter the rink has been equipped with new skates throughout, the latest and best skates on the market having been secured and the patrons will be delighted when they try the new rollers. New music for the military organ has been arranged for and a lot of new and popular selections purchased. Mr. Pitcher is looking forward to the most successful season in the history of Brock street rink and with the many improvements that have been made, his prophecy looks as if it will be realized.

VARIETY OF CASES IN TO-DAY'S POLICE COURT

Another very profitable session of police court took place this morning. Three drunks and two vags appeared before His Worship, Magistrate Dumble. The first called, was a young man from Buckhorn. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2.00.

Geo. Selby a local man, pleaded not guilty to the charge of drunk and disorderly, but was convicted and fined $2.00.

James Hiles appeared on the same charge. He pleaded guilty, and was fined $2.00 to be paid forthwith. He could not pay the fine, so will spend ten days on the hill.

James Gordon was charged with vagrancy. Detective Newhall stated that the accused was on Simcoe street in front of Laroque's hotel and was stopping people and asking them for money. He stated that the prisoner came from Lindsay and was just tramping through. When arrested, the prisoner used very abusive language. The prisoner piped up that the witness was either mistaken or was deliberately lying. He said that he came from Perth and was going to Lindsay. The magistrate told him that he might go if he would leave the city immediately. The accused promised and shuffled out of court.

John Burns was charged with vagrancy also. He pleaded guilty. He had stopped at the police station two nights. He said that he came from Lindsay, too. The Magistrate advised him of the fact that he might do all right for Lindsay, but Peterborough did not want men like him. He was allowed to go on the promise that he also would get out of the city at once. He skidooed.

North Monaghan and Fowlers Corners Rural Mail Delivery Is In Sight

The Post Office Department at Ottawa have arranged to invite tenders for Rural Mail Delivery on what is known as the "Fowlers Corners" and the "North Monaghan" route. As soon as the routine proceedings in connection with receiving and awarding tenders are completed, which will probably be within a fortnight, the farmers living on these routes, who wish to do so, will enjoy the advantages of having their mail matter delivered at their doors every day.

The routes to be covered by daily mail delivery are as follows:

Between Peterborough and Fowlers place of beginningff, Jackson's Park; and coming out at the cheese factory on the Fourth Concession, going West to Fowlers Corners, then going South two concessions, and East to the place of beginning, Jackson's Park, thence West to the Boundary Line on first concession, and South to the Thirteenth Concession of North Monaghan, thence East to the old tollgate West of Mr. R. A. Morrow's residence.

EARL GREY BENEFIT CONCERT FOR MISS CHOATE, VIOLINISTE

Miss Julia Choate, the brilliant young Peterborough violiniste, who, it will be remembered, won the silver medal at the Earl Grey competition in Toronto last year, desires to attend a similar competition to be held in Winnipeg this year, the week following April 24th.

Winnipeg is a long distance and the expense of travelling and hotel living will be rather heavy. Therefore Miss Choate's friends and admirers of her exceptional musical ability suggest a benefit concert, and this will be given in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Friday evening, April 7th, when an execellent programme will be presented by Miss Choate and others, including Miss Wellington, of Toronto, a noted reader. As one of her contributions to the programme Miss Choate will perform the selection prescribed for the Winnipeg competition, to be performed by all contestants. This selection is the beautiful composition, "Legende," by Wieniawski, a plaintive minor melody, enriched with musical embellishments and very difficult of effective presentation.

While this, wtih Miss Choate's other numbers, and the general programme will make the concert intrinsically worth attending, the most talented young violiniste deserves hte support and sympathy of the public of Peterborough. She has done much by previous successes to advance and uphold the musical credit of the city, and she will, it is certain, add new laurels to crown, as well as amplify the musical good name of Peterborough, if she has an opportunity to enter and play at the Earl Grey competition in Winnipeg on April 24th, and following days.

Peterborough has been generous in encouraging other promising Peterborough musicians, and Miss Choate has strong claims upon our music-loving citizens.

The admission to the concert on April 7th, has been placed at popular figures—25 cents to all parts of the house—so that no one need be debarred from assisting one of our clevereat musicians to achieve new triumphs and add to the good name of Peterborough.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

As will be seen by the appended list of books the Library Board has started to make substantial additions to its stock. The new arrivals are mostly in the reference and historical line, and so may not appeal to the average reader, but amongst them there will be found books of rare use-fulness and enjoyment to those who indulge in that particular class of literature. Landor's story of Tibet and Nepal should be especially interesting from the fact that that intrepid traveller a few years ago suffered terrible tortures in this land of Tibet at the hands of the fanatical inhabitants. There is an interest lent to any books from that author, also from the fact that he is a close connection of the famous Walter Savage Landor, who was one of the most brilliant of the mid-Victorian men of letters.

The librarian appeals to the public to take especial care as to the disposition of books when they are taken out to be examined at the shelves. If a book is laid down at haphazard, after being taken from its rightful resting place the amount of trouble entailed in locating it for the next person to examine it is sometimes very great. Time is precious always but especially so at the present when so many things have to be attended to in order to get matters into smooth working condition.

The number of persons now on the library books amounts to 1,027:

"Haunters of the Silences"—Roberts.
"Red Fox"—Roberts.
"Watchers of the Trail"—Roberts.
"Encyclopaedia of Music"—Stokes.
"The French People"—Hassell.
"The Spanish People"—Hume.
"Sporting Sketches"—Sandys.
"Forty-one years in India"—Roberts (Gen.)
"Thomas Carlyle; the Man and His Books"—Wylie.
"History of the Middle Ages"—Ferguson.
"The Folk of the Wild"—Atkey.
"Backgrounds of Literature"—Mabie.
"How It Is Made"—Williams.
"Shakespeare, the Boy"—Rolph.
"The Mirror of the Century"—Lord.
"Cradle of New France"—Doughty
"Spain as it Was and Is"—Hildreth.
"Four Centuries of English Letters'—Scoones.
"Historical Memoirs"—Wraxall.
"Story of Gladstone's Life"—McCarthy.
"Art of National Gallery"—Addison.
"Tales from Blackwood" 6 vols.
"Personal forces in modern Literature"—Rickett.
"Rabbits, Cats and Cavies"—Lane.
"Stevensoniana"—Hamerton.
"History of British Empire" 2 vols.—Dorman.
"Mountaineering in Land of Midnight Sun"—LeBlond.
"Through the Heart of Canada"—Yeigh.
"Story of British Diplomacy"—Escott.
"Last Days of Marie Antoinette"—Lenoitre.
"Travels in Far East"—Peck.
"Life of Sir John Macdonald" 2 vols.—Pope.
"Great North West"—Fountain.
"Life of Lord Dufferin" 2 vols.—Lyell.
"Old Quebec"—Parker.
"Carthage and Tunis" 2 vols.—Sladen.
"The Master of Life"—Lighthall.
"Elizabeth Montague" 2 vols.—Climensen.
"China and the Allies" 2 vols.—Landor.
"Wilful Maid"—Everett Green.
"Napper Dan"—Fenn.
"The Florence of Landor"—Whiting.
Vacation Days in Japan"—Taylor.
"Vacation Days in Japan"—Taylor
"Victorian Novelists"—Melville.
"Earth, Mountain and Tarn—Crawford Foxe.
"Constitution of Canada"—Munroe.
"Deeds of Naval Daring"—Giffard.
"Autobiography of a Seaman"—Dundonald.
"History in Scott's Novels"—Canning.
"British Writers on Classic Lands"—Canning.
"Literary Influence of British History" — Canning.
"Makers of Japan"—Morris.
"Story of an Irishman"—McCarthy
"Life of Nelson"—Mahan.
"Lord Strathcona"—Willison.
"The Earl of Elgin"—Wrong.
"The Empress Josephine," 2 vols.—Sergeant.
"Home Life in Ireland"—Lind.
"Contributions to Punch"—Thackeray.
"What's Wrong With the World"—Chesterton.
"Naples, Past and Present"—Norway.
"A Child of Nature"—Mabie.
"Nature and Culture"—Mabie.
"Life of Farrar"—Farrar.
"World's Commercial products"—Freeman.
"Beasts of the World" 2 vols. —Weed.
"English Literature" 4 vols.—Garnett and Gosse.
"Our Homes"—Sparrow.
"Pageant of British History" —Parrott.
"Britain over Seas"—Parrott.
"Young Folks Book Shelf"—Parrott.
"The North Pole"—Peary.
"Hawthorne's Country"—Clarke.
"Longfellow's Country"—Clarke.
"The High Road of Empire"—Murray.
"Damascus to Palmyra"—Thomas.
"Morocco"—Bensusan.
"The Savage South Seas"—Elkington.
"Tibet and Nepaul"—Landor.
"War Sketches in Colour"—St. Leger.
"Norway"—Jungman.
"Life of Pitt" 3 vols.—Ruville.
"Life of Wellington" — Maxwell.
"Life of Mowat" 2 vols.—Biggar.
"Lord Durham's Life and Letters"—Reid.
"Upper Canada Sketches"—Conant
"Life of George Munroe Grant"—Grant.
"Moliere's Plays"—A. R. Waller.
"Heart of the Antarctic"—Shackleton.
"Dickens' Character Portraits"—Welsh.
"Famous Trials"—Burnaby.

"Fashion-Craft" Clothes

Reasoning.

90 Per cent of FASHION-CRAFT advertising is done by the goods themselves. Every suit or overcoat sold is as lasting an advertisement as money can buy.

Every Garment Made is produced with equal care, no matter if the price be $15.00 or $30.00—The Style, Fit and Workmanship, are there.

TO BE CONVINCED VISIT SHOPS OF FASHION-CRAFT.

Peterborough Agency
A. M. Laidlaw, Prop.

The Electric Installation Co., Limited
293 George St. Phone No. 798

Electric Light, Heat & Power, Electric Bell & Annunciator.

Installations at Reasonable Rates

Let us quote on your motor installed ready to operate. Expert advice free

J. A. ASH
142 George Street South
MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
House Phone No. 799
Ltf.-24-1192

MR. T. WOODWORTH
the well known English Elocutionist, is open for engagements at Concerts, Socials, At Homes, Civic Functions, &c., to give
RECITALS—Wise and Witty! Grave and Gay
An actor-elocutionist of the highest order. —Peterborough Examiner
The audience was captured from start to finish —Peterborough Review
An exceedingly talented elocutionist—irresistably humourous. —Peterboro' Morning Times
For terms apply—222 Wolfe St., Peterboro'
1m-18

SUCCESSFUL TEA

Held by the Knox Church Ladies' Aid Society.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Knox church held a very successful tea at the home of Mrs. Campbell on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The event opened by a prayer meeting. Some sixty ladies were present and the proceeds amounted to over $10.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents

A. Brown & Co.
406 GEORGE STREET
Headquarters for all kinds of
Real Estate

$25.00 REWARD

If you can prove that the Suit and Overcoat here offered, are not the equal in material and make, of those sold regularly in Peterborough for $25.00 to $30.00.

A Great Three Days' Offer

Just at this season, when everyone is thinking of a Spring Overcoat or Suit, Our Big Special Offer Comes Opportunely

Friday, Saturday, Monday, March 17, 18, 20

Suits $19.40

Sold Regularly for $25.00 to $30.00

During the three days this offer is open, we will make to your measure and guarantee fit, style and workmanship, a top notch suit of blue worsted or vicuna suitings, guaranteed Indigo dye, the same suit as is regularly sold for $25 to $30, at the very low price of $19.40

Spring Overcoats $18.45

A Regular $25.00 to $30.00 Value

If you come on Friday, Saturday or Monday, March 17-18-20, we will measure you and make up one of our swell spring overcoats, made of black or grey vicuna cloth. Solid all wool goods of very finest quality. Silk facing to the bottom. Make style and fit positively guaranteed at our three days' sale price of $18.45

EVERYTHING MADE TO YOUR INDIVIDUAL MEASURE

We have no ready mades, everything made right here on the premises, by expert tailors. We have the goods ready for your inspection and if we cannot do exactly as we advertise we don't want your money.

A DEPOSIT OF $5 MUST ACCOMPANY ALL ORDERS. YOU CAN LEAVE YOUR DEPOSIT AND MEASURE, AND HAVE THE SUIT OR COAT MADE UP LATER IF DESIRED. REMEMBER DEPOSIT. THESE PRICES ARE FOR CASH ORDERS ONLY.

We stake our reputation on the quality of the work we put out, and hundreds of customers testify by continual patronage, that we give them first-class work always. DON'T MISS THIS CHANCE.

Special Tailors, Limited

325 George Street — OPEN EVENINGS TO TRY ON COATS — E. HUFF, Manager

PROBS—Northwesterly winds, fair. Sunday southwesterly winds, fair and comparatively mild.

ROBERT FAIR & CO., LIMITED

? The Great Question ?
—OF—
Spring Attire

WHAT IS going to be worn and what particular style or shade is most suitable, are two questions that confront about every woman at this season of the year. A visit to our store will very easily solve the problem for you.

Individual Suitings

Here is an opportunity for the woman who wants "something exclusive". There are no two patterns alike. There are checks, stripes and diagonal weaves in grey, cream, with black stripe, black, blue, cream, brown, etc., with the favorite pin stripe, the new homespun effects, and many others which space will not permit to mention. These are all of English, Scotch and French manufacture, and represent the best display we have ever shown.

French Silk Foulards

The preference for foulards this spring makes the mention of our complete stock unusually interesting. In black, green, navy, kings blue, etc., we are showing a splendid array in spot, diamond, ring and two tone effects. These are all shower proof.

New Laces & Trimmings

Laces are extensively used this season to garnish the new gowns and we are well prepared for the great demand. Every fashionable trimming is here in every desirable shade and color.

New Motor Veils

Imported direct from Paris, France; colors, white, black, cream, champagne, grey, pink, sky and navy. Ask to see them; they are very pretty.

Custom Tailoring & DRESSMAKING DEPT.

We are pleased to say this department has earned the well deserved praise of all its patrons. To avoid disappointment, orders should be sent in without delay.

Spring Millinery Exposition

This has proved more than any mere Fashion Display as evidenced by the great number of women who have already found and claimed the distinctive model that seems made for them alone. Shapes are varied as woman's needs. Hats of dainty tailored charms with just the right simplicity for the walking suit, side by side with the picture hat, makes a delightful study; each striking some new note and embodying some new ideal of elegance. We extend an invitation to all to come and see the season's latest productions.

Robt. Fair & Co.
383 George Street :: :: Limited

Grand Opera House, Saturday, Mar. 18 Matinee & Night

"The Bow-Wow Minstrels"

40—Company—40. First part 75 minutes. Melange of Mirth, Melody and Music, introducing many new and original features. 6 End Men—10 Soloists. Female Impersonator, OLIO—Lukey, Novelty Whistler; Bill Bailey, Painologist; The Kellys Ventriloquists; Ormerod, One String Fiddler; Charlebois, Habitant Impersonator; G B Hurl, Comicalities; Matt Greig, English Entertainer; Scully, Rolls & Woods, Singers, Dancers and Banjoists. Popular Prices—Evenings, any seat 50c, Gallery 25c. Matinee, any seat 25c, Children 15c. Seats now on sale

GRAND THREE NIGHTS, commencing March 23
Opera House — THURSDAY —
— The — People's Favorite Tom Marks and His Company of Fun Makers

In Comedy Dramas presenting
Thursday Night, The Cyclone of Fun "A FOOL AND HIS MONEY"
Friday Night, The Great English Comedy "WANTED A HUSBAND" or "THE MARRIAGE OF KITTY"
Saturday Night, The Side-Splitting Irish Comedy "CASEY'S TROUBLES"
PRICES—10c, 20c and 25c Sd Seat sale opens Tuesday morning

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Probabilities.

Northwesterly winds, fair. Sunday, south-westerly winds, fair and comparatively mild.

"Echoes of the Mission".

—Rev. Canon Davidson's subject in St. John's church to-morrow evening will be "Echoes of the Toronto Mission."

Madrigal Club Concert.

—Concert given by the Conservatory Madrigal Club and Orchestra in the Conservatory Music Hall, Tuesday evening, March 28. Admission 25 cents.

A Popular Lecture.

Don't miss the lecture, "The Making of the Nation," by Rev. John McNeil, Tuesday, March 21st, at Murray Street Baptist church. Tickets on sale at Porter S. White's grocery.

Garrison Signalling Class.

All those who desire to enrol in the above class are required to parade at the Armouries on Monday, March 20th, at 8 o'clock p.m. G. K. Rackham, Sig. Lieut.

Meeting of Court Langton.

—On Monday, at 8 p.m. the regular meeting of Court Langton, 344, will be held, when all the brethren are requested to attend for the initiation of candidates.—W. J. Kanter, C.B., Wm. Stevens, Cor.-Sec.

Scout Meeting.

The 2nd troop of scouts will hold a meeting in the drill hall of the armouries to-night at 8 o'clock sharp. Every member is urged to be on hand, as arrangements will be made for the church parade to-morrow.

Dried Fruits.

4 lbs. dates for 25c.; 3 lbs. cooking figs 25c.; fresh prunes 10c. lb. Extra quality of canned peas, corn, tomatoes (Gazelle brand) 2 for 25c. Maple syrup 30c. quart. JAMES R. BELL, 43 Hunter street east; 161 Hunter street west.

Executive to Meet.

A meeting of the newly elected executive of the Children's Aid Society will be held at the residence of Mrs. Hopwood, 113 Simcoe street, on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Every member is earnestly requested to be present to plan the work for the season.

Piano Recital.

Miss Lora Newman (pupil of Leschetizky, Vienna), and teacher of piano at the Conservatory of Music, Peterborough, will give a piano recital in the Conservatory Hall, on Friday evening, March 24th. There will be assisting artists. Collection for benefit of the Children's Aid. Further announcements will appear.

At S. A. Oke's, successor to H. P. Kennedy.

FISH—Fresh fish, Halibut, Salmon, Sea Herrings, Seal Shipt Oysters. VEGETABLES — Carrots, parsnips, beets, cabbage, celery, fresh lettuce parsley and green onions daily; guaranteed new laid eggs. Meats, Prime beef, lamb and pork, always in stock —S. A. OKE, 340 George street. 'Phon e275.

Applying For Letters of Administration.

"The Trusts & Guarantee Company, Limited, Toronto, are applying for letters of administration in the Estate of the late Daniel James Ratley, of Toronto, who died on or about February 26th, 1911. The Estate consists chiefly of household goods and furniture, and salary owing deceased."

Housecleaning Made Easy.

—Before you decide how you will clean your carpets, call us up or drop in and see the work our machines will do. We can thoroughly clean the carpets of an ordinary sized house in three hours, without any inconvenience to you and at a very small cost.—The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Co., 365 Water St., (near Cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

Guild of Good Fellowship.

The usual meeting of the St. John's Guild of Good Fellowship will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Princess Theatre. The subject of the address will be "Life Partnerships," and will discuss some phases of the marriage problems of to-day. All men of 18 years or over, will be heartily welcomed. In the Princess Theatre to-morrow, at 3 o'clock.

On the Free List.

—Florida Grape Fruit, Pineapples Sunkist Seedless Oranges, Bananas, and Lemons. Our stock is complete and prices are low. Also in stock, Cauliflowers, Strawberries, Boston Head Lettuce, Ripe Tomatoes, Rhubarb, Celery, Green Onions, Spanish Onions; fish of all kinds. Sealshipt Oysters, Vegetables, etc.—Walter J. Oke, 376 George street. Bell 'Phones 18 and 19.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

The Ladies of Peterborough May Now Grow Beautiful Hair

McDermid and Jury backed up by the manufacturers of SALVIA, the Great Hair Grower, guarantee it to grow hair.

SALVIA destroys Dandruff in ten days.

The roots of the hair is so nourished and fed that a new crop of hair springs up, to the amazement and delight of the user. The hair is made soft and fluffy. Like all American preparations SALVIA is daintily perfumed. It is hard to find an actress who does not use SALVIA continuously. A large bottle for 50c.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. J. W. Ison, of Toronto, is at the Oriental.

Mr. Byard Young, of Perth, is staying at the Oriental.

Mr. F. H. Frost, of Perth, is a guest at the Oriental.

Mr. A. E. Wilson of Perry Town, is a visitor in the city.

Mr. J. T. Barry, of Prescott, is a guest at the Hotel National.

Mr. H. S. Haskell of Port Hope, is a guest at the White House.

Mr. H. Donnelly, of Orillia, is registered at the Snowden House.

Mr. A. E. Washburn of Myrtle, is registered at the Snowden House.

Mr. J. B. Diamond, of Campbellford, is a guest at the Munro House.

Mr. Geo. Walsh of Ogdensburg, N.Y., is a guest at the White House.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Neilson, of Otonabee, are registered at the Munro House.

Mrs. M. S. Farrell, of Madoc, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. T. W. Meredith, Lock street.

Mr. Pickering, G.T.R. telegraph operator at Lindsay, and formerly station operator in this city, was in the city to-day.

Mr. Henry M. Carver left this morning for his home in Caledonia, after visiting his two brothers, Osway and S. D. Carver, of North Monaghan.

Capt. P. J. Young, of Young's Point and Mr. Leo Young of Peterborough, have returned from a trip to New York and Rochester, N.Y.

Headquarters for Ladies' Waists
Special This Week Only

We have just received from the factory a lot of waists and skirts which we will sell at prices not to be equalled in town. No traveller's expenses or express charges. Goods are all manufactured in town.

5 dozen Print Waists in light and dark colours, self collar and turn back cuffs, regular 75c for 50c
10 dozen White Waists, several designs, some with clusters of tuck and insertion others with yoke effects, regular $1.25 for 59c
5 dozen White Waists, with all over embroidery fronts, trimmed with val ace and insertions, 1.50, 1.75 special 98c
Corset Covers. See these all 60c goods for 29c
$5.00 SKIRTS For $2.98

Gemmel's Store
208 Charlotte Street

LADY NORAH NOEL
Soprano Soloist with the Sheffield Choir os 200 Voices, Grand Opera House, Monday, April 3rd

Electric Restorer for Men
Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension; restores vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will make you a new man. Price $3 a box, or two for $5. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

ONTARIO BANK LOTS
On George St. South, opposite King Edward Park, 30x100 ft. to lane. From now until April 1st, I will sell the remaining 4 Lots at a discount, $50 down, then $5.00 per month. Interest 5%. First come, first served.
Lots on Cambridge St. $8.00 per foot.

THE DUMBLE HOMESTEAD
Parties desiring to purchase Building Lots on this fine property may see the plan and learn the particulars at my office.
D. W. DUMBLE
m-2awts37

ABOUT THE OIL

Mr. Potvin Denies That He is in Favour of It's Use.

Mr. J. Potvin, the George street confectioner, wishes the Examiner to state on his behalf that he made no remarks as ascribed to him by Ald. Duncan that the oil on the streets was not objected to by him. He is strongly opposed to it from past experience, but says that if the Council insist on the oil going on, that late on Saturday night would be the best time for it and the only time that would lessen the evil.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto the Queen City of Canada is the important business and tourist centre of the Dominion, its many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens, are the admiration of many thousands of visitors throughout the year.

One of the best hotels in Canada is located here, the old established "Queen's", a hostelry that is especially popular with all discriminating people, standing in its own beautiful and extensive grounds, it has an air of quiet and refinement that appeals strongly to the home-lover, its fame is far reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. 3

The "Queen's" is operated on the American and European Plan, the rates being: Rooms without Bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up. Rooms with Bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up. Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up.

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.
Agents for
Galt & Eastlake Steel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Sidings, Plasters iron corner bead Ventilators, etc.
All kinds of prepared Ready Roofing
including Brantford, Ruberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.
Maitland & Moore
General Roofing Contractors
Phone 775. : 344 Water St

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a line by mail and we will attend to it at once.
A. LOW & COMPANY

The Churches.

ANGLICAN.

St. John's Church.
REV. J. C. DAVIDSON, Rector
REV. CHARLES CARPENTER, Assistant.

Third Sunday in Lent.
Holy Communion, 8.30.
Matins and Sermon, 11 a.m.
Venite 14, Benedicite 54, Benedictus 50.
Office Hymn 407, "Behold the Lamb of God."
Before Sermon 403, "Art Thou Weary."
Offertory Anthem, "Lord for Thy Tender Mercy's Sake."
Hymn 496, "In the Cross I Glory."
Sunday School and Bible Class 3 p.m.
Rev. Charles Carpenter, Guild of Good Fellowship, Princess Theatre.
7 p.m.—Evensong and Sermon.
Gloria 86, Magnificat 174, Nunc Dimittis 55.
Office Hymn 764 "Jesus My Saviour."
Before Sermon 765, "More Love to Thee."
Anthem, "Sweet is Thy Mercy (Barnby)
Hymn 591, "O, the Bitter Shame and Sorrow."

St. Luke's Church.
REV. DR. E. A. LANGFELDT, M.A., Rector

Third Sunday in Lent.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Holy Communion and Sermon.
3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes
7 p.m.—Evening Song and Sermon.
Lenten service, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

All Saints Church
REV. H. R. TRUMPOUR, M.A., B.D., Rector

3rd Sunday in Lent.
8.30 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11.00 a.m.—Prayer and Sermon 3rd Lenten sermon on "Things Concerning Christ" "The Grace of Christ."
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
3.00 p.m.—Rector's Men's Bible Class.
3.00 p.m.—Mr. Sisson Ladies' Bible Class.
4.10 p.m.—Holy Baptism.
7 p.m.—Evening Prayer and sermon. 2nd Lenten sermon on "The Twelve Apostles, St. John." The Rector will preach at both services.

The Rector of All Saints will preach according to his usual custom a morning and evening course of sermons during Lent.

In the morning the course will be: Things Concerning Christ," as follows: March 5th, "The Claims of Christ," March 12, "The Miracles of Christ"; March 19th, "The Grace of Christ"; March 26, "The Influence of Christ"; April 2nd, "The Virgin Birth of Christ"; April 9th, "The Death of Christ"; April 16th, "The Resurrection of Christ."

In the evenings the subject will be "The Twelve Apostles." Those dealt with in Lent will be in the following order, Peter, James, John, Andrew, Matthew; Judas Iscariot; Thomas.

Lenten services during the week will be held at 4.30 on Tuesday afternoons. Confirmation classes at 7.45 on Tuesday nights, Cottage meetings in the South End on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

On Friday evenings at 8p.m. services will be held in the Church with special preachers as follows: March 24th, Rev. F. J. Sawers; March 31st, Rev. Cyril Browne, M.A., Young's Point; April 7th, Rev. C. W. Holdsworth, B.A., Havelock; April 14th,

ROMAN CATHOLIC

St. Peter's Cathedral.

There will be three masses celebrated: At 8 a.m., Low Mass; at 9.15 a.m., Children's Mass; at 10.30 a.m., High Mass; at 7 p.m., Vespers, with sermon

TO-MORROW AT SACRED HEART CHURCH

Rev. Father McGuire of Dodro will give an address on St. Patrick at the Sacred Heart Church to-morrow evening at seven o'clock.

METHODIST.

Charlotte Street Methodist.
REV. G. W. HENDERSON, PASTOR

At 10 a.m. class meeting.
11 a.m.—The Pastor.
2.30 p.m.—The Sunday School and The Men's Bible Class.
7 p.m.—The Pastor.
Monday 8 p.m.—Regular Meeting of the Epworth League.
Wednesday 8 p.m.—Prayer Praise, Book Study.
Next Sunday—Educational sermons by Rev. Dr. Graham, and Dr. Long

George Street Methodist.
REV. ISAAC COUCH, M.A., B.D., PASTOR

10 a.m.—Class Meeting
11 a.m.—The Minister will preach, subject: "Man's Need of Remembrance."
Sunday School at 2.30 p.m.
7 p.m.—The minister will take for his subject: "The Value of an Education."
On Monday evening the Epworth League will meet at 8 p.m.

Mark Street Methodist
REV. C. H. COON, PASTOR.

10 a.m.—Class Meeting.
11 a.m.—Subject: "The Church's Mission and its equipment therefore."
2.45 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—"The Authority of the Church over Life and Conduct," following a series of sermons on ethical questions

St. James Methodist.
REV. J. G. BROWN, M.A., PASTOR.

10 a.m.—Class Meetings.
Regular services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
Monday 8 p.m.—Epworth League
Wednesday 8 p.m.—Prayer Meeting.

PRESBYTERIAN.

Knox Church
REV. H. J. KEITH, B.D., M.A., PASTOR

10.30—Congregational Prayer Meeting
11 a.m.—Morning service. Subject of sermon: "The Peril of Disobedience."
3 p.m.—Brotherhood meeting for men in the Brotherhood room
6.45 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes in the Lecture Hall.
7 p.m.—Evening service. Subject: "A Narrow Margin"

St. Paul's Church.
REV. ROBERT POGUE, PASTOR.

10.30 a.m.—Congregational Prayer Meeting.
11.00 a.m.—Morning Worship. The pastor will preach.
2.30 p.m.—Sabbath School in all departments.
3.00 p.m.—"Mitto" Adult Bible Class, taught by Rev. R. Pogue.
3.00 p.m.—Young Men's Class, taught by Inspector Mowat.
3.00 p.m.—Sabbath School in all depts.
7.00 p.m.—Evening Worship. Sermon by the Pastor.

St. Andrew's Church.
REV. JAS. ROLLINS, B.A., Pastor

The pastor will preach at both services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.
3 o'clock.—Sunday School.
3 o'clock.—Young Men's Bible Class. Teacher Mr. J. A. McKone.
3 o'clock.—Young Women's Bible Class, Teacher, Mr. F. E. Kerr.
Strangers welcome.

BAPTIST

Murray Street Baptist Church
REV. J. R. WEBB, PASTOR.

11 a.m.—The Pastor preaching. Ordinance of Baptism. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper and the Reception of new members.
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—The Pastor will preach.

PARK STREET BAPTIST CHURCH
REV. W. C. RIDDIFORD, PASTOR

11 a.m.—"Work, its Peace, Purpose and Power in Jesus Christ."
3 p.m.—Bible School.
3 p.m.—Bible School, Bible Classes. Helping-hand Bible Class for Men, teacher, Rev. W. C. Riddiford. Ladies' Bible Class, teacher, Mrs. W. C. Riddiford.
7 p.m.—Sermon: "Why Baptists do not Believe in the Pope and Priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church"
Monday B.Y.P.U.—Missionary Address, by Rev. Mr. Keith of Knox Church.
Tuesday—Men's Social Club.
The Reciprocity Bill discussed.
Wednesday—Prayer and Praise Meeting.

Bethany Tabernacle.
REV. JOHN E. PEE, PASTOR.

A series of special services will commence in Bethany Tabernacle on Monday evening, March 20th, when the Rev. William Ruhl, who has for thirteen years been engaged in missionary work among the Thibetans at the border of the province of Kansaub, China, will speak.
Mr. Ruhl and Dr. Zimmerman will conduct services each evening throughout the week.

Gospel Hall.

Mr. David Walker will give his second address on Genesis to-morrow night, taking 2nd chapter, showing "Christ and His Relation to the Church." These addresses are a straight denial of the popular thought of to-day. Hear them.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST
378 Aylmer Street.

Services as follows: Sunday at 11 a.m., and 7 p.m.; Sunday School, 12.15 p.m. Wednesday, 8 p.m., Testimony Meeting. Reading Room, same address, open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, from 2 to 5 p.m., free to the public. All welcome. Subject for Sunday, March 19th, "Matter"

Salvation Army Temple

7 a.m., Early morning prayer service.
9.15 a.m., Bible Class.
11 a.m., Holiness address.
2 p.m., Sunday School.
3 p.m., Public Song and Praise Service.
7 p.m., Public Salvation Meeting.
The band will be in attendance at the morning, afternoon and evening services and will render special music.
Invitation is extended to everyone. Bring your friends.
Wednesday evening, at 8 p.m., private soldiery meeting.

Warne's EXTRAORDINARY Saturday Bargains

LADIES' DRESSING COMBS — SATURDAY 8c — Worth 20c
CLOTHES BRUSHES — SATURDAY 9c — Regular ..... 25c each
PAIN EASE — SATURDAY 10c — Regular.. 25c per bottle
AMOUR'S C. L. OIL COMP. — 40c — SATURDAY ONLY
WILLIAM'S TOOTH POWDER — SATURDAY 13c — Regular ..... 25c per tin
Macalin Disinfectant — SATURDAY 8c — Regular 25c per tin
Crushed Rose & Violet TOILET CREAM — SATURDAY 15c — Regular 20c
Twin Bar CASTILE SOAP, 3 cakes 10c — Saturday Only
OUR OWN CORN CURE — SATURDAY 14c — Regular 35c
Shaving Brush and Mug Set — SATURDAY 19c — Regular 40c the Set
Free! Free! Free! From 2 to 2.30 p.m. we will give away 100 TRIAL SIZES Colgate's Talcum Powder
POPULAR TOILET SOAP, 3 cakes 14c — SATURDAY — Regular 25c per box

SEE OUR BARGAIN WINDOW

The Warne Drug Company, Limited
351 George Street Cut-Rate Druggists Peterborough

ELECTRIC SIGNS are Good Advertising Mediums BUT Before Making Any Contracts BE SURE You Are in Right.

LET US FIGURE WITH YOU. IT WON'T COST YOU ANYTHING AND IT WILL SAVE YOU MONEY. :: ::

PHONE US AND WE WILL SEND A REPRESENTATIVE TO TALK WITH YOU

J. J. TURNER & SONS, Sign Department

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept them gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL L No. 66 PETERBOROUGH MONDAY MARCH 20 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

PROBS—Westerly winds, fair and mild to-day and on Tuesday.

ROBERT FAIR & CO., LIMITED

? The Great Question ?
—OF—
Spring Attire

WHAT IS going to be worn and what particular style or shade is most suitable, are two questions that confront about every woman at this season of the year. A visit to our store will very easily solve the problem for you.

Individual Suitings

Here is an opportunity for the woman who wants "something exclusive". There are no two patterns alike. There are checks, stripes and diagonal weaves in grey, cream, with black stripe, black, blue, cream, brown, etc., with the favorite pin stripe, the new homespun effects, and many others which space will not permit to mention. These are all of English, Scotch and French manufacture, and represent the best display we have ever shown.

French Silk Foulards

The preference for foulards this spring makes the mention of our complete stock unusually interesting. In black, green, navy, kings blue, etc., we are showing a splendid array in spot, diamond, ring and two tone effects. These are all shower proof.

New Laces & Trimmings

Laces are extensively used this season to garnish the new gowns and we are well prepared for the great demand. Every fashionable trimming is here in every desirable shade and color.

New Motor Veils

Imported direct from Paris, France; colors, white, black, cream, champagne, grey, pink, sky and navy. Ask to see them; they are very pretty.

Custom Tailoring & DRESSMAKING DEPT.

We are pleased to say this department has earned the well deserved praise of all its patrons. To avoid disappointment, orders should be sent in without delay.

Spring Millinery Exposition

This has proved more than any mere Fashion Display as evidenced by the great number of women who have already found and claimed the distinctive model that seems made for them alone. Shapes are varied as woman's needs. Hats of dainty tailored charms with just the right simplicity for the walking suit, side by side with the picture hat, makes a delightful study; each striking some new note and embodying some new ideal of elegance. We extend an invitation to all to come and see the season's latest productions.

Robt. Fair & Co.
383 George Street :: :: Limited

OPPORTUNITY

is knocking at your door—a genuine money-saving opportunity—a real chance to buy high-class Clothing and Furnishings at a fraction of the good's real value is offered you in this sale.

For Three Days only, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday we place on our tables for the first time during this the greatest of all clearing sales, all our Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds by the yard.

Ladies' Skirt Lengths
Men's Suit and Pant Lengths
Ladies' and Children's Coat Lengths
Tweeds by the yard for boy's pants or suits

H. LeBrun & Co.
Two Entrances—George & Hunter Sts.
SALE ENDS SATURDAY, MARCH 25

ROYAL
Big Attraction
2-Special Acts-2
The Harris Twins
The World's Greatest Flexible Marvels
Tom Harris
In Song and Stories
The Original Cut-up Tommie

These are two Extra Special Acts secured at extra expense from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, to replace the Japanese Troop who owing to sickness had to cancel their engagement for these three days. The Harris Twins are without a doubt the best Acrobats in America to-day, one of them is the closest Back Bender in the world bar none. Tom Harris their father is one of the world's greatest Comedians.

5—MOTION PICTURES—5
A complete change of Pictures for to-night, all new, all the best, five pictures in all, Dramas, Comedies and Educational. A Comedy Drama by Edison Co'y "The Rival Candidates", an Urban instructive picture "Our Familiar Reptiles", and other pictures.

Admission 5c & 10c

The PRINCESS
Has the Best Show of Pictures yet for To-day

Extra Special Feature:
The Price of Victory
A splendid War Drama of Napoleon Bonaparte

The Eye of Conscience
A Drama full of Human Emotions taken in Mexico

Last night to see the Greatest Cowboy film ever produced:
The Half-Breed's Plan
NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG

Come To-night and see the World's Greatest Pictures.

We Cordially Invite You to OUR SHOP

We are now prepared to show you the largest and most complete and exclusive range of Shirts ever shown in Peterboro.

These are the famous Cluett and Monarch Shirts that you hear so much about.

Cluett, Peabody and Co., of Troy, N.Y., are the makers of these famous, Shirts, and are the recognized Shirt makers of the world.

If you appreciate Fit, Style and Quality in a Shirt, you should wear a Cluett or Monarch Shirt.

The Shop of Fashion Craft
Distributers of
CLUETT and MONARCH Shirts and Arrow Collars
A. M. LAIDLAW
140 Hunter Street

Remember

Every child photographed by us previous to Dec. 1st, will be in the large group photograph of Peterborough children to be reproduced in the special 1911 Christmas Examiner

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

Money to Loan

Mortgage loans on City and Farm property at lowest current rates.

Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr
415 Water St., Peterborough

DID EDWARD JARDINE CONFESS CRIME?
LAWYER AND RELATIVES DENY STORY

Toronto Globe To-day Contained Statement That Twenty-two Year Old Prisoner Had Admitted He Cut Girl's Throat.

DOCTOR IS SILENT

Examiner Special.

TORONTO, MARCH 20.—Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons, to whom Edward Jardine, according to a morning paper, made a confession that he killed Lizzie Anderson at Goderich, would neither confirm nor deny the story this morning. Despatches from Goderich indicate that while Smith was there recently, none of the Crown authorities will mention what took place. Jardine's lawyer and relatives deny the story of the confession. The report in question appeared in the Globe to-day, as follows:

GODERICH, MARCH 19.—Edward Jardine, aged twenty-two years, now confined in the county jail here awaiting trial at the Spring Assizes next month for the alleged murder of Lizzie Anderson, has made a complete confession that he alone committed the deed. This confession was secured by Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons and Asylums, of Toronto, who was here yesterday. Chief Coroner Arthur Jukes Johnson of Toronto, was also here yesterday to examine the sanity of Jardine and George Vanstone. The latter is awaiting trial on a charge of murdering his six-year-old son here last fall. The men will be tried at the Assizes opening April 11, and Mr. George T. Blackstock, K.C., will act for the Crown.

A Former Statement.

A former examination had been made of these prisoners by Drs. R. W. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons and Asylums, and C. K. Clarke, the latter the Superintendent of the Toronto Hospital for the Insane, when verbal statements were given by Jardine, and it was in confirmation of these that Dr. Bruce Smith was at the local jail here yesterday, when the confession was repeated, and, it is stated, was signed by Jardine.

The statement contradicts his evidence given at the inquest last October, and he now admits that he enticed the Anderson girl from the fair grounds to the vacant building, a short distance away. After some altercation, in which she threatened exposure, he struck her once with the jack knife and she succumbed almost immediately.

Says He was Insane.

This murderous attack, Jardine alleges, was due to a fit of temporary insanity and later, realizing his deed he fled from the building to his home where he washed the blood from his hands and clothing. His brooding over the crime impelled him to return to the scene, where he stripped the body of its clothing by slashing away each article with his knife. Jardine's account of the method of accomplishing his work verifies the evidence of the physicians who conducted the post-mortem. It is understood that his complete confession reveals the location of the knife with which the deed was committed.

Insanity will be the defence in the case of both Jardine and Vanstone.

PRIVATE MILLINERY

Miss Anna Cuffe has returned from the Millinery Openings and is now prepared to receive orders at 527 George St. 1d66

UNKNOWN HERO WAS KILLED

Examiner Special:

CLEVELAND, O., MARCH 20.—An unknown hero died in the ambulance after he had snatched a lad from in front of a locomotive, only to fall with his burden in front of another one on the next track. The boy died from injuries, too.

Will Open An Enquiry

Special to The Examiner.

MONTREAL, QUE. MARCH 20.—Judge Barron will open an inquiry to-morrow morning into the complaints of a number of Grand Trunk strikers here, who are still out of jobs.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c

Chimes For Peterborough Have Already Been Cast

Bells Will Be Inaugurated on First Public Holiday After They Are Received---Probably on King's Birthday or Coronation Day---Tower is Pronounced Equal to Demands.

In connection with the People's Chimes it might be mentioned that advices from England indicate that the eleven bells originally ordered had been cast and the two extra one were well under way and are probably cast by this time. The designs for the massive frame of oak and steel have also been received. The whole work will probably be completed within a month or six weeks, and this fact will, it is hoped, suggest the payment of the few subscriptions not yet paid in.

The tower of St. John's church has been carefully examined by engineers and masons who pronounce it solidly built and fully equal to the great extra strain. It will, however, probably be strengthened by steel rods as a further precaution.

The Toronto Globe has arranged to devote one of its illustrated magazine sections to the public inauguration of the bells and other views connected with the church and city.

The inauguration will be fixed for the first public holiday after the bells are received. This will probably be on the King's birthday or on Coronation Day. It is expected that there will be a great public demonstration in connection with the event.

THE FLYER SMASHED INTO FREIGHT CARS

Accident on Line Between Peterborough and Lindsay ---Parlour and Baggage Cars Were Badly Damaged ---Emergency Brake Saved Situation Considerably.

An accident that might have proved fatal occurred on the Grand Trunk on Saturday morning, at a siding called Santiago, which is located between Omemee and Lindsay. It appears that a passing freight had left two box cars foul on the main line with the result that they were struck by the flyer from Lindsay, due here at 10.15 p.m. The parlour and baggage cars on the passenger train were badly damaged, also the sylinder head was blown out. But for the fact that Engineer Bonsteel on the flyer observed that the cars were on the right of way and quickly applied the emergency brakes, more serious results might have happened.

OPPOSITION TRYING TO FORCE APPEAL TO COUNTRY

Without Giving the People an Opportunity of Seeing What the Agreement If Adopted Will Do

EXCITING SCENES EXPECTED

Special to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, MARCH 20.—In accordance with a despatch sent you on Saturday, the Opposition are endeavouring to make such arrangements as will force the Government to appeal to the country on the Reciprocity issue, without first giving the people an opportunity of seeing what the agreement, if adopted, will do, or even understanding what it means. The Liberals desire to give the agreement a chance, as they are satisfied that it is in the best interests of the country. Sir John McDonald said that he was absolutely in favour of reciprocity with the United States, if he could get it, and now when reciprocity is available on a fair and common-sense basis, the Tories turn around and raise all sorts of far-fetched, fallacious arguments. The Liberals are determined that the country shall have a trial of the agreement and everything will be done that can be done to give it a trial. If the Conservatives raise any unnecessary obstruction tactics, there will be perhaps such scenes as this country has never before witnessed, or means will be devised to prevent the business of the country being blocked by obstructionists in the interests of party advantage. If Congress refuses to ratify the agreement, then, of course, the tactics of both Canadian parties may alter considerably.

FISHING SEASON HAS BEEN MOST DISASTROUS

Special to The Examiner.

BOSTON, MASS., MARCH 20.—The records published to-day indicate the season just ending has been most disastrous among the fishing and coasting vessels of the New England, Canadian and New Foundland register. At least 125 men have lost their lives on these coasts since October last, and a million dollars' worth of property was destroyed by rock, waves and fire. There were seventy total wrecks between New York and Labrador.

REQUIRED SIX POLICEMEN TO ARREST INSANE MAN

Examiner Special.

MONTREAL, MARCH 20.—It took six policemen to capture and hold Joseph Laporte, the well-known contractor, who, becoming suddenly insane, in his lawyer's office, seized the typewriting machine and hurled it out of the window, and smashed the furniture till everybody fled from the office in terror. He was sent to an asylum and put in a straight-jacket for examination.

THE BILL IS APPROVED

Special to The Examiner.

TORONTO, MARCH 20.—The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board to-day approved the Peterborough by-law authorizing the city to issue debentures for the $10,000 necessarily expended to enable the Water Commissioners to proceed with the extension of 1910.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS

To Western Canada (via Chicago) including certain points on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, April 4th, 18th, May 2nd, 16th, 30th, June 13th, 27th, July 11th, 25th, August 8th, 22nd, September 5th, 19th. Winnipeg and return, $33; Edmonton and return, $41. Tickets good for 60 days. Proportionate rates to principal points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Homeseekers' excursion tickets will also be on sale on certain dates via Sarnia and the Northern Navigation Company. Secure tickets and illustrated literature from any Grand Trunk agent, or address A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, Ont.

Drug and Patent Medicine Prices

Our Prices are as low as the lowest or lower:

Burdock Blood Bitters regular $1.00 for ... 65c
Pink Pills regular 50c for ... 30c
Carter's Pills regular 25c for ... 15c
Chase's Ointment reg. 60c for ... 40c
Steedman's Soothing Powders regular 25c for ... 15c
Thomas' Electric Oil reg. 25c for 15c
Chase's Linseed and Turpentine regular 25c for ... 15c
Lyd. Pinkham's Compound regular $1.00 for ... 85c
Fruitative regular 50c for ... 40c
Miller's Worm Powders regular 25c for ... 20c
Minard's Liniment regular 25c for ... 20c
Pain Killer regular 35c for ... 20c
Egyptian Liniment reg. 25c for ... 20c
Peruna regular $1.00 for ... 85c
Zam Buk regular 50c for ... 40c
Scott's Emulsion reg. 50c for ... 40c
Nerviline regular 25c for ... 20c
Norway Pine Syrup reg. 25c for 20c

McDermid & Jury's
The Safe Satisfactory Drug Store
Corner George and Charlotte Streets

NEGRO COLONY IN THE WEST

Special to The Examiner:

WINNIPEG, MARCH 20.—With all immigration entry obstacles removed by the Government three hundred negroes from the South will arrive here to-day, en route to the new Negro Colony, near Emmerson.

To Assume Presidency

Examiner Special:

NEW YORK CITY, MARCH 20.—It is understood here that Senor Joao Limantour, a strong man of the Diaz Government, will assume provincial presidency on his arrival in Mexico City.

Fighting between Federals and Insurrectors occurred to-day in several districts.

No change since we were boys. That oft-quoted proof of those never-to-be-forgotten puddings is still, as of yore, not in reading the recipe, but in ——. And when your local man, or your friend, attempts to tell you "it doesn't stand to reason" and about all the "other things you must learn" etc., etc., the real reliable evidence of our ability to qualify A1 stenographers with 25 to 35 days' study is, not in argument, or theorizing, but in thousands of real living men and women who have done it and are to-day holding splendid positions, in the face of keen competition. Our catalogue and Free Lesson may interest you and a few hundred names of local graduates or employers may convince you. Moon College, 282-286 Yonge St., Toronto.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS

Special to The Examiner:

ST. PETERSBURG, MARCH 20.—Premier Stolypin and his Cabinet resigned this afternoon.

The Fowler Finger EYEGLASS MOUNT

GIVES WHAT OTHERS CANNOT
Eyeglass Comfort, Convenience and Lens Efficiency

Most inconspicious of Eyeglass Mounts. On to stay on when properly adjusted.

These Mounts have more talking points yet require less talk to sell than any Eyeglass Mount we have ever sold because they are a Distinctively Distinct Eyeglass Mount.

You are the one who must suffer expense, annoyance and discomfort if you wear inferior Eyeglasses.

$2.75 without Lenses. We carry a gross of these Mounts constantly in stock and guarantee to fit properly anyone who can wear Eyeglasses.

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending Jan. 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 419 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

MONDAY, MARCH 20, 1911

THE PREMIER ON RECIPROCITY.

(Chicago British-American.)

Eloquent and convincing speech-making has marked the long political career of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but he has never risen to greater heights of oratory or logic than he did last week in his reciprocity address before the Canadian House of Commons. The Premier has been quietly listening for several days to the assaults on the treaty by the Opposition members, many of whom are against it for purely partizan reasons. It is deplorable but true that numbers of able Canadian M. P's cannot consider important national issues with unprejudiced eyes. One or two Conservatives have come boldly out for Reciprocity, but the majority follow their leader, Mr. Borden. The Premier has also lately seen his old-time colleague, Clifford Sifton, M. P., of Manitoba, go over to the enemy and denounce the policy of the ministry. In his speech last week, Sir Wilfrid riddled Mr. Sifton's sophistries with ease.

The Premier demonstrated how baseless is the cry of danger to Canada's industries in the event of Reciprocity. This is the sole argument of the opposition that he considered of much account on the surface; probed to the bottom he showed that it was of no account. He made a magnificent plea for closer commercial relations between the two nations whose destinies are so linked together. With words of burning patriotism he reiterated his undying antagonism to Annexation. Those in the House of Commons who have accused the Prime Minister of weakening fealty to the Empire had their answer in vigorous phrases they are not likely soon to forget.

Hon Mr. Sifton the other day pretended to be voicing Western sentiment in opposing the treaty. The farmer's associations of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have since passed condemnatory resolutions declaring that Mr. Sifton speaks only for himself — at least not for them. They charge him with deliberate misrepresentation of a people who are very much in favour of Reciprocity. During Sir Wilfrid's trip to the Northwest last year, the southlers had many heart-to-heart talks with him on Free Trade. They believe they supplied much of the material for the treaty now under discussion as well as for the Premier's latest memorable presentation of the subject in the House of Commons.

THE FIASCO IN THE LEGISLATURE

(Brantford Expositor)

The Ontario Legislature carried the Premier's anti-reciprocity resolution on a party vote, the one neutral member siding with the Opposition.

The Premier had no right to drag the issue into the Legislature. His resolution was mere stage-play, and the singing of the National Anthem following its adoption was another theatrical device, quite in keeping with the whole course of the anti-reciprocity agitation, which has tried to cheapen the British flag and degrade the sentiment of loyalty to the low level of party strategy.

Sir James Whitney's utterances have been decidedly malapropos. Before the reciprocity question arose he told an English interviewer that Canada would secede from the Empire unless her favour were purchased by a preference in the British market. Nothing quite so disparaging of the Canadian people had been offered by a Canadian public man since Sir Charles Tupper's unhappy assertion that Great Britain should tax her food to reward Canada for aiding her in the South African war. A week ago Sir James was equally offensive, when he declared that he did not believe the word of the President of the United States that no ulterior motive was behind the reciprocity agreement. Yesterday he made a great parade of the annexation bugaboo. He was forced to admit that Sir John Macdonald favoured the same measure of reciprocity as is proposed to-day, but "thank God, the Dominion has merged from that stage of pitiable childhood." There is a lack of elementary logic in the contention that reciprocity implied no danger of annexation when Canada was in a state of infantile weakness, but is a menace when Canada is strong and lusty. When Sir James says that it will take a good deal more than a few cents in the price of beef or lambs to cause Canada to desert the Empire he is really destroying his own bogey. The plain implication of nearly all the brades against reciprocity is that a few cents more a bushel on what or a pound of meat will lure Canada into political union with the United States.

The whole tenor of the speeches of men like Sir James Whitney is humiliating to self-respecting Canadians. It has damaged the Dominion in the eyes of the people of Great Britain and the United States. Many of them have derived the impression that there is a body of Canadian sentiment favourable to annexation, and that Canada's fealty may be a purchaseable commodity.

It might be of interest to add to the above comment that Sir James Whitney made his usual brusque, crude, not to say, coarse, exhibition of childish pertulance in dealing with Mr. MacKay's acmindment. He hurled—Sir James never throws or tosses or passes—back with indignation and scorn the portion of the last paragraph of Mr. MacKay's amendment, which "deprecated the views that the loyalty of Canada is a purchasable quantity," and declared with an ingenuousness, which represents a good deal stronger term, that Hon. Mr. MacKay was "the only man in British North America who had dared to suggest that the loyalty of Canada was purchaseable." Mr. MacKay never made such an assertion. The resolution "earnestly deprecates (strongly objects to) the expression of views that the loyalty of Canada is purchaseable." Sir James Whitney, among other opponents of reciprocity, has repeatedly declared as explicitly as a public man could safely state it, that reciprocity would lead ot annexation. Reciprocity will benefit Canadians financially, and to say that this financial gain will make Canadians favour annexation is as much to say in so many words that Canadians would sell their loyalty to Britain, British connection and the Empire. Sir James Whitney's bluster is coming to be estimated at its true value. He was able to bulldoze his big majority in the House in voting solidly to a man against a resolution which contained this declaration:

> And that this House reaffirm that by blood association by the great heritage of language, literature, religion, social and political ideals, and by freedom, slowly broadening down from precedent to precedent, the people of Canada are unitedly whole-heartedly and indissolubly devoted ot British institutions, to the British Empire and to the Throne and person of our most gracious sovereign.

Of course, the amendment that contained this strong and comprehensive confession of loyalty had to be voted down, as it was tantamount to a vote of want of confidence. But there is this much to be said, that Sir James Whitney's majority in their unanimous condemnation of the amendment did not so fully represent the vast majority of Ontario electors as the little band of the Liberal Opposition, who voted for the amendment, which will be found reproduced in full elsewhere on this page.

The Illuminating Amendment Of Hon. A. G. MacKay In Legislature

The Case For Reciprocity Clearly and Comprehensively Summarized in the Form of An Amendment

At the conclusion of his speech in the Ontario Legislature on Friday Hon. A. G. MacKay, the leader of the Liberal Opposition, moved the following amendment to the resolution of Sir James Whitney, the Premier, opposing reciprocity:—

"That all the words in the motion after the first word 'that' be struck out, and the following substituted therefor:—

Canada's Prosperity.

"(a) That as a result of the policy which has been pursued by the Administration of the Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the development of her trade resources and transportation facilities Canada is now enjoying a period of unexampled prosperity; her trade is expanding in all directions; her population is rapidly increasing; her ability to work out her own destiny as a part of the British Empire is beyond dispute, and her people are prosperous and contented.

What Statesmen Have Sought.

"(b) That in the latest achievement of trade policy, when consummated, the Administration of the Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier will have attained the objective of all Canadian statesmen since 1896, and will open to the producers of the natural products of Canada a vast and lucrative market, at their doors, without injury to any Canadian interest whatsoever.

Will Benefit Farmers.

"(c) That Canada is, and for a long time will continue to be, an agricultural country, producing a large surplus of food products which must find a foreign market, and the free entrance of such food products into the United States will result in a very material increase in the income of the farmers of Canada (who are the largest and most important class in the country), with a corresponding increase in the value of their farm lands and betterment in their condition of life.

Leaves Canada's Hands Free.

"(d) That the trade agreement which will achieve these results will in no wise restrict the freedom of Canada to make what arrangements in tariff matters she may desire with Great Britain or other countries, or alter or vary the agreement with the United States at her pleasure.

Wide Spreading Benefits.

"(e) That the proposed trade agreement with the United States for reciprocity in natural products is a measure heartily to be approved as tending to increase the prosperity and contentment of all the people of Canada; to attract to our vacant lands the best class of settlers; to increase the yarrying trade of our railways; to build up a great paper manufacturing industry in Canada, and, by cementing peace and concord between the two great English-speaking nations of the world, to do a great service to the British Empire as a whole, and thereby make the position and influences of Canada as a component part of the Empire more assured.

Canadian Loyalty Not For Sale.

"And this House most earnestly deprecates the expression of views that the loyalty of Canada is a purchasable quantity, only to be retained by Great Britain by paying the price of a complete change of her fiscal policy, and suitable to the United States in exchange for tariff concessions, brands such expressions as those of traitors to the King and country, and reaffirms that by blood, by association, by the great heritage of language, literature, religion, social and political ideals, and by freedom slowly broadening down from precedent to precedent, the people of Canada are unitedly, whole-heartedly and indissolubly devoted to British institutions, to the British Empire and to the Throne and person of our Most Gracious Sovereign."

CONSERVATIVE FRUIT MAN EAGER FOR RECIPROCITY

Man Who is the Largest Grower of Fruit in His District, Near St. Catharines, is Enthusiastic—Others Admit They Were Stampeded

(Toronto Star)

ST CATHARINES, MARCH 18.

Fruit lands are booming all through the Niagara district, and if you have a fair-sized piece of sandy loam men will come all the way from England or India to buy it. Tariff changes are not popular under such circumstances. Strangers with money are naturally suspicious. They are apt to seize upon any excuse to delay closing a big deal, for once closed and the money paid there is no backing out. Consequently some of the cooler heads among the fruit land owners of the St Catharines district regret the rash statements about the depreciating effect upon land values made by some of the delegates of protest at Ottawa recently.

Moyer Favours It.

Stock in substance is a common statement of the case. Mr. Norman Moyer of Vineland, a station east of here a short distance thinks such talk about the decline in peach land values from $400 to $100 an acre will do more harm than ever reciprocity with the United States will. He, for one, is in favour of free trade in fruit.

"I don't think it will work out like they stated in the early part of the discussion. Reciprocity will be a good thing for us fruit-growers. I didn't go to Ottawa, or I would have spoken in favour of reciprocity. We used of ship a great deal to Buffalo before the Dingley tariff. What was good then would be good now. After the Dingley tariff I had to tear out my currants. I'm willing to compete my peaches against theirs. We have the quality. I, for one, am not scared of the woods."

Mr. Moyer owns 50 acres on lot 2 of the "Broken Front," near Jordan harbour, Vineland being his post-office. Thirty or forty acres of his farm is set out in fruit.

Asked if he knew of others in his neighbourhood in the same way of thinking, he replied:

"Plenty of them."

A Million Trees.

Some idea of the proportions to which peach-growing has grown in the Niagara district may be gained by the authoritative statement of Mr. Robert Thompson, president of the St. Catharines Cold Storage Company, with offices close to the Vineland Station here. From Stoney Creek to the Niagara River there are now standing one million peach trees.

"I have the official count," said Mr. Thompson. "Two-thirds of these trees have been planted within the last three years."

The cold storage company gathers peaches and other fruits from throughout this district and ships all over the continent.

"I don't think reciprocity will affect us," said Mr. Thompson. "What we may lose one way we'll gain another. When they have a bigger crop in proportion over there they'll ship fruit over here. When we have a big crop here they'll come to us. Peaches are the one line in which there is the least uncertainty. Our people have gone into peach planting so extensively, on a speculative basis almost, that they are inclined to be anxious lest they be thrown into the open market. But we have shipped peaches to the States before this. There prices are certainly higher sometimes. We found New York and Boston would take our goods after the Georgia peaches were done. Michigan peaches ripen at the same time as ours, but they have only been in a position to compete very lately, as they were frozen out three or four years ago.

Benefit Small Fruits.

Small fruits, of course, will benefit. Only the very early strawberries will be affected here. We'll send late strawberries, Cuthbert raspberries, and our sour cherries over there for home canning purposes, where they'll sell to better advantage than they will here."

The Cold Storage Company, of which Mr. Thompson is president, sends out 400 carloads of various kinds of fruit in the course of a season, 1-8 to 1-5 consisting of peaches.

"We are not as much afraid as we were," concluded Mr. Thompson. "We were stampeded at first, but after getting facts on the American side, where they have similar conditions to ours, we find that Southern fruits won't compete. As for the manufacturers' agitation, it is showing farmers where they stand."

Conservative Enthusiastic.

Mr. A. B. Rogers owns 200 acres five miles up the Niagara River, and one mile from the Lake. Virgil is his post office. Mr. Rogers counts himself the biggest all-round farmer in the Niagara district, having both sandy loam and clay, and raising grain and stocks, as well as fruit. In politics he is a Conservative. When asked his opinion as to reciprocity with the United States, Mr. Rogers expressed himself in no uncertain way.

"I hold up both hands for it," he declared emphatically. "Talk about protecting us—it's the biggest fraud in the world. I have a nephew in Youngstown, New York. He sold peaches last fall to the canners—the small pie peaches, at 70c a basket, and couldn't get them fast enough. And I was getting 16c from our canners for the smallest ones up to 40c for the biggest. Give me the wide open market. Why, take wheat. But wheat is 90c a bushel in Buffalo, 80c. in St. Catharines. Take hogs, 6c. 6¾c, and 7c here. Buffalo 8½c same day. I want to deal with the American. He's got money. I don't care if he's a black man, if he'll deal with me fairly I'll deal with him. As it is now we pay duty on everything we sell over there and on everything we buy. I live close to the border. I know how it is better than some of these fellows. Why, I see smuggling going on here every day.

This talk against trading with Americans is a big fraud. I'm not afraid of annexation as a result of doing business. I was born right here on this farm by the River. I've done business over there, and I am not annexed yet."

Mr. Rogers said that the better class of Canadian peaches would benefit by the wide open market, and that they stood shipping better. He instanced a consignment of southern peaches received by the Delhi Canning Company of St. Catharines, which arrived spoiled.

Speaking of fortunes piled up at the expense of the farmer in the name of infant industry protection, Mr. Rogers made the following offer:

"If you can find a millionaire who made his millions out of his farm, I'll give $500 to the St. Catharines hospital."

Can't Hurt Peaches.

Mr. J. G. Tee, whose 30 acres are right at the edge of St. Catharines, said reciprocity can't hurt Canadian peaches.

"There is a demand for our peaches in the States," said he. "Their peaches can't compete with ours, and the bulk of their crop is over and done with before ours. I'm not kicking—I'm perfectly satisfied. Some of them were scared a little at first."

Mr. John Scott, of Niagara street, half a mile out of St. Catharines, just past the new canal, said that reciprocity suited him and his three sons.

"We are all in favour and all growing peaches," said he.

They have 83 acres, divided in three lots. Mr. Scott sold peaches to the States before the McKinley tariff, and had done so since the duty.

"The scare about ruination is just a political matter," said he.

The Western market was too far away. Express charges were too heavy and fruit was liable to spoil. He instanced several others of his way of thinking, including Neil Buchanan, who hopes for reciprocity, but is afraid it won't go through.

Always Wanted It.

Mr. C. E. Secord of Grantham, is interested in small fruits and vegetables.

"Reciprocity is what I always voted for," said he. "I can't get it any too quickly. I'm always looking for more trade. I had a good market for peaches over there before McKinley put the tariff on. This opposition is purely political. I know quite a few of those who oppose it on those grounds really favor it. It would give us 400,000 more people to cater for in Buffalo alone. Toronto has 300,000, but it is only one city. We would have ten cities open to us instead of one. I'm not afraid of New York State growers. I've got 140 acres, 50 of which are in peaches. I've been in the business 30 years."

Forty Per Cent. Better.

Mr. Leonard Gray of St Catharines, is also in favour.

"I have lived in Buffalo and know the markets, the commission men, and the whole biz. Prices are 40 per cent better than over there at the present time for greenhouse stuff. I am positive reciprocity would do us good along the border anyway."

Mr. Gray is a young man yet, but has been successful so far. Likewise he has been a Conservative all his life.

The Dennistoun Property

We have received exclusive sale of the R. M. Dennistoun property, with frontage on George and Water streets. This is an opportunity for intending builders to secure good lots in fine locations at very Moderate Prices. Also double house on Aylmer street bringing in a rental of about $40.00 per month. This will go cheap. Four Lots on the west side of the city at quick sale prices.

As Mr. Dennistoun is now permanently located in Winnipeg all of the above property will be sold at prices that should insure quick sale.

CALL AT OUR OFFICE, we will be glad to give all information regarding the above property.

Easy Terms can be Arranged on Any of the Above Property

A. BROWN & CO.

PHONE 126 406 GEORGE ST.

Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

(VIPOND)

A producing mine. We still advise its purchase at present market price. Second bar of gold shipped this week. Write, wire or phone for full particulars. :: ::

GORMALY TILT & CO.

MEMBERS STANDARD STOCK EXCHANGE

Long Distance Phone, Main 7505 32-34 Adelaide St. East, TORONTO

Chanberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.

Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting, Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

Further Particulars From

J. H. VANCE

773 Aylmer St. Phone 129

NOTICE TO

Builders and Workmen

With a view to Meeting the Demands for Houses Suitable for the Average Mechanic

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Submit the following proposition to the Builders and Working Men of Peterboro. We will supply a Builder with a choice lot within 15 minutes walk of the C.G.E., the Shovel Works or the Cordage Factory at a maximum price of $150, lot to be paid for when a house constructed thereon has been sold. No interest or taxes for a period of one year provided house is not sold or rented within that time.

Any boy, girl, man or woman, can secure a choice lot in this section for $150 on terms of $10 cash and $5 per month.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter St. Phone 376

LAMEY & COSTELLO

Real Estate Brokers

631 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.

Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

WORKING PEOPLE

SHOULD OWN THEIR HOMES

With Garden and Fruit, Large or Small

It gives pleasant and profitable employment during spare time and saves many dollars for other necessities.

The rent, sober, honest and industrious people are paying will buy a home for you on my easy terms, as it has done for others now comfortably settled in homes of their own, of which they are pardonably proud and some can already show their deeds including a lone widow, while many more pretentious can only show rent receipts. Come in and let me explain my easy plan.

Large and small garden and fruit lots for sale or to rent.

T. HURLEY

282 Hunter St., Peterboro

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this comosany par value, $100 per snare, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limite

Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

HOUSE For Sale

An up-to-date BRICK HOUSE with all conveniences, water, gas, electric light & furnace, situated in the west end of the city. Lot, fifty foot frontage with lane at rear. A very fine property. Particulars at Examiner Office :: ::

1md57-4220

DO YOU NEED A TYPEWRITER?

We are in a position to furnish you with Any Standard make of typewriter.

Machines bought, sold or exchanged.

Old machines taken on account.

Typewriters rented.

Peterborough Typewriter and Supply Co'y

159 SIMCOE PHONE 666

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED, APPLY Examiner.

BUS DRIVER WANTED—APPLY NATIONAL HOTEL. 3d-66-4360

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—GOOD GIRL, Small family. Apply 655 Water St.

WANTED—GIRL OR WOMAN FOR GENeral housework. Apply Examiner Office. 3d-66-4359

WANTED—A GIRL OR MIDDLE AGED woman to assist with house work. Apply 92 Dufferin. 3d-66-4372

WANTED — EXPERIENCED WAIST AND Skirt hand. Apply Miss McManus, 206 1-2 Charlotte Street. 2d-65-4348

WANTED — EXPERIENCED SALESLADY for Ready-to-wear department. Situation permanent. Cressman's. 3d-66-4367

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected. Parties arriving March 13th, 20th, and April 2nd. Apply now. The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal, or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. 1md-55-4190

WORK WANTED

WANTED—BY RESPECTABLE WOMAN, work by the day. Apply 422 1-2 George Street. 3d-66-4364

WANTED WASHING, ROUGH DRY, PREferred or work wanted evenings, leave address at Examiner Office. 3d-65-4351

AGENTS WANTED

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR THE BEST PREMIUM proposition in Canada, one that appeals to everyone, apply to Sellery Advertising Dept., 228 Albert St., Ottawa. d6mon20-3694

WANTED

WANTED AT ONCE TO RENT SMALL furnished house for summer. Apply Examiner Office, Box 1368. 3d-66-4368

WANTED—TO RENT NEAR PUBLIC LIBrary, modern 9 or 10 roomed house. Apply 285 Stewart Street. 3d-64-4331

WANTED—BY YOUNG LADY, FURNISHed room without board. Apply Box 4337, Examiner. 3d-65-4337

WANTED—AN UNFURNISHED ROOM with board for married couple. All conveniences and central location. Apply Box 4321 Examiner Office 3d-64-4321

SITUATIONS VACANT

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1739, Lockport, N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Heacock, B 1638, Lockport, N.Y. d6m139

LOST

LOST—HAND SATCHEL CONTAINING purse, etc., between Munro House and Nassau on South side of river. Please leave at Examiner Office. 1d-66-4365

LOST SATURDAY LAST BETWEEN Smith and Hunter Streets, a walking stick with initials J.K.). Finder leave at Examiner 2d-66-4350

LOST OR POISONED ON TUESDAY large brown short haired dog, new collar with two tags attached, answers to Plato. Would anyone knowing anything about him please communicate with W. A. Bryden, 175 Rubidge St. and receive reward. 3d61-4335

FOUND

FOUND—IN EAST CITY A GOLD RING. Owner may have same on paying for this advertisement at Examiner Office 2d-66-4352

FOUND—IF THE YOUNG LADY WHO ADvertised for the long white kid glove in the Examiner a few weeks ago will call in for it she may obtain same

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET. Apply Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. dtf-34

FURNISHED ROOM, SUITABLE FOR TWO young men, all conveniences, 336 Reid Street. 3d-64-4323

TO RENT—MODERN HOUSE, 129 RUBIDGE Street. Also Market Garden. Apply 161 Hunter Street or Phone 1281. dtf-55-4195

TO RENT—House No. 344 Rubidge St. Hot Water heating and all modern improvements. Possession 15th March. Apply 437 George Street. d-tf-46

TO RENT—COTTAGE No. 358 HUNTER ST West. Desirably situated and with modern improvements. Apply 437 George St. d-66

TO RENT—SMALL HOUSE FITTED WITH electric light. The house is centrally located and has a good garden for vegetables. For particulars apply 183 Antrim Street. d-tf-57-4231

TO LET—COMFORTABLE COTTAGE TO rent, 263 Concession Street. Will be let to suitable tenant at $5 per month. Possession April 1st. Apply to 533 Concession Street. 3d-66-4362

TO RENT—Store and Upper Floor in Grand Opera House Block. Would make first-class Music Store or any other suitable business. Also a good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator. Cor. McDonald & Aylmer Sts. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Awning & Tent Manufacturers, George Street, Peterborough d-tf-46-4065

FOR SALE

FOR SALE THREE PIECES OF PARLOR suite, apply 493 Aylmer Street. 3d-65-4357

FOR SALE—HOUSE, 80 PEARL AVE., also vacant lot adjoining. dtf 18-3970

FOR SALE—A LIGHT DEMOCRAT, NEARly new. Apply Model Dairy. 6d-66-4374

FOR SALE—AT ONCE, BRICK HOUSE, conveniences, apply 69 Aylmer Street. 12d-60-4258

FOR SALE—A NORTHEY STEAM PUMP. Size of connections ½ inch. Apply to G. A. Gillespie, Simcoe street. d11tf

FOR SALE—TWO PORTABLE POULTRY houses and eleven prize winning white leghorns. Apply to 213 London St. 3d-66-4369

FOR SALE — THE RESIDENCE OF THE late Dr. Grey, No. 295 Sherbrooke street. All improvements. Hot water heating, good barn. Apply W. O. Stabler, 159 Water street. d59

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE — A CASH Register, in good condition, registering from 5 cents to $3.00; or will exchange for one registering from 1 cent up. Can be seen at the Examiner Office tf495

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE, well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises. 124 Rubidge street 4tf 119 d91

SASKATCHEWAN LAND FOR SALE—West half sec. 25, township 27, range 14. Choice land one mile from good school. $18 per acre. Terms. Also sec. 35, township 45, range 6, 640 acres, $13.00, easy terms. Apply to D. W. Park, No. 8 Wilton Crescent, Toronto 3d 66-4366

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,

d-tf On the Premises

A. Brown & Co.

406 GEORGE STREET

Headquarters for all kinds of

Real Estate

Our Styles are Correct

If You Are Exclusive

Notice

Our Spring Suits

WE have the finest display of New York Suits in the city---bought for your selection. We guarantee every suit to be exclusive and that you can't match it in the city. Every suit a combination of elegance and good taste. Our suits are up-to-date in style.

The Cloths are New
The Shapes are New
The Colourings are New

$10.00-$15.00-$20.00-$25.00 etc.

Tailored Waists

The tailored waist is the correct waist for this season---we have them in all th new styles $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.25, $2.50, 3.50.

ELLIOT'S

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

(Continued from Saturday)

"Yes,—that's all right; but suppose she is in a public asylum somewhere, dressed in stripes and bars, surrounded by gibbering, vacant-eyed creatures, leering at her—"

"Don't! For God's sake, Sheldon, don't get thinking of such horrible things, such impossible things! Miss Cuyler is safe and well-cared for. In a few days the head of the private sanatorium will discover that a mistake has been made and she will be back home safe and sound. . . . . Don't think I am trying to make light of it, old man. It's about as tough a situation as I ever faced. It's infinitely harder for her own family, and it must be almost unbearable for you. . . . You care a good deal for her, don't you, Winthrop?"

"Yes, more than I could care for any other woman except the one I hoped to marry."

Barrett turned away and looked down the street.

"Isn't there—isn't there some understanding—even if not a definite engagement, old fellow? Pardon me," he added quickly, "I didn't mean to pry into your affairs—but her picture. . . . I was profoundly affected from the moment I saw it. . . ."

It was Winthrop's turn to be surprised.

"No, Tom," he said quietly, "there's nothing of that kind at all."

"Then" Barrett began; but paused suddenly. . . . "Good night," he went on. "I'm going to bed."

"Good night—see you at the club for an early breakfast."

The newspaper containing Wotsirb's advertisement, and Eleanor's portrait, had been published at about five o'clock that afternoon. The Secret Service man was hungry and tired, but one thing more must be attended to before his day's work should be over. He must inform Cuyler of what Major Hartwell had said, and put him on his guard.

A telephone to Johnson brought word that the financier probably would leave his office before six, and go directly to his town house, where at eight o'clock an important meeting was to be held. He could see Wotsirb there at seven-forty-five.

The detective arrived on the minute, and Cuyler received him in his library—a large room with lofty ceiling, on the second floor and at the extreme rear of the great house. The high walls were lined with shelves and cases of books; placed here and there were half a dozen magnificent rugs, two or three massive tables, Cuyler's own personal desk, and a dozen chairs half-hidden in the dim expanse of the room, completed its contents.

The banker, standing near a roaring, empty fireplace, did not move as Wotsirb appeared.

"What has happened" he said brusquely. The strain was telling on him.

"I won't keep you long," Wotsirb responded. "Do you know what is behind or back of this rescue of your daughter's?"

"I think I do. We have had [illegible] all afternoon [illegible] of ransom [illegible] Some of our [illegible] operators are endeavoring to get a large railroad project away from us."

"That confirms my own information," Wotsirb remarked. "Do you see any connection between this business warfare and your daughter's disappearance?"

Cuyler looked at the opposite wall for a moment.

"No," he answered finally. "Do you?"

"Possibly, but not certainly. There is nothing those foreign competitors would not attempt in order to achieve their object, which, I take it, is to ruin you, then step in and finance that military highway themselves, deflecting it from the south to the east—and preserving the peace of central Europe. Am I right?"

"That is your business to judge."

"I am right!" Wotsirb declared. "Furthermore, I have reason to think that the abduction of your daughter may be part of a definite scheme to so overwhelm you with anxiety that you will be forced to neglect the management of your affairs. In which event a panic might be brought on and carry your banking house down in a crash."

The two men faced each other.

"Have you thought of that as a possible reason for the abduction, Mr. Cuyler?"

"It seems very far-fetched."

"It does," Wotsirb agreed. "But I wanted to suggest it so that you would see the importance of throwing yourself wholly into the work of stopping this onslaught in the Street. If my theory is correct, and the enemy see they cannot force you to let go your grip, they will try something else and release your daughter. Rest assured, Mr. Cuyler, their agents will not hold her a day longer than is absolutely necessary. Every hour she is in their control increases the danger that she will be found and they will be captured."

"You need have no fear as to my financial affairs," the other said grimly. "My business interests will be protected—amply. Your job is to find Miss Cuyler. Do it."

As Wotsirb went down the front steps to the street he passed three gentlemen coming up, two of whom he recognized as Boston bankers.

On his walk toward Fifth Avenue, half a block distant, he met Bloodgood and a railway president from Philadelphia. As he turned into the avenue a cab passed him containing two bank presidents who had hurried from their summer homes to the city that afternoon in response to telegraphic summons.

Cuyler was preparing to deal back blow for blow, and to follow them up with relentless energy upon his European assailants.

The Secret Service man paused as he saw one group after another quietly enter the great, lonely house he had just left, for a long council of war.

"I have troubles of my own," he philosophised, "but I wouldn't carry the strain Cuyler is under, year in and year out, for all the money and all the power in the United States!"

XI

The following afternoon, Tuesday, Wotsirb called at the newspaper office to receive any response that might have been sent to his advertisement. Several answers awaited him, two written on pink note-paper, one on stationery of straw colour and two on blue. He had expected such replies as these, and the communications were tossed into a waste-paper basket.

Another day might bring forth the hoped-for result; meantime Wotsirb had much to occupy his time. If he should hear from someone who could give him a clue as to Eleanor Cuyler's whereabouts, well and good. On the other hand, should the advertisement fail he must be ready to move quickly in a different direction. In order to be prepared for a sudden move he took a picture of the missing girl to a photo-engraving house, ordered a half-tone electrotype made therefrom, and twenty thousand excellent proofs to be pulled at the earliest possible moment. Then he carefully drafted a circular describing a girl of Eleanor's appearance, but of another name and address, who was missing from home; and ordered twenty thousand copies to be printed. If the heard no news in a day or two he would persuade Cuyler to let him send a copy of the picture and one of the circulars to every police-justice, coroner, district attorney, poor-master, asylum, hospital, police department workhouse and prison in the United States. He knew where he could obtain a list of them, and in twenty-four hours the envelopes could be addressed by a mailing agency.

All of Tuesday night he spent at his gymnasium—fighting an intricate game of chess with a professional player. That was Wotsirb's one method of keeping in condition for his peculiar work, as an athlete would keep in training by muscular exercise and proper diet. To the Secret Service man the mystery of Eleanor Cuyler was simply a problem—nothing more nor less: a problem which it was his business to solve, and solve it he must, or lose a certain amount of professional prestige, together with a larger amount of personal pride. His mind did not concern itself especially with the tragic elements in the case: the mental anxiety of the father, or Mrs. Hazard's sleepless fears. As for Winthrop and other friends of the missing girl, he scarcely thought of them at all, excepting as possible aids in his mastery of the game. To be sure his sympathies were excited somewhat. He hoped that no harm would come to Miss Cuyler, and he honed soon to find her and restore her to her home. But the main thing was to find her—to solve the problem, to win the game.

(To be continued)

BLOOD BAD IN THE WINTER

Indoor Life, Too Little Exercise, Breathing Impure Air, Eating Artificial Foods.

Is it any wonder that the system becomes poisoned with impure waste matter in the winter time, when you think of the artificial life we lead?

With doors and windows tight shut we breathe the same air over and over again until it is incapable of purifying the blood.

In vain effort to cast the poisons out of the system the liver and kidneys are worked over time until they too are played out. Then comes the pains in the back, the headaches, the attacks of constipation and indigestion.

The quickest and most certain way to overcome this condition is by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They act definitely and directly on the liver and kidneys, awaken them to renew energy in filtering poisons from the bowels and remove the cause of indigestion, backache and other body pains.

You are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are unique in their combined action on the liver and kidneys and for this reason stand without a rival as a means of purifying the blood and cleansing the filtering and digestive system.

One pill a dose, 25 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.

is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto

PEOPLE'S PULPIT.

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Two Salvations

Every Human Being Is to Have a Full, Fair, Intelligent Opportunity for Eternal Life.

London, March 19.—Pastor Russell preached to-day at the London Tabernacle to an overflowing house. His text was taken from Hebrews ii, 3: "So great salvation, which began to be spoken by our Lord, and was confirmed unto us by those who heard Him." The speaker said:

In the past many of us misunderstood these words—"so great salvation"—and have thought them to apply merely to an "elect" few of the saintly followers of our great Redeemer. Surely it should not be thought strange if a closer examination of God's Word would demonstrate to us that as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are His ways and plans higher than ours (Isaiah lv, 9). It should not surprise us to find that our forefathers were generally in considerable darkness in respect to "the length and breadth and height and depth of the love of God, which passeth all understanding" (Ephesians iii, 18, 19). It should not surprise us to find that our Saviour will yet see the fruitage of the travail of His soul and be satisfied (Isaiah liii, 11), and that this satisfaction will result from the salvation of more than the "little flock," who walk in His steps and who, like Him, "present their bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God," in the service of Truth and righteousness.

There are several ways of treating this thought, that more than an "elect" few are eventually to reach eternal life through the Redeemer of mankind. One way, which many adopt, is to claim that our Lord and the Apostles did not really mean to establish so high a standard of saintship as their words imply, and then to conclude that the unsaintly will gain eternal life as well as the saintly—all except the degenerate wicked. This view of matters, which is the common one, is undoubtedly prompted by sympathy for friends, relatives, neighbors and the heathen; but it is wholly contrary to God's Word.

Another view still held by some is that everybody but the saintly will suffer torture eternally and hopelessly.

The third theory which I desire to present here is the one I believe to be in accord with every text of Scripture, and in accord with Justice, Wisdom, Love and Power Divine, and in accord with sanctified common sense. I have time for only an outline of this Plan, which is most comprehensive, as follows:

Salvation in no sense began before the Redeemer's birth, forty-one hundred and twenty-eight years after the fall of our first parents. In all that long period nobody was saved. The Apostle declares in our text that salvation began to be preached by Jesus. Again we read that Jesus brought life and immortality to light through His Gospel (II. Timothy i, 10). So, then, life and immortality and the Gospel Message began to be preached by our Lord and was not preached before His day. Indeed we can see that if there is "none other Name given under heaven or amongst men whereby we must be saved," than the name of Jesus, then it could not have been preached; nothing could be preached previously except the Divine declaration that God purposed in due time to redeem mankind from sin and death through a Saviour and a Great One—One able to save unto the uttermost all that would come unto the Father through Him.

This reasoning is surely true to the facts. Search all through the Old Testament and there is found no promise of eternal life set forth except by the Law given to the one little nation of Israel. That Law declared that he that doeth these things shall live by his obedience thereto (Romans x, 5), and the Apostle assures us that Jews died because none of them kept the Law—because no imperfect human being could possibly meet the requirements of God's perfect Law. "By the deeds of the Law shall no flesh be justified in His sight" (Romans iii, 20).

The Apostle, further explaining the matter, says, "Wherefore, then, serveth the Law?" He replies to his question, "It was added because of transgression until the promised Seed should come" (Galatians iii, 19).

The Apostle's words direct our thoughts back to Eden, when God declared that the Seed of the woman would at some future time bruise the Serpent's head. But that Seed did not exist for over four thousand years after, and has not yet crushed the Serpent's head—destroyed sin and the works of Satan.

The Apostle's words again remind us of God's promise to Abraham: "In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed" (Genesis xxviii, 14). Abraham was not thus blessed, nor were any others thus blessed, however faithful they were. All the blessing was to come through Abraham's Seed and could not be dispensed before His coming. Hence the Apostle, referring to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and all the faithful of past time, declared, "All these died in faith, not having received the promise" (Hebrews xi, 13)—the blessing—reconciliation to God and eternal life.

And when Jesus came He did not attempt to bless the world, but on the contrary, in His prayer, declared, "I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given Me" (John xvii, 9)—the saintly, the "very elect" (Matthew xxiv, 24). These He called these He taught—"Israelites indeed." These He directed to give the same message to others, not for the conversion of the world, but for the calling, instruction and edification of "the Church, which is the Body of Christ." The message to these from first to last was that they were called to suffer with Him, that they might also reign with Him.

In the past many of us have overlooked the fact that the Church are, figuratively, "the Body of Christ"—to be hereafter, as the Apostle declares, "the Church which is His Body." And again, We are members in particular of the Body of Christ, which is the Church (I. Corinthians xii, 27). In a word, then, the entire Christ includes the members of the Body with the glorious Head of the Body. And thus glorious Christ, which will be completed by the close of this Gospel Age, will as a whole be the promised Seed of Abraham.

From this viewpoint we can see why God's long-promised blessing has not yet reached the world, but from this viewpoint we can see that He is merely selecting or electing the Church, the Seed of Abraham. The promise to Abraham is, "In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed," and, as we have seen, the Seed of Abraham is "Jesus the Head and the Church His Body." In a word, our previous view of the Divine Plan was too narrow. We saw the election of the Church, but did not see God's gracious purposes for "All the families of the earth." The Church, as the Scriptures declare, is merely a "first-fruits" unto God of His creatures and is not, by any means, the entire harvest. Let us here remember St. Paul's explanation of this matter. He declares, "We, brethren, as Isaac was, are the children of the promise" (Galatians iv, 28)—the heirs of the promise—through us all the families of the earth are to be blessed.

It might indeed be said in one sense of the word that since father Adam was placed on trial in Eden with a reward of eternal life before him or a penalty of death, and that since he lost his chance of eternal life by disobedience, therefore any chance of eternal life coming to him or to any member of his race would, of necessity, be a second chance. This is undoubtedly true. From this standpoint every member of the human family must eventually have a second chance for eternal life, because it was for this very purpose that our Redeemer left the heavenly glory, was made flesh, dwelt amongst us and "died, just for the unjust." Whoever enjoys this second chance must expect no more, because "Christ dieth no more." But, as we have already seen, nobody had a second chance for eternal life prior to the coming of our Redeemer into the world. "He brought life and immortality to light." He died, the just for the unjust, to make reconciliation for iniquity—and this message of so great salvation began to be spoken by our Lord.

The comparatively few who have heard the Gospel since Jesus' day—"Good tidings of great joy which shall be unto all people," these, the comparatively few, who have heard of "the only name given under heaven or amongst men whereby we must be saved"—are the only ones who in any sense of the word have had their second chance. Indeed we might, scripturally, limit the matter much further and say that the Gospel has been hidden from the majority of those who heard it; their mental eyes and ears being deaf and blind, they did not comprehend the message, and therefore could not reject it.

The "high calling" and "so great salvation" which so few have really heard and seen is referred to by our great Redeemer saying, "Blessed are your eyes, for they see, and your ears, for they hear." "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. * * * But God hath revealed them unto us by His spirit" (I. Corinthians ii, 14). In other words, only the Spirit-begotten ones are now on trial for life everlasting or death everlasting. And only the faithful footstep followers will gain the glory, honor, immortality and joint-heirship with Him in His Kingdom. These are the "elect," the "very elect." These are such as make their calling and election sure by running as to obtain this great prize of membership in the Body of Christ.

These elect ones experience a change of nature, and in the future will not be human beings, but partakers of the divine nature (II Peter i, 4). They will be inducted into the perfection of the divine nature in the First Resurrection, the chief resurrecti , in which they will be changed in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, because flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God (I. Corinthians xv, 50-52).

We all gagged at the thought that the heathen and everybody except saints would be consigned to an eternity of torture, yet we all recognized that heaven is not a place of development but a condition of perfection. We were perplexed, mystified. We did not follow our Bibles with sufficient care. Many of us twisted the Scriptures, wrested them from their plainly obvious import, and always to our own injury. Some went in the direction of Universalism, others halfway, and still others abandoned the Holy Book. Now we see where we erred.

God has two salvations, one for the Church and a totally different one for the world. The salvation for the Church is a heavenly nature, spirit bodies, and joint-heirship with the Master in His Kingdom, which flesh and blood cannot inherit, as we have already seen. The other salvation, for mankind, is an earthly one, called in the Scriptures "Restitution." Man was not an angel originally, not a spirit being, but, as the Scriptures declare, "The first man was of the earth earthly."

It was that earthly man, perfect, in the image of his Creator, for whose happiness Eden was specially prepared. By obedience to God he might have continued to enjoy his Eden home everlastingly. By disobedience he first lost his fellowship with God, then his Eden home, and after nine hundred and thirty years of toiling with thorns and thistles in sweat of face, the death penalty upon him reached completion—he died. Adam's race, sharing his weaknesses by laws of heredity, have also shared death with him.

The Scriptures tell us that God's real purpose in sending Jesus into the world was that the "world might through Him be saved"—not the salvation of the Church; that was an incidental feature. The Church is selected that as the Bride or Queen during the Messianic Kingdom she may be associated with her Lord, the King, as the Seed of Abraham in the blessing, the saving, of Adam and his family or so many of them as shall be willing, from sin and death conditions. We remember the Master's words to the effect that "He came to seek and to save (recover) that which was lost."

We have just seen that it was a human life, human perfection and an earthly home that were lost. It is these, then, that Jesus proposes in due time to recover for Adam and his family. The Messianic reign of Jesus and his Body—the Anointed, the Christ, The Messiah—will be for the purpose of blessing Adam and all of his race with glorious opportunities of an earthly salvation. The uplifting, restoring influences of Messiah's Kingdom will affect not only Adam and his race, but also the earth itself. Gradually Paradise Lost, as a little garden of Eden, will become Paradise Regained as the world beautiful. Then the wilderness shall blossom as a rose and the solitary place shall be glad.

At our Lord's First Advent the "acceptable time" began—the time when God having accepted the sacrifice of Christ Jesus, became willing through Him to accept the sacrifices of all who desire to become His disciples—to take up their cross and follow Him through evil report and good report even unto death. The entire Gospel Age antitypes Israel's Day of Atonement, and the sacrifices of our Lord and the Church, His Body, are the "better sacrifices," foreshadowed by the bullock and the goat offered typically by the Jews. This is the acceptable year of the Lord which Jesus declared (Isaiah lxi, 2; Luke iv, 19). God's faithful people of this acceptable day are glad to be invited to "present their bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable unto God" (Romans xii, 1). In the end of this acceptabel day will come the end of all opportunity to thus sacrifice the human nature and become joint-heirs with Christ and partakers of the heavenly nature.

Then will be introduced a new period styled, in the Scriptures, "Times (or years) of Restitution." The acceptable day for the Church's sacrifice has lasted for nearly nineteen centuries. And we know how long the "Times of Restitution" will last—nearly a thousand years. St. Peter tells us just when these "Restitution Times" will begin. They did not begin in his day. They have not begun yet. They will begin as a result of the Second Advent of Jesus, the Messiah, and the establishment of His Kingdom and righteousness. "Times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord and He shall send Jesus Christ, as before was preached unto you, whom the heavens must retain until the Times of Restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all the holy prophets since the world began. For Moses verily said unto the fathers, A Prophet like unto me (of whom I am but a type or figure) shall the Lord your God raise up unto you from amongst your brethren. Him shall ye hear in all things whatsoever He shall speak unto you. And it shall come to pass that the soul that will not obey that Prophet shall be destroyed from amongst the people" (Acts iii, 19-23)—in the Second Death.

This great Prophet has been in process of raising up for now nearly nineteen centuries. And when the last member of His Body shall have passed beyond the veil, He will stand forth in the glories of His Kingdom to rule, judge, instruct, restore and bless all the families of the earth with opportunity for restoration to all that was lost in Eden and redeemed at Calvary. These "Restitution Times" are beautifully referred to in a poem known to many of our readers, written by one who was particularly identified with The Christian Standard office brethren.

A thousand years, earth's coming glory;
'Tis the glad day so long foretold;
'Tis the bright morn of Zion's glory
Prophets foresaw in times of old.

It seems to me, Brother Editor, that in the foregoing there cannot be a very wide difference of opinion as between your view and my own of the Bible's presentations.

FRANTIC WITH NEURALGIA

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" WILL ALWAYS CURE THIS TROUBLE

Neuralgia is really blood poisoning. To treat it with opium, morphine, cocaine, "headache powders" and other "pain-killers" is a crime.

The only possible way to cure Neuralgia is to purify the blood by making the Kidneys, Bowels and Skin do their proper work in nature's own way.

This is the way "Fruit-a-tives" cures Neuralgia. "Fruit-a-tives" prevents the formation of Uric Acid—keeps the whole system strong and active—and will always cure Neuralgia, Rheumatism and Headaches due to poisoned blood.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Burn "Scoo" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

Room Size Rug of Artistic Value

Also of Splendid Durability

We invite critical inspection of our first showing of room size Scotch Axminster and English Wilton Rugs for the new season. Artistic beauty of design and coloring are the most impressive features of the new floor coverings. They have been selected with a strict regard to their decorative value as well as their superior wearing qualities.

These are the most beautiful and tasteful Rugs of their kind ever shown in Peterboro

People who anticipate adding to the furnishings of their home in the way of floor coverings should see these splendid specimens at their earliest opportunity. They come from manufacturers with world-wide reputations—manufacturers who could not afford to turn out a single rug which was not strictly up to the highest standard. Each season sees a marked increase in the beauty and excellence of their products, the rugs we now present being far superior to any which they have hitherto made.

Prices are positively the lowest at which goods of this class can be retailed

RICHARD HALL & SON
GEORGE STREET LIMITED

The Citizens Of Peterboro' Should Welcome The Famous Sheffield Choir

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir,—All being well in two weeks' time the World Famous Sheffield Choir will be in our city. I notice in the press that a number of Cities will give the visitors receptions. Next Saturday, March 25th, the Choir will land at St. John, N.B. The Band of the 3rd Regiment of Artillery will meet them on the arrival of the S. S. Victorian. His Honour the Lieutenant Governor of the Province will attend the opening concert there, and an official welcome will be given them by the Mayor of St. John and City Officials, and the Canadian Club will hold a reception and banquet.

At Ottawa, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary and Edmonton, the Boards of Trade and city authorities will entertain the visitors. Saskatoon is providing two hundred motor cars to show them around that wonderful, thriving and youngest city.

What will Peterborough do in the way of entertaining the visitors? I understand the Choir expect to arrive in the icty Sunday morning, April 2nd. That will be a two days' visit to this city. I think the Board of Trade and the City Council should tender an address of welcome to the distinguished visitors.

CANADIAN.

Peterborough, March 20th, 1911.

Note.—By all means give the Sheffield Choir, a welcome worthy of the greatest musical organization in the world and one that will be creditable to Peterborough. The visit of the Sheffield Choir to Canada is not a money-making enterprise. It stands to reason that a choir of 200 persons would require to have very liberal receipts to igve each one a small share after paying expenses. The Choir comes to Canada in the interests of the development of music and taste and culture, and to bring the Mother country and her most important Daughter country into closer touch. Much of the advertising value of the visit to Canada will depend upon the reports which the members of the Choir will take back home; and the nature of their reports will ,to a considerable extent,' depend upon the appreciative warmth of the welcome they will receive, not only as musicians, but as fellow subjects of another section of the Great British Empire. At any rate the Choir should be suitably welcomed, by Peterborough, whose musical appreciation is evidenced by the possession, at an early day, of the largest and most effective set of chimes provided by the people at large in Canada. If we are to be regarded as musical or even musically appreciative, and if we are to be regarded as loyal and affectionate to the members of the common imperial family in the Mother Land, we should be ready and willing to give such a welcome as the occasion suggests. It is for those in authority, the civic representatives and other representative organizations, to arrange the details. We should have Peterborough distinguished for giving the warmest and not the coldest and most perfunctory welcome to the great Sheffield Choir.

Reference Made To The Mission In Toronto

Last night at St. John's church, Rev. Canon Davidson's subject was "Echoes of the Toronto Mission," basing his remarks on Jonah's successful mission to Nineveh.

He alluded to the remarkable parochial missions held throughout England dduring the last forty years and also in Canada. Three missions had been held in connection with St. John's church by Rev. O. P. Ford in 1883, by Bishop DuVernet in 1891, and the last by several missioners in 1908. The objects were by special and unusual ways to arouse the openly sinful and indifferent, and to stir up lethargic members of the church out of a religion which tended to become ordinary, formal and mechanical. The Toronto mission had been projected for over a year and was intended for all parishes in the city, but through a failure to secure missioners only 28 out of 43 churches participated. Preparations had gone on for months and in the parish where he was, not less than 15,000 cards and circulars of invitation and information had been distributed. During the mission, workers from other parishes and personal friends had contributed valuable help and while the services were in progress, numbers of workers were canvassing the district. A number of former members of St. John's and other Peterborough citizens had rallied around the missioner and the speaker paid a warm tribute to the loyalty of former citizens in supporting one from their city.

A picturesque description was given of the services themselves and instances of the wonderful power exerted all through the city through this general effort.

In conclusion the speaker said that much of his power was exerted through the attitude of the congregations themselves and he urged that the members of his own regular congregation should set themselves definitely in the interests of religion to be far more receptive, responsive and easy of demeanor. This disposition reacted strength upon the preacher and made his work effective.

A Well Known English Traveller Is Dead

Mr. Robert Fair, of Robert Fair and Company, has just received word from Manchester, Eng., of the death early this month at his home in Montville, Beech Road, Stockport, Eng., of Mr. W. E. Williams, who for the past eighteen years had been making semi-annual trips to Peterborough in the interests of the firm of Rylands and Sons, Manchester, carpet manufacturers. The late Mr. Williams was a close, personal friend of Mr. Fair's as he was, indeed, of almost everyone with whom he had occasion to meet. He was a men of sterling integrity and of strict honesty in all his business dealings and of such a calibre that it was of the greatest satisfaction to do business with him while his amiability and many likeable qualities won him the affection of a large circle of Canadian friends who looked forward eagerly to his periodic visits. Mr. Williams was very much impressed with Peterborough and always made it a point to spend a week end and several days here, and on his spring visits he arranged affairs so that he could take part in the excursions of the Olympic Club, the members of which will regret to learn of his demise. The late Mr. Williams was one of the survivors of the wreck of the ill-fated "Scotsman." He had been ill for over a year and did not visit Canada last season.

Expert Advice On Hair Culture

How to Stop Falling Hair and Drive Away Dandruff

Once a day if only for one minute, every woman and every man too, for that matter, ought to rub the scalp vigorously with the tips of the fingers.

The blood supplies nourishment to the hair just as it does to the skin, and frequent massaging gently stimulates the scalp and causes the blood to flow more freely.

Both men and women should be careful in the choice of a hair dressing. A good one used regularly, not only destroys the dandruff germs, but keeps the hair from falling and causes it to grow profusely and lustrous.

Parisian Sage is the hair dressing, grower and beautifier most in demand by discriminating people. So certain is its tonic action on the scalp and hair, and so sure is it to give the limit of satisfaction that Wm. Madill guarantees Parisian Sage to abolish dandruff, to stop falling hair and itching scalp, or refund your money.

Parisian Sage is free from grease and stickiness and once used will never be displaced by any of the ordinary commercial hair tonics.

A large bottle costs but 50 cents at Wm. Madill's and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. Mail orders filled ,charges prepaid by Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.,

"I have used Parisian Sage for some time and think it has no equal as a hair beautifier and scalp cleaner."—Mrs. William Hoglund, Sault Ste. Marie, June 2, 1910.

Fined $20 And Costs On An Assault Charge

A local young man was charged in the police court this morning with assaulting another young man, whose home is in Norwood. The accused did not appear, but was represented by his counsel, Mr. F. D. Kerr. After taking the evidence the magistrate found the accused guilty and imposed a fine of $20 and costs, amounting to $28.10 and in default of payment 30 days in gaol. He was given ten days to pay it.

It appears that last Thursday night the accused and the plaintiff met at a local hotel, and that a number were drinking. The plaintiff, it is said, was pretty well under the influence of liquor and got into a scrap with the bartender with the result, it is stated, that profane language was used on the part of the plaintiff. The defendant, according to the evidence, thought he would play a chivalrous part and took the part of the bartender, proceeding to give the plaintiff a lesson. He knocked him down a couple of times, and it is alleged, used him up so badly that the services of a doctor were necessary. Several witnesses were called and gave their evidence, which was pretty much alike.

The plaintiff was charged with being drunk and disorderly and paid a fine of $2.00 for this. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the plaintiff.

THE CHINESE FAMINE FUND

The following amounts have been received for the Chinese Famine Fund:

Previously acknowledged	$166.25
Friend	3.00
Miss Laidlaw	1.50
A. Brown	5.00
Miss E. Morrow	6.00
J. M. Sargent	2.00
D. F. Drummond	1.00
W. E. White	1.00
R. G. Clifford	1.00
Mrs. A. R. Campbell	2.00
St. Andrew's church	44.50
	$223.25

KNICKERBOCKER'S MILLINERY RE-OPENINGS

Where are you going to purchase that new spring hat and suit? Call at the Knickerbocker Co's dry goods and clothing store, 334 George street, before you choose, and you will be sure to get just what you want at the prices to suit you. They have already gotten in their new spring styles in ladies' suits, with 28 inch coats, at the marvellously low prices of $11.00 You get the quality and the latest styles for the lowest prices. They have a magnificent stock of millinery in all shapes and makes, trimmed or untrimmed, and trimmed to order. All kinds of flower trimmings in the different shades to suit your taste. The very latest New York styles, right from the market. The only store in town with the latest styles in this line. The latest in ladies' blouses, and long coats. All selling at the lowest prices. A very fine show of young mens' suits, imported directly from the New York markets, where in all grades and all prices, but the latest is in stock. There is goods i nall grades and all prices, but the prices are the lowest on all lines. Go and have a look at the goods; they will stand inspecton, and you are not forced tobuy. You are welcome to come and look at the goods: Mr. Zachs will be pleased to show any lines in the store that you are interested in. You are sure to see just what you want and at the prices that will suit you. Come at once. The full stock is now in 334 George street, opposite the Examiner.

SAID GOOD-BYE

Men of St. John's Wish Mr. Harry Long Bon Voyage

A large number of the men of St. John's church were present in the rectory last night after the service to say good-bye to Mr. Harry Long, who is returning to the West for the summer.

Rev. Canon Davidson alluded to Mr. Long's distinguished services to the congregation and to the whole church in appreciative terms and presented him with a framed photograph of St. John's church. Mr. Long on arising to reply received a warm ovation from those present. He reviewed some of his work in connection with St. John's, especially in the beautifying of the grounds and expressed his continued interest in the work of the church, in which he would still participate though absent. An interesting discussion then took place on aggressive work for the church and much enthusiasm was manifested.

Mr. Long left for the West this afternoon.

HE WAS PARALYZED

Mr. William J. Brennan, Western Hill, St Catharines, Ont., tells what it feels like to be paralyzed. He lost power of speech, face was drawn out of shape, lost flesh, could not sleep. Five doctors failed to help him. Electricity proved ineffective. He used Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food until his former good health was restored Face was restored to shape, power of speech returned and he gained in weight says he would not return to former condition for all the gold in the country

SPRING Shoes

This is a Patent Corona Colt, button with black cloth top. One of this season's smartest styles.

We are showing many exclusive novelties. Splendid workmanship, fine materials, perfect fit assured—always.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 GEORGE STREET

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

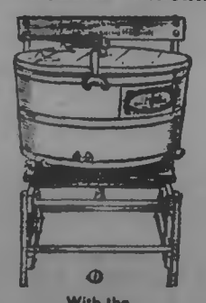
WM. MADILL
Oak Hall Drug Store
Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

LASTING PHOTOS

An evidence of the superior quality of our work is the fadeless quality we produce. We would like to show you photographs that have been exposed to sunlight for long periods without the slightest effect.

The Lendrum Studio
170 Charlotte Street

A Modern Machine



With the

Conner Ball Bearing Washer

washing day becomes a pleasure, the drudgery done away with.

Drop in and let us show it to you, also the

Life Buoy Brand Wringer

which is guaranteed for 5 years.

Don't forget our special "Clairette" Laundry Soap

Porter S. White
326 George St. - Phone 206

HONOURED ON EVE OF DEPARTURE TO WEST

Mr. Harold Smith Presented With a Suit Case and an Eulogistic Address as Mark of Esteem.

ENJOYABLE EVENING

Last Friday evening, Mr. Harold Smith, of 169 Perry street, son of Mr. J. J. Smith, was made the recipient of a very handsome and serviceable present in the form of a beautiful suitcase. Mr J. J. Smith and family leave for Abernithy, Sask., in the course of a few days, and the present was a token of the esteem in which Mr. Harold Smith was held by his numerous friends in this city. There were about forty guests, all of whom enjoyed themselves to the full extent. Dancing was the feature, but there were numerous other entertaining mediums employed in the form of cards and other parlour games.

The following address was read by Mr. A. L. McGill, while Mr. Everett Kidd made the presentation.

Dear Harold,—It is with deep regret that we, your friends and companions of this city, hear of your departure from our midst to try your fortune in the far west. We all are very sorry to lose one of our most esteemed and valued friends and you may be sure that you will always be remembered by us and on all such occasions as this we will always feel that there is one vacant place. We feel that we cannot let you depart without conveying to you our heartfelt regret at your departure and we take this opportunity of showing our appreciation of your friendship by asking you to accept this slight token of the good will in which you are held by us and may it be a remembrance of the dear friends left behind.

We all join in wishing you every success and prosperity in your new field.

The recipient of this handsome present made a very suitable reply, in which he expressed his regret at having to leave his friends, and his thanks for the kindness they had shown. He stated that he would always value the gift as a remembrance of the many happy days he had spent among them.

For Constipation

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which are odourless, tasteless and colourless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets.

A LECTURE ON "JEAN VALJEAN"

Peterborough will be favoured with another treat in the near future when Rev. Dr. Cleaver of Trinity Methodist Church, Toronto, appears in Knox Church, on April 24th, to tell the story of "Jean Val Jean." Jean Val Jean is Victor Hugo's most entrancing character and it can be safely said, one of the most wonderful characters in all fiction. Rev. Dr. Cleaver is one of the orators of the Methodist Church, and he tells the story of Jean Val Jean in a most fascinating way. He has the reputation of being the best painter of word pictures in Canada. He has told the story over forty times in Toronto and many who have heard him eight and nine times are watching for another opportunity to hear it once more, as told by him. He has told it four times in the Metropolitan church, the largest church in Toronto, the audiences crowding to the doors that great church. Dr. Cleaver will be in Knox Church on April 24th, and no doubt a record audience will listen to this wonderful story.

AN INTERESTING PROGRAMME

Will be Given by the Charlotte Street Methodist Guild

An evening of unusual interest and pleasure is assured those who attend the regular meeting of the Charlotte Street Church Epworth League this evening.

Somewhat of a novel programme has been arranged, which will take the form of a concert. Two sides will contribute the programme, each side being responsible for seven numbers. The side which, in the opinion of the judges, presents the most entertaining programme will be given the decision. A musical programme will be given in addition to the other numbers. No admission fee. Come, and bring your friend.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE BOW-WOW MINSTRELS.

The Bow-Wow Minstrels, an amateur organization from Toronto, pleased two large audiences at the Grand in matinee and evening engagements Saturday. The company proved well balanced and capable and the offering was thoroughly enjoyable. The first part was marked by a charming setting, tuneful music interpreted by some well gifted vocalists and funny gags, most of them on local topics. The second part was on a par with the first. John A. Kelly proved himself a clever ventriloquist, his act being amusing from start to finish. Bill Bailey, in novel monologue and pianologue, was a very entertaining comedian and W. J. Charlebois recited "Johnny Courteau," one of Dr. Drummond's masterpieces with acceptance. The other acts were up to the minute, and thoroughly enjoyed.

ELECTRIC SIGNS are Good Advertising Mediums BUT Before Making Any Contracts BE SURE You Are in Right.

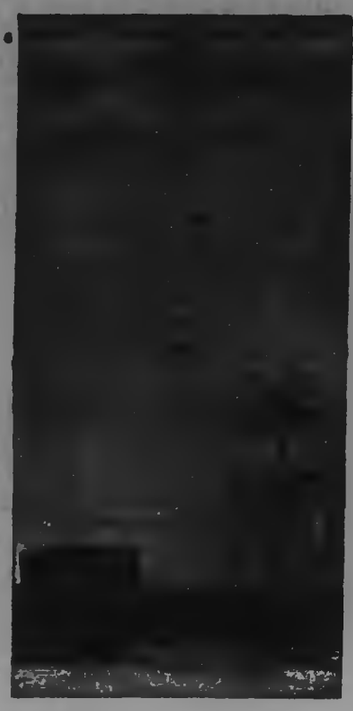
LET US FIGURE WITH YOU. IT WON'T COST YOU ANYTHING AND IT WILL SAVE YOU MONEY. :: ::

PHONE US AND WE WILL SEND A REPRESENTATIVE TO TALK WITH YOU

J. J. TURNER & SONS, Sign Department

The Home Beautiful

Newness Excellence



Exclusive Ideas

Of course you want the Best in

WALL PAPERS
CARPETS
CURTAINS, ETC.

OUR enlarged Home Furnishing Department—entire Third Floor, can assist you. New ideas in wall decorations, and window hangings are plentifully displayed for easy seeing, with expert salesmen to show you—"choosing is made easy."

"March Sale Prices" are interesting and profitable to intending buyers. You can select and lay aside if not wanted at once.

Department Stores Cressman's

ALL THE GEORGES OF PETERBORO' TO MEET

Will Form an Organization to Participate in the Coronation Presentation to His Majesty King George V.

UNIQUE TRIBUTE

Mayor Morrow has received from the Lieutenant-Governor on behalf of the Governor-General, a letter, asking him to call a meeting in order to secure the participation of the different "Georges" of Peterborough in the Coronation presentation which will be made to His Majesty King George V. by the Georges of Canada. Similar meetings are being called all over the Dominion to get the scheme on a working basis, and His Worship the Mayor has called a meeting for to-morrow night in the Council Chamber to effect a local organization. Being a George himself Mayor Morrow is naturally interested in the proposal and he would like to have everyone in Peterborough, whose Christian name is George, to be present to-morrow night to assist in this unique and interesting presentation to His Majesty.

TIRED, ACHING FEET

How annoying to have the feet tired and aching, sore and chafed about the time you want to take a good long walk. You can get a world of comfort by using Dr. Chase's Ointment when the feet give you trouble. It heals and soothes the skin, makes it soft and natural and prevents corns and bunions.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Intermediate Leaders meet to-night at 7 p.m., when every member of the Corps is requested to be on hand. To-morrow night will be known as "Ackerman Night". The building will be thrown open to the employees of the B. F. Ackerman Co. A programme of games will be conducted in the gymnasium, including a tug-of-war between teams from different departments of the factory. The Intermediate Gymnasium Class will also be on hand and will give a few interesting numbers.

At 9 p.m., Mr. Fred Young, of the Toronto Swimming Club, and Mr. W. O. Taylor, swimming instructor of the local Association, will give an exhibition of various strokes, including the latest American crawl.

There will also be a bowling contest among the employees of the Company between different teams and also for the individual championship.

CHAMPION FENCER

Mr. H. B. Collier, formerly of Peterborough and now a resident of Toronto, who is well known among the tennis enthusiasts, has been distinguishing himself in a new line of sport, and on Friday night the team of which he was a member won the Dominion Y.M.C.A. Fencing Tournament championship among five competitors, winning the Diamond Hall Shield. Mr. Collier's many friends here will be glad to learn of his success.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

30 DAYS' REMOVAL SALE

About April 1st we are moving two doors north to 407 George St. (Adam Hall's old stand). During March we are giving prices that are worth watching.

Machine Oil, regular 10c for	5c	Sulphur, 8 lbs	25c
Tar Soap, regular 10c for	5c	Glauber's Salts, 8 lbs	25c
Celery and Iron Pills, regular 25c for	9c	Tooth Picks, regular 10c for	5c
Toilet Soap, regular 15c a cake for	10c	Grecian Hair Restorer, regular 50c for	25c
25 per cent. off all Hair Combs and brushes		Laxative Fig Syrup, regular 25c for	13c
30 per cent. off Trusses of all kinds		Little Liver Pills, regular 25c for	8c
Talcum, Rose, Violet, Carnation, Bouquet, regular 25c for	13c	Sponges, 25 per cent. off regular price

THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE
C. M. MONCUR, Phm. B., Prop.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

WHEN the clarionet player began, John shut up his book, rose from his chair and went to the window. 'Do you know no other tunes,' he asked, 'than the four you play here every Friday?'

"'No, sir.' His voice was very deferential and as sad as his music.

"'Well, don't you imagine we must all be very tired of them?'

"I often think of that, sir. I often think of that. But you only hear them every Friday.' 'You mean you hear them every day of the week.'

"That is what I mean, sir.'

"There is always the other person's point of view. You learn that as you go along, and, in the street you will learn it as quickly as anywhere. THE MAN WHO RUNS INTO YOU ON THE PAVEMENT IS GOING IN HIS DIRECTION AS WELL AS YOURS, AND IT IS ALWAYS A NICE POINT TO DECIDE WHETHER YOU RAN INTO HIM OR HE INTO YOU."

—From "The City of Beautiful Nonsense."

Seems to me there is one of the best sermons I have ever read in that clever litle passage from a very clever little book.

"There is always the other fellow's point of view."

That sounds like a commonplace statement, altruism, an axiom.

BUT while EVERYBODY knows it, only one in a hundred remembers to APPLY it in judging the conduct of his fellow beings.

On an ocean trip which I took last summer the ship was some hours late in starting owing to an unexpectedly heavy freight. During this wait I happened to be sitting near the first officer, and I should say on an average of every three minutes someone asked him when the ship would sail, and he answered that it was quite impossible for him to tell.

Towards the last his answers became rather short and I heard one woman come away saying most indignantly to her companion: "Well, I think he is a queer officer if he can't answer one simple little question more pleasantly than that. Isn't that what he's paid for? I declare I have a mind to complain of him to the company."

Now, if the lady in question had only considered that it wasn't her one simple little question that had tried the officer's temper, but seventy-five or a hundred variations of that little question, I'm sure she would have been more tolerant.

But you see, she just didn't remember that "There is always the other person's point of view."

And that's the way it is with most of us.

We don't mean to be unreasonable, but we just don't think of the other side of the matter.

If we only would try harder to remember that everybody with whom we deal has a point of view which includes circumstances and conditions which we can't possibly understand or appreciate, surely we would pass more lenient judgments.

Ruth Cameron

Anti-Cigarette Crusade Inaugurated Yesterday

Successful Mass Meeting Was Held in St. Andrew's Sunday School---Boy Scouts Attended in a Body---Pledge Cards Were Distributed.

An anti-cigarette mass meeting for men and boys was held at St. Andrew's church yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., at which a crusade was inaugurated.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford of Park Street Baptist Church, acted as chairman, and those on the platform with him were Rev. James Rollins, Rev. H. I. Keith, Messrs. E. L. Goodwill and F. Tait.

After the opening exercises Palmer Wiley, a young boy scout, gave a recitation entitled "The Boys of To-day are the Men of To-Morrow."

Howard (Barney) Armstrong also a Boden-Powell Scout, gave a short address on "Why Scouts Do Not Smoke." A Scout likes to live up to the rules and in Sir Baden-Powell's book he says: "Scouts do not Smoke" One who Smokes, Whether in a Uniform or not, is no Scout."

"A Scout must be ready for an emergency at all times and smoking saps the vitality. Smoking deadens and weakens the faculties a Scout needs most."

Mr. Frank Tait said that a boy who had good health and good muscular development was the one admired in the athletic line and one who smoked could not have this. He who smoked could not be an example to other boys. Boys should "get the habit of forming good habits."

Mr. E. L. Goodwill, among his remarks, said it was a glorious thing to be a Scout, and every boy should endeavour to become one, but as a former speaker said, a smoker could not be a Scout.

Pledge forms were distributed among the boys who are to sign and give them to the superintendents of their various Sunday Schools.

The choristers and orchestra, under the leadership of R. Gliddon, deserve special mention.

BUGGY DEMOLISHED IN AN EXCITING RUNAWAY

The Sunday calm on George street was broken in a very exciting manner yesterday by a spectacular runaway that resulted in the demolishment of a new buggy, a sprained ankle for one man and a bad fright for a good many citizens. Three young men, Messrs. Vincent Hall, Robert Cavine and Jos. Londergan were driving down George street in an outfit belonging to Peter Butler, the East City liveryman. The Salvation Army Band was playing at the corner of George and Hunter streets, and as the party was passing the horse shied at the music and the buggy skidded on the ice at the side of the road, striking a post. This completed the fright of the horse, and he bolted. Messrs. Londergan and Gavine jumped out, but Hall stayed in the buggy. The horse galloped down the street in mad fright, swinging into the side of the road and smashing the buggy against a telegraph post in front of J. C. Turnbull's store. Hall was thrown out at this stage and sustained a badly injured ankle while the top and seat were knocked off the buggy. The horse kept on going with the remnant of the vehicle and on reaching the corner of Simcoe and George, swung in on the sidewalk and continued its flight down the pavement until in front of Warne's, where it was stopped. The street was crowded at the time and the runaway caused great excitement.

The Maple Sugar Will Be Dearer This Year

An industry that is rapidly coming into prominence in Ontario, is the production of maple sugar. The sugar bush is essentially one of our numerous natural resources, the product of which is becoming more valuable every year.

We are at the pitch or vortex of the maple syrup season now, and in conversation with a number of our local dealers, it was learned that the quantity and quality was a little in advance of last year ,also a corresponding increase in price is reported. Last year you could get a three quarter pound cake of sugar for ten cents. This year you will only get a half pound cake for the same money

OBITUARY

MRS. ALBERT COSTELLO.

This morning Mary Loretta McAuliffe, wife of Mr. Albert Costello, died, after a lingering illness, at the family residence, 271 McDonel street. The deceased lady, who at the time of her death had reached the age of twenty-seven years, was born in the town-ship of Emily, a daughter of the late Leonard McAuliffe, who with the mother died several years ago. The late Mrs. McAuliffe, was united in marriage seven years ago to her now bereaved husband, who with three children survives her. Mrs. McAuliffe also left two brothers, Mr. William McAuliffe of Calgary, Alta., and Mr. Joseph McAuliffe, of Regina. Mrs. Costello's amiable character gained her a large popularity and esteem in her wide circle of friends.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning, March 21, at nine o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Martin's cemetery, Ennismore.

JAMES MADILL.

There passed away quietly this morning at the home of his son, Mr. William Madill, a very hightly esteemed gentleman in the person of Mr. James Madill, sr., at the advanced age of 90 years. The late Mr. Madill had been paying his usual yearly visit to his son, Mr. Wm. Madill, of this city, having arrived here about six weeks ago. Since than he has sank gradually, death taking place this morning. Deceased was a life long resident of Picton, and a prominent agriculturist of that county up to a few years ago, when he removed to Whitby, where he has lived in retirement ever since. Deceased was a member of Whitby Presbyterian church and was for over fifty years an elder in the church. He also took an active part and a deep interest in all that was for the best interests of the church and community. He was diligent in his business on the farm and could always be depended upon to lend a helping hand to any of his neighbours, and was beloved and respected by all with whom he was associated. In 1906 Mr. and Mrs. Madill celebrated the 60th anniversary of their wedding. Mrs. Madill passed away one year later, after which Mr. Madill, sr., removed to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Gadsby, of Marietta, Ohio, where he has resided until the occasion of his visit to this city six weeks ago.

There are left to mourn his loss six sons and one daughter. The sons are Thomas of Syracuse, N.Y., John of St. Catharines, Benjamin, James and Walter of Toronto, and William Madill, druggist, of this city. The daughter is Mrs. Gadsby, of Marietta, Ohio.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday. Service will be held at the residence of Mr. Wm. Madill, 554 Aylmer street. The Rev. R. Pogue will officiate, after which the remains will be conveyed via G.T.R. at 11.45 to Whitby, where interment will take place.

SARAH CORKERY.

There passed away early this morning at her residence, 180 Antrim St., Sarah, youngest daughter of Mrs. S. Corkery. She had been ailing for some months, the immediate cause of death being heart failure.

There are left to mourn her loss two sisters, Mrs. Ed. Rogers, Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. Ed. Milloy, Cedar Bluffs, Nebraska, and two brothers, Michael of Lafleck, Sask., and Patrick at Harwood.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the family residence, 180 Antrim street, at 9 a. m. and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

MRS. WILLIAM MOHER.

On Saturday, March 18th, Mrs. William Moher, Douro, passed quietly away in her 82nd year. Deceased was a life long and highly respected resident of Douro. She will be greatly missed in the home, church and community, and also by a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives. Funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence on 3rd line, Douro, at 3 o'clock, to St. Joseph's church, and from thence to St. Joseph's cemetery for interment.

Dr. B. E. McKenzie of Toronto will be at the Snowden House, Peterboro, on Friday, March 24th, for consultation in Orthopedic Cases (deformities, joint and spinal affections and infantile paralysis.) Hours 1 to 4 p.m. 3d66-4365

CHURCH NOTICES

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES.

Monday—4.15, Boys' training class; 5.15, Evening service; 7.30, special meeting of W. A.

Tuesday—2.30, W. A. sewing meeting; 5.15, Evening service.

Wednesday—8 p.m., Special Lenten service. Sermon by Rev. Canon Allen, Millbrook.

Thursday—5.15, Evening service; 8, Choir practice, boys at 7.30 p.m.

Friday—5.15, Evening service; 8 p.m., Confirmation class.

Saturday — Lady Day. Feast of the Annunciation. Holy communion at 10 a.m. Boys practice at 9 a.m.

Sunday—Annual collection for superannuation fund. Last Sunday in financial year.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTICES.

The Girls' Auxiliary will meet at the rectory to-night at 8 o'clock.

The Chancel Guild will meet to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. W. F. Turner, 464 Mark street. The Wednesday Lenten service at 8 o'clock will be addressed by Rev. F. J. Sawers of Lakefield.

The Women's Auxiliary will meet on Thursday at 2.30.

The Mission Band will meet on Friday, at 4.15.

The boys of the Sunday School will meet in the Vestry on Friday night at 7.30 o'clock for the purpose of organizing a patrol of Scouts.

The Y. P. A. will hold a business meeting Friday night at 8 o'clock. The members of the choir are requested to meet at the residence of Mrs. Greenslade, 189 King street, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills

A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at $5 a box, or three for $10. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

GENTLE SPRING.

(Dedicated to the Board of Works.)

Farewell, gentle, sweet summer zephyr
Nor drop we a tear,
We've gone in for something far better,
We're saving $1200 a year.

Farewell, scented rose and sweet blossom,
Thy perfumes are costing too dear,
We're going to run on malodours,
And save our $1200 a year.

Farewell, dainy pastry so toothsome,
Farewell tart and cookie so dear,
The stern path of duty's before us,
We're saving $1200 a year.

We're cutting and scraping and skimping,
The fire hall gang think it's queer,
Good service and comfort "be jiggered"
We're saving $1200 a year.

—City Oil Pump.

(Tune—"When the last trumpet sounds, "Oil be there."

CANADIAN NATIONAL ECONOMY.

The Examiner has received from the MacMillan Company, Toronto, a pamphlet of 180 pages, entitled "Canadian National Economy," with the sub title, "The Cause of High Prices and Their Effect Upon the Country." The brochure is written by Mr. J. J. Harpell, Toronto. Mr. Harpell deals with his subject in a succinct but comprehensive manner. The little book is divided into ten chapters dealing with "The Manufacturing Industry"; The preferential tariff" "The formation, working and profits of combines"—a most interesting section of the work, showing their relation to the cost of living—"Canada's natural resources and foreign trade"; "The farming industry"; The mining industry"; The fishing industry"; "Effect upon the political and social life of the country"; "the need for national economy" and in the last and most important chapter, "reciprocity with the United States." While all readers may not agree with the author's opinions and deductions, his little book, on the "Canadian National Economy" should be read by every one who desires to discuss and consider intelligently the great question now before the country, the adoption of the trade agreement involving reciprocity in farm and other natural products. The MacMillan Company, Toronto; price ten cents. On sale at local bookstores.

SPORTING NOTES

The Orillia Junior O.H.A. team defeated the Lindsay team in an exhibition game in Lindsay on Friday night by 11 goals to 4.

The Examiner is indebted to Mr. Percy Rubidge, formerly of Peterborough for copies of Chicago papers containing reports of the recent visit to the Windy city of the Berlin Professional team. Eddie Howell played his usual star game for Chicago as did Jack Marks, formerly of the Berlin team. Geo. Ertwhile, of the Toronto Marlboros, was also on the Chicago line-up.

Just Arrived

Full Stock of the Famous

Buckley Stiff Hats

(All Hats Guaranteed)

Still some nice Fur Setts & Jackets to be cleared out

With our Conformateur we can shape all Stiff Hats to fit all heads

W. E. LECH

Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

GRAND THREE NIGHTS, commencing March 23

Opera House — THURSDAY —

— The — People's Favorite Tom Marks and His Company of Fun Makers

In Comedy Dramas presenting

Thursday Night, The Cyclone of Fun "A FOOL AND HIS MONEY"
Friday Night, The Great English Comedy "WANTED A HUSBAND" or "THE MARRIAGE OF KITTY"
Saturday Night, The Side-Splitting Irish Comedy "CASEY'S TROUBLES"

PRICES—10c, 20c and 25c 8d Seat sale opens Tuesday morning

MEDICAL.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 359 Brock Street.

DR. E. V. FREDERICK, M.R.C.S. (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Surgery and Diseas of Women. 402 George Street. Hours 1.30-3.30—7-8.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 519. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L. R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 354 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 561, Mach., 526. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
dtf 91 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell 'Phone 649 Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by Appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 190 Hunter street, or at residence, 188 Hunter street. Telephone No. 86.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries, Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices . . 370 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.
Telephone No. 64

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. F. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets; entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. E. Hall, E. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 372 Water street, Peterborough.

Manual labor taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 9

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

Sir Edward Grey's Peace Proposal Has Caught On—All England Is Interested

PEACE SUNDAY

London, March 20.—The movement for peace in the English-speaking world is well timed for the lowest ebb of political affairs at Westminster, where "little water is running under the bridges."

Sir Edward Grey has lifted discussion to three higher levels of noble idealism. He had not definite proposal to offer at the peace conference Saturday night for the carrying out of President Taft's suggestions for an Anglo-American coalition against fratricidal war, but he spoke like a statesman who has appealed to the best instincts of the nation and had behind him the moral forces of public opinion.

Radical Hotspurs who have chattered about sending him upstairs to the House of Lords, where he would be out of David Lloyd-George's way for a future Premiership, are now silent. He has become the English evangel of President Taft's gospel of the hegemony of the English-speaking race and the effective crusade against the barbarism of war and the wastefulness of armaments.

The Unionist press was cold and critical until Mr. Balfour warmly approved Sir Edward Grey's utterances. It now admits that he will have the kingdom and the Empire behind him if he succeeds in making a definite treaty with Washington.

Leading preachers of the free churches proclaimed the glad tidings of world peace from their pulpits yesterday, and a mass meeting at Albert Hall will be arranged at an early date, which will represent all religious bodies. The Bishop of Southwark and other prominent churchmen have welcomed the movement with as much ardor as the free churchmen.

Sir Edward Grey's impressive call upon enlightened public opinion has aroused the dormant energies of churches, brotherhoods, Christian Endeavor unions and peace societies. Naval martinets with two keels for one formulae and military doctrinaires agitation for the universal training of men in the service have fallen into the background.

Old-fashioned experience meetings on the wickedness of war and the folly of excessive armaments have been substituted for barren debates on the number of Dreadnoughts in a reasonably probable combination against England and the impracticability of limiting armaments by agreements among suspicious nations.

So unmanageable is the sudden outbreak of "enthusiasm for" national peace that there are serious risks of a revel of sentimentalism without practical results.

Sir Edward Grey has already corrected the misconception that an arbitration treaty between England and America will necessarily involve a defensive alliance directed against Germany or other European powers.

President Taft's suggestion in a strictly limited form needs to be adhered to literally, without the menace of coercion to other powers. A treaty between England and America on his lines will be the pivot on which a new history of civilization can turn. When that example is set for the benefit of Christendom it will be time enough to talk about deliverance from armaments and ingenuous measures for policing the world.

Certainly Sir Edward Grey will now succeed in carrying the declaration of London through the Imperial Conference.

Taft as Dove.

Augusta, Ga., March 20.—President Taft has followed with keenest interest the discussion of the last few days in the British Parliament on the subject of the international arbitration treaty proposed by him. He is delighted with the manner in which the proposal has been received in Great Britain, as indicated in the speeches of Sir Edward Grey and Mr. Balfour.

The President is extremely hopeful that the treaty may be adopted by both countries, and believes it will be a great step toward the abolition of war. And with war practically impossible between the two great English-speaking nations, there is every reason to hope, according to the President's view, that other nations may come into such an agreement and thus make for universal peace.

In some quarters there has been an impression that the proposed treaty involved an offensive and defensive alliance between Great Britain and the United States. This is an error. The treaty is a broad one, however, and proposes that all disputes, including even those of national honor and territory, shall be settled in an arbitration.

British approval of the proposed peace pact has not come to the President as a surprise. In all of his recent conferences with the British Ambassador, Mr. Bryce, the President was led to believe that the treaty would be received in just the spirit that the press despatches of the past few days from London have indicated.

Germany Warns Britain.

Berlin, March 20.—"Die Post" editorially warns Britain against an arbitration treaty with the United States of America, declaring that it would threaten Britain's world supremacy and the only effect would be that of driving Canada and the Indies and Australia into the wide opened arms of Uncle Sam.

JUDGE DEACON DEAD.

Prominent Renfrew County Jurist Was Eighty Years Old.

Pembroke, Ont., March 20.—Thomas Deacon, senior judge of Renfrew County, died yesterday. He was 80 years of age.

His Honor Thomas Deacon was born at Perth on Nov. 7, 1832, where he lived during his childhood and youth. He was educated at the grammar school there, and at the age of 20 was called to the Bar. For many years he practiced at Pembroke, to which place he removed.

Fourteen years later, in 1876, he was appointed Q.C. by the Provincial Assembly. A similar distinction was bestowed on him by the Marquis of Lorne, then Governor-General, in 1881.

About this time he became deeply interested in local affairs in Pembroke, becoming successively member of the school board, town council and official assignee. He was also president of the Pembroke Lumber Co., and a director of the Kingston & Pembroke Railway.

Judge Deacon was a staunch Conservative, and was elected member of the Ontario Legislative Assembly from 1871 to 1879, when he was defeated. He also ranked high in the Orange Order, being of the Methodist faith.

In 1864 he married Caroline Rebecca, the eldest daughter of John Dunlop of Pembroke.

His appointment of county court judge was made on Jan. 3, 1895.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The C.P.R. is negotiating for an entrance to Stratford.

Mr. Lloyd-George is seriously alarmed over his throat complaint, and may be out of Parliament for some time yet.

Mrs. William Johnson, whose home is at Sarnia, was struck by a street car in Detroit on Saturday, and was seriously injured. The physicians say she will recover.

The Radical members of the Italian Cabinet, Signor Sacchi, Minister of Public Works, and Signor Credaro, Minister of Public Instruction, have resigned their portfolios.

A Hamburg paper announces that four Germans and an Englishman have been arrested charged with having transmitted plans and specifications for German warships under construction to Great Britain.

Thomas Fitzgibbons and his wife, Nora, were found in their home in Ansonia, Conn., with their skulls crushed and the house on fire. Their son, Thomas, jr., is being held by the police charged with the double murder.

The U. S. cavalry will participate in the international horse show at London in June in connection with the coronation festivities. Five officers and ten listed men of the cavalry will represent the military establishment at the show.

Charles Harrison, a Toronto young man, who has been employed at a St. Catharines moving picture theatre, was severely and painfully burned about the eyes and on the hands as the result of an electrical explosion on Saturday night.

Only a miracle prevented a serious accident when a horse hitched to a delivery wagon dashed full tilt across the intersection of Queen and Yonge streets, Toronto, Saturday afternoon. The streets were crowded with conveyances and people going home from work.

American Liner Damaged.

London, March 20.—The American Line steamer St. Paul, from New York for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton, was reported 208 miles west of the Lizard at 7.54 Saturday morning, and signalled that in latitude 49, longitude 17 (about 400 miles west of the Scilly Islands) she passed the American steamer Sun, from Amsterdam and Southampton for Philadelphia. The Sun reported that after leaving Southampton her steering gear became disarranged, but had been repaired, and the steamer was proceeding.

No Reply to Ultimatum.

St. Petersburg, March 20.—China has not yet replied to the last Russian note, which amounted to an ultimatum, insisting upon a closer adherence to the provisions of the treaty of 1881.

A despatch to the Novoe Vremya from Mukden says that an attempt by Chinese police to enter the quarantine lines has led to serious conflicts between the police and the Japanese guards at Fu Shun. One Jap and one Chinaman were killed, and many wounded on both sides.

A $50,000 Fire.

Pottsville, Pa., March 20.—Fire on Friday night destroyed the breaker of the St. Clair Coal Co. at St. Clair, near here, causing damage estimated at $50,000. Much valuable machinery was ruined and 1,200 men will be prevented from working in the mine for six months.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies, and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, In Plain English; or Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

NATURE WILL CURE YOU

Of Kidney Disease, Aided by Father Morrisey's No. 7.

Kidney trouble is one of the most distressing ailments of mankind, and leads to backache and rheumatism. This is because of the importance of the work done by the kidneys,—work which must proceed normally to insure good health.

A very large proportion of civilized people have some form of kidney trouble, sometimes without knowing that their malady is of that nature. Many obscure pains can often be traced to diseased kidneys.

These organs are the filters of the body. Their function is to strain out of the blood and eliminate through the bladder the worn out tissue and other impurities gathered by the blood in its course.

When the kidneys become congested and sluggish, these impurities, including the irritating and poisonous uric acid, are not entirely removed from the blood. The result is that the uric acid is deposited in the joints and tissues, causing the agonies of rheumatism and frequently affecting the liver and other organs.

Father Morrisey, the famous priest-physician of Bartibogue, N. B., after much research compounded a remedy which worked hand in hand with Nature. His doctrine, justified by thousands of cures, was that the need is not a patchwork relief, but a treatment that will enable the forces of Nature, working through the kidneys, to accomplish their intended work.

His famous prescription, No. 7, assists the kidneys to work vigorously and eliminate the harmful uric acid from the whole system. In the form of tablets, No. 7 is easy to take, and will effect cures where other remedies have failed. Do not trifle with kidney disease, but take No. 7 Tablets, the treatment that has proved so successful with other sufferers.

50c. a box, at your druggist's or from Father Morrisey Medicine Co., Ltd. Montreal, Q.

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

LEGISLATORS HAVE FIGHT

Missouri Lawmakers Have a Desperate Sunday Battle—Women Visitors in Hysterics

THREE MEN INVOLVED

Jefferson City, Mo., March 20.—A sacred song service and fist fights were features of the first all-day Sunday session ever held by the Missouri Legislature.

The forenoon meeting closed with all the members singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "In the Sweet By-and-Bye," and "America." The afternoon session ended abruptly with a knock-down and drag out, a riot, and a panic. House floor leader N. J. Simmons was in the centre of the fight, in which Representative David W. Stark of Cass County and Kirby J. Smith, a clerk for the game warden, were the busiest participants. The fight was preceded by a party division on the appropriation rider, which calls on the governor to remove Game Warden Tolerton from office or accept the other alternative of permitting the department to forfeit the $90,000 allotted for its support.

Governor Hadley announced last night he would do neither. Smith was on the floor when the House concurred in the Senate amendment to the contingency appropriation bill containing the Tolerton rider. Smith resented the attitude of the Democrats and declared they "lacked a whole lot of getting Tolerton."

Simmons ordered Smith from the floor.

Smith struck Simmons, then slugged Stark. Stark slugged Smith, and in doing so stumbled over Representative Swearington's chair. Stark fell to his knees and while down, Swearington says, Smith struck him three times about the head.

Stark jumped up and sent his right to Smith's jaw, laying open the right cheek. Smith went sprawling into a group of girls seated just outside the railing in the southwest corner of the hall. Stark sprang after Smith, bore him to the floor and choked him.

In an instant the House was in an uproar. Many women, girls and children were in the hall watching the Sunday proceedings. Their screams added to the din. Many members rushed to the scene of combat. Doorkeeper Wilson pushed his way through the hysterical women and fighting solons and dragged Smith to the door. Blood streamed from the cut in his cheek. Meanwhile a dozen held the other combatants.

Thirty Firemen Overcome.

Chicago, March 20.—Thirty firemen were overcome by the flames of ammonia yesterday while fighting a fire which destroyed a warehouse of the Monarch Refrigerating Co. and caused an $800,000 loss.

Thrilling rescues were made in carrying the unconscious firemen from the burning structure. It was necessary to take them down the fire escapes, as the cables of the elevator in which the rescuers ascended, snapped and the cage plunged three floors to the basement with a load of firemen.

The fire started early yesterday afternoon and raged with unabated fury until late last night. Five explosions of ammonia filled the building with fumes and made the work of fighting the flames dangerous. The structure was heavily stocked with poultry, meats and butter.

While attempting to escape from the roof by sliding down a rope, Battalion Chief Fisher became unconscious when he reached the fourth floor and dropped to the pavement. He fractured a leg and was internally injured.

Both Much Improved.

Ottawa, March 20.—Sir Elzear Taschereau, former chief justice of Canada, who is suffering from a stroke of apoplexy, and Mr. Justice Girouard of the Supreme Court, injured in a runaway accident two weeks ago, whose condition was serious, are both reported as somewhat improved.

BAD STREET CAR WRECK

Train Crashes Into a Trolley at Clinton Street, Buffalo, and Two Persons Are Killed

OTHERS INJURED

Buffalo, N.Y., March 20.—Two persons were killed and four were injured yesterday afternoon when a Lackawanna passenger train, running at high speed, crashed into a street car at a grade crossing on Clinton street.

The dead are: Mrs. John McCormack, 35 years old; Robert W. Hoehn, motorman, 30 years old.

The injured are: John Fay, vaudeville actor, three ribs broken, leg broken, internal injuries, may die; Fred. Gottman, motorman, almost completely scalped, arm broken; Thomas Uhl, conductor, slight bruises; unknown man who was hurried away in an automobile before the police could learn his name.

The street car was outbound on Clinton street, and being near the end of the line, there were only three passengers on board. Gottman, an experienced motorman, was teaching Hoehn, who was handling the controller.

Conductor Uhl was standing on the rear platform prepared to run ahead to throw the derailing switch at the tracks. As the car neared the crossing, the gates went down for the passage of the express train, which was then in plain view, but to the horror of every one in the street car, it failed to slow down. Gottman was seen to jump forward and wrench the controller from Hoehn's hands. It was too late, however. The street car struck the derailing switch and leaving the rails, bumped along the pavement until it was stopped by the rails of the steam railroad. Before a person on the street car could make another move, the engine of the passenger train crashed into it, cutting it completely in two and carrying the debris 500 feet down the track. Mrs. McCormack was instantly killed. Hoehn died at the hospital an hour later.

Killed For a Woman.

Winnipeg, March 20.—The police are searching for Gaston Monrosin, a Winnipeg horse dealer, who was implicated in a row at the Roblin Hotel, in which M. Giovanni lost his life. The two men, it is alleged, quarrelled in the bar of the hotel over a woman, and the argument became heated, revolvers were drawn, Giovanni getting the worst of it. Monrosin made his escape, but as he is well known to the police, having on a previous occasion been arrested by the morality office, his capture is imminent. He is a native of France, 37 years of age, of heavy build, weighing 220 pounds, and five feet 9 3-4 inches in height. He has black hair, dark moustache and marked by a mole on each cheek, his eyes being dark blue. He has also a scar on the left thumb.

Opening Up Navigation.

Montreal, March 20.—One day ahead of last year's record, the staunch little icebreaker Lady Grey has reached Three Rivers, leaving a clear channel behind her all the way down to Quebec. This was a record that has only been possible within the last two years. Now the icebreakers will probably be able to commence operations above Three Rivers, and it is hoped that they will commence breaking the Lake St. Peter ice, which is the toughest proposition of all, earlier than usual. In the work of clearing the channel, the icebreaker Montcalm and the Lady Grey take alternate turns.

Let Off With Lecture.

Goderich, March 20.—Lorne Armstrong, the 20-year-old Stanley Township youth, who rented rigs from Clinton and Goderich liverymen a few weeks ago and sold them at Seaforth and Blyth, obtaining $15 for the two, was before Judge Wyld Saturday and let off with a lecture. His father went surety for his future conduct.

Will Get a Raise.

Brantford, March 20.—Brantford fire department members are likely to get a raise to-night, when the fire and light commission will submit a favorable report on the petition of the men. The raise in Chief Lewis' salary will be from $1,200 to $1,500 a year.

WAS TERRIBLY AFFLICTED WITH LAME BACK.

COULD NOT SWEEP FLOOR.

Three Boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills Cured Her.

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back.

Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered they get out of order.

Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney trouble.

Mrs. N. Larmour, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes:—"I take pleasure in writing you, stating the benefit I have received by using Doan's Kidney Pills. About a year ago I was terribly afflicted with lame back and was so bad I could not even sweep my own floor. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and with the greatest benefit. I only used three boxes and I am as well as ever. I highly recommend these pills to any sufferer from lame back or kidney trouble."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering direct specify "Doan's."

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

High Grade Sewing Machines

The quality of the White and Raymond Sewing Machines is measured by the Satisfaction they give those who use them.

WHITE } The Two Standard
RAYMOND } Machines for the Home

SOLD ON EASY TERMS

Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

FOR SALE

Two Houses, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER
INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies
Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

COAL ! COAL !

The Standard Anthracite D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 48

COAL

That Is Coal

is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

East City

Coal and Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac, Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261

Tel. Machine 270.

184 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts.

Both Phones 262

Yards 124 Robinson Street East City

Both Phones 264

Plumbing, Hot Water Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL Limited

Advertise in the Examiner

FEARED TUBERCULOSIS.

Young Bank Teller Ends His Life In Toronto.

Toronto March 20.—W. Morton Kenley, a teller in the Bank of Montreal, at the corner of Front and Yonge streets, was found dead in the basement of that building at nine o'clock Saturday morning with a 32-calibre bullet through his brain. He had taken his life with a 32-calibre revolver found with him. His body was removed to the morgue in the patrol wagon.

Kenly had boarded with his widowed mother at 266 West Bloor street. A clergyman broke the news to the bereaved mother about an hour after the shooting.

Kenly was away in Ottawa Friday at the funeral of a relative and only returned Saturday morning. He came down to work at nine o'clock and a few minutes after his body was found.

He was employed by the Ontario Bank until the Bank of Montreal took it over in 1906. Since then he has been employed in the Yonge and Front streets branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Kenly is known to have made some money in two Cobalt stocks, and it is rumored that he lost a considerable sum in New York stocks. His accounts at the bank were perfectly in order.

While he was preparing to leave for Ottawa to attend the funeral of an aunt, it is said he received a message from his physician telling him he was seriously affected with tuberculosis.

It appears he had been in dread of the disease for a long time, and had told his confidants that he would shoot himself if he ever learned that he had it.

When he got back to Toronto, so it is said, one of his superiors told him that he would have to be taken off the cash and put back on the books because it had come to the ears of the management that he was dealing in mining stocks—an indulgence which is not tolerated among responsible employes of the Bank of Montreal.

Warn Boy Scouts.

Ottawa, March 20.—A notice from the headquarters of the Canadian Boy Scouts, Ottawa, says:

"The attention of the chief scout, and the Dominion council has been called to an announcement by a Montreal weekly publication that arrangements were being made towards sending a party of boy scouts to England to the coronation ceremonies. It is desired to announce that this scheme has not the approval of the Dominion Council, and all scout associations are warned against participating in it. The Dominion Council do not approve of the boy scouts being made the basis of an advertising scheme, a policy directly opposed to the principles of the movement. Further, if such a party of boys is sent to England, it will not be recognized by the English boy scouts without the approval of the Dominion Council.

"Arrangements are now being made by the Dominion Council towards sending a contingent of boy scouts representing each province, to England in June, either to attend the coronation (if provision can be made for them) or to participate in a rally to be held at Windsor Park early in July. The discipline and care of such a party is of so much importance that the utmost caution will be exercised to ensue competent officers being in charge and every precaution taken to safeguard the welfare of the boys."

Immigrants Are Men of Mystery.

Boston, Mass., March 20.—Eighteen strange-looking men, wearing "drum major" hats, quilted blouses and trousers and high leather boots, are being detained at the immigration station because the Government interpreters are not able to classify them or to understand their language. The men arrived on the Ivernia Friday, and during the time they have been here, the immigration inspectors have been wholly unable to identify them, but it is thought that they may be natives of some village in the Caucasus Mountains. They have tickets for Seattle.

New Armories for Ingersoll.

Ingersoll, March 20.—Col. Caldwell, Toronto, of the engineering staff of the Department of Militia; Col. T. R. Mayberry, M.P.P.; Major W. A. Edgar and others were here on Saturday going over the local situation for the establishment of an armories for Ingersoll. They inspected the Charles Street Methodist Church property, which has been suggested as a site for the armories, if brought here.

London Old Boys' Reunion.

London, March 20.—A meeting of the London Old Boys' Home Guard will be held to-morrow night to discuss the advisability of holding a reunion of former residents this summer.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Lower, Chicago Higher—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, March 18.—Except for a brief dip during initial trades wheat today ruled strong. The reason lay chiefly in pessimistic crop reports from Western Kansas by a Chicago expert, who yesterday sent forward glowing despatches regarding the seat half of the state. At the close prices were ⅝c to ¾c to ⅞d higher than last night. In corn, there was a net gain of ⅛c to ⅜c to ⅝c; oats were unchanged to ⅛c up, and provisions down 5c to 7½c to 20c.

LIVERPOOL, Mar. 18.—Wheat opened quiet unchanged to 1-1 power. There was some realising account liberal plata, offerings and favorable reports from India and market declined 1-8. There was a quiet demand with larger offerings and mostly pressed for sale but buyers were holding off in anticipation of bearish weekly statistics. At the close the market was easy 1-8 to 2-8 lower than yesterday.

Winnipeg Options.

	Close.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	96	92⅞	93⅞	92⅞	93⅞
July	94½	94½	95½	94½	95½
Oats—
May	35½	33½	34	33½	34
July	34½	34½	35	34½	35

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	$0 99	to 99 91
Wheat, goose, bushel	0 92	....
Rye, bushel	0 68	0 69
Barley, bushel	0 68	....
Oats, bushel	0 37	....
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	0 50
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, store lots	0 17	0 19
Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 28	0 24
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 23	0 26
Eggs, new-laid	0 19	0 20
Eggs, cold storage	0 17	....
Cheese, lb.	0 13	0 13½
Honeycombs, dozen	3 50	....
Honey, extracted, lb.	0 10	0 11

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, March 18.—Closing—Wheat—Spot, dull; No. 2 red western winter, no stock; futures quiet, March 6s 8 7-8d; January 6s 8 3-8d; July 6s 9 3-8d. Flour—Winter patents, quiet, 27s 6d. Hops in London (Pacific coast) firm, £4 6s to £5 5s.

Beef—Extra mess easy, 107s 6d. Pork—Prime mess western quiet, 82s 6d. Hams, short cut, 14 to 16 lbs., quiet 54s. Bacon, Cumberland cut, 26 to 30 lbs., steady 56s; short ribs, 16 to 24 lbs., steady 61s; clear bellies, 14 to 16 lbs., steady 55s; long clear middles, light, 26 to 34 lbs., dull 59s; long clear middles, heavy, 35 to 40 lbs., quiet 58s; short clear backs, 16 to 20 lbs., quiet 53s 6d. Shoulders, square, 11 to 13 lbs., dull 48s. Lard, prime western, in tierces, easy 46s 6d. American refined, in pails, dull 47s. Cheese, Canadian finest, white, new firm 61s 6d; Canadian, finest colored, new, firm 62s 6d. Tallow, Australian in London, weak 24s 7 1-2d. Turpentine spirits, strong 70s. Rosin, common, firm 15s. Petroleum, refined, steady 6 1-2d. Linseed oil, steady 50s. Cotton seed oil, Hull refined, spot easy, 30s 9d.

London Produce.

LONDON, March 18.—To-day's boat from Denmark landed 378 bales. Quotations are: Bacon, reduced 2s 6d for Canadian, with more doing at 54s to 64s; hams, long cut, were steady at 60s to 68s; cheese was in fair demand and ruled firm, finest white was 60s to 63s; colored, 62s to 63s; deep red, 64s to 65s.

CATTLE MARKETS.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 18.—Receipts, 75 head; market light and steady; prime steers, $6 40 to $6.75; butcher grades, $3.50 to $6.25.

Calves—Receipts, 225 head; market slow, 25c lower; cull to choice, $5.50 to $9.25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 3000 head; market active, lambs firmer; sheep steady; choice lambs, $6.75 to $7; cull to fair, $5.25 to $6.50; yearlings, $6.50 to $6; sheep, $3 to $5.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 2550 head; market slow and lower; Yorkers, $7.30 to $7.40; pigs, $7.40 to $7.50; mixed, $7.20 to $7.25; heavy, $7.10 to $7.15; rough, $6 to $6.30; stags, $5 to $5.50.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, March 18. — Hogs.—Receipts, 16,000; market 5c to 10c lower; mixed and butchers, $6.55 to $7.10; good, heavy, $6.75 to $6.95; rough, heavy, $6.50 to $6.70; light, $6.75 to $7.15; pigs, $6.60 to $7.50; bulk, $6.80 to $6.95.

Cattle—Receipts, 500 head; market steady; beeves, $5 to $6.30; cows and heifers, $2.50 to $6; stockers and feeders, $4.25 to $5.85; Texans, $4.90 to $5.80; calves, $6.50 to $8.

Sheep—Receipts, 2500 head; market steady; native and western, $2.50 to $5.40; lambs, $4.90 to $6.60.

British Cattle Markets.

LIVERPOOL March 18.—John Rogers & Co., Liverpool, cable that trade at Birkenhead to-day was firm and last week's quotations ruled, States and Canadian steers from 12 3-4c to 13 1-4c per lb.

Terrible Ravages of Plague.

London, March 20.—During the mouth of February, the deaths from the plague in India reached the enormous total of 88,498.

The disease has become such a fixture in that country that its ravages are little heard of except through the occasional official statistics.

The British India offices reports that the epidemic was particularly virulent this year, and adds that the most persistent efforts to stamp it out have failed to effect a permanent improvement in the situation.

Politics Too Strenuous.

Regina, Sask., March 20.—Premier Scott has collapsed under the strain to which he has been subjected for two months as the result of the vigorous assault of the Opposition at the Legislature, and will shortly leave the province for his health. In his absence Hon. Mr. Calder will lead the Government. The Premier announced Saturday night that dissolution would not be sought this year, and supplies were voted thus ending three weeks' deadlock.

New Lutheran Church.

New Hamburg, March 20—The dedication and installation services of the new St. Peter's Lutheran Church here yesterday was the occasion of two largely attended services. A special train from Berlin, Petersburg and Baden brought 500, including the mixed choir of 150 pieces of St. Peter's Church, Berlin, under Prof. Zeigler.

The Sequence.

"It was very romantic," says the friend. "He proposed to her in the automobile."

"Yes?" we murmur encouragingly.

"And she accepted him in the hospital."

Self-Sacrifice of Physicians.

Boston, Mass. March 20.—With the characteristic sacrifice of the physician, Dr. J. L. Todd of the medical department of McGill University of Montreal, and Dr. S. B Wolbach, assistant professor of bacteriology at the Harvard Medical School, have departed for the unknown tracts of West Africa to study the so-called "Sleeping Sickness" and its allied diseases among the natives. The two physicians have a single white hunter as escort, and will brave the dangers of hostile natives in their efforts to discover the primary source of the baffling disease.

Ottawa's Georges Busy.

Ottawa, March 20.—Mayor Hopewell is to call a meeting of the Georges of this city to participate in the coronation presentation to His Maesty King George V. The movement to make a presentation from all the Georges in Canada is being furthered by His Excellency Earl Grey and the mayor has been asked to start the list on a systematic basis in Ottawa, by calling a meeting of some of the prominent Georges of the capital. The mayor has not yet fixed a date for the meeting.

Will Improve Property.

St. Thomas, March 20.—General Superintendent Oberne and Superintendent McNeillie of the C.P.R., were in Port Burwell, proposing to spend $30,000 in improvements on the company's property in the shape of a roundhouse, elevator, etc., provided the town agrees to certain transfers of property. Otherwise the C.P.R. will locate the improvements at some other port.

Innocent of Crime.

Pittsburg, March 20.—Andrew Toth was released from the penitentiary here yesterday after serving twenty years for a crime he did not commit. Toth was accused of murdering a fellow-workman at the furnaces and sentenced to prison for life. Recently it was discovered he was half a mile away from the scene of the crime. Governor Tener promptly signed the pardon.

Not a Nationalist.

London, March 20.—"I am an Irish Catholic, not an Irish Nationalist," declared Bishop Fallon at St. Peter's Cathedral last night. "I detest nationalism that makes a man a peasant, but I love the man who will cleave to the faith through prosperity and adversity. The faith is the shield of Ireland's greatness. It is the richness of her poverty, it is the pride of her humility, the sweetness of her tears, the consolation of her sorrow and the balm of her ever-bleeding wounds."

Sailor Meets Instant Death.

Fort William, March 20.—Stepping under an anchor on the sand barge Luddington, which is under repairs on Mission Island, F. Lottonville, 53 years of age, a sailor, was instantly killed on Saturday, when a chain holding the anchor suddenly gave way. The anchor chain was not being moved, and the cause of the accident is unknown. Lottonville lived here. He was unmarried. An inquest will be held.

Ernest Crofts, R.A., Dead.

London, March 20.— Ernest Crofts, R.A., the noted painter and keeper of the Royal Academy, died yesterday.

Ernest Crofts was born in Yorkshire in 1847. His first picture, "A Retreat: Episode of the Germany-French War," was exhibited in the Royal Academy in 1874. His historical paintings range over a wide period, and deal mainly with military subjects.

Quarantined the Hospital.

Fort William, March 20.—The Board of Health at a special meeting Saturday approved of the quarantine of McKellar Hospital. A man recently discharged from the hospital has developed symptoms of smallpox. No connection between the latest smallpox case and the one which developed about three weeks ago has been established.

One Million For Roads.

Montreal, March 20.—According to a report submitted to the Board of Control by the road department, it is shown that last year there was expended on macademizing streets in the various wards over one million dollars.

Winnipeg Grain Shipments.

Winnipeg, March 20.—During the last six months, 64,315 cars of grain were handled through the Winnipeg gateway.

A Victus Misplaced.

"I ordered this steak not well done," said the impatient guest.

"I know it," answered the intellectual waiter. "But the cook is one of those people who believe that no matter how small a thing is it should be well done."

Gilt Frames.

To renew gilt frames which have become dull and lustreless a paste should be made of spirits of wine and whiting and laid over the gilding. This must be left until it has dried into a cake, when it can easily be brushed off and the gilt polished.

Absentminded.

"Butterfinger is awfully absentminded."

"What is his latest?"

"He was driving a nail and hammered his thumb. He howled and put the nail in his mouth and used to fling his thumb on the floor."

After a Big Haul.

"Banks used to be daft on the subject of buried treasure. What's he up to now?"

"He's got up an expedition to Asia Minor to try to find the place where Methuselah stored his birthday presents."

The Secret of Success.

He—How often a woman's face is her fortune.

She—Yes, and how often a man's cheek is his.

Coal Consumption.

During the last century the coal consumption of the world just about doubled every ten years.

READINESS was our idea when we invented OXO Cubes. They are packed in just the right size—no measuring—no uncorking—no cooking required. You boil the water—we have done the rest.

Sold in Tins containing 4 and 10 Cubes.

Two Free Samples sent on receipt of 2c. stamp to pay postage and packing.

OXO is also packed in bottles for People who prefer it in fluid form.

14 46 Lombard St. Toronto. 41 Commerce St. Montreal.

A WONDERFUL MACHINE.

An Apparatus Ahead of Anything of the Kind Yet Invented.

A cinematograph apparatus which takes pictures with intervals of one five-thousandth of a second has been invented by Dr. Cranz of the Military Academy of Berlin. A striking example of the power of the apparatus shows a bullet fired at a bladder of water that is hung on a string.

The eye only sees a little smoke from the pistol and a couple of holes in the bladder, from which the water runs; but when this is cinematographed and the film is shown slowly a very interesting series of operations can be watched.

First the bullet is seen approaching. It is traveling 1,000 feet a second, but it seems to move quite deliberately. In front of it and extending a long way above and below it is a dim line, bent sharply immediately before the bullet. A bullet can no more pass through air than a vessel can through water without making a wave; and this is the air wave. It is made visible on account of its different density, just as the waves in air are seen above a chimney or over hot ground.

Behind the bullet come scattered grains of the powder that have not been burned, and traveling more slowly still comes the wad. The bullet enters the bladder and disappears inside, a little water spurting out of the hole it makes. Then it reaches the other side, but it no longer cuts through at once, as it did when the bladder was backed up by the water.

Something like a finger seems to push the bladder outward into a long tube, then the tube opens and lets out the bullet, which gradually travels away. The tube does not at once collapse; its form is maintained by the stream of water which followed the projectile.

Mohammedan New Year Festival.

Taboots is an Indian festival in connection with the celebration of the month of Moharram, which begins the years of the true Mohammedan. This festival commemorates the death of Prince Hoosein, the grandson of Mohammed, who met his death in battle after ten days' fighting against King Omar. The word taboot, from which the festival takes its name, means literally a tomb, and it is always built in front of the homes of some rich and important Mohammedans and under a temporary shed built for this purpose.

The taboots are made from thin bamboo strips covered with high colored paper, and it is always decorated with isinglass, gold and silver paper, glass balls and much red and green paint. On the ninth day of the festival of taboots the taboots are carried in a procession through the streets of the various cities in India. On the tenth day all the taboots are thrown into some river, and thus ends the Mahommedan festival of taboots.

Winning to Lose.

Prince Vladimir Teropakoff, a penniless nobleman, sacrificed his life at Moscow in an attempt to win a strange wager. Count Waldig, a wealthy landowner, made a bet with him that he would not drink a gallon of liquor at a draft. The prince's reward if he accomplished the feat was to be the title deeds of a valuable estate. The prince ate nothing all day with the exception of a salt herring, and in the evening, in the presence of the count and four witnesses, he raised the gallon jar and drank steadily until he set it down empty. The title deeds of the estate were handed to him, but hardly had he received them when he sank to the ground and died in a few moments.

Conquering the Atlantic.

Whether the ocean traveler is rich or poor, he can no more realize the contrast between his experience and that of the first men who crossed the Atlantic than the tourist gliding over a storm swept moor in a closed motor-car can feel the misery of a tramp staggering over it in open rags. The Atlantic is as cruel as ever—a treacherous, gloomy and violent sea—but so completely is it baffled and shut out, so smoothly ridden over, that the old traveler, hardly conscious of its being, is half inclined to think its character reformed. What higher praise can be given and what less praise is due to our modern shipbuilders?—London Times.

Looking Down a Well.

I never draw a pail of water from the well without an appreciation of its charm such as a country bred man, I imagine, could never feel. He might gape at open plumbing, looking at it with his fresh country eye, where I should simply take it for granted, but I am afraid he never could fully experience what might be called the sentiment of a well, that delightful, inverted tower of darkness and dampness and coolth. If there isn't such a word as coolth there ought to be.

Secret of the Orange.

Here is a way to tell from the outside appearance of an orange how many pieces there are within: Look at the stem end of an orange and you will find that there is a little wheel where the scar is pulled away from the stem, with spokes that lead away from the centre. Count the spaces between these spokes and you will know how many pieces the orange has.

Freed His Mind in His Will.

Among curious wills that of a certain Dr. Dunlap, a Canadian, has often been quoted. It probably contained some of the most maliciously expressed bequests on record. To one brother the doctor left his books so that he might learn to read and acquire common sense. To another brother he left his big silver watch that the said brother might know the hour at which men ought to get up of a morning. To his brother-in-law he left his best pipe "in gratitude that he married my sister Maggie, whom no man of taste would ever have taken," and to the eldest son of a friend he left a silver tankard lest if he left it to the friend himself, who was a rabid teetotaler, the latter might melt it down to cast temperance medals. To one of his sisters he left a silver drink cup "for reasons best known to herself;" to another the family Bible, so that she might learn as much of its spirit as she already knew of its letter and become a better Christian, and to his eldest sister a five acre field to console her for being married to a man that she had to henpeck.—Chambers' Journal.

A Pair of Cheerful Liars.

The crowd in the little country store was watching the rain when Deacon Witherspoon remarked that he'd seen it rain about as hard as anybody ever had seen it rain. Somebody said:

"Deacon, how hard did you ever see it rain?"

"Well, sir," said the deacon, "once upon a time, when I was at home, we had an old cider barrel laying out in the yard with both ends out and the bunghole up, and, would you believe it, it rained so hard into that bunghole that water couldn't run out of both ends fast enough, and it swelled up and busted!"

Then Reuben Henry spoke up. He said he'd never seen it rain very hard, but he'd seen some mighty cold weather. Somebody said, "Rube, how cold did you ever see it get?"

He said, "Well, sir, one time when I was living down in Pickaway county, in hog killing time, we had a kettle of boiling water setting on the stove, and we took it out in the yard, and it froze so doggone quick the ice was hot."—National Monthly.

Punished For Not Voting.

According to the universal suffrage law of Australia, all those on the register must record their votes, and at the last general election in that country 50,000 electors were fined sums from $2 downward because they neglected to go to the poll.

Doctor Told Her She Did Not Have A Pint Of Good Blood in Her Body.

Mrs. Dosithe P. Cormier, Middle Sackville, N.B., says:

"In the spring of 1897 I was all run down, and the doctor told me I had not a pint of good blood in my body. I took different remedies from doctors, but they did not seem to do me any good. After having taken a lot of different other kinds of medicine, and they did not seem to benefit me, I was almost in despair and did not know what to do until my husband met a lady and told her about my sickness and she told him to try Burdock Blood Bitters as she had received the greatest benefit from using it. My husband went and bought me a bottle, and after having taken it I felt better, so I kept on using one bottle after another until I had taken six in all and then I was strong and well. I am positive that my being alive to-day is due to the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. One spring since then I was not feeling very well and had a lot of work to do. I thought I would procure a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and after I had taken two I was able to do a lot of hard work all the summer, and I never felt better in my life. In the winter of 1906 I had Pneumonia, and it left me with a severe pain in the left side. Every morning when I would get out of bed I had to sit down for a while it was so painful. After I had used Burdock Blood Bitters the pain disappeared completely. It has also cured me of bleeding piles. I have received so much benefit from Burdock Blood Bitters that you may publish this as it may help others as it has me."

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three (3) months ending March 31st at the rate of ten per cent. (10%) per annum has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution, and the same will be payable at the Offices of the Company in this City on and after April 1st, 1911.

The transfer books will be closed from the 20th to the 31st day of March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board,

E. R. WOOD, Man. Dir.

CENTRAL CANADA LOAN & SAVINGS CO.

26 King Street E., Toronto

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst	1.40 a.m.	8.55 a.m
North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	9.30 p.m.	6.45 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.35 a.m.	11.45 a.m.
	4.55 p.m.	9.05 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.35 a.m.	11.45 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	4.55 p.m.	9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.
	10.15 p.m.	4.35 p.m.
Lindsay Local	6.35 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	8.35 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
	8.55 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
Lakefield.	10.00 a.m.	5.35 a.m.
	6.15 p.m.	12.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.55 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m.
	1.35 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	1.35 a.m.
	8.51 a.m.
Burketown, Bobcaygeon, Lyrtle, Toronto.	7.45 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS TO Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta

Special Trains leave Toronto 2.00 p.m. on

APRIL 4, 18 — MAY 2, 16, 30 — JUNE 13, 27

JULY 11, 25 — AUG. 8, 22 — SEPT. 5, 19

Second class tickets from Ontario stations to principal Northwest points at

LOW ROUND-TRIP RATES

Winnipeg and return $33.00; Edmonton and return $41.00, and to other points in proportion. Tickets good to return within 60 days from going date.

TOURIST SLEEPING CARS on all excursions. Comfortable berths, fully equipped with bedding, can be secured at moderate rates through local agent.

Early application must be made

ASK FOR HOMESEEKERS' PAMPHLET containing rates and full information.

Apply to nearest C.P.R. Agent or to R. L. Thompson, Dist. Pass. Agt., Toronto.

ONLY DIRECT LINE — NO CHANGE OF CARS

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Low Rates to Pacific Coast

Daily until April 10

42.60 { Vancouver, B. C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Ore.

45.20 { San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal. Mexico City

One way second class from Peterborough

Low Rates every day to Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta

Exceedingly low rates each Tuesday until April 25th, to principal points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, including points on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

Full particulars and tickets from—

City Ticket Office: 334 George St.

B. A. ROSE, City Ticket Agent

F. SANDY, Depot Agent

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00

Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $1,975,804.40

Total Liabilities to the Public $1,566,086.69

Surplus $1,789 477.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:

487 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'

W. G. MORROW

MANAGING DIRECTOR

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop

Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 623

Lots For Sale —AND— Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE WARNE SHOE STORE

Wish to Gain Your Attention to Their

"Wet Weather FOOTWEAR"

Men's Guaranteed Blucher Bals in black and tan..... ..... $5.00

Men's Viscolised Tan Calf, special $4.50

Men's Heavy Chrome Grain Bluchers at, from $2.25 to $3.50

A Women's Double Soled, Goodyear sewed, Calf $4.00

And Women's Strong Shoes from $1.20

Our Youths' at $1.40 and Boys' at $1.75 in a solid leather is a winner

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store

Grand New
MILLINERY OPENING for the 17th

Ladies of Peterborough are invited to come in and inspect our Hats. The latest and most up-to-date styles from New York and Toronto. Chic, ready-to-wear and untrimmed Ladies' and Children's Hats for the coming season. You will be agreeably surprised when you see our display of most recherche Millinery. We have a thorough up-to-date Milliner, who can suit in any style you may require. Hand-made hats a specialty.

We have also the very latest styles in Ladies' and Gents' ready-to-wear Clothing. Ladies' New Spring Suits in all the newest and becoming shades and styles. All kinds of Skirts in the newest ideas. All Housefurnishings. See our windows.

CASH OR CREDIT

Why not dress well when you can on such easy terms? A small deposit and one dollar weekly will get you what you require for the Spring.

432 George St. Phone 567

Our Photos

Always please because the likeness is true, the finish perfect, the subject is naturally and effectively posed, and the work is mounted and put up in the very latest style.

Louis Mendelssohn

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

The Ladies'

This is the time to look over your Spring Wardrobe and have them put in shape. We do all kinds of cleaning, repairing and pressing, on ladies' or gent's garments. You will be surprised at the improvement.

2 STORES:

304 Charlotte Street. Bell 877 Mach. 387
137 Simcoe Street Phone 668

Edwin Elcome TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.

Peterborough Ontario

PETERBORO' PENNANTS 50c

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Corner George, King and Water Streets
Both Phones Peterborough

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

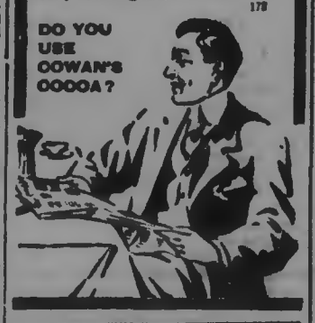
Point St. Charles Mills

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

"Great for Breakfast."

A day started on Cowan's Cocoa is a day with a clear head and a steady nerve—a day full of snap and life. Cocoa nourishes the body. It is rich in food value and easy to digest.

178



LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Probabilities.

Westerly winds, fair and mild today and on Tuesday.

In Memorian Class.

His Honour Judge Huycke will meet his "In Memoriam" Class at the Y.W.C.A. to-night at 8 o'clock.

At Springville.

Mr. J. J. Thompson, physical director of the Y.M.C.A. occupied the pulpit of the Springville Presbyterian church yesterday.

Milk Delivered.

We deliver milk and cream in the evening. Phone orders before 4 o'clock. Model Dairy, cor. King and George streets. Phone 831.

Madrigal Club Concert.

—Concert given by the Conservatory Madrigal Club and Orchestra in the Conservatory Music Hall, Tuesday evening, March 28. Admission 25 cents.

A Popular Lecture.

Don't miss the lecture, "The Making of the Nation," by Rev. John McNeil, Tuesday, March 21st, at Murray street Baptist church. Tickets on sale at Porter S. White's grovery.

Garrison Signalling Class.

All those who desire to enrol in the above class are required to parade at the Armouries on Monday, March 20th, at 8 o'clock p.m. G. K. Rackham, Sig. Lieut.

Dried Fruits.

4 lbs. dates for 25c ; 3 lbs. cooking figs 25c.; fresh prunes 10c. lb. Extra quality of canned peas, corn, tomatoes (Gazelle brand) 2 for 25c. Maple syrup 30c. quart. JAMES R. BELL, 43 Hunter street east; 161 Hunter street west.

No. 3 Patrol Boy Scouts.

The Tird Troop of the Peterborough Boy Scouts will meet at the Armouries at 7.45 p.m. to-night to enrol. It is essential that all should be present as the Scouts must enrol under their different troops and the full number of Scouts will have to be sent to Toronto before the end of the week.

At S. A. Oke's, successor to H. P. Kennedy.

FISH—Fresh fish, Halibut, Salmon, Sea Herrings, Seal Shipt Oysters. VEGETABLES — Carrots, parsnips, beets, cabbage, celery, fresh lettuce parsley and green onions daily; guaranteed new laid eggs. Meats, Prime beef, lamb and pork, always in stock —S. A. OKE, 340 George street. 'Phon e278.

Housecleaning Made Easy.

—Before you decide how you will clean your carpets, call us up or drop in and see the work our machines will do. We can thoroughly clean the carpets of an ordinary sized house in three hours, without any inconvenience to you and at a very small cost.—The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Co., 395 Water St., (near Cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

His Reply.

A tramp rapped at the door the other day and asked the woman if she could spare him a piece of bread. "No, I can't," replied the woman; "and if you knew who I was you wouldn't come her." "Oh, and who are you?" asked the tramp. "I am a policeman's wife, and were he here he would take you." "Well," replied the tramp, "if he'd take you he'd take anybody."

On the Free List.

—Florida Grape Fruit, Pineapples Sunkist Seedless Oranges, Bananas, and Lemons. Our stock is complete and prices are low. Also in stock. Cauliflowers, Strawberries, Boston Head Lettuce, Ripe Tomatoes, Rhubarb, Celery, Green Onions, Spring Onions; fish of all kinds. Sealshipt Oysters, Vegetables, etc.—Walter J. Oke, 376 George street. Bell 'Phones 18 and 19.

Never Mind the Horse.

A man driving a motor car along a country road met an old-fashioned carriage in which was an old-fashioned couple. They jumped to the ground, and the car came to a standstill. The man of the car stepped forward and offered to help to lead the horse past the machine. "Oh, never mind the horse — never mind the horse!" said the old man. "You lead the old lady past that thing and I'll get the horse by!"

Encourage the Young.

Give the young and struggling a word of encouragement when you can. Utter the kind word when you can see that it is deserved. The thought that no "one cares and no one knows" blights many a bud of promise. Be it the young artist at his easel, the young preacher in his pulpit, the workman at his bench, the boy at his mathematical problems, or your little girl at the piano, give what praise you can.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all desisns of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

Woman's Art Association Social Afternoon.

—A cordial invitation is extended to all members of the W. A. A. and others interested, to meet in the officers' lecture room at the Armouries on Wednesday afternoon, at 3.30 p.m., when Mr. Dobbin, of the Review, will give an informal talk on the Art of Furniture Making ancient and modern, graceful and grotesque. At the close of Mr. Dobbin's short talk, tea and cake will be served. The members of the Association are urged to be present in full force and to make this an enjoyable aftrenoon. Members admitted by membership ticket; non-members by silver collection at door.

CREDIT

Makes a Hard Road EASY

WE SELL what we advertise without extra charge for CREDIT. Credit will serve you well HERE.

ECONOMY

says buy NOW and BUY HERE.

Open An Account Now

Get high grade Ladies' and Gents Clothing ready-to-wear for the Spring. Special Ladies' Suits, most up-to-date, all reduced prices for early buyers.

Ladies' Suits, reg. 35.00 for..... $27.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 25.00 for 19.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 18.00 for..... 12.50
All good tailored and all colours

New Line of Millinery

New line of Millinery will open for Spring. Come and pick out your Hat HERE.

All kinds of House Furnishings, Linoleums, Oilcloths, Squares, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains in best quality.

CASH OR CREDIT

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

The Best Credit Clothiers in City

183 CHARLOTTE STREET

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. W. D. Jones of Port Hope, is visiting in the city.

Mr. S. Craig of Detroit, is a guest at the White House.

Mr. W. D. Jones of Port Hope, is visiting in the city.

Mr. A. Burrill of Toronto, is staying at the Munro House.

Mr. J. A. Waddell of Hamilton is a guest at the Hotel National

Mr. W. K. Greenwood of Orillia, is a guest at the Hotel National.

Mr. Fred Ditman of Kinmount, is registered at the Munro House.

Mr. Jas. Dixon of Fenelon Falls, is a guest at the Snowden House.

Mr. Jas. Dixon of Fenelon Falls, is a guest at the Snewden House.

Mr. Cecil Woodhouse of Toronto, is registered at the Snowden House.

Mrs. B. Shortly, 550 Aylmer street, will not receive to-morrow afternoon.

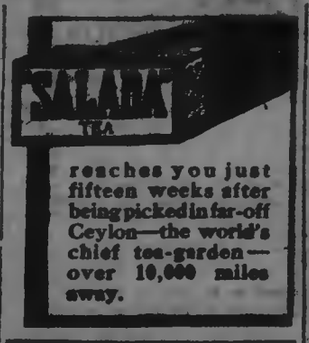
Mrs. Jas Long, 561 Reid street, will not receive to-morrow (Tuesday), the 21st.

Mr. Allan Lonsbery of Cobourg was a guest at the Munro House over Sunday.

Mr. Alex. Thompson, of Otonabee, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lynch, of Coldsprings on Sunday evening.

Mr. Edwin Page, eldest son of Mrs. Edwin Page, Hunter street, has returned to the Northwest after spending the winter in the city.

Miss Laura Edwards entertained a number of her friends the other evening. A very enjoyable time was spent by all present. During the evening Miss Mabel Little was surprised by a linen shower.



reaches you just fifteen weeks after being picked in far-off Ceylon—the world's chief tea-garden—over 10,000 miles away.

SOME REAL ESTATE CHANGES

Mr. R. R. Hall and Mr. E. A. Coulthard have purchased from Mr. W. H. Manning, dentist, the double residence occupied by them on McDonnel street, while Mr. H. O. Fiske has purchased from Mr. Manning the residence occupied by the latter. It is understood the transfers took place at good prices. The properties are centrally situated and pleasantly located opposite Central Park.

PRIZE WINNERS AT YEOTES BROS' GALLERY

C. Callaghan won the amateur and H. Mackie the professional shooting events at the Peterborough Bowling and Shooting Gallery last week, the former receiving a gold tie pin and the latter a gold locket. In the bowling contest Mr. Mills carried off the first prize—a handsome fountain pen. The scores last week in the shooting events were as follows:

Amateur.

J. Martin 22, W. Saxeby 23, S. Kerneghan 28, J. Wilson 27, E. Yarnington 24, C. Callaghan 28, H. Kennedy 27, W. Stewart 27, V. Bothwell 25, J. MacGowan 26, P. Reid 25, C. Hepburn 26, W. Spencer 26.

Professional.

H. Elliott 27, J. Martin 24, J. Squires 25, E. Hurtubise 25, C. Gutterson 28, H. Moore 25, C. Green 26, C. Murphy 24, H. Mackie 28.

THE SHOOTING AT PETERBORO' GALLERY

The target shooting contests which are held weekly in Yeotes Bros. gallery, George street, are becoming more interesting each week. Last week there was a seven handed tie up till Saturday evening, when Mr. Gutterson happened along and with a score of 58 points out of a possible 60, captured the prize. Following are the scores:

Professional.

C. Gutterson	58
A. C. Miller	57
Jos. Vinette	57
F. D. Cole	57
Wm. Gill	57
G. R. Powell	57
W. Richmond	57
C. Callaghan	57
J. Huschy	56
A. Chapman	56
H. Blade	56
G. Bidgood	56
Geo. McNally	55
Norman Perry	55
J. Simmons	55
L. W. Pearson	55
D. Denne	55
P. Gettas	55
Ed. Dopie	55
J. T. Bothwell	55
J. Pearson	55
T. S. Matthews	54
Hugh Mackey	54
A. Davidson	54

Prize—Box of Bachelor Cigars.

Amateur.

In the amateur contest John Gillespie captured the honours with a score of 59; John Brumwell running second with 58. Following are the scores:

J. Gillespie	59
J. Brumwell	58
Earl Edgar	57
Geo. McNally	57
Oscar Bulmar	57
Wm. Curtin	57
C. Taylor	57
James Wilson	56
J. Rose	56
P. Robson	56
H. Walsh	55
J. MacGowan	55
J. Reynolds	55
J. Merritt	55
J. McRae	55
J. D. Stewart	54
A. Bouskill	54
F. Andrews	54
Jos. Kelbrick	54
E. Quinlan	54

Prizes — 1st, Box Arabella Cigars; 2nd, a Pipe. The prizes next week will be well worth trying for.

CURLING

The final game in the local curling bonspiel for the Consolation class was played Saturday night between Skip J. B. Stevenson and Skip J. E. Fitzgerald, and after a hard fought game Skip Fitzgerald was victorious by a 13-4 score. The semi-finals were played in the afternoon. The contestants and the resultant scores were as follows: Skip Wightman and Fitzgerald, score 8-10 in favour of the latter, Skip Brightman and Stevenson, with a score of 10-13 in favour of Stevenson.

ASK THE MANAGER HIMSELF.

The Examiner has received a request from a correspondent to ask the manager of the Opera House to explain why he, the correspondent, could not obtain the seats for which he held cheques. It should be more business like and satisfactory to apply to the manager himself for information.

BROKE THROUGH ICE

There are safer ways of crossing the river at this particular season of the year than going across the ice, as Mr. Thomas Williams, who boards at the home of Mr. T. C. Holmes, North Monaghan found yesterday afternoon. Mr. Holmes tried to cross the Otonabee at the Street Railway wharf in spite of the fact that the ice is thin and treacherous. Fortunately he had taken the precaution to take a board with him, by means of which he kept himself up when he suddenly went through the ice. He lay along the board and kept himself from going under until help arrived in the person of Mr. Jas. McMartin, of McMartinville, who hurried to his rescue in spite of the danger of going through himself and by means of planks extricated Mr. Williams from his uncomfortable and dangerous position.

Black Inhabitants of France.

Lying so much off the beaten track, the village of Port Lesme, in the Jura department of France, is visited by but few from the outside world, and consequently this tiny community of men and women of color is but little known. It is not a large village, for its inhabitants number only about a hundred, but every one is either black or copper colored. It owes its origin to the fact that about a century ago the famous negro chief, Toussaint L'Ouverture, was brought from Haiti and imprisoned in Fort de Joux. Many of his friends, all negroes, followed him and encamped near his prison on the bank of the little river Lesme. From that encampment grew the village of Port Lesme, and when Toussaint L'Ouverture died more than 100 years ago his friends decided to remain in France. The passing of years and intermarriages have transformed the settlement into a French village of colored folk, all of whom are enfranchised.

Poetry and Pleasure.

The poet writes under one restriction only—namely, the necessity of giving immediate pleasure. Nor let this necessity of producing immediate pleasure be considered as a degradation of the poet's art. It is far otherwise. It is an acknowledgment of the beauty of the universe, an acknowledgment the more sincere because not formal, but indirect; it is a task light and easy to him who looks at the world in the spirit of love. Further, it is a homage paid to the native and naked dignity of man, to the grand elementary principle of pleasure, by which he feels and lives and moves.—William Wordsworth.

In For It Either Way.

Minister—Now, Tommy, suppose you did something naughty and were asked if you did it. What would you say?

Tommy—I dunno.

Minister—You don't know? Why—why, what would happen if you told a lie?

Tommy—The devil'd git me.

Minister—That's right. And what if you told the truth?

Tommy—I'd git the devil.—Toledo Blade.

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

Electric Light, Heat & Power, Electric Bell & Annunciator.

Installations at Reasonable Rates

Let us quote on your motor installed ready to operate, Expert advice free

J. A. ASH

142 George Street South
MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
House Phone No. 709

MR. T. WOODWORTH

the well known English Elocutionist, is open for engagements at Concerts, Socials, At Homes, Civic Functions, &c., to give

RECITALS—Wise and Witty! Grave and Gay

An actor-elocutionist of the highest order. —Peterborough Examiner

The audience was captured from start to finish —Peterborough Review

An exceedingly talented elocutionist—irresistibly humourous. —Peterboro' Morning Times

For terms apply—232 Wolfe St., Peterboro' 12n-38

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.

205 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

353 George St. HAZEY HAMILTON

Ice Cream Soft Drinks

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst. Secy.

Bell Phone 783 George Street

"Let good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both!"
They will if you take SHAKESPEARE

DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

They correct stomach disorders, assist digestion, and make life worth living again for the victim of dyspepsia. 50c. a box. If your druggist has not stocked them yet, send us 50c. and we will mail them. 35

National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited, Montreal.

O'Keefe's

Stout Is Extra Mild

Those who prefer English Porter to Ale, will find O'Keefe's Stout uncommonly delicious.

It has the rich flavor of the finest imported porter—but, being extra mild, will not make you bilious.

All bottles sealed with Crown stoppers to prevent cork and tinfoil getting in your glass. Sold everywhere.

"The Stout That Is Always O.K."

THE O'KEEFE'S BREWERY CO. Limited, TORONTO.

230

DUTTON & COMPANY

Finnan Haddie White Fish Salmon Trout
Sea Herrings Burnhams Clam Chowder
Fine Nidals for Soups Oysters

FRED. WALKER, MANAGER

FRESH DAILY

Oyster Patties
Charlotte Russe
Plum Cakes
Lemon Cakes
Fancy Biscuits
Macaroons

ICE CREAM
in Bricks or Bulk

T. H. HOOPER

327-414-601 George Street

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime beef —better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of
LAMB
MUTTON
PORK

Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon
Butcher Market Arcade

Hair and Fancy Goods

Whatever is new and good in Hair Coiffures, or that is required in dressing the hair in the very latest style we have it. Perfect match guaranteed. Our line of Smallwares and Fancy Goods is very complete and offers a choice selection.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE

424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

The Spring Suit

Before deciding on the Spring Suit, better investigate all round. With a chance to show you our high class goods, expert workmanship, and

Latest New York Styles

we are willing then to leave the decision to you. No better goods anywhere, no work quite so select, and prices very reasonable.

Come early for prompt delivery

Good Girls Wanted

I. GOLDBERG
Ladies' Tailor

Phone 1267. 432 George St.

Ladies' Afternoon Shopping Dainty Teas A Specialty

A nice quiet room away from the crowd

Toothsome Dainties IN BAKING

Highest Quality Greatest Variety in the city

Easter Wedding Cakes

should be ordered at once.

Try a box of our CHOCOLATES

Coleman Bros.
426 GEORGE STREET

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address—
762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.

Agents for
Galt & Eastlake Steel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Sidings, Plasters Iron corner bead Ventilators, etc.

All kinds of prepared Ready Roofing

including Brantford, Ruberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.

Maitland & Moore
General Roofing Contractors
Phone 775. 344 Water St.

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a line by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Lost- 10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept th m gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL L No. 67 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY MARCH 21 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL

Big Attraction
2-Special Acts-2

The Harris Twins
The World's Greatest Flexible Marvels

Tom Harris
In Song and Stories
The Original Cut-up Tommie

These are two Extra Special Acts secured at extra expense from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, to replace the Japanese Troop who owing to sickness had to cancel their engagement for these three days. The Harris Twins are without a doubt the best Acrobats in America to-day, one of them is the closest Back Bender in the world bar none. Tom Harris their father is one of the world's greatest Comedians.

8—MOTION PICTURES—8

Another change of motion pictures for to-night's big picture show. All new, all of the best and most up-to-date subjects, comprising dramas, comedies, educational and scenic pictures. A special feature film for to-night will be "A Country Girl," a most interesting story, one to please everyone, and four other pictures.

Admission 5c & 10c

If you want to have a Big Laugh To-night come to
The PRINCESS
they have the funniest picture ever shown

The Rummage Sale
A tale of the Hobble Skirt.

The Eye of Conscience
A Drama full of Human Emotions taken in Mexico.

Last night to see the greatest Soldier Drama ever shown in Canada:
The Price of Victory
A splendid War Drama of Napoleon Bonaparte

NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG
Last chance to-night to see Napoleon's Great Drama.

We Cordially Invite You to OUR SHOP

We are now prepared to show you the largest and most complete and exclusive range of Shirts ever shown in Peterboro.

These are the famous Cluett and Monarch Shirts that you hear so much about.

Cluett, Peabody and Co., of Troy, N.Y., are the makers of these famous, Shirts, and are the recognized Shirt makers of the world.

If you appreciate Fit, Style and Quality in a Shirt, you should wear a Cluett or Monarch Shirt.

The Shop of
Fashion Craft
Distributers of
CLUETT and MONARCH
Shirts and Arrow Collars
A. M. LAIDLAW
140 Hunter Street

Remember

Every child photographed by us previous to Dec. 1st, will be in the large group photograph of Peterborough children to be reproduced in the special 1911 Christmas Examiner

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

Money to Loan

Mortgage loans on City and Farm property at lowest current rates.

Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr
Jan-3. 415 Water St., Peterborough

LAWLESS FOREIGNERS' SEVERE SENTENCES

Judge Richards, of Winnipeg, Severe on Men Convicted of Brutality---Wife Beater Gets Two Years Accompanied by Fifty Lashes---Will Not Stand for Such Conduct.

IS INTENDED AS A WARNING FOR OTHERS

Winnipeg, March 21.—Judge Richards put his foot down yesterday on the lawless tendencies which have developed among a certain class of foreigners in the city. Four of the prisoners convicted at the assizes came before him for sentence, and the punishment meted out was among the most severe of his term of office.

William Moon, for assaulting a child, received 15 years in the penitentiary and 30 lashes.

Paul Kochar, for beating his wife, was sentenced to a limit of two years and will receive in addition 50 lashes.

Michael Hryneysyn, for manslaughter, must serve three years.

Nicholas Luceska will serve six months for throwing a bottle at a street car.

In the Police Court yesterday Gaston Monvoisin admitted that he had killed Nicholas Giovanni. When the charge of murder was read to him he said he had shot a man, but did not know his name. No formal plea was taken, and he was remanded.

ESTIMATES ARE TABLED

Expenditures of Legislature for the Year Will Total Eight Millions —Mr. McNaught's Bill

OTHER MEASURES

Toronto, March 21.—Eight million dollars is in round figures the estimated amount to be expended on current and capital account, according to the main estimates presented to the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon.

The pure milk bill was given its third reading, and a resolution of appreciation of the great services rendered Canada by His Excellency the Governor-General was also adopted.

Hon. Col. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, briefly explained the main estimates for the fiscal year, Nov. 1, 1911, to Oct. 31, 1912. The estimates were, he said, practically the same as last year, when the various salaries increases were considered. There was about half a million dollars on capital account which was for Government House, prison farm and Central Prison buildings, and the new provincial museum.

The amount for the Provincial Departments is $7,332,411.66.

Public buildings, $625,500, and public works, $70,200.

Colonization and mining roads, $133,000.

The net aggregate is $8,090,911.66.

The sum of $200,000 is appropriated towards the erection of the new Government House on East Bloor street.

Hon. J. Duff, Minister of Agriculture, declined to accept the task of issuing a set of regulations for the enforcement of the pure milk bill.

Hon. A. G. MacKay argued that it was the duty of the Department to make the regulations.

Hon. Mr. Duff insisted that they should be left to the municipal councils, and the bill went through committee in that form.

J. J. Carrick, Port Arthur, protested against the clause in the Assessment Act, to abolish the fixed assessment on Port Arthur acreage land. He declared the clause iniquitous.

Hon. I. B. Lucas said the acreage assessment had been $1, $4, $10, and last year $20. The committee considered the time had arrived to arrange for a change to the regular assessment, the present rate of $20 to continue until Dec. 31, 1912.

Mr. Carrick replied that if the Ontario Government was the tower of strength it was supposed to be, it should not permit iniquitous legislation holding back the development of the northern country.

Sir James Whitney said a member should not use the term iniquitous regarding the proceedings of a committee without evidence to confirm it.

The chairman of the committee informed Mr. Carrick that he could move an amendment on the third reading.

Sir James Whitney has responded to a crisis by opening the way for a bill to vindicate the right of Toronto and other municipalities to control their streets and highways. As it is retroactive, it will negative the radial double-track order to the Rosedale golf links, which otherwise the city would have to fight out in the Court of Appeals. The bill was introduced yesterday by W. K. McNaught, M.P.P. It is entitled an Act to amend the Railway Act.

At the night session the estimates were passed through committee, after three hours' discussion.

J. McEwing, East Wellington, enquired why the appropriation for technical education for 1912 was only $96,-900, while $103,709 was voted for 1911?

It was explained that this year there was $7,400 in some special appropriation not required for 1912.

Hon. A. G. MacKay asked if there was any special reason for an increase from $41,500 to $49,500 for the maintenance of patients in municipal sanitaria for consumptives. Mr. Hanna explained that it was due to a statutory requirement fixing the grant according to the number of patients, which was increasing.

Mr. Studholme wanted to know if the Salvation Army was to get a bonus of $6 besides the grant of $10,000. Bonuses only paid for domestic servants and only after they had been located and proved to be satisfactory.

Dirigible Comes to Grief.

Krefeld, Prussia, March 21.—The balloon Duesseldorf IV., which ascended here Sunday, was carried over the Zuyder Zee, an arm of the North Sea, and because of loss of gas was obliged to descend. The basket struck a breakwater violently, and the balloon pilot, Paul Kayser, was instantly killed. A passenger, Otto Schroder, a silk manufacturer, was badly injured, but was rescued after the balloon drifted into a creek.

Another Furness Liner Scorched.

New York, March 21.—A special cable from London yesterday afternoon says that fire did $2,000 damage to the Furness liner Rapahannock, while she was lying at Rotherhithe, on the Thames.

Last Friday the North Point, of the same line, was burned on the Thames.

Arrival of Mgr. Stagni.

Ottawa, March 21.—Plans have been perfected for the reception here on Friday next of Mgr. Stagni, the new representative of the Vatican in Canada. At 7.30 Friday evening he will be welcomed by Archbishop Gauthier, and on Saturday, from 3 to 5, Mgr. Stagni will himself hold a reception.

Death List of Penn's Mines.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 21.—It cost the lives of 1,125 men to mine 231,966,-070 tons of coal in Pennsylvania last year, according to the annual report of the Department of Mines.

Welcome For Limantour.

Mexico City, March 21.—Finance Minister Limantour arrived here at ten o'clock yesterday morning. A great crowd awaited him at the railway station. President Diaz was not present.

If Senor Limantour purposed to avoid any demonstration his plans failed, as the railway station was crowded with a number of officials and delegations of citizens. The latter hailed the Minister as the "Savior of the country."

Foreign Minister Creel stood at the entrance to the train shed and greeted Senor Limantour warmly.

On the way from the station to the waiting automobile, he stopped several times to listen to addresses by students, workingmen and others.

Marine Strike Expected.

Antwerp, March 21.—The impression deepens among continental shipowners that with attempts by the International Seamen's Union to bring about a universal strike a serious strike at English ports may be expected. This eventually is dreaded on the continent, where it is believed it would cause a condition of chaos in the world's shipping trade. It is admitted that there are not enough sailors available to take the places of union men if the latter should go out. The action of the English unions is anxiously awaited.

C.P.R. Machinists' Demands.

Winnipeg, March 21. The Canadian Pacific machinists are looking for an increase in wages and improvement in shop conditions, particularly in reference to the arrangement of the working schedules. Increase of pay amounting to about ten per cent. is asked for. The present agreement expires at the end of March, and negotiations are already under way with the company.

Andrew Burrows' Death.

Smith's Falls, March 21.—Andrew Burrows dropped dead at a dance at Franktown. He was engaged in the cattle business. He was born at Franktown 67 years ago. He was actively interested recently in having the old military road opened from Smith's Falls to Ottawa and Pembroke.

Write for our list of
INVESTMENT BONDS
MUNICIPAL PUBLIC UTILITY
INDUSTRIAL
To yield from 4% to 6%
WARREN, CZOWSKI & CO.
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
TRADERS' BANK BUILDING
TORONTO, and
25 BROAD STREET, New York

THEY ARE NOW USING A GRAND STAND PLAY

Conservatives Bring Up St. John Valley Railway Question in House of Commons as a Prelude to Eastern Campaign.

THE PEACE PACT

Ottawa, March 21.—With a bye-election on for the New Brunswick Legislature, and with the general provincial election looming up in the near future, in which one of the main issues will be the bona fides of the Hazen Government in regard to its promise to secure the construction of the long-desired St. John Valley Railway, extending from Grand Falls to St. John, a distance of 230 miles, practically the whole time of Parliament was taken up yesterday in debating the resolution of the Minister of Railways providing for the taking over and operating as part of the Intercolonial of said road when constructed by a private company under provincial guarantee of bonds.

The debate yesterday showed that the Legislature of New Brunswick had passed legislation providing for the guarantee of the principal and interest to the extent of $25,000 per mile. A difficulty has arisen, the Provincial Government desiring that the standard of the road shall be the same as the I.C.R., while the Federal Government insists that it shall be the same as the N.T.R. The Opposition members declared that the Dominion authorities refused to co-operate with the Local Government, but this was denied.

Dr. Sproule asked if any communication had been received by the Government in reference to the proposed treaty of arbitration between Great Britain and the United States.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the Government had not received any communication from either Great Britain or the United States dealing with the matter. "I might say," he said, "that if it were possible for Canada to help such a laudable object we would be only too glad to do so."

W. H. Sharpe (Lisgar) enquired as to whether Sir Wilfrid's statement of the other day, to the effect that the Government did not propose at present to make any changes in the tariff other than those contained in the reciprocity agreement applied also to the British preference.

The Premier replied that the Government's policy in regard to the preference was well known, but that it would be further explained by the Minister of Finance when he delivered his budget speech.

Mr. Richard Blain (Peel) said that the Premier had stated the other day that Liberal members were at liberty to denounce the policy of the Government. Were the members of the Opposition to be extended the same opportunity? he asked.

"I hope they will avail themselves of it," said the Premier, in reply.

Hon. George E. Foster thought the time was opportune to enquire as to when the budget statement would be delivered.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said it would be at an early date, though he could not yet name the day.

No Sign of Foul Play.

Hamilton, March 21.—Apparently there is nothing but natural causes to account for the death last week of 18-year-old Bessie Clark whose funeral, on Saturday, was stopped by the police acting on information given in a letter.

Yesterday it was stated by police officers that the autopsy had not disclosed anything sensational. From other sources, it was learned that there was no question of foul play in connection with the death of the girl.

Died From Her Burns.

Chatham, March 21.—Mrs. Ann McMillan, an aged lady, residing in this city, passed away Sunday evening at nine o'clock as a result of burns received on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. McMillan, who was 88 years of age lived with her son, who was away from home on Saturday. She tried to light a gas stove, when her apron caught fire.

Firemen Rescued Twenty Men.

Springfield, Mo., March 21.—Twenty men asleep in the Young Men's Christian Association building here were nearly suffocated before being rescued by firemen yesterday, when fire destroyed the $50,000 structure.

The men were not awakened until escape by the stairway had been cut off.

To Wind Up Canneries.

Winnipeg, March 21.—An application for the appointment of a Government liquidator of the Central Canada Meat Packing Co., better known as Malcolm's Western Canneries, was made yesterday. Most of this stock is owned in Toronto and Montreal.

Bill Miner Stays In Georgia.

Ottawa, March 21.—Bill Miner will serve his twenty-year sentence for train robbery in Georgia, the request of the Canadian Government for his return to Canada to finish his life sentence having been refused by the American State Department.

IMMORALITY CHARGED AGAINST MEN'S CLUBS

W. C. T. U., of London, Brings Serious Charges to the Attention of the Ministerial Association---Drinking, Gambling and Worse Going On, Deputation Alleges.

London, Ont., March 21.—A deputation from the Women's Christian Temperance Union waited upon the Ministerial Association yesterday, and made serious charges of immorality against the Young Men's Clubs and the public schools. "There are forty clubs in the city," said Mrs. Thornley, "doing great injury to the young men and boys. Having heard of the immorality going on at these, we spoke to the license inspector. He explained that it was well night impossible for him to go into these places. They are not licensed and he would be liable if he forced an entrance and did not find anything wrong. He advised us to fight to have them licensed.

"Then in these clubs I am informed not only is liquor drunk, but gambling goes on, and not only gambling, but the social evil is practiced. Why, there are pictures there which are indescribably filthy, and books are exchanged which should never have been printed."

MEETING OF THE "ANTIS"

Sifton and Lash Tell Montreal What They Dread in Regard to the Reciprocity Treaty

CLAIM NOT NEEDED

Montreal, March 21.—The anti-reciprocity meeting last night proved to be a success, from a numerical standpoint. In addition to the wholesale advertising, the committee in charge secured a contingent of McGill students to act as escort to Hon. Clifford Sifton.

Charles Chaput, president of the Anti-Reciprocity League, was in the chair and made a speech, in which he claimed that any closer business relations with the country to the south was fraught with the greatest danger, especially to his own fellow-countrymen.

Mr. Sifton followed the lines of his speech in the Commons.

Mr. Lash said he had never seen these two great cities of Toronto and Montreal more in earnest on any great public question, as all party lines had been obliterated, while the freemen of the Dominion were lining up to save our common national heritage. He ridiculed the claim that because Canada was committed to reciprocal trade twenty years ago, that the country was to-day committed to such a policy. The issue is not a party one, said Mr. Lash, and it is because I see the danger that I am here to-night, ready to break with many of my political friends.

Hon. Thomas C. Casgrain delivered a stirring speech in English, claiming that the vast majority of the French-Canadian people were against this obnoxious measure, and would vote against the Government on such an issue.

Hon. Mr. Sifton said that they had met to discuss an issue, the most important which had arisen in Canada during many years. It had cut many adrift from party lines, life-long Liberals having united to oppose a policy introduced by the Liberal Government.

Proceeding Hon Mr. Sifton said that the fiscal policy of the Government had been wonderfully successful, that it had improved the trade of the Dominion in every direction, both foreign and interprovincial, to such an extent that the trade had jumped from thirty to a hundred millions in four years, while Canada had become one of the most prosperous countries of the world.

During the past twelve years Canada had gone along without anything approaching hard times, despite occasional flurries, which had failed to produce any panic or general distress. But the United States had during that time had no less than three serious panics. "And the result of tieing ourselves to the States will be that we shall have the honor and pleasure of sharing in their next panic instead of going on our way as now."

"I have been in politics for twenty-three years," continued Mr. Sifton, "but never before have I seen a Government bring down an important measure to Parliament and so entirely fail to make good in argument as the Government has done in this case.

"The marvelous thing," continued Mr. Sifton, "is that our friends in the Government seem to desire to put the farmers on a free trade basis, for all they have to sell, while they will still have to pay duty on their manufactured goods.

"The great beneficiaries of the agreement," said Mr. Sifton, "would be the American Newspaper Association, the Chicago Beef Trust, the U. S. Steel Co., the Minneapolis Milling Trust and the Hill railway interests.

"It will mean that these vast aggregations of American capital will be invited to come in and dictate to our country and to take from us the business we have built up by the past 25 years of hard work."

An amusing incident took place last evening during the Sifton procession. Several hundred Sifton sympathizers were drawing the ex-Minister's carriage, when an opposing faction took possession of the rig and set fire to it. A scuffle ensued and the Minister was rescued from his enemies.

Two Years for Stealing Oats.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 21.—Charged with stealing a thousand pounds of oats from the barn of Jas. Parker, in Stamford Township, James McAvoy of this city was yesterday sentenced to two years in the Central Prison by Magistrate Fraser. Chief Kimmins and Officer Farrell traced the wagon tracks from Parker's barn to McAvoy's house, where the oats were found hidden. Two valuable lap robes and a tie strap, belonging to the late O. D. Glasgow, were also found, which were stolen on May 7 last. McAvoy pleaded guilty to both charges. He served two years in the Central Prison six years ago on a charge of horse-stealing.

Atlantic Rate Conference.

London, March 21.—If an Atlantic rate war has been avoided as a result of the negotiations which were begun as far back as November, it is now expected that the North Atlantic Conference agreement will be renewed for another three years.

A meeting to confirm this arrangement is to be held at Cologne this week.

Toronto Bid Accepted

St. John, N.B., March 21.—The bid of Aemilius Jarvis & Co., of Toronto, for a quarter of a million of St. John debentures, 4 per cent., forty years, was accepted. They tendered at 98.04.

Smallpox at Ottawa.

Ottawa, March 21.—Another mild case of smallpox developed yesterday, making five now quarantined at the Isolation Station.

Puts U. S. Trust In Aeroplanes.

St. Paul, Minn., March 21.—"The United States is totally unprepared for any great emergency in war. Such men as Wilbur Wright will prove to be this country's saviors when the day comes for a trial of strength with Japan or any other country.

"With a small fleet of aeroplanes hovering over the Pacific or the Atlantic, it would be impossible for any hostile fleet of warships to land a force. This country is not prepared for attack from either shore."

This is the opinion of Sir Frederic Villiers, the famous English war correspondent and artist, who is here to-day.

A Race With Death.

Montreal, March 21.—With the train going at top speed in the race for a doctor, the last rites of the Catholic Church were administered to Alphonse Masse, aged 30, who was run over by the St. Agathe train on Sunday evening. He was late and ran, in spite of the warning that the platform was slippery, and fell under the wheels. Three cars passed over his leg and arms.

Diver's Narrow Escape.

Ottawa, March 21.—While the Toronto and Montreal divers were examining the intake pipe, the Montreal man, Purvis, had a narrow escape from death.

The glass in the facing of his helmet broke and he was nearly swept away. He got to the surface in safety.

Strike of Miners Called.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 21.—Reports yesterday indicate that the order of President Lewis for a strike of United Mine Workers in the Tuscarawas field in Ohio and a part of the Pittsburg district has been generally obeyed.

Choked to Death.

Stratford, March 21.—Mrs. Martha Moore, a widow, 68 years old, residing in this city, choked to death at the tea-table yesterday during a violent coughing spell. A large family survives.

Death of J. L. Williams.

London, March 21.—James L. Williams, the oldest Methodist in London, died yesterday in his 94th year. He was an uncle of Lady Meredith of Toronto.

Optical Institute Getting Ahead

Progress is our prescription, always adding to our facilities, new Optical Instruments, new Optical methods, and doing our work with increasing interest and finer finish. Many who have become acquainted with our methods have found that our idea is better service than they had been accustomed to expect in quality, attention and satisfaction. They find us just as interested in supplying the most suitable glasses as they are in getting them.

We know how much that means for us in good will and good optical practice for the future.

The Optical Institute
In the Market Building, Peterboro.
332 George Street
Phones: Bell 1231 Machine 7
J. W. Brewster, Dr. of Optics of Philadelphia, G. O. C. P., Ref. D. M. A.O. Optometrist

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

China has concluded a loan for $50,000,000.

Some new discoveries were reported from Porcupine.

President Taft deprecates talk of war with Mexico.

A prize of $50,000 is offered for an aeroplane flight around England.

A lot of contraband whisky stored in the jail building at Cochrane was stolen.

Several cars of beef have been sent to Winnipeg from Toronto to meet the local demand.

The final provisional census returns give the total population of India as 315,000,000. This is an increase of 20,500,000 as compared with 1901.

The Toronto City Council decided upon the purchase of the Toronto Electric Light Co. and the appointment of a commission to operate the system.

Canadian banks increased their commercial loans in Canada by $6,-728,000 during February, and the increase in note circulation reflected a firm commercial position. Foreign commercial loans were reduced.

Marshall Robinson, a painter, residing in London West, has received word of a legacy left to him by an uncle living in Dublin, Ireland. Mr. Robinson has been living in London for two years and earning $2 per day.

Claims Infringement.

Montreal, March 21.—A stenographer sat in the Princess Theatre last night and took down every word that was spoken on the stage. He was in the employ of Germain Beaulieu, advocate, of this city, and his purpose was to secure the proof that will enable Mr. Beaulieu to go before a judge to-day and ask for a write of injunction against the further production of the play, "Two Women," by Mrs. Leslie Carter, on the ground that Mrs. Carter's play is an infringement on the copyright of a play written by himself, "The Living Vision," and of which he alleges Mrs. Carter has the manuscript, which she has never returned to him or his representatives. The action will be directed against the proprietors of the theatre, and as a preliminary a notary protest was served upon them yesterday afternoon.

Painters' Strike at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 21.—One thousand painters and decorators struck yesterday for an advance in wages of $1 for eight hours' work over the scale of $3.49, which expired March 1. Fifty small shops have signed the new agreement.

Bridge Contract Let.

Quebec, March 21.—The firm of O'Neill & Loney of this city have been awarded the contract for the construction of the new bridge over the River Chaudiere at St. George, Beauce.

The Fowler Finger EYEGLASS MOUNT

GIVES WHAT OTHERS CANNOT
Eyeglass Comfort, Convenience and Lens Efficiency

Most inconspicuous of Eyeglass Mounts. On to stay on when properly adjusted.

These Mounts have more talking points yet require less talk to sell than any Eyeglass Mount we have ever sold because they are a Distinctively Distinct Eyeglass Mount.

You are the one who must suffer expense, annoyance and discomfort if you wear inferior Eyeglasses.

$2.75 without Lenses. We carry a gross of these Mounts constantly in stock and guarantee to fit properly anyone who can wear Eyeglasses.

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
CURE RHEUMATISM BRIGHT'S DISEASE BACKACHE DIABETES
R23 THE PR...

MEDICAL.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 215 Brock Street

DR E.V FREDERICK, M.R.C.S. (Eng L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Surgery and Diseas of Women, 498 George Street. Hours 1.30-3.30—7-8.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 519. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours —9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L. R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Spec ial attention to Diseases of Chest. 314 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 551, Mach., 226. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
201 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 649 Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment Consultation free

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 190 Hunter street, or at residence, 188 Hunter street. Telephone No. 86.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices - - 379 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.
Telephone No. 54

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest curre nt rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. F. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON, Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON, Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets; entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest. E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. E. Hall, S. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE, Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

E. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 373 Water street, Peterborough.

Manual labor taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 9

The Halliday Emeralds

A Story of Their Quick Recovery

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Elsie Halliday stood before her dressing table looking down at her jewel case with frightened eyes and a wildly beating heart. Costly gems sparkled from every velvet lined compartment but one. The white nest that had contained the famous emerald necklace, the Halliday heirloom, was empty.

She rang the bell, and after awhile a strange maid appeared.

"Will you send Louise, my maid?" asked Elsie.

"I do not think she is here, miss," returned the girl bluntly. "I saw her running across the lawn shortly after your arrival. She went toward the river."

Elsie's eyes sparkled dangerously at this evidence of the perfidy of the trusted Louise. She turned to the staring servant with a gesture of dismissal and when she was alone proceeded to dress for the approaching meal.

When her golden hair was gathered into its customary soft knot and she had slipped into the white chiffon dress Elsie drew forth the string of pearls and clasped it about her slender throat. Without pausing to admire the charming effect she made a careful search of the room. The chair near the open window must furnish the first clew, and Elsie was not disappointed.

There was a tattered bit of lace evidently torn from a cheap handkerchief—a fragment from which dangled a bit of gold set with a drop of emerald green and the lace smelled of that dreadful French scent which Louise persisted in using.

On the floor near the chair was a white silk handkerchief twisted into a loose knot. Elsie lifted it gingerly and inspected a few Japanese characters in dead black across one corner. The characters were too large for a laundry mark and must represent the owner's name, and that owner was probably a Japanese. Elsie recollected that the Ormonds had a butler of that nationality.

Last of all, on the seat of the chair was a man's pearl cuff link, on the flat surface of which a golden initial was finely inlaid. Elsie studied the twisted "V" with a little puzzled frown knitting her brows. Why had Harvey Ventnor's name sprung so quickly to her mind in such an unpleasant connection. Perhaps it was because he was never far from her thoughts or for the reason that there are few names that begin with the letter V, not that for one instant he might be associated with anything that was dishonorable.

The dinner bell rang then, and Elsie obeyed its summons, first taking pains to hide her jewel case in the remotest corner of her wardrobe. She went reluctantly down the broad stairs conscious that this visit she had anticipated must be inaugurated by the unpleasant features surrounding a jewel robbery. While she realized that the thief must be making a successful escape and that every moment lost strengthened the difficulty of capture, Elsie hesitated to disturb the equanimity of her genial host, now in one of the happiest moods. Near the drawing room door two men were talking in low tones, and as Elsie passed one of them was saying: "I heard Ventnor was hard hit today. That drop in X. and Z. must have crippled him."

Elsie bit her trembling lips in an angry effort to gain composure. She hated herself for the lightning thought that had connected Ventnor's pecuniary difficulties with the pearl cuff link and the missing emeralds. In that instant she vowed to seek no further for the thief. The Halliday emeralds must go.

"You look troubled, dear," whispered Mabel Ormond in her ear. "Has anything gone wrong?"

"Everything is lovely," smiled Elsie brightly. "How dear of you to give me the rose room!"

"I knew you were charmed with it last year. Ah, Katuru is a little late tonight. Rather unusual in our impeccable Japanese."

It was not Harvey Ventnor who took Elsie in to dinner; she heard his voice at the end of the procession as she walked in beside young Fred Ormond, Dick's brother. When she sat down Ventnor was opposite, listening attentively to the chatter of some strange girl. Elsie's swift glance noted his slightly disheveled appearance, and then she saw with a sinking of the heart that the sleeve link was gone from one of his cuffs—the left one. The other, plainly visible, was of pearl inlaid with gold.

Ventnor, watching her now and then, seemed to be aware of her sudden coldness toward him. A hard look settled around his pleasant lips, and his sunny eyes clouded.

To Elsie it was a miserable dinner, and it dragged to a tedious close while her overstrained nerves seemed on the point of giving way altogether. She resolved to plead illness and return to New York the next morning. Ventnor's presence made it impossible for her to remain.

After dinner she had fled to the conservatory for seclusion, and it was there that Ventnor found her seated in a dusky corner under arching palms. When she saw him she arose with a little frightened sob.

"Why—why are you here?" she demanded brokenly.

"Am I so distasteful to you?" he asked, stopping short. "You have not led me to believe so."

"I did—you do not understand—what has happened today—must always stand between us."

He stared incredulously, boldly, at her. "You cannot possibly mean that my rumored failure on the street has affected your feeling toward me?" he asked scornfully.

"No, oh, no! How could you believe a little thing like that would make any difference to me? I mean this!" Elsie brought forth the pearl sleeve link and held it toward him in her rosy palm.

"You found this? It is mine. I thank you," he said gravely, slipping the link into his cuff and still holding her with his questioning gaze.

"It was in my room—on the chair where my dressing bag had been. You see"—she turned away her head so that she might not see his face—"you see, my emeralds were stolen tonight from that very bag!"

"Ah!" There were anger and condemnation in his rapid glance before it turned to tender amusement. "And you have spoken to no one regarding the matter?"

She turned eagerly. "Not a soul. I shall never breathe a word. Only I hope I shall never see you again! How could you?"

"You mean, how could I rob the girl I loved best in the world?" he asked gently.

Ventnor took her hands in his and compelled her to return his straight look. "Do you love me, Elsie?" he asked.

"Yes," she said.

He released her hands and offered his arm.

"My poor little detective, come with me to Ormond. He has something to show you."

In the housekeeper's room a little group of people were centered about the table. There were Dick Ormond and his wife, Louise; Katuru, the butler, and a strange, heavy set man with keen eyes. They turned with one accord as Elsie entered with Ventnor.

"Miss Halliday," began Dick Ormond soberly, "this has been rather an exciting evening for some of us—would have been for you only Mabel insisted you should be kept in ignorance until after dinner. Your emeralds have been stolen—and recovered!"

White and shaking, Elsie stretched forth her hand and received the green ripple of flame from Ormond. From one end of the chain a stone was missing.

"I knew it," she said in a low tone. "I discovered their loss before dinner. I was going to tell you about it, only I"— She hesitated.

"She discovered a clew," added Ventnor calmly—"this." He laid the sleeve link on the table.

"And other clews," said Elsie hurriedly, telling her story now without reservation.

Then the short man spoke with authority. "Very easily explained, Miss Halliday. Your maid had unpacked your trunk, and the butler, here, in the absence of another servant was removing the trunk to the storeroom. A man stepped through the open window, slit open your dressing bag, extracted the jewel case, from which he took the emeralds, replaced the case in the bag and was escaping through the window when your maid, returning, discovered him, alarmed the butler and Mr. Ventnor, who was passing through the hall, and the three of them struggled to hold him. He was a husky chap and desperate, and they had a fight for it, each one leaving some evidence of the contest. Now, Mr. Ormond, with your permission I'll take my fine gentleman along!"

He strode to a door and threw it open, revealing in a shallow closet the sullen, downcast face of the Halliday chauffeur.

"Henry!" Miss Halliday's lovely face was a reflection of passing emotions as she realised that the chauffeur had followed in the wake of her journey to rob her; that the valiant little Louise, who was Henry's sweetheart, had captured him for the sake of loyalty to her mistress and was even now crying her pretty eyes out over his degradation. Elsie swept all barriers aside and knelt down beside her weeping maid.

"Poor little Louise," she whispered softly. "You are far braver than I. I could never have done what you have today. Your reward will come later. My father will investigate, and if it is Henry's first offense it may be possible for you to marry and start afresh somewhere with the dot I shall provide."

Thus comforted, Louise dried her tears and was taken to dinner by Katuru, while the police officer Ormond had summoned took his prisoner away. The Ormonds went back to their guests, and Elsie slipped away in their train.

At the drawing room door Ventnor placed his hand in hers and drew her unresisting into the conservatory.

"You said you loved me," he said firmly.

"I do," said Elsie humbly, "but I cannot expect you to value such an affection as I have displayed tonight."

"The reason you fastened suspicion so strongly upon me was a simple one, dearest. It was really because your heart was so filled with thoughts of me that there was no room to suspect anybody else. I am flattered—indeed"—

"Oh, you are generous, Harvey. Would you want to marry me now?"

"If you will have me," said Ventnor softly.

In Search Of Beauty

You Must First Win Health by Getting the Blood Rich and Red

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Every man and every woman has an individual idea of what constitutes beauty.

Is beauty skin deep or does it depend on the glow which health alone can give. Is it due to regularity of feature or to the gracefulness and elasticity which accompany health and vigour.

To win Beauty you must first gain health. Rich, red blood is the secret. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is successful and popular because it forms rich, red blood and in this way gives gracefulness to every movement and a healthful, natural glow to the complexion.

Then blood and weak nerves soon give one a tired, worn out appearance. Worry and anxiety show themselves in wrinkles and care lines. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food enriches the blood, restores vigour to the nerves and drives away headaches and builds pure

By doing the arteries with new, red blood Dr. Chase's Nerve Food repairs all the form to healthful proportions, makes the muscles and tissues firm and strong and gives vivacity to mind and body.

50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Unstability.

The woodsman thinks of the palace fine,
Where the perfumed air is warm,
And the lights where the revelers jest and dine,
Afar from all thought of storm.

And the townsman dreams of the whispering trees
And the light of the stars on high
And the buoyant thrill of the restless breeze
As it sweeps from the open sky.

No matter where you may chance to be,
You yearn for another goal,
For man is a drop in the mighty sea,
Whose tides he can ne'er control.
—Washington Star.

Completing the Offer.

There is a light side even to electioneering. Would it were seen oftener. One fervent candidate for political preferment recently assured his audience that he was prepared to offer his life, his home, his children, his country and his empire to the free and unfettered judgment of a free and unfettered people. It was high sounding, but the whole effect was spoiled by a voice from the back of the hall crying, "Won't you throw in the missus, gov'nor?"—Gentlewoman.

The Human Cookbook.

THE SOCIAL CLIMBER.

Mix a season of snubs with some cuts and a roast
And sprinkle with buckets of "dust;"
Remove undesirable friends of the past;
Add the motto "Four Hundred or Bust!"

A SWEETHEART.

Take a peach and remove both her parents;
And a suggestion of dough;
Garnish with bonbons and flowers
And turn down the gas rather low.
—Life.

A Quiet Place.

"Business is pretty slow here just now," confessed the Squam Corners merchant.

"I judged so," replied the baking powder drummer, "when I observed that they had laid off one of the hands on the town clock."—Puck.

The Clock.

The clock struck nine. I looked at Kate,
Whose lips were luscious red.
"At quarter after nine I mean
To steal a kiss," I said.

She cast a roguish look at me,
And then she whispered low:
"Don't mind that stupid clock, my dear.
It's fifteen minutes slow."
—Albany Times-Union.

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Chas. Barclay, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

STRIPPED AND FLOGGED.

Fearful Ordeal of the Askou Binat in the Sudan.

Is the black man more stoical or merely less sensitive than we are? "At a fantasia in the Sudan," says Mr. Edward Fothergil in "Five Years In the Sudan," "I have myself seen the part that a young man plays of his own free will in order to obtain the title of askou binat (the brother of the girls). This ceremony would turn a reformer's hair gray.

"The men and the women of a village sit round in a circle, leaving a space in the center of some six yards in diameter. I describe it as I saw it myself. The strongest man in the village is then picked out of the crowd, and, armed with a whip of hippopotamus hide, he and the young man who is to strive for the title enter the arena. The women beat their drums, and the men clap their hands to the tune.

"The candidate for honor is stripped to the waist. He stands with his arms folded in the center of the ring, and the strong man dances up to him to the tune which is being played. He brings the whip round with all the force of which he is possessed and lands it on the bare back of the man in front of him. He dances away; again he advances, and the operation is repeated. This goes on until the number of strokes previously agreed upon have been dealt. In the particular case I saw it was twenty-five. If the man who is being flogged winces, if he so much as moves an eyelid as the whip descends, he is disqualified and branded as a coward until such time as he may choose to undergo the operation a second time.

"On this particular occasion he went through with it like a Trojan. Indeed, the man who was delivering the blows got tired first, and the last three cuts of the twenty-five were unsteady and flickered round the ear and neck of the 'brother.' I leave my readers to imagine the state of his back when all was over, but he appeared to be as happy as a king, and certainly he was accorded a great ovation by the assembled crowd of women."

STAKED HIS HEAD.

The Wager Sir William St. Clair Laid With King Robert Bruce.

Edwin Noble in "The Dog Lover's Book" recalls the historic story of the two famous deerhounds Help and Hold, a monument to which can be seen to this day at Roslin chapel.

The legend is that King Robert Bruce while hunting upon the Pentland hills had several times started a white deer, but had hitherto been unable to capture it. It had always so quickly outdistanced his own hounds that he began to imagine that it was gifted with supernatural powers and could not be overtaken by mortal dogs. Naturally his nobles agreed with him, as there was no one bold enough to affirm that he owned hounds which were better than those possessed by his sovereign.

There was, however, one exception, William St. Clair, who wagered his head that his two favorite hounds, Help and Hold, would kill the deer before she crossed the Pentland brook. Bruce accepted the challenge and wagered the forest of Pentland moor against Sir William's head.

The white deer was roused by a couple of bloodhounds and given a fair start before St. Clair released his two favorites. After a long chase, followed by Sir William and Bruce on horseback, the deer reached the brook, and Sir William, feeling sure that he had lost his wager, prepared to give himself into the hands of Bruce, but before the deer could get farther than halfway across Hold had seized her, and, Help coming up at the same moment, they forced her to turn back. In the end she was killed within the stipulated boundary.

At His Worst.

The Doctor—Isn't bowling rather an expensive pastime?

The Professor—I think so. I have read of an English statesman, if my memory serves me rightly, who was spoken of as Bowlingbroke.—Chicago Tribune.

At Feeding Time.

"You call your sow Estelle, I hear?"
The young man asked as it was fed.
"Ah, yes!"—and then she dropped a tear—
"That is her pen name, sir," she said.
—Yonkers Statesman.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE,
FOR DIZZINESS,
FOR BILIOUSNESS,
FOR TORPID LIVER,
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN,
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Purely Vegetable Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

BRAIN WORKERS

who get little exercise, feel better all round for an occasional dose of

"NA-DRU-CO" Laxatives

They tone up the liver, move the bowels gently but freely, cleanse the system and clear the brain. A new, pleasant and reliable laxative, prepared by a reliable firm, and worthy of the NA-DRU-CO Trade Mark.

25c. a box. If your druggist has not yet stocked them, send 25c. and we will mail them.

NATIONAL DRUG & CHEMICAL COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED, MONTREAL. 21

It is True Economy

to use the highest grade of sugar like

St. Lawrence Sugar

It is brilliantly white and sparkling—looks dainty and tempting on the table—and goes further because it is absolutely pure sugar of the finest quality. Make the test yourself. Compare "ST. LAWRENCE GRANULATED" with any other.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co. Limited
MONTREAL. 33

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA.

INCORPORATED, 1832.

Information for Depositors.

The following certificate is attached to the 79th Annual Statement, published January 16th, 1911:

We have examined the books and accounts of the Bank of Nova Scotia at its Head Office, Halifax, at the General Manager's Office, Toronto, and at seven of the principal branches, and we have been duly furnished with certified returns from the remaining branches and with all information and explanations required by us. The Bank's investments and the other securities and cash on hand at the branches visited have been verified by us and they are in accordance with the books; and we certify that we have examined the foregoing general statement and that in our opinion it is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the Bank's affairs as at 31st December, 1910.

PRICE, WATERHOUSE & CO.
Chartered Accountants.

Toronto, January 12th, 1911.

The Books and Annual Statements of the Bank have been submitted to independent audit annually, beginning 1906.

THE BANK OF OTTAWA

ESTABLISHED 1874.

Deposits - 30 November 1910 - $32,418,445
Assets - 30 November 1910 - $43,654,038

Every banking facility offered to

FARMERS

SALE NOTES DISCOUNTED
CHEESE CHEQUES CASHED.

Peterboro Branch, George St., G. C. Wainright, Manager

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER
INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies
Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

Renew Your Examiner Subscription

So strong, so rich, so flavorful—a little of

Shirriff's True Vanilla

Goes further—and the difference in its exquisite aroma and tempting fragrance is wondrous. You will find real economy in Shirriff's. Ask the groceryman.

Caution:—A smaller quantity required than of any other extract.

Other delicious Shirriff flavorings are; Lemon, Almond, Rose, Pineapple, Strawberry, Ratafia, and ninety more.

The Mexican Vanilla

14 Bean Gatherer

The Best Silver

Is readily distinguished by this trademark—

"1847 ROGERS BROS."

It appears on knives, forks, spoons and fancy serving pieces of the heaviest grade of plate.

Best tea sets, dishes, waiters, etc., are stamped

MERIDEN BRITA CO.

SOLD BY LEADING DEALERS

"Silver Plate that Wears"

Relieves CATARRH of the BLADDER and all Discharges in 24 HOURS

Each capsule bears the name "MIDY"

Beware of counterfeits.

Sold by all Druggists.

An Abiding Debt

We owe our best in life and death to the dearest objects in life, namely the wife and children. We cannot pay the debt without insuring our lives; because we run the risk of depriving them of the money value of our lives. Duty is a debt until it is done. A policy in the is the best plan.

Manufacturers Life Insurance Co.

THOMAS MARK

GENERAL AGENT

The Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough - Ontario

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261

Tel. Machine 270.

134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop

Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

MINISTERIAL LAPSES

WHEN PREACHERS ARE VICTIMS OF WAYWARD TONGUES.

One Unfortunate Declared That Jonah Was Incarcerated in the "Wholly of the Bale"—How a Sermon of 1854 Was Made to Do Duty Over Again—The Reason Why the Levite Passed by on the Other Side.

During a ministry extending over twenty years I have heard some very strange remarks by parishioners, says a writer in London Answers.

I knew very well in my first curacy, in a village in Lincolnshire, a woman whose daughter had been in the infirmary at H—— for a slight operation. On her return home, I saw the daughter standing at the garden-gate with her mother. "How do you do, Mrs. S——?" I said. "And how's your daughter?" "Good morning, sir!" she said. "Mary's a sight better, and she can breathe all right now, since the 'polyanthus' was taken out of her nose."

The vicar was a very old man. He had been in the parish forty-two years. During my last year there I was practically in charge of the service, but now and then, when he was able, he occupied the pulpit. His eyesight was bad, and he was altogether unfit to compose fresh sermons, so had to fall back on old ones.

One Sunday morning we were alarmed with a discourse, as nearly as I can remember, as follows: "We are standing to-day," he said, "face to face with a great power in the East. We are on the verge of war." (Long pause.) "We are—we are—er—we are on the brink of war with Russia. I—er—we, I mean—we will now proceed to consider the next point." In the vestry, after service, I asked him about this projected war, as I had seen nothing about it in the papers. "That sermon," he said to me, with a very far-off look in his eyes, and a slight suspicion of a smile—"that sermon I wrote in 1854."

I was taking the children's service one afternoon in church, and telling them about the parable of the Good Samaritan. I explained how the man went from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves, and how the priest passed by, and the Levite, and so on. Then I began asking questions. "What was the reason," I said, "why the priest passed by?" A small boy held up his hand. "Yes, my boy," I said. "If you, please, sir, because he saw as he had been robbed already."

It is very difficult to get the unlearned and ignorant to respond correctly in the marriage service. "Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?" I said to one happy bridegroom. "In course I will," he said. The ring would not go on one bride's finger. "Wet it," I said to the bridegroom. He did wet it. He put it in the palm of his hand and spat on it!

On another occasion when the ring would not go on easily, the bridegroom said, "Suck yer finger, lass; yer 'and's swelled." "I plight thee my troth" is very often transposed to "I plight thee my truth." I am not answerable for the following, but it was told me. A very haughty and dignified archdeacon was marrying his butler to his cook. "Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?" he said. "Thank you, sir!" he replied, touching his forehead with his forefinger. "Thank you, sir! After you, sir!"

A very rapid extempore preacher was discoursing one night on the subject of Jonah in the whale's belly, but his tongue got tied up, and he said "in the bale's wholly." Instantly correcting himself, he said, "Of course, I mean in the wholly of the bale."

There is a story told of a Cambridge undergraduate who had to read the lessons in chapel. He was young and nervous. The lesson was God's interview with David, and David's reply to Gad was partly on the bottom of one page, and partly on the top over the leaf. It was printed thus: "And David said unto"—then, turning over the leaf—"Gad, I am in a great strait." In the confusion, he added the word "him" as he turned over the leaf, and he read the sentence thus: "And David said unto him, Gad, I am in a great strait."

The students of the theological college I was at had to preach a sermon once a term to each other in a church in the town, in the presence of the lecturers and tutors.

Mr. H——, in a highly nervous frame of mind, preached on the sacrifice of Isaac. He described how Abraham raised the alter of wood, and placed his son on it. He then, striking a very feeble dramatic attitude, and with a shaking, upraised hand, and a trembling voice, which sounded twenty miles away, exclaimed: "Isaac was laid upon the altar of wood, and Abraham's hand was raised to slay! Oh, what an awful blow it must have been to his poor old father! And, oh, what a terrible shock to his poor old mother!" Mr. H—— was not complimented on his first attempt at sermonizing.

One Saturday, in F—— cemetery, I had to bury a man who evidently belonged to some club, as a large number of men followed the remains. On the way to the grave, a man stepped up to me, and asked me to "say a few words" after I had read the burial office. "He was a great pal of ours," he said, "and a right-down good sort." I did say a few words. I reminded the assembly, which was very much moved, the women crying bitterly, of the great loss they had sustained in the death of our dear brother. I said he had no doubt lived a beautiful life, and, although he was unknown to me personally, and unknown to the world at large, I trusted that all would "imitate him in his life and conduct." I found out afterwards that he had left his wife, and, after turning her out, and selling up the home, he had taken to excessive drinking, and had died in the infirmary from delirium tremens!

STOMACH DISTRESS SIMPLY VANISHES

No Dyspepsia, Gas, Heartburn or Indigestion Five Minutes Later

If you had some Diapepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or Indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no ach to poison your breath with nauseous odours.

Pape's Diapepsin is certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

Witty Advice.

A witty Dublin barrister was consulted by a physician as to calling out a man who had insulted him. "Take my advice," said the lawyer, "and instead of calling him out get him to call you in and get your revenge that way. It will be more secure and certain."

Winklewads.

When Joseph got his banjo out he hurt their feelings so
The audience rose as a man and put the ban on Joe.

The butcher gives his meat a weigh, and when we get a steak
We give him money, so the game is one of give and take.

When in their lawsuits lawyers fight and scrap and bite and claw
It makes us grin to realize that lawyers made the law.

When Mrs. Lot, who looked behind, became salt on the spot
Her husband saw the change and said, "Great Caesar, what a lot!"

The ostrich held its diaphragm. "Confound the luck!" said he.
"Those nuts from off the railroad track don't quite agree with me!"

—St. Louis Republic.

Log Cabin Sayings.

Some folks say ol' Satan is a gentleman. Well, it may be good politics ter speak in high praise er de man dey expects ter meet w'en dey strikes de next worl'.

Poverty 'is sometimes mighty humble, but give it three squar' meals a day an' it feels big 'nuff ter git in de middle er de road, cuss ont de gas bill an' tell de sun ter stan' still.

Many a fool hez got through de worl' ez slick ez grease by des shakin' his head an' lookin' wise w'en de big wise mens wuz actin' foolish.—Atlanta Constitution.

GRAFT IN PERSIA.

Officials Pay For the Privilege of Fleecing the Public.

A LAND WITHOUT LAWYERS.

And Yet That Extraordinary Exemption Does Not Help the Unfortunate Who Gets Into Trouble—Coaxing the Accused to Confess.

It would be difficult for a Persian who has not traveled to understand American excitement over what the newspapers here call "graft." My motherland, Persia, is not yet quite awake to the possibility of a man's serving the public for a certain fixed salary and taking nothing more. In Persia they take it for granted that every official will "gouge" people whenever he gets a chance.

There are no lawyers in Persia, so there are no jokes about lawyers' appetite for gold and silver. If you have ever had a costly lawsuit on your hands you may think that makes matters simpler, but getting into trouble means being squeezed for money, wrung for money, as if you were a piece of wet cloth in a washerwoman's strong grip.

This is how it is managed: First, you see, the governor of a city or of a province never has a definite salary from the state—not at all. On the contrary, he pays the state treasury several thousand dollars more or less for the privilege of being governor and of making what he can out of the enterprise. He is not an elected officer; he is more like a "concessionaire" at one of your big expositions, who offers a large sum for a chance to run a restaurant or to provide ice cream soda or candy.

The governor (or mayor) of a large Persian town may have perhaps 100 to 150 employees under him. Of these only a few house servants (cook, coachman and the like) have fixed wages. The incomes of the others depend upon the amount of money which they can help turn into the great man's hands in the form of fines and taxes. You can guess whether the neighbors are fond of them!

Suppose now you live in Persia. You have leased a piece of ground or you have sold some goods and the other man does not pay. You dun him. Then you threaten him. Then you go to the governor and make a complaint. An officer arrests your debtor and takes him before the governor's secretary for examination. Possibly he can convince that important personage that it is not a just debt. If he cannot do that he would better put all his wits to work to convince the secretary that poverty makes it quite impossible to pay up.

This is where many of the 150 under employees get their chance. A large part of their occupation is hunting up facts about everybody's property, everybody's business, everybody's income. They know an amazing number of things which your debtor supposed were safely secret. They produce information whenever information is wanted.

Your man's pretense that business is bad and that he is all but bankrupt is brushed aside, and he is made to produce an amount of money considerably larger than the original debt. "Made" to produce it? Yes. There are shocking things that can be done to him if he hesitates too long, and he knows it. So like a child aware that there is an ugly stick waiting in the corner, he usually does not hesitate too long. He saves his skin and hands over the money. You get maybe 80 to 90 per cent to satisfy your claim—that is, the officer of justice practically collects from you something for his own services. The rest goes to the governor and such of the employees as may be considered in the case.

Perhaps you have a shop in the town bazaar or market place and some poor good-for-nothing steals a chicken that was hanging on the wall. If a woman was the thief she is most likely fined—possibly whipped if she has no money to pay a fine. If the culprit is a man they punch a hole through the cartilage of the lower end of his nose, put a cord through the hole and lead him in this painful disgrace all around the bazaar. The officer collects as he goes along a few cents from this shopkeeper and a few cents from that one as an acknowledgment of the officer's service in publicly exposing a thief.

Naturally it often happens that some outrageous robbery occurs or somebody is brutally murdered, and the guilty one is unknown. Then the governor's detective agents set to work. Anybody may be arrested on suspicion and examined either as the probable offender or as a witness. If the suspect has plenty of money he can always prove his innocence or his ignorance by paying cash to the examining officers, though, since there is no regulated tariff in such matters, the proceeding may be quite expensive.

If the suspect is too poor to make things right with the examiners or too stubborn to tell what he knows—and sometimes I am afraid if he really does not know anything to tell—they have some "third degree" methods warranted to make a man say something. One such method is what they call the "bastinado." It is whipping the soles of the bare feet with slender rods. Often live coals from a pipe are put on the shaven head of a prisoner to make him confess. Sometimes—But no. Probably you would not care to hear any more along this particular line. Persian inventions in this department of criminology are clever in their way, but not things to describe in full detail. Leon Medem in New York World.

Poetry.

Poetry is simply the most beautiful, impressive and widely effective mode of saying things, and hence its importance.—Matthew Arnold.

Woman's Safe Step to Better Looks is not hard to find. If your eyes are dull—if your skin is sallow, or your complexion muddy; if you have no roses in your cheeks, do not bother with cosmetics. Don't risk harmful drugs. Get good, rich blood in your veins, and then you will have the bright looks and charm of perfect health.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

are wonderful aids to women and women's looks. If your blood is poor—if you are pale, weak and not up to the mark—your stomach and organs of digestion and elimination are the cause.

Beecham's Pills correct faults. They will help you to good digestion and active kidneys and regular bowels—to freedom from troubles—to purer life-making, beauty-creating blood. In all truth and seriousness, you will find that for good health and good looks, Beecham's Pills

Will Show the Right Way

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, England. Sold everywhere in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes 25 cents.

A MODERN MIRACLE

FACTS

1. He had Eczema for 25 years.
2. His hands were so bad he had to wear gloves day and night.
3. Doctors said he could never be cured.
4. For 25 years he tried for cure in vain.
5. Then he tried ZAM-BUK.
6. ZAM-BUK cured him.
7. TO-DAY, three years after his cure, he says: "I AM STILL CURED there has been no return."

SHOWS HOW ZAM-BUK CURES ARE PERMANENT

Mr. T. M. Marsh of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, has had this wonderful experience of Zam-Buk. Mr. Marsh has lived in Montreal for over 30 years, many of them at his present address. He is well known and is willing to satisfy any enquirer as to the genuineness of his cure. He suffered 25 years from eczema in the hands and had to wear gloves day and night, the itching was so terrible when the air got to the sores. Doctors said there was no cure. Three years ago Zam-Buk cured him. Interviewed a few weeks ago he said:

"From the day I was cured by Zam-Buk to the present moment I have had no trace of the eczema and feel sure it will never return. When I think of the marvellous cure Zam-Buk worked in my case I am more and more impressed by the value of this great household balm. I have had letters of enquiry from all over Canada, and am glad to personally corroborate the published facts of my cure."

It is by working cures like this that Zam-Buk has won for itself a world-wide reputation. Unequalled for ulcers, abscesses, piles, blood-poison, inflamed sores, cold cracks, chapped hands, babies' eruptions, varicose ulcers, burns, cuts, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

FREE BOX.

Send this coupon and 1c stamp to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for sample box. Mention this paper

ZAM-BUK

IS IT IN YOUR HOME?

At a Pinch.

There's a certain minister whose duties sometimes call him out of the city. He has always arranged for some one of his parishioners to keep company with his wife and little daughter during these absences. Recently, however, he was called away so suddenly that he had no opportunity of providing a guardian.

The wife was very brave during the early evening. But after dark had fallen her courage began to fail. She stayed up with her little girl till there was no excuse for staying any longer and then took her upstairs to bed.

"Now, go to sleep, dearie," she said. "Don't be afraid. God will protect you."

"Yes, mother," answered the little girl, "that'll be all right tonight, but the next time let's make better arrangements."—Human Life.

NO DISORDERED KIDNEYS

or Weak Back if You Take a Few Doses of

FIG PILLS

All Backache and Distress from Out-of-Order Kidneys or Bladder Trouble will vanish and you will feel fine. Lame Back, Painful Stitches, Rheumatism, Nervous Headache, Dizziness, Sleeplessness, Wornout, Sick Feeling and other symptoms of Sluggish, Inactive Kidneys and Liver disappear. Smarting, Frequent Urination, and all Bladder Trouble ends. FIG PILLS go at once to the disordered Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary System, and complete a cure before you know it. There is no other remedy, at any price, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a 25c. box of FIG PILLS. Only curative results can come from taking FIG PILLS and a few doses mean clean, active, healthy Kidneys, Bladder and Liver—and no Backache.

For sale at all first class drug stores; 25c. a box or five for one dollar, or mailed on receipt of price by The Fig Pill Co., St. Thomas, Ont.

An American Savior.

A schoolteacher in a foreign tenement district was coaching his pupils concerning the Father of His Country and discovered considerable ignorance.

"And what did Washington do for the American people?" he asked. And a shrill voiced girl cried, "He died for us."—Success Magazine.

There are no eyes so sharp as the eyes of hatred.—Hillard.

Nervous Prostration

Makes You Weak, Helpless and Miserable.

Wherever there are sickly people who are troubled with deranged nerves they will find that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will restore the equilibrium of these deranged centres, and bring back the shattered nervous system to a perfect condition.

They do this by their restorative influence on every organ and tissue of the body, and their extraordinary curative power manifests itself immediately they are taken.

Mrs. G. D. Ward, Huntsville, Ont., writes: "I take pleasure in sending you my testimonial in praise of your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I suffered terribly with nervous prostration, and became so bad I was not able to attend to my household duties, and now I can truthfully say that I owe my life to them. Three boxes stopped my trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DUTTON & COMPANY

Ripe Tomatoes — Peanut Butter

Fry's Cocoa — Bird's Custard Powder

C. & B. Calves Feet Jelly — Challenge Tea, 25c lb.

Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

High Grade Sewing Machines

The quality of the White and Raymond Sewing Machines is measured by the Satisfaction they give those who use them.

WHITE } The Two Standard
RAYMOND } Machines for the Home

SOLD ON EASY TERMS

Peterborough Music Co.

404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

FOR SALE

Two Houses, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

East City

Coal and Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac. Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 623

Lots For Sale

—AND—

Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,256,804.40
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,536,026.69
Surplus $1,720,477.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO

W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

MAKING BAD BOYS INTO A MODEL REPUBLIC

THE George Junior Movement, Where Lads and Lasses Govern Themselves and Turn Out Good Citizens, Now Flourishes in Six States and Is to Spread Abroad

WILLIAM R. GEORGE

Copyright, 1911, by the New York Herald Co. All rights reserved.

IN a little hamlet up in New York State a man with big brain, big sympathies and bigger faith in his kind was attracted by an idea some years ago and proposed a novel application of it. The hamlet was Freeville, the man was William R. George, the idea was democracy and the application was the George Junior Republic, a home and school for boys and girls whom society, in its recklessness, was shaping for bad ends. To-day the outgrowth of his faith and labor is flourishing in six States. It will shortly be started in other States. It is about to be transplanted to England. And a commission from Japan is arranging for its introduction into that country.

When he began the man was laughed at, railed at or stormed at, according to the degree of cynicism and crabbedness prevailing among those who opposed him. He had no means. He had no backers. He had only the temporary use of one little cottage. He was classed as a fanatic, a dreamer or worse. It was predicted that the only noteworthy result of his experiment would be the catastrophe that closed it. And with that he was set aside.

Working quietly and unobtrusively, without thought of advantage to himself or the establishment of any crackbrain theory, simply seeking a way to help children who needed help, he comes now to public attention as the founder of a scheme that is taking root around the world as an instrument for good citizenship.

At the present time the idea, the man's application of it, has proved itself. It is no longer in the stage of trial. It has become not only of national but of international importance as a finished fact. After nearly sixteen years of operation it has become the most vital, helpful and significant development in the juvenile problem because it has done what other remedies have failed to do—it has brought results. It is drawing approval and support of sociologists everywhere. It is being written about in every language. It is alive and spreading.

Meanwhile it is of the utmost interest not only to the specialist but to the general observer, who has probably known nothing of it beyond the name.

The word "republic" is too frequently misused to give any adequate notion of what really goes at Freeville, and at the six other places where these miniature commonwealths exist. And yet each is just exactly what the term signifies, "a State in which the sovereignty resides in the people and the administration is lodged in officers elected by and representing the people."

And who are "the people?"

They are the boys and girls who make up the population, those who, in more familiar communities of the disciplinary type, are known as "inmates." But here they are not "inmates." To call them such would be to libel them, as well as to misstate the fact. Here they are "citizens."

This was Mr. George's application of the idea—Take youngsters who can't be managed and set them to managing each other, or, perhaps more exactly, to managing themselves.

Simple. As Mr. George says, "gorgeously simple." And effective beyond all dreaming.

"I feel guilty when I consider the share that has been put upon me in the worldwide attention paid to the Junior Republic," Mr. George told a reporter for our paper at Freeville recently. "I have done nothing. It is no invention. I didn't sit down and evolve it. It is no product of my ingenuity. It is as old as Plato, as old as man, as old as the earth. It is a universal truth. It is democracy, that's all, working itself out among young men and young women."

This comes well from Mr. George. But no visitor to the Republic, where he is known and loved as "Daddy," can fail to recognize the debt it owes him. His was the sympathy, the faith and the enthusiasm that made the application of that old idea possible and practicable and the Junior Republic, finally, a definite aid in the progress of human welfare.

He is no man with a hobby, a patent ill killer or an "ism" to advance, unless it be Americanism. His belief is that this country is great because it has been democratic and that the principles of democracy are capable of extending beneficent influence to all normal beings.

"If the United States is right the Junior Republic is right," he says. "Our little communities are simply applying the same theories that moved the founders of the nation. They are schools of citizenship, turning out good citizens by practical training in democracy."

These boys and girls then are the people in whom the sovereignty of the tiny States resides. They govern themselves.

The temptation on confronting this bald statement is instantly to seek some qualification, some limitation. But the statement stands.

Literally, in every respect, the citizens govern themselves. There is no authority that does not emanate from them. There is no restraint they do not themselves impose. There is no power upon them other than the power they themselves comprise and direct.

Self-Government Experiments.

Some form of self-government has been frequently advocated among minors, particularly in the schools. An attempt in that direction was the "school city" movement that came to notice about ten years ago. It was tried out in several parts of the country, notably in Chicago. For the most part it was a failure.

At first glance this would seem a contradiction of whatever theory might have been formulated from the unquestioned success of the Junior Republic. But the distinction is clear. In the case of the "school cities" the structure of government was imposed from above and performed no essential function. The well meaning educators said to the children, "Come, form a government, elect officers and distribute titles." The children tolerated the scheme for a time as a kind of cumbersome toy, but soon wearied of it and could not be induced to regard it seriously.

Not so with the Junior Republic. It was a natural growth from below, formed by the little community as a necessity. It was the shape that the impulses, instincts, needs of the group took in finding orderly and effective expression. It was the free product of individuals thrown together and forced to provide for mutual support and protection. It was the result of responsibility placed squarely and unreservedly with the citizens.

This is the keynote, at once the explanation and the lesson of the development—responsibility. The entire weight of discipline, law making and law enforcing, regulation—all the functions ordinarily retained by the administration of institutions—were shifted upon the boys and girls. Given responsibility, they met it. And in so meeting, though this is the ultimate academic view, they wrought their own salvation, their own rehabilitation as useful members of the larger society outside.

Mr. George's first colonies at Freeville were undertaken through charitable impulse, personal kindliness and a desire to lessen, in some way, the misery of the children of the poor. He was interested in fresh air work. He took groups of youngsters from the slums and gave them outings on a farm. He was frequently discouraged. The children made trouble. They were thoughtless, unmanageable, frankly looking for "graft" in the way of loot or presents. They were selfish, ungrateful and lazy. He could see that they were getting only slight benefit, and that physical, from their vacations.

Driven back in all attempts to instill virtue and wisdom into these untamed minds Mr. George came by logical degrees to a point where he saw the process of instilling to be an absolute and inevitable failure. Because his faith was sound he decided that the fault was not with the children, but with the method. So he decided to stop treating his charges as incompetents and dependents.

"Here," he said, "no one is going to give you anything or tell you what to do. If you want to live in this community you've got to find your own way to make living possible, just as men and women have to in the world. If you want food and shelter you've got to earn them; if you want surplus you've got to earn it. I can't run you and I won't. Run yourselves."

When friends remonstrated he held firm. "They're normal human beings," he said, "just like a colony of men and women gathered at random and marooned on an island. Give them a chance. Let 'em alone and see what comes of it."

"Let 'em alone" is still the word, and the Junior Republic has come of it. It was found that a summer camp was not suited to the experiment and the colony was made permanent, new recruits being added as "graduates" left.

The motto of the Republic, which appears on its coinage and dominates all its workings, is, "Nothing Without Labor." This is the driving force behind the democratic ideal, the stiffening of hard practicability in a composition that would otherwise be merely ornamental.

The citizens of the Republic are not wards. To live they must work. In the measure that they are industrious they enjoy material comforts. They have no one to whine to or beg from. They learn that labor is a grim necessity. They learn, moreover, by stern experience that the violation of any of the rules laid down by society for its own preservation brings swift punishment. And their fellow citizens represent, and are, society. There is no handing out of aphorisms and admonitions on a platter. These boys and girls come in rough contact with actual conditions. They find that labor is the only possible road and that the rights of property are sacred. Not because any one tells them so, but because the community exists by labor, while property is earned and owned by its individual members.

Here, let us say, comes John, a typical "bad boy" of the New York type. He is incorrigible. His parents can do nothing with him. He is a marauder of the streets. He has been arrested for truancy, for vagrancy, for theft. Possibly he has even served a term in a reform school. He is defiant, reckless, incapable of restraint by himself or others. He passes with his companions as a "tough guy," and he glories in it. Being withal healthy and showing no signs of ingrained degeneracy (for the Republic does not pretend to deal with defectives), he is marked as promising material by some juvenile court judge and held under a suspended sentence on condition that he goes to the Republic.

New School in Course of Construction, Being Built by Boy Citizens of the Republic

Work for Which Both the Smallest and the Highest Wages Are Given—A Stiff Task on the Farm of the Republic

The Place of Worship for Members of the World's Smallest Republic—The Old Chapel of the George Junior Republic

There are thousands of applications made for such as he by parents, by societies, by friends of the Republic, and his case is examined. If it appears that he is the kind that the Republic can help and that stands in emphatic need of help he is sent to Freeville. In this process of selection the "budder" the boy the better material he is for the Republic—meaning "bad" not in the sense of viciousness, but in the sense of activity, aggressiveness, daredevilry. The Republic does not want boys who are mentally tainted and will not take them. But it will go out of its way to get a young cub who has been raising Cain in particularly obstreperous ways.

John arrives at the Republic by climbing the road that winds up the hill back of Freeville. He will scarcely know when he has reached it, even when he stands in the midst of it, for there are no walls, no dormitories, no guards, no imposing buildings. The Republic refuses to be classed as an "institution" and it avoids all appearance of an institution. What are apparently farmhouses and factory sheds stand at intervals along the road or back among the fields, and the only distinctive structures are a school, a chapel, a gymnasium and an unpretentious stone edifice, one story in height, of which John is likely to have intimate knowledge some day.

John is received in a little office by the superintendent. The superintendent is merely the business agent for the George Junior Republic Association, which owns the grounds and houses and attends to procuring funds for maintenance and extension. His influence, personally, is great among the citizens, for he is a man of character, understanding and broad mind. But he has no direct power over the community and his value measures as his skill in keeping his hands off. For the rest he is the link between the Republic and the association as well as between the Republic and the world outside. The superintendent gives John a little talk, explains to him what he must face and obtains from him an agreement to abide by the laws of the Republic. And then he turns John loose to shift for himself. From that moment the newcomer is on his own resources.

Undoubtedly John is somewhat bewildered. He had regarded this Republic matter as a bit of gentle buncombe. He had been waiting for some one to take him by the hand, gently ask him "Please to be good" and lead him where he could get three meals a day with comfortable lodging and spend his time concocting mischief. Instead, he stands in the road disconsolate. No one pays any attention to him. Everybody is too busy. He wonders at this for a moment and then recalls what he has been told, that folks have to work in order to live. He finds himself in the position of a penniless wanderer in a strange city, and it is borne in on him that if he expects to eat or to sleep indoors he had better get busy and hunt a job.

Adjusting this unwonted state of affairs to his own immediate wants, he yields for the time being with a comfortable mental reservation. All right; if he must work he will. But let them beware. They need not think they have conquered him. He is a "tough guy," as they will very shortly find. He is no spiritless drudge to "fall" for this joke called a Republic. Meanwhile he is willing to make a show of submission.

The industries of the Republic include a print shop, a carpenter shop, a plumbing shop, a laundry, a bakery, a farm, a chicken farm, a blacksmith shop and a dairy. Each department is in charge of an adult expert, whose position is simply that of an employing master craftsman. These "helpers" have no authority over any citizen except the authority of every employer over an employe, and each runs his shop on strict business lines, hiring and discharging labor according to need and fitness. The helpers are themselves hired by the association.

John, the newcomer, offers himself at the various shops until he finds a place where he is wanted. He gets his job, we will say, with the carpenter at a first wage of $2.50 a week. To draw this money he will be expected to spend five hours a day in the school and to work five hours a day at his trade.

The school at the Junior Republic is a very important matter. It affords first class instruction, with a high school course, and all citizens must attend it. Wage earning is made conditional upon attendance. Beyond that point, however, the school is distinct and separate.

Having found a position John has now no difficulty in finding lodging on the basis of his prospective pay. The citizens live in cottages, in groups of ten to fifteen. Each cottage has its own rates, according to its accommodations, and is in charge of a "house mother," a woman who bears the same relation to the association as the helpers. A "house mother" has entire discretion, like any hotel or boarding house keeper, as to what boarders she will take, and John has to travel the rounds until he discovers one who will take him in. There he can stay as long as he pays his board and keeps the good will of the "house mother." If he is not a satisfactory lodger, or is himself dissatisfied, the door is open. He can seek another cottage.

Still nursing his secret scorn of the whole business, John, the "tough guy," endures these conditions for a few days and decides that he has had enough. It is really too simple. The countryside is open, he will "beat it." So he does.

Return of the Runaway.

He walks away of a morning, strikes a road and follows his own sweet will. He begs luncheon at a farmhouse or buys it at a town and sets his face toward Ithaca or some other city. Along toward evening, or it may be next morning, after a night spent in a haystack, he is aware of two boys about his own age coming along the road behind him. He may not know them, but they know him, and they inform him that he had better do what they suggest if he has any regard for his immediate comfort. After an argument more or less brief he consents and in due time he trudges into the precincts of the Junior Republic once more.

But matters are very different now. There is no comfortable cottage for the runaway. He is taken to the one storied stone structure and discovers that he has been committed to jail.

There is no joke about that jail. It is a large, paved room and it contains ten steel cages, very competent cages, each containing a hinged shelf and a mattress. And in one of those cages, after having been entered on the books by the jailer, with another boy of his own age he is left to reflect upon the desirability of obeying the law.

If John has made a friend among the prosperous citizens he may be able to obtain bail, the bond being duly signed and sworn to before a boy magistrate and personal property or money being given as security. If not he is shortly taken before the court.

The operations of the judiciary in the Junior Republic are, perhaps, the most impressive feature of the system, as they are certainly the most difficult for the outsider to grasp. That a complete machine for the enforcement of law and order should be run, smoothly and equitably, by boys and girls, with full regard to justice and legal procedure, seems hardly credible. And yet here it is.

The court room is in another wing of the jail building. It is fitted with judge's bench, jury box, prisoner's rail and desks for the clerks, all railed off from the rest of the room as in any court. Being brought in from the cage when his case is called, John finds himself in the midst of a gathering that will probably make him feel very uncomfortable indeed. He has seen a judge, policeman, court officers, hustling lawyers and interested spectators before, and it ministered to his self-esteem and his bravado to face them. But he has never conceived of a place where judge, policemen, officers, lawyers and spectators are all boys and girls about his own age, who regard him not as a hero but as an offender against their peace of mind and the integrity of their laws.

Somewhat abashed, John stands at the rail and hears the case presented against him by the policemen who arrested him. The judge listens closely and puts the question of his guilt to him. He admits having run away, and then for five painful minutes he stands shamefaced under a quiet talking to which outlines his own unenviable position to him with striking clarity. Many a careless boy has received his first real lesson in life at the hands of the citizen judge of the Junior Republic.

"Workhouse. Two weeks," says the judge. And back goes John to the cage.

While his sentence lasts John lives in the jail. He attends school in the building during certain hours, for school privilege is taken from no prisoner. During the rest of the day he is put at manual labor. Prisoners are leased by the citizen government to the association which employs them at ditch digging and other work.

Prisoners Asleep or Reading in Cages at Midnight in the Republic's Prison, with Boy Police Officers on Guard

But John, the "tough guy," is not convinced yet. On his release he tries another game. Finding that the aluminum money of the Republic, wherewith he must keep himself and make all his purchases, is a desirable thing, he "swipes" the cash of a fellow lodger at the cottage. This he considers a very smart achievement, and he boasts of it, expecting admiration, to another neighbor who seems a likely hero worshipper.

Alack and alas for John! That same neighbor has had to work too hard for his own cash to regard a thief as anything but a menace. John has come up against the law of property and once more finds himself in jail.

It is a serious offence this time, and the grand jury, of boys and girls, has handed down an indictment against him. He is too poor to hire a lawyer, but the Republic furnishes him with one, and at the next session of court he is tried. If he pleads "Not guilty" he gets a jury trial, conducted in every respect like a trial in a court of the outside Republic, except that the jurymen are four in number. Convicted, he gets a longer sentence this time and once more he begins jail life.

A few experiences of this kind with the citizen authorities are pretty certain to convince John that it doesn't pay to be a criminal in the Republic. He finds no stimulus of applause. There is no one to laugh with him and tell him what a devil of a fellow he is. The sentiment of these boys and girls is firmly against him. They are his own kind and they do not approve of him, and he feels it. He usually decides that it is a good deal better to fall in line, take his part, work, earn money and be respectable. After three months' residence, unless the time is extended for a felony, he becomes a full citizen, and when he begins to sense his responsibility he is apt to be a good citizen. The records of the Republic show that the great majority of offenders are newcomers who have not yet adjusted themselves.

Of more than five hundred citizens who have gone out of the Republic only twenty were ever afterward committed to institutions, and of these only one left it with the consent of the authorities.

The Republic extends the same treatment to girls as to boys, with some obvious mitigations. They have their own cottages and their own work, usually in the laundry or about the houses. They have full equal suffrage and are eligible for all offices and duties. There is a girl's jail, which is only a plainly furnished cottage and is frequently without occupants. Girls attend the school and enjoy every privilege. There is no segregation. They must earn their livelihood on the same footing with the boys.

Enacting Their Own Laws.

The Republic draws its authority from a legislature of the whole, which meets once a month. Every citizen sixteen years of age or more has a vote, though none of the adults or helpers is admitted to the suffrage. The legislature, an example of pure democracy, enacts all laws for the government of the community. It is decreed that on points not covered by the code of the Republic the laws of the State of New York are to operate.

President, Vice President, Attorney General and Secretaries of Treasury and State, are elected each November. The Vice President, who is always a girl, presides over the legislature, and with the two secretaries forms the Board of Commissioners. The Commissioners appoint the Chief of Police and his boy and girl assistants. The President's position is largely honorary, and his most important duty is the appointing of the Judge. The judgeship is justly considered the highest office in the Republic, and the boy who holds it is usually the ablest citizen the community holds. A separate girl Judge and girl Attorney General are appointed if necessary by the President for a girl's court, which tries any case which might not properly be brought before the regular tribunal. The legal profession is represented by a Bar Association, membership to which is obtained by examination. All officers of the State draw salaries, none being large enough to admit of idleness. Lawyers practise and draw fees, but they have to work, which is quite another matter. Nobody has a sinecure in this commonwealth.

Provision is made for an appeal from the Republic Court to the Supreme Court, composed of trustees of the association. This is the only instance where adults share in the government.

Agreeable to republican theory, Church and State are quite distinct. Clergymen of all faiths may hold services in the handsome little chapel, and the citizens display an interesting breadth of view by attending impartially, with little regard to sect.

"It costs New York State between $600 and $700 a year to make a 'bad boy' into a potential criminal at an institution," says Mr. George. "Here it costs us between $250 and $300 a year to make him a good citizen. It's a case of good results paying all around."

The Republic has none of the characteristics of the reform school. It does not aim, in Mr. George's phrase, to "make them be good," but to "give them a chance to be good." At present many of its citizens are sent by well to do parents, who pay the association for the privilege so thoroughly is the value of the republican training recognized. Beyond this "tuition" the Republic has no resources except voluntary contributions.

This, in outline, is the result of William George's faith in an idea, as it has come to be at Freeville. The six other communities in the National Association of George Junior Republics are at Annapolis Junction, Md.; Redington, Pa.; Grove City, Pa.; Litchfield, Conn., Flemington, N. J., and in Southern California. They are all similar in plan, though younger and less well equipped. At Freeville is a cottage which Mr. George calls his "Republic incubator." Here small colonies are formed and instructed before being sent out as nuclei for new republics. The present year will probably see several additions in various States. Mr. George has deprecated too hasty expansion, knowing that a superintendent or trustees who did not fully understand the meaning of "Let 'em alone" would bring about a failure.

Visitors come to Freeville from all quarters of the globe to observe this laboratory experiment in democracy. What they find there they cannot differ about, for it is all clear and definite. They find clean, bright, wholesome young men and women, intelligent, vigorous, competent, self respecting and self controlled. They find a sane, happy, healthy community. They find that responsibility has taught the individuals to be responsible and that decency, honesty, ability and strong character are the products. They find that the Junior Republic is sending out valuable members of its own society to be valuable members of the larger society, manufacturing good citizens.

Spread Paste—It's COMMON SENSE!

If a house is over-run with roaches, bugs, and similar vermin, be sure to use COMMON SENSE Bug Paste. Bedbugs, Roaches etc., eat it with avidity and it is their last meal. 25c, 50c and $1, at all dealers.

REMEMBER! Two Kinds { 1. Common Sense Rat Killer. 2. Bedbugs and Roaches. 15

All dealers or COMMON SENSE MFG. CO. 261 Queen Street West Toronto, Ont.

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three (3) months ending March 31st at the rate of ten per cent, (10%) per annum has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution, and the same will be payable at the Offices of the Company in this City on and after April 1st, 1911.

The transfer books will be closed fro the 20th to the 31st day of March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board,

E. R. WOOD, Man. Dir.

CENTRAL CANADA LOAN & SAVINGS CO.

26 King Street E., Toronto

COAL

That Is Coal is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts

Both Phones 262

Yards 126 Robinson Street East City

Both Phones 264

Plumbing, Hot Water Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL Limited

LAND REGULATIONS.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts, a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of home stead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre emption may enter for a purchased home stead in certain districts. Price $3 per acre. In certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Advertise in the Examiner

LITTLE ITEMS BRITISH NEWS

Spectacles for Children With Defective Sight—A Magistrate Who Summoned Himself

Willesden Education Committee's scheme for the provision of spectacles for children with defective sight has been approved.

Summoned Himself

Chief Constable Prior Summoned himself at Tunbridge Wells Police Court for allowing the police station chimney to be on fire. A fine of 25 cents was imposed.

Aged Couple's Wedding

At a Methodist chapel in Hedminster, Bristol, Robert Wilcox, aged seventy-two, was married to Frances Mark Tucker, aged eighty, who is an old age pensioner.

Queen Alexandra's Letter

Queen Alexandra has sent $3,500 of the proceeds of the sale of the facsimile of Her Majesty's sorrowing "Letter to the Nation" to the Hospital for Incurables at Streatham.

Herring Collie

An intelligent collie, eluding its custodian in St. James' Park, London, proceeded to its old home in Epping, which it reached twenty hours later. It had come to London by train.

Nature Study for Little Londoners

It has been decided to increase the number of school gardens used for nature study under the London County Council by twenty a year. There are at present 171 of these gardens.

Victims of the Plague Year

Skeletons of a man and of a woman were unearthed by workmen in excavations in Falcon Street, Ipswich. They are thought to belong to persons who died in the Great Plague in the year 1664.

Petrol-Driven Train

The Great Western Railway Company have entered into an arrangement to experiment with a petrol-electric rail motor-car. The car will seat forty-five passengers, and will run at a maximum speed of twenty miles an hour.

Westward Ho! Tavern

The King of Prussia public-house, which dates from 1618, and the Old Ship tavern, made famous by Kingsley in "Westward Ho!" as the house where the Brotherhood of the Rose was founded, occupied the attention of the Licensing justices.

"Graveyard" Music

Sir Frederick Bridge, lecturing on music at the City of London School spoke of the modern "graveyard school" of composers, and added: "If some of our young composers would only be more cheerful and wake up, they might do something for the joy of the country."

Councillor as Cleaner

The Willesden Council has refused local railwaymen the use of a school on Sunday mornings for an educational class on the ground that it would involve Sunday labor on the part of the caretaker. Councillor Bernard has offered to do the cleaning himself.

A WHITE ROSE JOKER

Confusion Which Followed an Advertisement in a Paris Paper

A practical joker inserted this advertisement in a morning paper published in Paris:—

"A wealthy gentleman wishes to meet a lady with a view to matrimony. Means not essential.—Address——"

This was followed a day or two later by another notice:—

"A lady with a large fortune wishes to become acquainted with a gentleman with a view to matrimony. Means a secondary consideration.—Address ——".

The joker received in all about one hundred and fifty replies, and he answered by letter in these terms.

"Will you meet me at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon next at the Cafe —— Place de la Bourse? Please wear a white rose."

The joker's next move was to write to M. Lepine, the head of the police, subscribing himself "Un Bon Republicain."

"A Royalist demonstration is to take place at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon next in the Place de la Bourse. The Royalists can be identified by a white rose," which each will wear."

On the Sunday following, at two o'clock in the afternoon, the approaches to the Place de la Bourse were obstructed with carriages, motor-cars, and taxicabs. The "fare" in each was decorated with a white rose. Soon the coachmen and drivers were within measurable distance of coming to blows, while four political agents of the police who were present took notes and kept the demonstrators under surveillance. Gradually, however, the truth leaked out. For the most part the victims made the best of the situation, but one or two testy old gentlemen and a few peevish ladies betook themselves to the Police-Commissioner to lodge a complaint. The Commissioner, however, greatly annoyed himself, gave them scant attention.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup will Surprise You

Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly and will usually cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe makes sixteen ounces—a family supply. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16 oz. bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis, and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaicol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

NERVE STRAIN

Doctors tell us that a vast percentage of the breakdowns and troubles to-day are from overworked, undernourished nerves. We Americans strain every nerve in our body trying to make a success in life, and do not nourish and feed our nervous system so as to make it equal to the strain; the result is we are broken-down old men and women before we are forty years of age. The nerve tissues must be fed and strengthened, the stomach must be assisted in doing the work of digesting the food, the blood must be enriched and circulation quickened, the body and brain must be invigorated, so that we can withstand the strain and retain health, strength and youth.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, the world's most reliable tonic-stimulant and strength builder, is an ideal remedial agent for nervous people or any one under a nervous strain. It quiets the nerves and starts the gastric juices so that the food can be digested. It is a food in itself that gives strength and fills the blood with bright red corpuscles.

Doctors and other scientists all over America know that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey does wonders in aiding the digestion and assimilation of the food and in bringing vigor to the body.

It is sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY by all liquor dealers or direct, $1.25 a large bottle. Look for the "Old Chemist" on the label and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Medical booklet containing rare common-sense rules for health and testimonials, also doctor's advice, sent free to any one who writes.

The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.
F. R. J. Mitchell, George St., Agent.

FEEDING BRAN TO FOWLS

Bran is rich in phosphates when compared with many other foods fed to poultry, and as phosphates account for the formation of bone, growing poultry may with advantage be allowed a certain proportion of it. It is also useful for laying hens, and if used occasionally as a change and to add bulk to the morning mash, the birls will be greatly benefited by it. In using bran, however, it should never be mixed with other meals in a dry state, as then it is liable to set up a derangement of the digestive organs owing to its irritating nature. Bran, before being used, should be scalded with boiling water, and left for an hour at least to cook and swell. A little may then be added to the soft food of growing chickens, or it may be used for laying hens in conjunction with pea or bean meal, using equal parts of each, and drying off these by the addition of sharps. A mash thus made is good for feeding in summer time.

BISHOPS' PALACES

They Do Not Now as Formerly Vie In Pomp and Magnificence with Royal Abodes

Bishops' palaces nowadays are not what they were. In bygone times they vied in pomp and magnificence with the abodes of Royalty itself. To-day the buildings remain, but they are put to much more sober uses. When it is recalled that in former days the Archbishop of Canterbury alone possessed something like a score of palaces scattered over the South of England some notion may be gathered of the scale on which the Church did things in this respect in earlier times. Portions of these, in most cases in ruins now, may still be seen at Croydon, Maidstone, Oxford, Wrotham, and elsewhere; but nowadays the Primate has only two official residences—namely, at Canterbury and Lambeth.

Curiously enough, the one at Canterbury is quite modern, having only been erected within the last fifteen years. Before this the country residence of the Archbishop was at Addington, near Croydon, where the palace is now in private hands. A fine park is one of the features of the estate, the cost in keeping up which was one of the reasons why the Archbishop's residence was transferred. Nowadays the Archbishop spends most of his time at Lambeth, one of the most magnificent and historic of all the existing episcopal residences.

The Archbishop of York formerly had many palaces also. Of these the only one now remaining, in addition to that of Bishopthorpe, is that at Southwell, now occupied by the Bishop of Southwell. In very early days there was a residence in London attached to the see of York, the remains of which may still be seen in the shape of the old water gate in the Victoria Embankment Gardens. For that matter however, most of the bishops had London residences, in those days usually known as inns, the sites of which may still be traced in such names as Chichester Rents, Salisbury Rents, Ely Place, and so on. Bishopthorpe, the only residence of the Archbishop of York nowadays, is one of the largest of all the episcopal palaces, though architecturally not so fine as some of the others, notably Ely and Wells.

The Bishop of London's principal residence is at Fulham, which has been identified with the see of London for centuries. A moat right round the grounds of the palace testifies unmistakably to the antiquity of the building, though the greater part of that standing to-day is comparatively modern. The Bishop of London has also a house in St. James's Square, where many memorable meetings have been held.

Whereas most bishops formerly had several palaces, here are some seen to-day which were none at all —

THE BLIND SIDE

German Officer:—"Glad to hear you're going to fortify your sea-front. Very dangerous people, these English."

Dutchman:—"But it will cost much."

German Officer:—"Ah, but see what you save on the eastern frontier, where there's nobody but us!"—Punch.

DROWNED FROM ON HIGH

Balloonists' Awful Ordeal Over the German Ocean

Three aeronauts' thrilling fight for life above the German Ocean, in which one succumbed, is reported from the Orkney Islands, where, near Kirkwall, the balloonists made a perilous night descent. "We thought we were in Sweden," they told the cottagers, "till we saw the word 'push' on your door bell." On being asked to enter two men, covered with blood and mud, staggered into the house. The story told by the balloonists was thrilling. It appeared that 32 hours before three gentlemen—Herr Distler, managing director of the Deutscher Touring Club; Captain Joerdens, a retired German Army officer; and Herr Metzger, manager of a rubber factory for automobiles—all belonging to Munich, left that town in the Deutscher Touring Club's balloon for a 24-hours' ascent. "About 7.30 a.m., when we had been nearly 15 hours aloft," Herr Distler states, "the balloonist's greatest dread appeared. We heard the roaring of the sea. The wind was blowing strongly from the south-east. We came down to locate our position. So great was our speed that the basket dashed against the sea, we three were immersed, and," Herr Distler pathetically added, "when we rose clear again we were two." Herr Metzger was not seen any more. Relieved of the weight of one passenger, the balloon rose out of danger, and all day the balloonists drifted they knew not whither except that the German Ocean was beneath them. A dense fog hung over the sea to a height of about 100 yards. Twice during the darkness the balloonists descended, but each time struck the waves. At last everything, even the anchor, had to be cast overboard, and the emergency rope was pulled to release the remainder of the gas as soon as the balloonists knew they were over land. Still, so great was the impetus that wire fences and dykes were torn down as the balloon whirled along, while Herr Distler and Captain Joerdens lay crouched in the bottom of the basket expecting each minute to be their last. When they stopped they were a mile inland.

HENRI FARNAM

The well-known French aviator, who is teaching French women to fly. He is reported to have constructed a new aeroplane, with which he intends to beat all previous records and to be able to fly for twelve hours at a time.

TEA FOR CHINESE EMPEROR

Tea for the Emperor of China is grown in a garden surrounded by very high walls, so that none but the cultivators can approach it. The pickers must bathe three times daily. They must wear special gloves, and abstain from eating fish lest their breath should spoil the aroma of the tea [illegible]

ENGLAND

Paragraphs of Interest, Telling of Recent English Events

During a boxing match at Lowestoft a young man named Ernest Saunders collapsed in the third round. He was conveyed to the hospital, where he died.

• • •

A silver-mounted pouch belt, bearing Peninsular, Waterloo, and Crimea honors, and formerly owned by Lord Cadogan, was sold at Sotheby's, London, for £2 5s.

• • •

The fall of a meteorite took place at Hull, a stable being demolished and the roofs of five other buildings shattered. Eight horses in the stable were very much frightened, but escaped uninjured.

• • •

Fire broke out in a joiner's shop in Portsmouth Dockyard. Five parties were landed from the warships lying alongside the yard. A constable and a naval stoker were injured by falling from a ladder.

• • •

The Birmingham City Council decided to devote a legacy of £50,000 left by the late Mr. John Feeney for the building of a picture gallery to the addition of three picture galleries to the art gallery at present in course of erection.

• • •

Dr. Michael Friedlander, who for forty-two years occupied the position of principal of Jews' College in London, died recently in his seventy-ninth year. He was one of the greatest authorities in Europe as an Hebraist and a Talmudist.

• • •

A tin box containing twenty small volumes of King Manuel's diary was forwarded to him at Wood Norton. It appears that the King has kept a diary since his early infancy. Each volume is bound in morocco leather and has a silver lock and key.

• • •

Lily Ford, aged ten, of Salisbury Road, South Norwood, has received the following letter from Queen Alexandra: "Miss Knollys is commanded by Queen Alexandra to thank Lily Ford for her nice little letter on the occasion of Her Majesty's birthday."

• • •

In order to do something to beautify the desolate Black Country a strong movement is on foot to persuade the Development Commissioners to make a grant towards the cost of acquiring and planting thirty-six and a half acres of land at Morley and 144 acres at Brentley, near Walsall.

• • •

Some Yarmouth boats, finding the shoals of herring had deserted the English coast, have come upon a new fishing ground off the French coast. They are now making catches ranging from 140,000 herring, some of which are being brought to Yarmouth, while others are running with their hauls to Brighton or other Channel ports.

• • •

The debris of the landslide at Highgate Archway having been cleared from the tramway lines and the overhead wires having been repaired, the tramway service was resumed through the Archway Road to the Archway Tavern, Holloway. The demolition of the unsafe outbuilding forming part of St. Aloysius School, is being proceeded with.

FEWER BIRTHS! MORE DEATHS

Wet and cold were responsible for a decided rise in the death rate last week. In the provinces it was 18.1 per 1,000, against 1.9, 16.5, and 17.8 in the previous three weeks. London's figures, which had been 15.8, 16.4, and 19.4, rose to 21.1.

There were 1,934 births and 1,974 deaths in London—264 below and 439 above the averages. Measles accounted for 113 deaths, influenza for 27, and diarrhoea for 16. Suicides numbered 9. 8 infants under one were suffocated in bed, and 1 death occurred under an anaesthetic.

In Greater London there were 3,088 births and 3,641 deaths—480 below and 480 above the averages.

The man who sticks to the truth is never regarded as a good conversationalist.

The most tempting breakfast is spoiled if the Coffee be of poor quality. But—every meal is a Banquet when you use

Seal Brand Coffee

Packed in 1 and 2 pound cans only. 125

CHASE & SANBORN - MONTREAL.

"OLD BELIEVERS"

Th Most Ancient Sect of the Russian Church May Unite with Rome

An interesting movement is noticeable among the highest Catholic clergy in St. Petersburg, Russia, who are intelligently endeavoring to carry on negotiations with the so-called "Old Believers," which is the most ancient and influential sect of the Russian Church, for the purpose of bringing about union with Rome. The negotiations are making headway. Greatest opposition is being encountered on the part of the general flock, but the clergy of the "Old Believers" are lending a willing ear to the proposals. Already several well-known members of the sectarian priesthood have officially recognized the primacy of the Pope and entered the Roman Catholic Church as so-called Uniates, preserving ancient privileges such as the Slavonic liturgy and the right of candidates for the secular priesthood to marry once before being ordained. The Vatican is receiving the clergy of the "Old Believers" and giving them the same rank as they possessed in their

BICYCLE TOUR

Interesting Details of a Trip of Two Travellers Through a Native District

Extremely interesting are the details of the bicycle and walking tour lately made in Central Africa by Messrs. F. H. Melland and E. N. Cholmeley, of the Chartered Company's service, who have arrived in London. After crossing the Anglo-German boundary, the two travellers struck south-east to Mwanye, in order to visit Rukwa Lake. During their peregrinations in this neighborhood they visited some very interesting and little-known tribes, some of whom are ruled by a family entirely distinct from the people. This ruling caste is known as Watwaki, and was founded by a woman called Unda, who came from the north 150 years ago. A chieftainess, called Sa, who has just succeeded an older ruler, now governs one section of the tribe. Although rather a formidable looking person, with her strange costume, hobnail boots, and an old straw hat, she received the travellers with great ceremony. Another member of this ruling family has founded a religious home, and she, with three of her friends, are the only known cases of African native women taking the veil.

COUNTERFEIT FACTORY

The Basement of a Fashionable Villa at Nice Used as a Coining Den

The fact that the basement of a villa at Nice was used in the course of last year as a factory of counterfeit Russian notes, has been revealed by information received from the Russian authorities. The leaders of the gang who have been arrested at Warsaw, rented a villa at the beginning of last year at Nice, paying a good price for it. They left in September, and must have taken a good supply of their worthless goods with them, for when caught they still had counterfeit notes in their possession to the nominal amount of about $100,000. When they took their departure from the fashionable coining den they packed their tools and machinery into seven cases, and had them stored by a transportation company, which was entirely ignorant of their contents. The French authorities have now seized the cases, and have handed them over to the Russian Consul at Nice.

EXECUTED A YOUNG GIRL

Trembling and Sobbing She Was Carried to the Scaffold

A terribly brutal scene occurred recently at the Insterberg (Prussia) Prison, where a young girl, convicted of poisoning, was executed. Trembling and sobbing bitterly, the unfortunate girl was practically carried to the scaffold, where she had to listen to the formal reading of the judgment. The condemned girl was seized with a fit almost of madness when the executioner's assistants tried to induce her to lay her head on the block, and hurling herself to the ground, she struck wildly at the block with her two hands, giving vent, at the same time, to frightful cries. All efforts to calm here were, for a long time futile, but eventually force prevailed, and she became weaker, and her hands were tied behind her back and her head forced on the block. The executioner was attired in frock coat, silk hat, and white gloves.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Muskoka, Gravenhurst	1.00 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	9.00 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.35 a.m. 6.35 p.m.	11.40 a.m. 9.05 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	6.35 p.m.	9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m. 10.15 p.m.	7.30 a.m. 4.45 p.m. 4.45 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.15 a.m. 6.35 p.m.	8.20 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 6.15 p.m.	1.35 a.m. 12.00 a.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m. 1.05 a.m.

Going West.	Leave Peterboro'.
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	4.35 a.m. 8.01 a.m.
Parkestown, Bobcaygeon, Myrtle, Toronto.	7.40 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSIONS

TO

Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta

Special Trains leave Toronto 2.00 p.m. on

APRIL 4, 18 MAY 2, 16, 30 JUNE 13, 27
JULY 11, 25 AUG. 8, 22 SEPT. 5, 19

Second class tickets from Ontario stations to principal Northwest points at

LOW ROUND-TRIP RATES

Winnipeg and return $53.00; Edmonton and return $41.00, and to other points in proportion. Tickets good to return within 60 days from selling date.

TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

on all excursions. Comfortable berths, fully equipped with bedding, can be secured at moderate rates through local agent.

Early application must be made

ASK FOR HOMESEEKERS' PAMPHLET containing rates and full information.

Apply to nearest C.P.R. Agent or to R. L. Thompson, Dist. Pass. Agt., Toronto.

ONLY DIRECT LINE NO CHANGE OF CARS

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Low Rates to Pacific Coast

Daily until April 10

42.60 { Vancouver, B. C. Spokane, Wash. Seattle, Wash. Portland, Ore.

45.20 { San Francisco, Cal. Los Angeles, Cal. Mexico City

One way second class from Peterborough

Low Rates every day to Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta

Exceedingly low rates each Tuesday until April 25th, to principal points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, including points on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

Full particulars and tickets from—

City Ticket Office: 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE, City Ticket Agent
F. SANDY, Depot Agent

COAL! COAL!

The Standard Anthracite D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord, Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 68

A. Brown & Co.

408 GEORGE STREET

Headquarters for all kinds of

Real Estate

NO HOSPITAL FOR MR. LAWLER

HE TOOK GIN PILLS

If you ever hear anyone say that Rheumatism can't be cured, ask them if they have ever tried GIN PILLS. Or ask them to write us for proof that GIN PILLS have cured hundreds and hundreds of cases of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pain in the Back and other troubles caused by weak Kidneys or Bladder.

Rheumatism can be cured—is being cured every day—by GIN PILLS. Here is the best kind of proof.

OGDEN, N.S.

"I have been troubled with Rheumatism so bad that I could not work. A doctor tended me and told me to go to the hospital but all to no good until a friend told me to try GIN PILLS. I did so and after taking a few boxes, I am perfectly well." D. J. LAWLER.

Take GIN PILLS on our positive guarantee that they will cure you or money refunded. 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Order from us if your dealer cannot supply them. Sample box free if you write us. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. B., Toronto. 10

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store

Grand New
MILLINERY OPENING for the 17th

Ladies of Peterborough are invited to come in and inspect our Hats. The latest and most up-to-date styles from New York and Toronto. Chic, ready-to-wear and untrimmed Ladies' and Children's Hats for the coming season. You will be agreeably surprised when you see our display of most recherche Millinery. We have a thorough up-to-date Milliner, who can suit in any style you may require. Hand-made hats a specialty.

We have also the very latest styles in Ladies' and Gents' ready-to-wear Clothing. Ladies' New Spring Suits in all the newest and becoming shades and styles. All kinds of Skirts in the newest ideas. All Housefurnishings. See our windows.

CASH OR CREDIT

Why not dress well when you can on such easy terms? A small deposit and one dollar weekly will get you what you require for the Spring.

432 George St. Phone 567

Our Photos

Always please because the likeness is true, the finish perfect, the subject is naturally and effectively posed, and the work is mounted and put up in the very latest style.

Louis Meinelt

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

My Valet

This is the time to look over your Spring Wardrobe and have them put in shape. We do all kinds of cleaning, repairing and pressing, on ladies' or gent's garments. You will be surprised at the improvement.

2 STORES:
204 Charlotte Street, Bell 917 Mach. 382
137 Simcoe Street Phone 666

Edwin Elcome TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.

Peterborough Ontario

PETERBORO' PENNANTS 50c

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Corner George, King and Water Streets. Both Phones Peterborough

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Bass-wood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

Have you tried the "Want" Columns of The Examiner yet. Small ads., small prices.

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

(Continued from Monday)

As yet he was not definitely satisfied as to the reason for Eleanor's disappearance; but he must determine it somehow or trust to chance. And, while ever willing to take advantage of chance, yet he never trusted to it.

On he played that night, facing his chess-board, carefully, logically, sure of his plans, but ready to change them instantly; and all the while he was subconsciously thinking of the other and greater problem on which he was engaged. At four o'clock on Wednesday morning he saw victory ahead, and at five was in his hotel sound asleep.

When he called at the newspaper office early Wednesday afternoon he found a letter awaiting him. The envelope was addressed in awkwardly formed handwriting, and the message within was brief. It told him to call at a house located in Thirty-sixth Street, a block or so west of Broadway, and to ask for Mrs. Brown. The note concluded thus:

"I can tell the information you want. She was here, brown and white, but not when they took her away."

Half an hour later Wotsirb was ringing the bell of an old-fashioned dwelling, in a neighbourhood at that time having a reputation none too savoury. Here and there, in the vicinity, negroes had moved in, and the new apartments, not far distant, were already nicknamed "Soubrette Row."

A stout, middle-aged woman of frowsy appearance answered his ringing of the bell, opened the door a few inches, and peered at him with distrust in her keen, black eyes.

"Are you Mrs. Brown?" he asked.

"Yes," she replied.

"I received your answer to my advertisement," he went on, showing her the letter.

For a moment she hesitated, then opened wide the door, saying, "Come in."

He followed her through a dark, dirty hallway to a room at the left, once the reception-room of some family of distinction, but now cluttered with a bed, several chairs, a couple of trunks, a sewing machine, and other furniture.

"Excuse the muss," the woman said, sweeping a pile of newspapers from a chair, "and set down. This is where I live, myself. All the other rooms is took by lodgers."

Wotsirb sat down, crossing his knee comfortably.

"Well," he began, "what do you know about the young lady?"

The stout woman sat down on a trunk and fanned herself.

"I don't want no reward and no trouble," she began nervously. "I just wanta tell somebody, because I never had nothin' like it happen in all the years I been keepin' a respectable furnished-room house for gents and married couples exclusive."

"Don't be disturbed, Mrs. Brown. Nobody is going to do you any harm. I just want to get a line on that very charming and attractive young lady."

"Be you from the Central Office or a Pinkerton?" she asked suddenly.

"Neither," he responded.

"Then you're altogether private?"

He nodded.

"Of course," she went on, "when I see the girl's picture in the paper a couple of days ago, I recognized it in a second, as her who was brought here, especially when her brown suit and white gloves was mentioned. And I can tell you it give my heart a jump when I see also that it was Mort'mer Cuyler's girl—him as is the banker, ain't he?"

Wotsirb again nodded, and Mrs. Brown continued to fan herself harder and harder. After a moment or two she spoke again.

"I knew then that somehow I would be dragged into it—I do have the worst luck with roomers! I knew that a man like him would never let up to his dying day, until he'd gone clean to the bottom of the hull thing. I made up my mind to go to his office next morning, when I happened to see your advertisement, and knew of course he had put somebody on the job."

As she proceeded, the woman grew more and more nervous, her voice breaking now and then.

Wotsirb saw his opportunity, and pulled out of an inner pocket a memorandum book, two or three blank pages of which he studiously regarded. Mrs. Brown interrupted him.

"I don't care if you have got a copy of that last case!" she exclaimed. "I was cleared at once, and the district attorney ordered it squashed before it even come to trial."

"How about the one before that?" asked Wotsirb, closing the memorandum book and replacing it in his pocket.

"It was a conspiracy, that's what it was—a tryin' to drag me into a game, where a couple of gents hired rooms and then turned out they was dealin' in green goods."

"Just the same, Mrs. Brown, this Eleanor Cuyler case is the third in a comparatively short time—and it doesn't look good for you; not at all good."

"I tell you, Sergeant, that's the reason I answered your piece in the paper. I want to square myself first off before anything happens."

Wotsirb stood up, stepped over to the excited woman and looked down at her. She shrank under his steady, penetrating, silent gaze.

"There's just one thing you can do to clear yourself," he said, quietly, "and that is to help me in every possible way. If you join hands with me and put me in the way of finding Miss Cuyler, I'll promise that no harm will come to you. But if you fail— if I don't find her at once—you'll spend the next twenty years behind the bars. You know what abduction means so far as being a State's prison offence."

"Abduction!" the woman gasped. "Do you mean kidnapping—like?"

Wotsirb nodded.

"That's what I mean," he said "It's worse than burglary or highway robbery—worse than any other crime but murder in the first degree."

Mrs. Brown did not burst into hysterical sobbing. The situation was too serious for mere outward demonstration. But she was frightened thoroughly frightened.

"Now start in and tell all you know," Wotsirb commanded, resuming his seat, half-closing his eyes. And she did so.

"It was in the early part of the month," she began, "that two men and a woman come here and engaged rooms back of this one, on the ground floor. They was friends. One was a priest, the other a professor of some sort and his wife. They brought three big leather satchels stuffed full of clothes. They come about July tenth, and because one was a priest I didn't ask no rent in advance. They went out early in the morning and stayed late, the two men did. She, the professor's wife, stayed home all day long, keeping in her room, except when she'd run out at noon a few minutes for lunch, and then come right back again. Once or twice in the mornings when I'd go to their rooms and offer to tidy up, I'd find the beds all made and nothing for me to do. She said I needn't trouble to do the work, and never offered to aske me to come in, which I thought was odd, especially as every time I seen through the door I noticed them leather satchels was packed ready to move at a moment's notice."

She paused, gulped once or twice, and heaved a sigh.

"Go on," said Wotsirb.

"Well, things kep' along this way until a week ago Monday when about noon a cab came racing up to the house, and tore off again as soon as the professor and the priest got out. Walking between 'em was a young lady in brown, with white gloves and a white parasol. She seemed sick dazed-like, and they had hold of her each side. They helped her into the house, took her to the professor's room, and locked the door. I knocked once in the afternoon to see if anything was wanted, and the priest come out. He said it was all right. They young lady was a friend they had met across town feeling ill on account of the heat, and they was going to let her rest until after sunset. That was all right, of course, and seemed natural."

"Certainly," said Wotsirb, encouragingly; "and what then?"

"About half-past seven or so that night a two-horse carriage drove up, and all four hurried out to it, carrying their satchels, lifted her into it, and dashed off afore I could stop them. . . . . And they never paid a cent for them rooms!" she concluded indignantly.

"So that is what made you glad to tell of the job?"

"No, sir!" Mrs. Brown replied. "What scared me, as I looked from a third-story window, was what I saw when they got down to the curbstone, where the light shined on them. I only had one good look but I took in everything. The professor's wife was about as usual, except for a veil over her face. But the professor had shaved off his beard, and wore big goggles, while the priest had on farmer's clothes, and a white wig and long white whiskers!"

"And Miss Cuyler?"

"That was worst of all. The poor young thing was dressed in a slimpsy black dress, and her head was hidden in a big Shaker bonnet. She seemed sicker than ever, too, and they almost carried her across the sidewalk to the carriage. . . . . I was that scared I hollered to Abe Laskovitch down the shaft to follow and see where they went."

"Who is he?"

"He's a Jew, an old man, sort of peddles, I guess, but he's sharp as a razor. So he hurried out, saw the carriage turn into Ninth Avenue, and on the risk went down the Ninth Avenue elevated to Desbrosses street. He said he had an idea they was making for the ferry to get out of the city, as soon as he saw 'em turn down Ninth Avenue. He got to the ferry ahead of them, and followed close behind while the professor was buying tickets. Then he was satisfied and come back."

"Where did they buy tickets to?" Wotsirb demanded, sitting up, alert, and anxious.

"Abe didn' say—he told me he just seen 'em get the tickets. Then he went off, himself, the next morning, on a trip and ain't come back yet."

"Where is he now? This old Jew peddler, I mean?"

"Oh, he's in Philadelphia, I guess, on a regular trip. He sells a lot of stuff to small stores there and in Trenton and Newark."

"When will he be back here?"

"He generally stays away about a month."

"Mrs. Brown, you must start with me for Philadelphia at once! We'll have to get hold of that man somehow, even if we walk the streets."

"Oh, I can't do that!"

"Yes you can, and you will—or you will go around to the Tenderloin Station House with me in two minutes. . . . . Which is it," Wotsirb demanded, stepping towards her, "Philadelphia and freedom, or ten years in Sing Sing?"

Then Mrs. Brown did break down and burst into wailing; but started never theless to put brushes and articles of clothing into a small handbag.

They stopped in the station at Jersey City long enough for Wotsirb to send a telegram, and then boarded a train.

In response to the message a woman met the train at the West Philadelphia station—a tall, determined woman of about thirty-five years. She walked through one car after another while they were running into the city proper, until she found the Secret Service man.

"Hullo, Miss Smith!" he said, rising and shaking hands; "so you got my message in time?"

"Yes," she replied, "and I hustled right out to West Philadelphia to meet the train."

"Mrs. Brown," Wotsirb continued, turning to his travelling companion, and speaking in low tones, "this is Miss Smith, one of the Secret Service on detached duty. She will stay with you day and night until we find the peddler we're after."

Wotsirb thought the lodging-house keeper had told him the truth—but, on the other hand she might in reality be a confederate of the abductors, purposely throwing him off the track.

"No harm will come to you," he continued kindly, "and Miss Smith will show you every consideration, and pay all necessary expenses. But she will stay with you every minute until that peddler is found, and there is no use in trying to avoid her, for she is backed up by every policeman in the country, and by the Federal Government itself."

He paused, and Mrs. Brown whispered:

"That's all right. I'm willin to have her by me—and what I told you is God's truth, so it is."

"I'm glad to know it," he responded gravely.

He quietly explained to Miss Smith that they were looking for a Jewish peddler, an old man, who would be identified by Mrs. Brown.

"Don't let her out of your sight for a moment," he concluded. "It's Washington business and the police must not be informed."

"I understand," said the woman operator.

Once more Wotsirb turned to Mrs. Brown.

"Are you perfectly willing that she should stay by you constantly?"

"Yes," the lodging-house keeper replied. She glanced up at Miss Smith who was regarding her with steady blue eyes; unswerving, icy-cold, relentless. "I won't kick at having her along," she added, "an' I won't try to get away, neither—there wouldn't be no use even if I wanted to."

The train came to a stop in Broad Street Station, and they walked down to the pavement.

XII.

Laskovitch, habitually reticent about his business matters, had talked little to Mrs. Brown in regard to his Philadelphia customers. She knew that he sold neckwear and allied lines to small shops, but could recollect the name of only one customer, Isaac Bernstein, whose store, she thought, was located somewhere in Passayunk Avenue. This was about all that Wotsirb could find out from her, but it was sufficient. Five minutes after arriving in Broad Street Station he had located Bernstein's place of business by consulting a City Directory, and in company with the two women, had started for it.

The journey across the City of Immense Distances was tedious, particularly because slow-going horse-cars were still in use; but at last it was accomplished, and the Secret Service man found himself in front of a stuffy little shop filled with all kinds of clothing for men. Tipped comfortably back in an armchair, on the flagged sidewalk, sat the proprietor thereof—coat discarded, waistcoat unbuttoned, cuffs turned back. He was smoking a black cigar, and perspiration stood in beads on his high forehead and fat cheeks.

"Are you Mr. Bernstein?" the detective asked.

"Yes, what can I do for you?" the other replied with a marked accent, briskly rising from his chair, and smiling at a prospective customer.

(To be continued)

The Growth of CHILDREN

depends upon proper nourishment—a balanced ration. The most frequent lack is bone-forming material, causing soft, weak, diseased, crushed bones.

Scott's Emulsion

supplies every element needed. It's a balanced ration for bone as well as flesh. Every child should have a small dose daily.

ALL DRUGGISTS

Manitoba's Boundary Offer.

Winnipeg, March 21.—There was a flutter of excitement in the galleries of the Legislature yesterday afternoon when Premier Roblin laid on the table the offer of the Ottawa Government received yesterday as to terms of the Manitoba boundary extension.

The main condition is as follows:

"That inasmuch as the said province will not have the public lands, mines and minerals and royalties incident thereto, in the added territory as a source of revenue, there shall be paid half-yearly in advance by Canada to the province, in addition to any payments or allowances at present enjoyed, an annual sum based on the population of such added territory as ascertained at each census thereof as follows:

"The sum payable until the population of such added territory reaches 100,000 shall be $200,000, thereafter until such population reaches 150,000, the sum will be $250,000, and thereafter the sum shall be $300,000."

Irish Home Rule.

London, March 21.—The Pall Mall Gazette says if Britain were to interfere with Canada or Australia in the way Redmond suggests should be done in Ireland, the solidarity of the Empire would not bear the strain for a moment. On the other hand, if Ireland were placed in the position of these dominions, every one of the Imperial safeguards held out to the Protestant royalist minority would dissolve instantly.

Arent Dillon's statement that all the colonial Premiers are Irish home rulers, The Gazette says it would be better to have added that there is not one who came from a country where the dominating power is held by an intolerant and aggressive church. The colonial Premiers' home rule fervor is a highly inexpensive indulgence.

Horse Bites Ear Off.

Brockville, March 21.—Edward Kilborn, a farmer, living near Brockville, is minus the greater portion of one ear. He entered the stable to hitch a horse, when the animal suddenly displayed a vicious temper and made a lunge at his head. The ear was snapped off so quickly that Kilborn had not time to protect himself.

Upwards of one dozen deaths occurred in Brockville and vicinity within the past twenty-four hours. John Marshall, a pioneer builder, died at his home here, aged 92 years. Another victim was Elmer Davis, proprietor of the Central Hotel at Jasper, who dropped dead. He was 35 years of age.

Russian Minister Murdered.

St. Petersburg, March 21.—It is rumored here that M. Korostovaz, the Russian Minister to China, has been murdered in Pekin.

Neither the Foreign Office nor the War Office has been able to confirm the report so far.

Russia's New Premier.

St. Petersburg, March 21.—It was announced from a trustworthy source yesterday afternoon that the Emperor has signed the appointment of Minister of Finance Kokovsoff to be the new Premier.

Queer.

Reuben—Josh says thet city feller gev him a hundred an' some odd dollars fur thet horse o' his'n.

Silas—You ain't heerd the hull of it. When he took them dollars to the bank he found they was all odd.—Catholic Standard and Times.

When the Heart Grows Warm.

Oh, the time of heart's desire
Seems no longer far away,
For the sun is climbing higher
Through the lengthening winter day.
There's a breath of promise rare,
There's an odor of good cheer,
In the sun thrilled winter air,
And it means that spring is near.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

One Advantage.

Mrs. Hoyle—It must be terrible to have to live in Greenland, where the nights are six months long.

Mrs. Doyle—Oh, I don't know. When your hair gets gray in the night you have time to fix it up before morning.—New York Press.

A Lament.

Each season brings its share of woe,
And grief is never gone.
It's just as hard to shovel snow
As 'tis to mow the lawn.
—Washington Star.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. . . . 25 cents

CREDIT

Makes a Hard Road EASY

WE SELL what we advertise without extra charge for CREDIT. Credit will serve you well HERE.

ECONOMY

says buy NOW and BUY HERE.

Open An Account Now

Get high grade Ladies' and Gents Clothing ready-to-wear for the Spring. Special Ladies' Suits, most up-to-date, all reduced prices for early buyers.

Ladies' Suits, reg. 35.00 for $27.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 25.00 for 19.00
Ladies' Suits, reg. 18.00 for 12.50
All good tailored and all colours

New Line of Millinery

New line of Millinery will open for Spring. Come and pick out your Hat HERE.

All kinds of House Furnishings, Linoleums, Oilcloths, Squares, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains in best quality.

CASH OR CREDIT

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

The Best Credit Clothiers in City

183 CHARLOTTE STREET

Made in 96 different styles

Maybe you think all metal beds are more or less alike in quality, if not in design. But that is not so. You should learn to discriminate before you buy your metal bed. If you choose wisely, it will last you for many years.

Select the design you like from the 96 different styles of "Ideal" Metal Beds—and you can be sure its snowy, glossy finish will never discolor, never flake off, but stay pure white.

You can buy an "Ideal" Metal Bed for $3.00 or more, according to the style you select. There is only one "Ideal" quality—the best we know how to produce.

"The Philosophy of Sleep" is the title of a little book which you would like to read. May we send you a copy, also the name of the dealer in your locality who sells "Ideal" Metal Beds? Ask for Booklet No. 125

THE IDEAL BEDDING CO. LIMITED MONTREAL—TORONTO WINNIPEG

TRADE MARK
THE IDEAL GUARANTEED LINE
REGISTERED

Fancy Biscuits

Almond Macaroons
Cocoanut Macaroons
Nut Wafers
Cream Macaroons
Brier Biscuits
Imperial Biscuits
Lady Fingers

Our Ice Cream is made from Pure Cream

T. H. HOOPER

3 STORES 3

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of
LAMB
MUTTON
PORK

Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon
Butcher Market Arcade

Hair and Fancy Goods

Whatever is new and good in Hair Coiffures, or that is required in dressing the hair in the very latest style we have it. Perfect match guaranteed. Our line of Smallwares and Fancy Goods is very complete and offers a choice selection.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE

424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

328 George St. HAZEY HAMILTON

Ice Cream Soft Drinks

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.

Bell Phone 736 George Street

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a card by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

Ladies' Afternoon Shopping Dainty Teas A Specialty

A nice quiet room away from the crowd

Toothsome Dainties IN—

BAKING

Highest Quality Greatest Variety in the city

Easter Wedding Cakes

should be ordered at once.

Try a box of our CHOCOLATES

Coleman Bros.

426 GEORGE STREET

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Papernangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address
762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.

Agents for
Galt & Eastlake Steel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Sidings, Plasters iron corner bead Ventilators, etc.

All kinds of prepared Ready Roofing

including Brantford, Ruberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.

Maitland & Moore
General Roofing Contractors
Phone 775. : 341 Water St.

The Spring Suit

Before deciding on the Spring Suit, better investigate all round. With a chance to show you our high class goods, expert workmanship, and we are willing them to leave the decision to you. No better goods anywhere, no work quite so select, and prices very reasonable.

Latest New York Styles

Come early for prompt delivery

Good Girls Wanted

I. GOLDBERG
Ladies' Tailor

Phone 1067 : 452 George St.

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 12

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY MARCH 21 1911

"We have not hurt the manufacturer and we will not do so. We have benefitted the farmer and the consumer. When the time comes we shall sweep the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific"---Message of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, to meeting of Toronto Liberals . . . . . .

RECOGNIZED THEIR LONG SERVICES

Bros. S. A. Oke and C. Wood, of Lansdowne Lodge Were Honoured by Presentation Last Night

MADE PAST PRESIDENTS

At the regular meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, S. O. E., held last evening, Bro. S. A. Oke, W. Secretary, was presented with an S. O. E. gold signet ring, and Bro. C. Wood, W. Treasurer, with a jewel of merit, and both brethren were given the rank of Past President, in recognition of their long services in their respective offices. The presentation was made by Bro. E. W. Elcombe, D.D., on behalf of the Lodge. There was a good attendance, one candidate was initiated and three propositions presented. There will be a degree meeting held on Wednesday night, March 22, at 8 o'clock.

TO DISCUSS PEACE TERMS

Special to The Examiner.

MEXICO CITY, MARCH 21.—Finance Minister Limantour called on President Diaz this morning and at once set about trying to pacify the factions of the Government. He denied that he was ambitious to be President or Vice-President, or that he had representations from Madero's headquarters in New York. It is expected he will meet Madero's representatives this afternoon and discuss terms of peace.

A PLEA FOR RECIPROCITY

Special to The Examiner:

CLEVELAND, OHIO, MARCH 21.—Speaking last night before a big banquet Attorney-General Dickersham, of Washington, strongly endorsed President Taft's reciprocity treaty with Canada, and advised all factions to forget their individual interests and play the national game. The United States no longer knocked at Canada's door, he said, as aliens and strangers, but the interests of two countries were largely bound up one with another. His remarks were loudly applauded.

A UNITED FRONT

Independent Nationalists and Redmondites Will Resalte

Special to the Examiner.

LONDON, ENG., MARCH 21.—Negotiations are in progress between William O'Brien, the leader of the independent Nationalists, and John E. Redmond, for the reunion of the Irish forces, and the probability is that in future divisions in the Commons, the Irish party will present a united front.

FIVE FROM ONE HOUSE

Within the past five months must indicate either insanity, or satisfaction. Some may tell you the former, but, three reliable, reputable, business houses in Toronto would be offended if you were to tell them they had employed lunatics as stenographers. One of these firms engaged two, one after only 21 days; the other after 26. The fifth is still a student. Names, addresses and dates of both employer and employe upon request to Moon College, 282-286 Yonge St. Toronto, and we think you will begin to think there may be something in 30-day Shorthand.

COMPOUND UPSET

A small conflagration occurred this morning in the Transformer Department of the C. G. E., about 10 o'clock, caused by the boiling over of a fluid compound. After a stiff fight on the part of a number of employees, the fire was extinguished by throwing sand on it.

The damage was slight.

THREE SWALLOWS"

Sir John Power and Son's "Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey—Famous for over a century.

Of highest standard of purity.

Distillers to His Majesty the King.

AGREEMENT WITH THE RADIAL RAILWAY CO.

Company Has Carried Out All the Extensions It is Compelled to Do Under the Conditions---Was Required to Operate Five Miles of Line and to Extend to the River and to Jackson Park.

TEXT OF AGREEMENT ON POINT

The appended extract from the agreement re "Radial Railway" has been secured with a view to throwing some light on this much-talked-of subject. The general opinion is that the Radial Railway has not lived up to its agreement with the city, thereby giving rise to a great deal of controversy through the press and otherwise.

A careful reading of the fifth clause of the appended agreement will elicit the fact that the franchise given by the city to the Radial Railway Co. eight years ago, does not compel the Radial Railway to construct additional lines on certain streets, on request of the Council.

But, should the Company fail to construct such lines as requested to by the City within nine months, as per agreement, they forfeit the right to the franchise of such streets, the right of way of said streets shall then revert to the Corporation. This, however, does not affect their rights on the streets upon which they are already operating.

The part of the agreement in question, reads as follows:

1. The Company shall build and put in operation for passenger, express and freight business at least five miles of electric railway in continuous or connected series of lines in the Town of Peterborough and in the Township of North Monaghan, by re-opening the line formerly used by the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Company and by extending the present line to the River Otonabee, provided the consent of the Township of Monaghan can be obtained to such extension in North Monaghan, and by constructing a new line from the corner of Park and Charlotte streets, along Park street, north to McDonnel street, and from the corner of Park and McDonnel streets to Jackson Park.

2. The lines of the railway described in the first paragraph hereof shall be built, equipped and operated not later than the 1st day of July, 1904.

5. That in case the Company shall on request of the Counsil, to be made after the first day of July, 1910, neglect after notice in writing being served upon the Company, or an officer thereof, in accordance with a resolution of the Council, requiring the construction of a railway on additional streets in the Town of Peterborough, to build and have in operation such railway within nine months after giving of such notice, the franchise of such streets shall revert to the Coroporation and the Corporation shall in that case have the right to cross the tracks of the Company with its line or lines of railway without payment of any sum for the privilege of so crossing, except an equitable share of the cost of making the crossings and maintaining the same.

BROCK STREET ROLLER RINK OPENS TO-NIGHT

The lovers of roller skating who have been anxiously waiting for the opening of Brock street rink for the season will have their innings to-night as the big arena will be thrown open to the public this evening. There will undoubtedly be a big opening night crowd as there have been many anxious inquiries as to when the popular amusement place would be ready. The floor is in grand shape. The surface machine has been used to good effect and the floor has never been better. Mr. L. E. Pitcher, who has taken over the rink, needs no introduction to roller skating patrons, as he managed Brock street rink last season in splendid fashion and won the esteem and liking of the hundreds of visitors. Through the winter the work of perfecting the new skates has been carried on systematically, and patrons will find the new gliders very satisfactory in every respect.

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE IN THE CAMMORA CASE

Special to The Examiner:

VITERBO, ITALY, MARCH 21.—Tales, rivalling the most sensational recordsof the Borgias, were told this morning in the session of the trial of thirty-six Camorists, charged with murder and robbery. Two of the prisoners showed signs of collapse this morning, and a priest among the prisoners, declared he had made his will as he did not expect to come out of the trial alive. One of the jury was taken suddenly ill, causing an adjournment of the session till to-morrow. The indicatins are that several prisoners will be condemned to death.

WILL MIDLAND BALL LEAGUE BE RE-ORGANIZED?

Mr. J. G. Coughlin, of Peterborough was in town on Saturday and interviewed several of the local baseball magnates for the purpose of forming a home brew Midland League to comprise Lindsay, Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg, Oshawa and Bowmanville. The idea is a good one and a meeting for the purpose of forming a team in Lindsay will be held in the near future.—Lindsay Post.

CASE MAY BE DROPPED

Special to The Examiner.

NEW YORK, MARCH 21.—Booker T. Washington, the negro educator, is still at the Hotel Manhattan, suffering from injuries he received at the hands of Henry Ulrich, the man who accused him of accosting his wife. Ulrich appeared in Court today, but Washington could not get there to prosecute. There were conferences between the counsel for the parties and friends of Washington say the case may be dropped, as Ulrich may have had justification in thinking Dr Washington was a negro loiterer not knowing the identity and the business of the University President.

AMBASSADOR MURDERED?

Special to The Examiner

ST PETERSBURG, MARCH 21.—There was a startling rumour here this morning to the effect that the Russian Embassador at Pekin had been murdered. Premier Stolypin may revoke his resignation for the time being until the Chinese situation clears.

WOMEN HAVE BACKACHE

Many women have kidney disease and do not know it because they attribute backache to other causes. The use of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills makes short work of backache and prevents serious trouble from deranged kidneys. Ask your neighbours about this great family medicine.

INTERESTING MEETING

There will be an interesting meeting of the Peterboreugh Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society in the Collegiate Institute to-night. Mr. T. A. S. Hay will give an address on "An Easy Lesson on How the Distances to the Heavenly bodies are Measured," and Rev. Dr. Marsh of Springville, will give an explanation of Astronomical terms. This will be followed by a short talk on "Jupiter," illustrated by lantern slides. There will be no admission charge and the public is cordially invited to be present.

GEORGES TO FRONT TO-NIGHT

All Citizens Who Have Same Christian Name as His Majesty the King Are Requested to Meet

AT COUNCIL CHAMBER

Once again all the Georges in Peterborough are reminded of the meeting to-night at 8 o'clock in the Council chamber for the purpose of forming a local organization to assist in the coronation gift to His Majesty George V by the Georges of the Dominion. The scheme is being fathered by His Excellency the Governor-General and similar meetings are being called all over Canada to perfect the details of the proposition. Every citizen of Peterborough whose Christian name is George is cordially invited to be present at to-night's meeting, which is called by Mayor Morrow, and at which His Worship will preside.

A GREAT DEMAND FOR FARM LABOURERS IN THIS SECTION

Farmers Cannot Secure Enough Men---Immigrants Are Being Snapped Up as Quick as They Arrive---Government Employment Agent Howson is Besieged by Farmers Who Want Help.

THREE HUNDRED MORE MEN ARE NEEDED

"Unless we get three hundred men in here in the next few weeks there will be a shortage in the crops," remarked Mr. G. H. Howson, the Government Employment agent to an Examiner representative this morning.

The shortage there is in farm labour is not perhaps realized by local people, but the fact remains that the farmers of Peterborough section simply cannot get enough help. Every immigrant that arrives is eagerly snapped up. Last week seventeen came off one ship and they were all at work the next day, and another party of eight were accommodated with places within a few hours after their arrival. Every day Mr. Howson's office on Water street is invaded with farmers looking for men, which, generally, he is not able to supply. He takes the names of the parties who desire men and as the immigrants arrive they are sent out. The young men of Ontario seem to be flocking to the cities or out West, and a good farm assistant is at a premium.

Some farmers want experienced men; others desire boys, whom they are willing to initiate into the mysteries of Canadian farming, and there is not enough of either class to supply the demand. While the Examiner man was in Mr. Howson's office this morning he had an opportunity of seeing how the system of bringing together those wanting men and men wanting positions works out. A farmer from Douro happened in in search of assistance for his brother. The latter desired a married couple, the husband to work on the farm, the wife to assist in the housework. Mr. Howson glanced over his letters and discovered a party which he thought would fill the bill. They had a small child which, the farmer said, would be no objection and the description seemed to suit the applicant. The result of the conference will be a letter to England to send out the couple, which will catch a mail boat at eNw York to-morrow, and in less than a month they will be at work in Canada with an excellent prospect before them. "There is a job for them the year round for ten years, if they want to stay that long" the farmer told Mr. Howson.

The same condition seems to exist in other sections, according to the following from the Toronto Globe:

There are farmers in Toronto from as far distant as two hundred miles, trying to get help from among the immigrants who are daily reaching the city. One of these, who has been in the city over a week, said yesterday: "It is almost impossible to get a farm hand. I have been waiting here for days and go to the Dominion authorities whenever a fresh bunch of immigrants arrive, and yet I can't get a man, or rather two. Previous applicants get them all, yet they are pouring into Toronto every day." The Dominion officials are simply besieged with applications from farmers, as many as seventy-five calling upon them daily.

An Ontario farmer of thirty years' standing, when asked about the labour supply said: "There doesn't seem to be a farm hand in Ontario. Thirty years ago, when we had to 'dig out' and find our own men, we had less difficulty than to-day, when the Government sends us help when it can, right to our door, and without cost to us."

Mr. H. Burgoyne, who supplies large numbers of labourers to the railroad construction companies, said "I have already instructions to get seven hundred men for construction work in Ontario alone on the C.P.R. new line to Peterborough and the C.N.R. through Trenton to Ottawa. It will be a record year for unskilled labour, and Ontario will need a lot more help before the year is out." The labour bureaus were busy as bee hives yesterday, fresh settlers pouring in all day, waiting for a few hours, then being engaged, and departing for their various jobs.

STREET RAILWAY TO BUILD ANOTHER MILE OF TRACK DURING THE SUMMER

And Will Construct Two Miles Next Autumn, According to Statement of Mr. J. H. Larmonth To-day---$10,000 Car Barn is to Be Erected on King Street---Three New Cars of the Pay-as-you-enter System Have Been Ordered---C. G. E. Line to be Extended South.

"We will build one mile of track during the coming summer, and expect to build an additional two miles in the fall, to be ready for the following spring."

This was the announcement made by Mr. J. H. Larmonth of the Electric Power Company to The Examiner this afternoon when asked for a statement in regard to the extensions the Radial Railway Company expect to make in the near future.

"Where do you expect to build the mile extension," inquired the reporter.

"Likely in the south," was the reply.

"That is, you expect to extend the Canadian General line south towards Byerswille?"

"That is our intention," replied Mr. Larmonth.

"Where will the other two miles you speak of be built?"

"Somewhere in the north and west," was all that Mr. Larmonth would say.

"Have you figured on the cost of a loop to connect the northern end of your Jackson Park line with the George street line?" the reporter asked.

"It would be too expensive by far" was the reply. "We would have to build a viaduct over the Grand Trunk lines and we could not run down one hill and up the other without considerable danger, although we have power enough for the purpose. We will not be able to get much under way before the coming fall on account of the difficulty of obtaining apparatus and material."

A NEW CAR BARN.

"We are going to erect a new car barn at once, to cost $10,000 next to our present barn on King street," continued Mr. Larmonth, "and we are ordering three new cars of the pay-as-you-enter type. These will be somewhat larger than our present cars and will have seating accommodation for thirty, instead of twenty-eight people, while of course, the platforms will be larger."

"Does that mean that you are going to inaugurate the pay-as-you-enter system on all your cars?"

"No, we couldn't expect to put that system into force without making over our present cars. We will try it on the new cars, and if it proves satisfactory, as I expect it will, we will adopt it entirely. It is the best system, as it does away with the possibility of accidents as the conductor is always on hand."

TROOPS ARE CALLED OUT

Special Wire to The Examiner.

GILLESPIE, ILL., MARCH 21.—Troops have been called out to prevent a picked battle between strikers and strikebreakers at the mines near here. All the properties are now in charge of soldiers.

SMALLPOX SPREADING

Examiner Special.

OTTAWA, MARCH 21.—The smallpox epidemic is spreading in the heart of the city. Thirteen people are quarantined in one house.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

FACE WAS CUT

Mr. Taylor McBride Injured at Wm. Hamilton Co's Plant

Taylor McBride, a blacksmith employed at Wm. Hamilton's foundry, sustained a serious injury to his face yesterday afternoon, caused by a piece of hot iron striking with sufficient force to lacerate the lower lip. The injured man was immediately conveyed to Dr Morgan's and the injuries attended to. It required several stitches to close the wound. It will be a number of days before he will be able to resume work.

FREE RIDE COST THEM 20 DAYS

Men Stealing Passage on the C. P. R. Express Were Caught Here by Detective Newhall---Go to Gaol

OTHER CASES TO-DAY

Three cases were heard in the Police Court this morning before City Clerk Armstrong, in the absence of his Worship, Magistrate Dumble.

Hugh Fagen and Harry Meaden pleaded guilty to the unusual charge of riding on a passenger train without paying and without the knowledge of the officers of the train. The sentence was $10.00 or twenty days.

According to the evidence, the men in question came from Montreal, first going to Ottawa, where they procured four days' work, and thence to Havelock, where they caught the C. P. R. passenger train due here at 4.35 last evening. They climbed in behind the tender of the engine, but unfortunately for them, they were discovered in the act at a station between Havelock and this city. A message was sent to the local police department and the men were arrested by Detective Newhall, when they drew in at the station. They stated in court that this was the first time that they had been in trouble since they came to this country, and pleaded to be dealt with leniently. They were unable to pay the fine, so will spend the twenty days at Castle Nesbitt.

Fred Bradley was fined $2.00 for being drunk and disorderly, and using profane and abusive language in a public place. The fine was made forthwith and he had to send out for the $2.00.

Hear
Rev'd John MacNeill
on
"THE MAKING OF A NATION"
Murray Street
Baptist Church
TO-NIGHT
1d-67

WAS PAID FOR WORK

Special to the Examiner.

OTTAWA, MARCH 21.—Continuing the hearing of the charges against Adelard Lanctot, M.P., director Papineau of the Sorel Shipyards, said he was not aware at any time that the Government employees were working on Lanctot's house until after it was done. He received a cheque for it which he sent to the Deputy Minister.

SHOT TWO AND THEN HIMSELF

Special to The Examiner.

FALL RIVER, MASS., MARCH 21.—Eugene Sores, a well-known wrestler, shot and seriously injured Mrs. Paradis and Mrs. Mellem, two Montreal women, here, to-day, then shot himself dead.

MENCUTIO'S HANDICAP

Special to The Examiner:

LINCOLN, ENG., MARCH 21.—In the running of the first English Classic for the season, the Lincolnshire handicap, Charles Hibbler's Mencutio won, at eight to one, shot. The favourite, Rylot, was in the ruck.

Another lot of Swiss Embroidery on Sale Wednesday.
S. H. KNOX & CO.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending Jan. 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited. Office, 49 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 1911

ASSESSMENTS COMPARED.

Guelph is boasting of an increased assessment of $568,709, which brings its total assessment up to $6,672,276. While we are pleased with the prosperity of our sister city, as thus expressed, it is not unnatural that we should contrast our own assessment, to show our relative wealth, so far as assessment is a reliable indication, with that of the Royal City. The total assessment of Peterborough last year was $9,707,955. Guelph claims that the assessment is fair and not padded. Our own assessment is, perhaps, not very much lower than it should be.

THE TAIL WAGS THE DOG.

Mr R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition in Parliament, has an easy billet in regard to the reciprocity agreement he has his work done for him; he is at no trouble to formulate a policy—the policy of obstruction and side-tracking he has adopted as the policy of his party. So far his assistance has come from the outside. The first "stunts" in the way of obstruction were originated by the "Nationalist" party through Mr. Monk and welcomed and adopted by Mr. Borden and his followers. Then the free lance, the party of one, Mr Billy McLean, the political Ishmaelite, formally propounded the policy of obstruction. Mr. Borden taking his cue from comparatively unimportant elements, suggests the metaphor of the tail wagging the dog.

THE POLICY OF COWARDICE.

The policy of the Conservative Opposition in Parliament in relation to the reciprocity agreement is a policy of cowardice. They do not want to deal with the question on its merits, but are practising every possible form of obstruction to prevent full discussion and bring the matter to a vote. They are plainly afraid to declare themselves. Conservative members see — and every day more clearly—that the country at large is in favour of the agreement. They see that the more it is considered the more it commends itself to public favour. They see that the campaign of scare and false issues is losing its force. In the face of public opinion, they fear to pronounce upon the subject, as they would be compelled to do if the resolution to adopt the agreement were brought to a vote. They are trying to force a dissolution and an appeal to the people, before the people are informed enough to pronounce an intelligent verdict. They ignore the fact that only be a trial can the merits or disadvantages of the agreement be decided. A general election will soon be due—in a year or two. If the agreement, which is terminable at will, were adopted and given a trial, the people could see, by the time a general election comes, whether or not the agreement was in the public interest. They would then be able to pronounce an intelligent verdict, if the agreement worked well they would endorse it, if not it would go. Plainly, as shown by their tactics, the opposition have not the courage of their convictions. They are plainly afraid to face a vote in Parliament. If the agreement is the evil thing they pretend to think it is, let them declare so in the only legitimate way an expression of opinion can be recorded by a representative, by his vote. Let them place themselves on record. The Opposition should drive the courage of the government. The government assumes the responsibility of adopting the agreement, and the Opposition should assume the responsibility of voting against it, like men, instead of shirking and evading responsibility, and seeking to shift it upon the people, who have chosen them as representatives and who expect them to have the courage to do their duty and not take refuge in a policy of cowardice, or obstruction. Obstructionists cannot pose as nation-builders. When Sir John Macdonald led the Conservative party he wouldn't have stooped to the picayune politics of obstruction. Statesmen do not adopt tactics worthy of the ward politician.

CONTRADICTORY REASONING.

The following from the Brantford Expositor serves to show the jug-handled, contradictory character of the reasoning of tohse who from partizan or other motives, are opposing reciprocity:

Yesterday The Expositor contained an announcement that a branch of a big Chicago plant was about to be located at Woodstock. Now we read in The Peterborough Review (Con.) the following:

Peterborough will soon have the opportunity of voting on the acceptance of another big industry. This is an automobile tire, buggy tire and rubber goods factory, and it is said that the concern will, when going, employ from 100 to 200 hands.

Commissioner Duggan has been in touch with the representatives of the factory for some time, and a meeting of the City Council will be held to-night to consider a by-law which will be submitted to the ratepayers covering the agreement. The establishment proposed is an important branch of a well-known American firm, and the prospects for it doing a highly successful business are said, by those who know, to be exceedingly bright."

And yet the calliopers and calamity howlers have been telling us that if reciprocity is adopted there will be an end to American manufacturing establishments locating branches in Canada!

Sir James Whitney is another foghorn patriot whose logic wobbles. In the Legislature, he admitted that Sir John Macdonald favoured reciprocity, but then Canada was weak and their was no danger of annexation. "But," Sir James said, with more force than reverence, "Thank God the Dominion has merged form that stage of pitiable childhood." Now Canada is strong and robust and there is danger of reciprocity bringing annexation. Sir James grandiloquently added that it would "take a great deal more than a few cents in the price of beef and lambs to cause Canada to desert the Empire." Yet when Sir James was in England, he took it upon himself to teach British statesmen their duty, to show them "where they were at," declaring in effect that if something were not done to give Canada trade favours — "a few cents more in the price of beef or lambs—something serious would happen"—Canada would cut loose. Sir James as reported in the London Standard of Aug. 27, is worth quoting as throwing further light on the contradictory reasoning he and other opponents of reciprocity assume. Sir James said to the Standard:

"We want something done; something has got to be done, or the Empire will be but a recollection. Conditions surrounding the British Empire to-day are very different from those which existed thirty years ago. If nothing is done during the next ten years, something serious will happen. The Dominion is practically independent. The U. S. Government recently did what they never did before, they came to Ottawa and requested reciprocity. We make our own treaties, so you can ask what will happen?

"The British people have set up a golden calf to worship. They worship it, forbidding anybody to discuss its omnipotence or its right to be worshipped. If Britain goes on with this policy the ties which bind the Dominion to her will be loosened. We want a remedy. If protection is the remedy, then let us have it.

"We do not care what we have, so long as we are fairly treated. Give us this and the bonds that are so strong now will become stronger than ever."

In other words, "give Canada a few cents more in the price of beef and lambs" and the bonds that are now so strong will become stronger. Give us trade advantages, tax the British workman's bread so that Canada can make more money, and we shall stay with the Empire if you don't do that, "something will happen."

The opponents of reciprocity are making the reciprocity agreement a straight party question, and are exciting partizan rancour by every means, without reference to the merits of the agreement, or its promise of benefitting the people of Canada as a whole.

Electric Restorer for Men

Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension; restores vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will make you a new man. Price $1 a box, or two for $5. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

MEET ON THURSDAY

There will be a tuberculosis meeting held in the City Council chambers on Thursday evening, March 23. The public are invited to attend. The committee that were appointed at the last meeting have secured a number of well-known men to act as officers, and the names of these officers will be submitted for the public at the meeting to be ratified by them. It is hoped that a large crowd will attend, and that some plan will be worked out and put into immediate action

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c. at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

RECIPROCITY IS ALMOST TOO GOOD TO BE POSSIBLE

Conservative Who Grows Fruit on Large Scale is Only Fearful U. S. Senate Won't Ratify Agreement—Value of Lands Up 25 Per Cent. Already.

(Toronto Star.)

Niagara, March 18.—Whatever may be the tremors of fruit growers in the less exposed counties of the Niagara frontier, the people of the actual frontier itself have no fear of American invasion, annexation, or anything of the kind. Neither do they dread reciprocity. They have been paying duty on the bridge too long for that. What they feel nervous about is the possibility of the recoprocity treaty failing to pass in the United States.

Such a case is that of Mr. Thomas Edwards, who grows early vegetables and plants under glass and cultivates a truck garden of several acres on Lundy's Lane, near the city limits at the booming south end district of the town.

"Am I in favour of recoprocity? Will it come? That's all I'm worrying about. I pay thousands of dollars a year to Uncle Sam. It costs me $7 or $8 a day to get my stuff through. We pay one cent a quart on raspberries, and once they begin to come in strong I take a team load of 20 crates across afternoon and morning, 24 quart boxes to the crate. I've paid $27 a day on strawberries. Oh, we can trade without annexation all right."

A Conservative, Too.

Referring to the agitation in the Winona and Grimsby districts, Mr. Edwards said he couldn't understand it. "As far as politics go, I am a Conservative, myself," said he, "but this is a matter of dollars and cents. The States cannot supply their own market with enough berries. Most of their peaches ocer there are clingstones or white flesh varieties. When the American strawberries are selling for 6c. and 7c. a quart, I can bring a load of my berries into the market and sell them at 15c. right alongside theirs."

From what these Niagara Falls fruit growers with intimate business associations across the river say, it would appear that the peach-growing district of New York State is limited just as it is in the Province of Ontario. Their best peaches come from the section between the Niagara River and Charlotte along what is called the "Fore Shore," being the low sandy level belt between the high land corresponding to the Hamilton-Grimsby mountain and the water of Lake Ontario. The New York fore shore supplies the demand for good peaches in New York City and other populous centres of the State. They have no surplus of this class of fruit to ship into Canada with or without the duty. Occasionally their cheap and interior peaches may experience a specially heavy crop and our canners will sometimes be able to handle them. But few Niagara valley peach men on the Canadian side have any fear for their market on this account

Higher Prices There.

"At the present time we have two cities of first importance—Montreal and Toronto—to take our Crawfords," said Mr. Thomas Stokes, who owns 35 acres of fruit land in Portage road, right on the city line, and rents the lot adjoining.

Mr. Stokes and his father before him have been marketing their fruit across the line for 20 years.

"I never saw peaches as cheap over there as here," declared he. "It is absurd to say so. Peaches need a big body of water, like here on the Great Lakes. Georgia peaches are inferior. The interior of New York state cannot raise them. Michigan is cold. Their peaches were all frozen out four years ago. Their young orchards are just coming in again now. We shipped peaches into Port Huron, Michigan, last year. There are 20 large growers in Stamford and Pelham townships who ship peaches to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Buffalo right along, and pay the duty. Prices average 25 per cent more, barring the duty.

"Their canneries are glad to get our raspberries now. Curtis Brothers of Rochester paid me 1 and 2 cents a quart more after paying duty. Canners here want to keep prices down. The combine regulates prices this side of the river. Home-grown or northern fruit and produce always brings from 50 to 100 per cent. more over there."

Mr Stokes instanced strawberries. Southern berries, 6c. to 9c. a quart. Canadian berries, 13c. to 15c. a quart, as soon as ready.

This contrast does not pertain merely to the immediate border.

"The Canadian trains running to Buffalo always used to be late in the fruit season the time the duty was taken off our fruit before," said Mr. Stokes. "They lost so much time picking up fruit."

Referring to the Ottawa deputation, Mr Stokes declared the Niagara fruit-growers were stampeded by the politicians.

"It was just like a farmers' excursion," said he. "Cheap fares—a big 'beat up'—and all went."

Land Values Are Up.

As to Stamford land values, Mr. Stokes said reciprocity had raised them 25 per cent. already. He instanced the Hunt farm, which was bought recently and turned over at a $500 advance three days later.

Truck Gardeners O. K.

Several Niagara Falls truck gardeners and fruit growers are known to buy produce from other growers to add to their own, and to dispose of such purchased stock in the market at the American sales and in Buffalo at a profit after paying the duty. Grapes have been bought in this way and sold at $35 and $40 a ton towards the end of the season, when the selling price in Ontario was only $20 per ton at the winery. When the duty is considered—25c. a cubic foot, which figures out at about $25 a ton or $5 more than the winery price for the grapes—this border trade through the tariff wall should reassure grape growers who fear the effects of removing the duty.

Mr. George Rudd has ten acres and greenhouses on Barker street, just west of the south end. "I have thirteen children," said he laughing, 'and I have been in business for twenty-three years. I've paid $8,000 duty to the Americans."

The prices of peaches one year with another were better across the river than here. Last year they had the biggest crop in New York's history, our prices were lower. It wasn't fair to take last year's figures as an average. Our Crawfords and St. Johns gave the grower 90c. to $1.15 a basket over there. Here the average was no more than 25c. a basket. At the canning factories the price was 3c. a pound or about 48c. to 50c. a basket.

"Half a dozen of us growers take as much across the river as the whole local market handles on this side," declared he. "We can get rid of any quantity at all over there, no matter how big. Blue plums are a drug here, we can't sell them. There's a good market over there."

Thousands of crates of raspberries from Font Hill and districts are sold in Buffalo, Mr. Rudd says, at 12c. and 14c. a box, while Toronto offered only 7c. In reference to the competition of Canadians in the protected market across the river, Mr. Rudd told how 30 farmers at Niagara Falls, N.Y., took up a petition and sent it to Washington asking for the exclusion of the Canadian truck men.

Advantages of Reciprocity.

Speaking about the advantage of a wider market in times of glut, Mr. Rudd told a story of his early days when he used to peddle his own fruit.

"I had sold all but one crate of blackberries, and the day was getting late and the berries were beginning to get soft. Finally I told a lady that I had just the one crate left and I would sell it cheap.

"'How much?' she asked.

"'Four cents a box.'

"'I'll give you three,' she said.

"'No, you won't,' said and I took the crate off the gon and dumped the berries into the ditch.

"'There,' I said, "if you want them pick them.'"

Another story was of a prominent man, a reeve in the Niagara district who, being a Conservative, opposes reciprocity.

"He made his money hauling sand and gravel across to the American side. There was no duty on gravel. He pulled out his peach trees and turned his farm into a gravel pit."

Another case was that of a miners' water bottler, who opposes reciprocity in fruit while shipping 90 per cent of his own product, on which there is no duty, across the border.

Eager For It.

Mr. J. B. McGillinger, who owns 30 acres of peaches near the town, expressed himself strongly for reciprocity.

"I'm afraid of my life it won't pass," said he. "With reciprocity our peaches will grow just as big. We can sell our good stock over there now against the duty. The inferior peaches will be the only calss of fruit to suffer competition from the American peaches.

"I've sent peaches all the way to North Carolina. They have nothing like our peaches over there. The further north peaches can be grown the better the quality. Our sandy belt here on the far shore of a big lake is unique. Maryland was largely worked out by slave labour, long ago. They can grow Maryland peaches on land that hasn't been exhausted. But such districts as ours are scarce. Our growers lead in scientific methods.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the Postmaster General, will be received at Ottawa until Noon, on Friday, the 21st, April, 1911, for the conveyance of His Majesty's Mails, on a proposed Contract for four years as required between PETERBOROUGH POST OFFICE and RAILWAY STATIONS from the Postmaster General's pleasure.

Printed notices containing further information as to conditions of proposed Contract may be seen and blank forms of Tender may be obtained at the Post Office of Peterborough.

G. C. ANDERSON,
Superintendent.

Post Office Department, Mail Service Branch, Ottawa, 2nd March, 1911.
3dT-55-4192.

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

Electric Light, Heat & Power, Electric Bell & Annunciator.

Installations at Reasonable Rates

Let us quote on your motor installed ready to operate. Expert advice free

J. A. ASH

143 George Street South
MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
House Phone No. 799
1 yr. 54 4162

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,
On the Premises

d t

The Dennistoun Property

We have received exclusive sale of the R. M. Dennistoun property, with frontage on George and Water streets. This is an opportunity for intending builders to secure good lots in fine locations at very Moderate Prices. Also double house on Aylmer street bringing in a rental of about $40.00 per month. This will go cheap. Four Lots on the west side of the city at quick sale prices.

As Mr. Dennistoun is now permanently located in Winnipeg all of the above property will be sold at prices that should insure quick sale.

CALL AT OUR OFFICE, we will be glad to give all information regarding the above property.

Easy Terms can be Arranged on Any of the Above Property

A. BROWN & CO.

PHONE 126 406 GEORGE ST.

Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

(VIPOND)

A producing mine. We still advise its purchase at present market price. Second bar of gold shipped this week. Write, wire or phone for full particulars. :: ::

GORMALY TILT & CO.

MEMBERS STANDARD STOCK EXCHANGE
Long Distance Phone, Main 7505 32-34 Adelaide St. East, TORONTO

AGENTS WANTED

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR THE BEST PREMIUM proposition in Canada, one that appeals to everyone apply to Sellery Advertising Dept., 228 Albert St., Ottawa. d6mo20-3694

WORK WANTED

WANTED—BY RESPECTABLE WOMAN, work by the day. Apply 422 1-2 George Street. 3d-66-4364

WANTED—WASHING, ROUGH DRY, PREferred or work wanted evenings, leave address at Examiner Office. 3d-65-4351

HELP WANTED—MALE

BUS DRIVER WANTED—APPLY NATIONAL HOTEL. 3d-66-4360

WANTED—YOUNG MAN TO HANDLE high-grade tailoring agency in this locality. State experience. Good proposition to live man. Apply to Wm. McLeod, 665 Spadina Ave., Toronto. 2d-8T66-4356

SITUATIONS VACANT

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1739, Lockport N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Heacock, B 1638, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 139

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED - GOOD GIRL. Small family. Apply 655 Water St.

MAID WANTED, APPLY ISOLATION HOSpital. 3d-67-4361

WANTED—GIRL OR WOMAN FOR GENeral housework. Apply Examiner Office 3d-66-4355

WANTED—A GIRL OR MIDDLE AGED woman to assist with house work. Apply 92 Dufferin. 3d-66-4372

SKIRT AND WAIST MAKERS, ALSO AN apprentice, wanted at once. Apply Miss L. O'Brien, 435½ George street. 3d-67-4393

WANTED — EXPERIENCED SALESLADY for Ready-to-wear department. Situation permanent. Cressman's. 3d-66-436

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS carefully selected. Parties arriving March 13th, 20th, and April 2nd. Apply now. The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal, or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. 1md-56-4191

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER ST. Apply Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. dtf-2

FURNISHED ROOM TO RENT WITH Board, or without. Apply 380 Stewar Street. 2d-67-4370

TO RENT, MODERN HOUSE, 129 RUBIDGE Street. Also Market Garden. Apply 16 Hunter Street or Phone 1281 dtf-56-419

TO RENT House No 344 Rubidge St. Ho Water heating and all modern improvements. Possession 15th March. Appl 437 George Street. d-tf-4

TO RENT—COTTAGE No. 350 HUNTER ST West. Desirably situated and with modern improvements. Apply 437 George St d-6

TO RENT—SMALL HOUSE FITTED WITH electric light. The house is centrally located and has a good garden for vegetables. For particulars apply 183 Antrim Street. d-tf-57-422

TO LET—COMFORTABLE COTTAGE TO rent, 263 Concession Street. Will be let to suitable tenant at $6 per month. Possession April 1st. Apply to 653 Concession Street. 3d-66-436

TO RENT LARGE STOREHOUSE, HUNter St., on G. T. R. Spur. Suitable for wholesale warehouse, or fruit dealer. Will rent building or section. Apply C. H. Rogers, Peterborough Canoe Co. 12d-67-420

TO RENT—Store and Upper Floor in Grand Opera House Block. Would make first-class Music Store or any other suitable business. Also a good Butcher Shop with large refrigrator. Cor. McDonald & Aylmer Sts. Immediate possession. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Awning & Tent Manufacturers, George Street, Peterborough. d-tf-46-4063

WANTED

WANTED—AT ONCE TO RENT SMALL furnished house for summer. Apply Examiner Office, Box 4368. 3d-66-4369

WANTED—BY YOUNG LADY, FURNISHed room without board. Apply Box 4337, Examiner. 3d-65-4337

LOST

LOST ON TUESDAY BETWEEN SHERbrooke street and R. Hall's store a blue belt with cut steel buckle. Finder leave at Examiner. 1d-67-4394

FOUND

FOUND—IN EAST CITY A GOLD RING. Owner may have same on paying for this advertisement at Examiner Office. 2d-66-4358

FOUND—IF THE YOUNG LADY WHO ADvertised for the long white kid glove in the Examiner a few weeks ago will call in for it she may attain same.

FOUND—A GENTLEMAN'S STICK PIN Owner may have same by applying at the Examiner office and proving property and paying for this advertisement 3d-67-4367

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—30 BARRED ROCKS. APPLY 383 Aylmer street. 3d-67-4365

FOR SALE—THREE PIECES OF PARLOR suite, apply 493 Aylmer Street. 3d-65-4357

FOR SALE—HOUSE, 309 PEARL AVE., also vacant lot adjoining. dtf-18-3970

FOR SALE—A LIGHT DEMOCRAT, NEARly new. Apply Model Dairy. 6d-66-4374

FOR SALE—AT ONCE, BRICK HOUSE, conveniences, apply 59 Aylmer Street. 12d-60-4256

FOR SALE—BABY'S LARGE SIZE GOcart. Apply 485 Sherbrooke Street. 3d-67-4363

FOR SALE—OAK HALL-RACK, ROCKER, Ingrain rug, 9x9, tailor machine nearly new. Cheap. 504 Albert Street. 3d-67-4368

FOR SALE — A NORTHEY STEAM PUMP—Size of connections ½ inch. Apply to G. A. Gillespie, Simcoe street. d11tw-tf

ONE AYRSHIRE COW, FIVE YEARS OLD Coming in April 15. Thos. McGarrity, 660 Concession Street, East City. 2d-67-4378

FOR SALE—TWO PORTABLE POULTRY houses and eleven prize winning white leghorns. Apply to 213 London St. 3d-66-4369

FOR SALE—FOUR LARGE WELL-BRED Black Minorca cockrels, also a few settings of eggs after April 1st. R. Tivey, 157 Stanley Avenue 3d-67-4304

FOR SALE—SOLID BRICK TEN ROOMED house, hot water heating, modern conveniences, exceptional residential location, cor. Weller & Walton. Apply 522 Weller St. 3d-tst-65-4315

FOR SALE — THE RESIDENCE OF THE late Dr. Grey, No. 205 Sherbrooke street All improvements. Hot water heating, good barn. Apply W. C. Stabler, 180 Water street. 4tw

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE — A CASH Register, in good condition, registering from 6 cents to $3.99; or will exchange for one registering from 1 cent up. Can be seen at the Examiner Office. d6m

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 134 Rubidge street 4d-119-tw

FOR SALE C CLARIONET & CASE, $15. violin and case, worth $25 will sell for $10.00; 4 by 5 plate camera, complete with Tripod and Carrying case (leather) $10. set of World's Greatest Literature, 61 volumes, new, cost $30, will sell for $20, address Box 4330, Examiner 3dtwod-66-4358

SASKATCHEWAN LAND FOR SALE—West half sec. 28, township 27, range 14. Choice land one mile from good school, $18 per acre. Terms. Also sec. 16, township 46, range 1, 640 acres $15.00 easy terms. Apply to D. W. Park, No. 8 Wilton Crescent, Toronto. 3d-66-4365

Chamberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.

Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting, Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

Further Particulars From

J. H. VANCE

773 Aylmer St. Phone 129

NOTICE TO

Builders and Workmen

With a view to Meeting the Demands for Houses Suitable for the Average Mechanic

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

Submit the following proposition to the Builders and Working Men of Peterboro. We will supply a Builder with a choice lot within 12 minutes walk of the C.G.E., the Shovel Works or the Cordage Factory at a maximum price of $150, lot to be paid for when a house constructed thereon has been sold. No interest or taxes for a period of one year provided house is not sold or rented within that time.

Any boy, girl, man or woman, can secure a choice lot in this section for $150 on terms of $10 cash and $5 per month.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter St. Phone 376

LAMEY & COSTELLO

Real Estate Brokers

631 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.

Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

WORKING PEOPLE

SHOULD OWN THEIR HOMES

With Garden and Fruit, Large or Small

It gives pleasant and profitable employment during spare time and saves many dollars for other necessities.

The rent, sober, honest and industrious people are paying will buy a home for you on my easy terms, as it has done for others now comfortably settled in homes of their own, of which they are justlyably proud and some can already show their deeds including a lone widow, while many more pretentious can only show rent receipts. Come in and let me explain my easy plan.

Large and small garden and fruit lots for sale or to rent.

T. HURLEY

282 Hunter St., Peterboro

2in.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited

Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

HOUSE For Sale

An up-to-date BRICK HOUSE with all conveniences, water, gas, electric light & furnace, situated in the west end of the city. Lot, fifty foot frontage with lane at rear. A very fine property. Particulars at Examiner Office :: ::

1md57-4220

DO YOU NEED A TYPEWRITER?

We are in a position to furnish you with Any Standard make of typewriter.

Machines bought, sold or exchanged.

Old machines taken on account.

Typewriters rented.

Peterborough Typewriter and Supply Co'y

159 SIMCOE PHONE 655

Our Styles are Correct

If You Are Exclusive

Notice

Our Spring Suits

WE have the finest display of New York Suits in the city---bought for your selection. We guarantee every suit to be exclusive and that you can't match it in the city. Every suit a combination of elegance and good taste. Our suits are up-to-date in style.

The Cloths are New
The Shapes are New
The Colourings are New

$10.00-$15.00-$20.00-$25.00 etc.

Tailored Waists

The tailored waist is the correct waist for this season—we have them in all th new styles—$1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.25, $2.50, 3.50.

ELLIOT'S

THE DIVIDING LINE

Little Willie: "Say, pa, what is vulgar ostentation?"

Pa: "Vulgar ostentation, my son, is the display made by people who have more money to make it with than we have."

ROADSIDE REPARTEE

Weary Watkins—"My folks always told me I was cut out for a gentleman."

Hungry Higgs—"P'raps you was, mate; but if you was you belong to the misfit department."

SURE

"What weather we're having! I can't remember such a summer."

"Oh, I can—last winter."

"Fashion-Craft"

Are you satisfied with the best clothes that can be produced?

Wear Fashion-Craft

Are you wanting the most up to date styles?

Wear Fashion-Craft

Are you looking for good materials that are properly made?

Wear Fashion-Craft

Are you considering price and value.

Wear Fashion-Craft

Price Range
$15.00 to $30.00

Peterborough Agency
A. M. Laidlaw, Prop.

THE MAN WITH A TOUPEE

Might Have Had a Good Head of Hair

The man who wears a toupee does not like it, but has the courage of his convictions.

Nature never intended that the top of the head should be left entirely without protection. A bald head is very susceptible to contraction of colds and neuralgia. Wearing an artificial top piece counteracts this tendency, and, aside from the improvement in the personal appearance, is amply justified.

How much better it would have been had the man, now chronically bald and wearing a toupee, but realized earlier in life the approaching danger and devoted a little regular attention to his hair, which would have saved it.

There is a remedy which will absolutely prevent baldness. Loss of hair in nine cases out of ten is unnecessary, being due to dandruff and the germ that causes it. This germ must be destroyed and the accumulations of dandruff checked. Then the hair will not fall out, but instead will grow naturally and luxuriantly.

Newbro's Herpicide is the remedy. A regular aplications of which will do this. It has long been known as the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ and is absolutely dependable.

So reliable is this preparation that all druggists now sell the one dollar size bottles of Herpicide with a binding guarantee to refund money if unsatisfactory.

Herpicide applications may always be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlours.

Anyone desiring to try Newbro's Herpicide before purchasing a large bottle will receive a nice sample and booklet by sending 10c. in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

McDermid and Jury, special agents.

"WOOD" YOU BELIEVE IT?

A cycling masher was riding downhill the other day when his hat blew off. A passing countryman picked it up and took it to him as he circled round, saving him the trouble of getting off.

"I really must get some stwing to keep it on," remarked the masher as he wheeled off without a word of thanks. The yokel's reply was short but expressive. It was simply, "Get a nail."

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

THE talk ran on peddlers and beggars.

Molly, the little stenographer lady, was responsible. She had just presented me with a vivid yellow pencil which she had "purchased" from that poor old blind man on the corner who sells shoe laces and pencils.

The cynic had bromidically assured her "He probably had a good deal more money than you have, my child. Lots of those old hypocrites are rich."

The author man had said that it was one of the fulfilled ambitions of his youth always to be able to give to every beggar and buy of every peddler, and the author man's wife had said tartly that she knew that all too well, and wished she had the money he wasted that way. For her part she never gave a penny without investigating, and thought organized charity much safer.

Then someone remarked that peddlers and beggars usually made pretty long stops at the house of the lady who-always-knows-somehow, and asked what her policy was.

And this was the contribution of the lady-who-always-knows-somehow:

"Well, you see, I don't suppose that it is right to give money and sometimes I don't. That depends. But the reason they usually stop so long at my house is because, whether I buy or give or do neither, I always ask them in for a cup of tea.

"Of course, I don't suppose that it is right to give away much money without investigating, but I know a cup of tea won't pauperize anyone. If a person has been walking all day it ought to be pretty good to sit down for a few minutes and sip a good cup of tea."

The author man's wife had listened with lifted eyebrows thus far. She could contain herself no longer.

"But, my dear," she burst out, "how does your cook like having all these strange people brought into the kitchen? I'm sure mine would never stand it in the world."

If anyone could ruffle the lady-who-always-knows-somehow, it would be the author man's wife.

Observe, then, her self-control.

"But you see I don't take them into my kitchen," she explained mildly placidly. "I serve their tea in my living-room just as I would to any guest. Sometimes when they seem very hungry or come near mealtime, I take them into my dining-room and give them something nice. In the summer I make cold tea or lemonade and of course I always have something in the way of crackers or cake.

"I usually eat with them because that puts them more at ease and you know, we have the nicest talks. They tell me so many interesting and funny and pathetic things. Did you see that old man with the silver polish who was around this morning? Well, he and I had a very nice chat on the kind of dogs that are most apt to bite and the proper way to treat a dog when he is thinking of nipping you. And there is one old book agent who discovered actually used to be a cowage professor. We have most delightful talks on Emerson and Browning and Carlyle every time he comes.

"And then I seldom buy or give until after the cup of tea and by that time I feel I know what is right to do.

"So you see I find my plan works well in several ways," concluded the lady-who-always-knows-somehow.

"It wouldn't be such a bad way to study character," grudgingly admitted the cynic.

"I always said you were a darling," hugged Molly.

"I expect to pass through this life but once. If, therefore, there is any kindness I can show or any good I can do any fellow-being, let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again!" quoted the author man softly.

"But don't you all really think that organized charity is safer?" propounded the author man's wife.

Nobody even bothered to answer.

Ruth Cameron

STRANGE, WEIRD MUSIC

Shells, Shanks and Shinbones of Animals Once Gave Harmony

The Guildford gentleman's discovery that a tolerable tune can be played on a bicycle pump is not so wonderful after all. Did not Richard Strauss include a schoolmaster's cane in the orchestra for the performance of "Elektra," and a new instrument called the heckelphone, which should be useful in electioneering? Buffalo horns, of course, have been often utilised for more or less musical purposes; and in the olden days fishes' shells and the shanks and shin-bones of animals were made to give forth tunes of sorts. During the Maori War we discovered a native chief with a very tolerable flute fashioned out of the bone of a defunct enemy; but if anyone has doubts as to the music that can be got out of bones, let him pay a visit to any English seaside resort in the coming summer. During one of the Servian campaigns some twenty years ago, the troops marched to battle making hideous "music" out of old saucepans and kettles; and when John Ziska, the great Hussite leader, died, his skin was tanned and made into a drum-cover in the hope that the resultant "music" would serve as a magical inspiration to the troops. Only a few years ago the Austrian bands each carried five or six "serpents" in the front rank. These instruments were in the form of a snake, the bell being shaped to represent its mouth, and painted blood-red inside, with huge white teeth and a wagging tongue, which moved up and down at every step.

SOME $5,000 FEES

Mr. Astor, Millionaire, Gave $6,000 For an Interview

The largest sum that has ever been given for an interview was that paid by Mr. Astor, the millionaire newspaper proprietor, to a journalist who succeeded in interviewing the Khedive of Egypt. The amount was $5,000.

Just before the Treaty of Peace between Russia and Japan was signed, a New York journal paid a prominent American $1,500 for half an hour's conversation respecting the doings of the President at Portsmouth, N.Y. The professional interviewer received $250 for his "copy."

The editor of a Berlin paper drew a cheque for $5,000 in favor of a journalist who had secured for his newspaper a lengthy interview with Prince Bismarck when the estrangement between him and the German Emperor took place.

A New York journal offered their London representative $5,000 if he could succeed in interviewing Mr. Bayard concerning the Venezuelan bother with the United States. Mr. Bayard, however, absolutely refused to be "pumped," and in consequence the money was not earned.

Lieutenant Hobson, the American naval hero, received, it is said, $5,000 for verbally describing to a journalist his gallant exploit on the Merrimac.

RHEUMATINE for RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, GOUT, NEURAL, SPINAL CORD $1.00 Per Box Prepaid

SOLD HIS HEAD

Why the Body of a Tyrolese Peasant Was Buried Headless

The headless body of Johann Reeser, a Tyrolese peasant, was buried in the cemetery of Zillerthal recently. The reason for the mutilation was that the man had sold his head, which was of abnormally large size, to a pathological institute during his lifetime, for the sum of $110, and a surgeon was sent to remove the head before burial.

GOOD ADVICE

Doctors often have to be very diplomatic how they give their advice, or they may easily give offence, and lose a good patient.

A gentleman once visited a medical man, and asked for a remedy for his nose, which was what is commonly known as a strawberry.

"Doctor, what shall I take to remove the redness of my nose?" he said.

The doctor knew the trouble very well.

"Take nothing especially between meals," he answered.

PECULIAR CARROT

An Aberdeen taxi-driver has succeeded in growing a carrot which bears so complete a resemblance to the human foot that it has a corn on the big toe.

A POINTED QUERY

Pat and Mike enlisted in the British Army. After their first drill the captain, thinking the circumstances opportune for a little lecture on patriotism, demanded eloquently:

"Soldiers, why should a man die for his king and country?"

This struck Pat as a proper question. Turning to Mike, he said: "Faith, Moike, the captain is roight! Whoi?"

HEAVY WORK IN A WESTERN QUARRY

Brought on Kidney Trouble That Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured

There is a lesson for Workmen in the story told by John McMullen, of Robinson's Camp, Alberta.

Robinson's Camp, The Gap, Alta., March 20.—(Special.)—Men who work hard and make heavy lifts have learned that the back is the first part of the body to call for help, and John McMullen, who works in the quarry here has proved to his own satisfaction and that of his fellow workmen that it is really the Kidneys that require relief. "Last summer," says Mr. Mullen, "I had some heavy work in the quarry here, which was hard on my back."

"My head also ached, and I got so that I was always tired and nervous, and was often dizzy. I sent for two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they fixed me up."

The Kidneys are the first organs to feel heavy wear and tear on the body. If you cure them when they first call for help all will be well. If you neglect them Rheumatism, Bright's Disease, Gravel or Diabetes will be the result. Dodd's Kidney Pills always give the help they need. They always cure.

THE REASON

Little Boy—"Well, that's the queerest thing I ever saw. Our schoolteacher stood at the corner of the street a-laughin', just like other people."

Father—"Yes; I paid his bill this morning."

INSPIRED BY A DREAM

Basil Hodder tells an interesting story of how he came to write the words of "Motherland." "I am a New Zealander," he says, "and though, up to the age of twenty-four, I had never been home, I always had a great longing for the Old Country. One wild night, during a fishing excursion round the coast, three of us camped on a little rat-infested island named L'Astrolabe. We took it in turns round the camp-fire to keep watch and ward against the rats, which were daring to a degree. It was my turn, and I had potted some two dozen of them with a catapult when sleep overcame me. I awoke sdudenly, with a large rat in my coat pocket, busy over some bread and cheese I had there. I gave him a fatal squeeze and got rid of him. Then I raked the fire together and recalled a strange dream that had come to me. A voice had called from far away over the sea: 'Come home! Come home! Home! Home!' It affected me so strangely that I set to work and scribbled in my pocket-book the words of 'Motherland.'"

LONDON IS GROWING

In 1800 London had a little more than 1,000,000 people. In 1850 this had risen to 3,000,000. Fifty years later it was crowding 7,000,000. Now it is close to 8,000,000. It is now adding to itself at the rate of 167,000 persons a year, while New York's growth is 135,000 a year.

EARLY BERRIES

A Carse of Gowrie gooseberry bush has distinguished itself by rearing a fine crop of fully-formed berries. The bush is in a sheltered situation between two brick walls.

PROFESSIONAL POINT OF VIEW

"I say, old fellah," said the young man who went in for health fads, to his lawyer friend, "I've been reading a lot about the way to sleep lately. Do you find it best to lie on the right side?"

"Well," replied the legal man, absently, "when I'm on the right side, it is seldom necessary to lie at all!"

Shiloh's Cure

Buy your Sign-----Buy your Current-----You can SAVE a Bunch of Money and Remember the Sign is YOURS

We saved a local man $69.88 on a $50.00 Sign. The only difference is this merchant would pay us $50.00 for the Sign AND OWN IT and $11.00 per year to the Light Co. for current (total $83.00) instead of 98c each week for 3 years or $152.88 and then NOT OWN the Sign.

A Word to the Wise is Sufficient

THIS IS ONLY ONE CASE

J. J. TURNER & SONS, Sign Department

Wednesday Mid-Week Bargains

For March 22nd

The Charming Hats of Spring

Again we offer you the most complete and authoritative exposition of new Hat styles. What Paris and New York have originated and Fashion has approved is given full expression in our Opening Display. Prices are extremely moderate, figured on the actual worth of each hat, and not a cent added for style exclusiveness.

ENDS OF LINOLEUM

15 Ends of Heavy Quality Scotch Linoleum, all thoroughly seasoned, in sizes of 2½ by 1¾ yards, 2½ by 2 yards, and 2 yards by 2 yards; worth up to 69c square yard. Wednesday Bargain, sq. yard 32c

JAPANESE MATTING

Extra quality of Japanese Matting, good assortment of new patterns and colorings to chose from, full 36 inches wide. Wednesday Bargain, yard ..20c

BATH MATS

Heavy Cork Bath Mats, just the thing to absorb the water when stepping out of a bath; size, 18 by 27 inches. Wednesday Bargain, each $1.49

CURTAIN MUSLIN

Fine White Curtain Muslin, with white spot and colored stripe in blue, gold, and green; very dainty and pretty for bedroom use; 45 inches wide. Wednesday Bargain, yard 45c

DRAPERY SILK

30 yards of fine Rajah Silk in soft shade of pink, 50 inches wide; regular $3.00 yard. Wednesday Bargain, yard $1.98

CURTAIN SCRIM

Extra quality of Curtain Scrim in a good assortment of pretty color combinations. Wednesday Bargain, yard.. .....25c

COCOA MATTING

Heavy quality of Cocoa Matting, 36 inches wide, suitable for verandahs and steps. Wednesday Bargain, yard ..39c

RIBBONS

Pure Silk Taffetta Ribbon, 4 inches wide, in colors of cardinal, scarlet, navy, tan, brown, reseda, yellow, rose mauve, sky, pink, cream, black and white. Wednesday Bargain, yard 10c

SATIN PAILLETTE

20 inch Black Satin Paillette, all pure Silk, suitable for Waists and Coats, splendid finish and good wearing quality; worth 75c yard. Wednesday Bargain, yard 50c

LUSTRE

Extra fine quality of Navy Blue and Cream Lustre, 38 inches wide, splendid wearing cloth; regular price, 50c yard. Wednesday Bargain, yard 33c

50c SERGE 39c

Navy Blue Boating Serge, suitable for Dresses and separate Skirts, all pure wool; excellent wearing material; regular value, 50c yard. Wednesday Bargain, yard 39c

COME HERE FOR THE BEST VALUES IN NEW CURTAIN MUSLINS

You'll agree with the hundreds who have already seen this display that it has no equal in this city. We planned carefully—bought largely—obtained the best values and most desirable qualities.

These are our own importation, and comprise a very choice assortment

RAJAH SILK

Extra fine smooth finished Rajah Silk, 26 inches wide, in colors of Alice Blue, Copenhagen Blue, Navy Blue, Gray, Tuscan, Pink, Black. Wednesday Bargain, yard 50c

SKIRTING

Moirette Skirting for Women's Drop Skirts, in colors of black, gray, navy blue, and brown. Wednesday Bargain, yard 25c

TAILORED WAISTS

Man-tailored Waists, this season's newest styles, made of fine quality of Linenette. Wednesday Bargain, each.. .....$2.00

RAIN COATS

Made of Cravenette, in semi-fitted style, with silk collar, in colors of fawn, gray, navy and black. Wednesday Bargain, each $10.00

NEW STYLE COATS

Made in mannish styles, with extremely new back effect, set off with two large buttons, notch collar, tailor stitched, and turn back cuffs, with large button; cloth of hard finished Serge, assuring excellent wear. Wednesday Bargain, each.. .....$16.50

SILK WAISTS

Made of good quality of Messiline, cluster tucked to form yoke, finished with Buttons and Soutach Braid, in black, navy and gray. Wednesday Bargain, each $5.00

TOWELLING

Pure Linen Towelling, very heavy and excellent absorbent qaulities, unequalled for dishes and general kitchen use. Wednesday Bargain, yard .....9¢

APRON LAWN

Good heavy quality of Apron Lawn, hemmed with tucks. Wednesday Bargain, yard 15c

GALATEA

Fine English Galatea in blue and white stripes, strong quality, suitable for Boys' Suits and Blouses. Wednesday Bargain, yard 25c

TICKING

American Cotton Ticking, sateen finish, fancy colored stripes, 32 inches wide. Wednesday Bargain, yard 18c

The New Axminster and Wilton Rugs are Now on Sale.

RICHARD HALL & SON 535-537 GEORGE STREET LIMITED

The New Kabo Corset Models are Now on Sale.

SPRING SHOWING OF

WALL PAPERS

in Prodigious Quantities

AT ROUTLEY'S

Never before in the history of the C. B. Routley establishment has there been so much wall paper put into stock. We have wall paper from the lowest to the highest grade produced.

We can give you enough ground paper to do any ordinary bed room From 3c to 35c Per Roll. HALL PAPER per roll from 4c to $1.00. DRAWING ROOM PAPERS from 10c to $3.00.

We have also Japanese Leathers, Grass Cloths, German Silk Flocks, Oatmeals, Burlaps, &c.

Room moulding is a line we give our attention to. Last year's mouldings and wall papers we are clearing at half price, not but that they are just as nice as this year's but we make it a rule not to show the same paper two seasons if price inducement will clear them out.

We can let you have paint to match any wall paper, paint that will dry hard and wear well, in short it is the best mixed paint in the market. We guarantee every can of it. For a few days we will sell it at PER QUART 49c.

Do not forget that we are the largest wall paper dealers in Canada. Our people here imagine because we live in Peterboro that the above assertion is not possible, yet it is acknowledged in large centres.

Come and try us and test our ability to serve you

Toronto 262-4 Queen W. | ROUTLEY'S | Peterborough 379 George St.

HON. CHAS. MURPHY'S ENTERTAINING ADDRESS

"A Ramble Through Ireland" Delighted a Very Large Audience at the St. Patrick's Day Entertainment---Secretary of State Was Presented With an Address.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ENNISMORE, MARCH 20.—St. Patrick's Day in Ennismore has, for years past, been celebrated in a manner to reflect great credit on the people of that progressive township. Year after year crowds have gathered in St. Martin's Hall to listen to Irish plays, well staged and splendidly acted; to vocal and instrumental music of no second quality.

The entertainment of this year was, however, more thoroughly enjoyed, and more fully appreciated, than anything ever given in St. Martin's Hall.

The following is the evening's programme:

Overture, "Irish Airs"—Ennismore Orchestra.

Chairman's address.

Song—"Old Derry Rose," by Miss Fanny Scollard.

Declamation—"We're Irish Yet" by Principal O'Donohue.

Song—"Irish Swell" Wm. Bell.

Sextette — "Twilight Hour," by Mrs. J. E. O'Donoghue, the Misses Scollard and Mary Ann Crough.

Lecture—"A Ramble in Ireland," by Hon. Chas. Murphy, Secretary of State.

Selection by Orchestra.

Song—"Mother MacRee" by T. T. Crough.

Song—"Swallows" Mrs John E. O'Donghue.

Banjo solo—"That's the Fellow I'm Looking For" J. K. Galvin.

Song "Peggie Grady" Miss Mary A. Crough.

Song, "When My Girl from Tipperary Tips Me"—Miss L. Killen.

Song—"Kelly's Gone to Kingdom Come" Joseph O'Reilly.

Quartette—"Wake and greet the Day" — Misses Scollard, Miss M. A. Crough and Mrs. John E. O'Donohue.

Addresses by Dr. O'Brien, Dan. O'Connell and F. D. Kerr.

"God Save the King."

As usual, the vocal and instrumental part of the programme was well rendered and highly appreciated by the large audience. But the treat of the evening was, beyond all doubt, the able, instructive and interesting address of the Hon. Mr. Murphy. Prior to the lecture, the following address of welcome was read by Mr. P. J. Scollard, while Miss Madeline Guiry, a bewitching little tot of six years, came forward and presented the honourable gentleman with a beautiful bouquet of carnations and roses:

To the Honourable Charles Murphy, Secretary of State for Canada

Honourable and Dear Sir,—On this the occasion of your first visit in our midst, we wish at the outset to bid you a very hearty "Caed Mille Farthe", and to thank you most cordially for the great honour you have conferred upon us, our parish, and our pastor, by coming here to lecture for us, and especially on a subject so dear to every Irish heart.

We know, full well, the value and importance of your time, and we know, moreover, that any Irish Catholic Society in Canada, or elsewhere, would feel proud to have our distinguished Secretary of State as their honoured guest, on this the Feast of our Patron Saint.

As our representative in the Dominion Cabinet, you have, by your marked ability, integrity and fixedness of purpose, done honour alike to yourself, your fellow-countrymen, and the City of Ottawa, which is so proud to claim you as her own.

The country at large, already realize and recognizes, in some small measure, the tower of strength you have become in safeguarding the country's interests; in defending the principles of true Liberalism, in spreading abroad a noble and patriotic Canadian sentiment, in purging our public institutions from graft and corruption, and in laying deep and broad by the purity of your every utterance that foundation of Christian honesty, Christian charity, and Christian forbearance, on which alone a people of mixed races and creeds can stand shoulder to shoulder and work in harmony and unison for the common welfare of us all, and the proper development of our young and fair Dominion.

In calling you to assume the important and onerous duties of Secretary of State, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, your honoured Chieftain, our Country's pride, has given us one more proof of his wonderful powers of perception, of his keen penetration, and of his remarkable knowledge of men, and of our political and social wants.

It is needless to assure you that we, the people of Ennismore Parish, Irish Catholics, all are proud of our Secretary of State; proud that one of our number brings to the Legislature of this country so clear and cultivated a mind, so noble and generous a heart, and so pure and unspotted a life.

That Almighty God may long spare you, to aid in guiding the destinies of this young country, is the sincerest wish of your friends and admirers in Ennismore. Signed on behalf of the parish—P. J. Scollard, Wm. Crough, Jas. Killen, Thos. Flood, Michael Podue, John O'Donoghue.

Hon. Mr. Murphy first thanked the people of Ennismore for their kind, but exaggerated, words of appreciation of his services in the Dominion Cabinet, said a few flattering words about their pastor, his former friend, and fellow-student, and then launched forth into his talk on Ireland; and, for one hour and three-quarters, a pin might have been heard fall in any part of the hall, so spell-bound was that large assembly of truly interested and amused listeners. He did not follow the old, beaten path, but had the courage and good sense to deviate into other channels, equally interesting and decidedly more instructive and entertaining.

He did not come, as the honourable gentleman said at the outset, to give a lecture, but to have a quiet, simple, plain talk on matters which, he thought, should interest any Irish people; hence the favourite themes for St. Patrick's Day, viz., "Ireland's Golden Age," "The Injustice of England's Laws Towards Ireland," "Ireland's Saints and Scholars," "The Courage of Her Soldiers and the Field of Battle" and "the Wisdom of her Sons Round the Council Boards of Foreign Nations," "The Purity of Her Sons and Daughters," "Ireland's Fidelity to Faith and Fatherland," and so on, though subjects admirable and suitable in themselves and admitting the greatest scope for human eloquence and sentiments of true patriotism, were however, studiously set aside and subjects like the following occupied their places: "The Library of Trinity College" and such treasures there preserved, as "Brian Boru's Harp and the Book of Kells"; "Some of the Museums of Ireland," "The Ardagh Cup or Chalice," "The Tara Brooch," "The Meyther or Love Cup," "The Claddagh Wedding Ring" "The Charter Horns," "St. Patrick's Bell and the Irish Potato Rings."

Each of the above was described in detail, and in language so clear and appropriate to the subject as to rivet the attention of the audience, and make them wish that the speaker would continue for hours in his descriptions. From the above, all specimens of Irish art and skill, unsurpassed or even equalled, by anything of the like in the world, and ocular proofs of what lecturers have often tried to prove by words. The honurable speaker proceeded to deal with productions of Irish skill and ingenuity of the present day. Among these productions he mentioned particularly, and laid special stress on Irish lace, Irish linen, Irish serge, etc., etc., and showed their superiority over anything of the kind produced in any other part of the world. The foregoing articles and their manufacture, described in the most beautiful language, interluded with quaint humour, of which the honourable gentleman seems to be a master, formed what may be termed "part one" of his discourse.

Then began the real ramble through Ireland, and then, also, began that genuine wit and humour which brightened the second half of the talk and kept the audience in roars of laughter to the close. We will not try to follow the honourable speaker in this ramble, or attempt to narrate any of the many stories told by the way, for the simple reason that these stories, to be appreciated, must be told by the honourable gentleman himself, and in his own inimitable style. Suffice to say that the sterling honesty of the Irish race, their true and genuine sense of humour, their high sense of honour and gallantry, their ready wit and sarcastic repartee, their dislike for foreign bombast and pedantry, were points touched upon, directly, or indirectly, and left a deep and lasting impression on the minds of all who had the honour and pleasure of hearing them.

Hon Chas. Murphy is a forcible and most convincing speaker, a great admirer of British fair play, a noble type of Canadian manhood, and a firm believer in Canada's future greatness. He is a highly-educated gentleman, bigger in fact, than the position he holds, broadminded, abstemious, energetic, thoroughly alive to all our needs of church and state, fearless in defence of truth, unsparing in the denunciation of wrongdoing, and withall the plainest simplest, frankest and most entertaining of mortals.

At the close of the lecture Rev M. F. Fitzpatrick, pastor of Ennismore parish, rose to offer a very hearty vote of thanks to the honourable speaker, for his able, interesting, instructive and entertaining talk. He went back twenty-seven years, to the fall of 1884, when he first met Mr. Murphy, as a student at Ottawa University; recalling many pleasant memories of his days in Ottawa, and the kindness he always met at the hands of Mr. Murphy, and his generous Irish family. The vote of thanks was ably seconded by Mr. F. D. Kerr, barrister, of Peterborough, who spoke in the highest terms of the Honourable Mr. Murphy, the good services he was doing for Canada, and claimed that Mr. Murphy represented in the Cabinet, not alone the Irish people, but every class and creed in this broad Dominion. His remarks, bright, cheerful, patriotic, were received with loud applause.

Mr. Dan. O'Connell also paid his tribute of respect to the honourable speaker, and in his usual brilliant, thoughtful, and earnest manner, gave a brief appreciation of what he was pleased to term, the best St. Patrick's Day oration he ever had the pleasure of listening to.

Dr. O'Brien followed, attributing Hon. Mr. Murphy's great success, not alone to his marked ability and perseverance, but especially to the fact that the Secretary of State was a life-long total abstainer, who would not allow liquor of any kind to be served even in his private car while travelling.

The hall, being filled beyond its ordinary and comfortable capacity, seats were arranged in the rear of the stage, and were occupied by St. Martin's T. A. S. Committee, the Township Council, several from Peterborough, among whom may be mentioned J. C. Sullivan and James Lynch. The duties of chairman were efficiently and creditably discharged by the Pastor of Downeyville, Rev. P. J. McGuire, whose witty remarks, rich Irish brogue, and pleasing personality, added not a little to the evening's enjoyment.

The accompanist for the evening was Miss Agnes Scollard, organist for St. Martin's choir, who also favoured the audience with a classical selection on the violin.

The most successful St. Patrick's Day entertainment ever held in Ennismore, was brought to a close, just as the clock was striking twelve, by the singing of the National Anthem.

The election of officers for St. Martin's Total Abstinence Society, Ennismore, resulted as follows:

President—Jas. Killen
Treasurer—Dan. Crough.
Secretary—P. J. Scollard.

Committee—Messrs. Thomas Flood, Jas. Maloney, Mich. S. Crough, P. Y. Crowley, Wm. Crough, Sr., Peter Galvin and John Mahoney.

This is a young, popular and helpful society, in which the keenest interest is taken, the numbers of which are increasing year by year. Local option is no doubt a great help towards keeping people sober, but you can neither compel nor legislate people into sobriety. It must come cheerfully and voluntarily by membership in such a society as the T. A. S. Give our young people something instead of liquor, some means and places of entertainment, and gradually they will cease to look for or care for intoxicating drink.

TWO SICKLY CHILDREN

Made Well by Vinol---Letters From Grateful Mothers

New Haven, Conn.—"My little girl ever since her birth was frail and sickly and nothing seemed to do her any good, until we tried your cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. As soon as she commenced to take it, I noticed an improvement in her health and appearance. She has now taken three bottles of Vinol and from the good it has done her I can say it will do all you claim for it in building up and strengthening frail and delicate children." (Name furnished on request.)

Another mother of Chicago, Ill., writes: "My little girl was thin, rundown, pale and without any appetite. Vinol gave her a good appetite, she has rosy cheeks and has gained rapidly in flesh and strength.

"I cannot say too much in praise of Vinol for delicate, ailing children."

We ask every mother of a frail, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it does not do all we claim. McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets, also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

Our Stock of

Ready-to-Wear GARMENTS

for Ladies and Gentlemen is Complete

We are prepared to show you the choicest and most up-to-date lines of Springs Goods in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Ready-to-Wear Clothing, House Furnishings and Millinery.

We sell on easy payments of $1.00, $.200 or $3.00 per week.

See Our Ladies' Suit as a Special Leader for : $11

Knickerbocker Co

CREDIT CLOTHIERS

TELEPHONE 711 422 GEORGE STREET

SPRING Shoes

This is a Patent Corona Colt, button with black cloth top. One of this season's smartest styles.

We are showing many exclusive novelties. Splendid workmanship, fine materials, perfect fit assured—always.

J. T. Stenson Sons

364 GEORGE STREET

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL

Oak Hall Drug Store

Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

LASTING PHOTOS

An evidence of the superior quality of our work is the fadeless quality we produce. We would like to show you photographs that have been exposed to sunlight for long periods without the slightest effect.

The Lendrum Studio

170 Charlotte Street

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.

208 Charlotte Street

Next to the Curling Rink

279th Bargain Annex Event Wednesday, March 22nd, 1911

Bargain Annex

Registered

An Annex Lace Sale at only 2½c yard

25c Per Dozen Yards

One of those great Annex Lace Sales—Thousands and thousands of yards of all kinds of Laces, including Valenciennes, Torchons and heavy Wash Laces and Insertions. Depend on it, the regular price was much more, but the entire lot will go on sale in the Annex Wednesday as a great sensation. See the window display any day from Monday till Wednesday and you will be among the first to get in line for the big sale Wednesday morning. All one price, per yard..... 2½C

Buying by the dozen yards will pay you—25c per dozen

Our First Annex

Wrapper Sale Wednesday at 69c

We don't remember ever before making Wrappers a big Annex Leader, but for Wednesday we have a line, which we cleared from a Montreal factory, to go on sale sharp at 8.15 Print Wrappers in the very best patterns, mostly in navy blue and grey with fancy floral and spot patterns and nearly all have the fitted bodice, or inside lining of white, all sizes in the lot. There is sure to be a big demand for these, so come early, as the price is ridiculously low for such a garment..... 69c

(See Window)

New Price on Brass Trimmed Iron Beds

A heavy White Enamelled Iron Bed, with brass trimmings. Every Size, in the Annex at only..... $1.97

Also sold complete with full thickness Sea-Grass Mattress and reinforced coiled steel wire springs, at only..... $6.97

Proportionate reductions on each piece if sold separately

Curtain Stretchers (Folding) 98c

The Curtain Stretcher is a great aid to you in your spring house cleaning—60 pair, for Wednesday's Sale, of our patent Duplex folding American Curtain Stretchers—can be easily and quickly adjusted for any size curtain, large or small, and when not in use can be folded up into one piece 6 feet long and conveniently laid away. Never sold less than $1.50. In Annex Wednesday..... 98c

There's A Snap For You in the Annex at Two O'clock

Extra Heavy 10c Factory Cotton 7 1-2c

1 bale of an extra heavy 10c Factory Cotton—the balance of an old mill contract and will be the last we can possibly get at anything like the price; full 36 inches wide; on sale sharp at two o'clock. In the Annex Wednesday at, per yard..... 7½C

A positive limit of not more than 10 yards to a customer and no C. O. D. orders.

Advance Spring Shoe Sale — Commences Thursday morning. Watch for big adv. to-morrow night.

Department Stores Cressman's

Started Wall Papering Yet? Get some of our new ideas and learn our prices before you commence.

THE ST. PATRICK'S DAY CONCERT AT CAMPBELLFORD

Enjoyable Programme Was Given in Which Peterborough Talent Participated—A Great Success

HUGE ATTENDANCE

From Our Own Correspondent.

Campbellford, in common with the rest of the world, honoured the Seventeenth of Ireland by special observances appropriate to the day. Special St. Patrick's services were held in St. Mary's R. C. church at 10.30 a.m. consisting of High mass, celebrated by Rev. Father Whibbs, and a special St. Patrick sermon by Rev. Father Casey. The concert in the Music Hall in the evening was in every detail worthy of the occasion, and Rev. Father Whibbs and St. Mary's Literary Society deserve to be congratulated on its eminent success. The snowfall that ushered in the evening did not dampen the ardour of the children of the Gael, and long before the orchestra gladdened attentive ears with the strains of old Ireland's melodies, there was scarcely a vacant seat in the hall. Of course the Shamrock — or what passes for it—was in evidence on all sides. Even the fairies were Irish and wore the "immortal" green—but sure what else could fairies be but Irish! It would be invidious to select any number for special commendation in a programme that was so uniformly good, but at risk of having the others after my scalp, your correspondent must say that the singing and dancing act of little Miss Rossie and Miss Glorie Machan was as nearly perfect as it is given to mortal to attain. Glorie's smile would captivate the heart of a saint, and their dancing — well, you'd better go and see them dance because I could never describe it. They'd win first prize at Tara in the day when the "harp that once" shed its music through its halls. Rounds of applause greeted them, and they had to respond to oft-repeated and enthusiastic recalls. Mr. F. Clark's banjo solos were a feature of the evening, and were much appreciated. A special word of thanks is due Mr. Clark as he came from Peterborough at much personal inconvenience. Miss Mahoney's "Beautiful Erin" was sweet as its theme, and in response to a recall her "Harp That Once" was equally good. "The Fairy Revel" and Tableau by fifteen little children was a pretty production. It made one feel thankful that the good saint did not banish the fairies in the wake of the snakes.

Mr. D. J. Meagher did full justice to "Irish Eyes" and "A Handful of Earth," and had to answer a very unmistakable recall. Miss Geraldine O'Connell's piano solo, "Come Back to Erin," was another choice number, and the "Ribbon Drill" and chorus, "The Dear Little Shamrock," by twelve girls was a very effective piece of staging. At one time it looked as if the Rev. Father Casey was going to sing, but fortunately he changed his mind and gave instead, in his usual impressive style, an eloquent address on "The Spiritual Ireland." The orchestra from the Princess theatre would please the most fastidious of critics, and their rendering of Irish airs would of itself suffice to make the programme a success. If St. Mary's Literary Society can but maintain the standard of last night's initial performance, they are safe in counting on even a more liberal patronage in future.

Just Arrived

Full Stock of the Famous

Buckley Stiff Hats

(All Hats Guaranteed)

Still some nice Fur Setts & Jackets to be cleared out

With our Conformateur we can shape all Stiff Hats to fit all heads

W. E. LECH

Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

GRAND THREE NIGHTS, commencing March 23

Opera House — THURSDAY

—The— People's Favorite Tom Marks and His Company of Fun Makers

In Comedy Dramas presenting

Thursday Night, The Cyclone of Fun "A FOOL AND HIS MONEY"

Friday Night, The Great English Comedy "WANTED A HUSBAND" or "THE MARRIAGE OF KITTY"

Saturday Night, The Side-Splitting Irish Comedy "CASEY'S TROUBLES"

PRICES—10c, 20c and 25c 8d Seat sale opens Tuesday morning

Spring Importations of WALL PAPERS

Do you wish to brighten your home this Spring? If you do it will be profitable to you if you look over our handsome stock of Imported Wall Papers. Nothing as new and up-to-date in Peterboro as what we can show you.

Papers from the cheapest to the most expensive to be had in the city but always extra value.

We can supply the paper satisfactorily as to price and effectiveness for the most modest as well as the most palatial of homes. :: :: :: :: ::

The Peterborough Bookstore

Trebilcock Bros. 419 George St.

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Charlotte St. Epworth League Had a Novel Contest Last Night—Programme Was Greatly Enjoyed

GOOD ATTENDANCE

A very enjoyable programme was presented in the Charlotte street Sunday school room last night by a number of the members of the Epworth League under whose auspices the concert was given. The entertainment was in th form of a contest between sides a sto who could give the best entertainment.

Three judges were appointed to decide the winners. They were Rev. G. W. Henderson, Mr. Galbraith and Mr. Cunningham.

Mr. B. F. Downey, President of the League, occupied the chair. The first half of the programme consisted of seven members, oli of which was excellently rendered. They were as follows:

Instrumental solo—Miss Elliott.
Club swinging — Miss Storey and Miss Thomas.
Chorus—Farm Yard Song—Miss L. Emmerson and five others.
Reading—Miss Thomas.
Vocal solo—Miss Williams.
Famous Women—Miss Sherlock and five others.
Instrumental duet—Miss Smith and Miss Storey.

A collection was next taken up, the proceeds of which amounted to $5.15, and was followed by the second half of the programme, consisting of seven selections as follows:

"We Are Seven"
Instrumental—Miss L. Elliott.
Reading—Miss Mountjoy.
Solo—Miss Rigby.
Speech—Miss Stafford.
Solo—Mr. F. D. Austin.
Panomime—Wanted a Wife—by Mr. F. D. Austin and five others.
Chorus—O Canada—The Seven.

Rev. Mr. Henderson on behalf of the judges then gave the decision, which was to the effect that the latter performers had won the contest by the small majority of two points. A vote of thanks was then tendered to the judges for their kindness in officiating, after which Mr. Downey brought the meeting to a close by pronouncing the League prayer. It is the intention of the League to meet next Monday night, March 27th, when matters pertaining to methods of procedure in the House of Commons will be discussed.

MAKES THE HAIR BEAUTIFUL

At last a remedy has been discovered that will positively destroy this pest.

pest, dandruff.

That Dandruff is caused by germs is accepted by every sensible person. Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. SALVIA will kill the dandruff germs and remove Dandruff in ten days, or money back. 50c. a bottle. at McDermid and Jury's

THE ART UNION

Mr. W. E. Lech the local Secretary of the Art Union of London, Eng., has received the plate of the work for the year 1910-1911, which is a particularly fine etching by Mr. W. R. Wyhe, R. A., "Proclaiming Our Sailor King, 1910", showing the scene in Portsmouth Harbour at the proclamation of his Majesty King George V., on board the "Victory". All subscribers to the Union will receive a copy of this beautiful work, and Mr. Lech invites all those who have already subscribed or are desirous of doing so, to call at his store and see the plate which will be on exhibition there for some time.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c

Big Embroidery Sale Wednesday S. H. KNOX & CO.

POST CARD COLUMN

Dear Sir,—Why is it the school trustees do not see that our Central school is properly cleaned and disinfected. It would be money well invested. It needs a good scrubbing of desks and floor, then some sulphur burned. I hear the floors and desks are filthy dirty. Will a few pounds of sulphur burned clean them? I hear of another case of scarlet fever brought home from school to-day. I think this sort of thing might be stopped if the school was closed for a week and lots of soap and water used. Then burn some sulphur and use carbolic acid. It will pay in the end.

ANXIOUS PARENT.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which is odourless, tasteless and colourless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument, if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

WAS HANDSOMELY REMEMBERED

Mr. Joseph Mercier Accepts Lucrative Position in Sudbury

Mr. Joseph Mercier who for some time past has been connected with the store of Richard Hall & Son's, left yesterday morning for Sudbury, where he will take charge of the dress goods department of G. W. McFarlane Co., of which Mr. Howard Hopwood, formerly of this city, is manager. Previous to severing his connection with the local firm on Saturday, he was presented with a handsome club bag by the staff and employees of the store, accompanied by the best wishes of his associates for his future success. Mr. Mercier is a capable and efficient salesman and his promotion is a well-deserved one.

Mr. Mercier was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral choir, also of the Conservatory Madrigal Club, and his services in this connection will be much missed. "Joe" was popular among a wide circle of young people in this city, and his many friends while regretting his departure, will always be pleased to hear of his success in the world of business.

PALE, ANAEMIC GIRLS

The languid, semi-invalid girl is so long or popular. Firm flesh, rounded form and a healthy glow to the complexion are the results of using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. Mrs. Goodson, 104 Sebastopol St., Montreal, Que., writes: "My daughter's appetite was bad and she was pale and bloodless. Since using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food there is a marked change in her condition. She is stronger and healthier in every way."

ONTARIO BANK LOTS

On George St. South, opposite King Edward Park, 30x100 ft to lane. From now until April 1st, I will sell the remaining 4 Lots at a discount, $50 down, then $5.00 per month. Interest 5%. First come, first served.

Lots on Cambridge St. $8.00 per foot.

THE DUMBLE HOMESTEAD

Parties desiring to purchase Building Lots on this fine property may see the plan and learn the particulars at my office.

D. W. DUMBLE

A SPLENDID RECITAL

Given by the Piano Pupils of Miss Pearl McKee

A most ejoyable recital was given at the Conservatory of Music on Saturday afternoon by the piano pupils of Miss Pearl McKee, assisted by Miss Hazel Davidson, who contributed a very enjoyable vocal solo. The programme was thoroughly appreciated and was a credit alike to the pupils and their capable teacher. The numbers were as follows:

Cora Bradburn—"Evening Chimes" Heins.
Quinnie Johnston—"Forget-Me-Not" Clarissa Hinds—"Pixie's Good-Night Song," Brown
Lilian Brown—"Dance of the Dew Drops"—Ducelle.
Gertrude Hood—"Myrtles"—Orth.
Jessie Pinchin — "In Slumberland," Krogman.
Vera Stock—"Chansonette."
Marion Harstone—"Minuet"—Borowski.
George Ross—Angels' Serenade.
Hazel Davidson—Vocal.
Phyllis Hood—"L'Avalanche"—Heller
Wilhelmine Gaskin—"A la Valse"—Orth.
Marjory McClelland, "Skating"—Klein.
Isabel Baird—"Constant Devotion"—Geibel.
Pearl Taylor—"The Myrtles," Wachs
Nellie Read—"Barcarolle," Godard.
Marion Pinchin, "Frolic of the Butterflies" Bohm.
Georgie Davidson—"Silver Stars"—Bohm.

THE DOUBT-PROOF BICYCLE TIRE.

You cannot afford to trifle with the Bicycle Tire question. Dunlop Detachable Bicycle Tires are doubt-proof. They stand between you and experimentation. You buy them not on faith, but on a proven record for efficiency unequalled in this country. Make no mistake, equip your bicycle with Dunlop Tires.

Dr. B. E. McKenzie of Toronto will be at the Snowden House, Peterboro, on Friday, March 24th, for consultation in Orthopedic Cases (deformities, joint and spinal affections and infantile paralysis.) Hours 1 to 4 p.m. 3d66-4365

FIRST CAR TO CHEMONG

Mr. Trevor C. Murton, representative of the McLaughlin Buick Automobile Company, has had the honour of driving the first car into Chemong Park this year, according to a telephone message received by the Examiner from Mr. W. B. Rickey, of Chemong Park Hotel this afternoon. The McLaughlin-Buick car proved its merit by climbing the hills and tunnelling through the bad roads in the excellent time of twenty-two minutes which is going some in consideration of the condition of the highway.

MAY DIE ANY MOMENT

Special to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, MARCH 21.—The death is expected any moment of Mr Justice Girouard of the Supreme Court who was injured in a runaway a month ago.

OPPORTUNITY

is knocking at your door—a genuine money-saving opportunity—a real chance to buy high-class Clothing and Furnishings at a fraction of the good's real value is offered you in this sale.

For Three Days only, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday we place on our tables for the first time during this the greatest of all clearing sales, all our Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds by the yard.

Ladies' Skirt Lengths
Men's Suit and Pant Lengths
Ladies' and Children's Coat Lengths
Tweeds by the yard for boy's pants or suits

H. LeBrun & Co.

Two Entrances—George & Hunter Sts.

SALE ENDS SATURDAY, MARCH 25

SPRING MEDICINES

Now is the time of the year you most need a Good Blood Purifier and System Tonic

REXALL SARSAPARILLA TONIC and BLOOD PURIFIER

Is one of the best preparations to meet these requirements

LARGE PINT BOTTLES 75c

Your money back if you are not satisfied

CHEMIST— E. L. PAYNE —DRUGGIST

(ORMOND & WALSH OLD STAND)

TOM MARKS CO. COMING

How often have you heard the expression, "Oh, it takes Tom Marks Company to pack the theatre in this town," and how often have you seen this statement verified? The reason for this expression is very simple. In the first place a company headed by Mr. Tom Marks is a sure guarantee that the public will get their moneys worth and in the next place the Tom Marks Stock Company is the most reliable stock organization on the road. Mr. Marks has spent a vast amount of time, undivided attention, forethought and expenditure in making a complete study of what pleases his patrons most, and we believe that when Mr Marks and his splendid company appear at the Grand Opera House next Thursday for a three night's engagement the public will say that they are even better than ever and that is "going some." The seat sale opened this morning.

SENTENCED TO LASH

Special Wire to the Examiner.

MONTREAL, MARCH 21.—For the first time in eighteen years in this province a man has been sentenced to the lash. He was convicted of brutality and assaulting his wife.

Burn "Scoe" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best", The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

PROBS—Fine and mild to-day. Wed—Showers of sleet or rain early in the day, followed by strong northwesterly winds

ROBERT FAIR & CO., LIMITED

? The Great Question ?
—OF—
Spring Attire

WHAT IS going to be worn and what particular style or shade is most suitable, are two questions that confront about every woman at this season of the year. A visit to our store will very easily solve the problem for you.

Individual Suitings

Here is an opportunity for the woman who wants "something exclusive". There are no two patterns alike. There are checks, stripes and diagonal weaves in grey, cream, with black stripe, black, blue, cream, brown, etc., with the favorite pin stripe, the new homespun effects, and many others which space will not permit to mention. These are all of English, Scotch and French manufacture, and represent the best display we have ever shown.

French Silk Foulards

The preference for foulards this spring makes the mention of our complete stock unusually interesting. In black, green, navy, kings blue, etc., we are showing a splendid array in spot, diamond, ring and two tone effects. These are all shower proof.

New Laces & Trimmings

Laces are extensively used this season to garnish the new gowns and we are well prepared for the great demand. Every fashionable trimming is here in every desirable shade and color.

New Motor Veils

Imported direct from Paris, France; colors, white, black, cream, champagne, grey, pink, sky and navy. Ask to see them; they are very pretty.

Custom Tailoring & DRESSMAKING DEPT.

We are pleased to say this department has earned the well deserved praise of all its patrons. To avoid disappointment, orders should be sent in without delay.

Spring Millinery Exposition

This has proved more than any mere Fashion Display as evidenced by the great number of women who have already found and claimed the distinctive model that seems made for them alone. Shapes are varied as woman's needs. Hats of dainty tailored charms with just the right simplicity for the walking suit, side by side with the picture hat, makes a delightful study; each striking some new note and embodying some new ideal of elegance. We extend an invitation to all to come and see the season's latest productions.

Robt. Fair & Co.
383 George Street :: :: Limited

WEDDING BELLS

CONE—HALL.

On Saturday, Feb 11th, 1911, at 7.30 p.m., at the Presbyterian manse Innisfail, Alta., by the Rev. Mr Shortt, M.A., Florence Mary Hall, of Raven, Alta., late of Springville, Ontario to Wilfrid Leonard Cone also of Raven.

"ART OF FURNITURE MAKING"

Mr. Dobbin will give an infrmal talk on the "Art of Furniture Making" at 3.30 to-morrow afternoon, in the Armouries. The Women's Art Association will issue membership tickets. The general public will be admitted free. A silver collection will be taken at the door.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Probabilities.

—Fine and mild to-day. Wednesday, showers of sleet or rain, early in the day, followed by strong, northwest winds.

Milk Delivered.

We deliver milk and cream in the evening. Phone orders before 4 o'clock. Model Dairy, cor. King and George streets. Phone 831.

Fresh Prunes.

Just received, 2,000 lbs. of Prunes. While they last, 10c. per lb. JAMES R. BELL, 43 Hunter street, 161 Hunter street.

All Saints' Confirmation Class.

The All Saints' Confirmation class will meet to-night in the chapel at 7.45. Confirmation will (D.V.) be administered Monday, April 10th by Bishop Reeve.

Dorcas Society.

—The Dorcas Society will meet on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kerr, 586 Gilmour street. Will all the ladies kindly make an effort to be present.

Canadian Club.

—The Canadian Club hopes to be able to announce the names of some prominent men, soon, who will be speakers at the next meeting of the club, which is to be held at an early date.

A Correction.

—The Examiner, in error, stated that the musical portion of the programme at the Anti-Cigarette meeting on Sunday was in charge of Mr. Rupert Gliddon. It should have said Mr. R. J. Devey.

Not Alderman Duncan.

Alderamn Duncan denies making the statement at the Board of Works meeting that Mr. Potvin told him that to put oil on the streets late at night was not so objecionable. The statement was made, but not by Alderamn Duncan.

Carloads of Fruit.

We have just received a carload of the celebrated Sunkist Oranges; also a carload of bananas, tomatoes, celery, grape fruit, etc. This is all fresh, first-class fruit, and intending purchasers will do well to call. A LONGO & CO, 144 Hunter street.

At S. A. Oke's, successor to H. P. Kennedy.

FISH—Fresh fish, Halibut, Salmon, Sea Herrings, Seal Shipt Oysters. VEGETABLES — Carrots, parsnips, beets, cabbage, celery, fresh lettuce parsley and green onions daily; guaranteed new laid eggs. Meats, Prime beef, lamb and pork, always in stock —S. A. OKE, 340 George street. 'Phon e275.

Housecleaning Made Easy.

—Before you decide how you will clean your carpets, call us up or drop in and see the work our machines will do. We can thoroughly clean the carpets of an ordinary sized house in three hours, without any inconvenience to you and at a very small cost.—The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Co., 395 Water St., (near Cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

On the Free List.

—Florida Grape Fruit, Pineapples Sunkist Seedless Oranges, Bananas, and Lemons. Our stock is complete and prices are low. Also in stock, Cauliflowers, Strawberries, Boston Head Lettuce, Ripe Tomatoes, Rhubarb, Celery, Green Onions, Spanish Onions; fish of all kinds. Sealshipt Oysters, Vegetables, etc.—Walter J. Oke, 376 George street. Bell 'Phones 18 and 19.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall case store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

You will like the fine flavor of Red Rose Tea. It has the cup goodness that comes only from Red Rose quality—the reason why it holds first place in thousands of Canadian homes. Will you try it.

RED ROSE TEA is good tea

NEVER SOLD IN BULK

Your Grocer Will Recommend it

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. H. C. Haines left for Charlton last evening.

Mr. G. L. Bonter of Trenton, is at the Munro House.

Mr. Arthur Stapler, of Hastings, is registered at the Oriental.

Mr. Geo. Maxam of Belleville, is a guest at the Munro House.

Mr. D. E. Tait, of Campbellford, is a guest at the Hotel National.

Mr. J. P. Davis of Bobcaygeon, is staying at the Munro House.

Mrs. Cyril Hill is spending a few days with friends in Montreal.

Mr. J. Cowling of London, Eng., is staying at the Hotel National.

Mr. L. Kennedy, of Little Britain, is a guest at the Snowden House.

Mrs. J. L. Wood, East City, is visiting friends in Toronto this week.

Mr. J. D. Comming, of Campbellford, is a guest at the Hotel National.

Mrs. C. G. Graham, 188 Dalhousie street, will not receive again this season.

Mrs. Ross F. Downey, 298 Boswell avenue, will receive to-morrow (Wednesday) and not again this season.

Mrs. J. P. Archer and child have returned to Campbellford after a short visit with her sister, Mrs. Touchbourne, 20 Benson avenue.

Mr. Ernest Staunton left to-day for Port Arthur, where he will reside in future. He will be missed by many of his friends around town.

Dr. E. V. Frederick went to Toronto this morning to assist in an operation on a patient from this vicinity, at the Toronto General Hospital.

The many friends of Mr. R. Blomfield, will regret to hear that he has been transferred from the Dominion Bank, Lindsay, to the branch of that bank in Marmora, where he has been appointed manager, and left for that place this morning.

During the three and a half years that he resided in town Reg. made many friends and was a well known person on the field of sport, figuring on the championship Midget hockey team, and being an enthusiastic golf player and canoeist. As a canoeist he has few equals, and has won many prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lomas gave a St. Patrick's euchre party in honour of Miss Bessie Coulter, of Peterborough, at their home, 281 Logan avenue. The rooms were artistically decorated with green shamrocks, palms, ferns and green flags. The prize winners were: 1st, Miss Ablitt and Mr. Walker; 2nd, Miss Walker and Mr. Morsehead. Amongst those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hicks, and Mr. and Mrs. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bourke, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, Miss Ethel Pankhurst, Misses Puss and Nelly Clarke, Miss Flo Ablitt, Miss Walker, Mr. Morsehead, Mr. H. Wakely, Arthur Ablitt, Mr. E. Parkes and many others.—Toronto Star.

The Misses Calder, Tyndall avenue, gave a St. Patrick's Day euchre party of eight tables in honour of Miss Pearce of Norwood. Mr. and Mrs. Calder received the guests in the drawing room, which was artistically decorated with shamrocks, pink roses and ferns. The prizes were won by Miss E. Smith, Miss Day, Mr. A. Quarrington and Mr. A. Hall. Among those present were: Miss Pearce, Mr. Garfet, Misses Smith, Miss Moore, Miss Stiles, Miss Giles, Miss Weismiller, Miss Veitch, Miss Pearl O'Neil, Miss Miller, Miss Broddy, Miss Gillis, Miss Dean, Mr. Broddy, Mr. Dalrymple, Mr. A. Buarrington, Mr. M. Hendry, Mr. B. Hall, Mr. H. Banford, Mr. Armstrong, Mr Boyd, Mr. Doyle, Mr. J. Quarrington, Mr. Barchard, Mr. Woods, Mr. Thompson, M.P. (Havelock), Mr. A. Hall, Mr. Hillhouse.—Toronto Star.

OBITUARY

MRS. CARROLL

Mrs. Carroll, a former resident of Cobourg, passed away yesterday in the House of Prvidence. The remains were sent to Cobourg to-day, from which place interment will take place.

JOHN STEERS.

Mrs. M. J. Byrne, 424 George St., has received the sad news of the death in Yellow Grass, Sask., on March 18, of her nephew, John Steers aged 18 years. The deceased had been ill for two weeks, from pneumonia. He was the son of Mrs. Steers, formerly of Peterborough, and his friends here will be shocked to learn of his death.

MISS JANET HUNTER.

Miss Jant Hunter passed away yesterday in Cobourg after a brief illness. She was 36 years of age and was a resident of this city up till ten years ago. Well known and highly esteemed the late Miss Hunter will be missed by a larve circle of friends, and her death will be regretted generally. She was of a bright, loving and generous nature that wins lasting friendships Deceased was a daughter of Mr. George Hunter of Philadelphia, who for many years carried on business in this city. She is survived by one brother and one sister. The brother is George of Philadelphia, and the sister Mrs. Kemp of this city. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 2.30 from the residence of Mrs. Kemp, 181 River Road, Auburn and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

ROBERT FANNING.

Peterborough's citizenship is poorer to-day by the death last night of Robert Fanning, one of the city's most highly esteemed residents, after a week's illness, death being due to pneumonia. Born in Otonabee township, the late Mr. Fanning was a continuous resident of the township until 25 years ago, when he removed to Peterborough. In religion he was a lifelong Presbyterian and since coming to this city took an active part in all that was for the best interests of the church. He leaves to mourn his loss, a widow, five sisters, one brother, two sons and one daughter. The sisters all reside in Toronto. They are as follows: Mrs. Packingham, Miss Sarah, Hattie, Mrs. Dryden, Toronto and Mrs. Heard and James of this city. The sons are Steward, of Quebec. Samuel of this city, and the daughter, Miss Edith, also of this city. Funeral will take place to-morrow at 3.30 o'clock from the family residence, 255 Reid street and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment. Service will be held at the house at 3 o'clock. The Rev. R. J. Pogue will officiate.

SCHOOL REPORT

BYERSVILLE, MARCH 20. — The following is the report of S. S. No. 2, North Monaghan, for the month of February by percentage:

Sr. IV Class—Alta Hopkins 80, Wilton Tranter 69, Stanley Hopkins 68, George Cunningham 64, Roy Byers 62, Willie Field 56, Grace Stevens 52, Vera Whitfield 46.

Jr. IV Class—Lizzie Webber 88, Annie Board (absent).

Sr. III Class — Jack Dawson 87, Leonard Connors 76, Clifford Wilson 87, Leonard Connors 76, Clifford Wilson 64, Reginald Reed 59, Stanley Whitfield 37 (absent.)

Jr. III Class — Fred Cooper 54, George Robinson 53, Hazel Henry 23.

Sr. II Class—Clara Robinson 64, Herbert Tranted 40, Jack Fausett 32, Leonard Vass, Kate Parks.

Jr. II Class—Winnie Cooper 87, Annie Sanderson 86, Archie Robinson 80, Bobbie Cunningham 74, Rosie Sexsmith 73, Winsome Collins 72, Leslie Field 66, Ella Sullivan 65, Marion Byers 58.

L. N. McGREGOR, Teacher.

THE WARNE SHOE STORE

Wish to Gain Your Attention to Their

"Wet Weather FOOTWEAR"

Men's Guaranteed Blucher Bals in black and tan..... ..... $5.00

Men's Viscolised Tan Calf, special $4.50

Men's Heavy Chrome Grain Bluchers at, from $2.25 to $3.50

A Women's Double Soled, Goodyear sewed, Calf $4.00

And Women's Strong Shoes from $1.20

Our Youths' at $1.40 and Boys' at $1.75 in a solid leather is a winner

There was a young fellow named Jim,
Who was teaching a maiden to swim.
"Kick your leg out!" he cried,
But the maiden replied,
"I presume you refer to my limb."
—Detroit Free Press.

"Lend you 25 louis? A pretty idea! And suppose you were to die tomorrow?"

"Sir, you insult me! I may be poor, but at least I am honest."—Rire.

Our Mary had a new fall gown,
But she was not expert.
And often in it she fell down—
It had a bobble skirt.

But Mary said 'twas up to date,
It made the fellows stare,
And, though 'twas hard to navigate,
She said she did not care.
—Boston Herald.

Friend—When do you expect Mr. Rich to recover?

Doctor—I don't know. He's the only patient I have at the present time.—Brooklyn Life.

Blessings on you, little girl,
Barefoot maid in many whirl,
Is a string of coral beads
Quite sufficient for your needs?
—Kansas City Journal.

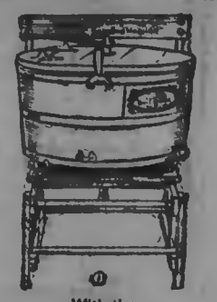
Gluckaburg (mysteriously)—My wife vants to see "Tannhauser," and I vant to see "Lohengrin." Is dere any chance of dem singing togedder some evening?—Tatler.

The average man proposes once;
The average woman takes him.
If he won't propose—Lord only knows
Just how 'tis done!—she makes him.
—Punk.

"And why, Tommy, do you suppose Diogenes was so anxious to find an honest man?"

"Pa says he probably wanted to sell him a gold brick."—Houston Post.

A Modern Machine



With the

Connor Ball Bearing Washer

washing day becomes a pleasure, the drudgery done away with.

Drop in and let us show it to you, also the

Life Buoy Brand Wringer

which is guaranteed for 5 years.

Don't forget our special "Clairette" Laundry Soap

Porter S. White
336 George St. - Phone 208

Street railway men are mighty mean—a cruel, brutal bunch.
Why, when a new conductor comes they give the man a punch.
—Galveston News.

There is a monotony in the naming of love songs. Why not novel titles such as these?
"I Love You."
"I Love You, Dear."
"I Love you Dearly."
"I Love You, Dearie."
"Dearie, I Love You."
"Dearie, I Love You Dearly."
"I Love but You."
"I Love You, But"—
"I Love You So."
"Because I Love You So"
"Love Me, For I Love You."
"Love Me and I Own the Earth."
"I Shall Love You Till the Sea Dries Up."
The foregoing list is tossed to the busy composers to use without royalty to us.—Collier's.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. . . . 25 cents

SUIT as represented $19.90 made of Black French Serge Coat has embroid'd linen collar Skirt in new tight fitting model

$2.00 Crystal Silk Petticoats $1.29
Women's Petticoats of crystal silk in black, navy, green and brown, 12 inch fancy stitched flounce, 38 40 and 42 inch lengths. See window. Regular $2.00, to-morrow.... $1.29

Good Buying Opportunities in the Main Store To-morrow

These 3 Leaders in George St. Window To-night

25c & 35c CASHMERE HOSE 19c—Women's fine Cashmere Hosiery in 2/1-4/1 ribs, made from strong wool yarns, sizes 8½-9-9½. To-morrow 19c

75c COLORED APRONS 48c—Women's large slipover aprons made from heavy fast washing prints in navy and cadet blues, frills on shoulder and around bottom. Regular 75c, each..... 48c

20c & 25c GINGHAMS 14½c—Dress Ginghams in new plaid, check and stripe designs and good fast washing colorings, 28 inches wide. Regular 20c and 25c values, a yard..... 14½c

A SPECIAL PARASOL $1.48
Black parasols with 23 inch frame and silk and wool top, 20th century runner. A big range of new spring handles. Regular $2.00 line, to-morrow.... 1.48

20c PERCALES 14½c
Another lot of those shirting percales, light grounds with stripe designs suitable for men's shirts, women's house dresses or separate waists, yard wide, a yard 14½c

CHILDREN'S WOOL VESTS 3 for 25c
Children's wool vests, high neck and long sleeves, heavy ribbed makes, worth up to 25c each, fit 2 and 3 years of age. To-morrow, 3 for 25c

WASH BABY RIBBONS 15c BOLT
Wash baby ribbons in ¼ and ½ inch widths in pinks, blues, reds and greens. Regular 5c a yard, these in 5 yard bolt..... 15c

CHILDREN'S COTTON HOSE 16½c
Children's heavy ribbed cotton hose, knitted with strong double thread, sizes 5½ to 7. Regular 25c lines, a pair..... 16½c

BATH TOWELS 49c
Heavy bath towels in linen color with red border or cream with red. Regular 75c values, to-morrow a pair..... 49c

TURNBULL'S

Wednesday's Big Values in the Homefurnishings

NEW FISH NET CURTAINING 29c—Heavy new fish nets in square mesh and diagonal weaves, cream or drab colors, double width with straight or scalloped edges. Regular up to 50c yard, to-morrow a yard..... 29c

36 IN DOUBLE WEIGHT MATTING 17½c—Extra heavy China Matting yard wide and of strong bamboo grass in neat reversible check patterns of blue, green and brown and finished with strong corded edges. The quality is made to stand extra hard wear and will outlast the fancy and more expensive makes twice over. Regular 25c, to-morrow a yard..... 17½c

AXMINSTER & WILTON RUGS $1.39—37 only Axminster and Wilton Hearth Rugs, size 27x54 ins, made with rich heavy pile face and finished with fringe or plain ends. To-morrow each.... $1.39

30 INCH COLORED ART MUSLINS 7c—Washable art muslin 30 ins wide, double faced in new casement patterns, color combinations rose, mauve, green, blue and gold. To-morrow a yard... 7c

2½x2 BED ROOM RUGS $2.98—Heavy weight reversible bed room rugs 7 feet 6 ins. x 9 feet, new spring patterns and colorings in self greens, fawns, crimson and browns. To-morrow each.. $2.98

3x3½ YARD AXMINSTER RUGS $16.95—We lay particular stress on these rugs, 19 only to clear at this price, 9 feet x 10 feet 6 inches seamless Axminster Rugs in this season's newest patterns, medallion and oriental effects in deep rich plush pile. Regular $25.00 for..... $16.95

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Loats-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept th m gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL L No. 68 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY MARCH 22 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL

Last Chance To-night to see
The Harris Twins
The World's Greatest Flexible Marvels
Tom Harris
In Song and Stories
The Original Cut-up Tommie

These are two Extra Special Acts secured at extra expense from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, to replace the Japanese Troop who owing to sickness had to cancel their engagement for these three days. The Harris Twins are without a doubt the best Acrobats in America to-day, one of them is the closest Back Bender in the world bar none. Tom Harris their father is one of the world's greatest Comedians.

— MOTION PICTURES —

Complete change of motion pictures for to-night's big picture show, including the Vitagraph Co's great masterpiece taken from Biblical Records "The Deluge" a realistic portrayal of the Great Flood, and Selig Co's latest great success "The Medallion" a dramatic gem, a story laid in Italy in the 17th Century These are two pictures everyone should try and see, and other pictures.

TO-MORROW—Complete change of Vaudeville by new performers—Two Special Double Acts—A big Musical Act and a Singing and Dancing Act.

Admission 5c & 10c

Special Big Feature to-day at the Princess

THE IRON MASTER

A magnificent Edison Drama. We would like all our patrons to see this splendid picture.

The Man Who Lost

A stirring Kalem Drama. One of their best.

Last night to see the greatest of all Comedies

The Rummage Sale

NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG

3500 Feet of the Best Films Made, for To-night

We Cordially Invite You to OUR SHOP

We are now prepared to show you the largest and most complete and exclusive range of Shirts ever shown in Peterboro.

These are the famous Cluett and Monarch Shirts that you hear so much about.

Cluett, Peabody and Co., of Troy, N.Y., are the makers of these famous, Shirts, and are the recognized Shirt makers of the world.

If you appreciate Fit, Style and Quality in a Shirt, you should wear a Cluett or Monarch Shirt.

The Shop of
Fashion Craft
Distributers of
CLUETT and MONARCH
Shirts and Arrow Collars
A. M. LAIDLAW
140 Hunter Street

Remember

Every child photographed by us previous to Dec. 1st, will be in the large group photograph of Peterborough children to be reproduced in the special 1911 Christmas Examiner

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

Money to Loan

Mortgage loans on City and Farm property at lowest current rates.

Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr
Jas. S. 415 Water St., Peterborough

CONSERVATIVE MEMBER FROM SASKATCHEWAN ON THE FENCE IN REGARD TO THE PACT

R. S. Lake, of Qu'Appelle, Does Not Seem to be Sure About the Question—Voice of the West is Being Heard.

TRAINMAN'S ARBITRATION

Ottawa, March 22.—The voice of the great west, emphatic, insistent, is making itself heard and heeded on the reciprocal trade arrangement. The Conservative Opposition at the capital is beginning to scurry for shelter. Mr. R. S. Lake, Qu'Appelle, the only Conservative member from the Province of Saskatchewan, led the retreat in the Commons yesterday afternoon.

On motion to go into supply, W. B. Northrup (E. Hastings), moved an amendment to the motion to go into supply, that the House expresses regret that the Government failed to make any intelligent efforts "to avert the late strike on the Grand Trunk Railway, to put an end to it during its continuance, or to compel C. M. Hays, president of the railway, to effectively carry out the agreement." Mr. Northrup dealt severely with the Minister of Labor, and declared that he had allowed himself to be put off with assurances from the company. The amendment was finally lost on division, and the House went into supply on marine estimates.

R. S. Lake (Qu'Appelle) took occasion to refer to a remark made by D. D. McKenzie (Cape Breton) last week that he (Mr. Lake) was the only elected representative of the people from the Province of Saskatchewan who was opposed to the reciprocity agreement. He was not sure about that. It was a misstatement. So far he had not expressed himself upon the matter. He felt it his duty to weigh the information on both sides before coming to a decision, and in this connection he complained that the Government had handed out information in a niggardly fashion. Mr. Lake referred to previous discussions, and said that if the farmers of the west had known that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would have gone no farther than he has in the reduction of duties on manufactures, the resolutions approving of the agreement would have been worded differently.

The members then indulged in what will likely be the last competition of the session in the presentation of resolutions for and against reciprocity. When it was over, Hon. Geo. Foster observed that, while it was interesting, the rules were being unduly stretched. Sir Wilfrid Laurier agreed with the member for North Toronto, and said that in future the rules would be more closely observed.

The enquiry into the Lanctot charges was continued at the afternoon sitting of the privileges and elections committee yesterday. Mr. Papineau, director of the works at Sorel, informed the committee that he would not have granted the application for employes and material to be used on the Lanctot residence if it had been made to him personally. Excepting in cases of great emergency he would decline to do such work.

When the private bill to incorporate La Banque du Canada came up in the House Sir Wilfrid asked Mr. Bickerdike, its mover, to allow the bill to stand over. "This is an important matter," remarked the Premier, "and the Government would like an opportunity to consider it further."

Mr. Northrup, in supporting his resolution, criticized the Minister of Labor for not invoking the Conciliation Act and made no effort to secure an arbitration of the difference at issue between the parties. He proceeded, however, with an investigation which did not bind the company and did not benefit the men. The Minister should have brought about an arbitration, and, if necessary, should have used the "big stick" for the purpose.

Mr. Northrup declared that the honor of the crown was pledged to the men, and Mr. Hays' refusal to reinstate the strikers was a deliberate breach of faith. The Labor Department had been no benefit to the men, and Judge Barron was in the employ of the Grand Trunk. He had refused to hear any cases which had not first been appealed through the hierarchy of the railway.

Mackenzie King dissented from the view that the Government should have forced a binding agreement upon the company. The Government had no power to compel the parties to submit to an arbitration. The men were not willing to arbitrate, because they claimed they were getting lower wages than the men on the C.P.R.. The Government must either be credited with settling the strike or be free from blame for not enforcing the settlement. It was the action of the Government and intervention of the Cabinet Ministers which had led to the end of the strike. If one could judge from results, it was evident that the "big stick" had been used effectively. Mr Hays had determined not to yield to arbitration, but to fight to the bitter end regardless of cost. The employes had no objection to being taken back "as soon as possible."

Twin Wonders.

Montreal, March 22.—W. M. Aitken, M.P. for Ashton-on-Lyme, arrived here last night from Newcastle, N.B., and states that on every side in town and country in England he was asked if he knew Sir William Mackenzie, and had he seen Niagara Falls

The young financier had known Sir William, but as he had never seen Niagara, he wants to see the Falls before he returns to Westminster on April 5.

CHANGES TO BE MADE IN CANADIAN MILITIA

General French's Recommendations to be Followed by the Department---English Staff College Men Will be Appointed for Each Division and an Increase in Efficiency is Looked For.

Kingston, March 22.—Important announcements have just been made in military circles which go to show that the Militia Department has decided to accept Gen. French's recommendations for reorganization of the military forces of the Dominion. Pending the arrival of officers of the Imperial army, arrangements have been made temporarily for the following changes:

Col. Thomas Benson, Ottawa, will be transferred to Kingston, to command a division here.

Col. T. D. R. Hemming, in command here, will be appointed A.A.G. at Toronto, the D.O.C.'s having been done away with. Major L. W. Shannon of London will come to Kingston as D.A.A.G., to replace Lieut.-Col. D. D. Young, retired. Lieut.-Col. Burstall, commanding the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, will go to Quebec to take the place of Lieut.-Col. English, who will become A.A.G. at Montreal. Col. J. A. G. Fages will return to Kingston from Halifax as A.A.G.

A radical departure will be made in the appointment of an officer of the Imperial Army to each division to act as Chief Staff Officer. The work of the deputay assistant adjutant-general for the second division, which for many years has been performed by Lieut.-Col. J. Galloway, wil be divided between the chief staff officer and the D.A.Q.M.G. Lt.-Col. Galloway on account of ill-health, is retiring.

It is understood that officers coming out from England may take the places of Col. Drury, Halifax; Col. Roy, Montreal; Gen. Coiton, Toronto; Col. Benson, Ottawa. The adjutant-general, Col. Lessard, so it is reported, may be retired, and a war office official may take his place.

It is also reported that an officer of the Scots Guards had been selected for this post.

SCHOOLS NOT VICIOUS

London Officials Deny the Charges Made by the Women's Christian Temperance Union

STORM OF DENIAL

London, March 22.—The charge of Mrs. May R. Thornley of the W.C.T.U., made to the Ministerial Alliance Monday, that immorality existed in the city schools, and that drinking, gambling and immorality was carried on in the young men's clubs, met with a storm of denial yesterday.

"I would not be afraid to challenge anyone to find anything immoral going on in our schools," stated George S. Weir, truant officer, yesterday.

"I do not believe there is anything in these reports of immoral conditions at all. I got a little magazine called The Purity Advocate some time ago. It was full of stories such as the ministers heard yesterday. It seems to me some of the women must have been reading that.

"I suppose," continued the truant officer, who day by day goes in and out among the schools and the pupils, "that there are some boys, and perhaps girls, too, who are not as pure as they might be. Personally I know of one instance where all is not as it should be. But to imply that the schools are hotbeds of iniquity, that in them immorality is spread, is absolutely wrong. I feel sure of that.

"The trouble comes in when the boys and girls have to leave school early and work together. The schools themselves I know are free from all just suspicion of impurity."

Suckers Were Plentiful.

London, March 22.—All mail received at the postoffice for the Mesdames Gall of Picadilly street, famous because of the matrimonial bureau episode, is being sent back to the "suckers" from whom it was received.

This statement was made yesterday by Inspector Campbell of the postoffice.

The inspector asked the postmaster to hold all mail coming for the women, and requested that it be turned over to his department. This was done for the first day, and in the meantime the women in question were communicated with, and they agreed to have the mail returned to the people who sent it.

Since the matter came to light, the postoffice has been able to get some idea of the size of the correspondence carried on. Many letters have been received for them daily, and at times as many as thirty in one batch would come in. They were from all over the States.

Twenty-Five Years In Priesthood.

Quebec, March 22.—Rev. Frederick George Scott, rector of St. Matthew's Church, and canon of the cathedral, celebrated last evening the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the Anglican priesthood, and the anniversary was marked by a special service in the church of which the devoted clergyman is now pastor. After the service Dr. Scott was the recipient of a number of valuable presents.

May Form New Cabinet.

Rome, March 22.—From all quarters Giovanni Giolitti, who was Premier in 1909, is being urged to form a new Cabinet. Although he has not yet officially undertaken the task, he has begun to sound the different groups of politicians, with a view possibly to organizing a Ministry, which would include Extremists and even Socialists.

Contracts for C.N.R. Work.

Winnipeg, March 22.—Contracts were awarded by the Canadian Northern Railway Co., amounting to $8,000,000, for the grading to be done on the main line and new branch lines which the company is having constructed in the west this year. The following are the contracts in detail:

Cowan Construction Co.—200 miles on main line from Edmonton toward Yellowhead Pass; 200 miles from Alaska to Calgary, on the Maryfield extension; 90 miles from Redfield to Moosejaw and Maryfield extension; 35 miles on Jackfish extension, from North Battleford toward the Peace River country; 80 miles from Shelbrooke to Battleford.

Northern Construction Co.—100 miles from Red Deer to Calgary; 200 miles grading and construction on main line from Vancouver toward Rockies.

Curtailing Sunday Work.

Washington, March 22.—Sunday work in postoffices throughout the country is to be discontinued so far as consistent with the faciliation of the transmission of the mail.

It is not proposed to close important postoffices entirely on Sundays. Mails will be received and despatched as heretofore, and arrangements will be made for a limited delivery through the general delivery windows and the distribution of mail boxes will be continued. Special delivery letters will be delivered, and patrons of any office will be afforded the privilege of having their mail delivered on Sundays by depositing the required fee for special delivery service.

American Opposition.

New York, March 22.—The executive officers, members of the executive committee and members of the board of managers of the American Protective League, held a special meeting yesterday and adopted resolutions reciting that "the manufacturer can hope to retain protection for his industry when protection has been provided for the farmer," and urging that all friends of protection bring to bear "every proper influence on Congress against the adoption of the reciprocity agreement with Canada."

Gashed His Throat.

Toronto, March 22.—With his throat gashed with a knife, which lay nearby, Andrew McGrath, a cattle drover, was found under one of the sheep pens in the western cattle market yesterday morning by Policeman Craig. He was hurried to St. Michael's Hospital in a private ambulance, where his injury was found to be severe, but not likely to prove fatal. No cause is known for his act. He is 35 years of age, unmarried and lives with his sister at Tecumseh and Niagara streets.

Ottawa's Water Supply.

Ottawa, March 22.—The meteorological department of the Dominion Government has commenced observations at Lucerne and Perkins Mills, on the north and south sides of McGregor's Lake, to ascertain the water fall and temperatures. The information secured will be given the city for use in considering the lake as a source of the city's water supply. The city engineer says there should also be bacteriological tests of the water taken at various times.

Goes to the Coast.

Regina, Sask., March 22.—Premier Scott left at midnight yesterday for the coast, where he goes to recuperate his health.

Endorsed Reciprocity.

Seaforth, March 22.—A meeting was held here Monday night for the discussion of the fiscal agreement between Canada and the United States. There was a good attendance. At the close of the meeting a resolution was carried endorsing the policy of the Dominion Government on this question.

WOMEN WILL NOT GET THE SUFFRAGE FOR WHILE YET

Allan Studholme's Bill Was Lost in the Ontario Legislature Yesterday Although Some Members Favoured It.

PREMIER OPPOSED

Toronto, March 22.—Woman's suffrage occupied the attention of the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon. Representative members of the various woman's enfranchisement associations and other ladies thronged the Speaker's gallery. The other galleries were also filled by visitors, who listened with close attention to the speeches.

The introduction of the bill by Allan Studholme (Labor, East Hamilton), was not taken seriously by a number of the members, who, after indulging in bantering remarks, and a certain amount of ironical applause, betook themselves to the corridors. Sir James Whitney and Hon. A. G. MacKay gave the mover of the bill a respectful hearing, as was also the case with about half the the other members of the House. Hon. Dr Reaume, Hon. James S. Duff and Hon. J. S. Hendrie were absent, representing the Ontario Cabinet at the funeral of the late D. E. Tolchard, caterer at the Parliament Buildings.

In opening the discussion on his bill to grant women's suffrage, Mr. Studholme said the subject was as important as the subject of reciprocity which had occupied the attention of the Government for the past two weeks.

The question was: "Are women fit to vote?" Men seemed to have a habit of saying "no," and it was an insult to Canadian women. With their splendid intelligence and magnificent education they were just as capable to vote as any man at present sitting in the Legislature.

"Some of the members have asked me if I wanted to live under petticoat government," said Mr. Studholme. "Well, as a child I lived under the petticoat government of the best mother that ever was.

"In England I lived under the petticoat government of the best Queen that ever was. I am still under petticoat government of the best wife that ever was, and I have got the best mother-in-law in the world. So why shouldn't I like petticoat government?"

One of his chief reasons for demanding suffrage for women was that women were forced to sell their labor cheap, and on account of the government of men, women were undercutting the labor market. Every labor organization in the whole world he knew of was ready to hold up both hands for woman's suffrage.

Where the equal franchise had been established the effect had been to purify politics.

W. Proudfoot (Liberal, Centre Huron) said that from the manner in which the bill had been received he did not expect that it would receive favorable treatment, but he hoped that the day would soon come that some Government would carry a bill through the Legislature.

Every member of the House looked up with reverence to womanhood. It was that feeling which caused many men to object to women mixing with men in politics. But the influence of women could always be counted upon where they had the vote when moral issues were involved.

A. E. Donovan (Con.), Brockville, argued that it had been in the best interests of society that women be not allowed to vote and the Legislature should wait until they were absolutely sure that the bulk of the women of the province wanted the franchise. It was his firm belief that the intelligent mass of women had no desire to mix up in the animosities of politics.

R. J. McCormick (Lib.), East Lambton, whose Irish wit and accent are richly appreciated, was applauded until the whole auditorium echoed, when he rose to his feet. He confessed that he didn't have very much to say that was going to please the ladies in the galleries, but he simply had to say something, because all the members of his household were women, and they would go for him if he didn't take some part in the discussion. Humbly he would advise that things be allowed to go on as they were.

Dr. J. S. J. Smellie (Con.), Fort William, said he was getting up in years now, and if he were younger, his views on the question might be different. Laughingly, he gave Mr. Studholme the hint that while latitude was tolerated in the House, longitude was intolerable and abominable. However, he would suggest that before another political campaign came, an educative campaign should be inaugurated to instruct the foreign voters.

The proper thing to do was not to admit ladies to the polls until the Legislature had taken hold of the foreign element and instructed them up to this standard.

Hon. A. G. Mackay said the bill was rather in the form of a resolution than of a bill, and even if adopted, would not amend the electoral law. For that reason, and also because there had been no demand, not a single petition presented, he would be compelled to vote against the bill at the present time. On the whole, he was rather in favor of the resolution.

Where the franchise had been granted to women, it was the hall mark of full citizenship. The enfranchised woman would not rock the cradle less, nor would she rock it with a more confident hand if she knew that her vote could be used to make the future of the contents of the cradle more safe.

If the women of Ontario want the vote, they should come to the Legislature with their petitions and apply for it in the usual way, but in the meantime, did the women think that they could accomplish more with the vote than they were able to do now by the exercise of their influence?

If the women of Ontario demonstrate that they desire the vote and believe that they can do more for this province with it than by their influence without it, they would certainly have his vote when that time came.

Sir James Whitney said the question, in his opinion, was of such significance that he had considered it not only desirable, but necessary to give it some attention and earnest and serious thought.

It was his duty to suggest the propriety or to object to the impropriety of all measures that were brought up in the House. He must do this in the interest of the public.

When the women's deputation waited upon him, their representations had been very indistinct. Two of them had put forward one proposition, and when it finally dawned upon him to suggest that it was "social revolution," they wanted, they applauded him. Also they had applauded when he asked them if their plea was not that "government by man had failed."

The Premier said he was not going to say one word as to the abstract question of whether women should be allowed to vote or not. It was sufficient guidance for him to note that every member in the House but the member from East Hamilton was opposed to the bill, and the mover had had difficulty even in getting a seconder. This, of course, did not mean that women's suffrage was wrong nor did it mean that it was right, but no Legislator had a right, having regard to his public duty, and the history of Great Britain, to vote for a bill of social revolution when only one member in the whole province was in favor of it.

The bill was declared lost without a formal division.

At the night session of the Legislature, Hon. W. J. Hanna announced that the Government had decided to make the exemption from the 5 per cent. tax on bar receipts $800 in cities and $50 in towns and other municipalities.

H. C. Lackner, North Waterloo, approved of the exemption being raised to $50, but favored the amount be made general throughout the province.

Hon. W. J. Hanna replied that such an action would mean that nothing would be collected outside of the cities, and in the cities $800 was made the limit because the city licenses were much higher than in the towns.

A. E. Fripp (Con.) Ottawa West, moved the second reading of his bill to give municipalities local option in the matter of assessing land at a higher rate than buildings.

Hon. A. G. MacKay said that he believed the bill was worthy of support.

Sir James Whitney opposed the bill as being the thin edge of the single tax.

The bill was withdrawn.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The Turkish loan has been subscribed and contracts for armaments placed with Germany.

It is reported that the British Government will not press the veto bill until after the coronation.

The foreign trade of the Dominion for the eleven months of the current fiscal year amounts to $687,277,488.

Sergts. Gibson, Kingston; Bentley, Napanee; Wright, Odessa, will represent the 47th Regiment on the coronation contingent.

The King made a memorable address on being presented with a copy of the authorized version of the Bible in celebration of the Tercentenary.

Thirteen occupants of an Ottawa apartment house have been quarantined owing to a case of smallpox having been discovered in the House.

The ratepayers of Kingston have carried a bylaw by a majority of 103 votes for the expenditure of $40,000 on the erection of a new public school.

Jeremiah Langlois, aged 18 years, drove into the river with a companion named Stanley Labute, aged seven, near Walkerville, and both were drowned.

At the annual meeting of the First Hussars in London, Ont., the appointment of Major Abbott as commanding officer was announced. He succeeds Col. Morrison.

Bert Poole, steel worker, whose parents, it is said, live near Toronto, was killed yesterday in a fall from the fourth storey of The Vancouver World newspapers' new building.

In the British House of Commons yesterday the Premier, replying to a question, said that no advantage could be gained by appointing a royal commission on the fiscal question.

The Galt Town Council has decided to spend $12,000 in the purchase of a 120-acre farm, part in the town limits and part outside, to be devoted to industrial purposes. Factory sites will be sold cheap.

Fire entirely gutted the Lariviere Carriage Factory on St. Antoine street, Montreal yesterday morning. The building was a wooden structure, and varnish, oil and paint helped the flames considerably.

New Masonic Hall.

London, March 22.—At a meeting of the directors of the Masonic Hall, Ltd., last night, it was decided to commence work on a new building at once.

Drug and Patent Medicine Prices

Our Prices are as low as the lowest or lower:

Burdock Blood Bitters regular $1.00 for 65c
Pink Pills regular 50c for 30c
Carter's Pills regular 25c for 15c
Chase's Ointment reg. 60c for ... 40c
Steedman's Soothing Powders regular 35c for 25c
Thomas' Electric Oil reg. 25c for 15c
Chase's Linseed and Turpentine regular 25c for 15c
Lyd. Pinkham's Compound regular $1.00 for 85c
Fruitative regular 50c for 40c
Miller's Worm Powders regular 25c for 20c
Minard's Liniment regular 35c for 30c
Pain Killer regular 25c for 20c
Egyptian Liniment reg. 25c for . 20c
Peruna regular $1.00 for 85c
Zam-Buk regular 50c for 40c
Scott's Emulsion reg. 50c for 40c
Nervilline regular 25c for 20c
Norway Pine Syrup reg. 25c for 20c

McDermid & Jury's
The Safe Satisfactory Drug Store
Corner George and Charlotte Streets

Want Natural Resources.

Winnipeg, March 22.—The boundaries question will most likely be discussed in the Manitoba Legislature this afternoon, and it is certain that the offer of Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be refused by the Government, especially at the Liberal Opposition is also opposed to the offer. The Free Press (Liberal) is also opposed, saying editorially that the time for subsidies is past and the province should get its own resources. This is the general opinion of the House, and it is possible that resolution will be unanimously passed demanding lands, timber, minerals, etc. If this is passed Manitoba will join with Saskatchewan and Alberta in an endeavor to secure a re-opening of the terms of the provinces with the Dominion.

With Ball Cartridge.

San Antonio, Texas, March 22.—Brig.-Gen. Smith will have with him exactly 2,238 men and 118 officers when he starts on a brigade "hike" to Leon Springs, the Government's manoeuvre grounds, to-day.

Every man is a veteran regular. They will take rations, twenty rounds of ball cartridge, blankets and shelter tents. Two days will be required to make the march of 27 miles. A machine gun platoon with two Maxims and a hospital train of 12 ambulances will form a section of the column.

Rising Against Whites.

Sydney, N.S., March 22.—News received here from the New Hebrides says that the natives of the island of Espritu Santo have risen against the whites. Espritu Santo is the largest and westernmost of the New Hebrides. There are not many white inhabitants. The islands are administered by a mixed commission of French and British naval officers. It is reported that assistance has already been sent the threatened people.

Kingston Power Situation.

